We have never seen so many people not getting the U's they were sure of. All day Monday there were little groups standing around in the post office saying. 'But he told me I'd get a U in journalism" and "They can't all be up yet because I'm positive I'll get one in phys ed." We're sorry, but we can't help it if some girls don't know enough to say physical education. We're just quoting people. Rumor had it that grades were being put up alphabetically and even though we haven't re- incurable cynics were peering suspiciously into their mailboxes.

Easter Sunday is almost here, and even though we havn't received any little tokens of remembrance yet we aren't giving up hope, because that springs. After all maybe tomorrow's mail will bring a box of candy or flowers or something. Even a card (any old kind, post card, greeting card, playing card—anything) would be appreciated. Maybe Al, and Bill and Jack will forget us, but Mother should send our allowance anyway.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor	JUDY PEPPER
Associate Editor	JANET ROGERS
Assistant Editors	PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHER, BETTY WEAVER
Managing Editor	SHIRLEY RODGERS
News Editors	MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON

Copy Editor	Lola Rose
Copy Staff	Ruth Keller, Mary N McFadden, Jeanne Tillman, Virginia Allstock
Feature Editor	Dolores Papy
Feature Writers	Eileen Davis, Anne Hutton
Columnists	Letticia Sullivan, Betty Hargrove
Office Manager	Louise Sims
Student Interviewers	Marte Waters, Burma Cox
Asst. Managing Editor	Bobbie Bell
Society Editor	Beryl Kitchen
Asst. Society Editor	Darley Lochner
Sports Editor	Betty Dowd
Outside News Editor	Gloria Reed
Exchange Editors	Miriam Angell, Nicky Sartoris
Literary Editor	Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors	Alice Crume, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor	Delores Gardner
Art Editor	Lucy Fields
Asst. Art Editor	Georgia Fields

REPORTERS: Eugenia Ahlers, Mary Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Joycelin Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Alice Brady, Laura Lee Butler, Ethel June Chyna, Marjorie Clark, Tiny Clavel, Virginia Croghan, Jean Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Montina Ingram, Winnia LePard, Beulah McPherson, Josephine Mingola, Mary Lou Norwood, Eileen Perry, Joyce Betty, Madge Pitcher, Louise Rabb, Martha Roberson, Laurel Rosenbaum, Evelyn Shea, Marydel Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Tami Thomas, Joyce Williams.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager	Helen Tarapani
Advertising Manager	Eileen Davis
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ada Rawls, Lila Barrington, Lillian Brown, Betsy Bird.
Circulation Manager	Martha Abbot
Collection Manager	Eleanor Bayes

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

eological Survey Features Skulls, Teeth, and Skeletons

Florida Geological Survey Museum, the purpose of is to provide accurate in- ation about minerals and re- sources of Florida. It is- the lower part of the ilmar hall of Florida State ge. Dr. John H Davis, Jr., assistant director, is in charge n primarily for the use public for after the specit- ens gathered and studied, es of little more use to the Anyone may ro through museum during the day when ges.

museum, covering one room the survey headquarters, is ain many vertebrate as well vertebrate fossils. Among ortants is a mounted skele- e of an American mastodon, the of which were gathered re- from the bed of Wakulla , 20 miles south of Talla- Another exhibit is the skull American mammoth, a true ant but larger than the ican species as it stood 13 feet high. Some teeth and extinct animals are also in one of the cases, one ion being a solid block about ches long, 7 inches wide and ches high.

ain near Vero, Florida, comes ent man, a skull and other s unearthed near that town 1. Miss Lily Moore, li- ant of the survey, said that there had been so much ology connected with the ence of Herman Gunter, ssistant and director of the ey, and the fact that the ses of the northern univer- have in Florida identified e evolution of the horse a three-toed animal not than a dog to the present ch is shown by models and specimens. A specimen ecthered in the Thomas ge, of the Santa Fe river ty miles northwest of Flor- Florida. The vicinity of ion Farm is said to be the ne territory for these ver- fossils in eastern North re are two displays of pot- ch are made from fossil ash. Miss Moore said it surprising to many of the that Florida had some ex- ash soil for pottery making. ong the Indian relics is a bowl-and pipe that was from the Ochlocknee river ay Florida. In 1939 s supposed to be an Indian However, because there ave been a hoax on the log- Raymond Bellamy, professor ology at Florida State Col- said, Miss Moore said it surprising to many of the that Florida had some ex- ash soil for pottery making. ong the Indian relics is a bowl-and pipe that was from the Ochlocknee river ay Florida. In 1939 s supposed to be an Indian However, because there ave been a hoax on the log- Raymond Bellamy, professor ology at Florida State Col- said. Miss Moore said it

The survey is interested not only in water but in all the other- minerals of Florida. Florida produces more phosphate than all the rest of the world and phos- phate is the third largest indus- try in Florida; according to Dr Davis. Florida alone even pro- ects and forest products. Lime- stone, the second most valuable mineral of Florida, is also of in- terest to the staff of the survey.

This survey and museum was first established by an act of the state legislature in 1907, and since that time the survey should have gathered material and data for public use as well as their own. Dr Davis said that all of the college students were invited to visit the museum any time they wished.

Dumbarton Oaks Subject of Talks with the American Republics Area- tina, which declared war only re- cently.

Continued from page one

Structure

Miss Parker declared that there is nothing to be found concerning coop- eration of sovereignty or in the structure of the Constitution which would prevent the United States from entering into an in- ternational organization such as the Dumbarton Oaks agreement would call for. She also explain- ed that membership in the or- ganization would not impose upon reserved powers of the states or individual citizens of the states.

Problems

Main problems of international organization, as pointed out by Dr Bailey, have to do with the principle of equality of states, the freezing of the status quo, the ability of the Security Council to make executive investigation, the use of an international police force, conservation of international arr- angements. The principle of equality of states will be largely preserved to some extent in the Assembly, though the only abso- lute equality would exist in the sovereign equality of the great powers to each other.

Speaking

Speaking on the creation of in- ternational conferences, Miss Parker declared that the smaller- sating of international relations would be more likely to produce ing better informed people and that this end could be attained by educating the peoples of the world to do independent thinking. "If history is taught in the schools- treaties, pledges, and agreements cannot alone guarantee interna- tional understanding. If we are to improve international rela- tions in the future we must do so improve understanding of the na- ture of social conflicts, particu- larly here at home."

Dr Annis Discusses Catholic Doctrines

Continued from page one

to clear up and misconceptions they might have had about the Catholic religion.

Students were anxious to know whether the Catholics believe that the other christian bodies will go to Heaven. Dr Annis' reply was in the affirmative, for he said that a person is not committing a sin if he has not been told that what he is doing is wrong. Catholics who live well according to their own ideas of what is right will get to Heaven just as fast as the devout Catholics.

Dr Annis closed the forum with an answer to a question about what the Catholics believed Heaven to be. Dr Annis said he could not speak for the Catholics as a whole, but that he believed that Heaven is great truth, great hap- piness, great understanding, and great knowledge in the presence of a personal God.

Liddell Presents Challenge to YW

Continued from page one

latched candle to the incoming officers as a symbol of the work they are to carry on. Other parts of the program included a violin solo by Lillian Emily Baker and the invocation by Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science and one of the YWCA sponsors.

Other sponsors are Dr Liddell, Dr P W Shankweiler, associate professor of sociology, and Mrs Adelaide Ware, counselor in

Dates Corrected

Contrary to the dates pub- lished in last week's FLAMBEAU, public performances of "Yellow Jacket" will be presented in the Little Theater on April 11-12.

The performance on April 10 is closed to the public, being given for members of the Lit- erary club and their guests.

Tickets for the production will go on sale April 9 from 1 to 6 p m and 7:30 until 9 p m. All seats will be reserved.

Creative Contest To Close Tomorrow

Festival to Include Music Week; American Poet

Following the close of the Cre- ative Arts contest tomorrow, a series of programs featuring the four art areas of the contest will be held April 2 ET RYH TH T be held starting April 2 through May 12. The arts festival will open with the appearance of Mr Robert P Tristrim Coffin, noted American poet, Monday night and the Music Week-End Week pro- grams May 8 through 12.

The Creative Arts committee of the Student Association and the Uni- versity Women is working in col- laborg with the college Com- mittee in charge of arranging the administration, and various committees have been formed to pre- sent a series of programs of which at least some phase will interest all students on the campus. The pro- grams are divided into those con- cerning writing, crafts, dance, and music, and the contest will concern announcement of the win- ning manuscripts in the Creative Arts contest and exhibition and performance of the work. It is suggested that the students clip out the following program to add to their own calendar.

Creative Arts spring program, to be given April 2-May 12, fol- lows:

Writing and Dramatic Arts:

April 2-7—Robert P Tristrim Coffin, Lecture-recital and In- formal talks with students in- terested in creative writing.

April 10-13: Performances of The Valiant Lovers by students in creative drama. Dir- ector: Miss Evelyn Bowman.

Arts and Crafts:

April 7: Exhibition of native and non-native arts at student-Faculty tea. Speaker: Miss Emily Wil- burn.

April 14-27: Exhibition of silk screen paintings from Collection of the National Serigraph Society. Speaker: Miss Ann Kirn.

May 2: Opening exhibition of the Seventeen Annual Exhibit of Longmire Building. Speaker: Mr Wilson Stone.

The Dance

April 20: Modern Dance Con- cert. Director: Dr Marjorie Clements.

April 21: Dance recital by Ruth Faye (College Artists cries).

Music

Concert Week sponsored by the School of Music.

Recital by Percy Grainger (Col- lege Artists Series).

Forum on Music composition by Mr Grainger.

Program Honoring Winners: April 30-30:

Exhibition of work submitted in arts and crafts.

Recital featuring composition in music, the dance, poetry, drama, the arts and crafts and essay.

Awarding of Certificates of Hon- or to winners.

Radio broadcast of winning compositions.

Contest in Dance To Be Held Today

The tap and modern dance con- test sponsored by the AAUW will take place in the Augusta Con- rad Little Theatre this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The performance is open to the public and all stu- dents who are interested are urged to attend, according to Miss Margaret Clements, chair- man of the dance committee in charge of arrangements for the contest.

The judges of the contest will be Dean Karl O Kluevetsiner of the School of Music, Dr Kather- ine Montgomery, director of phy- sical education, and Sgt Charles Crain of Dale Mabry Field.

Betty Byrson and Marguerite Cherry are contestants in the tap dance contest, and those who have entered the modern dance competition are Anne Hunter and Marcia Holm. Ann Wright and Martha Cowan, Sandy Owens and Betty Ann Brought. Jinx Parrish and Nancy MacEdwards. Alice Taff and Marion Welch and Sarah Lewis.

The winners in this contest will be awarded certificates by the AAUW Creative Arts committee.

Library To Close

The Library will be closed on April 1, Easter Sunday.

Former Student Now Medical Secretary; Finds Life of a Private Very Interesting

Private Betty McBabb, formerly Betty Wood in the class of '40, is now serving as a medical technici- an, specifically a medical steno- grapher. She is at the U S Gen- eral Hospital in Camp Butner, N C.

Mrs McBabb said in a recent letter to Miss Louise Gehan, alum- nae secretary, that she had joined the WACs because her husband would be shipped overseas soon, and they wedded after he left for- eather. She also said that she "was anxious to be doing SOMETHING I ant flitted to do best, where I hope it will do the most good."

She said that her specific job was secretary to surgical service— medical, surgical, and plastic sur- geons on surgery. She goes from ward to ward taking medical and military histories, gets their vital- ities, and she tells very use- ful and pleased with the setup. "Their morale is high and mine is a privilege to work for them."

In dispute of the many descrip- tions which she received prior to her enlistment, she has found all of them to be true, at least in her case. She claims to have three things that she does not in every minute of the day. As for being a person who wasn't placed in her proper niche, "I am one of them, either." If there are people in the Army that you don't want to associate with, they can be easily "lost in the shuffle of those whom you do not wish to pre- mire." As in civilian life your so- cial standing is whatever you al- low it to be. So far she has found colleges and organizations through out the country.

Robert P Tristrim Coffin Will Be Poet in Residence

Continued from page one

In 1936 Robert Coffin received the Pulitzer prize in poetry for Strange Holiness. In that book Mr Coffin depicts the beauty in the simple, everyday instances of life. Much of the poet's material is the rituals of farm life, particu- larly in his home state, Maine, but it is evident that he has gone to bedrock Maine living, he has not down his roots in humanity everywhere. His idea of writing is found in his own words. "Poetry is the art of using lan- guage to say something that one can say about life."

Books of poetry by Mr Coffin include, Primer for America, Col- lected Poems, Poems, They Will Be Spread and Love, Maine Ballads, Strange Holiness, Saltwater Farm, Ballads of Square-Toed Amer- icans and Poems of Two Decades.

Mr Coffin's prose works in- clude, Mainstays of Maine, Kings of Yankee, Dark Paradise, Portrait of an American, Captain Abby and Cyrpher, and The Substance That Is Poetry, Red Sky in the Morning, and John Dawn.

Many of these books are on display in the bookstore. Those that are not available there may be found at Everyman's Bookstore on Col- lege avenue. The author has promised to sign all books in the bookstore.

Rogers and Porker Give Swan Song

Continued from page one

has been a good experience for the Little Theatre.

Dr Elizabeth Andrews, chair- man of Honors committee, ex- plained the honors work at Flor- ida State College. All students at- taining a 2.5 average for the first three and a half years of their col- lege life with graduate cum laude. Honor students having a 3.0 aver- age, with 2.3 in their major courses may sign up now for in- dependent study during their re- spective fields. Having completed four quarters in this work, they will be eligible for special distinc- tion in their major fields.

Dot Jean Gibson, third vice pres- ident of CGA, announced that a forum on co-education will be held tonight at 8 p m in the Stu- dent-Alumnae auditorium.

A clothing drive for United Na- tions relief, which is to continue for the next two weeks, was an- nounced by Robin Hill. Boxes will be placed on each floor of every dormitory and students are asked to put into the boxes all old clothing and shoes. These will then be distributed to needy people of war-torn countries.

Ticket Sale Starts

Continued from page one

tly Evelyn Stuckey or Dot Tucker.

When minstrel shows were first presented, they were true Negro minstrels, including black pants and pig-tails. Through the years, however, there has been a ten- dency to get away from the old- time Negro minstrels even though they retain the name. "Senator Buster or Bust" was the title of last year's Junior Minstrel with Frances McGarry in charge of a discourteous officer and is con- tinually pleased by their consid- eration for the WACs.

Her living conditions are ideal with plenty of room for individu- al expression. The University of Wooster, which she attended, ad- od for a while, and Duke, offer ved resources in the way of re- laxation.

She and her roommate are the only registered record librarians that they know of on the post. They went through basic training together and have been together ever since. They both claim that the original members of their company are the most helpful women that they've ever met. "Three of them are rank-conscious and are very behind toward poor green privates (Oh, shades of my Freshman days!)."

Most of the patients at the hos- pital, Miss McBabb is a medical stenographer, are suffering from trenchfoot. Life magazine recent- ly had an article on this affliction.

Special Easter Services Take Place

This weekend special holiday services will be sponsored by the various religious institutions con- nected with the college.

Sigma Hall announced that Good Friday services will be con- ducted at St John's church from 12 to 3 p m. The Episcopalians are asked to turn in their Lenten envelopes on, or before, Easter morning. Instead, Sunday morning communion there will be an 8 o'clock service at St John's. They will have regular vesper services that night.

On Friday morning at the din- ner hour, the Methodist student house will conduct a fast service in the place of the meal.

At 10 o'clock on Easter Sunday the Methodist group will hold a special Easter service of music. Miss Marjorie Clayton, instruct- or in music, will direct. Sunday dinner will be served at 12:30 and the Sunday school will be conducted by Mary and Martha. Dot Stinger will take the part of Martha and Jackie Kennedy that of Mary. A worship guide will be presented to every Methodist girl.

The Baptist student house has conducted morning watch serv- ices at 6 o'clock every Sunday this week and will continue through Sunday for remainder of Easter.

Last Wednesday the Jewish girls on campus were invited to attend a Passover Seder at the American Legion hall.

Scholarships Available

Continued from page one

field are almost without limit. Physical therapy is a vocation in which there is an ever-growing and the scholarships offer oppor- tunities for professional service, Dr O'Conner emphasized.

The training program will be carried on in connection with a special committee under the chairmanship of Irvin Abell, of Louisville, Ky, chairman of the Board of Regents of the American College of Surgeons.

Candidates for National Foun- dation scholarships must be 18 years of college, including biology and chemistry. They must be graduates of accredited schools of nursing or physical education. Applications should be made to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 120 Broadway, New York 5, N Y.

Miss Walters to Leave

Continued from page one

(with Mrs Marion Barclay) pub- lished as a bulletin of the state de- partment of public instruction.

Miss Walters is a member of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority, and an alumna of Delta Delta Delta social sorority. She will be on leave of absence from her PSC position.

FSC Program Stars Kellum

Business Manager Speaks On Eve of Retirement

Mr John G Kellum, whose 39 years as business manager of Florida State College will end in retirement June 30, was heart- rivened last night as the person- ality of the week on the Garnet and Gold radio program from the college studio.

Mrs Eleanor Loyless, a student in the school of music, was plan- ist for the program and chose for the musical portion of the pro- gram Dohnanyi's "Rhapsody."

Mr Kellum, interviewed by radio coordinator Bertha Hood- worth, gave some facts about the early history of the college and said of its future that he believed it is "on the way to becoming one of the outstanding women's colleges in the country."

Asked about his feelings on the eve of retirement, Mr Kellum re- plied that he had put so much of himself into the college that he felt somewhat as if he were losing a member of his family. Among his forthcoming retirement was announced early this month, Mr Kellum has received calls of mail from friends, business asso- ciates and prominent state of- ficials congratulating him on his long term of successful work in the college and the community agencies and churches he consid- ered an essential part of the edu- cational program for the deepen- ing of social sympathy, the de- velopment of character and the ideals of service.

The widely representative char- acter of the student body is indi- cated by the fact that the young people registered at the office dur- ing the past three quarters have come from 38 states and 5 foreign countries. They represent 6 de- nominations.

The large group of nationals who are studying in the Univers- ity Center, and the presence of many graduate students who have lived and worked in foreign lands, make Scarritt their home while away from home.

According to Mrs J C Crawford, director of public relations at Scarritt College the international atmosphere is of large educational importance in the building of bet- ter interracial relations and inter- national good will.

Roundup Day Held

Sophomore Council held its an- nual roundup day Tuesday for all new members of the organization. Activities of the day included breakfast instead of in the new dining hall, old members check- ing roll in convocation, and a recess hour in the evening before the hazing plant, after which songs sung.

Louise Sims was general chair- man for the occasion, and Geneva Wade was in charge of invita- tions; Betsy Hahn, food, and Bookie McMichael, entertainment.

Alumna Is Director

Continued from page one

toured through Winsboro and saw the "Thon boys with their long- tail coats and high hats."

Mrs Silvesly is expecting a 30- day furlough this summer since she has completed two years in Red Cross club work.

Fountain Pens, Umbrellas, Rings Are Among Articles Sold at SAB Auction

"Eighty one! Eighty twice! Yours for eighty cents, chum!" So proclaimed the voice of the auctioneer last Monday night in the second big auction of the school year, which was held in the Student Alumnae building. Items turned in to the Lost and Found before March 1 were sold.

About 75 girls gathered in the auditorium with purses ready. No auctioneer appeared, and fi- nally Mrs Edith Gullick, assistant director of the affair, asked for a volunteer. Catherine Gallagher, a junior, offered her services, and soon cries of "Hot! Hot! Hot!" filled the hall. Numerous ar- ticles were sold to the accom- paniment of Catherine's persuas- ion: "Hmmm—here's something rare—half a pen. The better half, that is. Well, goodness, you don't write with the other half anyway!" The better half went for 85c.

Bids rose rapidly on a green umbrella with a hole in one side after Catherine's observant re- mark, "Well, you can always walk on the other side!"

Sudden interest appeared in a scarf with the name "Jean" em- broidered on it after the auction- eer surmised, "Even if your name isn't Jean you can always give it to somebody!"

The presence of a small defect in one of the fountain pens scarcely retarded the bids after Catherine's humorous remark: "There's a little catch to this— you can't write with it till it is with. Well, my grandmother liked to dip 'em!"

Clarette cases, belts, rings, pins, gloves, coats, scissors, trous- ers and walking canes were among the items readily sold. Fountain pens seemed to be the most pop- ular article, with repeated re- quests from the audience for more of them.

The greatest amount paid for an article was $12, for a brown full-length coat, and the smallest amount was 5c, for which many small items were purchased.

The success was very encour- aging to Mrs Hughston Armstrong, director. Proceeds totaled $77.10, which was turned over to the SAB fund. Mrs Arm- strong and Mrs Gullick were as- sisted by Nell Clark.

Far Easter

PRECIOUS GOLD CHARMS

Instead of flowers, send a charm, for the bracelet or her gown . . . a tiny Cross, or golden Bible, a tiny Church, or St. Christopher Medal.

Select flowers only without the gold charms will last forever.

The selection of gold charms starts at $3.25 (tax incl.)

MOON'S

Registered Jeweler

American Gem Society

You'll Find All Kinds

of

Tasty Sandwiches

at

Our Fountainette

MARTIN AND DALTON

210 South Adams Street

Full Color! Excitement!

"Battle Is Our Business"

The Story of the Canadian Soldier

—ALSO—

"Target---Berlin"

—plus—

"A Report from Russia"

Sponsored by Sigma Delta Pi

LITTLE THEATER 8:00 P. M.

SATURDAY NIGHT ONLY

March 31st

Wiener weather brings harsh treatment to sensitive lips. But the soothing action of Roger & Gallet original Lip Pomade in your pocket, you can laugh at "Sloppy Sleet".

Just smooth on Lip Pomade's fil invisible, soothing film and duty the climate. There's no odor, never protection against painful chapping and cracking.

Stop at any drug store and ask for the handy pocket tube.

25¢

ROGER & GALLET

500 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK 18, N.Y.

Stardust Formal to Highlight Alpha Gamma Delta Weekend

A tea dance, formal, and picnic are among the activities planned by the Alpha Gamma Delta's for their formal weekend.

The annual "Stardust Formal" will be held at the sorority house tomorrow night from 8:30 to 12 o'clock. Blue lights, silver stars on the walls, and other blue and silver decorations will carry out the theme of the dance which is the song "Stardust."

Tomorrow afternoon from 4:30 to 6 o'clock a Hawaiian night club will be the scene of the tea dance. Guests will be seated at tables throughout the front of the house and will be entertained with a floor show with June McCurdy acting as mistress of ceremony. A hula dancer of six girls led by Ruth Sprott, a skit, a specialty by Betty Jo McAteer, and a Hawaiian quartet made up of Bonnie Hunt, Carolyn Abrams, Shirley Roderer, and Jane Lyles will be included in the program.

Bonnie Hunt, social chairman, is in charge of all preparations for the weekend, and she co-ordinated the activities of the various committees. Carolyn Abrams is in charge of decorations for the formal and Betty Jo McAteer for the tea dance. Ruth Sprott and Jane Lyles are in charge of the tea dance program. and Helen Miller is making plans for the picnic.

The annual spring picnic at Wakulla Springs for chapter members, pledges, and their dates has been planned for Sunday afternoon.

Out-of-town guests include Lillian Estle of Plant City, Marjorie Ryan of Tampa, Mary Cooney of Miami, Dorothy Archer of Atlanta, and Betty Jane Gant of Tampa.

Fashion Flashes

The "Easter Parade" will hold the spotlight on campus this weekend as Florida State College students display their choices of gaily colored prints and suits.

Styles for this spring seem to favor smooth, streamlined pastels that are enhanced by round or square neck lines, and narrow skirts. The elongated shoulders and unpressed pleats are also very popular. The new flattering tie bows are especially cute to lend softness to even the most sophisticated dress.

Gaily splashed prints with black as the predominant color will be worn with matching bolero jackets and wide brimmed straw hats. These prints will be characterized by the longer waistline, less exaggerated shoulders, and the new side pleats. This new drape is especially effective in black, accenting the pocket and giving a "peplum" silhouette.

Suits of pastel and dark colors with contrasting accessories will be worn. But this year's styles differ slightly from last year's with longer, more tailored jackets and bar hip pockets.

Sleek pumps of white, black, or red, along with matching gloves and purses complete the look to serve as accessories.

Hats will be small and worn on the back of the head. Many girls have made their own hats by using flowers, veils, or anything else that will serve as a good excuse for a hat.

The predominant colors for the season will be fushia, black, orange, and a startling new color of a greenish yellow hue, limelight. Popular combinations will be aqua and powder blue, coral and white, green and orange red, aqua and fushia, and brown and gold.

Intramural Tennis Finished Wednesday

The campus tennis courts were the scene of the tennis intramural finals which were played Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

In the singles Connie Savage of Tallahassee and Thelma Sefcik defeated Marian Floyd of Reynolds by a score of 6-3, 6-3.

Georgia Jaechel and Ida Lee Rentz netted a victory for Reynolds in the doubles when they defeated Mrs Frank. She tells of a brilliant and beautiful girl who was banned because her father was a railroad engineer. The argument that sororities and fraternities stand a kind of magical polish to her personality pure and simple nonsense. Moreover a brief study of Who's Who in America proves that "Greeks" have no monopoly on ability.

The author maintains that Greek letter societies are to deeply rooted to be "laughed out of society as they deserve to be." She says that parents and faculty members "simply don't do it" approve of sororities and fraternities chosen when their own children to belong to the best as long as the caste system remains. Therefore in her opinion it is necessary to take legislative action against the caste system of sororities and fraternities which exist in a country where the most powerful secrecy for the preservation of democracy is the school system from the primary grade through the university.

Magazine Jottings . . .

Continued from page two

youths of America are jeopardizing and giving their lives.

Mrs Frank says, "It is time for the leaders of this country to enact stringent laws abolishing both college and high school fraternities and sororities from coast to coast." Young men who have spent the years of their normal college age in the bitter school of war return to college in the democracy for which they fought and find themselves "victims of a ridiculously outmoded caste system which is totally un-American."

After having had close observance of fraternities and sororities for more than a quarter of a century Mrs Frank is convinced that "any good which these societies accomplish is far outweighed by the unhappiness and heartbreak which they inflict . . ." She cites examples of a boy being rejected because he "failed to dance well or wear the latest cut of collar and of a girl who was made to feel a campus outcast because she was a bit overweight, perhaps, or wore the fatal mistake of cutting her lettuce with a knife."

"Even Abraham Lincoln would not possess leadership enough to make a fraternity under the present Panhellenic system," declared Mrs Frank. She tells of a brilliant and beautiful girl who was banned because her father was a railroad engineer. The argument that sororities and fraternities stand a kind of magical polish to her personality pure and simple nonsense. Moreover a brief study of Who's Who in America proves that "Greeks" have no monopoly on ability.

The author maintains that Greek letter societies are too deeply rooted to be "laughed out of society as they deserve to be." She says that parents and faculty members simply don't do it approve of sororities and fraternities chosen when their own children to belong to the best as long as the caste system remains. Therefore in her opinion it is necessary to take legislative action against the caste system of sororities and fraternities which exist in a country where the most powerful secrecy for the preservation of democracy is the school system from the primary grade through the university.

Victory Garden Tools and Seeds at

Seek it First at VAN BRUNT & VON INC.

VON'S HARDWARE

Mad Dog Flothing Mouth Scares New Hall Students

A very distressed female voice summoned several members of the campus staff to New hall on Monday afternoon to annihilate a dog who showed every sign of rabies. The dog was found frothing down the road south of New hall, barking wildly and frothing at the mouth. When approached, the creature made for the killer with open mouth, but was turned away by Chas. The dog then ran after a college girl who fled in terror.

Finally the mad dog was crippled by a length of iron pipe and then killed.

FSC Fourth In National Meet

Takes First Place From WCUNF in Southern

Florida State College's swimming team tied for fourth place in the national swimming meet according to an announcement received here Tuesday. The teams standing in first, second and third were not given in the announcement.

Results of the Southern telegraphic swim meet showed FSC in first place with 42.5 points, nosing out Wesleyan, Ga., University of North Carolina by 6.5 markers. Duke university followed in third place with 32 points.

In the result of the meet, FSC captured five first places, three seconds and three fourth places.

Carol Claus, freshman swimming star, brought the team away with three of the five first places, cooperated in winning a relay race and swam on the second place 150 yard medley relay. She won the 100-yard back crawl, the 75-yard individual medley and the 60-yard breast stroke, which she won in both. Jack Elizabeth Hawley of WCUNC by one-tenth of a second.

In the 100-yard crawl, Anna Horne capped first place and placed second in the 60-yard back crawl, losing to Marie Crone, WCUNC, by one-tenth of a second. Anna Horne placed fourth in the 60-yard crawl.

J Bunton, FSC sophomore, placed second in the 40-yard crawl, fourth in the 60-yard breast stroke and third in the individual medley.

Nancy McEwards, Anna Horne, Carol Claus and B J Singleton scored another first place in the 150-yard medley relay, finally winning the number two Duke team, by two seconds.

In the 75-yard medley relay WCUNC won first place with Anna Horne, Carol Claus and B J Singleton composing the second place team.

"I'm exceedingly proud of the girls in their showing, both in the water and out," Coach Lucille Ann Banks, Eleanor Bragg, Katherine Nollman, parliamentarian, Burnadine Martin, Alvaster, Priscilla Clark, and Nicky Nicholson: athletic manager, Betty Donnalley, Rachel Hamilton, eight by regular-sized canoes, one sailboat, two rowboats, and one paddleboard were in constant use. Swimming members were much in evidence.

Twenty-Eight Goats Tapped By 'F' Club

Two Faculty Members Asked To Join Organization

Twenty-eight girls were tapped for F club Tuesday night during the evening meal.

Miss Colhope Papatson and Miss Margaret Rhodes, instructors in physical education, were tapped as honorary goats.

The girls tapped as regular goats are Carol Claus, Rosalia Davis, Jinx Parrior, Rachel Chambers, Marian Floyd, Joyce Carmichael, Betty Jane Gant, Betty Jones, Irma Lee Shepherd, Mary Louise Perry, Lonnie Terry, Anna Chase, Betty Kennedy, Evelyn Shea, Catherine Sullivan, Amarena Thompson, Mildred Winkler, Betty Gardiner, Marti Richardson, Bobbie Leonard, Barbara Mann, Ann Barker, Nancy MacEdwards, Anna Horne, Betty Wisenbaker, Alice Taft, Gladys Cheek, and Carolyn Betty Donnally.

The goats will undergo an extensive goating period before they are initiated into the club.

The election of the officers for next year will take place in the near future. The newly elected officers will take over the responsibilities after initiation.

Short Change

Continued from page two

is the fickleness of the female underlying love of one drunken bum for another.

An orientation reception was given at Queens California in all returned war veterans. This is the first opportunity for our veterans to meet members of the faculty informally.

Abel: "Dearest, I must marry you."

Mabel: "Have you seen father and mother?"

"Often, darling; but I love you just the same."

"The joy of a day's work does Is a joy that I have tasted— But the joy of a day well wasted" The joy of a day well wasted"

REBECCA Red and Black

More than 10,000 Australian girls have married American soldiers and sailors. Of these, 1,000 brides already have come to the United States, and 700 more are on the waiting list with 200 children.

The Daily Cardinal

"I would like some alligator shoes."

"What size does your alligator wear."

Collegian: "What did you do with my shirt?"

Roommate: "Sent it to the laundry."

Collegian: "Ye Gods! The whole history of England was on the cuffs."

The girl of today is as good as the one of 40 years ago provided she isn't the same girl.

Singer: "Don't you like my voice?"

Accompanist (sadly): "Madam, I have played on the white keys, and I have played on the black keys—but you sing in the cracks!"

Sophomores Make Class Nominations

At the Sophomore class meeting held yesterday in 303 Westcott, the main business was the nomination of class officers for next year.

Franny Myers was the only nomination for president. Those nominated for vice president were, Ann Colvin, Marjorie Potter, and Barbara Mann; secretary, Betty Jeane Cannon, Helen Stone, and Helen Bean; treasurer, Julia Ann Banks, Eleanor Bragg, Katherine Nollman; parliamentarian, Burnadine Martin, Alvaster, Priscilla Clark, and Nicky Nicholson; athletic manager, Betty Donnalley, Rachel Hamilton, and Mildred McVey.

Nell Clark and Ann Hunter were nominated for chairman of Odd Demonstration. For chairman of Junior Minstrels, Ann Colvin and B J Singleton were nominated. Judith Phillips, Shirley Rodgers, Jean Hoffman, and Ann Parker were those nominated for chairman of Junior-Senior Prom.

Those nominated for senators were: Lois Rose, Mary White, Ann Colvin, Juanita Nord, Harriet Kirk, Betty Lee Thomas, Julia Perkins, Martha Abbott Bass, Ellen Bryan, Betsy Wilson, and Barbara Irving.

Meeting To Start

Dean R L Eyman of the School of Education and Dr R L Goulding, superintendent of the Demonstration school will attend the meeting of the Florida Teacher Education Advisory Council in Tampa at the Floridan hotel beginning at 2:30 p m on April 4 and extending until noon, April 6.

"Revising the Basic Pattern of Teacher Certification" is the chief topic to be discussed by the group. A statement of needed changes will be presented for consideration.

Camp Soon Opens

A large group of girls, numbering 178 in all, attended camp last weekend, announced Miss Frances Green, physical education instructor. Camp Flastacowo is owned by the college, and is situated on Lake Jackson.

Several day-trip parties, 16 picnic parties, and 47 freshmen with their junior counselors who spend the weekend, were among those who officially launched this year's camping season. During that time the entire stock of water-craft, including two war-canoes, eight

Officers Installed At Meeting Of WAA

Installation of the new officers of the Women's Athletic Association was held in the Red Cross room at the Community building last Monday evening with faculty sponsors present.

The newly installed officers for the remainder of this year and next year are as follows: president: Clarice Trueblood, vice-president: Nancy Ward, secretary; Thomasina Thompson, treasurer: Theresa Munroe, senior intra-mu ral manager.

An informal party was held in the soda shop after the meeting with both the old and new board present.

STUDENTS PERFORM

A student recital will be held in the recital hall next Monday at 5 p m.

Voice, piano and violin selections will be presented by, Grace Register, Jimmie Rogers, Irene Edmiston, Virginia Alstock, Ann Mickel, Paul Jean Teasdale, Irene Putter and Margaret Rose Miller.

The accompanists will be Mildred Mann, Roberta Leonard and Betsy Martin.

Exam Scheduled

The U S Constitution examination required of all seniors who wish to apply for teaching certificates will be held at Leon Hi'gh school, Saturday, April 7, at 9 a m. Sample questions are posted on the Personnel Office Bulletin Board and students who plan to take the test at this time may sign up on the list posted with the questions.

OUTSTANDING FSC DAY STUDENT — Kathleen Hamilton at Tuskegee

Outstanding FSC day student presented by the FSC Day Students' organization to the freshman day student adjudged to be outstandingly active in college affairs.

Marie Rose Tells College Girls How To Meet Officers

"We would like to know how we can meet some Army officers" was the plea of a group of "Little some Girls" from Florida State College.

Sara Lansdale's Atlanta Journal Magazine carried a letter from a group of "Lonesome Gals" who wanted to meet some officers so that they could "have some good times" too. The girls said that the college did not provide any way for the students at Florida State to meet officers. The letter was in the column "Tell Marie How Your Feel."

Marie Rose answered their letter by saying that "the thing to do was to ask the girls in their authority." She said that one small group could do a lot of campaigning about their desire for students. Then they should appoint a committee to go to the dean with plans to the dean or president of the college. Marie Rose stated that it "might be necessary for the college to hold open house or give a weekly dance so that they could invite Army officers."

Former Student Gets Position at Scarritt

Ruth Davis, graduate of Florida State College and member of the class of 1944, is working in the Palo Alto hospital in California. Miss Davis was 21 at the time of her birth.

Her death was caused by a rare bone disease which had confined her to bed since last May. She has been in the Palo Alto hospital for the past six months. Her family stated that several specialists had been called in on the case but were not able to diagnose the bone disease.

After graduating from FSC Miss Davis took further training at Duke University. She was prominent in the Methodist Society of X-ray Technicians serving as president of the group and secretary of the Northern California division of the society at the time of her death.

She was born in New Britain, Connecticut, but she has been living with her parents in Oakland for two and a half years at 815 Alvarado avenue, Palo Alto, California.

Interment was at the Alta Mesa Memorial park.

DAVIS WILL SING

Mildred Harter Davis, instructor in voice and piano, will appear in a song recital April 10 immediately after convocation.

German, French, and Italian songs will be featured on the program. Other selections of Chinese music will be presented when Mrs Davis has had concert experience in China

Ester Winslow will accompany Miss Davis.

Map Making Notice

Miss Stevenson, representing the Map Service of the Army Engineering Corps, will be at Florida State College on April 4 to hold conferences with any students who are interested. Conferences may be arranged in the Personnel Office.

Miss Stevenson is bringing equipment to the campus to demonstrate the Army Map service.

The Army Map service demonstration will be held will be announced when appointments are made for conferences.

Moore a Speak

Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology, has been invited to speak before the Jacksonville Woman's Club at a luncheon program on April 4. The luncheon is to be sponsored by the international relations department of the Women's club The subject of Doctor Moore's address will be "Today in Tomorrow's World."

Annual Pan-Hellenic Weekend to Be Held

Inter-Sorority Dance and Sing Will Be Featured

Highlighting Panhellenic weekend, will be the annual hop featuring music by the college swing band, to be held April 7 from 9 until 12 p m in the gymnasium. The all-campus Panhellenic sing will follow Sunday, April 8, at 4 p m in the auditorium.

With the coordinated decorations of sorority emblems and a profusion of streamers, the formal will present a Panhellenic theme and outgoing officers of the various sororities.

First held in 1940, the sing will feature group songs by members of each sorority and offer prizes for the best fast and slow numbers. This occasion will be open to the public.

Climaxing sorority activities for the year, Panhellenic week-end has become a colleges tradition. A supercolossal party, and dance and a dunking party were among the activities of the week-end in 1944. A "Flirtation Walk" reminiscent of the famous one at West Point will end the way in the Florida State.

A spring garden with romantic arbors was the theme of the Panhellenic hop in 1941. Taking as their motto "You can't go wrong with Greek Girls," the sororities danced to the music of Charlie Spivak and his orchestra. The first war-time hop in 1942 carried out a patriotic theme, centering about the "Spirit of Victory."

The Swing-phibians from Camp Gordon Johnston provided the music at the formal last year. "April Showers" was featured with flower arrangements appropriate to the season.

Juniors Nominate 29 In Class Meeting

Twenty-nine girls were nominated by the junior class for candidates for next year's senior offices in the class meeting held in the Student Union building at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Martha Jane Brown was the nominee for senior class president.

The two nominations for vice-president are Frankie Hill and Gladys Lester. Alice Hendrix, Rae Lynn Hurst dare Jane McKelvey were nominated for the office of treasurer.

Running for secretary are Rita Mae Hersey, McCarter and Renee Hedgecoth.

Nominations for representatives to senate are Betty Jeane Cannon, Catherine Gallagher, Peggy Lee Evans, Jane Hardy, Jimmie Rogers, Jean Koesy Shirley Grube, Joan Shaner, Kit Land, Lettia Stevens, Jeanne Dodd, Maurine Ashton, Virginia Collins and Betsy Wood.

Ann Parrior and Frankie Hall were nominated for the position of athletic association. Other nominations are as follows: for parliamentarian, Jane Hardy, Jeanne Joan Gentry; for chairman of Even demonstration, Ella Mae Brooks, Jane Hardy, Jeanne Joan Day, Della M Rhodes and June McCurdy.

Professor Receives Committee Position

Doctor Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology at Florida State College, has been appointed as a member of a joint committee on the coordination of training for social work in the South, announced Harper, president of the National Association of Schools Associate Schools Associate

This committee is national in scope and was appointed by the American Association of Schools of Social Work and the National Conference of Social Work. Social Administration in Cleveland, Ohio, in January of this year. Other members of the committee are Walter Pettit, New York School of Social Work; Arthur Dunham, University of Michigan; Ann Pinlayson, University of Minnesota; Ernest B Harper, Tennessee State College, and Mattie Cal Mastell, University of Arkansas. The committee plans to meet sometime this spring.

Party To Be Held

Saturday, April 7, at 8 o'clock p m, the Live-saving Corps will hold a buffet supper party at the pool in the physical education building. There will be water games, diving, swimming and relays. All members are urged to attend as this is a social meeting and become more interested in the work of the club.

Esteren Has Hunt

Esteren members in the spirit of the season enjoyed an Easter egg hunt Wednesday on the Chi Omega lawn following dinner together in Gilchrist, dining hall.

A separate egg with each member's name on is which she had to find was the special feature of the hunt. Martha Jane Brown and Corrine Johnston were in charge of arrangements.

Co-education Theme . . . ts Big Bang In Florida's Spring Frolics

Co-education, war veterans, South American students, and Dean Hudson's orchestra were favorite conversation topics of Florida State College girls who attended the annual spring frolics at the University of Florida in Gainesville last week-end.

The festivities, which included a week-end of dances and parties, had as its central theme this year the observance of co-education week. Holmes Melton, a former University of Florida student, now a member of the state legislature, spoke to the students urging them to write their congressmen their views on co-education and to help promote the idea throughout the state.

Miss Co-education was elected as the ruler of the formal dance Saturday night. A candidate from each fraternity was entered in the contest. Miss Joan Hanney, freshman and member of Phi Phi sorority at FSC, was the owner of the title. When asked for a few words to the boys elected her, Joan said, "I want to thank you all very much and real happy!" Joan's home town is Sigma Nu fraternity.

Dean Hudson's orchestra played both for the formal dance Saturday night and a short program of popular music Sunday afternoon when Mr Melton spoke Mr Hudson, an alumnus of university, made a short speech during the dance, telling the students that he hoped co-education would be inaugurated on the campus.

Decorations for the dance were held in the gymnasium of the university, were very simple however, the girls thought that the colors of La Fonda underneath sphere with their uniforms of late regalia.

Sorority Chit-Chat

With so many sorority girls away home for Easter holidays, the social life on campus saw been somewhat cut down, but several parties have found their way into the social calendar.

Alpha Xi Delta gave a ruse party Thursday night. The members and the rushees played games and served refreshments in the back part.

The fiftieth anniversary of Chi Omega was celebrated with a dinner at the Cherokee hotel a week from today. Fdcuity members who will be present are Dean Sherrine Whitehead Dodd, Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, and Mrs Frank Miller.

Phi Chi Delts had informal after-dinner coffee last Friday night in honor of Ann Carolyn Allison, who was recently elected president of College Government Association. Guests included members of the sorority and other friends of the chapter.

Thursday night the chapter entertained with a supper at the Chris Lions club. Mrs Catherine Walters who has been the alumna adviser. Miss Walters is leaving Florida to join the WAVES and will be with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Miss Barbara Ettinger, national traveling secretary of Phi Mu, will arrive Sunday night to spend a few days with the Tallahassee chapter.

Delta Zeta had their election of officers last Monday night. The elected were Kathleen Johnson, president; June Padgett, first vice-president; Lillian Blassingame, secretary; Alice Wells "Lamp" and Aileen Wilcox, rush chairman; Lillian Blassingame, social chairman; Dorothy Weider, house chairman. The officers will be installed on the Monday night.

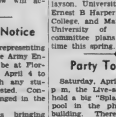
Pi Beta Phi plans an Easter party for Sunday afternoon to be held on the lawn at the Pi Phi house. All active girls are invited.

Alpha Gamma Delta pledges Betsy Bird, Beggy Pugh, and Betty McIntosh last Monday; Mrs

Zetrouer Honored At Annuel Bonq

Jeannette Zetrouer, First State College Zetrouer, Florida prize steer was winner of Southeastern fair, has been the honor guest at the sixth annual cattlemen's banquet of the Chris Lions club, held last night in the Women's club building in Tallahassee.

Prominent guests who attended the banquet included Robert Floyd, secretary of state; Fred Mayo, commissioner of agriculture; Tom Watson, etsorney general; J M Lee, state comptroller; Ed Larson, state treasurer; C R English, state purchasing agent; public instruction; presidents various cattle associations; and several members of the Chris Lions club.



Thirty-Five Girls Journey To Wakulla

Thirty-five girls from Florida State College enjoyed an outing last Saturday afternoon at Wakulla springs. Impromptu swimming and diving exhibition by Carol Claus, champion at Wakulla, and a talk with photographers at the Grantland Rice motion sports company were unexpected additions to the afternoon's program.

Mr Perry, in addition to his performance, gave some swimming hints to the girls. The Grantland Rice photographers were in Wakulla at that time to film a movie short.

The girls spent the rest of the afternoon swimming, playing ball, and getting a sun-tan.

Travel in Mid-Week

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 791

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS"
—and—
Sunday and Monday
"WOMAN IN THE WINDOW"
—and—
Tuesday Only
"BRAZIL"
—and—
Wednesday thru Saturday
"HOLLYWOOD CANTEEN"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"Where Are Your Children"
—and—
"SHERIFF OF LES VEGAS"
—and—
Sunday and Monday
"THE LAST RIDE"
—and—
"SHE'S A SWEETHEART"
—and—
Tuesday and Wednesday
"RISNET"
—and—
Thursday Only
"SENSATIONAL SIXTY"
—and—
"In the Meantime Darlin"

RITZ
Last Times Tonight
"EVE OF ST. MARK"
—and—
"MY BEST GAL"
—and—
Saturday Only
"LAND OF OUTLAWS"
—and—
Sunday and Monday
"AND NOW TOMORROW"
—and—
Tuesday and Wednesday
"RACKET MAN"
—and—
"KANSAS CITY KITTY"
—and—
Thursday and Friday
"MAKE YOUR OWN BED"
—and—
"TAKE IT BIG"

Coffin Is Here

Where's Co-Education

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXII, No. 22

APRIL 6, 1945

Poet in Residence Addresses Students on Various Topics Concerning Creative Writing

Coffin to Confer With Those Interested in Writing And Will Discuss Their Original Poetry From Eleven to One Today

Dr Robert P Tristram Coffin, noted Maine poet who has been visiting the Florida State College campus this week, addressed the student body Monday night in Westcott auditorium and has spoken informally to several English classes and groups interested in creative writing.

From 11 to 1 o'clock today Dr Coffin will confer with students who wish to have him evaluate samples of their writing. Yesterday at 5 o'clock and this morning at 10 the poet spoke in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater. The guest also discussed some of his poetry on the Garnet and Gold radio program last night.

In his address last Monday night Mr Coffin explained the poet to be found in the common and familiar things of one's home environment and as well as giving illustrations from his own work he explained his arrival at an appreciation of everyday experiences.

Directed in a one-room schoolhouse, rural school house, he brought up on the classics, knew out Elizabethan poetry and the Testament, and as a result, his earliest conception of poetry was that it dealt with things far away and intangible.

He declared that he knew the poet path and that everyone has his own counsins. When he was his first attempt at writing poetry at the age of six, he one remote subjects. However, as he reached college age, he came to find poetry in the near and things concentrating around the center of the road where things more the fastest," as the poet expressed himself.

He also mentioned some of the factors in the writing of poetry. Words, he said, in a new poem sounds like most poems and every style of writing for about six months can be true worth be discovered. It can also be in logical order, with certain things understood from experience by others not included until last, to give it light and interest. He is especially partial to the poetry of common words, and has written the best poetry in the language of the common people.

He read a group of his own poems, two among which were "Church Porch," which concerned a man who and his auditory experience and, by which he formulated stated inside the church, and "Over to Make a Wilderness" and "Where I Took Told of his visit to Mr Coffin home and dealt with his first experience behind a plow. The Halloween is very important part of Maine life, was the center of his next poem and described a typical Maine character, and mingled him with the weather. Mr Christopher Cross, a man of his love for common words and his genius for finding poetry in the familiarity of a barn.

A characteristic of the next Continued on page three

Wilburn to Speak At Open House Tea

Miss Emily Wilburn, professor of industrial arts, will discuss a selection of native and foreign crafts to be displayed at an open house student-faculty tea Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Miss Wilburn will speak at 4:15.

The collection, of which needlecrafts will be especially featured during the arts, will be exhibited to the public also open on Thursday and Friday of next week from 4 to 6 p.m.

Mrs Dusk S Campbell is chairman of the Arts and Crafts committee of the American Association of University Women which is sponsoring the exhibition. Together with her arrangements are Mrs Edwa Allen, counselor in Reynolds hall, and Mrs Ruth Cox Crawford, counselor of Gilchrist hall. Their committees members are Mrs Beverley Stevens, counselor in Reynolds hall, Miss Margaret S Rogers, counselor in Gamble hall and Mrs Ray Warner, librarian in Broward.

Students and faculty members possessing collections of the crafts to be invited to lend for the display, which is one of the featured events of the Spring Arts program of the AAUW.

Concert To Be Given Monday

Glee Club, Band Present Annual Joint Program

The college glee club, under the direction of Miss Etta Robertson, and the orchestra, under the direction of Walter Ruel Cowles, will give a joint concert Monday night at 8:15 p m in the Westcott auditorium.

The first part of the program, to be given by the glee club alone with the selections including "Jubilate Deo" (Gounod), "Let Us Sing", and "Beata Viscera" (The Blessed Virgin). Mrs Ramona Beard will be the accompanist for this group of songs.

The second part of the program will be of especial interest to students of Florida State College for Women for Kiki Carr, and Former PSC professor who is now awaiting the news of absence.

The third group of songs will consist of: "The Handsome Soldier," arranged by Row, and "Sad Moods" by Tyson Treharne. Margaret Rose Miller will act as accompanist.

The college orchestra will play the "Festival Overture" by Hoffstetter, "Orchestra" by Handel with Mrs Ramona C Beard as organ soloist. Other selections are: "Beckett's 5th Symphony" for orchestra with soloist Betty Gardner, and "Dwelled in Strand" by Percy Grainger.

At the close of the program the orchestra and glee club will present a joint number, "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten, "Londonderry Air".

Members of the glee club are: first sopranos: Rosemary Thrasher, Anna Watkins, Alice Wheeler, Shirley Gilbert, Mary Jane Kirsi, Mary Theo Morris, Twyla Bair, Anne Lindsey, Mary Lois Cox, Jacqueline Belcher, Dale Sanders, Doris O'Neill. Second Sopranos: Nancy Brown, Margaret Smith, Joyce Funke, Roberta Leonard, Betty Auchenbach, Frances Hall, Jacqueline Daniel, Lois Meriwether, Jane Guerriez, Alice Phillips, Mary Ann Hall, Miriam Atzell, Arle Flanders, Anne Bower, Mildred Mann, Virginia Bevell, Mary Ann Bradley, Clara Wilda Hayes, Mary Louise Morris, Sarah Frances Lowery, Jane Perrine Hedgcoth, Jackie Ten Eyck, Lois Cottrell, Barbara Clark, Wilda Harold, Daphne Rowe, Marjorie Jones, Peggy Pearson, Dozier Hornbeck, Marvis Jones, Ruth Musselman, Lois Watkins, Sarah Jane Williams, Lucy Bennett, Barbara Fennell, Jacqueline Fosdick, Evelyn Johnson, Pawn Trawick, Elizabeth Hall, Ann Hall Watkins. Second Alto: Annabel Bradfield,

Continued on page three

Speech Fraternity Taps New Members

Zeta Phi Eta, national speech fraternity, has installed their new officers and pledged eight new members this week.

The sophomore pledges were Sara Norman, Sara Virginia Bowden, Ann Hunter, Kay Moore, and Nancy McLaurin; and the two juniors pledged were Joy Fleming and Bobby Usher.

Last Thursday afternoon the pledging and installation of the officers for the year 1945-46. They were: Barbara Holt, president; Beatrice Weaver, vice president; Katherine Steed, secretary; Maureen Petty, treasurer; and Bonnie Hunt, marshall.

After the installation at the college, Hanna Jane Taylor entertained the membership with a supper at her home in Tallahassee.

Coeducation Wins in Poll Of Students

90 Per Cent of Votes Cast In Favor of System In Florida

U of F Alligator Sponsors Campus Census

Coeducation in Florida scored a decided victory in a student poll Tuesday and Wednesday when approximately 90 per cent of students voting cast their ballots in favor of a coeducational state college. Over half of the 918 students participating in the poll believe that both Florida State College and the University of Florida should admit men and women.

Sponsored by the U of F Alligator, the poll was conducted on campus by the Phipps Voter League. Voting went as follows: that both FSC and the U of F should be coeducational, 47%; that only the U of F should be coeducational, 34; that only FSC should be coeducational, 15; that neither FSC nor the U of F should be coeducational, 4.

The League, of which Alicia Armstrong is chairman, was formed to promote thinking on local, state, national and international problems. It was this organization cited in coeducation here and has followed the issue closely, according to Alicia. "Since Eddie Kelly, editor of the Alligator, was here we decided to sponsor a poll here as well as at Gainesville, we conducted this two-week poll and made a sample student opinion on the subject," she said.

"We believe Florida legislators should take the student body's attitude into consideration when they vote upon this issue since it is the students themselves who will be primarily affected," she also stated in regard to the coeducation census.

Students who voted to make both state colleges coeducational commented this slide would fur-

Continued on page four

Films To Be Shown In Little Theater

Flambeau to Sponsor Movies For Tomorrow Night

Three defense films, "Conquer by the Clock," "Target for Destruction" and "Road to Tokyo," will be shown in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. There is no admission charge.

These movies, presented by the defense council and sponsored this week by the U S O, provide information which and understanding of the war effort, and of the work of the women in the armed forces. They show some of the phases of the great war machine of the United States and her allies.

"Conquer by the Clock" tells the story of how the American machine in carrying on a full scale war economy. "Cadet Counselor" graphically describes the classification procedure employed for the selection of cadets to be trained as pilots, navigators, and bombardiers, and "Road to Tokyo" is a thrilling picture show how Canada and the Pacific war should operate in building the necessary preparation for invasions of Japan. It is also the story of Canada and the Pacific war, a phase often overlooked.

The program will last 40 minutes.

Allison Gives Her Conception Of Responsible Student Citizen

"Student government on campus should mean more to more people, as too few girls take a real interest in it," asserted Ann Allison, Newby-elected president of the College Government association, in a recent interview.

She continued, "It is supposed to function for the entire group. Many students just complain among themselves about things instead of taking their comments and criticism to the proper officers. It is necessary that we work within the existing system to make improvements."

Ann added her conception of the duties of a responsible student citizen as follows: "We know what's going on, to be interested in the campus and community and keep up with other academic work, to make honor system a part of herself, to participate and find a definite place in her college life, and to vote in student elections."

Ann stated what advice she would give to her younger sister, who will be a freshman at Florida State College next fall, and to other freshmen on the basis of her own experience. Ann said: "Make a study schedule and stick to it, especially during the first semester. Remember everyone else is just as scared as you are. Try to get your teachers as persons. Participate in campus activities. Be enthusiastic about college."

Ann admits that her main regret of her three years on this campus is that she didn't "get to know people better especially teachers."

In her opinion the requirements and preparation one needs in order to become a successful student officer are: "To like and work with people; to think clearly, evaluating both sides of a problem; to plan ahead for individual activities, keeping in mind the goal of the unit for the most benefit; to be willing to learn; to be patient; to have a good sense of values; and to be dependable and reliable."

Ann came to college because she likes to study and learn and because she thinks a college education gives the background and training necessary for enjoying life. She enjoys reading, par-

Continued on page three

Co-Education Forum Is Held

Bail Upholds Co-education Clark Opposer Issue

Arguments that coeducation in Florida would provide a more natural atmosphere for college students than the present system of education, on the one hand, and that its establishment at Gainesville would lower the academic standards of Florida State College, on the other, were advanced at the student forum on coeducation last Friday night in the Westcott auditorium. Moderator Rachael Ball spoke on the affirmative side of the proposition while Nell Clark presented the negative view.

Robb Hill gave a brief history of state educational institutions in Florida and Janet Pancoast presented reviews of legislators on measures in favor of coeducation. The forum, presided over by Dot Jean Glass, third vice-president of the SGA, left the student discussion following the speeches.

Pointing out advantages of coeducation, Rachael Ball said that in the proven situations of the past "perspective on how to get along with people and adjust to universities and living conditions than the present educational system in Florida. In answer to the contention that by converting the two state colleges of Florida into coeducational schools would lower the academic standards of both, she referred to a survey reported in the Atlantic Monthly listing the eleven greatest American universities on the basis of scholarship, excellence of faculty and eminence of the individual departments. According to this survey, of the eleven best colleges, seven are coeducational and of the top four, three admit both men and women.

Nell Clark's opposition which might result from making both the University of Florida and the State College for Women coeducational could be avoided if the two colleges offered different courses." Rachael said, "Since the conversion of the two colleges would entail many changes in which students and taxpayers, who make the schools possible, will be affected, the decision is not one in this question."

Nell Clark stated that the plan now before the legislature for making the U of F coeducational for the benefit of male veterans has practical disadvantages. This plan would cause overcrowding

Continued on page three

Honorary Celebrates Tenth Anniversary

Phi Beta Kappa Initiation Followed By Reception

Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity initiation held Wednesday afternoon was followed by a formal reception in the Reception Hall building. The reception was planned not only in honor of the initiates but also to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the installation of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter on campus.

Dr Robert P Tristram Coffin, poet-in-residence at Florida State College at present, was the guest speaker. His topic, "Art of Life," was the subject of Dr Coffin's address.

The senior members in course, Mary Ann Bradley, Betty Ruth Beall, Dorothy Boardman, Sarah Caldwell, Mary Bernhardt, Mary Phillis Gillette, Frances Hines, Edna Jensen, Jane Kelly, Mary Lucy Leonhardt, Janet Pancoast, Mary Nell Pinholster, Isabel Rogers, Mary Ann Sharpe and Ann Wisenbaker.

Junior members in course are Betty Ann Bowden, Sara and Edna Safley who was elected in the spring of 1944 to Phi Beta Kappa chapter and who is now employed at the Board of Exchange in the state capitol at Tallahassee.

Miss Ellen Murray, instructor in history, is the faculty member initiated by the Alpha of the Georgia chapter at the University of Georgia, was initiated here for the Georgia chapter.

The faculty guest, Mr Frank Sykon, director of the college band, Miss Olga Ettner, associate professor of violin and theory, and Miss Mary Winslow, a critic teacher at the demonstration school initiated "Opus 96" by Antonin Dvorak.

Jr Minstrels Given Tonight

Tickets Sold in Westcott Till 5 O'clock Today

With music, songs, dances, and an original script, the Junior Minstrels promises to be one of the biggest events of the campus this year. The theme will be kept a secret until the next curtain tonight in Westcott auditorium at 8:15.

Tickets will be on sale at a booth in lower Westcott all day today. Admission is $1.20 and the time tickets may be obtained from Gladys Lester in 119 Reynolds.

Dot Jernigan is the head producer, and musical scores will be by Jane Kelly, Louise Norwood and Anne Fifield.

The main characters will be Corinne Jackson, Frankie Jackson, Frankie Hall, Georgia Mae Rumberg, Sue Moore, Frances Christian. Their supporting cast will include: Rita Stead, Theresa Monroe, Audrey Perry, Dora Golden, Daphne Rowe, Myrtle Thomas, Jane Woodcock, "Pete" Pemble, Sam Parramore, Ann Parker, Betty Gardner, Barbara Carr, Marion Smith, Topsy Marsh, Georgia Jaeckle, Peggy Pitts, Anne Blanton, Janice Richard, Clark, Clair Cashen, and Rose Marie Hall.

The chorus will include: Ella Mae Quimby, Ann Pittman, Ann Wormeley, Daphne Rowe, Lois Cotrell, Alice Geagn, Jere Brown, Lucille Bennett, Betsye Usher, Bobbye Usher, Yzobel Dupree, Sarah Lee Williams, Gail Lyles, Jinx Parrier, Peggy Moss, Pat Harrison, Frances MacLaughlin, Mary Jo Phillips, Barbara

Continued on page four

YW Members Plans Weekend at Camp

Members of the Young Women's Christian Association are going to camp next weekend to discuss plans for the coming calendar. This gathering is held every year with most of the members here attending.

Betty Ruth Goode, chairman of the worship committee, will be in charge of special services to be held Saturday night and Sunday morning. Miss Ellen Murray will go with Doris Hill as chairman, will lead in the discussion the camp the Saturday night.

Miss Daisy Parker, faculty adviser, will be present at the group Sunday morning.

All "Y" members who are not going to camp are asked to sign their names on the "Y" bulletin board in lower Westcott by next Tuesday.

Margaret Clayton and Alva Ray Pitts, Mildred Bridges, Mary Ann Herring, Frances Cannon and Nina Humphreys are in charge of food preparations.

Co-Education Resolution To Be Presented to Senate At Called Meeting Today

Recommendation That Student Group Go on Record As Favoring Co-education at FSC and U of F Will Be Introduced By Thomson

A resolution regarding coeducation will be presented at a called meeting of Student Senate today at 5 o'clock in the Student Alumna Building auditorium. Other business will be a report from the Senate-appointed legislative committee and the election of house president and house vice-president of New Hall.

The resolution concerning co-education, which is scheduled to come before Student Senate this afternoon, will be presented by sophomore senator Peggy Lu Thomson. According to her, the resolution favors coeducation at the University of Florida, effective next year, with coeducation at both the University of Florida and Florida State College as soon as possible.

Primary reason for presenting the resolution, Peggy Lu said when interviewed, is that in the both students on campus, a "large majority" of those voting favored coeducation at both institutions with 58 opposed to coeducation and 840 recommended it.

Senate Votes on Changes

At the regular meeting Tuesday night, matters discussed and voted upon proposed legislation from College Council, passing all of one of the bills referred to the student organization for action. The proposed sophomores have only six day trips per quarter was voted down by a large majority.

The followins are the proposed changes to be made in the 1945-46 Gold Book:

The house presidents and house vice-presidents of the Thomasina Hendrix residence hall shall be elected by the entire student body, in the spring, at the same time the presidents and vice-presidents of supercilas residence halls are elected.

Each house president and vice-president shall be required to take part in the social director training classes. Any senior who has been elected to the office of house president may be extended certain privileges to be determined by the Student Senate, Dean and CGA and to be approved by the College Council.

The chairman of the Budget committee shall be elected by College Council. Under the committees responsible to Student Senate, it shall be stated that the chairman of the Budget committee will be elected by Student Senate.

Petitions for candidates for major offices must be signed by at least 50 students, for minor office by at least 25 students. All students submitting petitions or nominated by other members shall meet a taxonomy of qualifications. These statements of qualifications shall be posted in a public place prior to elections. The last two statements of the paragraph concerning nominations on page 32 will be omitted. The last statement, that any students, shall attend the con-

Continued on page four

M'Farland Wins Poetry Contest

Modern Dance Winners Announced by AAUW

Winning contestants in the poetry and dance divisions of the Creative Arts contest have been announced by the judges.

First place in the poetry contest goes to Elizabeth McFarland for her entry, It was decided by Robert P Tristram Coffin, visiting poet in residence, who read and judged the poetry submitted by the 14 contestants.

Betty Gardner and Anne Hunter were awarded first place in modern dance at the exhibition given last Friday night in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater for their interpretation of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C-sharp Minor." Honorable mention in modern dance went to Jinx Parrior and Nancy MacEdwards and in tap, to Betty Bryson. First place was given in tap by the judges who were Dean Karl O Kuersteiner of the School of Music, Dr Katherine Montgomery director of physical education, and Sgt Charles Crain of Dale Mabry Field.

Honorable mention in poetry was awarded Mabel Rust, Margery Loomis, and Winifred Meidrim by Mr Coffin. As worthy of commendation, Mr Coffin mentioned Mary Ann Bradley, Frances Thompson, and Ellen Whitman. The guest poet also said that the quality of poetry written by Florida State College students was decidedly above the average of that written on most campuses today.

Winner of the poetry contest, Elizabeth McFarland, has been the exclusive holder of first place honors in the AAUW poetry contests as she has won each contest since 1941 when the contest was first offered. At that time the contest concerned only contributions from students but has expanded to the present creative arts program which includes every group Sunday morning.

Elizabeth Hall, chairman of the contest judgement and Mary Ora Pitts, Mildred Bridges, Mary Ann Herring, Frances Cannon and Nina Humphreys are in charge of food preparations.

Student Recital To Be Held Monday

A student recital will be held in the recital hall of the Music building on Monday afternoon at 4:05 o'clock.

Selections on the program will be: violin, Concerto G Minor Allegro, Marna Smith with Irma Purser, accompanist; voice, "I Love Thee," "My Dear One's Mouth Is Like the Rose" Ann Mae Hall with Betty Barker accompanist. Piano selections will be: "Pierne" Jacquelin Smith; "Impromptu C-sharp Minor" Elizabeth Wood; "The Fairies" Emma Watkins; "Two Preludes," Mildred Crawford; "Prelude," Ann Mikell; "A Dance Study in English," Betty La Bree; "Second Arabesque," Joyce Evans; "The Hill Hills of Clare," Roberta Leonard.

Panhellenic Sing

Panhellenic Association of Florida State College will present its annual sing Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Westcott auditorium. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Brown Is Elected To Head Juniors

Martha Jane Brown was elected president of the junior class and Frances Myers of the sophomors in classelections Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Brown will serve as junior vice-president and Miss Myers will hold the same office for the sophomore class.

Rita Fraser was elected junior secretary and Jane Ward Ashley treasurer. Other newly elected officers are: Frankie Hall, sophomore on Monday afternoon at 4:05 o'clock.

Selections on the program will be: violin, Concerto G Minor Allegro, Marna Smith with Irma Purser, accompanist; voice, "I Love Thee," "My Dear One's Mouth Is Like the Rose" Ann Mae Hall with Betty Barker accompanist. Piano selections will be: "Pierne" Jacquelin Smith; "Impromptu C-sharp Minor" Elizabeth Wood; "The Fairies" Emma Watkins; "Two Preludes," Mildred Crawford; "Prelude," Ann Mikell; "A Dance Study in English," Betty La Bree; "Second Arabesque," Joyce Evans; "The Hill Hills of Clare," Roberta Leonard.

Creative Arts Contest Stimulating to College Students Is Opinion Voiced By Visiting Poet and Lecturer on Campus

"I think the poetry submitted to the Creative Arts contest was very good for college work," said Dr Robert R Tristram Coffin, Maine poet, novelist, writer, and professor of poetry at Bowdoin college, who has been on the campus this week-end to read and interpret and judge the Creative Arts contest.

This morning at 10 o'clock Dr Coffin will appear in the Little Theater to read ballads about Florida from the last book, Primer for America. This will be his last general lecture before he leaves tomorrow. He will also lecture at Georgia State College for Women, Randolph Macon, Vanderbilt university and the University of Rochester.

Dr Coffin will have conferences with students desiring his appraisal of their work, both prose and poetry.

In his lectures, Dr Coffin has stated the pride he has for his native state, Maine. He has pointed out that it is a country that poets thrive in, naming Edwin A Robinson, and Edna St Vincent Millay, to both be up this statement. In his talk Wednesday morning, he said that he personally had discovered that Robert Frost is a descendant of Maine people. He said that he had a hard time getting Mr Frost to admit this fact, but that when he pointed out to him that there is a mountain in Maine named after the Frosts, he had no more point.

Dr Coffin believes that contests such as the Creative Arts contest which we have had here on the campus are good, because they provide students with opportunity to try their hands at writing. "Writing," he said, "is just like a foot-race. You have to keep in practice. In other words, you have to write something every week, even if it isn't any good so that you will keep your hand in your work."

There are two kinds of poems, according to Dr Coffin. One is the poem concerned with the external world. This is objective. This must be mulled over and over again in the writer's head a hundred many times before he even attempts to write it down. He has said that this kind of poem have been this kind. The other kind of poem is the kind that "hits you all at once, and you have to dash for a pencil and paper and write it down quickly."

In the library, The Substance That Is Poetry, written by Dr Coffin, takes up the latter form of creative writing and explains it fully, dealing with all phases of the subject.

Dr Coffin designed the cover for Maine Ballads and confided to an interviewer that he is "the only man in Christendom who knows how to draw a Maine Spruce!" He says that most people make them look like fir when they really don't at all.

The distinguished guest will have appeared 13 times before audiences made up of college girls and townspeople and their guests when he completes his talks on campus.

Perhaps his most informal talk as of date took place on Sunday when Dr Coffin had a reunion from Texas. Instead of retiring, he consented to read some of his poetry to the small group with whom he had dinner.

Dr Coffin has also spoke to combined classes of contemporary poetry and twentieth century literature, and the classroom was much too small even when every seat had moved into the largest available room, 303 Westcott.

On Tuesday night, the English department entertained Dr Coffin at the home of Mrs Lee E Miller, an instructor in English and several times during this week he has spoken to English classes on varied subjects, all centering about his life and writings, and has read to them from his books.

NOTICE

Dean Frances Helen Zeigler of Vanderbilt University, School of Nursing, Nashville, Tennessee, will be at Florida State College April 13, to interpret the program of nursing education offered at Vanderbilt.

Any students interested in a career in nursing may arrange for a conference with Dean Zeigler in teh Personnel Office on that date.

Spirit of the Week

© ESQUIRE, INC., 1945
Reprinted from the April issue of Esquire
"Can't you ask for a new dress without dramatics?"

● GIVE US COEDUCATION

Over ninety per cent of those voting in the recent poll conducted Tuesday and Wednesday morning to get a sample opinion of the student body of Florida State College for Women concerning coeducation voted in favor of it. A majority of the 918 votes cast were for coeducation at both the University of Florida and Florida State College. While the poll included less than half of the student body, as is usually the case in student elections before the pressure is put upon the last 100 or so students to reach the 51 per cent majority, it is probable that further voting would have followed the same trend.

At present it appears that only one co-education hill, that for the University of Florida, has been introduced to the State Legislature. We feel that because of the number of students favoring co-education at the University of Florida this hill would find considerahle support within the student body here.

However, the majority of students have indicated preference for co-education at both institutions. Although no hill to this effect has been suhmitted to the Legislature as yet, it is logical to assums that such a bill would best satisfy student desires hsre.

The members of the student body of the University of Florida have through their student organization expressed decided opinion in favor of co-education.

That an opportunity to express such opinion will be offered to the student government of FSC through action of Student Senate appears evident. Sophomore senator Peggy Lu Thomson has stated her intentions to introduce a resolution to Student Senate today which will favor immediate coeducation at both institutions as soon as possihle. In view of the student sentiment expressed we see a strong probability that Senate will accept this or a somewhat similar resolution.

Senate members as well as the student body have been offered ample opportunity to give much consideration to the issue involved. Months of reading reports of actions and recommendations of various Florida organizations were culminated here last Friday night with an impartial forum to discuss pros and cons of the situation.

Since student bodies of both state institutions havs registered their thorough approval of co-education, we urge the representatives of the people of the state of Florida to give weight to our opinions. The students of Florida institutions are those to be most directly affected hy any action.

● WANTED: CLOTHING

Clothes, shoes, any size or shape, and bedding—these among other things are what the European peopls and the masses in the liberated countries sorely need.

During the month of April, a United National Clothing Collection, under the direction of the United Nations Relief and Rehahiliation Administration, is taking place to supply good used clothing for free distribution to the more than 125,000,000 destitute people of war devastated countries. This campaign has a goal mark of 150,000,000 pounds of clothing, or five pounds per person, and is the one nationwide clothing collection to be conducted in the Spring of 1945.

On campus this drive is being sponsored by the World Student Service Fund, ons of the fifty-odd organizations cooperating in this campaign. Boxes havs been placed in the halls of the dormitories and in off-campus houses for the collection of any clean, wearable clothing. The only requirement is that the articles contributed be clean and serviceahie. Obviously evening dresses, dress hats and similar garments would not be accepted because they could not be used by people who will receive them and who have neither time nor money for gay festivities even if night clubs still should happen to be in operation.

Reports have come from all points of Europe emphasizing the dire need for clothing to cut down the disease rate and illness due to exposure from lack of sufficient clothing. In Greece one is forced, according to reports, to pay approximately $220 for a pair of shoes made of a synthetic substance which falls to pieces after five miles of walking, and in Yugoslavia death notices occurrring in a family hring mobs offering "fabulous sums" for the clothing of the deceased. Compare these conditions which exist all over Europe with ths over-crowded closets of the American home and especially ths closet of the college girl.

As is always the case, the success of a drive depends a great deal on the contribution of each individual. Here on campus almost every collective effort falls far short of the established quota no matter how worthy the cause. The reasons for this may be varied and many; one, that numerous drives are constantly being launched, exhausting the petty cash supply even though the sacrifice idea does not even enter in. But this clothing collection does not require cold, hard cash that might eliminate cokes and movies, but simply old but good clothing which each student has but isn' tusing that will aid the bealth of the war weary people where tuberculosis, typhus and other diseases have been given a free rein in great part because of the lack of adequate clothing. This campaign, too, rests with each individual.

● CHALLENGE TO COMPLACENCY

FSC's first Oratorical contest is now underway, and entries have been asked from all students who are interested in expressing their opinions on world citizenship and its challenges.

Certainly all phases of the suhject need to be given thought by FSC girls. We who are to become leaders after college have a definite responsihility for knowning what's going on in the world, and for preparing ourselves to be intelligent members of society. Knowledgs and interest about the world to come is our duty, and we are failing in it if we leave school unable to have rational opinions about state and national problems. We as leaders will do harm instead of good if we cannot intelligently face critical problems of this era—international organization, chances for permanent peace. prohlems of race, of inequality of education, income, and opportunity.

As a whole, many ehservers of the world today say emphatically that America as a nation just doesn't know what the score is, internationally speaking. And since our domestic problems are reflected in our dealings with the world beyond America, what we do and think about the Negro problem, labor's disputes with capital management, and the myriad of other difficult conflicts, Ignorance about conditions at home damage our ability to understand world situations.

Everyday incidents reveal tragic ignorance of deep social problems in America. Without investigation we accept blind attitudes about causes of poverty, of misgovernment, of prejudice. We are often equally in the dark about world relations. This ignorance was illustrated forcihly this month in a street poll of pedistrians, taken in Tennessee. Asked if they knew what Dumbarton Oaks was, only half had even heard the words. Several actual answers included "who?" "I'm from Georgia and don't know this town very well" and, "I only eat shredded wheat for hreakfast."

We hope FSC girls could make a better showing, hut sometimes we wonder. Too much of campus emphasis has been put on trivialities, and too little on constructive thinking about our place in solving the riddle of human misery.

In recognition of the fact that our campus horizons have been narrow, the Student World Affairs Council and Hillel are sponsoring the oratorical contest. with its emphasis on social consciousness.

We heartily endorse the contest, and urge students to enter it and to start thinking about "World Citizenship: Challenge to Complacency." It is a challenge to our campus com' acency, and should be accepted.

● REGRETTABLE APATHY

The convening of another Legielature serves to remind us that Democratic government still exists in our State and Nation.

These elected representatives of the people are charged with the responsibility of making the lawe under which we live. And because they are only human and cannot possibly know how everyone thinks, it is our responsibility to at least express our opinion on proposed hills which concern us.

This 1945 session ought to prove interesting to students on this campus because such topics as co-education, possihilities of lowering the voting age to 18, and even rumors of placing a higher tax on cigarettes will probably be hrought up.

Over the years the general trend has been that of an apathetic nature; this is, ws do not think seriously about what is going on around us and thus DO nothing about the situation. For instance, if a poll was taken probahly only one out of ten people could name the representatives and senator who represent his home district; naming the Supreme Court judges for Florida would be as difificult a task.

Getting closer homs, newspapers from time to time have queried the man on the street to find that more often than not he is unahle to name even his city or county officiale.

Preservation of the Republic demands that we, the people, concern ourselves with government.

The Students Speak . . .

At the present time, one of the most discussed problems of national importance is post-war conscription. It is for this reason that this week's column deals with the question: ARE YOU FOR OR AGAINST POST-WAR CONSCRIPTION AND WHY?

I am in favor of conscription after the war for a year or two in order to protect ourselves from being caught unprepared again. It would, if the effect on the present members of the armed forces is to be taken as an example, serve to improve the health of the nation's young men.

MARY GARCIA,
(Sophomore)

I am not in favor of post-war conscription because it is definitely against our democratic way of life, against the things for which the boys are fighting.

MARJORIE CLARK,
(Freshman).

Perhaps a plan for post-war conscription would help solve the problem of post-war unemployment by letting the men slowly return to a pre-war civilian life.

SHIRLEY GRUBE,
(Junior).

I'm for it. Men would be more easily adjusted to life by having to actually meet it than to read about it. The soldiers overseas seem to be in favor of it, and they ought to know.

PATTY HILL,
(Junior).

I think thet conscription would be a good thing as it would form a basis for everlasting peace and would help to fortify us against any other nation.

EVELYN AYRAULT,
(Senior).

A year of conscription would not provide enough training to warrant wasting a year of a young man's life—a year in which he might attend college or else find himself a job.

JOYCE AYERS,
(Freshman).

I feel that post-war conscription will be needed in our dealings with Russia after the war as it will provide a reserve army for the United States, but it will only be preparing the men for another war.

BETTY ANN BRADLEY,
(Sophomore).

I am not in favor of post-war conscription because it will spoil or at least seriously hamper the chances of a lasting peace.

PEGGY LOU THOMAS
(Junior).

Magazine Jottings . . .

By CATHARINE NOLLMAN

Freedom Comes to the Philippines
By Francis B. Sayre

"All of Asia, aspiring to freedom, has its eyes fixed on American conduct in the Philippines," says Mr Francis Sayre in his article in the March issue of the Atlantic Monthly. Mr Sayre has had several opportunities to gain informaiton concerning the Philippine Islands and was appointed High Commissioner to the Philippines in 1939.

The islands of the Philippine archepelago are the crossroads of commerce and travel between Asia and America and the North and South Pacific. Of the people of the Philippine Islands only one per cent are foreigners. Of these aliens about 117,500 are Chinese, some 29,000 Japanese according to the 1939 census, 8700 Americans and 4000 Spaniards. By far the majority of Filipinos are the untutored, poverty-stricken peasants rather than the sugar magnates or Manila-trained professional or government officials. It is these peasants, maintains Mr Sayre who will determine the destiny of the Philippines.

"Never before has there been anything quite like the story of the Philippine-American relationship." From the time that the United States acquired the Philippine Islands in 1898 the policy has been to help and educate the natives toward self-government. In less than two years after the Islands were taken by the United States the legislative power had been granted to a Philippine Commission to which Filipinos were gradually appointed. By the passage of the Jones Act in 1916 the Philippine Commission was entirely replaced by an elective Philippine Senate. In 1934 the Philippine Independence Act gave the Filipino people the right to adopt a Constitution and promised them complete independence July 4, 1946. In the six years that followed before the outbreak of the war Mr Sayre believes that the Filipino people, under their able president, Manuel Quezon, proved that they were capable of self-government. It also showed, he says, that the Commonwealth experiment was suitable as an interim arrangement but not as a permanent form of government for delicate situations such as the issue of education and the national language which arose between the Philippine Assembly and the United States High Commissioner who tried mostly to follow a hands-off policy.

Mr Sayre says that although the coming of the Americans has not so fundamentally changed the life of the Filipino peasants it brought uncontaminated water at the village well, fought cholera and small-pox, developed good schools, introduced good roads and radios and thus a means to the outside world. During all the time that America and her people were assisting the Filipinoe in making the Islands one of the healthiest and happiest spots in the Pacific the Filipinos could not help but absorb some of the bad along with the good. The bulk of the newly created income went to the government and to landlords thereby widening the gap between the masses and the small governing class. Nevertheless Mr Sayre maintains the Philippine Islands were formed into a progressive nation with higher standards of living than most of the other Pacific Islands and that the Filipino thinks of the American as a friend—a sentiment which he showed by his valient fight against the Japanese.

The immediate problem now is to drive the Japanese aggressor from the Islands and after restoration of constitutional processes and normal functions of government have been restored to grant the Philippine Islands their independence. A resolution to this effect was passed by Congress last June. The duty of the United States will not end there however for economically the Islands will be in a sad condition. Moreover their complete independence will exclude them from the United States market which was heretofore open to them free of tariff. Only by achieving a practical plan of economic independence will the Islands be able to maintain their political liberty.

The question of United States naval and air bases in the Philippines is onc which will have to be worked out, says Mr Sayre, for the mutual security of both countries and preferably through a world organization of the United Nations.

The importance of the Philippines is further emphasized by the statement that the success of independence in the Islands means the success of the furtherance of American ideas and ideals throughout the East.

In This Our Time . . . .

Nazi Germany was pounded and pounded hard this last week by the combined operation of the Allied ground and air forces. In western Europe the Germans in the area west of the Rhine were cleared out and the great river itself was crossed. This past week saw the beginning of the clearing of the Nazis out of the Netherlands, the beginning of the capturing of the Baltic ports and the almost complete isolation of the Ruhr within which the Allied ground forces have trapped an estimated 10,000 German troops This loss of the Ruhr is important since it was Germany's last and greatest arsenal source of coal and iron for her lesser industries. Its loss, coming on top of the previous surrender of the Saar and the coal fields of Silesia, meant that Germany, which must depend entirely upon her reserves, could not hope to carry on a long-term, full scale war. The Ruhr was sealed off by the blitzkrieg-like movement of the American Ninth army which joined the spearhead of the American First army to the south.

In the north the British, including veteran tankers of the African campaign, broke free and headed across the north German plain. At last report they sped beyond the Rhine in a drive threatening to carry across the open country to Berlin itself.

In the central Reich three American armies were striking toward a junction with the Russians by which Germany would be split in two, thus cutting off escape by possible retreat into the Nazis' final fortress—the mountain region of the south.

Last week, the German industrial cities suffered the greatest devastation from air attacks since the beginning of the war. Despite the fact that communication centers, transportation junctions and industrial plants have been the Allied targets, many thousands of the great cities' populations have refugeed into the southern country regions.

On the eastern front last week, the Russians' bridgehead across the Oder river, 31 miles from Berlin, was the focus of the greatest danger to the Nazis. Little definite information has been obtained concerning the battle movements on the "Berlin Front" because the Soviet government kept al levents screened in secrecy.

In addition to the drive along the Oder, the Russians opened a new offensive up the Danube valley toward Vienna and the mountainous southern Reich. This was the drive paired with the American one toward the upper Danube where it seemed to some observers that the Nazi escape routes would be severed.

ASIATIC OPERATIONS

Troops of the new Tenth Army's 24th corps cut the vital island of Okinawa in two last week by reaching the village of Tobara on the east coast almost 10 days ahead of schedule and finding little sign of organized resistance. The amazingly little opposition for such a vital stronghold was taken as an indication that the Japanese as usual were holed up in caves and commanding any high ground they could hold.

This important operation was preceded by a Tokyo report last week which told of 20 or 30 American transports on several small islands to the west of Okinawa. This island is the key to the Ryukyu Islands on the doorstep of Japan, only 325 miles southwest of the home island of Kyushu.

Admiral Nimitz's communique announced that naval guns and carrier planes of the Fifth Fleet, together with those of powerful British units which recently arrived, had been sweeping up and down the 700-mile-long island chain for nine consecutive days while concentrating their main strength on Okinawa, smashing at airfields, installations and war merchant ships. At last report 47 enemy vessels were reported sunk or damaged and 86 planes destroyed in the initial invasion of the island.

This move was in a sense a mark near the end of the road to Tokyo which began over three years ago on the campaigns in the Solomons. Since that time the Japanese have been pushed back some 3,000 miles, compressed into a steadily shrinking area, shorn of many of their conquests and deprived of their stolen supplies from others by the throttling of the ocean supply lines. Some observers consider this foothold in the Ryukyus to be the beginning of the actual invasion of Japan proper since it is so close to the main island and is represented in the Japanese diet.

PEACE ORGANIZATION

Throughout the United Nations this last week there was a great deal of discussion and controversy concerning the number of votes each of the Big Three should have in the Assembly of the world security organization to be created at San Francisco on April 25. At the Yalta conference President Roosevelt, Marshall Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill agreedthat the United States would have three votes, the Soviet Union three votes and Great Britain and her Dominions six votes. Then, very recently, to the complete surprise af the delegates and many observers, Secretary of State Steltinius announced that President Roosevelt had decided to ask that the United States be given only one vote. Hoyever, said Secretary Steltinius, this does not alter the President's promise to support Marshall Stalin's claim for three seats if the claim actually is made at San Francisco.

However, there was still an open question whether the American delegation, of which Senator Vandenburg, Republican, Michigan, is a member, would agree to support Roosevelt's promise to Stalin. Steltinius declined to discuss the American delegation's attitude, but Senator Vandenburg made known his opposition to multiple voting on the ground that it would impair the "soverign equality of nations".

The multiple voting, which the Senator is against, would allow the Ukranian Soviet Republic one independent vote, the White Russian Republic one independent vote and the other fourteen Republics of the Soviet Union one corporate vote. Hwever, it is realized that since the Soviet Union is so united its three votes probably always will be in accord with one another and will be able to balance against the votes of three independent nations, possibly the United States among them. On the other hand, some observers believe the reverse would be true in the case of the British Commonwealth of Nations, because during the last two decades the Dominions have moved toward an increasing independence of the motherland and that their decisions would be, as they are today, determined by their own necessities, geographical and economic.

Another point hinging on multiple voting considered last week was the voting of the Big Three's spheres af influence. Russia will have influence over the votes of its neighbors in eastern Europe, and America over the votes of its neighbors in Latin America. The votes of either of these countries, together with those af its spheres of influence, could completely overrule the votes of many small, independent nations

This problem of voting is only

Continued on page four

COLLEGE COMMENTS . . . . . .

It's Only Human Nature

I was just thinking: Why is it that we all have such good intentions, but never carry them through? Just last night I courageously turned down dinner and a show. I really meant to study, but after a trip for some coffee, and a brief skimming of the news there was a lot of good time gone. I know I couldn't have talked on the phone more than ten minutes, and I only ran over to Landis to get an assignment. But I came back I did play a few out again until I decided I'd like a cigarette. Of course I had to go and buy some and then when I caem back I did play a few quick hands of Fantan with some of the girls. And then I didn't have time to study, besides I was sleepy. Whoever said Tempus Fugit was a pretty smart man, but I can't understand how time gets away from me!

F. S. C. Clothesline

I never hear the advertisement, "So round, so firm, so fully packed," but what I think of the laundry situation. This campus is divided into two camps, those who want to reduce and those who do not. And that is where the laundry steps in. By shrinking every bit of clothing that a girl owns it provides a remote and at times unattainable goal. Ah! to fit one's clothes again. But what of us who are already preshrunk? The only thing left for us to do is to donate outgrown (I contest that) clothing to the United Clothing Collection. I really had to beat around the bush to get that plug in, didn't I?

That's Life or Hush Up, Honey, At Least You Have a Man

The other day I heard a sophomore complaining because her date was an hour late. That's really tough! I feel sorry for the girl. I really do. Imagine having to wait a whole hour! Trials and tribulations — I sometimes wonder if life is worth it all Still I can't help wondering what she was complaining about How wonderful to expect your man by the hour and not by the year!

Over the Tea Cups

He said. . . . I said. . . . Then he . . . Then I. . . . Oh, he's so wonderful! . . . Do you know what my roommate did? . . . Wish I could bet a "B" in Psych. . . . A letter from. . . . Doesn't she look awful? . . . He said. . . . I said. . . . He's so wonderful. . . . Brilliant conversationalists, these college girls!

The Thinker

I wonder if I could get one of those American aces to shoot the Zeros off my Physical Science papers?

What Price Glory

The general public knows very little about the theories of Darwin—about the evolution of man. But any Florida State College students, especially a member of the "F" club knows that man descended from monkeys monkeys act like "goats," and "goats" are the lowest form of animal life.

NOTE: Any resemblance to anything living or dead is purely coincidental.

No Complaints

The dining hall has always come in for its share of verbal and written abuse. But I'm not going to complain about it. I'm just a little bit worried about the butter or rather the lack of butter. You know what I mean, that stuff way back in the Dark Ages. Maybe the cows are just tired after more than three years of service to a war-time America, or maybe they've joined the local unions and are striking for an increase in fodder. We can do without butter. We can do without a lot of things. We could have done without (and very nicely, too) that fish last Friday night. But I'm not going to complain about the fish. I'm just a little bit worried about the flavor or rather the lack of flavor. You know what I mean, that stuff. . . Any suggestions as to how to end this will be highly appreciated.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor — JUDY PEPPIS
Associate Editor — JANET ROGERS
Assistant Editors — PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHER, BETTY WEAVER
Managing Editor — SHIRLEY RODGERS
News Editors — MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON

Copy Editor — Lola Rose
Copy Staff — Ruth Keller, Mary N McFadden, Jeanne Tillman, Virginia Allstock
Feature Editor — Dolores Papy
Feature Writers — Eileen Davis, Anne Hutton
Columnists — Letticia Sullivan, Betty Hargrove
Office Manager — Louise Sims
Student Interviewers — Marte Waters, Burma Cox
Asst. Managing Editor — Bobbie Bell
Society Editor — Beryl Kitchens
Asst. Society Editor — Darley Lochner
Sports Editor — Betty Dowd
Outside News Editor — Gloria Reed
Exchange Editors — Miriam Angell, Nicky Sartoris
Literary Editor — Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors — Alice Crume, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor — Delores Gardner
Art Editor — Lucy Feiden
Asst. Art Editor — Georgia Fields

REPORTERS: Eugenia Ahlers, Mary Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Joycelle Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Joan Bess, Paulette Blank, Alice Brady, Laura Lee Butler, Ethel June Chyne, Marjorie Clark, Tiny Clavel, Virginia Croghan, Jean Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Montine Ingram, Winnie LePard, Beulah McPherson, Josephine Minaola, Mary Lou Norwood, Eileen Perry, Joyce Betty, Madge Pilcher, Louise Rabb, Martha Roberson, Laurel Rosenbaum, Evelyn Shea, Marydel Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Tami Thomas, Joyce Williams.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager — Helen Tarapani
Advertising Manager — Eileen Davis
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ade Rawls, Lila Barrington, Lillian Brown, Betsy Bird.
Circulation Manager — Martha Abbot
Collection Manager — Eleanor Bayer

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1919, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Short Change

...nother week and here is the ...up of news and jokes from ...er colleges and universities.

...f the veterans of the present ... who have taken advantage of ...cational opportunities offered ...er the "G.I. Bill of Rights," ...oximately 80 per cent are en...ed in colleges and universities ...schools of college level while ...er cent are taking courses of ... than college grade or have ...lled for occupational train-

...guess I never was
...guess I never will be
...guess I never want to be What they say I could be.
—The Vermont Cynic

Doctor How did you break ...r leg?
Student I threw a cigarette ...t in a manhole and stepped ...t.

Robert P Tristram Coffin, noted ...the poet, who has been on ...mpus this week, was recently ...uest at Texas State College ...en they held their creative arts ...test week.

...arrow straight and bow of ...ew
...des the mighty one, Tommy Dew.
...he trees a bird is calling
...ou are now one and one-quarter miles from Pawling."

...res the hunter at the banks of the river
...sees some eels
...d feels
...r an arrow in his quiver

...en an eel is a-shiver
...h a sliver
...his liver
...m the sliver-giver's quiver

...t staggers Tommy Dew to his Villa
...d with his head upon his pilla
... curses that eel, the bum
... he reaches for a tum.

The Wampus, a morale build-...g organization on the Southern ...lifornia campus, has started a ...k dedicated to morale build-...: They call it the "Bye-now ...c Smirk" week, in the past it ...s called the "Hello and Smile" ...ek.

Fond Mother: "Yes, Gene-...e is taking French and Alge-...a. Say good-morning to Mrs ...es in Algebra, darling."
—The Wooden Horse

College Physician: "Is there ...y insanity in your family?"
Student: Yes, I'm afraid so.

They keep writing me for money.
—The Plainsman

Conscience is the thing that hurts when everything else feels good.

Most popular student is one who says, "Have a cigarette?"—most unpopular is one who says, "Gotta cigarette?"—most unusual is one who doesn't pan columnists until he's tried to pound out the stuff himself—rarest is the one who doesn't need to cram—worst introvart is the one who isn't enjoying the lovely campus weather.
—The Plainsman

A Russian language department has been established at Wellesly College this year, reflecting the increasing interest of college undergraduates in Russia and the Russian language.

He's the kind of a guy that finds two meanings to our one-meaning jokes.

Mrs Jones, being dead, was placed in state in the front room for her neighbors to pay their last respects before she was taken to the cemetery.

"How wonderful she looks!" one of them said sympathetically.

"And why shouldn't she," demanded Mr Jones. "She spent all winter in Miami."

In a report made public by Dr Sharvy Umbeck, assistant Dean of Men, it was revealed that 112 of 261 men students at the college of William and Mary are meeting all their expenses through part-time jobs, scholarships, or, in most cases, through a combination of both.

There was a drunk who took off his knee cap to see if there was any beer in the joint.

Definition of a true musician: When he hears a lady singing in the bath, he puts his ear to the keyhole.
—The Utah Chronicle

FLORIDA

Today and Tomorrow
"HOLLYWOOD CANTEEN"

Sunday and Monday
"THIN MAN GOES HOME"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"SAN DIEGO I LOVE YOU"

Thursday Thru Saturday
"PRACTICALLY YOURS"

STATE
PHONE 18

...oday and Tomorrow
"DESTINY"
—and—
...ING ME A SONG OF TEXAS"

Sunday and Monday
"HARI KIRI"
...DANCING IN MANHATTAN"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"SEVENTH CROSS"

Thursday Only
PLACID SERENADE"
—and—
"THE CLIMAX"

...iday and Saturday
...OUTH RUNS WILD"
—and—
...ONG OF THE RANGER"

RITZ

...aturday Only
...TAH KID"

... and Mon...
LAURA"

...uesday and Wednesday
SWEET AND LOW DOWN"
—and—
...NE MYSTERIOUS NIGHT"

Thursday and Friday
"SING NEIGHBOR SING"
—and—
...RIDGE OF SAN LUIS REY"

Sophomore Council Evaluates Work

Sophomore Council held their annual evaluation meeting in the Student Alumnae building clubroom a week ago yesterday.

This meeting is held once a year to evaluate the work of the organization during the past year. The members go over their work, finding fault and discussing means of improving it.

The main topic of discussion was the problems which will arise out of the new quarter system. The members tried to decide a means of orientating the freshmen who will enter school at the beginning of the second and third quarters. It was thought that the Sophomore Council should work more with the freshmen and with the freshmen advisor. Their work has become too mechanical. The council also decided that they should try to take a more active part in orientating the freshmen who enter at the beginning of the school year.

A discussion was also held on improvements of the Sophomore Council in regard to convocation. They discussed particularly ways to facilitate roll check.

That freshmen flunkies need to take a more active part in the college activities was also discussed. Jean Cole, chairman of Sophomore Council, said that many of the flunkies were never called upon to do anything. She also said some of the flunkies have had to ask for things to do, even though there are plenty of things that the organization could easily but are rarely asked to do.

Poet In Residence Addresses Students On Various Topics

Continued from page one

three poems was an attempt to describe those things sometimes seen for an instant in a sudden flash of light and inspiration. "Crystal Morning" described the flight of a stag across a bay with a pack of hounds in pursuit, while the young Coffin watched from a rowboat. "Golden Folly" saw the golden, cruel beauty of a hawk just before the kill. In "Secret Heart," he recalled a serious illness in his ninth year, during which his father came in the middle of the night and stood by his bed. He described his father's face as he saw it in the light of a match.

The last group of poems were typical of his home in Maine. "The Race" described the walk through life of a typical couple who lived along the Maine coast. "This Is My Country" was a description of the people and the countryside of Maine. "Roxana" dealt with an old woman crippled with rheumatism and a sense of sin.

Sidney Foster Plays Tonight

Famous Pianist Appears On Civic Concert

Sidney Foster, American pianist, will appear tonight at 8:15 at Leon High school auditorium as a part of the Civic Music Association's series of programs.

In addition to his usual piano repertoire there is always a new composition or seldom heard work included in his programs. Of his interest in contemporary music, Foster says, "I feel it a distinct privilege to be able to introduce new works to my audiences, since in my opinion, many of them are profound and vital contributions to the growing repertoire of American music, and distinguished additions to the whole of piano literature."

At nine he began his piano stud and one year later entered the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. After two years at Curtis, Foster returned to New Orleans to study with Walter Goldstein. In 1930 he gave his debut recital in that city. Encouraged by a newspaper there he continued to concertize during the ensuing four years. In 1934, he decided to devote his entire time to further study. He reentered the Curtis Institute and stayed there until he graduated in 1938.

Prize winning was the next stage in Foster's career. The MacDowell club prize was his in 1939 and the Leventritt award in 1940 which provided for a solo appearance with the New York Philharmonic Society. He played the Beethoven Concerto No 3 with the Philharmonic Symphony under John Barbirolli in March, 1941. The New York Times report the next morning was "a richly gifted performer" and "that his brilliant play occasioned a prolonged ovation." Since then both as a recitalist and as a soloist with symphony orchestras, he has continued to bow to large audiences in concert halls from coast to coast.

Any new members of the Civic Music Association may present their membership receipts for admission as guests to this last concert of the 1944-45 season.

All students and faculty who have not sent in renewals for their 1945-46 memberships are urged to do so promptly. Student dues are $3 and $6 for adults. The campaign headquarters are now open in the Cherokee hotel building, Box 149. For students' convenience in securing membership cards they may contact Miss Fae Thompson in the college book store, Mr Walter Cowles, or Miss Isabel McKinnell. They may also see the following students for cards: Emily Breggar, Mary Robertson or Martha Fox.

Other guest artists that have been presented on the Civic Music programs in the past are: Gladys Swarthout, Ballet Russe, Don Cossacks, Ezio Pinza, Salzedo Ensemble, Erica Morini, Arthur Rubinstein, Claudio Arrau, National Operatic Quartet, Jean Dickinson, Luboshutz and Nemenoff, Roland Gundry, Anne Jamison, Griller String Quartet, Carmen Amaya Company, Curtis String Quartette, Polyna Stoska, Louis Kaufman and Thomas L Thomas.

Sensitive Seniors Organize 'S' Club

The S club is a new organization on the campus for "sensitive seniors" who never made the F club. Its twenty-five members consider it next to the F club here at Florida State College.

Their colors, brown and white, are worn on Saturday and the members eat together Saturday night. "We do things up brown, but our hands are lily white," is the motto.

The song of the S club is, "A Little on the Bony Side." "Mary Had a Little Sheep" is their favorite poem since the pledges are called sheep.

Nancy Parker announced that the S club would tap soon and they would try to include all friends and roommates in particular.

Pre-Med. Exam

The Association of American Medical Colleges' aptitude test will be given on April 13, in 315 Westcott. This test should be taken by all students who expect to apply for entrance to a Medical School during 1945 or the Spring of 1946.

Having been adopted by the association as one of the normal requirements for admission, the test measures one's ability to learn material similar to that given in Medical Schools.

Those who are interested should apply immediately to the office of the Director of Personnel. A fee of $1.50 will be collected from each student taking the test.

Sidney Foster, pianist, will appear on the Tallahassee Civic Music Association program tonight at Leon High school.

Contest Entries Deadline April 16

"World Citizenship" Is Topic Of Speech Competition

Deadline for Oratorical Contest entries is April 16, according to Cordelia Barcley, chairman of sponsoring organization Student World Affairs Council. Broad topic of the contest is "World Citizenship: Challenge to C...cency," and all students are asked to enter.

Prizes will be awarded the contest winners in the finals to be held publicly April 25.

Judges will include Dr Doak Campbell, president of FSCW, Honorable Roy Chapman, chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court, the Honorable Colin English, superintendent of education, and Secretary of State R A Gray.

Any phase of the broad topic may be used as a subject, according to the SWAC chairman. Talks are to be 800 words of 8 minutes long, and judging will be on basis of content and delivery.

Entries may be made through Cordelia Barclay, Virginia Holmes, or Jere Halpern, president of ... sponsoring organization ...

Faculty members will be available to give help to students needing aid in organization or presentation of talks.

All campus organizations ... been asked to enter one candidate, and individuals are urged to enter.

Variety of Topics Featured This Week

The radio program of Florida State College this week feature a variety of topics.

Monday night at 9 o'clock there will be a program sponsored by the Personnel Office. Thursday night there will be the regular Garnet and Gold program and Friday afternoon at 2:30 the elementary glee club of the demonstration school will give a special program.

The personnel office will sponsor a program in the form of a play, dealing with vocational guidance. The cast will include Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel: Miss Marguerite Dressler, assistant director of personnel, and Mary Alice Bacheler, a student assistant. This program is the second in a series which explains the work of the personnel department.

The public school music class will furnish the music for Thursday's Garnet and Gold program.

The demonstration school program will be given from the college auditorium. The children, under the direction of student teachers, will present pieces from the cantata, "The Caravan."

Thatcher Talks On Military Diseases

"Diseases of Military Significance" is the subject of lectures given by Miss Mable Thatcher to the general bacteriology classes beginning this Friday and continuing every Friday until the end of the semester.

These are diseases which are often called "Oriental Diseases" or "Tropical Diseases," those foreign to the United States. The endemic areas and reservoirs of infection are located in many places where the American soldiers are fighting.

Since many boys will be exposed for the first time, they will be easy prey for these bacteria or protozoan parasites. These diseases now take on a new significance to all Americans.

The same lectures will be given at 9, 11 and 2 in the bactoriology laboratory, 101 Westcott. All students are invited to attend at any of these times.

Allison Gives Conception Of Responsible Student

Continued from page one

ticularly historical novels and biographies. She loves music, either listening or playing the piano herself. One of her greatest pleasures is sitting in the back of Westcott auditorium, listening to the organ. Her favorites are Tschaikowsky, Debussey, light classics, and a few popular songs.

Her major at FSC is social studies, "with a smattering of Spanish, religion, philosophy, piano and organ." When she graduates from college she will probably either take graduate work or teach a year, "and eventually get married, I suppose." She smilingly confessed that among her earlier ambitions was a desire to be a concert-pianist and to go to India. She enjoys traveling, but not in war time.

Ann is active in church work at college, has helped in Methodist intermediate camps in the summer, and is a conference officer for Florida.

In the dining hall she gets excited over ham and green tomatoes. Her "pet peeves" are disorder and people who borrow things and don't return them. She likes Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman, and Bob Hope. Her favorite place on campus is just any spot where I can see the moon through the pines."

CoEducation Forum Is Held

Continued from Page One

of cut-throat politics in competition over appropriations for the two schools, she said.

"Under the present system FSC is one of the largest and finest women's colleges in the country. The proposed legislation, however, would result in a decreased enrollment which would have a detrimental effect upon the school," Nell stated.

Emphasizing the expense involved in equipping the two state colleges for coeducation, she said that this conversion would necessitate the expenditure of approximately $2,500,000. A thorough study of educational institutions in Florida should, therefore, be made and the step carefully planned in order to have a workable and comprehensive system of education in the state, she concluded.

Janet Pancoast then gave statements by various members of the legislature concerning their views on coeducation. Many of the legislators are undecided on this question and the only course open is to "wait and see", according to Janet.

In the open discussion which followed students considered the possibility of housing women students in the existing dormitories at the U of F. They also discussed the contention that under the present system students must go out of the state in order to take certain college courses.

Spirogira Backs Campus Grass Drive

Would you like for someone to cut your corners? To trample on your new spring dress? Spirogira has taken up the cause of people walking across the grass here on the campus of Florida State College.

Have you noticed how the grass is beginning to lose its alive look? Brown paths are appearing all over the parks. Nancy Parker asks everyone to cooperate in this keep-off-the-grass drive. She is asking each girl on campus to be a member of her committee.

Next time you see someone cutting across the grass, just whistle the first line of "There's a Long, Long Trail A-Winding." And don't forget yourself!

College Observes Pan-American Week

Departments Plan Programs About Latin America

The coming week, April 8-14, is Inter-American Week, which has been designated by the coordinator's office of the State Department, under Mr Nelson Rockefeller, to emphasize relations among the Americas.

In observance of the week, the departments of FSC have planned a series of movies, special class room discussions, lectures, talks and displays. This program on campus is under the direction of the College Committee on International Affairs, whose chairman is Miss Sadie Young, associate professor of economics.

Several departments of the college are using some phase of their regular work to call special emphasis to Inter-American affairs during the week.

Department of Philosophy: Discussions on Latin American Art and the Christian Church in Latin American Countries.

Modern Language Classes: Personal Experience in various Latin American Countries.

Political Science Department: Dr Lucretia Ilsley will lecture on Latin American Governments in the Student Alumnae auditorium, Friday, April 13, at 5 p m.

Economics: Discussion in classes of economics of the Western Hemisphere.

Sociology: Emphasis on Inca Relics now under the direction of Mrs Snow and discussions of American Indians in anthropology.

Library: Two exhibits. Committees from Latin American history class are working on a special program for Pan-American Day. The students are arranging a special exhibit in the library to be on display during the week. They are also sponsoring the Pan-American film "Our Neighbors Down the Road" shown under the auspices of the War Activities Committee. This film will be shown in the Augusta Conradi theater at 8:15 p m April 14, and Sunday afternoon, April 15. It is a 45-minute film to which the public is cordially invited.

Reference Room: Miss Haynes will have a display of pamphlets, documents and other material useful in studying Inter-American relations.

Demonstration School: Under the direction of Dr Myra Yancey arranging exhibits, and also having talks by Miss Margaret Campbell, who studied in Chile, and Mrs Clara Bush, a native of Brazil.

The following week the night of April 18, Dr Kathryn Abbey Hanna formerly of the History Department now of Winter Park will lecture on The Mexican Conference as a part of Inter-American policy.

Everyone is urged to attend all the programs and to take full advantage of the excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with our good neighbors to the south, through Inter-American Week.

Cotillion Initiates Twenty-two Girls

Ceremony and Banquet Held To Honor New Members

Cotillion Club initiated 22 girls into the organization on Thursday, March 29, 1945, at the Pi Beta Phi house.

After the initiation ceremony the members and new initiates attended a banquet at the Three Torches tea room. The new initiates sang their Cotillion goat songs and were welcomed by Betty Lou Christian, president, who presented the 1945 Cotillion bracelet to Betty Keene. This bracelet is awarded each year to the girl chosen by the club as the best tap.

Cotillion dancing classes are continuing regularly every Thursday night from 7:30 to 8:15. The fundamentals of the Lindy Hop are being taken up at present.

The new members will continue acting as hostesses in the Student Alumnae recreation room.

The club is also working on scrapbooks for Army and Navy hospitals.

The new members are: Cleona Asher, Janice Booker, Lillian Brown, Carolina Butler, Claire Cashan, Carol Claus, Nancy Gleaton, Evelyn Howell, Betty Keene, Ann Mickell, Merion McEwen, Margie Morgan, Jeanna Oldfather, Mary Alice Ray, Franklin Smith, Doris Snow, Marilyn Ward, Sally Whitehead, Mot Wight, Bette Wisenbaker, Jane Wooten and Ina Jo Wrench.

Flunkies Active

Freshman Flunkies, the organization which does the dirty work for other organizations on campus is now typing copy for the Flastacowo and painting posters for the joint concert to be given by the glee club and orchestra, according to Pat Pattishall, chairman of the group.

Room Registration Causes Early Rising Of Girls Living on Lower Bryan Floor

For three successive Mondays, residents of Bryan's lower floor, south, where the office of Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence, is located, have been awakened at an hour much earlier than their accustomed time of rising.

Sounds of running feet, excited voices and dragging chairs echoed through the previously quiet halls. When the exasperated girls finally got up in despair and disgust and started the morning trek to the washroom, they found themselves barricaded in their rooms. They found girls lined up in chairs against the walls, leaving no space whatever before the doors.

The cause of all this excitement was room registration. Students desiring some particular room or locality wanted to be sure no other application for the same room or locality reached the office first. The first week, next year's seniors registered; the second week, the coming juniors; and the third week, the future sophomores.

From 8:50 until 10 on these Mondays the line grew longer and longer. Many girls brought novels to read. Others were occupied with unfinished homework. Still others were knitting or doing other handwork. Some few even brought their breakfast. Roommates and friends took turns standing in line and going to class or breakfast. By 10, when the actual registration began, the line had stretched all the way to the recreation hall and back. Girls coming from 9 o'clock classes added to the train. When the doors were finally opened, the line began to move slowly wearily forward. Soon there were steady streams of girls moving in and out of the office.

Many little accidents occurred during the long waits. Books were droped and redropped. Feet were stepped on, fingers mashed, chairs knocked over or suddenly unbalanced by the opening of doors against which they had been propped. New friends were made and old ones grew dearer through shared suffering. Laughter, gossip, the latest news flew up and down the hall. Finally, after hours of fidgety and exhausting waiting, room registration was completed for another year.

Leatrice Shuman Married Yesterday

Leatrice Shuman, Florida State Senior, was married to Lt Joseph Thomas yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Tallahassee Catholic sacristy.

The bride wore a grey gabardine suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage. She was attended by her sister, Gloria Shuman, an alumna of FSC.

The bride and groom left today for a wedding trip to St Louis, Missouri, and Chicago, Illinois where they will visit his home.

Lt Thomas has just returned from the South Pacific where he was a fighter pilot. He has received the Purple Heart, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, and a presidential citation.

Mrs Thomas is from Dunellon and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She plans to return to school after her husband is permanently stationed.

Out of town guests included Mrs G W Shuman of Dunellon, mother of the bride: Mrs Agnes Schonsbeck of Chicago, Illinois, mother of the groom: Mrs Eugene Griffith of Jacksonville and Mrs Louise Bascomb of Ocala, aunts of the bride.

Concert To Be Given Monday Night

Continued from Page One

Edna Price, Ruth Ervin, Helen Benz, Madge Pilcher, Muri Price, Yvonne Moorhead, Calista Hatcher, Martha Cowan, Barbara Brough, Mary Nichols, Jeannette Chapman, Joyce Carlton, and Melba Smitees.

Members of the Orchestra are: first violins: Rachel Cutsvel, Lillian Baker, Frances Blackburn, Joyce Funke, Joy Little, Annabelle Redwine, Martha Smith and Anne Widerquest. Second violins: Virginia Ailstock, Montrose Boots, Katherine Gremil, Eleanor Haire, Erline Haire, Marian Najarian, Shirley Paleaz, Gladys White, Frances Williams, and Ellen Wooten. Violas: Frances Sparkman. Violincellos: Patricia Hill, Annette Haire. Double Bass: Margaret L Smith. Flutes: Joyce Airth, Marilyn Dewey. Clarinets: Frances Duckworth and Anne McDonald. Bassoons: Mary Marshall and Geraldine Farnsworth. Trumpets: Betty Aughenbaugh, Carolyn Bailry, and Myra Bates. French Horn: Katherine Lewis. Tiepani: Christine Morrison. Harp: Mary Reeder and cymbals: Doris O'Neil.

Odd-Evens Continue Sports Practice

Students who wish to participate in Odd-Even softball, tennis and archery games still have time to earn their practice points, according to the sports leaders. Practices Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for the Odds and Monday, Wednesday and Friday for Evens will continue until the last of April when tournaments will begin.

Babe Evens has replaced Ethyl Fields as Even tennis leader, Blanche Faver, previously elected, will lead the Odd tennis team.

Those participating in archery are required to shoot a score of 150 before they may take part in the Odd-Even competition according to Carolyn Forehand, Odd leader. Eleven players have ... out to Odd practices of which eight will be chosen for the team. Carolyn Bourland is leader of the Even archery team.

Coached by Miss M... Stanion, instructor in physical education, 28 players are participating in Even softball practices. The Odd team under direction of Miss Calliope Papatsos, instructor in physical education, is also holding fielding and batting practice. Frankie Hall is leader for the Evens and Allera Trieste, for the Odds.

FSC Represented

Dr Doak S Campbell, Dr Milton W Carothers, Dean H L Eyman, Dean Guy ... Diffenbaugh and Mr R L Goulding will represent Florida State College at the Florida Association of Colleges and Universities in Tampa on April 6 and 7.

Dr Carothers is president of the association and will preside at the meeting.

AIR SERVICE

FROM TALLAHASSEE

to

ORLANDO

and

OCALA

Arrives Tallahassee—11:15 A.M.
Departs for Ocala and Orlando—1:30 P.M.
Municipal Airport

Office Opens at 10 A.M.
For Reservations, Phone 2565

MRS. WHEELER, Agent

Sorority Chit-Chat

Sorority activities will center around Panhellenic dance which will be held tomorrow night in the college gymnasium and Panhellenic sing which will be in Westcott auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All groups are planning intermission parties for Saturday night.

Supper Planned

Kappa Delta will enjoy a supper at the chapter house after the sing. Mary Shelley Carr and Jeanette Chapman were in charge of arrangements. Josephine Pate Anderson of Monticello will be one of the KD weekend alumnae guests.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta will honor new pa trons Sunday night with a reception. Dr and Mrs Mark H Deeraff will be faculty sponsors. Patrons will be Mrs H S Foster, Miss Dunson, Mrs Mabel Stewaret Sianion, and Mr and Mrs James H Pavey. New Delta Zeta pledges are Caroline Avery, Betty Johnston and Carolyn Smith. Bette Parker won the scholarship cup presented each year by the Jacksonville alumnae group.

Kathleen Johnston will serve as president of Delta Zeta for next year. Other officers include Jane Padgett, vice president; Alice Walton, Lamp editor; Celia Lamas, recording secretary; Grace DeWolf, corresponding secretary; Anne Stewart, treasurer, and Lonnie Blackwelder, house chairman. Eileen Smith was appointed rush captain and Carol Penherlieid representative. Pot Vincent will be in charge of scholarship and standards. Social chairman will be Grace DeWolf, in charge of publicity is Alice Walton. Lonnie Blackwelder will be intramurals manager. Estelle Kilpatrick will be parliamentarian, and Betty Copps and Dorothy Conlin have been appointed as guards.

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta piedged Katherine Hamilton recently. An after dinner coffee was held at the chapter house Sunday.

Delta Delta Delta

Miss Barbara Ellinger, national traveling secretary of Delta Delta Delta, was honored with an after dinner coffee Monday night. A number of Tri Delts attended a luncheon given for brothers by the Jacksonville Alliance Easter weekend. Those presented at the luncheon was in charge of the ten members of the local chapter there.

Sigma Kappa Install

Sigma Kappa sweetheart pledge and faculty friends with a before Panhellenic sing. Council of Sigma Kappa were entertained Monday night. Donna Lee Hall, new president.

Other officers include Charlotte Thorpe, vice president; Faye Hall, recording secretary; Wilda Hayes, corresponding secretary, Mary Douglas Tinsley, treasurer; Miriam Angell, house chairman; Dorothy Weiseck, assistant; Dorothy Hahn, social chairman and Panhellenic representative; Ernestine Jackson, social chairman; Ruth Hargrove, scholarship chairman; Winifred Winters, registrar; Betty Trawick and Pinkie Stewart, historians. Frances Lron. Trianelli correspondent; Dorothy Fouts parliamentarian; Priscilla Clark, athletic manager; and Fawn Trawick and Eugene Chazal, music chairmen.

Breakfast Planned

Phi Mu s Sunday morning breakfast will be in honor of Delia Rhodes. Dr and Mrs Coyle Moore. Mr and Mrs Earl Vance. Mrs Christine Scarborough, Dr Edna Deviney, Miss Mary Claybrooke, and Miss Edna Mahaffey, new patrons, will be honored at coffee Sunday night.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi will honor alumnae and patrons with a garden party tomorrow afternoon.

Alpha Chi Elects

Jane Gardner will be installed as president of Alpha Chi Omega Monday night. Bonnie Hedgecock will be first vice-president, Other officers will include Marjorie Austin, second vice-president; Louise Sima, Panhellenic representative; Jean Ann Granbery, recording secretary; Martha Peacock, corresponding secretary; Nicky Sartoris, treasurer; Margaret Williams, social chairman; and Martha Alvarez and Barbara Wickham, co-rush chairmen.

Dr and Mrs Coyle Moore of Alpha Chi Omega housemother, had as her guest for the Easter holiday her son, Major William Barnett, who has just returned from overseas.

Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi will entertain at coffee immediately after Panhellenic sing tomorrow afternoon.

New Officers Installed

Betty Jo McAleer was installed as the new housemother of Kappa Gamma Delta at the traditional installation ceremony which was held last Wednesday. Other officers installed were Stella Barrineau, first vice president; June McCurdy, second vice president; Virginia Reid, recording secretary; Kit Land, corresponding secretary; Pat Horner, house chairman; Shirley Rodgers, pledge chairman; Janet Rogers, chairman of names; Beverly Watkins, editor; Phyllis Rendell, Panhellenic representative; and Mary Shirley Armer-camp chairman. Virginia Ricks, treasurer; Helen Miller, social chairman, and Mary Rosebrook, publicity chairman.

Chi Omega Observes Date Of Founding

Chi Omega will recognize its fiftieth anniversary with a banquet tomorrow night at the Governor Hotel. Dr William O Dodd, national president of the fraternity will follow with a sketch of fifty years in Chi Omega. In conclusion, Dr Doak S Campbell will discuss the advancements expected in the next fifty years, in college.

Beside actives and alumnae expected to be present there will be several special guests. Among these will be Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Dr Olive M Dennis and Dr and Mrs William G Dodd. Mrs Harold Richards is in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

In honor of the founding of Chi Omega on April 5, 1895, at the University of Arkansas, a candlelight service was held at the chapter house Sunday night at which all members wore white.

New "F" Officers

Newly elected F Club officers who will be installed after the next few months, are: Ruth Evans, president; Barbara Irving vice president and Juanita Nora secretary-treasurer.

The former officers were Priscilla Gillette, president; Marjory Loomis, vice president, and Mary Florence Fox secretary-treasurer.

The goats are giving the members a picnic at Games Woods next week.

Travel in Mid-Week

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you will get service men and woman may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

Got a date tonight?
Let Dura-Gloss help make it gay and sparkling. And the Dura-Gloss you put on for tonight's date will stay on for days. A smooth-flowing, lustrous polish that adds romance and beauty to all your nights and days. In demand at beauty counters everywhere. 10c plus tax. Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Dura Coat

LORR LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

DURA-GLOSS nail polish will win your ♥ and his says Cupid

Formal Dance Will Be Given By Bryan

Heaven-Earth Theme To Be Featured by Dormitory

"All This and Heaven, Too", will be the theme of the Bryan hall formal dance, which will be held on Saturday night from 8 p m to midnight.

The dance will be carried out by spring flowers and by angel and cloud decorations. The downstairs parlor will resemble an outdoor patio, and will carry out the "All This" part of the theme. It will be decorated with spring flowers, white picket fences, and trellises covered with roses. Dancing will be held here, with music to be supplied by records.

The sun-parlors upstairs will be decorated with paper angels and clouds, and will carry out the "Heaven" theme. The punch-bowl will be placed here, and punch and cookies will be served all during the evening.

A short intermission has been planned for the intermission, with Jeannette Hollister as master of ceremonies. She will call on Frances Downing will be followed by her a dance, and by Corrine Jenkins and Frances Downing, both to be accompanied by Marie Dorier on the piano. Peggy Hellier will give a reading entitled "Several Minutes Late", which will be solos, "The Very Thought of You" and "Whispering", will be given by Jimmie Hall with Jean Rhodes. This will be followed by several piano selections presented by Mary Frances Fielding and Jean Rhodes. This will be followed by several piano selections presented by Mary Frances Fielding and Jean Rhodes. This will be followed by several piano selections presented by Mary Frances Fielding and Jean Rhodes. This will end with a community sing, led by Jimmie Hall.

Invitations have been sent to 125 soldiers, the majority from Dale Mabry field, and they will be bring their dates, it was announced.

The dance is to be in charge of the following committee chairmen: Jean Rhodes, in charge of music and program. Ann Fielding of decorations; Jeannette Hollister, invitations. Mary Helen Trew of flowers, Frances Wood of refreshments, and Jane Finney and Margie Grace of hostesses.

Panhellenic Dance Has Spring Theme

Officers and Initiates Given Special Load Dances

The annual Pan Hellenic dance will be held Saturday night in the Student Union building from 8:30 p m until 12:00 p m. The theme of the dance will be "April Showers". Music of the theme. Music will be played by the Starlighters.

During the evening the outgoing presidents of the sororities and the new presidents will be introduced. There will be a special lead out for new initiates.

Tickets are priced at $1.65 per couple. Any college women and the U of F a coeducational school," stated one student. "I believe that a trial basis for the year and should determine the issue at both universities," commented another.

The present system has produced two outstanding schools and should therefore be maintained was the concensus of opinion among students opposing coeducation at either FSC or the U of F. "Although I believe both colleges will benefit financially in the future, I think it unwise for the standards of our college to thinunge to a coeducational program at the present time," said one student.

CoEducation Wins In Poll of Students

Continued from Page One

ther education and put Florida in step with the other states. "If Florida State Colleges are not made coeducational, the young people of Florida will go out of state to college," stated one "The boys and girls of Florida must learn to work together in college if the men and women are to coexist in the future for the best interests of our state," commented another.

Students voting that only the U of F should be made coeducational stated that this reform would give young women their choice of attending either a coeducational college or a girls' school. "FSC should be made the women's college for women and the U of F a coeducational school," stated one student. "I believe that a trial basis for the year and should determine the issue at both universities," commented another.

The present system has produced two outstanding schools and should therefore be maintained was the concensus of opinion among students opposing coeducation at either FSC or the U of F. "Although I believe both colleges will benefit financially in the future, I think it unwise for the standards of our college to thinunge to a coeducational program at the present time," said one student.

Davis Will Perform In Recital Tuesday

Soprano Soloist Has Given Recitals in Hong Kong

Mildred Harter Davis, soprano soloist and voice instructor at Florida State College, will perform in the college auditorium at Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs Davis lived in the Orient for a number of years and was at one time choir director in a Chinese university. She has given recitals in the Royal Theater in Hong Kong, and she is a pupil of the famous music teacher, Griffith.

Her group of selections will include: "Lungi dei Caro Bene" by Secchi; "Non Piu Cosa Ons Sia" Marriage of Figaro by Mozart, "Recitative et Aria de Lia," L'Enfant Prodigue by Debussy, "Voice que le Printemps" by Debussy, "Mansons la Gigue" by Pucdowski, Du Past Winterreise by Schubert, "Die Mamachtl" by Brahms. "Vergebliches Stanchen" and a group of Chinese songs that she learned in the Orient including "In the Garden Tonight" by Edward Horseman, "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes," by Curran, "Sleepy Head" "Hop-Li" "The Rickshaw Man" by by Kathleen Manning. "A Land of Lanterns" by Granville Bantock.

Mildred Harter Davis, soprano, and FSC voice instructor, will give a recital this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auditorium.

Davis Will Perform In Recital Tuesday

Soprano Soloist Has Given Recitals in Hong Kong

Mildred Harter Davis, soprano soloist and voice instructor at Florida State College, will perform in the college auditorium at Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs Davis lived in the Orient for a number of years and was at one time choir director in a Chinese university. She has given recitals in the Royal Theater in Hong Kong, and she is a pupil of the famous music teacher, Griffith.

Her group of selections will include: "Lungi dei Caro Bene" by Secchi; "Non Piu Cosa Ons Sia" Marriage of Figaro by Mozart, "Recitative et Aria de Lia," L'Enfant Prodigue by Debussy, "Voice que le Printemps" by Debussy, "Mansons la Gigue" by Pucdowski, Du Past Winterreise by Schubert, "Die Mamachtl" by Brahms. "Vergebliches Stanchen" and a group of Chinese songs that she learned in the Orient including "In the Garden Tonight" by Edward Horseman, "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes," by Curran, "Sleepy Head" "Hop-Li" "The Rickshaw Man" by by Kathleen Manning. "A Land of Lanterns" by Granville Bantock.

Two Seniors Awarded Internship By NIPA

Diana Washbon and Janet Pancoast, two seniors in the college of science have been awarded internships by the National Institute of Public Affairs in Washington, D.C. for a seven months training in governmental service, to begin July 1.

This is teh first year that two seniors of Florida State College have received such internships. In recent years, only one student have been awarded internships in different years.

Only 35 such awards are made by the National Institute of Public Affairs and by 9 universities in the United States. The award includes the privilege of taking certain courses at American University or George Washington University tuition-free.

The training includes a month orientation in Washington, and the different aspect of administration, personnel and finance. Weekly seminars are held at which prominent government officials lecture. Discussions, journalist peak and lead discussions.

Seats Available

Dean Karl O Kuersteiner has announced that holders of the A series tickets may obtain reserved seats in the basement of the Student Alumnae building from April 10 through April 16 for the performance of Hugh Pat Brady, director of the Chicago Opera Ballet.

W R Cowles will direct the college orchestra, and Etta Robertson will direct the Glee Club in the concert to be given Monday night at 8:15 in Westcott auditorium.

Summer Graduates

Students who expect to graduate in the first or second session of the 1945 summer school are asked to come to the Personnel office for an appointment next week. Those students will be scheduled for a placement conference with Miss Helen Parker or Mrs Frances H Roberts of the personnel office if they have not been registered.

Rural Children Play At FSC Gym Today

Annual Play Day to Include Races, Relays, Games

A Rainbow Play and Field Day for the rural school children of Leon County is being conducted today from 1 to 3 p m Friday by the sponsorship of the physical education department in conjunction with the county superintendent of instruction School. This program was planned by Dr Elizabeth Moss Somerey, head of the department and members of her faculty. Teachers from the Demonstration School and physical education majors at Florida State College for Women will be officials for these games.

The morning program features a Play Day demonstration by junior high school students. This group of students are participating in a Field Day. All children from the fourth through the eighth grades of the rural schools of the county will attend. The morning activities will include registration in the Florida Education building from 10 o'clock until 10:15 a m. From 10:15 to 10:30 announcements will be made and color teams organized, and from 10:30 to 12:30 there will be games.

In the first hour of games the girls from the junior high school group will play Newcomb on the softball court and the boys will play softball on the athletic field. In the period from 11:30 to 12:30 the junior high will try to play softball while the boys play basketball.

At this same time the elementary school children are to play games such as bombardment, keep away, snatch club and throw it and run.

This afternoon's activities will include singing and announcements followed by games from 1:30 to 3 o'clock inter-school competition.

These inter-school events will be made up of such sports as the obstacle-basket ball, dodge ball, basketball distance throw, potato race, softball distance throw, target show for accuracy, running broad jump and school relay. A 5 o'clock announcements of the winners will be made.

Girl Is Held In FSC Thefts

Sheriff Frank Stoutamire said today that Jean Schmuts, a teenage redhead, 17, the girl is being held in the Leon county jail on two counts of entering without breaking in the first count, and one count of a felony in connection with the theft of $500 in wearing apparel and jewelry from sorority houses at FSCW last November.

The South Carolina girl, also known as Jean Ayres, was arrested in Anderson last week and was returned to this county by Stoutamire Sunday.

She was given a preliminary hearing by Circuit Judge Fred A Meginnies yesterday and the case is temporarily delayed pending further investigation.

The girl had her first rift with Leon law enforcement officers here last October when she and two other girls were detained on charges of vagrancy. Disposement of a board bill to a local hotel, the sheriff said.

The board bill was paid later and the girl was released with the understanding that she would return home.

She went to Texas instead, the sheriff said, and later left there. It was during that time that the FSCW thefts are reported and a search for the girl was begun.

Poet Personalizes His Autographs By Sketches of Whales

"One of my favorite poems in this book is about a whale, so I think I'll draw one," remarked Dr Robert P Tristram Coffin in the college bookstore yesterday afternoon. Dr Coffin was kept busy from 2 until after 3 o'clock by students and teachers who sought his autograph in their copies of books.

Miss Margaret Stanton, instructor in the physical education department, handed the poet her copy of his book, Saltwater America. He wrote "With best wishes and an ancestral whale" before drawing a sketch of a whale spurting jets of the water from its nostrils with a harpoon. The harpoon was drawn in a continuous line from the last letter of his name.

Dr Coffin then stepped up said she thought she'd have a whale sketch, and he asked what kind she preferred. The result on a sperm whale because "it has more fun in its nostrils" now," as Dr Coffin pointed out.

Charlotte Bouland, a student, proved to be an elephant fancier. Farm, and remarked that her home town was the given name of Dr Coffin. He promptly drew a "scene from the Maine coast" for the autograph of the lighthouse, a few spruce trees, and a rocky shore.

He autographed dozens of his books, mostly volumes of poetry, and made a little sketch in each one of a sea salt, a house, a tree, or just a bit of scenery.

Miss Jewell Graham, manager of the bookstore, said that all of Dr Coffin's volumes of poetry and most of his other works had been readily sold, with numerous requests for additional copies.

PEA had its bi-annual camp meeting last week-end with Evelyn Stuckey as guest. All the latest hunt was held, various games were played and skits given by students and faculty in a terrific program. Easter morning a sunrise service was conducted by Margie Platt. Tedy Parker, Catherine Barrs and Virginia Palmer one of the many to be faced by the San Francisco conference—the question of the status of Polish representation, of Argentine recognition, of Russo-Chinese relations, etc. will have to be settled before any permanent peace in Europe or security organization can be begun.

In This Our Time

Continued from Page Two

Vamps Initiate

Initiation of taps of Village Vamps will be held Thursday at 6 o'clock in the evening at the banquet at 6 o'clock at the "Three Torches" given for all members and taps.

For two days preceding the initiation service, all taps will be expected to wear a black sash.

Village Vamps are also planning a tea dance to be given at Collillion Club and they will serve as hostesses at the Panhellenic dance April 7.

The National Audubon Society dedicated to the protection of birds, has been sponsoring annual bird census for the last about 30 years to determine the increase and decrease amongst all types of these birds. Ornithologists are enthusiasts throughout the country for list in the latter part of May the time the census is being taken and the census is then combined and published in a special supplement of the Society's official Journal.

The Island of Luzon, important in the war because it occupies a strategically important position near to the shipping lanes which are the lifeline of the Japanese Empire, has an area about the same as that of the state of Ohio.

Probation Period Keeps F Club Goats Busy With Special Tasks

Shouts of "Wipe that smile off," and "Your back, goat," were the two most familiar commands heard by the newly tapped goats as they began their probation period before they may be initiated into F club.

Most of the goats, as they are affectionately known, have already experienced at least a few of the many tasks of entertainment, errand running and chores assigned by members.

Julie such as sweater washing sewing letters on, shining shoes, and washing skirts have found their way into the goats daily curriculum while carrying clothes for the members to and from the laundry constitutes a large part of the errand running.

However, entertaining the mombers seems to be the main objective of every goat. Each goat is allowed a little leeway plied with jokes, stories and song and dance routines to help make the members smile a little bright.

The first day found goats bleating out their individual songs, stimulated and esteemed F club member Miss so-and-so." until the goats were told to cease as the members impatiently waited for the goats to call their name.

Unfortunately, many goats did not know every member's name so for this error the goat paid a penalty.

Each day after lunch and dinner, the goats assemble in front of the dining hall to entertain members in any way they can. Goat Alice Taff remarked that brides before she came to them while Goat Betty Gardner suffered a "vanishing case."

Goat Rachel Chambers saved up with some "Chamber-music" when "jumped in a cadillion." Many of the F club members thought that ribbons in goats' hair would improve their appearance. Goat Candy Ivey and Goat Rosa Lee Davis were two who wore ribbons in their hair and together pig-tails and duck tails.

Last Monday as the goat group was dancing around the Maypole it takes a tree, their leader said, "She'll be coming around to-morrow." Goat Jimmie Hall said, "She'll be wearing red pajamas when she comes." F club members, however, entertaining the goats were told to wear pajamas Tuesday. Wednesday morning goats wearing a purple outfit.

With F club there are many traditions, dreming a Goat, being the lamp post in front of the dining hall, and the wearing of the front of the dining hall being among two of the old standards. Goat James Hall was the first goat this week, while Goat Anna Rose Hall was the second. Tuesday the goats have been assigned to learn the "op" language and to be able to recognize the signs and carry on conversations using them.

Thursday is march day for the goats who display their talents for the last time, usually going through a regular drill ending with a rumba, waltz and conga mixed with a jitterbug.

As Friday is F club day, members must look their best, so regular help and "goat-like" are "esteemed" members shoes also.

Officers elected for the goat group are Betty Gardiner, president; Rosa Lee Davis, vice president; Evelyn Shea, production manager; Alice Taff, directing; Bopie Whitaker, chairman; Games Woods; Catherine Gardiner, chairman of the walk; and Bobbie Leonard chairman of the songs.

Rush, however, is only the beginning of the goating period. Many of the goats, already in a dilapidated condition, are beginning to wonder if they will ever be F club members. They wholeheartedly agree that each thing they do is worth it, for they reach their ultimate goal when they become "most honored members" and esteemed club members."

CoEducation Resolution To Be Presented

Continued from Page One

veration programs. Each student will be allowed one cut per quarter other than holidays, illness and any absences beyond the number will be "F".

The hour of the regular house meetings shall be a closed hour. No activities involving outside "social activities included, but "dates" and going out will be held at that hour except housemothers or COA convocations.

Senior exemption is also permission is a privilege granted senior girls at the theater, or activities approved as a place to go, or to include such an engagement. Bryan Hall parlor. A senior may have this permission for an hour extended second light final night of the week-end on a event of once a month and must report to on her engagement card before leaving the campus, or must make reservation for this late permission before leaving the campus. Seniors must make provision for this late permission before second light flash. A senior automatic permission does not include a ruling engagement.

The resolution that "An investigation for coeducation must be approved by the Residence Council before any further attempt should be repeated.

No weekends for freshmen will be permited the first six weeks of the first quarter, in residence. Two day trips will be permitted during the remaining portion of the first quarter. Six day trips will be permitted each quarter after a freshman has been in residence for a quarter.

All sophomores may have four weekends per quarter. All sophomores may have six day trips per quarter.

The Florida Flambeau

Z 100

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXII, No. 23 — Tallahassee, Florida — APRIL 13, 1945

Legislature in Brief

By CORDELIA BARTLEY

Florida's state legislature met last week to begin its biennial session and Tallahassee saw the usual flood of senators, representatives, clerks, secretaries, lobbyists, and visitors.

The first week of meetings was fairly concerned with the appointment of legislative committees, introduction of bills and any reference to appropriate committees. Senator Walter Rose, of Orlando, was announced president of the Senate, and Representative Evans Crary, of Stuart again, is speaker of the House.

Leading in interest and controversy this week in Legislature is the much-debated coeducation bill introduced in the House by Representative Holmes Melton, of Calverte, and in the Senate by Senator Wallace Sturgis, of Ocala. The companion bills, which provide for allowing women with credit hours of academic work the equivalent of petition to enter the University of Florida—in part, opening the school to enrollment of junior and senior women, was introduced last week and referred to the education committee B of the House for discussion, and to the Senate education committee.

This week's action on the companion bill was that the education B committee did not favor the bill and consequently "killed" it. However, the education committee has reported the bill favorably, and it will be discussed in the Senate floor soon. If Senate as a whole passes the bill, it will be referred to the House, and then again to an education committee, probably the same one which has already considered it. The House can discuss a bill "killed" in committee only by a two-thirds vote of the House.

Behind the scenes of the legal procedure now is a year of public attention and agitation over the coeducational question.

Representative Melton's bill had been endorsed by the state chamber of commerce, executive committee of the University of Florida, and the Tallahassee chamber. The University of Florida Alumni had voted overwhelmingly in favor of the idea, and its alumnae group had also given its official approval.

The state Board of Control had taken no action on the matter, and administrations of both schools had remained uncommitted.

Students of Florida State College expressed approval of coeducation and the bill in a recent poll, and through the resolution of Student Body president, Florida State College Association, however, stated that no "hasty action" be taken, and that nothing be done that would injure the standing of the school.

Tension over the matter became acute this week, and the objective was given that the bills have to have a public hearing the past Wednesday, a point of action of the House and Senate education committees.

Senators and Representatives received wires and letters pro and con. A delegation of University students arrived Tuesday to support the bill and urge legislators to pass it. Many letters, telegrams and called upon their representatives to give opinions on the pending bills.

Wednesday the hearing was held. Two-score students urged the legislators came to the Senate chamber of close to 200 to voice or hear the discussion. Over three hundred PSC girls packed the floor and gallery to watch the debate, and applauded speeches made. Information was given for and against the proposals of the bill.

The University of Florida coeducation bill is not only one of three proposals to be heard, and the fee for its discussion was limited originally to an hour. However, debate lasted two hours.

Speakers were divided with proponents and opponents sharing time.

First speaker for the bill was Senator Sturgis, and second was Vice-Governor Wetherell. Others still were Senator Ausley, of Tallahassee — and a representative from Jennings, of Escambia.

Further speakers for the bill were various legislators, president of the state Junior Chamber of Commerce, Representative Mary Lou Baker, of Escambia county, President of the University alumni association, Representative M. Dell Williams, Nassau County; Mrs. Bliss Rose, Orange County; Mrs. Jack Munro, and Cordelia Barclay, PSC student and past president of the Student Body.

Speaking against the bill were several legislators, Mrs. Frank Moor, spokesman for the PSC Alumnae association, and Chairman of the state Board of Control R. P. Adair. Mr. Adair told at length of the actual physical conditions of the University, the cost of opening the school to women students, and stressed the need to preserve University facilities for

Continued on Page Three

Senate Votes Favorably On Co-Education

31-9 Vote Affirms Senate Recommendation To Legislators

P. L. Thomson's Resolution Is Voted Down 28 to 11

"Student Senate resolves by a vote of 31-9 that coeducation is a superior plan of education and they recommend that the legislature of Florida be certain to give this opportunity for the students of Florida as soon as possible," was the resolution adopted by Student Senate at its meeting in the Student Alumnae auditorium Friday afternoon.

Peggy Lu Thomson, sophomore senator, brought resolution before the senate to be sent to the legislature giving the results of the student poll that was held at the college two weeks ago as evidence that the student body favored coeducation. Out of the 916 votes cast in the poll 80 were in favor of coeducation, 9 were for a majority, in favor of coeducation at both the University of Florida and Florida State College.

Peggy Lu's resolution suggested that coeducation be applied to the University in the academic year of 1945-46 and that the ideal goal be coeducation at both institutions. The reason given

Continued on Page Three

AAUW Cites More Winners

Thomson Wins Award; Craft Prizes Given

Additional winners of the creative arts contest sponsored by the Tallahassee Association of University Women which were released this week are those of the essay and art crafts.

Peggy Lu Thomson won first place in the essay division for her contribution on the race problem entitled, "Black and White." Honorable mention goes to Elizabeth McFarland for "Thomas Mann: Citizen of the World."

Six first prizes were awarded in the art division. Ann Craft for her pottery Martha Lawson won first prize for a vase; in modern and sculpture, Nancy Kindler for "Convention"; weaving, Beverly Watkins for a hooking mat; wood, Gertrude Nortine for book ends; textile, Mary Ann Gilbert for table mat and textile, Myra Pattishall for a book cover.

Honorable mention in pottery was awarded Dorothy Grimmell for goblets, Mary McCann for a vase, and Carolyn Clark for a mug. In modeling and sculpture those who received honorable mention were Ruth Chicoine for a head, Jocelin Lloyd for a modern group, Jocelin Lloyd for another, Gertrude Nortine for a plaque, and Anna Watkins for a book end.

Honorable mention in contest winners concerning the fields of the short story, music, and art and photography will be announced in next weeks' Flambeau.

The winning entries will be presently presented to the public at a special program in the Student Alumnae auditorium Tuesday, April 24. At this time the winning entries in the fields of dance, short story, poetry, and essay will be presented and will be followed by an appreciation of the prizes.

Continued on Page Three

Elections Are Held By Canterbury Club

The Canterbury club, composed of the Episcopalian students of the PSC campus, held its annual Sunday night supper, after which they had election of officers for the faculty advisors for the coming year. The faculty advisors are Miss Dr. Dr. Annie P. Liddell, professor of philosophy; Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary; Dr. Mary M. Dorcas, associate professor of philosophy; Mr. Karl Kurrelmeier, dean of Rollins College; and Miss Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ.

Newly elected officers are Harriet McCarter, president; Jo Dawkins, vice-president; Jean Hall, secretary; Letitia Croom, treasurer; Eleanor Boothby, chairman of social committee; Shirley Doyle, chairman of altar guild; Frances Taylor, library chairman; Dorothy Morrel, food chairman; Dorothy Sperry, publicity chairman; Sarah Lewis, music chairman; Carolyn Smith, social chairman; Robbin Hill, study class; Luella Rouse, worship; Doris Corry, freshman membership; Barbara Ann Hall, upperclassman membership; and Sara Jane McKelvy, off campus membership.

Cigarette Shortage Shows Up 'Bummers' As Unpopular Girls

"Sorry—nothing but Kools and Smoke," is the familiar reply to many distressed students at Florida State College who search in vain for their favorite brand of cigarettes. It is very evident that the cigarette shortage has struck the campus, since a package of the most popular cigarettes is almost impossible to find.

Miss Parker, manager of the Soda Shop in the Student Alumnae Building, attributes the sudden shortage to the ever-increasing demand for the boys in the service overseas.

Students, who frequent the Jennie Murphree smokery, have organized a "Non Bummers Club" to prevent a cigarettes smoker from "bumming" from anyone

Continued on page four

Pan-American Week Planned

Illsley to Speak on Latin American Government

Pan-American Week, which has been celebrated throughout the Western Hemisphere during April 14, 1890, of the Pan-American Union, the purpose of the Union has been to promote better understanding among the members of the Western Hemisphere. This year special interest has been centered on the aspects of the life of the members, and on the accomplishments of the republics.

Pasquilleer Club, composed of Mexicans.

Various departments of the college have cooperated during the week by emphasizing different phases of Pan-American life to be presented over the week-end. The political science department of Florida State College is featuring on Latin American Government. In the Student Alumnae auditorium, today at 5 p m.

Committees from Latin American countries have been formed and an exhibit of posters, pamphlets, current books, maps and charts to be on display from the week. They are also sponsoring the Pan-American Open House Tea Dance Down the Road" shown under the auspices of the War Activities Committee. The film will be shown in the Augusta Conrad

Continued on page four

Coffin Gives Talk On Ballads Friday

Poet In Residence Surveys His Book of Ballads

Robert P Tristram Coffin spoke Friday at 10 a m in the Augusta Conrad theater. Prior to his talk a tea was given after being on the campus of Florida State College for a week. Coffin will speak of his ballads and read from his book Primer for Blackbirds, a collection of about 137 ballads written on varied subjects.

Coffin has promised to start this book when he was sitting in the middle of four walls right in the middle of the United States and began to think of all the things that he remembered and was proud.

The ballads themselves are written in "primer" style and are similar to those of the poet himself. The ballads are simple as telephones, swimming holes, boys whistling, and mothers and fathers who missed the Mayflower, fish, people who are fond of fishing, are learning to read from American tombstones—most any plain, everyday subject.

"Hen Overboard" is a humorous ballad about a boat that "put to sea" and the only two whose care had fallen overboard. Mr Coffin said, "They used to do it for recitees. I like to think they'd do it for a hen, too."

He said often when he was ready to write a ballad, he found that he had to write two. The two he read were about "Stonewall" Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, a rest southerner and a great northerner.

"Country Doctor," a ballad which the PSC girls was identified with his usual detailed choice of words to describe the men who go "where only God can go."

Flag To Be Shown

The Florida State College flag dedication service will be held April 24 at 5 p m in front of Landis hal. The flag will be presented to Dr Campbell by the students and alumnae.

Dr Campbell will give an address following the presentation. The complete ceremony, the PSC band will play and drill.

ROOSEVELT DIES

In Memoriam

The students of Florida State College join with the citizens of the United States and people all over the world as they mourn the sudden death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"The passing of President Roosevelt was perhaps the greatest figure of our times. Senator Bankhead, democrat of Alabama, has said, "This is a terrible disturbance for the whole world. No other living man will be missed at this time as Franklin Roosevelt."

Unfortunately President Roosevelt died before the victory which he had so well deserved to see had been won. However, he has had a large part in directing the war and in planning the peace which will follow.

Our departed chief executive leaves an imperishable imprint on the history of America and the world.

The death of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt shocked the entire nation yesterday afternoon. He died unexpectedly at 4:35 of a massive cerebral hemorrhage at his little White House in Warm Springs, Ga.

College Plans

Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, announced that plans were underway for a memorial service, but that he wished to confer with the administrative personnel, faculty and the student body before final plans were made.

It was his personal opinion that the services might be on Saturday afternoon, at the same time at which services will take place in Washington, D C

Illness Sudden

Commander Howard Bruenn, U S navy physician, reported that the President was in excellent spirits at 9:30 a m, but at 1 o'clock he was sitting in a chair while sketches were being made of him by an architect, and he complained of illness. His last words were "I have terrific headache," addressed to Commander Bruenn. Within a few minutes he lost consciousness and did not ever regain it.

Truman Succeeds

At 7:09 p m Vice-President Harry S Truman took the oath as the nation's chief executive and became the thirty-third president to succeed to the presidency following the death of the nation's leader. This action nurses Secretary of State Stettinius up to next in line for the office, while Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, president pro-tempore, becomes permanent presiding officer of the senate. The vice-presidency itself remains vacant until the next presidential election.

Funeral Plans

The funeral will be in the White House east room in Washington on Saturday. Burial is to be at the Roosevelt ancestral home at Hyde Park, N Y, Sunday. The 62-year-old executive was taken back to Washington at 9 a m this afternoon accompanied by Mrs Roosevelt who left the White House last night at 7:15 after informing their four uniformed sons by wire of their father's death.

Rig Three Station

The death removed from world councils one of the Big Three—Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill—who worked together to win the war and laid joint plans for keeping the peace. It is reported that Truman likewise has pledged the need for international cooperation.

Two Concerts to Be Given Off Campus

Two concerts will be presented away from campus within the next week by faculty members of the School of Music.

Mrs Ramona C Beard, associate professor of organ, will give a recess organ concert at the Baptist church of Florida, Gainesville, on Sunday afternoon at 4 p m. and Monday evening presented in the Methodist church.

Mrs Beard's concert is one of an exchange of concerts made with the University of Florida Claude Murphree, U of F organist, recently gave a concert in the Florida Blue Colleen Recital in connection with this exchange.

The faculty piano quintet has not yet presented on campus, but plans to present a concert during National Music Week, which will be observed on campus from May 6 through May 12. The quintet is composed of Miss Mary E Winslow, associate professor of piano, at the piano; Mr Karl O Kuerstelner, dean of the School of Music, first violin; Rachel Crockwell, second violin; Miss Olga Ettner, associate professor of violin and theory, viola, and Mr Frank Sykora, associate professor of cello.

First Presentation Of Student's Song Given at Minstrels

"I wrote the melody about six or seven years ago", said Mary Lou Norwood, of "Here's All That's Left of My Heart", the original musical composition which was publicly presented for the first time in Junior Minstrels last Friday night.

Against a background representing the steps of Westcott, a chorus of twenty-seven girls in a hazy blue atmosphere, sang Mary Lou's song.

The melody of the song was written in May Lou's room in the junior high school and it has been running through her head ever since. It was just recently that she completed the composition on the piano in the music building.

Though Mary Lou has written many pieces, most of them have been given no names, this is the first which has ever been presented before an audience.

Murray To Talk

Miss Ellen Fenton Murray, instructor in history, will be guest of tea in Broward hall on Wednesday. Miss Murray will tell of her experiences as an undergraduate student at St Andrews University in Scotland.

Chinese Play To Have Final Performance

'Yellow Jacket' Presented In Little Theater, 8:15 Tonight

Large Cast Gives Oriental Drama in Three Acts

The last performance of "Yellow Jacket" will be presented tonight at 8:15 in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater. "Yellow Jacket" is a Chinese fantasy in three acts produced by the Speech Department and directed by Miss Evelyn E Bowman.

"Yellow Jacket" is a Chinese drama written by two American authors, Hazelton and Benrimo. They have retained the form and spirit of the Chinese drama but have modified the Oriental traditions of the drama so that they may fit the limitations of the western stage production.

The authors present in a very simple and highly imaginative manner a love story interwoven in living that is universal in its appeal and individualized in its treatment.

Although the American theater is essentially realistic, the Chinese theatre emphasizes the imaginary rather than the concrete. The Chinese theatre assumes that the audience has an imaginative mind and is willing to use

Continued on Page Three

Co-Ed Bill Is Voted Down

House Committee Defeats Senate's Bill 12-5

The senate committee on education reported favorably today for the admission of women to the University of Florida during their last two college years to the floor Wednesday afternoon, but the house committee defeated the measure by a vote of 12 to 5. This action followed a joint hearing during which committee members, the secretary of the State Board of Control, representatives of the University of Florida State College and the University of Miami presented their views and other speakers presented discussion on the issue.

The program included the awarding of Sophomore Council ribbons to the new second pledges by the members of Sophomore Council.

The new officers for the 1945-1946 college year are: Ann Carolyn Allison, president; Cordelia Barrs, chairman of judiciary; Audrey Perry, freshman advisor; Nancy Jane Hall, vice-president of CGA; Jane Cole, second vice-president; Jimmie Rogers, secretary; Madelyn King, treasurer; Peggy Thomson, chairman of the residence halls committee; Betsy Alsop, chairman of the off-campus committee.

The house presidents are: Irene

Continued on Page Three

Chinese Hindus Will Lecture Tomorrow

Students May Obtain Tickets at Box Office at 7:15 To Hear Noted Novelist, Lecturer, Author And Expert on Russia

Maurice Hindus, noted author, lecturer, novelist, and expert on Russia, will present a lecture in Westcott auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:15 p m. A and B Series tickets have been distributed, but those students who failed to obtain their seats may do so by presenting either ticket at the box-office, which will open at 7:15 Saturday evening, announced Dean Karl O Kuersteiner of the School of Music.

Noted Author

Mr Hindus is Russian by birth, and has just returned from one and one-half years in that country. He is the author of several books on Russia, among them, Mother Russia, Russia and Japan, Humanity Uprooted, Red Bread, and To Stay With Angels, Sons, and Fathers. He has also recently been a foreign correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, reporting ably on both the fighting front and the diplomatic scene. Considered an outstanding American authority on Russia, he has been a prophet of political and social change and an interpreter of one people to another.

Comments

The W Colston Leigh corporation, which presents materials of many such noted persons, has published the following comments: "As a lecturer, he has carried over into the spoken word the same sincerity and understanding which have made his writings so monumental. As a lecturer, author "To Him With An Angels, Sons and Fathers—he has become a keen interpreter, but a man who has come by his information first hand and in frequent visits to Russia. He gives an accurate and graphic picture of Russia today, not as a military machine, as a people, as a world power."

"He is one of the most distinguished lecturers on the American platform today," said Dean Kuersteiner. "He is an important personage and a superb lecturer, and no student can afford to miss this talk."

Maurice Hindus Will Lecture On Russia Tomorrow Night At 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium

Students May Obtain Tickets at Box Office at 7:15 To Hear Noted Novelist, Lecturer, Author And Expert on Russia

Maurice Hindus, noted author, lecturer, novelist, and expert on Russia, will present a lecture in Westcott auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:15 p m. A and B Series tickets have been distributed, but those students who failed to obtain their seats may do so by presenting either ticket at the box-office, which will open at 7:15 Saturday evening, announced Dean Karl O Kuersteiner of the School of Music.

Noted Author

Mr Hindus is Russian by birth, and has just returned from one and one-half years in that country. He is the author of several books on Russia, among them, Mother Russia, Russia and Japan, Humanity Uprooted, Red Bread, and To Stay With Angels, Sons, and Fathers. He has also recently been a foreign correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, reporting ably on both the fighting front and the diplomatic scene. Considered an outstanding American authority on Russia, he has been a prophet of political and social change and an interpreter of one people to another.

Comments

The W Colston Leigh corporation, which presents materials of many such noted persons, has published the following comments: "As a lecturer, he has carried over into the spoken word the same sincerity and understanding which have made his writings so monumental. As a lecturer, author "To Him With An Angels, Sons and Fathers—he has become a keen interpreter, but a man who has come by his information first hand and in frequent visits to Russia. He gives an accurate and graphic picture of Russia today, not as a military machine, as a people, as a world power."

"He is one of the most distinguished lecturers on the American platform today," said Dean Kuersteiner. "He is an important personage and a superb lecturer, and no student can afford to miss this talk."

CGA Officers Are Installed

Oaths Given at Candlelight Service in Westcott

The College Government Association held an installation program for the new officers in Westcott Auditorium. Tuesday evening, April 10, at 7:30.

Isabel Rogers, former president of CGA, introduced the program by administering the oath of the president to Ann Carolyn Allison, the new president.

Judge Tedy Parker, former chairman of judiciary, administered the oath of the chairman to Catherine Barrs, new chairman of judiciary.

Isabel Rogers and Tedy Parker gave their robes and caps to the new leaders of CGA in the traditional ceremony.

The new officers held candles while the retiring officers lighted them from the candles their hold, before leaving the stage. Ann Carolyn Allison took charge of the program at this point, and gave the oaths to the other officers as they came upon the stage.

All of the new and old members of CGA were standing, candles white and were seated in the front rows of the auditorium. As each new member came forward, the retiring officer of the same position came on the stage from the opposite side of the stage and the member's candle after the oath was taken.

The new officers stood on one side of the stage while the outgoing officers stood opposite with the lights from their candles extinguished.

The program included the awarding of Sophomore Council ribbons to the new second pledges by the members of Sophomore Council.

The new officers for the 1945-1946 college year are: Ann Carolyn Allison, president of CGA; Cordelia Barrs, chairman of judiciary; Audrey Perry, freshman advisor; Nancy Jane Hall, vice-president of CGA; Jane Cole, second vice-president; Jimmie Rogers, secretary; Madelyn King, treasurer; Peggy Thomson, chairman of the residence halls committee; Betsy Alsop, chairman of the off-campus committee.

The house presidents are: Irene

Continued on Page Three

Ruth Page to Offer Unique Type Dance

Artist's Style Is to Recite Poetry as She Dances

Ruth Page, ballet director of the Chicago Opera Ballet, will present a program of dances in the Student Alumnae auditorium at 8:15 p m. Tickets will be distributed in the basement of the Student Alumnae building to holders of A Series tickets. Distribution will take place during the week beginning April 16 and ending April 20. Only those with reserved seats will be admitted.

Miss Page's style of dancing is rather unique, in that she recites poetry as she dances.

"Ruth Page has turned the trick! Something new under the sun. A ballet dancer reciting poetry as she dances, and doing it much better than most professional poetry readers do. She doesn't merely get out of breath combining pirouettes with Carl Sandburg. Miss Page seems to have never taken an elocution lesson, but her voice is full and expressive, her diction clear and unaffected. Added to the ballet dancing and poetry are the beautiful costumes designed by Micholas Remisoff, and Miss Page's own dainty beauty and well-seasoned flair for comedy," states the May issue of Dance Magazine, in excerpt.

Kirn Will Lecture On Silk Paintings

An exhibition of silk screen paintings from the Collection of the National Serigraph Society will open in the club room of the Student Alumnae building with an art tea at 5 o'clock Thursday, April 19.

Miss Ann Kirn of the fine arts department will explain the history and process of serigraphs at the tea. The exhibition will be open to the public through April 21.

The exhibition of this comparatively new art is one of a series of featured events of the AAUW Spring Arts Program sponsored by the Arts and Crafts committee of which Mrs Doak S Campbell is chairman. Miss Cynthia Reeves, assisted by a group of AAUW members, is in charge of arranging the collection consisting of approximately 75 paintings.

Joint Concert Given on Monday

First Performance Was Given Of 'Femina Perfecta'

The college orchestra, in conjunction with the student glee club, and assisted by Mrs Ramona C Beard, associate professor of organ, piano, and theory, organist; Elizabeth Mayle pianist, and Margaret Rose Miller, accompanist for the glee club, presented a joint concert on Monday evening.

The orchestra was under the direction of Mr Walter R Cowles, conductor of orchestras, and the glee club was under the direction of Miss Etta L Robertson, professor of voice.

The glee club opened the program with the singing of "Angel Voices" "English Gothic Music of the 19th and 14th Century," "Alleluia Pascha" (Alleluia Let Us Sing), and "Beata Viscera" "The Blessed Virgin), accompanied by Mrs Beard; "Femina Perfecta," Karl Ahrendt; "The Handsome Sea-woman" Tyson-Treharne, and "Sea Moods." Tyson-Treharne. Margaret Rose Miller accompanied the glee club in the last three numbers. In response to applause by the audience, they presented an encore, "Battle-Hymn of the Republic."

This was the first performance of "Femina Perfecta," which was written in honor of Miss Ethel Hume, in four movements: Handel's Concerto No 5 in B-flat Major, Orchestra, in which Mry Beard was soloist, "Handel in the Strand," by Percy Grainger, with "Irish Tune from County Derry" ("Danny-Boy"), arranged by Percy Grainger. The program ended with "Studiguna's March" by Grieg, presented by the orchestra and assisted by Miss Mary B Reeder, harpist.

Murder Hindus Will Lecture On Russia Tomorrow Night At 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium

Students May Obtain Tickets at Box Office at 7:15 To Hear Noted Novelist, Lecturer, Author And Expert on Russia

Maurice Hindus, noted author, lecturer, novelist, and expert on Russia, will present a lecture in Westcott auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:15 p m. A and B Series tickets have been distributed, but those students who failed to obtain their seats may do so by presenting either ticket at the box-office, which will open at 7:15 Saturday evening, announced Dean Karl O Kuersteiner of the School of Music.

Noted Author

Mr Hindus is Russian by birth, and has just returned from one and one-half years in that country. He is the author of several books on Russia, among them, Mother Russia, Russia and Japan, Humanity Uprooted, Red Bread, and To Stay With Angels, Sons, and Fathers. He has also recently been a foreign correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune, reporting ably on both the fighting front and the diplomatic scene. Considered an outstanding American authority on Russia, he has been a prophet of political and social change and an interpreter of one people to another.

Comments

The W Colston Leigh corporation, which presents materials of many such noted persons, has published the following comments: "As a lecturer, he has carried over into the spoken word the same sincerity and understanding which have made his writings so monumental. As a lecturer, author "To Him With An Angels, Sons and Fathers—he has become a keen interpreter, but a man who has come by his information first hand and in frequent visits to Russia. He gives an accurate and graphic picture of Russia today, not as a military machine, as a people, as a world power."

"He is one of the most distinguished lecturers on the American platform today," said Dean Kuersteiner. "He is an important personage and a superb lecturer, and no student can afford to miss this talk."

Spirit of the Week

LIKE PANDORA'S HOPE!

● INDIFFERENCE OR WHAT?

Tomorrow evening we have an opportunity to hear a great figure on the lecture platform, Maurice Hindus who is an authority on Russia. He has distinguished himself in the world of literature because of his novels, Mother of Russia, Russia and Japan, Humanity Uprooted, and Red Bread, and should be able to give us another angle on our ally about whom we know too little.

It seems that when we receive opportunities such as this we would be overwhelmingly enthusiastic and grateful to be able to widen our scope of learning and understanding, but reports from the Artist Series booth in the book store we learn that only 77 students have secured tickets for this occasion!

It is true that tickets may be obtained at the ticket office of the Westcott auditorium the night of the performance; so let us hope Mr Hindus will lecture to a more live audience than a mass of vacant seats.

From accounts of his lecture tours he has had large turn-outs and if we students don't take advantage of this occasion we will certainly be hurting ourselves and at the same time casting a bad reflection on the college.

The Artist Series committee, headed by Dean Karl Kuersteiner, has worked hard and in turn succeeded in bringing prominent artists to this campus. Only last week Mr Robert P Tristam Coffin visited our campus for a week and communicated formally and informally with the students and faculty every possible minute. Since the beginning of this school year we have had Li Ling Lai, Chinese lecturer; the Don Cossacks, Russian chorus; Bart Harwell, naturalist; and J Norman Lodge, AP reporter; and before the end of this semester we will have the chance to hear about three more artists. Also, for the first time, this committee has arranged for one program for each of the summer sessions.

Let's show Dean Kuersteiner, and his committee composed of Dr Anna Liddell, Miss Evelyn owman, Dean Olivia Dorman, and Mrs B B Williams that we do appreciate what they have done for us by providing extra treats during our stay in Tallahassee: let's fill up all the seats in our auditorium to hear Mr Hindus tomorrow night.

● WHAT HAPPENS NOW?

The highly discussed question of co-education still has been rapidly coming to a head, to judge from the actions of Legislature this week. Further discussion on the floor of the Senate wil take place in the near future. But if Senate passes the bill, it will be returned to the House committee on education, which has not reported the bill favorably. Only a two-thirds majority of the House can bring a bill "killed" in committee to the floor.

It has been said that another bill for co-education here and at the University will be introduced, but no action has been taken.

Predictions have been made that final disposition of the matter in this session of the Legislature will be in the form of a survey of the Florida educational system. If so, certainly a survey of the situation will be profitable, and facts and figures beyond those known will be welcome.

FSC students have commented favorable on some of their impressions of Wednesday's co-education hearing. They are convinced that Legislature and citizens realize that co-education is a superior plan, and that the crux of the matter remains where and when. Students appreciated the democratic handling of the hearing, and were glad that student viewpoints were given expression.

The co-education hearing reaffirmed faith in a democratic form of government, wherein even in wartime citizens of the state can calmly discuss their mutual problems. The procedings of Legislature, although occasionally legalistic and involved, recognize the democratic process, and students have benefitted from observing government in action.

● PEACE PLANS

The United States, England and Russia under the Crimea charter assumed joint responsibility for developments in Europe, and will see to it that the liberated people of Europe will have a fair chance to attain liberty and self-government through the democratic form of free elections under conditions of internal peace.

This goal can be achieved only if hasty and hateful conclusions are avoided. A peace which will last longer than twenty years can not come from the hands of a revengeful nation.

For the present and until V-E day, Germany is our enemy and must be bombed and shelled until she has reached the point of unconditional surrender. But nothing is to be gained from demanding overly severe reparations of a defeated and devastated country.

In the positon of conquerer the United States and her Allies must make a livable and strong peace which will last—not one that will encourage the secret re-armament of Germany and eventually involve our children in a war more horrible than the present one.

We failed at the peace conference following World War I. To make the same mistake twice would be unpardonable.

● E PLURIBUS UNUM

Geographically and historically the 21 republics of Latin America have much in common with the United States. Situated as they are in a common hemisphere, separated from the rest of the world by broad expanses of water, it would be supposed that unity for the common defense would be highly established. Having similarly wrested their independence from European nations whose ideals and policies were not in keeping with their own, it would be supposed that sympathies and interests within the nations would be much the same.

But such has not always been the case. Culturally and linguistically the hemisphere has been far from unified, and considerable tension has arisen through misunderstandings from these causes. Suspicions and jealousies have arisen between nations whose representatives could not speak the same language; fear developed in weaker countries in the face of growing power and stability in stronger nations, and particularly in the vacillating interpretations of the Monroe Doctrine by the United States; lack of a basic cultural understanding afforded little opportunity for tolerance or for sympathy for the motivations of actions in other nations.

It has been the purpose of the Pan-American Union, and Pan-American week in particular, to establish the cultural basis for understanding which will cement relations within the hemisphere and do away with just such suspicions. By making the people of the United States more aware of their neighbors to the south, by promoting the study of Spanish and encouraging the exchange of students between the nations, the Union has done much toward cementing friendly relations and creating good will within the hemisphere, toward emphasizing the common bases on which good neighboriiness could be established and reaching understandings on points of friction.

Through realization of the purpose and power of the Union, the scope of its work, a further realization of the importance of Pan-American week becomes evident to persons on this campus as well as throughout the nation. In its efforts to establish international co-operation on a basis of equality and understanding, the Union is fully worthy of nation-wide attention, and the week which commemorates its activities should be widely observed. Throughout the years Pan-American week has become the symbol of a step toward co-operation politically, economically, culturally and socially. It has become evidence of the ability of many nations to unite for a common cause—to make of the many one.

1945 Minstrels Portrays FSC Life in 1910 By 3-Act Fantasy

"Florida College for State Women," was the scene for the 1945 Junior Minstrels which portrayed FSC in the year 1910. The title of the play was, "She's Only a Bird in a State Cage," or "She's More to Be Pitied Then Censured." The fantasy in three acas, constructed the ficticious lives of the students then.

In the leading roles Katherine Jackson played the part of L S while Corrine Johnston was MFT. In trying to decide what Junior Minstrels was going to be like, the two fall asleep and dream of FSC in the year 1910. LS and MFT find themselves in the midst of the bon bon shop, the sweet shop of that day, listening to "Hi There, John" sunk by the soda jerk Daphne Rowe, in slow time. After she is finished, MFT gives the 1945 version of "Hi There, John," after which she and LS jitterbug. This promptly lands them in the "College Bureau of Investigation for Young Ladies Moral Protection," where they are recommended to be shipped, not only for singing and dancing bnt also for the way they dressed.

When MFT learns of the decision, she exclaims "Oh, no, not again."

The bureau reconsiders and puts LS and MFT on full restriction until 1945, after which they adjourn to watch Junior Minstrel practice for its 1910 presentation.

Act three comprises the 1910 Junior Minstrels, singing and dancing acts. Two duets are presented by Betty and Bobby Usher, Alice Phillips and Barbara Owen.

Alice Gehan, "the little girl with the big voice," was a success according to the resounding applause of "St Louis Blues." Loie Cottrel, succeeded in making the audience take notice with her operatic version of "L'amour." In a number by Jere Halpern, "My Mother Told Me," a soldier, sailor and air corps lieutenant were featured. Another number, in which Jere nrged Dale Mabry not to "fence him in" brought loud applause.

Jeanne Harris and Marilyn Ward, adagio dancers, brought forth remarks of approval. Other dancers were, Mary Louise Perry and Bebe Daniel, rumba; Ruth Brokaw and Betty Bryson, soft shoe; Marian Welch, Marguerite Cherry, tap. A humorous touch was added to the 1910 scene by the can can dancers, Evelyn Stuckey, Bebe Daniel, Louise Fernandez, Betty Wisenbaker, Eloise Boyles, Nancy Gleaton and Dot Tucker.

Costumes for the production were furnished by a committee headed by Audrey Perry. Margie Torres was in charge of make-up and the lights were provided by Kit Land. Dot Tucker was producer and director of the prodnction.

Students to Give Recital in Annex

A student recital will be held in the recital hall of the Music Annex on Monday afternoon, April 16, at 5:05 o'clock.

The program will include for the first time two piano-duet numbers. Selections on the program will be: piano duet, "Come to the Fair," Clarice Thomas and Helen Edmiston; piano solo, "Jesu of Man's Desiring," Mary McCormack; voice, "Going Down to London," Jane Davis, accompanied by Betty Barber; piano solo, Brahms' "Rhapsody in B-Minor," Irene Pertzler; voice, "The Way to Town" and "Gypsy Moon," Betty Ruth Aughenbaugh, accompanied by Joanna Sistrunk; piano solo, Beethoven's "Concerto in G Minor," Eleanor Poyless, accompanied in orchestral parts of first movement by Miss Mary E Winslow on the second piano; piano duet, "Scherzino" and "Malaguena," Sylvia Snell and Betty Barber.

Plan Splash Party

A splash party, the first to be held in over three years, will take place this Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the pool of the gymnasium.

About 50 girls, members of the Lifesaving Corps, will relax and swim for fun, according to Evelyn Berry, president.

The party, planned by the executive board of the Lifesaving Corps, is being held to honor newly elected officers.

Relays, a pajama race, water baseball, water pageants, and impromptu water skits will be presented by various girls who belong to the Lifesaving Corps.

Magazine Jottings . . .

CATHERINE NOLLMAN

US Meets USSR In Monchuria

The alternate policies which the United States may follow and the possible fate of Manchuria are discussed in the article, "US Meets USSR In Manchuria," which appears in the current issue of Fortune.

Supposedly the question of Manchuria was settled 16 months ago by the Cairo Conference which stated that "Manchuria shall be returned to China" and that "Korea shall eventually become free and independent." But, states the article, with the United Nations Conference starting in San Francisco on April 25, the touchy diplomatic question of Russai and the U S's cooperation in Europe and Asia arises. There is "less talk of simple restitution and more talk of who besides the rightful owners shall be in on what deals."

Although Russia has denounced her neutrality pact with Japan since this article was written, her military intentions and her possible aims toward Manchuria remain a mystery. Russia is a party neither to the Cairo Declaration nor to the Nine-Power Treaty of 1922. She is silent. Russia has been and is distrustful of multilateral agreements. It would seem likely, however, that she would like to dominate a separate government of Manchuria and Korea.

Imporance of Manchuria

Although she could serve Russia agriculturally and China in the field of industry Manchuria's greatest attraction lies in her strategic position. China has a "practical" need of Manchuria. In order to make progress in her economic and political policies she must feel secure from foreign invasion or interference. This security she can't achieve without the control of Manchuria for all land invasions of China have come from the North. On the other hand Russia looks at Manchuria with her mind on Vladivostok, her year-round Pacific port which is wedged between Manchuria and the ocean and which is fed by a railway which skirts over a thousand miles of Manchurian border.

The questions arise as to what position the U S will take between her two Allies and does Russia have any desire for the U S to overthrow her traditional policy toward China when it has been the U S policy in defeating Germany first that has helped to make Russia as strong as she is today? The war has shown that the U S can't resort to the isolationist policy and do nothing. When Japan made her open attack against the U S policy in 1937 the U S tried appeasement and failed.

U S Policy

Since the time of its formal expression by John Hay in 1898 it has been the policy of the U S not to allow any one foreign power to control China. Charles Evans Hughes's Nine-Power Treaty restated the open-door thesis and Stimson'e policy in 1931 was nonrecognition of the Japanese conquest of Manchuria although aside from the policy no direct action was taken. During the war U S traditional policy has abolished treaty ports and extraterritorial rights, produced the Cairo Conference, and smoothed over relationships after the episode of General Stilwell. Through the years Britain has more or less followed the American policy.

The culmination of the old policy is that the U S can allow no part of China to pass into the hands of a foreign power. The question now is whether to follow the old policy or to develoop the new attitude which has arisen possibly through mistakes arising from an attempt to judge China by American standards. Although not well formed or defined the new attitude helped to exclude the Chinese from the second Quebec Conference and produced unsuccessful U S intervention in Chinese political affairs. The men and women who hold this anti-Chinese attitude are the same ones who feel a new appreciation for Russia. In regards to China itself they lean toward the Communist party. What many people do not realize, says the writer of this article, is that the majority of Chinese dislike both the Kuomintang and the Communist party and that almost all Chinese are devoted to freedom from governmnet.

Diplomatic fishing at the present time consists in trying to promote Sino-Russian understanding, friendly relationships with the Soviet Union, and an attempt to get her into the war. But for the sake of Mancburia alone Russia could simply move in at the end of hostilities and establish an autonomous Republic with Chinese sovereignty and Russian control.

One of the solutions offered is to permit Russia unilateral action in Manchuria, but as the author advises, what the U S really should do is to stand by the Cairo Declaration.

In This Our Time. . . .

By GLORIA REED

President Franklin D Roosevelt died at 4:35 yesterday afternoon at Warm Springs, Georgia.

As the Allied armies are continually driving deeper and deeper into Germany, the German people are learning the horror of global war. When the Axis planned this global war, it was believed that the Allies would be tied down into two great theatres, their strength so thinly spread that they could not turn back the tide. West and east, the Axis would rule the world.

However, during this last week, globel war has brought to what is left of the Axis such an onslaught of physical and psychological warfare, that the former conqueror's armies are being cut up and divided and its supplies blocked from getting through.

The western Allies, in the ten months since D-Day, have hammered the Wehrmacht back 750 miles from its Atlantic wall, through its West well and into the very heart of the Reich itself. Every natural barrier has been broken. The great industrial resourses of the Saar and the Ruhr havs been knocked out The vast German transportation system has ben smashed. Germany'e western divisions havs been slashed almost to the point of guerrilla warfare.

Generel Eisenhower has launched his "victory offensive" which, so far, has been a strategy of break-through an dencirclement. In following his plan, Eisenhower had his armies cross the Rhine at many points and then sent them in multiple drives to cut Germany into a series of pockets.

This last week's success showed the workings of the General'e strategy. It was based on the coordinated efforts of the three Army Groups—Field Marshall Montgomery'e Twenty-first in the north; General Bradley'e Twelfth in the center; and General Devers' Sixth in the south.

In the north Montgomery'e forces sped across the North German Plain to slice German land communications an dseal off the Baltic and North seaports. These divisions drove toward the German naval base of Welhilmanshaven on the Baltic and directly toward Berlin through Hanover These troops, together with those of General Bradley, in the first of this new offensive cut off and trapped the Nazi troops defending the Ruhr and are now steadily closing in on them.

In the central area of the western front Bradley's armies struck toward Berlin across a plain. General Patton's famous Third Army in this sector had traveled 150 miles in 14 days straight across the Reich and directly toward Berlin.

General Devers' armies drove east and south breaking through the Barvarian Hills and onto the Barvarian plain. At lat report, they were striking for Nurenberg, which is on a direct route to Vienna. Some observers believe that this group will join with the Russians in a junction to cut the Reich in two.

On the Eastern front, the Russian Army has in the last ten months driven the Germans back soma 800 miles from within White Russia to within 30 miles of Berlin and witthin Vienna itself.

The partial capture of Vienna by the Russians, second city of Hitler's Reich and southeastern bulwark of the collapsing fortress of Germany, has had a profound psychological as well as a military effect, some observers believe. Vienna has stood for the highest in Tautonic culture, once the capital of the Holy Roman Empire, later of the Hapsburg Empire, finally coveted prize of Hitler's first foreign conquest. Strategically it is the hub of the hub of the whole upper Danube Valley, dominating the approaches to Germany through Barvaria and through Czechoslovakia. It also appears to be the key to the only two areas where the defeated German armies might make a final stand to delay complete Allied victory.

At last report, the Soviet troops along the Baltic had conquered the long-beseiged East Prussian capital of Koenigsberg. Up to Wednesday night, the Red Army had taken 27,000 prisoners, including their commandant, General Lasch in the blazing ancient fortress of the Teutonic knights and the cradle city of Prussian militarism.

As the death battles of this sector raged, the Germans again predicted that Marshall Stalin was about ready for his "final heave" on the central front—from Silesia to Stettin—with Berlin as the objective.

Asiatic Operations

On Okinawa's southern front heavy Japanese opposition held American soldiers and marines to small gains, but to the north the marines punched out advances of from 3,000 to 4,000 yards against only scattered resistance.

During the fighting on the island this week, hard-hitting American fliers from the Philippines, running an aerial blackade of the China Sea, smashed a Japanese convoy, believed to be bringing their forces on Okinawa relief, off the coast of Asia, sinking a destroyer and a freighter-transport.

A Japanese imperial communique said that American reinforcements were going into the Army drive southward on Okinawa but claimed Japanese troops were repulsing the Americans.

American bombers have been active this last week in wide-range bombings over Japan proper and from Formosa to Borneo

In the aerial war against Japan, twin raids were carried out by two fleets each of about 150 Marianas-based B-29's. These huge planes struck at Tokyo and Nagoya. For the first time in more than four months of fighter operation, they were protected by land-based fighter planes which took off from air fields on recently won Iwo Jima.

Bombers from Phillippine bases struck Japanese airdromes, shipping, supply, defense and fuel areas and troop concentrations from Formosa to Borneo. Big fires raged at Formosan airdromes and in west coast supply areas.

World Organization

Two big events occurred this last week which seemed to hearten the American people and spurred hopes of delegates working feverishly for harmony before the assembly convenes: the Soviet denunciation of its neutrality pact with Japan—which contradicted talk of disunity amang the Big Three—and the President's decision to abandon his request for extra votes for hte United States.

The chief issues still facing the conferees were voting, amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks Plan and Poland's representation.

The United States, so the President agreed at the Yalta conference, was to hava three votes, Great Britain and her Dominions six votes and Russia three votes in the assembly of the world organization to be set ap at San Francisco. However, the President has changed his mind and decided to ask for only an evote for the United States in the Assembly. Though some American delegates oppose the Soviet reqaest, the delegation as a whole apparently feels committed to aphald the President's support of Russia's claim to three votes "if" and "when" the request is made.

Russia pressed unofficially last week for blanket acceptanes of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals. However, many of the 44 nations invited to the conference have drafted proposed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks plan, and members of the American delegation hava urged teh President not only to consider the United Nations' amendments but have affered some of their own.

The squabble between the Polish Provisional government in Warsaw is still presenting a problem. Poland is considered to be one of the United Nations and as such is to be represented. The problem is which government is to choose delegates to the San Francosco conference. Leading London Poles were reported to hava been canferring in Moscow last week. However, these delegates suddenly left Moscow, and Poland is still unrepresented at the conference.

President Franklin D Roosevelt died at 4:35 p m. yesterday, at Warm Springs, Georgia.

COLLEGE COMMENTS . . . .

We know a happy girl who has recently been going around in the usual spring daze. Her only excuse for it is that in the past week one of her favorite Navy men who she hasn't seen in about a year telephoned her three times from far away places. The calls always make her beam like mad until she starts thinking about them the next day and then she realizes that she had just listened to his charming voice and hasn't paid any attention to what he was saying. Maybe it is all very sweet, but it sounds like a horrible waste of telephone wires to us. Then again maybe we've been in Tally so long we can't put a true value on sentiment.

This is submitted with all humble apologies to Joyce K who by this time probably is sorry he ever saw a tree.

I think that I shall never see
An FSC bed that appeals to me.

A bed when I can get sufficient rest
In preparation for tomorrow's test.

A bed that really feels OK
When I lay me down to hit the hay.

A bed should always banish care
Mine lends itself to a night mare!

Upon its muddle I havs lain
A soul and body wracked with pain.

Beds are made by fools like me.
I want a soft bed, don't you see?

We wish the people who write articles like "Get Slim with Salads" or "Vim, Vigor, Vitality with Vitaminized Lettuce" wouldn't leave them around campus where people can see them. Please don't think even for an instant that we don't love salads, but after eating four in one day we got a little tired of them. Mostly we were bothered by everyone turning to us and saying, "Pass the salad to me, Pallid."

Last Friday night there was quite a little prowler-scare in one of the dormitories. As it turned out it was only a new janitor who had gotten his signals switched, and had come to work too early But why should we worry about a prowler? If he dares to risk the wrath of our 2,400 girls he deserves anything that happens to him. After all "the female of the species is more deadly than the male"—and we've been in Tallahassee for an awfully long time.

We don't like to brag too much, but we were in the library the other night, and we have a suggestion that should improve study conditions there. Whenever we go over there, we get a wild desire to scream or shout or stamp our feet. In surpressing these desires we become frustrated and can't concentrate on our studying very well. Perhaps if we could have an annual Librarial

Continued on page three

The Florida Flambeau

1944-1945 STAFF

Editor	JUDY PEPPER
Associate Editor	JANET ROGERS
Assistant Editors	PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHER, BETTY WEAVER
Managing Editor	SHIRLEY RODGERS
News Editors	MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON
Copy Editor	Lola Rose
Copy Staff	Ruth Keller, Mary N McFadden, Jeanne Tillman, Virginia Allstock
Feature Editor	Dolores Papy
Feature Writers	Eileen Davis, Anne Hutton
Columnists	Letticia Sullivan, Betty Hargrove
Office Manager	Louise Sims
Student Interviewers	Marie Waters, Burma Cox
Asst. Managing Editor	Bobbie Bell
Society Editor	Beryl Kitchen
Asst Society Editor	Darley Lochner
Sports Editor	Betty Dowd
Outside News Editor	Gloria Reed
Exchange Editors	Miriam Angell, Nicky Sartoris
Literary Editor	Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors	Alice Crume, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor	Delores Gardner
Art Editor	Lucy Feiden
Asst. Art Editor	Georgia Fields

REPORTERS: Eugenia Ahlers, Mary Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Jaycelia Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Alice Brady, Laura Lee Butler, Ethel June Chyne, Marjorie Clark, Tiny Clavel, Virginia Creghan, Jean Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Montine Ingram, Winnie LaPard, Beulah McPherson, Josephine Mingola, Mary Lou Norwood, Eileen Perry, Joyce Betty, Madge Pilcher, Louise Rabb, Martha Roberson, Laurel Rosenbaum, Evelyn Shea, Marydel Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Tami Thomas, Jayce Williams.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager	Helen Tarapani
Advertising Manager	Eileen Davis
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ada Rawls, Lila Barrington, Lillian Brown, Betsy Bird.
Circulation Manager	Martha Abbot
Collection Manager	Eleanor Bayst

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1815, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

3 Are Tapped or Honorary

mbers Light Tapers; Reception Is Given

ty-eight freshmen from the ior of 800 were tapped for more Council Monday night. girls were tapped after ght flash and were told to ssite all day Tuesday and to the auditorium before ssion Tuesday night. At ssion they were given their ssions by Jane Cox and Jane Brown and were an- ed as members of the Soph- Council of 1945-46.

ediately after the girls ssembled in the Student ge auditorium, Dr. Anna P ssor of philosophy, gave main address which was ed by a challenge by Dr. n C. Derman, dean of students, Jane Brown, Ann Carolyn Margaret Clayton and Ann Coe also briefly talked during the meeting of Soph- Council. Ann Stephens ce of CGA, gave the oath to Sophomore Council to the members. Each then lit their candles from the e torch. Isabel Rogers, vice- president of CGA, conclud- service with a prayer.

ng old and new members at- the reception in Gilchrist din- hall after which there was a ption for the new council in ond lounge. As their fav- ds the organization, the out- ng council sang Sophomore ol song to the new members. Cole conducted the first se of the new council with ert talk explaining their s as Sophomore Council next The meeting was conclud- the traditional manner of ing the friendship circle and ng the "Blue and White," the Sophomore Council song.

he members of the Sophomore ncil for 1945-46 are: Chair- Jean Elizabeth Bennett, ence R Blumberg, Yvonne Christ, Charlotte B Breiland G Brumbe, Carol Clare Le Davis, Marilyn P Dewey, Dubois, Audrey Evans, Fritzinc, Jean Fliess, Marian n Floyd, Catherine Pride Fulmer, Joyce C Garman.

Gaviano, Jane Shaw Marie B Hayes, Ann Kenneth Hamlin, Georgia M Jaeckel ers V Jones, Helen M Kenyon, Anita Krentzman, Enid Bettye Lee Elizabeth J LaBree, Win- Lloyd, Rosemary Marcoux, Ann Long, Barbara Jeanne McClure, Jill Meyers, Nevera C Parsons, Patricia Patti- ld Martha Peacock, Roberta D Rita Ruth Sandy, Madeline Murl Price, La Verne L Ann Jean Ramsdell, Bar- n Randolph, Ann B Royals, Ida Rentz, Dorothy J Richey, Jane Sievers, Lallie Rogers- ha Santos, Constance Savage Shaw Jean Sharer, Irma L Edward Sharpe, Peggy Shep- Leland, Annie M Stringfellow, Verne Thompson, Marshall Lee Van Bette Jo Wilson.

Chairman Named

Gene Widergnist has been ap- ted new play-night chairman the coming year. She was ceded by Margie Platt and ia Jo Ondrejka did and new ibers of Women's Athletic ociation, and by the past ibers of play-nights. Betty Ann Boynton.

Come See Our Stock of Classical Records and Sheet Music

TALLAHASSEE MUSIC COMPANY

Professional Dance Wax

50c Pound

—at—

Seek it First at VAN BRUNT & VON INC.

YON'S HARDWARE

AUTHORITY — Maurice Hindus, Russian authority who will speak here.

Odd-Even Practice Continues Pace

Practices for all the Odd-Even games are going on now with practices for each sport being held several times a week.

The Even softball team has about 35 people out, four of these girls having been on the team last year. Since the beginning of practice on March 26 quite a bit of progress has been made according to Frankie Hall, team leader. She says, "We'll be hard to beat—if we are beaten."

Odd softball practice is held on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at 5 o'clock and there are about 20 girls participating in the sport. Miss Calsope Pyalatka who has had charges of the practices, has emphasized technique rather than plays.

Since there are only nine girls out for the Odd's tennis team, practices a plea for more girls to participate in sheer mule by Blanch Parver, leader. Qualifications are that a player have no more than 9 hours of U's and that she come out to practices on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Carolyn Buraland, leader of Even Archery team, states that the archery team will be selected the last of this month after practices have been called in and grades investigated. Practices are on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and have been called in some 25 girls out.

Odd archery according to Caroline Forehand, is progressing quite well with the practices held on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. She says there are a large number of girls participating in these practices each time.

AAUW Cites More Winners

Continued From Page One

given to those holding first place positions.

Winning fine arts, crafts and photography will be exhibited in Gilchrist hall beginning April 25 with a special tea.

The creative arts committee of the AAUW announced that it was extremely pleased with the number of students who entered the contest this year. The entries totaled 146 distributed as follows: poetry, 14; short story, 17; essay, 11; drama, 1; fine arts, 84; crafts, 12; photography, 12; modern dance, 3; tap dance, 3; songs, 11; piano, 3; and organ, 1.

"The enthusiastic response among our students is proof that appreciation of the arts is vigorously alive today," stated Dr Carmen Rogers, chairman.

Eight Are Tapped For Music Group

Eight new members for the Music club were tapped last Monday afternoon in the Music Annex, immediately following the student recital there. They were Elsenor Bragg, Rachel Crowell, Frances Duckworth, Nannie Ruth Durrance, Jere Farnsworth, Marjorie Jones, Marian Najarian, and Alice Wheeler.

Roberta Leonard, president of the club, gave a short talk on the history and purpose of the club, after which she read the pledges' names. As each name was called, two senior members of the club were to pledge from the audience and pinned on her the pink and black ribbons of the club. The ceremony closed with the singing of "Carnet and Gold."

The pledge period will last for two weeks, after which a formal initiation will be held.

The Music club is an organization entirely within the School of Music and is composed mainly of majors. Requirements for membership are a 1.5 scholastic average and a recommendation either junior or sophomore, or the equivalent.

WAA Gives Banquet Wednesday Night

A banquet for all the new and old members of the Women's Athletic Association was held Wednesday night at 6:30 at the Tallahassee Hotel.

Members of the physical education club, varsity and junior leaders for the past year were asked to attend this dinner.

Those attending gave a toast to the new board which includes Jo Ondrejka, president; Nancy Weaver, vice president; Nancy Ward, secretary; Rosee Marcoux, treasurer and Teresa Bennett, intramural manager. Jo Guthrie then gave a toast to the old board.

Ann Campbell, past junior athletic manager toasted the physical education faculty and to Katherine Montgomery made the return.

CGA Officers Are Installed

Continued From Page One

Mendoza, Landis hall; Juanita Hendrix, Reid hall; Bobbie Bess Perkins, Broward hall.

The members of judiciary are seniors, Ruth Dismore and Dot Jean Glass; juniors, Rosetta Carver, Jean Jeffcoat, and Betty Schwartz; sophomores, Babs McCarthy and Betty Ann Ray.

The members of the off-campus committee are: Alpha Delta Phi, Betty Ann Hamilton; Alpha Chi Omega, Betty Golden; Delta Phi Epsilon, Bettie Stuhler; D D D, Mary Julia Bailey; Delta Zeta, Lillian Blackwelder; Kappa Alpha Theta, Jane Guest; Kappa Kappa Delta, Edna Price; Pi Beta Phi, Mary Ann Bowden; Gamma Phi, Evelyn Ring; Sigma Kappa, Miriam Angell, Zeta Tau Alpha, Virginia Summer.

Lifesaving Corps Votes On Officers

The election of next year's officers of the Lifesaving Corps is being held today and tomorrow by issuance of individual ballots to each member, according to Eva Berry, president of the Lifesaving Corps.

At a meeting held last night at 7:45 in room 402 of the Student Alumnae building, the following officers were nominated as candidates for president: Gladys Lesher; for secretary-treasurer, Joyce Cayce, Vera Cone and Betty Burch; and for captain, Anna Horne, Margery Holm and Jo Dawkins.

Members are urged to mail ballots immediately after checking their choices to box 702.

Intramural Finals

Bryan and Reynolds, Delta Phi Epsilon and Pi Beta Phi will play this afternoon in the volley ball intramural semi-finals. Finals will be played Monday by the winners of today's games.

The next sports, which will begin about the middle of next week, will be bridge and ping-pong. Further announcement will be made Tuesday in convocation.

Broward Girls Get 'Bd' Sports Letter

Warner Originates Award To Outstanding Students

Students living in Broward who have taken part in intra-mural sports this year have been awarded the letter Bd, in garnet and gold. The Bd letter is not a real letter given to the individual students, but the letter is posted on Broward bulletin board under which all names of the outstanding girls are listed. Mrs Ray Warner, Broward counsellor, originated the Bd letter because she felt that girls who did not make an F by playing in Odd-Even sports should be given some honor for participating in intra-mural sports.

Through the cooperation of Betty Gardiner, the intra-murals manager, and all of the active students in Broward, they are to organize a volleyball team also for intra-mural competition and outstanding girls who win the Bd letter shall be posted under the Bd on the bulletin board.

In Broward's house meeting of last week the following students were given honor for their good sportsmanship in basketball: Warner Perry, Dorothy Dudley, Leslie Peeples, Mary Frances Clogion, Martha Jane Tison, Mary Warner, Betty Gardiner, and Marilyn Burch; in tennis: Gloria Basile and Thelma Young; in Canpon Club: Ann Richardson and Patricia Millican; in swimming: Lydia Hernandez; in basketball: Thelma Young, Gwenith Duden, Louise Hall, Leslie Peeples, Mary Frances Clopton, Vonelle Backer, Doris Bill, Vivian Hall and Betty Jane Sessions; in archery, Doris Bill.

Majors to Attend Corn Husking Bee

A "Corn Husking Bee" is being sponsored for the physical education majors by Miss Montgomery. Greenberry's recreational leadership class on Monday night from 7:30 to 9 p. m. Everyone is expected to attend since each major is to invite one friend.

The music and dress code should come dressed as a country boy and girl. All the girls will come in couples. Blue jeans, Daisy Mae costumes, straw hats, bandannas, overalls and plaid playsuits will be fitting for the occasion.

Hog calling, chicken calling, husband calling and square dancing are scheduled for the evening. The physical education majors and minors will be out to slam up in the lower gymnasium either Friday or Saturday for the contests they will have.

There will be square dancing at the beginning of the program and community singing at the end. Prizes will be awarded to the contest winners.

College Comments

Continued from page two

Pandemonium Hour during which we could vehicle our latent ground it would relieve some of the tension. It really is a hard un on us, but we're just thinking about the brilliant girls who spend half of their waking hours in that place. We can stand most anything for a half hour a week.

Maybe you've never thought much about it but the Lifesaving Corps is trying hard and will continue to improve if individual ballots to each member, according to Eva Berry, president of the Lifesaving Corps.

At a meeting held last night at 7:45 in room 402 of the Student Alumnae building, the following officers were nominated as candidates for president: Gladys Lesher; for secretary-treasurer, Joyce Cayce, Vera Cone and Betty Burch; and for captain, Anna Horne, Margery Holm and Jo Dawkins.

Members are urged to mail ballots immediately after checking their choices to box 702.

Legislature in Brief

Continued From Page One

veterans expected to return to school under the "GI Bill of Rights".

Proponents of the bills emphasized that appropriation was a far more normal way of education than segregation, that the University is operating far under capacity at present, that the physical set-up of the school could easily accommodate women students, as it has done during summer school, and that opening the school to junior and senior women will bring PSC.

Opponents of the bill urged no hasty action, said that the bill would entail great expense, that the University would not be able to accommodate returning veterans, that both schools were making excellent records under the present system, and should not be changed without serious investigation.

Proponents pointed out that the state of Georgia saved paid to 600 to out-of-state experts from Columbia, Peabody, and other schools to study the higher educational system, and that their completed survey had strongly favored the present system.

Speakers said that further surveys at this time were an accurate idea, but that the bills under consideration provided in no way interfere with an investigation of further changes to be made.

The bill provides that in event of large numbers of veterans returning, surveys may be taken to be spent for additions to the University and that such additions be made to the system of education.

Opponents seemed to cree cancellation of a proposed House resolution that a long-term and thorough study be made of the Florida educational system, and that recommendations be made on the basis of the surveyors in regard to coeducation be followed.

Representative Hugh Floyd, of Franklin County, told the assembly that he had proposed a bill to that effect some time ago and reported back to the 1947 session, which would be passed either with coeducation existing at Gainesville for junior and senior men and women, or made to present higher educational surveys. His motion was voted at present been introduced in the House or sent to the House education committee.

After brief consideration of a bill to allow servicemen to go to and attend the University and husbands of servicewomen to attend Florida State College for Women, adjourned to committee rooms for final vote.

Students flocked to Committee room 7, where the House education committee B, composed of 17 members, met for a brief discussion and vote. The vote was 12 to 5 against the bill, and it therefore will not be sent to the floor of the House for discussion.

Voting for the bill were representatives Morgan of Duval, Jennings of Alachua, Curtis of Marion, Elliott of Palm Beach and Walker of Volusia.

Against it were Representatives Wolitsky of Charlotte, Hardin of Polk, Blount of Escambia, Pollard of Hillsborough, Jernigan of Escambia, Lamb of Duval, McKenzie of Leon, McAlpin of Hamilton, Cellers of Dade, Poston of Escambia, Scott of Lee and Winans of Holmes.

In the Senate committee, the bill was reported favorably by a vote of 6 to 2. Dissenting were Senators Barkdoll of Jacksonville and Barringer of Sarasota. In favor of sending the bill to the floor of the senate were Beacham of West Palm Beach, Johnson of Tarpon Springs, Lee of Leon, Simpkins of Gainesville, Shelton of Tampa and Clarke of Monticello.

Further action on the Senate bill is expected definitely when tabled, and may be today or later. The Senate sergeant-at-arms will report information later.

Representatives have stated an intention to introduce a bill calling for coeducation at both University of Florida and FSCW. To be available.

For That After-Movies Snack, Sandwiches and Drinks

at our

Fountainette

MARTIN AND DALTON

210 S. Adams St.

Come in and See Our Displays!

COLLINS FURNITURE CO.

Senate Votes On Co-Education

Continued From Page One

for PSC not being made coeducational in 1945-46 was that the lack of conversion would be more difficult as Tallahassee than at the University and could not be completed in time for the fall quarter.

A motion was made that this question be tabled, but since no objections were raised to it. Some said that it was too detailed, and it would be better to send a more general statement saying that Student Senate favored coeducation as a plan of education.

Isabel Rogers, senior, said she didn't think it wise to vote on such a resolution until the facts were known as to the expense of the change, and the additional values. Other Senate members and visitors contended that the facts had been taken from the research and that it wasn't the job of the Senate to consider the expense involved, but to let the legislators know which plan the students preferred.

Peggy Lee's motion was defeated by a vote of 23 to 11, and Robin Hall's motion was passed, the motion saying that Student Senate of PSC resolved that they favored coeducation as a better plan of education than the one now practiced in the state of Florida.

Florida. Ann Carolyn Allison, president of Senate, amended the motion to read that the senate vote by which the resolution was passed be recorded, and it was voted on. This resolution was adopted by a vote of 31 to 9.

Another motion point load adjustments to the quarter system was given by Tina Le Shephard, freshman. The adjustments were six points for demonstration teaching, five points for activity committees of the demonstrations, and four points for the responsibility of the demonstrations. All of these points will be in the first quarter only.

Four points are to be given in the second and third quarters to the student teachers in addition. Freshmen counselors will have three points for the second and four points for the second and third quarters. The handbook committee will receive points for the first quarter and four for the second and third quarters. Chairmen of the Sophomore-Senior Breakfast will have one point for the first quarter. Chairmen of the Sophomore Hop will carry one for the second quarter. Dance chairmen has not been decided on for the Junior Senior Prom, the charter for the Junior Prom has been set.

Betty Lewis, chairman of the committee on Goldbook changes, made a report on the activities of her committee. She said that the committee had investigated every rule as to its history, its necessity, and its enforcement. Betty reviewed the procedures that the committee had followed in considering each rule but did not give all the changes they had decided to make. However, she stated that some of them would go into effect next year.

The committee to consider these rules asked that Student Senate provide for a permanent committee to be set up each year to study the rules. It was their recommendation that the committee be made up of the class presidents. The motion was made and adopted.

IRC Election

The International Relations Club will have a meeting this afternoon at 4:30 in room 304 of the Student Alumnae building as 5 to elect officers for the coming year. Virginia Holmes, president of IRC, requests that all members be present.

In addition to the election, a data such a bill has not been introduced.

Yesterday afternoon the House education committee B met to discuss the proposed resolution for a long-time over-all survey, but no record of their action is yet

Notice To Faculty

Faculty members are asked to send to Miss Lucile Turner, cataloger at the library, lists of all their publications which have come out within the last year, so that she can add them to the faculty bibliography.

Chinese Play to Have Final Performance

Continued From Page One

it; therefore no scenery is necessary. The property Ballard and his assistants in full view of the audience rearrange and move the tables and chairs to represent the necessary setting.

A Chinese chorus is seated on the sidelines in full view. Each new entrance change of setting, and different parts of the play are announced by the chorus. In a traditional Chinese play they play music continuously throughout the play. However, in the "Yellow Jade" Oriental music is used only to herald the entrance of each group of characters and to create a definite mood during the course of the play. The orchestra is composed of Chinese students and a leader. They sit in the center of the stage during the entire play.

The Chinese audience during the regular Chinese performance sits at long tables and eats peanuts during the action. The actors vote by which the resolution was passed, and it was voted on. This resolution was adopted by a vote of 31 to 9.

Another motion point load adjustments to the quarter system was given by Tina Le Shephard, freshman. The adjustments were six points for demonstration teaching, five points for activity committees of the demonstrations, and four points for the responsibility of the demonstrations. All of these points will be in the first quarter only.

Four points are to be given in the second and third quarters to the student teachers in addition. Freshmen counselors will have three points for the second and four points for the second and third quarters. The handbook committee will receive points for the first quarter and four for the second and third quarters. Chairmen of the Sophomore-Senior Breakfast will have one point for the first quarter. Chairmen of the Sophomore Hop will carry one for the second quarter. Dance chairmen has not been decided on for the Junior Senior Prom, the charter for the Junior Prom has been set.

Betty Lewis, chairman of the committee on Goldbook changes, made a report on the activities of her committee. She said that the committee had investigated every rule as to its history, its necessity, and its enforcement. Betty reviewed the procedures that the committee had followed in considering each rule but did not give all the changes they had decided to make. However, she stated that some of them would go into effect next year.

The committee to consider these rules asked that Student Senate provide for a permanent committee to be set up each year to study the rules. It was their recommendation that the committee be made up of the class presidents. The motion was made and adopted.

IRC Election

The International Relations Club will have a meeting this afternoon at 4:30 in room 304 of the Student Alumnae building as 5 to elect officers for the coming year. Virginia Holmes, president of IRC, requests that all members be present.

In addition to the election, a data such a bill has not been introduced.

Yesterday afternoon the House education committee B met to discuss the proposed resolution for a long-time over-all survey, but no record of their action is yet

Debate To Be Held April 18

War Activity Committee, Hillel Are Sponsors

The oratorical contest's deadline for all entries is April 18 This contest is sponsored jointly by the B'nai B'rith Hillel foundation, headed by Gerry Malone, and the newly-created Student War Activity Committee, composed of heads of 27 campus organizations. The topic of the contest will be "World Citizenship; Challenge to Complacency". Talks will be limited to eight minutes or 800 words and any subdivision of this topic can be used, as a theme.

This is the first oratorical contest at Florida State College, and all students who are interested in expressing their opinions on this subject are urged to enter.

This contest will be an annual event on PSC campus.

All campus organizations have been asked to enter one candidate to compete for the prizes. Prizes will be a silver cup for first, a $25 war bond for second, and $10 in war stamps for third.

Semi-finals will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Student Alumnae auditorium. The judges will be faculty members and all students are invited to hear these talks by the entrants.

Finals are April 24. To these the Tallahassee Council of the Women officials of the state of Florida: Mrs. Thomas Roy Chapman, chief justice of the Florida Supreme Court; the Honorable Cody Thornton, superintendent of education, Secretary of State Robert A Gray, and Dr. Ralph D. Mitchell, president of PSC.

Cordelia Barclay, Virginia Holmes and Barney Halpern will take all entries. Faculty judgeswill be chosen from council in composition or in oratory.

New Airline Route Is Established

A new airline has recently been established between Orlando, Ocala and Tallahassee, according to the Ocala Chamber president of the Orlando airlines.

Planes now leave Tallahassee for Orlando at 9:30 and 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The morning plane which is scheduled to arrive in Tallahassee at 11:15 A.M. the morning leaves Orlando at 9:15 a m and leaves Ocala at 9:50 a m. Mr Corbon Porter, chamber president for the benefit of girls here at PSC who have time to take advantage of this new airline service.

AIR SERVICE FROM TALLAHASSEE to ORLANDO and OCALA

Arrives Tallahassee—11:15 A.M. Departs for Ocala and Orlando—1:30 P.M. Municipal Airport

Office Opens at 10 A.M. For Reservations, Phone 2565

MRS. WHEELER, Agent

Informal Parties, Outings Highlight Sorority Activities This Week

Informal parties and outings highlight sorority activities this week, after the gala Pan-Helenic dance and fling of last weekend, at which time the sororities welcomed visiting alumnae and guests.

Delta sets

A "lemon squeeze" party Saturday night will honor Delta Zeta's four new pledges. Mrs J H Padgett, of Orlando, and Mrs J F Johnson, of Jacksonville, are guests of the sorority this week. Commander and Mrs Theodore Lotman, also of Jacksonville, visited last weekend. Margie Grace was pledged to Delta Zeta Monday night.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu will entertain with an informal party Saturday night featuring a skit by the new initiates, a reading by Marianne Kemp, and music by Peggy Lou Thompson, Frances Myers, and Burma Cox.

Barbara Irvin is in charge of arrangements. Mrs Lester is acting as housemother in the absence of Mrs A J Caldwell, who is on vacation.

Pi Beta Phi

An outing at Wakulla Springs will highlight Pi Beta Phi activities this weekend. A birthday party was given Monday night in honor of Mrs. Frances Fogg. Pi Phi housemother, Monday they entertained Ensign Nancy Kulp, a Pi Phi alumna who is on her way to Europe.

Alpha Xi Del a

Alpha Xi Delta will also have a party at Wakulla Springs this weekend with Joyce Bowman in charge of the arrangements. The sorority also honorfd guests from Tampa last weekend.

Theta Tau Alpha

Mrs Lazelle Dickens, who was a Tau Alpha patroness last year, will be honored with a bridge party this afternoon at 5 p m. Ruth Ervin is in charge of arrangements and the pledges will assist in the serving.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Kappa Alpha Theta's informal supper Sunday night has been planed by Clare Gray, Doris Snow, and Anne Smith. Ann Chilliswortih was recently installed as president of Kappa Alpha Theta. Other KAT officers include: Betty Alday, vice-president; Clare Gray, secretary; Lorraine Sapp, assistant treasurer; Marian McKeown, corresponding secretary; Doris Dunn, social chairman; Jane Hoffman, rush chairman; Jeanne Callahan, scholarship chairman; Julia Ann Banks, pledge chairman; Bj Bjorkman, activities chairman; Blanche Bosanquet, house chairman; Gloria McDey, Panhellenic delegate; Ann Porter, editor; Barbara McCarthy, recording secretary; Anne Wagner, alumnae secretary; Betty Jean Wells, librarian; Lydia Moore and Jean Black, panhellenic; Dusty Rodes, archives chairman, Doris McLeod, assistant treasurer; Connie Savage, chaplain, and Doris Snow, song leader.

Sigma Kappa

Pledges will honor the actives with a breakfast Sunday morning at the Sigma Kappa house. Elinor Beth McClean is in charge of arrangements.

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Chi Omega house was the scene of their monthly party Sunday night in honor of Doris Wells given by Mrs. Ernest Conner. Cake and coffee were served to attending chapter members.

Alpha Delta Pi

An informal sing followed Kappa Delta's banquet Sunday evening. Jean Lewis and Catherine Nelson were in charge of arrangements.

Kappa Delta

Chancy Owen, of Atlanta, was an alumna guest fo Chi Omega last weekend when her sorority celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with his banquet at the Cherokee Hotel.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi honored pa trons, Tallahassee alumnae, and faculty members with a garden party last Friday. Banks of greenery, American Beauty roses and other spring flowers decorated the sunporch where guests were served punch, lime sherbet, and cake. Mrs Ben Epps Hamilton, president, and other officers greeted guests at the door. Ann Bradfield provided music.

Personnel Office To Sponsor Program

"Entree into Radio" is the program, sponsored by the Personnel Office, and scheduled for Tuesday April 16, at 5:15 p m in 202 Education Building.

Miss Elisabeth Thomson, instructor in speech, will discuss education and training necessary in preparation for radio work. Mrs Beverly B Reynolds, manager of Reynolds Hall, will describe her experiences in radio work in New York City.

This program is fifth in the series of vocational guidance talks sponsored by the Personnel Office.

All those interested in hearing about the efficient methods in the field of radio work are invited to come to the program.

Miss Marian Connor, a graduate of last year is now employed by the Blue Network as a script reader.

Wedding Reception Held at Broward

Broward lounge was the scene of a wedding reception for Sergeant and Mrs William J May, last Sunday afternoon, following the ceremony at the chapel at Dale Mabry Field, where Chaplain Jack Mann officiated in a double ring ceremony.

Mrs May was formerly June Powell, a resident of Broward Hall at Florida State College. Mrs M L Powell of Cedarville, New Jersey, mother of the bride, and her sister, Mrs Romaso were present. Among the wedding guests were a number of men from the Dale Mabry band of which Sgt May is a member, as well as faculty and friends from the campus. The maid of honor was Ann Richardson. Bridesmaids were Betty Jean Thomasson and Ellen Whitney.

Betty Ruth Chamberbaugh sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony; and music during the reception was provided by Warrant Officer Vera Doren from Dale Mabry.

The bride and groom are honeymooning at Wakulla Lodge.

FSC Band to Go To Gordon Johnston

Two Programs To Be Given In Last Off-Campus Concert

The FSC band, under the direction of Lt. Comdr. Sykora, will present two concerts at Camp Gordon Johnston on Sunday, April 15.

The first will take place at 4 p m at the Rialto theater, and the second will be presented at 7 p m in the camp hospital.

The program will be similar to the program of the latest concert given on campus by the band, with several popular selections among which are "Night and Day," "Tangerine," and "The More I Love You."

The concert will be under the auspices of the Special Services Officer of Camp Gordon Johnston.

This concert will be the last off-campus concert of the season. There are to be no other appearances after the concerts at Camp Gordon Johnston, one in conjunction with National Music Week which will be observed on campus from May 6 through May 12, and one other concert, the date for which has not been decided.

Pan-Hell Installs New Group Officers

Installation of new Pan-Hellenic officers took place Tuesday April 3, at 5:00 in the Pi Beta Phi house. Miss Kay Warren, assistant dean of women, assisted with the installation in the absence of former president, Cecelia McCollah, who graduated at midterm this year.

Those installed were: Jean Offord, president; Martha Abbott, secretary; Dink Ashton, Patty Lee Hill, Betty Jo Greene, executive council, and Virginia Collins, chairman of Honor Court.

Final Soldier Dance Is Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the last soldier dance of the year will be held in the Student Association Building. It will be informal and only for soldiers and sailors. The college swing band will provide the music.

Chaperones for the occasion are: Miss Helen Cate, associate professor of foods and nutrition; Miss Sadie Young, associate professor of economics; Miss Carolyn Bice, associate professor of sociology; Dr Myra Yancey, associate professor of education; and Mrs Beatrice Williams, professor of art.

After-Dinner Coffee Honors N Y Visitor

Professor and Mrs E R Smith and Miss Pru May Atwood entertained at an after-dinner coffee last Friday night in honor of Mrs Ann Mecklenburg, of New York City.

Mrs McCarthy, who has been visiting her daughter Miss Roberta Ackerman, instructor in the modern language department, was honored at the coffee held in the home of Professor and Mrs Smith, 648 W Call st. Members of the modern language department were guests at the coffee.

Thomas Meek, of Albany, Ga, is a "hard-boiled" serjeant in the U S army.

Test To Be Given

The Personality test will be given Tuesday, April 17, at 8 p m in 303 Westcott. All students who have not previously taken it will be expected to be present, Dr Elizabeth G Anderson, Director of Personnel, announced.

Reynolds Tea Room Crafts Exhibition

AAUW Sponsors Event; Miss Wilburn Speaks

Reynolds' parlor was the scene of an exhibition of native and foreign crafts displayed Wednesday afternoon at the Open House tea. This exhibition was a featured event of the Spring Arts' program mot the arts and crafts committee of the local branch association of University Women.

Mrs Doak S Campbell, chairman of the arts and crafts committee, was assisted in arranging the exhibit, by Mrs Gale Allen, counselor in Reynolds, and Mrs Louise Cox Crawford, counselor in Gilchrist. Other committee members were Mrs Beverly Steven, Miss Margaret Rogers, and Mrs Ray Warner, counselor in Reynolds, Landis, and Broward Halls, respectively.

Several girls from the various dormitories were very helpful in collecting the crafts from students and members of the faculty.

Miss Wilburn, who has headed all the collection of the crafts: Catherine Picco headed the committee in Landis; Beatrice Weaver in Bryan; Juanita Krotzman in Jennie Murphree; Estill Mahlman in Reynolds; Betty Bell in Reynolds; and Gloria Bell in Gilchrist.

The guest speaker at the exhibit was Miss Emily Wilburn, professor of industrial arts. She began he rspeech by defining a handicraft, as being "anything made by hand for one's self or for the use of other people." She stated that there are three ways one can enjoy and appreciate handicrafts: by reading about them; by selecting and buying them; and by making them. By making them, she says that one derives the most pleasure.

Not all of the crafts that Miss Wilburn discussed came from far away. In fact, there was one table of crafts made by girls of society made by Florida State College students. Miss Wilburn emphasized the fact that beautiful crafts one did not need skill, but practice. She hopes that more students will become more interested in crafts and have more to enter in the AAUW contest next year.

Leon Schools Hold Field Day At FSC

Last Friday from 10 a m to 3 p m the Florida State College Gymnasium was the scene of the Leon County School Field Day. County school children between 9th and 3rd children participated in the games. Both boys and girls from the fourth grade through the ninth grade of the rural schools of the county took part.

The Play Day was held in the morning and a Field Day was held in the afternoon. The Woodville School received the banner as the final winner. Physical education majors were the officials of the games. Play Day was sponsored by the physical education department in conjunction with the Florida Demonstration school.

V V Picnic Supper Honors Cotillion

Village Vamp members entertained members of Cotillion Club Wednesday night at a picnic supper at the Chi Omega House.

Hot dogs were roasted over an open fire in the backyard of the Chi Omega house, and during the supper club songs were sung. This party is an annual event with the hostesses alternating each year.

V V Elects Dupree

Isabelle DuPree was elected president of the Village Vamps for the 1945-1946 year, at a meeting held Tuesday at the Alpha Delta Pi House.

Other officers elected at this time were: Nell McNeil, vice-president; Jo Ann Cramer, secretary and Sarah Jane Gallagher, treasurer. The key-hole peeker, or reporter, has not yet been elected.

Parties Highlight Dance Intermission

Coffees and informal gatherings, given by the different sororities, characterized the intermission parties during the big Pan Hellenic dance last Saturday night.

Alpha Delta Pi entertained with a coffee. Seasonal flowers were generously used throughout the house. Mrs A T Black and Mrs Val Olvena, of Gainesville, were house guests.

An informal party for the Alpha Chi Omega members and their dates was held at their house.

Delta Zeta pledges served refreshments at their intermission party. Merrill Long was in charge, assisted by Betty Johnson, Lou Taylor, Carolyn Smith, and Carol Avery. Colorful arrangements of spring flowers decorated the house. Lt Commander and Mrs Lachman, of Jacksonville, and Mrs J F Johnson, of Jacksonville, and Mrs Alma Padgett, of Orlando, were guests.

Vickie Mott, assisted by Ann Hughes, was in charge of the Kappa Alpha Theta coffee. Colorful decorations were used to bring out the spirit of spring.

Sigma Kappa's party centered around an April showers theme. Miss Elizabeth Bell with the "ice Ernestine Jackson was in charge, assisted by Jo Ann Brown. Dorothy Hahn acted as hostess.

Zeta Tau Alpha gave an informal coffee for the actives and their escorts, which also carried out the April showers theme used at the formal. In charge of arrangements was Ruth Ervin.

Co-Ed Bill Is Voted Down

Continued From Page One

the affirmative and negative unit Rion and Jack Murray from the U of F presented views of student life on the campus emphasizing the co-education issue. They also had talked with students of the two colleges favor the proposed legislation.

Although the information concerning co-education recently voted by the FSC senate has wrongfully been interpreted to mean that they oppose the bill the majority members of the senate have expressed their surprise and disturbance at such interpretation as their statement Cordella said. "FSC students want co-education and we have the future to give it to state students as soon as possible," she concluded.

That Florida veterans favor co-education that means more students should not be required to go out of state to attend a co-educational university were statements then made by Jack Murray member of the U of F student senate.

"The U of F does not have proper facilities for accommodating all male applicants in peacetime," said Mr Henry F Adair, chairman of the state board of control, in presenting facts accumulated by the board. "Every girl admitted after the war will, therefore exclude a serviceman," he said

Mrs Frank T Moore, secretary of the FSC alumnae association, voiced careful opposition to the measure and also suggested that the legislature appoint an impartial citizen's committee to study the situation before passing any legislation concerning the state colleges.

Representatives from the alumni association of the U of F and the junior chamber of commerce stated that these organizations favor the co-education bill.

"This measure would fulfill the wishes of former U of F students now in the armed services and modernize Florida's educational system," said Sid Clifford Beasley, president of the U of F alumni.

George Washington, arest general that he was, lost more military battles than he won.

"Meet At the Sweet"

Get Refreshed Between Classes

THE SWEET SHOP

Bryan Formal Has 'Heavenly' Theme

At the annual Bryan formal dance last Saturday night from 8 to 12 in the Bryan parlor, a theme, "All This and Heaven Too" was used. The downstairs represented "All This" and the balcony, "Heaven Too."

The decorations consisted of cut-out stars and angels of silver and midnight blue, with flowers and vines decorating the walls. Punch and cookies were served on the balcony throughout the dance.

A program given at 10 o'clock with Jeanette Hollister acting as mistress of ceremonies highlighted the evening. The program opened with a flute solo by Frances Downing. This was followed by readings of "Seventeen" and "Like Men" by Peggy Heller. Jimmie Lou Sapp "Whispering" and a short skit, depicting the change from a Freshman to Sophomore and Junior to Senior, was given by Judy Rhodes and Anne Fields. "Sooole Wooo.e," and "Honey Suckle Rose" were played by Marie Dozier, pianist. Yvonne Garfield and Sara Smith gave a vocal duet of "In the Mood" and "Hawaiian War Chant." The program closed with a Community Sing, honoring the requests of the service men present.

The social committee, headed by Frances Pufford, consisted of Mary Ann Cooper, Flora Frances Wood, Mary Helen Tye, Anne Fielding, and Shirley Cumbie.

Ninety-one girls were present each of which worked on a committee. Committee chairmen were: Doris Puncher, decorations; Marion Hill and Lolida Moore, the dance program; Marsha Conway, finance; Virginia Smith, hostess committee; Judy Rhodes and Mildred Williams, vine and flower committee; Mary Charles Skipper, refreshments; Judy Rhodes and Mimi Sara Parrish, program; Barbara Dunn, refreshments; Thelma Merrill, sewing; and Letitia Croom, clean-up committee.

Daphne Rowe Heads FSC Day Students

New president of the Florida State College Day Students' Organization is Daphne Rowe, just elected for the 1945-46 term.

Other 1945-46 officers of the group which is an organization of Tallahassee students attending college who live in town, are Geraldine Brunner, vice-president; Audrey Thomas, secretary; Ouida Winchester, treasurer; and Pam Wood, senate representative.

The new officers were announced by Mary Burney Geiger, retiring president. "Every girl admitted has been social chairman of the organization during her term of office. The students, faculty and general public are invited to hear the lecture on Wednesday night.

Radio Program to Be Given from Westcott

Students Will Direct Florida High School Glee Club

A special radio program featuring the Florida High School Glee Club will be heard from the college auditorium, this afternoon from 2:30 to 3:00 o'clock

The glee club, directed by Mrs Cecile Strong, instructor in public school music, will have two Florida State College student directors for the radio show, and will be announced by a third FSC student. The directors are Mary McCormack and Rosemary Schaper, and the announce, is Roberta Leonard.

Selections from the cantata "Evangeline" by Richard Kountz and Edmund Spear Hunt will comprise the program.

Other radio programs from the college this week have included a special program of piano music presented last Monday night from the college studio, and participated in by Mary Ann Cooper, director of personnel; Miss Margguerite Dressler, assistant director of personnel; and Mary Alice Bachler, student assistant in the Personnel Office.

Last night's regular Garnet and Gold program from the studio featured the public school music chorus of the college, under the direction of Mrs Cecile Phipps, associate professor of public school music, Rosemary Thrasher, Roberta Leonard and Jimmie Lou Jean Blackburn were student directors of the show, which was presented by the chorus. Margaret Rose Miller was their accompanist.

Pan-American Week Planned

Continued From Page One

theater at 7:15 tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon at 3:15 a 45-minute film to which the public is cordially invited.

The college committee on International Relations is presenting Dr Kathryn Sullivan in a Winter Park on Wednesday at 8:15 p m. Dr Sullivan, of Winter Park on Wednesday at 8:15 p m. Dr Sullivan, of Hanna's, lecture will be "The Chapultepec Conference in Inter-American Relations." Dr Hanna comes to the college through the aid of the Office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs and has been participating in the program of the Coordinators office as a lecturer for this section of the country. As a speaker she is well-known throughout the state, and particularly in this community, where she lectured frequently during the period that she was head of the department of history, geography and political science at Florida State College. Dr Hanna's special field of history was in Latin America. She spent three months last summer working in the archives in Mexico City. The students, faculty and general public are invited to hear the lecture on Wednesday night.

Correction Item

The time was nearing light flash; the place was still hovering around the Daily Democrat office; stories were still to be written and headlined so because I was in a big hurry I didn't check on the junior elections story — consequently I wrote a headline saying Brown Heads Juniors, when it should have stated Brown Heads Seniors.

Apologetically yours,
Peggy Kay, Assn Editor

Top Honors Go To Chi Omega, Zetas At Annual 'Sing

Chi Omega won first place in the novelty song and Zeta Tau Alpha for the slow song in the annual Pan-Hellenic sing of Florida State College held in the auditorium last night. Kappa Sigma Kappa received honorable mention for their novelty song and Alpha Gamma Delta for their slow song.

Judges for the contest were Frank Sykora, associate professor of orchestral instruments; Miss Sarah Herndon, assistant professor of English, and Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of piano, piano, and theory. The winning sororities were presented with dollars prizes.

Representatives from each sorority drew lots for places on the program, with Zeta Tau Alpha getting first position. The sing was dressed in Hawaiian costume, and a double row semi-circle to portray the "Seven Seas Memories."

Next the Sigma Kappa's and their song "Pahnell Song" or "Purge-five," paraphrase of popular songs. They dressed in a double row semi-circle and wore white shirts and pastel sweaters.

Dressed in pastel dresses, the Phi Epsilon girls presented the Chi Omega's with a saxophone of popular songs.

The Pi Beta Phi's stood in a double row semi-circle and in pastel dresses to sing the "Pi Phi Medley" of popular songs.

The Alpha Gamma Pi's in pastel dresses sang their song "My Alpha Gam Girl."

Alpha Chi Amega, supporting soloist, Twyla Bair, presented "Chi."

Alpha Xi Delta presented "Sister Xi Pariah." They dressed in print chintz skirts and stood in a double row semi-circle.

Delta Zeta "Prayer" was sung by the Delta Zetas. who were all dressed in white.

Standing in a double row semi-circle, the Kappa Alpha Theta presented "My Theta Girl."

Phi Mu's, dressed in white dresses and wearing white carnations sang their selection "Mother's Guidance."

Next were the Kappa Deltas dressed in pastel dresses and standing in a double row semi-circle to present "The Kay Dee Delta Garden of Dreams."

Dressed in pastel sweaters and skirts, the Delta Delta Delta's presented their "Tri Delt Serenade."

"Alpha Gamma Delta Convention Song" was sung by the Phi Delta Gams. who also were pastel dresses.

Last was the Chi Omega "Medley," presented by the Chi Omegas, also dressed in pastels.

Jane Sims, president of Alpha Chi Omega, was the announcer for the afternoon's program.

Wild morning glory seed sprouted immediately on being planted in moist soil, after being buried for 30 years in dry earth.

Send Your Mother's Day Greetings Home on a Photograph Record
6-in. 50¢ - 8-in. 75¢
Large Selection of Popular Records and Albums in Stock
TALLAHASSEE Radio & Sound Co.
102 S. Monroe St. Opposite Western Union

Keep In Step With a New Cotton
Print Dress
and
Two-Piece Suit
and
Sun Back Dress from
P. W. Wilson Co.
— Since 1837 —

GET A PERMANENT FOR SPRING AT Three Torches Beauty Shop
103 S. Copeland
Phone 858

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"PRACTICALLY YOURS"
—and—
Sunday and Monday
"SUNDAY DINNER FOR A SOLDIER"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"ROUGHLY SPEAKING"
Thursday Thru Saturday
"BRING ON THE GIRLS"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"YOUTH RIDES WILD"
—and—
"SONG OF THE RANGERS"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"MARRIAGE IS A PRIVATE AFFAIR"
Thursday
"DOUGHBOYS"
—and—
"GYPSY WILDCAT"

TICKET AGENT
Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .
When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey
All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

RITZ
Last Times Tonight
"SING NEIGHBOR SING"
—and—
"BRIDGE OF SAN LUIS REY"
Saturday Only
"RIDERS OF THE SAGE"
Sunday and Monday
"FRENCHMAN'S CREEK"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"UNCERTAIN GLORY"
—and—
"CAROLINA BLUES"
Thursday and Friday
"EVER SINCE VENUS"
—and—
"Hail the Conquering Hero"

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"
Federal Bake Shop

Legislature in Brief

By CORDELIA BARCLAY

FSCW's interest in the Legislature was most noticeable last week when the members of the state and Senate were among honored guests at the biennial banquet for officials of the state. Many of the guests hurried from their committee meetings in the committee chambers of the House and Senate in the capitol, to the spacious, one-story, brick building on the campus where some of the representatives and districts of the assembly were present to act as hosts-and-hostesses for the occasion.

The dinner came after a week of legislative activity, during which the officials introduced, passed, and considered a number of bills of state-wide interest.

Barring in importance this week was what is for this session, probable the final action on the bill to make the University of Florida co-educational in its junior and senior years.

Action Deleted

Last week saw a joint hearing of the Senate and House education committee about the bill, introduced by Mrs Rose Mathews, Alachua county, and by Senator Wallace Sturgis, of Ocala. The Senate committee reported favorably, making it available for discussion on the Senate floor. The House committee, however, "killed" the bill, reporting unfavorably and refusing to vote on it on the floor imposition without a two-thirds vote of the House.

According to observers, the Senate delayed action considering the bill until it could be seen whether the House would take the two-thirds action to suspend the rules. The outcome of the bill in the House is almost a foregone conclusion. The two-thirds vote, unless Senate action forcing the bill encouraged House action.

The seeming stalemate was broken Tuesday, as Senator Sturgis withdrew his co-education bill from consideration. Sturgis stated that he had had to do this to preserve the bill at the request of certain backers of the bill. The recommendation of the House committee on the identical bill of Mrs Mathews made it improbable that the legislation can pass at this session."

Mrs Mathews said he contemplated re-introducing the bill at the next session of the legislature.

Sturgis also stated that with-drew his bill, the Senate passed and sent to the House the Bayshore Boulevard bill, the bonds of servicewomen to attend the funeral of husbands and wives of veterans to be buried on the state lands. Members of the House approved the bill, and it will become law after the Governor's signature.

Spending

Also holding the interests of college students this week were the various bills taken under consideration and revenue acquisition this week. Tuesday in the Senate seemed to be the day when the appropriations legislation until revenue-raising action was taken. The state committee yesterday after a heated hearing also attended by State committee members voted down, 7 to 6, a proposal to add three mills per bottle to tax on beer. The House committee stayed away.

The House, continuing to vote appropriations, agreed to make up a $650 000 deficiency in old age appropriations, requested by Governor Caldwell to replace for race track tax losses.

The Severity Ban

The controversial ax banning fifth school freshmen and sophomores in Florida will apparently remain in effect at least two more years. The House education committee defeated, by a unanimous vote Wednesday, a bill to repeal the 1943 law outlawing the secret organizations. The bill can be considered dead for the present after a two-thirds vote, and sponsors doubted if they could muster the necessary.

In the committee hearing, Miss Virginia Carter, of Tampa, attorney, former president of the Florida Education Association, spoke in opposition to the saying that the secret societies encouraged social discrimination. Several parents and high school students spoke for the repeal of the bill.

No Jury Service

Also of interest to FSCW girls who have noticed that women may not serve on Florida juries was the defeat in the House, 56 to 38, of the bill providing that women

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Z 106

VOL. XXXII, No. 24 Tallahassee, Florida APRIL 20, 1945

Rhythmic Poetry

Hindus Says Friends For USSR Needed

Soviet People Want Peace After Wartime Losses And Privations

Will Want to Destroy Steel Industry of Germany

Maurice Hindus, author, lecturer, and war correspondent who recently returned from Russia, spoke last Saturday night in Westcott auditorium about his native country.

In this speech, Mr Hindus stated that the best way to help Russia and the United States remain on friendly terms is to tell one about the other, thereby giving them a greater sympathy and understanding for the troubles of their ally.

Mr Hindus emphasized that in Russia no one speaks of a third world conflict although in the United States such thoughts are voiced. This makes the Russians uneasy as it seems possible that such a conflict would be waged by the United States and Russia. President Joseph Dzak S Campbell, faculty members and students were at the dinner, which took place in the East Dining hall. Every table was centered with a beautiful bowl of flowers.

Dr Campbell made a brief welcome address to the guests. The only other entertainment of the evening came after the end of the dinner, when the FSC Glee club, directed by Miss Ella Richardson, sang "Sea Moods", "Handsome Soldier", and "Dixie". The FSC band, also directed by the absence of Mr Frank Sykora, played farewell music outdoors as the guests departed.

Among approximately 800 guests at the informal dinner which were the legislators and their wives, Governor Millard Caldwell and his wife, and the governor's cabinet; the State Board of Control with secretary and former members and their wives; the justices and clerk of the State Supreme court and their wives; the secretary of the senate and chief clerk of the house with manager and their wives; the president, secretary and committee of the Chamber of Commerce and their wives; presidents of other state institutions and their wives; members and former members of the college ex-

Continued on page two

Concert To Be Given By U of F Glee Club

Members of FSC Glee Club Are Selling Tickets

The Glee club of the University of Florida will appear at Florida State College for Women on Saturday, April 28, at 8:15 p m.

Members of the FSC Glee club are selling tickets for the performance, adults 50c, students 25c, tax included.

The varied program might be called a combination Glee club concert and musical comedy according to Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, dean of the School of Music.

The program will feature several soloists. Jo Anna Olson, a student at the university, sings arias from Chicago and a member of the Gainesville Army colony will present three selections which comprise a medley of numbers from the opera "Carmen". Miss Olson, which is based on the life and music of Edvard Grieg. Her solo selections are "Solveig's Song", "Three Lovers," and "Strains of Home". She will be sung a duet with Hugh Pappy, member of the Glee club, "I'll See You Again," by Coward.

Al Asenjo, a pianist who has played and sung with Xavier Cugat, Paul Whiteman, Benny Goodman and Xavier Cugat, will offer three selections. His accompaniment will be taken by Arrangement of Lamett is Love, It Could Happen to You, and Carmichael's famous Star Dust.

The first part of the program is made up of orchestral selections from Gershwin and

Continued on page two

Mortified Selects Outstanding Girls

Members of Mortified, clad in their red sweaters and white skirts, jumped over the railing of the school fireplace Wednesday night after Mortar Board tapping to select their new members. The new Mortifieds included Gretchen Johnston, Cear; Sarah Bennett, New Smyrna; Jo Guthrie, Audrey Perry, Betty Alday and Madelyn King, were chosen on a basis of outstanding service to the college.

After tapping, the Dumbos, as they are now called, were given a party at the Soda Shoppe by the members. Wednesday was a one day coating period. During that time the tape were done their hair in pigtails, were bedecked with safety pins backwards, and red hair ribbons.

This year's Mortified members include Marjorie Philpot, Sarah Stewart, Marjorie Morris, Margaret Friday, Tedy Parker, Elinabeth Bennett, and Harriet Hammond. They will be honored in the near future at a party given by the new tape.

Arts Recital

All faculty, students and their guests are invited to attend the Creative Arts Recital Tuesday night at 8:15 in the Auditorium Conradi Little Theatre at which time the winners of the Creative Arts contest will be awarded their prizes and the winning compositions in music, dance and writing will be presented by their authors.

An exhibition of winning art and crafts will open Wednesday afternoon at a special tea in Gilchrist. The articles will be on display through Friday so that all will have an opportunity to see the excellent work done by the students.

Legislators Entertained

Dinner Program Given By Band and Glee Club

In accordance with its tradition, Florida State College entertained Florida's legislature and special guests at dinner in the college dining hall last night. President Joseph Dzak S Campbell, faculty members and students were at the dinner, which took place in the East Dining hall. Every table was centered with a beautiful bowl of flowers.

Dr Campbell made a brief welcome address to the guests. The only other entertainment of the evening came after the end of the dinner, when the FSC Glee club, directed by Miss Ella Richardson, sang "Sea Moods", "Handsome Soldier", and "Dixie". The FSC band, also directed by the absence of Mr Frank Sykora, played farewell music outdoors as the guests departed.

Among approximately 800 guests at the informal dinner which were the legislators and their wives, Governor Millard Caldwell and his wife, and the governor's cabinet; the State Board of Control with secretary and former members and their wives; the justices and clerk of the State Supreme court and their wives; the secretary of the senate and chief clerk of the house with manager and their wives; the president, secretary and committee of the Chamber of Commerce and their wives; presidents of other state institutions and their wives; members and former members of the college ex-

Continued on page two

Grainger to Appear On FSCW Campus

Percy Grainger, one of the world's foremost pianists, will appear in Westcott auditorium May 7 and 8 at 8:15 p m. Mr Karl Kuersteiner, dean of the School of Music, announced that tickets will be distributed in the basement of the Modern Language building Tuesday, April 24, through Friday, April 27, from four to six p m. This event will be open to holders of either A or B course tickets.

Mr Grainger was summed up in the following words by Carl Van Vechten in the Saturday Review of Literature: "The Bookman." "A man who can play a long concerto in public and genuinely sorry when it stops, and can write music that will stimulate a symphony audience into demonstrative good humor, is a great man."

Pan-Am Week Is Celebrated By Lectures

Chapultepec Conference Discussed By Hanna On Wednesday

South American Countries, Politics Described

Dr Kathryn Abbey Hanna, former faculty member of Florida State College, discussed "The Chapultepec Conference in Inter-American Relations" Wednesday night in the Augusta Conradi Little Theatre, as the first of the campus activities in observance of Pan-American Week.

Lectures and exhibits emphasizing the importance of Inter-American Week were included in observance of the week. Dr Lorenta L Isley, associate professor of political science, discussed the four major countries—Argentina, Chile, Brazil, and Mexico—in her lecture last Friday afternoon on "Latin - American Governments." Miss Mary E Keown, home economics Home Demonstration work, talked on state demonstration work in Mexico at the Pan-American Day luncheon, which took place in the East Dining hall. Every table was centered with a beautiful bowl of flowers.

Dr Campbell made a brief welcome address to the guests. The only other entertainment of the evening came after the end of the dinner, when the FSC Glee club, directed by Miss Ella Richardson, sang "Sea Moods", "Handsome Soldier", and "Dixie". The FSC band, also directed by the absence of Mr Frank Sykora, played farewell music outdoors as the guests departed.

Among approximately 800 guests at the informal dinner which were the legislators and their wives, Governor Millard Caldwell and his wife, and the governor's cabinet; the State Board of Control with secretary and former members and their wives; the justices and clerk of the State Supreme court and their wives; the secretary of the senate and chief clerk of the house with manager and their wives; the president, secretary and committee of the Chamber of Commerce and their wives; presidents of other state institutions and their wives; members and former members of the college ex-

Continued on page two

Memorial Service Held for Roosevelt

Dr. Miller, Rev Alfriend And Rabbi Goldman Participate

A Memorial Service was held for the late president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, in the Auditorium at 10 a m in the Westcott Auditorium.

"Last Kindly Night" with Dr Robert D Miller, associate professor of Philosophy as moderator, the organ was played while the students were getting seated followed by "Lead Kindly Light" and "Be With Thee", favorite hymn of the president.

Rev Jeffery Alfriend, minister of the Episcopal church, had charge of the invocation which included the scripture use of President Roosevelt's favorite passages.

The service concluded with a dedicative prayer by Rabbi Alex Goldman.

Dr Doak S Campbell, president of FSC; Rev Jeffery Alfriend, minister of the Episcopal church; Rabbi Alex Goldman; Dr Elizabeth Andrews, dirctor of personnel of the United States Department of the School of Home Economics; Dr Olive M Stone, dean of students; Dr Ralph L Eyman, dean of education; Dr G L Dirlam, associate professor of history; Dr M R Hinson, professor of education; Dr Paul Plummer, professor of psychology; Mr Roderick K Shaw, business manager and the members of the student government association were seated on the stage during the memorial service.

Coon's Appearance Contributed to Ivy Trimmed Buildings

"Easy there, boys!" "O K Pull 'er down!" Crash! And a huge mass of ivy comes tumbling down its traditional place of honor.

Mr Henry Barnes Hanna, FSCW engineer and architect, still smiles when he recalls one occasion of excitement probably caused by the disturbance of the ivy walls. It seems that he was promptly summoned by the art class one day, and on arriving at the room, he found himself face to face with a coon! Who knows, maybe the next time it would have been a lion!

The ivy which has long remained a beauty mark of Florida State College is rapidly disappearing. One look at Westcott and the stu-

Continued on page five

Mortar Board Honors Ten

1944-45 Chapter Members Tap In Convocation

Mortar Board, national honorary for senior women, tapped ten FSCW students in convocation Tuesday night.

The program began with a processional consisting of the 1944-45 chapter members, faculty members, and the initiates, and faculty advisers. Mrs Lou E Miller, president of Mortar Board, gave a speech was then given by Dr Marion D Irish.

Characteristics of political science and a poem, "The Torch," was given by Jean Bell. The report included: Les Weaver, president; Martha Jane Brown, Ann Caroyn Allison, secretary; Margaret Baugh, Shirley Dugin, treasurer; and Pearl Lou Thomas. Also tapped were Judy Pepper and Dixie Ashton who were in absentia.

Following convocation the old members of Mortar Board ushered the new members with a party at the Three Torches.

The Florida Singers concert will participate in a 30th anniversary breakfast to be held in the City Auditorium at 9 o'clock. Faculty advisers, alumnae members, and the Dean of Women, president of Florida State College, Mrs Campbell have been invited. Miss Mildred Nix Hale of the class of 1927 will return to Tallahassee to be initiated with the new members.

Senior Is Given Award in Spanish

Mary Florence Fox, nineteen-year-old FSC senior and member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, recently been awarded a scholarship in Spanish at the University of Florida according to a press release received by Miss Louise Gehan, Spanish instructor.

The scholarship was awarded in the graduate school of the University for the academic year 1945-46. Mary Florence will receive her B A degree in June this spring.

She is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority and a member of the F glub. She belongs to the Spanish Club, Sigma Delta Pi, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Beta Phi, Phi Delta Phi, Sigma Delta Pi, and Phi Alpha Theta.

Aiken Attends Conference At Chapel Hill

2 Student Representatives To Attend Parley At San Francisco

50 Southern Colleges Endorse New Peace Proposals

Florida State College was represented at a conference for the consideration of student participation in the coming peace held at the University of North Carolina Sunday by Betty Aiken, senior. This conference composed of students from 50 southern colleges, endorsed the Dumbarton Oaks Bretton Woods peace proposals and elected two students to represent the organization at the San Francisco Conference of United Nations to be held April 25.

Called together by organizations for human welfare and international relations at the U of NC, the delegates also voted to establish a permanent organization dedicated to international peace. The students, including Florida representatives from Flo-

Continued on page six

Senate Makes Yearly Report

Committee Heads Are Nominated for 45-46

Nominations for the chairmen of the standing committees for next year were made by the chairmen of the committees for the 1944-45 period.

Annual reports from the three standing committees for 1944-45 was the major business of the Senate at its 4:30 and 6:30 meetings this afternoon in the Student Alumnae auditorium.

The Social Standards Commission, the Usher Committee, and the Assembly Committee reports were given by the chairman of the committees.

The Social Standards Committee report was given by its chairman Dorothy Boardman, who stated that the Social Standards Council was "the only authorized body for coordinating the social activities and recreational life and is responsible for publicizing all social events and for securing participation in them."

The duties, functions, and suggestions of the Usher Service was also outlined. It was suggested by the chairman that the old Campus Wise in Campus Wise should be looked up or a new list of activities and duties for the campus should be compiled, published, and distributed. Dorothy also suggested that the new committee at the end of the year should turn in a list of their social committees to assist their successors in choosing their chairmen.

A Social Calendar of the Week will be placed on the wall across from the Faculty bulletin board. The Social Calendar will be changed each week, and it will state the time, place, and events of the college.

Meetings of the Social Standards Council will be held once a month since the organization is so large. The Social Chairmen will be present at the meeting to discuss their own particular problems.

The report of the Usher Com-

Continued on page two

Miss Ruht Page will appear here next Monday night where she will give her annual exhibition of dancing while she reads poetry.

Seven Orators Enter Contest

Topic of Speeches Is World Citizenship

Seven student speakers will contend for a first prize in Florida State College's first oratorical contest, to be held in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater Wednesday at 8:15 p m. General subject of the speeches is to be "World Citizenship: Challenge to Complacency."

To speak are Pat Patilhall, Cordelia Barclay, Frances Treadwell, Lou Ella Thomson, Rachael Ball, Barbara Mann, and Janice Richey.

Judges for the contest will be the Honorable Roy H Chapman, Chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court; the Honorable Robert Gray, Secretary of State; the Honorable Thomas D Bailey, State Superintendent of Education; and Dr Doak S Campbell, president of FSC.

A sterling silver loving cup is to be awarded to the student giving the winning speech. Second

Continued on page four

Spring Arts Recital To Be Given Tuesday

Winning Crafts to Be Shown In Gilchrist at Tea

The Spring Arts Recital, consisting of the winning music, dance and writing compositions of the AAUW Creative Arts contest, will be held Tuesday night at 8:15 in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater. At this time public recognition and awards will be given to the winners in all divisions of the contest.

An exhibition of the winning arts and crafts will open Wednesday in Gilchrist parlor with a tea, and will continue through Friday. The recital and exhibition will formally terminate the AAUW Creative arts contest whose winners in the various divisions have been announced in the Flambeau as the judges released them.

The final group of winners announced this week include those of the short story, music, and the fine arts.

Percy Lu Thomson was awarded first place in the short story contest with honorable mention going to Frances Traxler, Lucy Broyles, and Winifred Meldrim.

In instrumental music, first place in piano goes to Anna Watkins and honorable mention to Frances Blackburn and Irene Putzer; in organ, honorable mention goes to Margaret Smith. In vocal music Alice Phillips was given first place and honorable men-

Continued on page two

Quintet Will Play In St Augustine

Faculty piano quintet left for St Augustine yesterday, where they will give a chamber music program at the St Cecilia Music club.

Mrs Mildred Harter Davis, instructor in voice and piano, accompanied them, and served as group of French songs on the program.

The quintet's selections are the Tallahassee Suite by Cyril Scott, and the Schumann quintet.

Members of the quintet are: Miss Mary Esther Winsiow associate professor of piano, Piano; Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, dean of the School of Music, first violin; Rachel Caldwell, student second violin; Miss Gertrude Rosier, associate professor of violin and theory, viola; and Mr Frank Sykora, associate professor of cello and other orchestral instruments, violoncello.

Ballet Dancer Will Perform Monday Night

Reserve Tickets Available Today in SAB, Monday At Box Office

Page Gives New Type Dancing With Poetry

Miss Ruth Page, ballet director of the Chicago Opera Ballet, will appear with her ballet, Miss Ruth Codon, Monday night at 8:15 in the Florida State College auditorium.

Tickets for this performance, which is on the red series, may be obtained today from 4-6 p m in the Student Alumnae building basement and Monday night at 7:15 at the box office by those who have not yet arranged for their reserved seats. It was announced by Mr Karl Kuersteiner, dean of the School of Music.

Miss Page has created a new type of dancing which is dancing with words and music. She does not dance to poetry, but she dances and recites the poems.

Born in Indianapolis, Indiana, Miss Page composed her first bit of poetry through daily reading with her father. She found delight in the words of the rhyming Berlin music box her study of the art as the age of 12. Her dancing career was given a good start when she attracted the attention of Anna Pavlowa during a recital Miss Page to accompany her on her last South American tour.

Miss Page toured with Mr Adolph Bolm, who chose her as his partner and introduced her in London.

Later Miss Page became principal dancer of the Berlin "Music Box Revue," the premiere danseuse of the Grand Guignol first ballet theatre, and the Municipal Opera Company. For three season she was principal mistress of the Ravinia Opera Company, America's rival to the Salzburg Festival.

After becoming the first American guest solo dancer to be engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York she made her first Oriental tour with a small company which gave 25 performances in the countries attending the enthronement of Emperor Hirohito in Tokyo.

Then in 1939 and 1940 she

Continued on page two

Blackburn, Loyless Give Joint Recital

Frances Jean Blackburn, mezzo-soprano, and Eleanor Loyless, pianist, will give their certificate recital Joint tomorrow evening at 8:15 in the Westcott auditorium.

Frances, a senior public school major, is a student of Miss Gladys Rose Koch, associate professor of voice and solfeggio. She is a member of the Florida Singers, Glee club, and she plays violin in the college orchestra.

She has been a special student on campus, and has had experience in both teaching and playing. She has also been on the radio programs. She is a student of Miss Mary Wilson Hanna, assistant professor of piano.

Miss Loyless, in playing the orchestra parts at a second piano, Mrs Loyless will perform the "Allegro, and Finale" from Mozart Concerto No 4, G major. She will also play Scherzo by Griffes, Nocturne in F sharp major and Rhapsody C Major by Dohnany.

Accompanist for Miss Blackburn, instructor in piano, Frances will sing: Ah, Jerusalem! How Fulled the Holy Cities are from St Paul, "Lasciatemi morire" (Canto from Arianna), O del mio amato ben by S Donaudy, Consolo-lu le pays (Mignon) by Thomas, and Ave Maria by Saint-Saens, with a flute obligato by Joyce Airth. Other selections by Miss Blackburn by Vera Kitchener, Comin' thro' the Rye, and Song by Bammond.

Movie To Be Shown

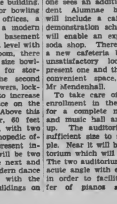
A French movie, "The Liberation of Paris", will be shown Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Augusta Conradi theater.

The movie will be free of charge. "Excellent reports of the film have been received from those who have seen it," said Dr A R Seymour, professor of modern languages.

The film is being sent to the school through the modern language department of Lt Basil Nelson, commanding officer of the French forces at Fort Ord, where it was shown to the French soldiers.

Extensive Post-War Erection Program on Campus to Include Completion, Remodeling and Construction of New Buildings

By LOLA ROSE



The laying of the foundations for the wing of the library building is a continuance of an extensive post-war erection program in the architecture of the Florida State College campus. This program includes the completion and remodeling of buildings already on the campus and the construction of buildings.

The wing on the History building is the first construction in these s u c c e s s i v e construction plans. In spite of the difficulty the necessary materials and conditions are being laid for the five buildings which are completed, building will make the wing equal in height to the rest of the building. For the present the first floor only will be completed. According to Mr Herbert D Mendenhall, the resident architect, it is the only thing that the state of Florida can hope to do on the Florida State College campus for the duration of the war.

If any other major building plans are authorized before the end of the war, the first one will be the completion of the gymnasium. As the plans are now, the addition will be a north and wing which will extend to the road to the north of the building. It will include space for bowling alleys, shower rooms, offices, a gymnasium floor, and a dance floor. In the basement floor, which will be on a level with the present basement floor, will be eight standard size bowling alleys and rooms for storage of equipment. The second floor will consist of showers, lockers, and office rooms to house the present locker space on the swimming pool floor. Above this will be a sports floor, 60 feet wide and 96 feet long, with two offices and also an orthopedic office. Similar to the present indoor gymnasium this will be two stories in height. The next and top floor will be the modern dance floor. The construction of this wing will be identical with the plans on the campus this one will conform to the architectural plan of the present building in construction and appearance.

Taking another place at the list of future construction plans, one sees an addition to the Student Alumnae building which will include a cafeteria for the convenience of the students and will enable an expansion of the soda shop. There is a need for a new cafeteria because of the unsatisfactory location of the present one and the need for more convenient space, according to Mr Mendenhall.

Also because of the increased enrollment in the college, plans for a complete new auditorium and music hall are being drawn up. The auditorium will be of sufficient size to seat 2,500 people. Near it will be a small auditorium which will seat about 200. The two auditoriums will form an acute angle with each other, and will be joined by a common foyer of pianos and equipment from one stage to another, the two stages will be united. The building will be erected where the Music Annex is now in order to be able to be easily accessible to the Tallahassee residents who attend the numerous programs at the college.

All of the new buildings and wings will conform to the modern architectural scheme of Modernized Collegiate Gothic design which is displayed in the U. of Oxford, Yale, Harvard. Even with the modern architectural scheme buildings differ because of the constantly new streamlining effects and the advancement of science, the evolution of the design in the difference in appearance between the East and West wings of the dining hall. The East wing, built about 25 years ago, lacks the distinguishing main entrance and the flat simplicity of the front of the West wing, which was built about 15 years later in the Early Modernized Collegiate Gothic de-

Continued on page two

Dr Carothers Goes to Tampa

Education for Service Men And Women Is Topic

To discuss current topics concerning education in Florida, particularly concerning returning service men and women, a meeting of the Florida Association of Universities and Colleges was recently held in Tampa.

Representing Florida State College at the conference were Dr Milton W Carothers, registrar; Dr R y Eyman, dean of the School of Education; Dr R L Goulding, superintendent of the demonstration school; Dr Guy L Diffenbaugh, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and Mrs Diffenbaugh.

Dr W T Edwards and Mr Paul Eddy of the State Department of Education attended as well as representatives from the University of Florida, Rollins College, University of Miami, Tampa University, and delerates from the various junior colleges throughout the state.

The major topic of the conference was "Educational Opportunities for Returning Servicemen and Women" and other topics under discussion were "Citizens Committe on Education and Plans for Study on Education," "Florida Resources-use Education Project," "Ford Foundation Project on Housing, Food and Clothing." Readers Digest" Dr Guy E Snavely, of New York, executive director of the American Association of Colleges; Dr Paul Eddy of the State Department of Education; S F Marquis, Veterans Administration at Bay Pines; Mr Alan Grazier, St Petersburg, of the Florida Citizens Committee on Education; and Mr H E Nutter of the University of Florida.

At a banquet on Friday night at the Floridan Hotel, Dr Snavely began the discussion of the various plans for the returning veterans, both man and women, under the GI Bill of Rights. Mr Monkaus who is dealing with these returning veterans at Bay Pines and who has been counseling and advising under the GI Bill in Tampa, also spoke on GI Bill of Rights.

Mr Grazier of the Citizens committee appointed by the governor on school problems, gave a discussion on Saturday, of experiments of the committee in making up the recommendations that were presented to the Legislature. He told of the advantages that would influence the colleges if improvements were made in primary and secondary schools in the state.

Dr Carothers presided as president over the business meeting which was held at the Floridan Hotel in Tampa and also at the Tampa Union Club the first of the meetings began at 2 p m on Friday and the last one ended about 11:30 on Saturday. Dr W S Allen was elected president for the next year's meeting which will be held in Miami and Dr Carothers was elected vice president.

Meeting To Be Held

The Florida High School Association meeting will be held in Tampa on May 3. Among topics for consideration will come the problem of organizing a women's and girl's program. Plans for the girl's division were made at the state association request by a committee of women in the state whose chairman was Dr Katherine Montgomery and among the members were two former college members, Miss Gladys Hunt of Ocala and Miss Martha Twitty of Gainesville. Miss Grace Fox of FSCW was also on the committee.

Bennett's College Inn Pharmacy

Extension Past-War Program On Campus

Continued From Page One

sign began to take the place of the medieval architecture with the erection of Reynolds hall. A remnant of the castle type architecture can be seen in the appearance of Bryan, Westcott, and Dodd halls. When Dodd hall is rebuilt after the war the new building will retain the fortress appearance for sentimental reasons.

In addition to the constructing of new buildings there is a constant need for repair and reconstruction. An example of this was the complete rebuilding of the broadcasting building and the north side of Westcott. Defects of the original constructions could be seen in the cracks of the walls. Upon investigation the original buildings were found to have been built upon unremodeled earth. There had been no allowance made in the construction for the settling process of the soil. Running underneath the buildings and under the areas were underfilled trenches from which the earth was taken. It was thought that My Mendenhall said that they were more likely to be remnants of the main fortifications and not Civil War relics because at the time of the Civil War the present college grounds was the site of a small military school whose cadets were quartered where the Westcott fountain now is. It is very likely that these cadets would have been built within a few yards of these school. Also under the soil of the small section the school went to the Suwannee River barrier in order to aid in the defense against the union men.

All of the ground west of the military school where the residence halls now are was until the early 1900's in forest. Near the turn of the century an addition of the present site of the school building extending it to Copeland street. In 1901 the first two dormitories were constructed in the site of the present History building. These were the girl's hall and west hall. As the campus began to expand in buildings and in area (13 acres in 1900 and 1,300 acres in 1945), two buildings were originally assigned a Negro school were added to the one school building campus. They were known as the Music Annex and the dietitians home.

Along with the changes in the architecture there have been changes in the name of the college. The institution founded in the 1850s was not a state school but was a girls' private school. Later it became a state school, which which it was changed to Florida State College, a state school and a co-educational one. In 1905 it became a girls' school under the name of the Florida Female College and remained that until 1909 when the name was changed to Florida State College for Women.

Plans for the post-war campus of Florida State College include another new dormitory to accommodate several hundred students. This change in size from the present design of temporary halls on the campus, begun with the construction of New hall which holds 104 students, is in line with the management of the dormitories. The number of students on the campus at the present time is Landis which holds about 270 students. Dr Doak S Campbell, stated Mr Mendenhall, there are structures for the management in such a large building.

Tentative plans for later constructions after the new dormitory will include the aforementioned complete re-building of Bryan hall, a new demonstration school, the re-building of the present science building, and a new home economics building in order of their listing.

Episcopal Students Attend Conference

Hill Elected State President Of Canterbury Club

Members of the Episcopal student vestry attended a state Canterbury Club conference held in Gainesville the week end of April 13-15.

The theme, "The Nature and Function of the Church and Churchman," was discussed under three topics, "What Is the Church?" "The Church in the World Today," and "What Is Our Responsibility in the Church Today?" These discussions were led by the Rev George Alexander from Palatka.

The results of the Florida Canterbury Club elections are: Robin Hill, state president; Allen Sherman of Gainesville, vice-president; the Rev John Collins, secretary-treasurer; representatives from Rugg Hall were: Doris Corry, Victoria Mott, Dorothy Sterling, Luella Rouse, Robin Hill, Margaret Hunt, Jo Dawkins, Nancy Lee Wheeler, Betty Phillips, Letitia Croom, Joan Shannon, Mary Lou Hall and the Rev and Mrs Alvin Bullen.

The executive conference for Episcopal students was also attended by representatives from Weed Hall, Gainesville, and the University of Tampa.

Seven Orators Enter Contest

Continued from page two

prize will be a $25 war bond. The second award is to be $15 in war stamps.

Chairman of the evening is to be Miss Alex J Cooper, director of the Rual Birth Rillet Demonstration Center with with the Student World Affairs Council, composed of heads of 27 Florida organizations on the campus or the contest.

The judging during a brief intermission between two halves of the program will be a trio of FSC professors, Dr Thomas Carson Brasg, Rachael Crotwell, and Patricia Stoltz.

Semi-finals for the oratorical contest, scheduled for this past Saturday morning, with the Judges for the semi-finals of the contest were to have been faculty members Dr Ralph Hoffis, professor of political science; Dr W H Rogers, professor of English; Miss Margaret Wyly, instructor in speech, and Mr Earl Vance, associate professor of education.

Deadline for entries in the contest became Friday. Student managers for publicity of the contest have been Cordelia Barclay, Virginia Holmes, and Gerry Halpern.

Senate Makes Yearly Report

Continued From Page One

mittee was given by its chairman Sarah Jane McElroy.

Mary Ann Wood read a group of suggestions which would aid the Usher Committee. Their will be a student council set up to prevent students who do not have tickets from entering the auditorium until after intermission. The standard of formal dress for all Artist Series for those sitting in the main auditorium will be enforced. Sara Jane asked for stronger cooperation of all students in working with the Usher Committee and Board of Managers supporting the Artist Series and other college functions. The report was accepted by Senate.

Betty Chasal as chairman of the Secretary Committee gave the annual report, which was accepted by Senate.

Dorothy Boardman nominated the following students for chair man of the Social Standards Council for next year: Sara Jane McKelvey, Alice Walton, and Mildred Tyson.

Sara Jane McKelvey nominated the following for chairman of the Usher Committee for the coming year: Helen Atwater, Helen Bentz, Margery Fuller, Charlotte Mills, and Barbara Wickham.

Betty Chasal nominated Margaret McElroy as chairman of the Auditing Committee for the coming year.

Sarah Lewis, chairman of Senate, appointed a committee of three to investigate the requirements for the committees until second light flash Wednesday night.

Anne McInnes was elected house president of New Hall and Lolly Rogers was elected house vice president of New Hall.

Wednesday afternoon the Senate members will meet in 303 Westcott to take the Constitution test on student government. Every Senate member must take and pass the constitution test to serve as an active member or Senate.

More than half of all deaths from accidents in the home in 1944 occurred among persons over 44 years old.

Legislature In Brief

Continued from Page One

may so serve. The bill, which was also defeated last session, was sponsored by Miss Mary Lou Baker, only woman legislator this session.

Sociology students were interested spectators yesterday at a public hearing of the Juvenile court bill, which proposes to establish separate courts. Judge Jarvis offenders and special assistance from probation officers in the state. Only seven of Florida's 67 counties have any provision for separate handling. Young offenders have often been kept in jails for weeks waiting for an adult trial. The bill will give county judges exclusive legal authority over children under 17 whose offense do not include murder, armed robbery, or rape. These judges will be given time to juvenile cases, which will be handled informally. Detention homes will be established, and district probation officers will be created to assist with investigation of the background of the delinquents.

Court Bill Discussed

The committee, judiciary A. did not vote at the hearing, at which county judges, representatives and institution officials expressed need for and approval of the bill. It is hoped that before the committee vote will be favorable, and that the bill will be reported on the floor of the House.

Omissions of the bill include the fact that qualification for the probation officers are not defined, that the bill does not give an age to be the dividing line between adult and juvenile treatment, and that allowed of group meeting. Judges there should be full-time Juvenile court judges.

Married registrations came in for publicity this week as the Senate passed a bill which would do away compulsory three-day wait before marriages could be performed, after intention of marriage has been filed also passed a bill requiring premarital and pre-natal tests for syphilis.

Semi-finals for the oratorical contest, scheduled for this past Saturday morning, with the Judges for the semi-finals of the contest were to have been faculty members Dr Ralph Hoffis, professor of political science; Dr W H Rogers, professor of English; Miss Margaret Wyly, instructor in speech, and Mr Earl Vance, associate professor of education.

Deadline for entries in the contest became Friday. Student managers for publicity of the contest have been Cordelia Barclay, Virginia Holmes, and Gerry Halpern.

Concert To Be Given By U af F Glee Club

Continued From Page One

Prinl, negro spirituals, and other popular favorites.

In the "road show" part of the program are also accordian numbers by Jim Bruce, and a skit entitled "Gwendolyn", which concerns a butler, a wife, a sweetheart, and a burglar.

The Glee club, "Florida's Ambassadors of Song" has been made many successful appearances at Army hospitals and service centers. It is directed by John W DeBruyn.

Legislators Entertained

Continued from page one

acutive council and their wives; members of the committee on Senior committee; heads of college departments and their wives; student government executive council; student hostesses from various college organizations; sponsors and their wives; representatives of the Florida press and their wives; editor of the Flambeau, and other special guests.

In charge of arrangements were, Dr Doak S Campbell, president; Miss Olive N Dorman, dean of students; Miss Katherine Bech Bloodworth, publicity chairman; Miss Anna Mae Tracy, Miss Catherine Whitley, and Miss Gerda Clateen, dietitians Mr H D Mendenhall was in charge of arranging the floor which came from the college garden.

An Army salvage collecting company in Italy recovered in two weeks more than 262,000 articles valued at $791,000.

In the Renaissance whole dresses often were sewn with jewels.

Joan of Arc, the French patriot, was born on Jan 6, 1412, in the countryside of Domremy.

The term "jetty" is derived from the French word, "jeter" and signifies something thrown.

About 500,000 men in the United States devote all or part of their time to cutting and hauling trees for paper manufacture.

Jinn is the name of a class of spirits in Arabian mythology.

The history of Jerusalem goes back to the Stone Age.

Approximately 180,000 people die of cancer every year.

More than 1,600 deaths from cancer are reported every year for persons under 20 years of age.

Cockrell Features Love Seats as New Parlor Furnishings

Yes, from all reports, the Cockrell Hall parlor will have the essential comforts of home including the addition of twelve new pieces of furniture as was announced by Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence halls. To lend that cozy atmosphere two more "love seats" will be placed in the parlor as soon as slip covers are made and fitted. Rugs have been ordered for both Cockrell and Reid parlors.

Pieces of furniture already in the parlor are: four low backed overstuffed chairs with flowered cretonne covers, a round mahogany table, two cream colored love seats of the modern type and one brocaded one of the early American type, two highback occasional chairs, a wing-back chair with brocade upholstery, and a coffee table.

Ballet Dancer Will Perform Monday Night

Continued From Page One

gan to be presented in concert programs in the United States. Miss Page, accompanied by her pianist, toured from coast to coast.

In 1922 at the Salzburg Festival she first worked with Harald Kreutzberg with whom she later collaborated for three seasons. Her next partner was Sentley Stone with whom she formed the Page-Stone Ballet Company, which was formed when Miss Page, enthusiastic over the opportunities of the Federal Theatre Project, persuaded Mr Stone to join her.

The Page-Stone Ballet was the first dancing ballet company to tour South America, commencing its appearance as a part of the Good Neighbor Policy given by municipal Opera House, Caracas, Venezuela.

Spring Arts Recital To Be Given Tuesday

Continued From Page One

tion to Anna Watkins, Daphne Wells, and Margaret Hudson.

The photography division of the contest has as its winner Juanita Cooper with honorable mention going to Jean Phillips and Martha Lawson.

In the fine arts, Betty Troop was awarded first place for the pencil outlining and Muriel Agnew was given honorable mention for hers. In water color and tempera first place goes to Sarah Boswell and honorable mention to Jacqueline Agnew and Frances Frazier. Betty Troop also took first place in commercial art and Dorothy Mayhew, honorable mention is commercial but first in interior design. Elizabeth Entwelle gives honorable mention in design. In drawing, Jacqueline Meeks place first and Dorothy Mayhew had honorable mention.

Program Arranged

The Social Standards council will sponsor a program of light music by the Leon High school "Melodiers" and Boys' Octette Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the main lounge of the Student Alumnae building.

This is one of a series of Sunday afternoon musicals sponsored by the Social Standards council.

Songs to be featured are: "Mosquitoes" by the Boys' Octette, "Now I Know" by the "Melodiers," and "Manhatten Serenade."

Coon's Appearance Contributed to Ivy Trimmed Buildings

Continued From Page One

dents gasp at the realization of the red bricks bare back defiantly, giving the hall the appearance of just having lost its beard. At the other halls the fact is realized that Westcott is the only building being shoved. The red bricks have been exposed throughout the campus. No more shall ivorys stroll amid romantic ivy-clad halls, no more shall students point toward the green-veiled buildings, no more can the song be fervently sung of the adorning vines, no more shall chicken flee from the bird nests in the ivy enter the rooms to afford sleepless nights, no more shall the students screech with fright at the sight of those villainous creatures who, missed by the hunters, ventured their hideaway in the ivy, and no more shall the lovely coon cease to be hidden from view by window overgrown with vines.

Hindus Says Friends Far USSR Needed

Continued From Page One

because most of the food goes to the army; even the textiles go to the army; most of the clothes available are for the army. The people want peace so they can rebuild their country and resume a normal life," said Mr Hindus.

As an expert on Russia, Mr Hindus feel that in order to satisfy the Russian people after the war, Germany's production of steel will have to be stopped and Germans will have to come in and help rebuild the devastated Russian cities.

Stalin measures a nation's strength in her production of steel, he feels that the United States' enormous output of steel is responsible for the success of one of the leading nations of the world. Consequently, as he does not want the United States to control steel in Germany, he will try to such her borders. He plans to expand armaments spring up that may become a threat to Russia.

Mr Hindus revealed that it is this fear of fascism which makes Russia determined to stop the opposition to feudal land lords and others whom they suspect of being potential fascists.

This is why it has been so difficult to come to understanding with the Russians on the Polish government in London, and it is why it may be difficult to come to an understanding with them about other countries like Hungary and Rumania, which have been ruled for so long by a landed gentry and military caste, Mr Hindus pointed out.

Sixty per cent more people die of cancer than of all the contagious diseases together.

Use Dura-Gloss for charm and gaiety in your whole appearance. An exclusive ingredient called "Chrystallyne" helps protect the polish against chipping and peeling. That's why you hear so many women say, "Dura-Gloss stays on." 10¢ a bottle, plus tax, at cosmetic counters. Cutex Fragrance Polish Remover Dura-Coat

LEHN LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

FSC Graduate Is No Longer Widow Since Receival of News After 3-Year Period

For the first time in three years, Mrs Jean Vivian DeLong, a 1941 Florida State College graduate, no longer regards herself as a widow. Until recently, she believes her husband, Captain C W DeLong, had been killed in action during the Bataan campaign.

On a Philippine airstrip, where she was operating a Red Cross mobile canteen, she watched the arrival of a large load of Americans, liberated from the Cabanatuan prison by a contacted Ranger raid.

One of the rescued internees was Sergeant Julius Brown, once a schoolmate in Madison. He spotted Mrs DeLong and thought he recognized her, but wasn't sure until another Red Cross worker verified the identification.

Then he ran to the uniformed woman, threw his arms about her and began to sob. But the news he had for her was joyful; he had seen her husband alive less than a month before, when the Japanese transferred him from Capantuan to another camp.

The next day brought a second plane load of liberated prisoners and further confirmation of Brown's story. A soldier of the second shipment walked up to the Red Cross worker and asked "Are you Jean DeLong?"

"Yes, I am," she replied.

"Well, your picture was the one picture of a woman he's seen in three years," he told her. "I must have looked at it a million times." He explained that the Japanese had confiscated all the personal effects and personal papers, but Captain DeLong had managed to smuggle through one snapshot of his wife.

Mrs DeLong while waiting for reunion with her husband is now handling messages to and from liberated prisoners at the Santo Thomas camp in Manila. She has seen 36 months of service with the Red Cross in the Southwest Pacific as a staff assistant in service clubs in Melbourne and Sydney, and as a mobile canteen operator in Pinachaven and Leyte.

This heartwarming story of a FSC graduate was first learned by Miss Louise Gehan, Alumnae Secretary, from William Kaidson of the Press Relations, General Headquarters, Manila.

Interviewer Comes

A representative of Wheelan Photography Studios will be in Tallahassee on May 1 to interview students of Florida State College who are interested in photographic work. These studios have large retails stores throughout the United States.

The representative is interested in talking to any student who is interested in some line of photographic management, personnel supervision, or color. Any student who would like to have an interview with this representative should make arrangements in the Personnel Office.

LOST:

Three gold butterflies, black enamel head. Reward. Please return to Sylvia Berkman, 506 Reynolds Annex.

FLORIDA

Today and Tomorrow
"BRING ON THE GIRLS"

Sunday and Monday
"BELLE OF THE YUKON"
&
Tuesday and Wednesday
"BETWEEN TWO WOMEN"

Thursday Thru Saturday
"HERE COMES THE CO-EDS"

STATE

Today and Tomorrow
"UNWRITTEN CODE"
—and—
"SAGEBRUSH HERO"

Sunday and Monday
"SOUL OF A MONSTER"
—and—
"NOTHING BUT TROUBLE"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"SINCE YOU WENT AWAY"

Thursday Only
"BRAZIL"
&
"The Very Thought of You"

R I T Z

Last Times Tonight
"EVER SINCE VENUS"
—and—
"Hail the Conquering Hero"

Saturday Only
"RIDE 'EM COWBOY"
Sunday and Monday
"SOMETHING for the BOYS"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"STRANGE AFFAIR"
—and—
"CRIME BY NIGHT"

Thursday and Friday
"DRAGON SEED"
—and—
"COMMUNITY SING"

i Kappa Phi Has Initiation

nal Honorary Admits Twenty-Six Members

ation of new members into Florida State College chapter Kappa Phi, the national ary society which recog- academic achievement in all ds was held on Thursday, 12, at 5 p.m in the ge of the Student Alumnae ge.

ies initiated were Dr Guy L ough, dean of the College ts and Sciences, and the fol- seniors: Betty Beall, Dor- Boardman, Sarah Callison, Chasal, Mary Elizabeth Thelma Culver, Grace Helen Fletcher, Mary ne Fox, Anne Gaines, Pris- Gillete, Frances Hines, Edna ne Dorothy Lancaster, Minna Lee Lewis, Mary Ann Mc- Wendenhall, Janet Pancoast, Publicker, Jeanne Ritter, Rogers, Louise Simpson, Tobias, Allene Trieste, Smith Trowell, Virginia Lee's role in the speech ement play "Yellow Jacket," ere the initiation cere- for she will be initiated in ter house, was in charge of ion, president of the chap-itiation service was con- ed by the officers: Mrs Per- president; Dr Roy H Hu- ey president; Miss Mar- y Dressler, secretary; Miss Barnes, treasurer; Dr Ralph ar, marshal.

the conclusion of the cere- Dr Doak S Campbell, also ber of Phi Kappa Phi, pre- an address on the scholar- and obligations which ac- any membership in the so- e. The scholar has obli- beyond and above the ob- of those who have not so designated," said Dr Campbell. "The responsibility of ar is total and unremitting. ars must move with the reception honoring the new en was held in the SAE following the initiation. Mrs Lucile Schultz in charge of the reception. members of the social com- are Miss Florence Tyson, Margaret Mansell, Miss Parker, Mrs Marian W floor hosts and hostesses Dr Beulah B Binkley, Miss Robinson, Miss Margaret Dressler, Dr Robert C Moon, Dr R Hinson.

Otis Larson, Miss Lucile ee and Miss Virginia Turren- formed the social committee ring. The punch table was rge of Dr Margaret R San-n Fernando, Dr and Mrs Doak Campbell, Dr and Mrs Guy L ough were in the receiving

dents Given First Radio Program Alone

Dr Gowrie and Gobi radio Wednesday night was to be presented by stu- Dot Pattishall as ties of ceremonies conduct- he program and Eleanor ld played piano selections. he news editor and an- for the weekly newspa- the air. Eleanor played on Etude" and "Nevin's of the Trees" by Chaplin, ested as editor of the music

e editorial staff for the next rium has not yet been an- ced. The program will be ional recital of the elementary lub of the Demonstration ol, broadcast from the of Westcott auditorium at 3 p.m. April 27, according to announcement from the radio ructor, Bertha Bloodworth.

Dean Broadcasts

Dr Karl O Kuerstainer, dean School of Music, broadcast- ursday from 2 to 2:15 p m on ion WIBG from Jacksonville, his talk was on the aesthetic ts of Florida, and he made ublic announcement of the sters of the American As- ion of University Women competition at FSC. He commented on the new Flor- Composers' League.

Send Your Mother's Day Greetings Home on a Phonograph Record Only 50c - 8-in. 75c

Large Selection of Popular Records and Albums in Stock

TALLAHASSEE Radio & Sound Co. 107 S. Monroe St. Opposite Western Union

Alumnae Report

Far from Florida comes news of three FSC graduates who have been stationed in our two most important theaters of war, half way around the world from each other. They are Miss Meta Helms, Pacific area; Suzanne Harrison, and Lt Mary M Miller of the Mediterranean area.

Miss Meta Helms, Red Cross worker and graduate of Florida State College for Women, is home again after spending 18 months in the Southwest Pacific. She is helping to make her life interesting for America's servicemen at the Richmond Army Air Base hospital.

When Miss Telms went overseas in February, 1943, she landed in Sydney, Australia. For six months she worked in Sydney, Brisbane, Melbourne and Mt Kay in hospitals and clubs. Miss Helms was then sent to New Guinea to help open up clubs and also maintain clubs all over the land. She spent 11 months on this island, an island ravaged by battle, and equipped with few of the facilities which contribute toward good living conditions.

Before beginning her job overseas, Miss Helms attended with the City Recreation Department of Tallahassee and taught Physical Education in the Madison County public schools.

"Join the Army and see—your husband!" This is the slogan of Suzanne Harrison, graduate of the Women's Army corps and 1943 graduate of Florida State College, who met her husband last year in January in the ancient city of Algiers.

"They were really two happy people when I got them together," said Tom Stewart in a dispatch from the American Red Cross in Italy to Miss Lorine Cobian, Student Alumnae secretary.

After her arrival overseas in April, 1943, Mrs Harrison has worked in Red Cross clubs in North Africa, Sardinia, Corsica, and Italy. In her present assignment she is program director of a large enlisted men's club set up in a former palace in Leghorn, Italy.

Mrs Harrison says one of the most interesting of all activities she has shared are the fencing classes. "This town is the home of fencing, and the man who instructs our classes four days a week was the champion of Italy in 1938. We have one class made up of 10 WACs."

Her home is in Miami. Before entering the army she was employed by the City Recreation department of Tallahassee and taught Physical Education in the Madison County public schools.

Lt Miller has been overseas since July, 1943, serving in North Africa before moving to Italy. Lt Miller has three brothers in service. Lt Col Kennedy Miller, serving with the Army in the Pacific; Capt Roy A Miller, with the ATC in Cincinnati, and Ensign WO Francis Miller who is in the Navy, stationed in San Francisco.

Lt Miller has been overseas since July, 1943, serving in North Africa before moving to Italy.

FSC Alumnae Gained Recognition In Various Fields During Past Years

Many of the alumnae of Florida State College have gained much recognition in various fields. In 1945 the Alumnae Association of the college will present with honor the Award of Honor to be conferred upon those graduates of the college who have made such prominence in their post-graduate careers.

According to the provisions, achievement may be attained in the fields of service, the arts, and of professional accomplishment, of civic and social service, and of distinguished service to the college.

Since this was started FSC has conferred only two Honorary Degrees and 15 awards of Honor upon her alumnae.

The two alumnae receiving Honorary Degrees were Edith Bryan Rhodes and Rowena Longmire.

The first annual ceremony for conferring the award of Honor was held by the Alumnae association at FSC on May 23, 1936, in the Augusta Conradi theatre. The Roll of Honor was as follows: Caroline La Prentice McCollum, Diploma 1901, for distinction in civic and public welfare; Shirley Virginia Lour, AB., 1907, AM, 1908, for distinction in literary and professional accomplishment; Rowena Longmire, AM. 1912, (Honorary, PSCS Ph D, 1934, AM, 1927, (Chicago), for distinction in service to FSC; Iris Bradford VanDoren, AB. 1908, AM, 1909, for distinction in literary and editorial work; Clara McDonald Olson, AB 1914, AM, 1933, (University of Florida), for distinction in the profession of education; Katherine Reece Haun, Diploma in Voice, 1921, for distinction in Music; Mary Bailey Sloan, BS, 1918 MD cum laude, 1923, (Woman's Medical College of Philadelphia), for distinction in the profession of medicine.

The second annual ceremony for conferring the Award of Honor was held in the Augusta Conradi Theatre on May 29, 1937. Those alumnae honored were Eugenia Tatum Davis, Diploma, 1881, for distinction in the field of civic and social service; Carol Perrenot Longcope, BM., 1912, for distinction in the field of education.

In 1938 there was chosen but one recipient for the award. Dr Helen Mae Carter, who received her AM from FSC in 1914, and her Ph D from New York University in 1932. Dr Carter was honored for distinction in the field of ville.

Assorted Pieces of Luggage! Overnight Bags Makeup Kits

Holley's Jewelers

Dance To Be Held

Broward Hall will hold a formal dance in Broward lounge, Saturday evening, April 21, from 9:30 to 11:30. The girls are asking their dates and a limited number of tickets have been sent to men in service.

Martha Abbott is chairman of the dance committee. Mary Nell McFadden, Sadie Campbell, Mary Falconer, and Mary Walker are working to make this dance an outstanding event of the Broward social program.

Interest Is Renewed In FSC Field Day

Sports Celebration Based On Inter-Class Rivalry

This year an interest in Field Day has been renewed. This day of games will be shared with extra curricular activities in which the physical education majors and pet experience in this line as participants as well as directors.

Field Day on Florida State College campus was once a spring celebration of interest almost as big as the Odd and Even sports at Thanksgiving, but because of the lack of participants in the last few years it has passed into oblivion.

The games played on Field Day, which will be held April 21 at 3 p m, will be based on inter-class competition and not individual competition. The athletic managers of each class will be responsible for seeing that her class is represented. Each representative must have at least five practice points before being qualified to take part in the games. Practices are held every day at 5 o'clock on the hockey field, but another practice may be obtained any time of the day. Those who practice for points must meet with their athletic manager. Freshman check with Dummer Thompson; sophomores, Betty Donnally; juniors and seniors, Anne Montgomery. Also, before the end of next week, it will be necessary to sign on the green bulletin board for the events to be entered.

There will be male and minor events. Major events will be: 50-yard dash, 75-yard dash, 200-yard relay, standing broad jump, running broad jump, shot put, and basketball throw. The minor events will be: three legged race, obstacle race, and basketball free throw. Each event will have three major and all minor events—or less.

All physical education majors are asked to practice all events and then enter the one of their choice. Anyone, including nonmajors, can enter if they are in "A" health. Seniors who are physical education majors have charge of the meet.

Sims Is Elected President of Club

New officers of the Home Economics club were chosen in final elections Wednesday and will be presented at the dinner party on May 9 in the Student Alumnae building. Grace Sims was elected president of the club, Hunter Dale, vice-president, and Margaret Dannabower, secretary for the coming year.

Miss Edna McIntosh, assistant professor of foods and nutrition, will be faculty adviser. Bobbie Glenn, treasurer, Carolyn Fleveillen, senior class representative, Barbara Irving, junior class representative, and Jo Parker, sophomore class representative. Barbara McKinney was chosen social chairman; Elizabeth Harper, publicity chairman; and Emily Harper, chairman of posters.

A supper hike to Meisler's Plantation is on the calendar of club activities for Thursday with Barbara McKinney in charge of arrangements. Members are asked to meet in front of the new dining hall at 5:30 p m for this event.

There are nearly 800 pulp and paper mills in the United States today.

Hebrew Volumes Are Given to Library

The Jewish Tri-State Sisterhood, including the Sisterhood of Temple Israel of Tallahassee, has given the library 13 volumes of Hebrew history and literature to FSC.

Rabbi Alex Goldman, Mrs A J Gross and Mrs Ben Gilbery of Tallahassee presented the books on April 12. Among the volumes are the History of the Jews by Graetz and a History of Jewish Literature by Dr Meyer Waxman, who has been called the greatest scholar in the field of Jewish literature today. Also among the collection is Hebrew Ethics by Abrams.

These volumes, as well as others received, will be on display as soon as they are catalogued and ready for use. Seven years ago the Tri-State Sisterhood made a gift to the library of some 16 volumes.

Five Officiate

Four physical education majors and one faculty member will go to Gainesville to officiate for the volleyball games of "Big Sports Day" today.

"Big Sports Day," sponsored by the F K Yonge school, will be held on the University of Florida campus for the schools of Gainesville.

FSC Students Voice Their Opinions On World Conference

The death of President Roosevelt has focused the public attention more strongly on the San Francisco Conference on April 25. A question in the minds of most of the people in the country as well as that in the minds of the students is "What will be the results of this conference?"

Students have been asked what they hope will come out of the conference, and most of them said that there were so many things to be discussed that it was hard to be specific, but all of them had a few reforms in mind.

Rose Huntley, senior, remarked: "There is so much that I want to come out of it that is hard to put it in a few words. Mainly, I guess, world peace and things like international trade."

"The biggest thing I'd like to see brought out of any conference is for the American people to find out about other countries and for them to understand them and their ways," stated Sarah Jarchel, junior.

Dannella Martin, junior, said: "I think the real thing I want to see is that there will be many wars. I don't care what methods they use to insure it," while Jane Montgomery, sophomore stated "I'd like for them to decide what they want to do with Poland for one thing. The Big Three should come to a better agreement among themselves."

"Permanent peace plans, which I think will have to be a division of the Dumbarton Oaks Conference," was Margaret Baugh's comment.

Lelia Myrle Crimeger, freshman thinks "Peace, world security, and the best outcome that will be better than that of the last war."

"I sincerely hope that from the San Francisco Peace conference will come the cooperation and organization necessary to assure eternal peace among nations. But I doubt it," remarked Aida Daniel, senior.

Greater cooperation and understanding among the Allied powers" was Dorothy Lanier Sasser's aim. The basis for a stable world economic system is very necessary," Martha Abbott, sophomore thought.

Kirn Tells About Screen Paintings

At the opening of the display of serigraphs in the clubroom of the Student Alumnae building Wednesday at 4 p m, Mrs Kirn, the fine arts department, spoke on the history and making of the silk screen process. In her talk Miss Kirn expressed the hope of inspiring laymen to become interested in the medium of serigraphs.

The exhibit, which is being sponsored by the Spring Arts Program of the AAUW, will be open to the public through tomorrow. On each day of the exhibit different members of the AAUW are serving as hostesses. Mrs Harold Richards was hostess on Thursday; Mrs Guy L Diffenbaugh, today, and Mrs Arthur Sermon, tomorrow. At the opening tea, last Wednesday, Miss Margaret Rogers and Landis hall girls served as hostesses.

Persons interested in buying copies of the serigraphs may order them through Miss Cynthia Rabold Alex Goldman, Mrs A J Gross and Mrs Ben Gilbery of Tallahassee presented the books on April 12. Among the volumes are the History of the Jews by Graetz and a History of Jewish Literature by Dr Meyer Waxman, who has been called the greatest scholar in the field of Jewish literature today. Also among the collection is Hebrew Ethics by Abrams.

These volumes, as well as others received, will be on display as soon as they are catalogued and ready for use. Seven years ago the Tri-State Sisterhood made a gift to the library of some 16 volumes.

MANDEVILLE AND KING FLOWER GARDEN SEED

Seek it First at VAN BRUNT & VON INC

YON'S HARDWARE

ARC Announces Aquatic Terms

Prompt Enrollment Necessary For Attendance at School

Immediate enrollment is essential for students and faculty members of Florida State College who wish to attend one of the three American Red Cross aquatic schools being conducted in the southeastern states this summer, according to American Red Cross headquarters in Atlanta.

Enrollment is expected to be closed soon due to the limited capacity of the schools, the announcement stated.

Conducted in vacation settings, chosen for their natural facilities and equipment, the schools will offer 10-day instructor training courses in water safety, first aid and accident prevention. The first school seeing May 26 at Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, La., the second at Camp Carolina, Brevard N C, on June 4. The third special land summer school will be held at Brevard on August 19 for the convenience of students who cannot attend the earlier ones.

The short-term all-around aquatic training, available only in Red Cross aquatic schools, will be of especial interest to physical education majors and minors, and also prospective waterfront directors and summer camp counselors.

Red Cross specialists in each field will provide the instruction. The courses are designed primarily to train instructors for Red Cross chapters, college and university, youth and adult organizations, and organized summer camps. They combine study, discussions, demonstrations and practice.

Subjects offered in water safety will be swimming, functional (military) swimming, diving, canoeing, boating, life saving, and first aid. In first aid the courses will be junior, standard, advanced and instructor's first aid. The accident prevention study will include home, home and farm, and junior accident prevention courses.

Tuition for the school will be set, which includes food, lodging, registration and all material used. Applications should be made through the local chapter or Southeastern Area, American Red Cross, 330 Surtigt St, N E, Atlanta, Ga.

About 19,000 workers were killed in work accidents in 1944, and 23,500 killed in off-the-job accidents.

Campers Take Time To Relax and Play

With past burdens of study forgotten, with the ordeal of final exams and the end of school looming ever closer, and with the near-summer sun blazing warmer and warmer with each succeeding weekend, campers have flocked in ever-increasing numbers to Florida State College's camp-spot on Lake Bradford.

Some of a school-girl's most vivid memories have come from experience at camp. Things seem to happen at camp that could happen nowhere else. You catch yourself doing things that were heretofore unheard of, even in you. Weird things, like sand, toothpaste, sandspurs, or even frogs may be put between strangely short sheets if you happen to be a weekender, and the things you do to other unfortunate campers' beds are even more weird. You learn to marvel at splashing around the lake in a canoe, just so splashing around the lake in a canoe. And for what? Sore muscles. You lie in the sun all day, carefully and lovingly apply the prescribed liberal coating of mineral oil, say to your self your skin frying like an egg What for? A sizzling sunburn? You purple happily in the dark, rapturous floating limply always in the water. You do. You pout really like to look like a hag.

People have been known to go about wearing dazzling baby turtles from the water's edge (of course, they let them go again), and then to wake up with a fever the effect that certain individuals went swimming in the moonlight, without benefit of bathing suit. One girl actually lost the top half of her bathing suit, although this was quite unintentional and unexpected. Although one of the things college girls dream about on such trips is not having to get up early, a surprising number of them make a practice of paddling sleepily across the lake to observe the sunrise.

No, there's no explaining why people do the things they do at camp. There is undoubtedly something about the atmosphere of the camp that inspires them to such actions. For only those who have visited camp on a perfect day or weekend, or seen the lake and the sky the same shade of blue and divided only by the dark jagged line of cypresses, or felt the warmth of the sun on her back—understand. And can only stand why one always returns to camp after the first visit.

3 Faculty Members To Attend Contest

Kuerstainer, Davis, Winslow Will Judge Musicians

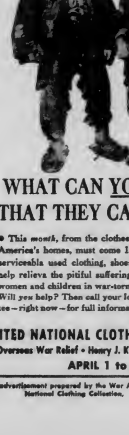
Three members of the School of Music have been asked to judge at the Young Artists' Contest, which will take place in Jacksonville on April 14. They are Mrs Mildred H Davis, voice and piano instructor, Miss Mary E Winslow, assistant professor of piano, and Mr Karl O Kuerstainer, dean of the School of Music.

The Young Artists' Contest is sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. Competitors in this contest will be young artists in the several branches of music, who are from the southeastern seaboard district of the United States. They have taken part in two contests prior to this one, and each will present a complete program rather than the usual single number.

The winners from each department will go next to New York, where they will compete with winners from other parts of the nation. As $1000 prize will be awarded the winner of this final contest of the series.

Mr Kuerstainer announced that he has been offered, and has accepted, chairmanship of the Composers' section of the Florida Federation of Music Clubs. The Florida Federation contains over 100 clubs in all branches of music, and is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs.

FSC Alumna Now In Mediterranean Area



"Seeing the Holy Land was like marching through the Bible. I'll never forget it." These are the words of Miss Janet W Cook; a member of the American Red Cross who graduated from Florida State College in 1938.

The vacation is from a letter addressed to Miss Louise Cobian, alumnae secretary, and dated "Tripoli, March 19."

Miss Cook, who was stationed in Cairo, Egypt, says that after a year and a half, she managed to get a two weeks leave and went to Palestine.

When she returned to Cairo, she was thanksferred to a spot "right on the corners of the Mediterranean." She says that she is looking forward to getting back home in July or August, and closes her letter with the words, "I think of Tally often".

WANTED!

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE THAT THEY CAN WEAR?

• This month, from the clothes closets and attics of America's homes, must come 150 million pounds of serviceable used clothing, shoes, and bedclothes, to help relieve the pitiful suffering of 125 million men, women and children in war-torn European countries. Will you help? Then call your local UNCC Committee—right now—for full information.

UNITED NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION
For Overseas War Relief - Henry J. Kaiser, National Chairman
APRIL 1 to 30

This advertisement prepared by the War Advertising Council for United National Clothing Collection.

Spirit of the Week

● THE SOUTH STEPS FORTH

Commendations are certainly in order to a group of southern college students. Last weekend seventy-five delegates, both white and Negro, from fifty colleges in the South attended a conference at the University of North Carolina to discuss the part southern students can play in promoting world peace. Two of these delegates were appointed to be sent to San Francisco World Organization conference as observers.

This movement on the part of a student group is highly encouraging. Only seldom does a conference take place which has as its purpose the discussion of issues of such wide importance, and even more seldom do meetings of this nature have their origin in the much-criticized South. It is true that there are always small groups of students on college campuses whoare concerned enough to think about and study international prohlems and situations, hut all too true seems to be the general apathetic air that prevails among the carefree college people.

Plans were made at this first session for the organization to become permanent with the hope that other regions of the United States will join the South in their effort. With the return of the war veterans to the halls of learning, the colleges will increasingly come out of their vacuum and become much more world-minded than they have in the past. More and more, through the varied and enormous experiences these boys and girls have had, students will be capahle of taking stands and making decisions. One is safe in venturing that immaturity will be less a prevalent characteristc of the college student.

There at the conference, too, it seems that democracy was actually put into practice. Delegates were students who were concerned with what should happen in a future world, and not with the color of the skin of the person on his right or left. It is hard to believe that it happened here, but one of the delegates appointed to attend the conference at San Francisco was a Negro veteran of this war who is now a student at Meharry Medical College.

We are glad that Florida State was represented at such a conference It is our hope that this is only the beginning of many more similar meetings and action on the part of American students to show that they do have interests that reach beyond the football stadium.

● WE TURN TO TRUMAN

The eyes of the students of this country as well as those of the citizens are forced on our nation's new president, Harry S Truman. He has before him a great task which he must complete in accordance with the unfinished ideals of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Although the people of America have regarded President Roosevelt's death as one of the greatest catastrophes that could have occurred to our nation, President Truman has indicated that he is capahle of carrying on the joh.

During his brief one-week span as the nation's highest leader, he has indicated that the country will not falter under his command.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House of Commons that President Truman was "a successor who came forward with a firm step and sure conviction to carry on the task to its appointed end."

Mr Truman's new joh is one that will receive more criticism than praise. Only the forthcoming months can show how he will cope with the problems of war, peace and national policies.

In his address to the Armed Forces, Mr Truman quoted Lincoln, who he says, had enough eloquence to speak for all America. "With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to hind up the Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphans— to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

● PRACTICAL SURVEY

While political leaders busy themselves with plans to make work to provide employment for returning service men and those now engaged in war work, the City of Daytona Beach recently conducted a survey to determine just what conditions would exist in that community come V-day.

A Chamber of Commerce survey was conducted in which 20 percent of the communities population was actually interviewed. All classes of citizens were contacted.

The results of the survey were interesting. It was revealed that approximately $3,892,500 was earmarked hy citizens for the purchase of new cars. $2,093,500.00 for huilding of new homes and $500,000.00 for painting and repairs.

The survey determined the approximate number of radios, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners and many other household and office appliances that residents planned to purchase as soon as restrictions were lifted and they became available.

From this information it was possible to estimate the number of man hours of labor that would be employed, the amount of material that would be needed and the number of sales that might normally be expected in many lines.

Such a survey provides invaluable information and if conducted hy other communities ought to give a very clear picture of V-Day prospects in Florida.

Short Change

Tra la la, spring has sprung the flowers has ris and we're wondering when vacation is. Lovely spring when everyone wants to duck out of classes and just sleep and sleep. Let's not let this annual spring feeling get us down. Instead of taking a tonic we should follow our example: read our column.

A few profound statements—
When you feel the urge to exercise just lie down 'till it passes over
Morning comes so early in the day.
Education goes on throughout one's ENTIRE life—
Death is an experience—??
Men usually marry women—

—Vermont Cynic.

Some advice to boys you should know—
If she looks young, she's old.
If she looks old, she's young.
If she looks back follow her.

—Beachcomber.

All students at Agnes Scott are urged to wear blue jeans as much as possible this quarter. They typify their college as droopy hair does Vassar, as sloppy sweaters do Wellesly.

They maintain that blue jeans show their cooperation with war efforts. They last longer, they show less dirt, and look better on everybody. "It's not the clothes you have, it's the way you wear them that matters," said one wise sage.

Something you never see at FSC
The night was dark
As night would be!
The park was full
As parks would be!
The bench was vacant
As benches ain't
But there was a reason—
The sign—"Fresh paint."

—Beachcomber.

A little advice to girls;
1. Keep away from track men; they are usually fast.
2. The football man is OK: he will tackle anything.
3. The tennis man is harmless but he enjoys a racket.
4. Watch out for the baseball man he hits and runs.
5. Let members of the band talk about themselves. They enjoy blowing their horns.

—Beachcomber.

If she has too many dates, she's frivolous.
If she goes steady, she has no stag line.
If she obeys all the rules, she a drip.
If she doesn't, she's wild.
If she doesn't study, she gets kicked out.
If she does, she's a bookworm.
If she talks a lot, she has a line—
If she doesn't, she's a social flop.
In other words, what's the use?

—Beachcomber.

First to go to the auctioneer's gavel at the auction which highlighted the University of Maryland's war bond drive was the right to act as president of the university for the hour while the president himself, Dr H C Byrd, attended the highest-hidding student's class. The head of the speech department was "sold" to a day's work in one of the sorority houses. An English professor had to write a theme for an English student.

Then there's one about the country lane. —Boy, it's rough.

—The Kentucky Kernel.

Talk about absent minded professors, here's one case when a student went on record for the faux pas of the semester. It all happened when a chemistry student at Western Michigan college decided to filter a solution that was composed almost entirely of sulphuric acid (concentrated). For a whiel he just couldn't figure out why the filter paper disappeared.

He: "Hello, I've been calling for hours."

She: Oh, I've been at church all mornings."

He: "Oops. Wrong number."

Cop: "No parking. You can't loaf here."

Voice from rear: "Who's loafing?"

No matter how hard you study these days, the profs will get you if you don't watch out. A bewildered student went up to Prof John Dehaan of Michigan State college the other day to find out what on earih he had given her for a philosophy test. It seems that an abnormal psych test had crept in, and there she was confronted with question on manic depressives.

The Students Speak . . .

Because the Flambeau has recently been placed in the hands of a new staff and because we want to cooperate with readers, this week's column is open for suggestions to the question, "What type subjects do you want to have discussed in this column?"

"I think subjects that are of interest and importance to the college girls should be discussed. We don't have much opportunity to express in writing our views on such subjects as student government, co-education, and the like. Since this column consists of students' opinions, the subjects that affect them should be used."

ALENE GOODMAN,
Freshman.

"I would like discussed in one issue something of importance such as the student body, by this I mean the college government. As a freshman I would like to know more about the offices of the college government and the work that they do for the college."

NILDA FERNANDEZ,
Freshman.

"I think different students should be able to give their unbiased opinion on the various controversial subjects of this campus. In a college of this size there are many individual as well as group opinions and each student would be better off if she could see and understand the other students' viewpoints, regardless of whether she approves of it or not."

JANE GARRATT WALDO,
Junior.

"I should like to read the different views presented by the students as to co-education and the new quarter system going into effect this fall; also any ideas for improvement concerned with the student government as it now stands."

KITTY LOU BURTON,
Junior.

"I would like to see the problems of the student body discussed; especially concerning vital factors such as co-education and the quarter system."

VIRGINIA BLACK,
Sophomore.

Flag Will Be Given In Front of Landis

Convocation next Tuesday will be held at 2 p m in front of Landis. Miss Florence Tryon, president of the Alumnae Association and instructor in history, and Isabel Rogers, representing the students, will present the flag to Dr Doak S Campbell.

On the main platform will be the alumnae officers, the executive councils of the college and of the College Government Association, and the flag committee.

A stand and bleechers will be placed in front of Landis for the occasion. The color guard will officiate and take care of the flag, and the band will provide music. Sophomore council girls will usher.

The literary work of the first Oliver Wendell Holmes was only a hobby. His life work was that of medicine.

Magazine Jottings . . .

By MARGARET SHEDD

In this article Margaret Shedd, who has spent many years in Mexico and other Latin American countries, gives an analysis on one of the many political elements which are striving to control Mexico. There is a need to understand Mexico's political turmoils for whatever elements gain control of the postwar Mexican government may well control the rest of Latin America.

"The eight year old Sinarquismo element is not a party," says Miss Shedd, "but an armed political movement based on the leadership, or jefe, principle." Its acknowledged purpose is to demolish the present government and its ultimate goal according to a pamphlet written by Juan Ignacio Padilla is a corporate clerical state

Background

Although the Sinarquismo movement was organized under the aegis of a German professor at the University of Guanajuato, the roots are as old as Mexico itself. The followers and leaders alike, take it for granted that the poor shall always remain in poverty and the rich in wealth. Funds for the organization were first secured from local Nazis. The real directors are still unknown but the visible leaders are young and come from the leisure class The ancient heroes are Diaz, Santa Ana, Iterbide and Cortes.

The Sinarquismo army today consists of one half to one million men, well-trained and disciplined. Meetings are held, says Miss Shedd, but no discussions or voting is allowed. The elements of surprise and self-sacrifice are of prime importance.

The two principal reasons which Miss Shedd gives for the success of the Sinarquistas are the organization learned from the Nazis and the appeal which the leaders have been able to make to the peasants. Their strongest foothold is where the government project for the distribution of land has not yet been reached. The leaders have not only played up the peasants' sense of martyrdom and self-importance but also have succeeded in turning them against each other.

The Sinarquistas have opposed completely Mexico's participation in the war and on the whole they have maintained a consistent line of attack against the United States. In April, 1944, they began praising the Yankees and hating the Russians, hut in October of the same year Miss Shedd says that the tide again turned against the U S and violently against Protestantism.

The accuracies and fallacies of the news letter agencies are discussed by Dixon Wecter in an article which appeared in the March issue of the Alaefic Monthly.

Darins to make a prediction about forecasters Mr Wecter says that prophets of national and international politics will durins and after this war almost completely repisce those of investment counseling and stock market predictions. The services of news letters were first offered by men like John Moody, James H Brookmire, and Roger Babson who were trained in journalism and statistics. They attempted to anticipate future good and lean times by charting curves, compiling manuals and drawing conclusions.

At the end of the first World War, says Mr Wecter, the news agencies sought to please their public by putting forth "'forecasters' with the crisp air of communiques and 'barometer charts' that were less meteorological than clinical in their feverish tone" It was the depression of 1929 which discredited many of the prophets who had slanted their own conclusions in order to give out confidence and optimism.

Then came the art of ascertaining future developments by giving the news behind the news—a system which held over from the period of wartime censorship. In 1918 two lawyer-journalists, Percival Whaley and Henry Eaton, formed a service which used as its subjects present and impending national events. In making predictions about the present war this service has a "checkered" record. "Unluckily enough," says the author, "Whaley-Eaton's bulletin on the historic date of December 7, 1941, veered toward minimizing the momentary situation in the Far East . . "

Following the success of the Whaley-Eaton service Willard Monroe Kiplinger, Ohio journalist and financial writer started in 1920 his "Washington Letter's" which, despite its many mitsakes has thrived and is today, according to Mr Wecher giving "valuable service, advising those who want or have war contracts, disseminating information about Federal controls and regulations that local newspapers miss, and explaining tax laws in a popular style."

In This Our Time. . . .

By GLORIA REED

Franklin Delano Roosevelt has died. Franklin Delano Roosevelt has died in body hut not in spirit. For the ideals of the man to whom the world had come to look upon as a democratic bulwark against fascism are realized today to be the guide to permanent peace among nations. It is well then, in passing, that as the United Nations go ever closer toward victory, to remember the President's last message to the people:

"The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith."

Advances in Germany

On the European front, Germany virtually has been bisected. The Allied strategy has been: drive ahead at several points, join forces at an advanced point, thus encircle and trap enemy troops which would otherwise present strong face-to-face opposition and whittle down these encircled troops while driving ahead into enemy territory. That the Allied command has used this plan to a great degree of success in the west is shown hy the capture and push ahead of both the Saar and the Ruhr. It is this drive ahead around the "pockets" which resulted in the hisection of German troops in the northern area of the Reich from uniting with those in the southern area to make a final stand in the southern mountain region.

While Allied armies are driving east toward more junctions with the Russians, American units are mopping up Nazi "pockets" in the large cities. British tanks have broken into the cities of Leipzig and Magdebury on a 22-mile sweep that carried within 25 miles of the great port of Hamburg. Dusseldorf, last major city in the Ruhr still held by the Germans, also was entered by American soldiers who now have whittled down the Ruhr pocket to 125 square miles from its origional 3,000 square miles.

The American Third Army, headed by General George S Patton, has stabbed to a point within four miles within the Czechoslovak border, with its lead column of tanks under a news blackout. It is, however, 25 miles from junction with Russian positions on the eastern front.

The Red Army, according to a German radio news broadcast, was driving hard within 18 to 20 miles of Berlin in two sectors while another Soviet force speared in he "Nazis' southern escape corridor" through Saxony.

Moscow has maintained silence on the operations along the 150-mile front from the Bohemian border to the Odor estuary, except proclaiming in a late communique that all of the remainiig area of the Samland peninsula, in east Prussia, except the escape port of Pillau has been captured

Radio Berlin said the Odor offensive was clutching at Berlin from the northeast, east and southeast. One column that crossed the river west of Zehden was reported sending tanks to the main Berlin-Stettin road, 18 miles from the German capital.

Pacific Operations

United States Thirty-third Division infantrymen have entered the outskirts of Baguio, Philippine summer capital in the mountainous northern Luzon, to rescue 7,000 civilians after fierce enemy resistance.

In the fighting in the Ryukyus 325 miles south of the Japanese mainland, Americans of the Twenty-fourth Army corps control approximately two-thirds of Ie island off the west coast of Okinawa. The Japanese garrison of 1,000 men is encircled on the top of a mountain at the southeastern tip of the ten-mile square island.

Tuesday, the Third Amer[illegible] Superfortress task force fl[illegible] B-29's hit six major air fields [illegible] Kyushu. American headquar[illegible] said the raid was make b[illegible] "large" number of planes. K[illegible]shu is the southernmost of N[illegible]pon's home islands and is [illegible] base for the air attacks on Am[illegible]ican invasion forces on Okina[illegible]

Executive Activities

In Washington President T[illegible]man made known that he wo[illegible] be glad to see other leaders [illegible] the "Big Five" powers very so[illegible] In his first news conference [illegible] told reporters that he would [illegible] very happy to meet Prime Min[illegible]ter Churchill, Premier Stalin a[illegible] President Chaing Kai-shek [illegible] though he has not initiated [illegible] meeting. He said that he wo[illegible] also be glad to see Gene[illegible] Charles de Gaulle, if he ca[illegible] to arrange such a conference Wednesday, President Trum[illegible] signed the one-year extension [illegible] lend-lease, which he termed [illegible] "mighty instrument for victo[illegible] At this time he also nomina[illegible] Lt Generals George S Patton, [illegible] and Courtney H Hodges to be f[illegible] generals and backed up the B[illegible]ton Woods pact for an inter[illegible]tional bank and stabilization fu[illegible] and the Roosevelt trade pa[illegible] program.

COLLEGIATE COMEBACKS . . . . .

We bravely battle through the mess in the post office every morning and afternoon, and it is so discouraging. We don't mind having our toes stepped on and we've even gotten used to having our eyes poked by various and sundry elbows. We don't even notice being bumped unexpectedly from the rear as we peer into our mail box on the bottom row Our box isn't empty by any means. That would be too simple. The only trouble is that the mail in it is always for our roommates except for occasional notices to appear at the Registrar's office. We could make some sort of pun about not minding the male shortage if there was more mail, but this column is too intellectual to stoop to that. We'll just stop.

One girl we know is biting her lip to a bloody pulp and trying to smile courageously, (at the same time, too) over her almost unimaginable trials. She got a letter from a sweet little Navy man who said he was sending her a picture. She haunted the post office every day looking for it and one bright sunny day it arrived. She burried back to her room so she could gaze in peace on his cute smile and beautiful eyes. When she opened it she saw it was a gorgeous picture—of the man's ship. She's trying to comfort herself by saying that it is really flattering because his ship does mean more to him than anything else—and at least it wasn't a picture of a pin-up girl. Let's have a minute of silence while we will all be thankful for small favors.

One of our more clever friends won't be around for a few days. She didn't have her assignment ready for a class one day so she trotted off gaily to the infirmary for a few hours rest because of her cold. They sent her back to her room for her things, and told her to prepare to stay there for a few days. She has sinus trouble. This is just another example of true Southern hospitality.

At times life seems dreadfully complicated, but we think we have found a complete four word summary of our war-time activities. Just ask any soldier, sailor, marine, war-worker, or college girl —life, pure and simple is "Hurry up and wait." Hurry up and get to class and wait for the profes[illegible] Hurry up and get there before [illegible] dining hall closes and wait to [illegible] Hurry up and get that book [illegible] wait for the library to open. Hu[illegible] up and get to the show and w[illegible] in line. Hurry up and get to [illegible] infirmary during clinic hours [illegible] wait your turn. Hurry up [illegible] get to the P O and wait for t[illegible] letter that never comes Hu[illegible] up and learn and wait for summ[illegible] vacation. Ah Life! Hurry [illegible] Hurry up! And wait!

If you smell something burn[illegible] don't be alarmed. It's only [illegible] flesh of sun bathers who are [illegible]piring toward a glorious tan [illegible] will look so well in that new wh[illegible] dress. Better watch it, child[illegible] of the sun. You might get [illegible] much. We know. We did. Y[illegible] should see us now. Ugh! W[illegible] a mess. Who said, "What fo[illegible] we mortals be?"

Press Club

A meeting of the Press Club will be held Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Flambeau office, to elect a new president, it was announced by Betty Dowd, secretary.

The former president, Doris Pepper, has withdrawn from school.

Tickets Available

A special opportunity will be given this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock in the Student Alumnae huilding to ohtain artist series tickets for the Ruth Page performance on Monday evening. Thos who are on the A (red) series may procure their tickets at this time.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor — JUDY PEP[illegible]
Associate Editor — JANET ROG[illegible]
Assistant Editors — PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHES, BETTY WEA[illegible]
Managing Editor — SHIRLEY RODG[illegible]
News Editors — MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOM[illegible]

Copy Editor — Lola Rose
Copy Staff — Ruth Keller, Mary N McFadden, Jeanne Tillman, Virginia Allstock
Feature Editor — Dolores Papy
Feature Writers — Eileen Davis, Anne Hutton
Columnists — Leticia Sullivan, Betty Hargrove
Office Manager — Louise Sims
Student Interviewers — Marta Walers, Burma Cox

Asst. Managing Editor — Bobbie [illegible]
Society Editor — Beryl Ki[illegible]
Asst. Society Editor — Darley Le[illegible]
Sports Editor — Betty D[illegible]
Outside News Editor — Gloria R[illegible]
Exchange Editors — Miriam A[illegible], Nicky Sa[illegible]
Literary Editor — Catherine No[illegible]
Opinion Editors — Alice Cr[illegible], Barbara Wick[illegible]
Picture Editor — Delores Ga[illegible]
Art Editor — Lucy F[illegible]
Asst. Art Editor — Georgia [illegible]

REPORTERS: Eugenia Ahlers, Mary Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Joy[illegible] Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Alice Brady, L[illegible] Lee Butler, Ethel June Chyna, Marjoria Clark, Tiny Clavel, Virginia Cro[illegible] Jean Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Montina Ingram, Winnie Le[illegible] Beulah McPherson, Josephine Mingola, Mary Lou Norwood, Eileen Perry, J[illegible] Betty, Madge Pilcher, Louise Rabb, Martha Robersen, Laurel Rosenbaum, Eve[illegible] Shea, Marydel Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Tami Thomas, Joyce Williams.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager — Helen Tara[illegible]
Advertising Manager — Eileen O[illegible]
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ada Rawls, Lila Barring[illegible] Lillian Brown, Betsy Bird.
Circulation Manager — Martha A[illegible]
Collection Manager — Eleanor B[illegible]

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1915, at the post o[illegible] at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat

This week Wakulla Springs is a most popular spot for sorority parties and outings. The entire chapter of A D Pi went to Wakulla Springs next Thursday morning to spend the day. Mrs Barret, their house mother will chaperone the group. Wakulla Springs was Founder's day for Alpha Xi Delta members. In honor of the occasion they had breakfast together at the Leon hotel.

Miss Elnel Nord, mother of one of the members, who is from Miami has been visiting the city for several days. She, Mrs. Hall, of the Alpha house mother, and the members went out to the Sr. Sunday Afternoon.

Tri Delts Meet

The Tri Delta Corporation meeting was held last Saturday afternoon at the house. Afterwards a Pledge Degree of Initiation was given to qualified alumnae from all over the state.

Mrs Frank Bisbee, district president from Jacksonville, was here last Thursday to take part in the Corporation.

In honor of Mrs Olive Cross, new faculty advisor of Tri Delta, a faculty tea was held on Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the house.

Tomorrow Mrs Morgan, the Kappa Delta house mother Sunday nights for members, pledges and their friends. It was a buffet supper, and the serving tables were in the yard. Jeanette Chapman and Clara Nolan were in charge of arrangements.

Tomorrow all members of Pi Beta Phi are going to Wakulla Springs by truck for a picnic.

Wednesday night was Pi Phi night. Miss Phyllis Bowman, assistant professor of speech at Florida State College, will present a program.

Sigma Ku's Entertain

Sigma Kappa will entertain informally with dancing, games, and refreshments at the chapter house this Saturday for pledges, actives, friends, and dates. Ernestine Hall, social chairman, will be in charge of arrangements.

Alpha Gamma Delta's will observe their International Rounder Day tomorrow afternoon with a short program at the chapter house which will be followed with refreshments. June McCurdy is in charge of arranging the afternoon program and Helen Miller, new social chairman, is taking care of the refreshments.

Popper Attends Meeting in Atlanta

mittee Investigates Social Studies Methods

Annie Popper, associate professor of history at Florida State College for women and secretary committee on the study ng teaching of social science ools, left Tuesday to attend committee of 28 members ssembling all fields of social ence in Atlanta, Ga on April 13.

he cooperative study of the sciences in southern colleges universities has been launched ter the sponsorship of the mittee on work conferences ther education in the southsociation. Dr Gordon W ewell, who appointed the mittee of which Dr Popper member PSC, is chairman and ector of the Institute for Reh in Social Sciences, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

ng the meeting the members ded on a tentative program for mmering and a full list of mbering, where necessary. Methods of teaching or the social sciences. They to have one part of this completed by the end of

The purpose of any changes ade in the study of post-war m is because just as physical ence is helping to win the war, ial science will help to win the Dr Popper said.

Band Holds Annual Election Wednesday

The Florida State College band held its annual election of officers last Wednesday.

The newly elected officers, who will fill their positions immediately, are: president, Ann Richardson; vice president, Peggy Ellen Hamilton; secretary, Frances Duckworth; treasurer, Rachel Crotwell; chief librarian and assistant librarians, Elizabeth Harper and Emily Harper; publicity manager, Beryl Taylor; property manager, Geraldine Parnsworth; social assistant property managers, Evelyn Breedlove, Thelma Yongue director, Betty Redd.

Ann Richardson, president, expressed the hope that the group will be a large attendance at the band concert May 4. This concert will be held outdoors on the lawn behind Westcott building.

Officers Announced

New officers for next year's Life Saving Corps have been announced by Jane Berry, president of the corps.

Gladys Lester is the new president; Joyce Cayce, secretary-treasurer; Margery Holm, instructor and Anna Horne, captain.

The elections were held last Friday and Saturday by the issuance of individual ballots to each member of the corps.

Articles Wanted

Anyone knowing who bought a brown leather cigarette case at the last auction of lost articles is asked to contact Joan Delaney, box 480, room 124 New Hall. Auction price and reward will be paid the purchaser, because a sentimental value is attached to the case.

Club to Sponsor War Activity Film

Stella Gillette, president of Phi, announced that this organization will sponsor the War Activities films on Saturday April 21 at 2 o'clock in the Augusta and Little Theatre. Three films will be shown on Sicily, the French-activities and reports from the Army Air Force. A film on the Air Force will be a report from Britain. Also the Royal Air Force and the British Air Force on a bedge- bombing flight over Italy and Germany.

All of the F club will give members a sing of original songs tonight at 10 o'clock in Jennie Murphree hill.

Club members held a meeting last night in the "Spic and Span" dinner.

Classics Club Plans Weekend at Camp

The Classics club will leave for camp Flastacowo at two o'clock Saturday afternoon to begin a week-end which will include games and sports, a Saturday night banquet, and a Sunday devotional.

Committees which have made preparations for one outing are as follows: June Anderson, publicity; Dorothy Lake, chairman; Rose McLain, Kay Moore, Nell Carr, Barbara Wickham, and Lillian Pagen. Joy Little is chairman of the entertainment committee which includes Helen Ross, Betty Zurelle, Eugenia Aniers, and Betty Jo Bachle.

The arrangements committee is composed of Betty Hunter, Jean Longdon, and Sylvia Berkmon. On the food committee are Betty Jo Stokes, Mary Ellen Scarborough, Zilda Hastings, Janet Pountain, and Tommy Dell Hutchinson. Speer and Ruth Mary Bliss are in charge of the financial arrangements.

Serving on the banquet committee are Anne McInnes, Shirley Glover, Lucile Matthews, Jo Mildrim, Margaret Cook, Mary Ruth Hall, and Ida Mae Donaldson. Betty Lou Thomas and Neva Delgado will conduct the devotional on Sunday morning.

Joy Little, vice-president of the Classics club, is in charge of the outing. She has requested that all members desiring to go on the week-end be present at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in back of Bryan hall. The group will return Sunday afternoon.

Chaperones for the outing will include Dr. Odivia P. Inman, dean of students; Miss Edith W. West, associate professor of classics, and Miss Lorsete Thompson, instructor in classics.

Spirogira Admits Five New Members

In their traditional march through the dining halls, bearing the old-and-accepted symbolic implement and arrayed in black and white, Spirogira initiated five new members at noon on Tuesday, April 17.

The new "goats" are: Dr M W Carothers, college registrar; Barbara Cutting, Peggy Lu Thomson, Robin Hill, and Rosetta Carver.

At six o'clock on Tuesday, April 17, the "goats" met at the fountain in front of Westcott for their traditional ride of whooping-out cars. The new members were told to bring brooms, and "goat" Carothers turned up with a typewriter brush. The neophytes presented a skit in which the old members were imitated.

The members and taps then adjourned to the college dining hall where a banquet for the Odd members was held. The old members marched in under an arch formed by the brooms of the "goats." Favors or crossed bones with individual names on them were placed on the tables, in addition to small black dresses from the "Skull and Crossbones Dress Shop."

After a meeting of the old and new members Spirogira met at the Spic and Span for food and singing of the honorary's songs.

Bridge Party Fetes Dickens, ZTA Advisor

Zeta Tau Alpha held a bridge party last Saturday afternoon at the sorority house honoring Mrs Lasslie Dickens, faculty advisor for the past year.

The sorority will hold a tea tomorrow afternoon in honor of Mrs Lucille Roberts, the national president. Mrs Roberts is also an alumnae of the Beta Gamma chapter. Guests at this affair will include the new patrons and patronesses.

Ruth Revia is in charge of the arrangements and assisting her will be Doris Musselman, Jacquie Belcher, Marydel Smith and Catherine Royall.

Apologies

Kappa Delta received honorable mention for their slow song in the Pan-Hellenic Sing rather than Alpha Gamma Delta, as indicated in last week's Flambeau.

Annual Breakfast Changed to Supper

Because of the war the annual Sophomore-Senior breakfast will be a supper this year, announced Harriet Kirk, chairman of the affair. It will be held on April 27 in the old dining hall.

This year for the first time sophomores will be allowed to come without senior sisters since there are more sophomores than seniors. The theme is a secret but the chairman said that it would be unusual.

The committees for the supper besides the chairman are as follows: Nell Clark and Ann Colvin, skit; Frances Traxler, decorations; Nancy Wise, tickets; Martha Abbott, food, and Barbara Wickham, publicity.

Tickets for the supper will be on sale soon in lower Westcott and the chairman urged all of the sophomores and seniors to get their tickets early.

42 of Poet's Books Sold on Campus

During the week that Mr Robert P Tristram Coffin, the Maine poet, was on campus the book store sold its entire stock of his books which amounted to about 42.

Ballads of Square Toed Americans and There Will Be Wood and Love proved to be the books most favored by the girls. However, during the war year Maine Ballads has ranked with There Will Be Bread and Love as the most popular books.

In addition to the above mentioned books the book store sold copies of Books of Uncles, Captain Abbey and Captain John, Lost Paradise, Meanderings of Melone, Primer of America, Salt Water Ballads, Red Sky in the Morning, Salt Water Farm, Strange Holidays, Substance That Is Poetry and Thomas-Thomas-Ancil Thomas.

Beard To Play

Ramona Crutkshank Beard gave an organ recital at the University of Florida Sunday.

Her program included two Bach numbers, "Prelude and Fugue in G" and "Sheep May Safely Graze."

The remainder of the program was composed of the Con moto maestoso and andante movements from Mendelssohn's "Sonata in A minor," "Lamentation" by Guilmant, "Prelude-Toccata" by Perene, Renzi's "Jubilans stella in portun," the "L'Arlesienne" by G B Nevin, and Yon's "Hymn of Glory."

Council Ushers

The newly selected members of Sophomore Council performed their first official duty, Saturday morning at 10 a m. when they ushered at the memorial service held for the late President Roosevelt.

At the present time, Jean Cole is acting as chairman of the group until their election in June for the coming year.

Their immediate duties lie in ushering at flag dedication next Tuesday and Thursday with the sophomore-senior supper.

Soldier Dance Held

Last Friday night the last soldier dance of the year was held in the Student Alumnae building, with the music furnished by the college swing band. Quite a large crowd attended the dance which was strictly informal and only for upperclassmen.

Dance Concert Tonight in Westcott

Program Features Original Dance Compositions

A spring concert of contemporary dances will be given in Westcott auditorium tonight at 8:15 p m. Directed by Miss Margaret Clements, instructor in physical education, the program will feature original dance compositions presented by the advanced and beginning modern dance groups.

"Greetings" to the music of "Holiday for Strings" given by the advanced group will open the performance. The stylized action of a machine will then be depicted by the beginning group in a dance entitled "Machine Age" composed by Miss Calipga Papatzos, instructor in physical education. A "Doll Dance" will follow, portraying two dolls in a toy shop who come to life and enjoy a flirtation during the absence of the toy keeper. An interpretation of Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" Number Five" will conclude the first portion of the program.

"The Dawn of Day", "Those Low Down Blues" and "Bolero" will then be presented, followed by "Street Scene", interpreting a series of popular songs. The advanced dance group will conclude the program with "Rhapsody in Blue" to the music of Gershwin's composition. This dance, composed by Miss Clements, will portray a kaleidoscope of American dance.

Members of the advanced dance group who will participate in the program are Gladys Barth, Muriel Copinus, Hasellia Farrior, Carolyn Forehand, Jo Guthrie, Sarah Lewis, Nancy MacSwain, Mary Louise Perry, Margie Plats, Alice Taft, Marion Welch and Ann Widerquist.

Book Club Elects

The Book Club, sponsored by the Residence Halls staff, elected officers for the coming year at the recent meeting, April 6, in the club room of the Rovena Longmire Almnae building. The officers who will take over their duties next fall will be: Mrs Winifred Dodge, chairman; Miss Edith McCollum, program chairman, and Miss Lelia Allen, social chairman.

College Hothouse Grows Plants, Flowers for Year-Round Needs

The greenhouse, located about one thousand yards west of Landis, is one of those campus institutions whose effects are seen daily about campus, but nobody seems to know anything about it.

"Gardening," said Mr Herman, gardener at the greenhouse, "is just like any other agricultural work, but you must be a little more particular with the details of soil, location, method and time of planting."

At present there is nothing much growing in the greenhouse itself, for the weather is now warm enough for the plants to be grown outside. The only plants that are grown in the greenhouse are those that actually cannot stand the harsh winter weather, and enough out-of-season plants to insure an adequate supply of flowers through the winter. Cleraodulas, larkspur and snapdragons are started in August in the greenhouse so that they will bloom in December.

The greenhouse is only a protection against frost said Mr Herman, and flowers have several times been frozen during severe cold spells. He plans soon to clear the greenhouse and work and fertilize the soil to prepare it for next winter.

Parkside Residents Hold Wiener-Roast

Residents of Parkside dormitory were entertained at a wiener-roast in the backyard last Saturday night by Mrs J B Barksdale, house mother. Benches, barrels and boards supplied sitting places around the fire, and place cards and flowers were used in the decorations. The guests played games after roasting marshmallows and wieners over the open fire.

Committees in charge of wiener-roast were: Gloria Hughs and Edna Earle Baker, food chairmen; Elsie Roddenberry, in charge of decorations: Milda Fernandes, fire; Peggy Pearson, Gladys Collins, and Jo Mingola, placecards, and Helen MacDonald directed the games.

● Over the ravaged ground of war-torn Europe, trudge 125 million men, women, and children who have given all but life itself toward the same permanent peace we all are striving for.

Their need for clothing is as great as that for food—in some areas deaths from exposure equal those from starvation.

These people need something you don't. They need your spare clothing.

150 million pounds must be collected this month. Will you give your share?

What YOU Can Do!

1. Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. They include: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, skirts, jackets, pants, skirts, work clothes, underwear, sweaters, leaning garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.

2. Take your contribution to your local COLLECTION DEPOT now or arrange to have your LOCAL COMMITTEE collect it before April 30th.

3. Support your Local Committee in any way with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort, and energy.

UNITED NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION
for Overseas War Relief • HENRY J. KAISER, National Chairman

APRIL 1 TO 30

This advertisement prepared by the War Advertising Council for United National Clothing Collection.

Outing Committee To Elect Officers

There will be a meeting of the outing committee next Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Student Alumnae clubroom to elect officers for the coming year.

Amantne Thompson, recently elected sports manager of next year's sophomore class, automatically replaces Maxine Warner as chairman of the outing committee.

Plans will be discussed at this meeting for another outing at Wakulla Springs within the next two weeks. A poster will appear on the bulletin board in Westcott giving the details and exact time of this outing at a later date.

Also under discussion will be plans for next year, including the WAA Handbook, which will have the names of the outing committee officers printed in it. According to Amarine, there will be at least one outing every month next year.

Murray Speaks

An informal discussion over which Miss Ellen Murray presided was the main event at the Brovard tea Wednesday afternoon. Miss Murray, instructor in history here at Florida State College, related very informally the customs and many traditions of St Andrews University in Scotland, where she attended school. The talk was based on the social customs of the students there and Miss Murray compared them to the social life here on the PSC campus.

55 Trays Added

The card catalog has been extended by 55 more trays. Between 200 and 300 new guide cards have been added, and the trays have been relettered outside.

The new section put to student use had formerly been used by the librarians for the shelf catalog. There is still another section which may be converted into card catalog space when it becomes necessary.

Over 240,000 cards had to be moved in the rearranging of the cards in the new and old trays.

Use Our Monogramming Service to Personalize Your Stationery and Matches!

●

We Have a Full Selection of Mother's Day Cards

●

The BOOK CORNER
121 S. Monroe

You Will Find All Kinds of Tasty Sandwiches at Our Fountainette
MARTIN AND DALTON
210 S. Adams St.

Enthusiastic Students Throng Capitol for Co-Ed Controversy

No doubt everyone has noticed the sudden appearance of students dressed in their "Sunday best" attending classes and lurking across the campus. In fact this burst of enthusiasm has been noticeable since the beginning of the 1945 session of the State Legislature. Students have shown decided interest in their state government with many being present at committee meetings and the regular convening of both houses and looking as if they had "just stepped out of band box," commented a member of the House.

At a joint committee meeting of co-education held in the Senate chamber the afternoon of April 11 students filled every nook and cranny and even "standing room only!" was unavailable Senators and representatives searched the faces of its unusual audience which were expressive and responsive to the various speeches and comments. Groans exultations of glee, and explosive applause resounded throughout the chamber.

After the meeting had adjourned the girls clicked in on the representatives and senators to gain more information meet their home town students, and make known their personal views on the subject. Such remarks were head as "I'm just dying to meet my Senator" and "Do you really think he'll reconsider" as well as the students combed the Capitol buildings.

After the students had deserted and quietness once more reined, notice might have been made of the depletion in the supply of cigarettes and candy bars, but where disappearance was probably only accredited to the presence of "gremlins." These gremlins have been taken for pages, lobbyists, and "goats" (appearing in classes with heels, hats and other accessories!)

Recitals Scheduled

The Speech Department will open a series of Spring Recitals Thursday, April 19, at 8:00 p m in the Augusta Conradi theater. The public is cordially invited to attend these recitals.

Joint Junior recitals will begin with Barbara Holt and Maurine Petty on Thursday, April 19, followed by Bonnie Hunt and Sara Norman on Thursday, April 26.

Senior recitals are scheduled for Friday, April 27 with Sara Jane Taylor followed by Betty Lewis on Monday, April 30, and Betty Lou Chrisman on Thursday, Nov 3.

Club Will Elect

Nominations for offices of the Classical club were made Wednesday night at the head table in Gilchrist dining hall by the present officers: Peggy Lou Thomas, president; Joy Little, vice-president; Dorothy Lake, secretary, and Betty Speer, treasurer.

Nominations will remain open and the election will be held the early part of next week, according to Joy Little.

The nominations for next year's officers are Anne Mac Innes, for president; Betty Hunter, for vice president; Ruby Pate, for secretary and Lurlie Matthews, for treasurer. Nominations for bulletin board chairman was Kay Moore and for publicity chairman, Mary Ellen Scarborough.

Texas A & M Plans Postwar Education

Twin Goals Include Shorter Training in Schools

College Station, Tex.—(IP)—Twin postwar goals of Texas A and M College are to provide short, practical education for tens of thousands of Texans, including war veterans, who otherwise would not have such schooling, and to conduct intensive research for the benefit of Texas agriculture and industry, according to President Gibb Gilchrist.

A postwar program of technical education A and M-sponsored schools scattered over Texas, similar to those through which the college has trained more than 21,000 war workers, was outlined by Gilchrist. It is contemplated that these new centers will cover 65 mechanical fields and as many or more in agriculture, he said.

"In these local schools," he said, "we propose to give young men a one-year terminal course divided between general educational subjects and vocational training. The work will not be preparatory to any hither study." The president pointed out that of the freshman students at the college, 67 per cent fail to finish school.

"For instance, we want to teach boys how to be better salesmen, better mechanics and men—to fill the gap between the common laborer and the highly trained professional man," Gilchrist said.

Texas A and M Research foundation, recently chartered, already has received $100,000 for industrial research. Research activity at the college includes acquisition of 1,000 acres of land on the Brazos river for demonstration and experiments in agriculture, and the establishment of a department of industrial research. Texas has 133,000,000 acres of range lands and this is the first time any institution in the state has attempted to train ranchers, President Gilchrist commented.

A constitutional amendment will be offered the state legislature by the college board of directors, calling for issuance of $6,000,000 in bonds for a postwar A and M building program. In addition, the school now has $400,000 annual oil income for repair and renovation of existing buildings, the president continued.

The present A&I military science branch has been elevated from the rank of a department to that of a school, he said, looking toward training regular army officers if such a program is approved by congress. "We feel that some form of military service will be enacted, and we're going to be ready for it."

The college engineering and agriculture schools now are headed by vice presidents, and there is for the first time a full-time director of student affairs under whom the former responsibilities of 12 to 15 individual officials are consolidated.

Another new adjunct is the college aeronautical foundation, centered around a wind tunnel and laboratory now under construction, and the college's million-dollar airport, airyest in the United States under college ownership, Gilchrist said.

ALD Selects New Officers

Honors Freshmen With High Scholarship

Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary society for freshman women and branch of Phi Beta Kappa, elected officers for the coming year yesterday at its first meeting since initiation of 41 new members. This initiation, celebrated last Wednesday night after which members attended a banquet in the dining hall, followed a convocation in the girls were first recognized by being called to the stage.

Martha Peacock was chosen president of the organization, Juanita Krentzman, vice-president and Lallie Rogers, secretary. Iris Parsons will serve as treasurer and Adrienne Blumberg, as historian for the coming year.

Alpha Lambda Delta, first founded at the University of Illinois in 1924 by the National Council of Deans of Women, was established at Florida State College for Women in 1930. Florida State College by Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, dean of women, and the charter was installed at that time and formerly a member of the home economics department on the campus. The pledging of 19 charter members in the spring of 1941, and in 1941, Members were then required to maintain a 2.5 average before graduation, but since it decided them that later members would have to make a 2.5 average in the first semester of their freshman year.

The requirements for this year are Anne Fielding, Winifred Lane, Annie Dias, Juanita Krentzman, Mary Louise Nichols, Yolanda Arias, Laura Les Butler, Margaret Stingfellow, Connie Bake, Ruth Ann Bowden, Jeanne Hunter, Adrienne Blumberg, Joyce Petty, Elaine Segal, Audrey Evans, Josephine Hall, Jeanne Talmage, Pat Pattishall, Lois Ann Narever, Lallie Rogers, Lucy Pelden, Anne Singleton.

Martha Jo Dunavan, Iris Parsons, Adeline Yves Marba Pierce, Betty Sue Gray, Elinor Grisham, Mamie Lou Mary Jane Herring, Martha Peacock, Connie Savage, Beulah Tilton, Fay Bass, Mary Catherine Bauser, Genevieve Sullivan, Lela Marilyn Van Natta, Rita Gendzier, Irma Lee Shepherd, and Barbara McCarthy.

Aiken Attends Chapel Hill Conference

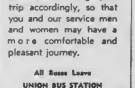
Continued from page one

lins College in Winter Park and Bethune College in Daytona Beach, as well as FSC, participated in discussion which centered about the part students can play in the formation of peace in individual schools, in the organization and in the nation as a whole.

In reference to endorsement of the Dumbarton Oaks peace plan, the conference recommended that an international Bill of Rights be incorporated in the plan, that there be a complete checkup followed by any necessary revision after a five-year period and that the general assembly of the proposed league of nations be permitted to function on matters before the security council, according to Pat Aiken. Stating that this peace plan constitutes the minimum requirements for a beneficial setup that would prevent future wars. It also suggested that the term "peace-loving nations" be more clearly defined, she said in reporting measures decided upon at the conference.

The delegates elected to represent the organization at the San Francisco conference are Douglas Hunt, law student at the U of NC and a leader in planning the student meeting and Sgt Clifford, medical student at Meharry Medical College and a veteran of overseas duty. These representatives will report back to students at southern colleges the proceedings as seen through the eyes of the student.

The permanent organization, which will be called the Conference of Southern Students, will consist of all colleges in the South, headed by an executive council which will be composed of the president, executive secretary-treasurer and 13 representatives, one from each state in the southeast division.



Concerning the purpose of this organization Pat Aiken stated, "It was the concensus of opinion at the meeting that the students in the colleges and universities of the country have a vital part to play in the coming peace, and consequently they should demonstrate an active interest in the planning o fthe peace. It was considered important that the youth of the South set up some permanent means by which they can be informed of the decisions particularly relevant to their interests, and through which they can influence, to some small measure at least, the peace planners themselves. It was for these reasons that the organization was held to promote active student interest in international peace, to stimulate thinking in regard to the attainment of that peace, and to establish a permanent organization through which southern students can work more constantly towards peace in the most effective way."

"The rules for organization of the conference were as follows," she continued: "The president will hold office for one year, and serve at the discretion of the organization, calling meeting of the executive council when the planning on ideas submitted. The secretary-treasurer will hold office for two years, and must be a student at the University of North Carolina. This was considered necessary in view of the fact that permanent records, kept by the secretary, should remain in a particular place. It is the primary function of the secretary treasurer to distribute materials among the members of the conference. The state representatives, in addition to serving on the executive committee, will call meetings within the individual states when it is deemed necessary.

"It was further decided that there be annual meetings of the southern students, and that we work toward the establishment of similar organizations in other parts of the country, and eventually a national union of students vitally and actively interested in the formation of a plan for peace will insure permanency."

William Rittenhouse set up the first paper mill in America in 1690, near Philadelphia.

Travel Light

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

AIR SERVICE
FROM TALLAHASSEE
to ORLANDO
and
OCALA

Arrives Tallahassee—11:15 A.M.
Departs for Ocala and Orlando—1:30 P.M.
Municipal Airport

Office Opens at 10 A.M. For Reservations, Phone 2565

MRS. WHEELER, Agent

Varied Souvenirs From Abroad Are Library Features

This past week . . . book shelf in the library at the diagonal cases have featured information concerning book allied and enemy countries.

Articles on display from England, France, Belgium and Holland have been lent to the library by Lt Col McRory. These include: a "swoon bottle" from Finland which was probably used about 1825, a hand-painted blue cup from Holland; a bedside pocket watch stand from England, and a ram's horns silver-mounted snuff box with the inscription, "John Bullar, from his friend William Collins, R A, February 20, 1844." On display, too, is a snuff box for table use, and one for individual use.

An old French book dated 1736, and two French franc notes, "in the beginning" are featured in the lower case. Also, there is a piece of metal from a German dubbed Volkswagen 2, which fell on September, 1944, in the vicinity of Liege, Belgium. A pewter cup and saucer from the days of Napoleon Schiben in charge of the defense of Moscow and the flight to the Allies in June of 1944, is also featured.

Miss Phyllis F McKey, assistant librarian, placed several articles sent to her by her husband who is in the European theater. These include red and blue fabric candle shoes worn by Italian women, a pair of rubber and leather, a handwrought silver bracelet, a pair of glasses, a crucifix, and a coral necklace.

People who wish to take any of the other merit system examinations may apply now and will be notified when that examination will be given. Students who are interested and wish further information should be either to the State Welfare Board in Tallahasee or to Miss Caroline Blue at Florida State College tomorrow.

Tomorrow Deadline For Applications

Saturday midnight is the deadline for students to file applications to take the social service examinations offered by the Merit System Council of Florida. Application blanks may be obtained from Miss Caroline Blue, assistant professor of sociology, or the State Welfare Board on east Gaines Street directly behind the Health Unit of Tallahassee.

Anyone who has a bachelor degree from an accredited college may take the examinations. If an applicant passes all parts of the examination, he is subject to appointment as a social worker in Florida.

All applications must be mailed to the Merit System Office, Room 203, 300 West University Avenue, Box 213, Gainesville, Florida, and in order to be acceptable they must be postmarked not later than Saturday midnight.

The positions for which examinations are being given now are: district welfare visitor, district welfare senior visitor, district welfare supervisor, child welfare worker, senior welfare worker, child welfare consultant senior child welfare consultant, district welfare case supervisor, district welfare director, state welfare supervisor, director of social service, supervisor of child welfare division, inspector of the workmen's compensation division, junior claims examiner, senior claims examiner, speals referee, field deputy, chief field deputy, field training supervisor, chief of benefits, personnel assistant, chief of personnel and training, chief appeals referee, informational representative.

Ignored at Sophomore Council Tapping, Murphree Freshmen Start Unique Club

Never say the Jennie Murphree girls aren't on the ball! Not, at least, until you hear what they've done now. It's a new club which arose spontaneously out of the fact that not one of the girls living on the third floor of Jennie made Sophomore Council. It's a rather unique organization in that it doesn't exactly have a name, it keeps no records, it has no great, soul-filling ideal or purpose, and its officers stay elected on the average of one day.

Members, who are all three living on the third floor, were formally and officially tapped on the next night after Sophomore Council tapped. Its "pin" consists of two matches, which represent two of the three torches of Sophomore Council, and their meaning is that two torches are down, and the third is being carried. Its motto is "Two Down, One to Carry." Its tree is the weeping willow, and its flower is the last rose of summer. The two theme songs of the organization are "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire," and "Maybe It's Better This Way," paraphrased on the song "How Little We Know" from the movie "To Have and Have Not." Everyone's name is Tess (remember, "Tess's Torch Song"?)

Election of officers was a prize of expediency. Elections were held at last night 'lush, and all those who stuck their heads out of their doors were appointed to office.

Teeny Langston, third floor counselor, said, "We have had many bids to our little organization, but it's strictly third-floor."

Waist Line Concern Is Not the Reason For Salad Servings

Some Florida State College girls have been very pleased with the presence of a number of salads in the menu at the dining room lately, but others have voiced a loud and lusty disagreement. It has been observed that from the figure standpoint, a strict diet of salads alone because the girls are at FSC rate on the same level as the rest of America. In the distribution of food, reported Dr Anne May Tracey, head dietitian. There is a definite shortage all over the country and the only priorities are held by the armed forces.

It is known that as countries are conquered, the peoples inhabiting them must be fed, therefore, FSC, as well as the rest of America, must tighten its belt and not complain.

Pi Beta Phi Takes Volley Ball Honors

Last Monday afternoon the Pi Beta Phi team defeated Byran hall in the volley ball intra-murals. At the end of the game the score was 44 to 24.

On the Pi Phi team were Olive Fleming, captain; Erma Doodney, Dotty Young, Betty Keene, Yobel Cleeton, Alice Asher, Anna Bryce, Jean Vothers, Marty Perkins and Betty Kennedy.

On the Bryan team were Jean Fiess, captain, Velma Brewer, Connie Baker, Peggy Kennedy, Shirley Cummings, Mary Fowler, Lydia Moore, Lillian Baker and Mary Charles Skipper.

The awards for this and the other intra-mural sports will be awarded by Tressa Munroe, the new president, in convocation next Tuesday.

● Over the ravaged ground of war-torn Europe, trudge 125 million men, women, and children who have given all but life itself toward the same permanent peace we all are striving for.

Their need for clothing is as great as that for food—in some areas deaths from exposure equal those from starvation.

These people need something you don't. They need your spare clothing.

150 million pounds must be collected this month. Will you give your share?

What YOU Can Do!

1. Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, skirts, jackets, pants, shirts, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.

2. Take your contribution to your local COLLECTION DEPOT now or arrange to have your LOCAL COMMITTEE collect it before April 30th.

3. Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort, and energy.

UNITED NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION
for Overseas War Relief • HENRY J. KAISER, National Chairman

APRIL 1 TO 30

This advertisement prepared by the War Advertising Council for United National Clothing Collection

Eight YW Members Will Attend Mee

Von Herrmann to Be Speak In SAB on April 23

Florida State College will b represented at the Young Wo man's Christian Association Ar meeting in Jacksonville on Apr 27, by eight student members.

Students who will attend are Ruth Cameron, state chairman FSC officers: Margaret Clarke president; Wilma Humphrey, fa president; Alva Ray, treasurer Ann Singleton, chairman of com munity service; Betty Lee, an Betty Dowd, co-chairmen of cial action commitee; Betty Ruth Goode, chairman of worship Margaret Cockrell, office man ager.

Evelyn von Herrmann, nationa secretary of the YWCA, will b a speaker at the Area meeting and will present the girls with challenge from the national o ganization and also give them suggestions and advice on the future plans.

The following Monday, April 2 Miss Von Herrmann will be on th FSC campus to speak before YWCA members at 5 o'clock in the Student Alumnae auditorium After this she will speak to the local cabinet members and hold conference with the Dean of Stu dents and Faculty Advisers.

Margaret Clayton ones all YW members will present at the Von Herrmann's talk Monday, for "It's been ages since we have had a national secretary on the campus," she stated.

Field Day Coming

Tomorrow afternoon will be Field Day for the college It will be held on campus and the physical education majors are taking in charge of the events. The will be running and throwing and jumping events.

Legislature in Brief

By CORDELIA BARCLAY

The Florida Flambeau

Music Fills the Air

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXII, No. 25 Tallahassee, Florida APRIL 27, 1945

Florida's institutions of higher learning are in the news of Legislative activity this week, as a committee and the state cabinet studied investigations of the death of a student veteran in the infirmary of the University of Florida last March 25.

In connection with the launching of official inquiries was an announcement by T. T. Wells, member of the state board of control, that he had resigned as a member of the board of control against "Neglect" in attending the student and "waste and extravagance" in operating the university.

Seven members of the investigating committee planned to go to Gainesville Sunday to take evidence. Members of the committee in the Legislature Wednesday were Senator Hayward of Pinellas and Representative Bryan of Pasco.

Dean of the student, Howard Bartlett, of Winter Haven, a decorated World War II veteran, already was under study by Governor Caldwell.

The probe was ordered by the house and senate committees while they were sitting in joint session to consider the university's 1945-47 budget. The committees heard Scott read a report on the death by the Junior Veterans, a college organization composed of World War II veterans. Representative Bartlett, a diabetic, died after he was unable to obtain urgent medical attention.

Scott gave his opinions on the case and discussed what he calls "waste" in the administration of the school.

"You are more for 25 cents at FSCW than you go for a dollar at the university," he said. He has orally tendered his resignation, but has heard nothing from the governor of the board.

Dr John Tigert, president, attended the house committee meeting as the school's budget, but declined to comment on Scott's assertions.

Also considered by the house committee was the endorsement of a $9,000 appropriation for Florida A and M university and $200,000 for hospital. President Rose of the Senate and Speaker Carraway of the House gave the project their approval at the college's biennial demonstration, and asked the committee for members of the legislature. If the legislature approves $50,000, President Wilson Gray, college president, said, no rent of the hospital need be obtained from other sources. If the hospital is built, students of the A and M will also be given preferences as registered nurses. The present plan is for a school three years of A and M training. Students must take another year in a Barbadoes hospital.

In a special meeting held by legislature Wednesday night as a memorial to the late Senator Claude Pepper, as guest speaker, Senator Scott of Dade had received from the president three days prior to his death.

Roosevelt expressed belief that he senate ought to be committed to the agreements and preparatories of state, but that the president should do the "spade work" of negotiating and the formal nomination of certain officials.

The letter concluded with the ide president expressing the hope hat the attitude of public opinion would recognize that 'modern nations are one-way roads and therefore any treaty must represent compromise."

Praising Senator Pepper formed him a friend of the south, Senate will be "the proud home of him." Pepper said that when he president spoke of the south or the United States the problem of the country he did with kindness.

Pepper ended saying that he had talked with Truman before Yalta, when he asked for the prayers of the people of Florida. To this Pepper added that suggestion he would continue to "give all their strength to Truman."

On the financial side, the cigarette tax and beer tax supported by the state administration seemed to show recuperative strength this week. Administration supporters by a narrow majority, after stormy maneuver, upset the house appropriations committee's defeat of the beer tax measure. Action came when it up by indicating enough friends to pass the measure when it come up for final consideration.

The Senate Wednesday decided to override its committee's defeat of the bill to levy an extra cigarette tax, but today recon-sidered and may place the bill on its calendar for discussion.

The Senate and House has con-

Continued on page Two

Grainger Will Appear in Two Piano Concerts

Reserve Seat Tickets May Be Obtained with Red, Blue Series

Composer, Born in Australia, Has Traveled Widely

Percy Grainger, pianist and composer, will appear in two Artist Series concerts, May 7 and 8, at 8:15 each evening.

Tickets for this concert, which is for both red and blue series tickets, may be obtained this afternoon from 4 to 6 in the Student Alumnae building basement. Tickets will go on sale in the college book store April 30 at $1.20 each. Students may attend the concert either Monday or Tuesday evening.

Mr Grainger was born in Brighton, Melbourne, Australia, July 8, 1882. At the age of six his tenth year he studied under his mother, a very good pianist, who was devoted to music according to Mr Grainger. When he was 13 he left Australia with his mother to Germany for further musical studies.

By the time he was 19, he had toured Europe South Africa, New Zealand and Australia. In 1914 he came to America.

In 1907, Grieg heard Grainger play and took a liking to the young Scandinavian press: "What is nationality?" I wrote Norwegian peasant dances that now all my own countrymen could play, and Grainger has made them composers and interprets them as they should be played," he said. "A genius such as we Scandinavians must love." Grieg chose Grainger to play the piano concerto at the Leeds (England) Festival of 1907. Grainger's influence on the music as bandsman of the 15th band, CAC at Fort Hamilton, South Brooklyn, during World War I. Here he was often called upon to play piano solos for the Liberty Loan drives. Mr Grainger would try to think of something that would have an appeal to every class of listener and the English Morris tune, "Country Gardens," proved to him to be likely to prove pleasing because of its tunefulness. He would improvise upon this melody as often as four or five times an evening, and he thereby gave many Lib-

Continued on Page Four

Traveling Secretary Speaks to YWCA

Purpose of Organization Is Stressed in Talk

Evelyn von Herrmann, traveling secretary for the National Young Women's Christian Association, spoke to the branch at Florida State College for Women Monday night. She emphasized that all members of the association understand the purpose of the organization and be interested in furthering its purposes.

The purpose of the secretary's talk was primarily to acquaint the members with their organization. She outlined its history briefly and pointed out that it was first organized by a group of industrial workers who felt that the purpose of bettering the conditions of the factory girls working in first there women just met to pray for the girls, but later they decided to have a group meeting and concerning their working conditions and their welfare, said Miss Herrmann. "YWCA has been an organization of prayer and action."

To questions concerning opportunities for employment in this work Miss von Herrmann said she could be very encouraging because the time the war organization had begun using workers just out of colleges. In addition to a good background of philosophy and religion, she urged students who are planning to be professional workers to take a major in either psychology, religious education or education and to take courses in all of the other three subjects. At the present time of the workers she said they usually ran from 25 to 35 years old.

She also stressed the varied opportunities under the YW. For those who had specialized in education there is work with girls in clubs and or in adult education. Health education, she thinks, would interest the physical education majors. Personnel jobs are many, she said as are case work jobs.

She divided summer work of the Y into three major groups. First "Industrial Service in Industry" movement in which students may

Continued on Page Four

Pattishall Wins In Oratorical Contest Here

Barclay, Bail Place Next; President Presents Final Awards

"Spirit That Is China" Rates Silver Loving Cup

Pat Pattishall, who spoke on the "Spirit that is China" was awarded the silver loving cup in Florida State College's first oratorical contest held Wednesday night in the Augusta Conradi theater. Cordelia Barclay placed second and Rachel Ball was awarded third prize in the contest, which had as its general subject "Pyramid Citizenship: Challenge to Complacency."

Sponsored and arranged by Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity and the Student World Affairs Committee, the contest also presented speeches by Frances Traxler and Janice Richey and a welcoming address by Rabbi Alex J Goldman, director of the foundation. Percy La Thompson and Barbara Mann were also among the seven finalists in the contest but were unable to speak because of illness. Campbell, president of Florida State College, presided over the program of the judges and presented the awards. Judges also included the Honorable Colin English, state superintendent of education; Mr Earl L Vance, associate professor of journalism, and Mr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology. The honorable Colin English, associate chief justice of the state supreme court, the Honorable Robert A Gray, secretary of state, were to have served on this panel but were unable to be present.

Stating that the basic principle for international cooperation is "understanding and good will regardless of the perfection of proposed peace plan, that can succeed only through application of this principle. She spoke briefly on the culture and spirit of China and stated that the Chinese and American peoples are very much alike in their ideals and love of freedom and equality of opportunity.

"Although some contend that China should not hold an important position in the international organization proposed at Dumbarton Oaks, this contention is fighting eight years in defense of international justice, decency and righteousness and that China can, therefore, deny China her

Continued on page Two

Board of Control Holds Meet Here

Members Review FSC Budget and Discuss Business

The State Board of Control met here last Tuesday and Wednesday for the purpose of reviewing the budgets of the state, for the discussion and disposal of routine business, it was announced by Mr H P Bare, secretary of the board. These regularly-scheduled meetings are usually held in Jacksonville, but due to wartime travel conditions, it was necessary that they be held here.

The Board of Control is the governing board of Florida State College, Florida A and M college, Florida A & M college and Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind. It consists of Mr H P Bare, chairman, and four other members: Mr W V Knott of Quincy, Mr M L Merchison of Miami, Mr T T Wells of Jacksonville, and Mr T T Scott of Live Oak.

Chairman Dare stated that the Board was very much pleased with the college and the way it is operated.

President and Mrs Doak S Campbell were host and hostess at a lunch given the members of the Board in the faculty dining room on Wednesday. Board members also attended a barbecue given at the A & M college by Dr W H Graves, president.

Flambeau Represented At San Francisco

Miss Mary Yvette, FSC alumnae, has been appointed by the YWCA to be Beau press representative to the San Francisco Conference. Articles and news stories from the conference will be sent directly to the Flambeau by Miss Yvette as the meeting proceeds.

Miss Yvette, who held the position of picture editor of Flambeau, has been employed in Red Cross work in San Diego, California.

Percy Grainger, pianist, composer and conductor, will appear as guest artist on Florida State College campus during Music Week beginning on May 6.

College Flag Is Dedicated

Band, Speeches Complete Outdoor Ceremony

At an outdoor ceremony in front of Landis hall on Tuesday afternoon, Dr Doak S Campbell, on behalf of Florida State College, accepted and formally dedicated the new college flag, which was adopted by the students on November 28, 1944.

The ceremony began with the entrance of the color guard and the band. The band remained to the side while the color guard advanced bearing the flag of the United States and of the state of Florida stood on either side of the main platform.

Miss Florence Tryon represented

Continued on page two

Broadcast Postponed Until Next Thursday

Garnet and Gold to Feature AAUW Contest Winners

Because of a special broadcast from the San Francisco conference the usual Garnet and Gold radio program from the college each Thursday night was postponed.

Next week's program will feature Ann Phillips, as music editor. She will be accompanied by Miss Mary Christian, Bandmaster of piano, and will sing her original composition of "The Lord is My Shepherd." The song was to take place in the vocal composition contest of the American Association of University Women creative arts contest.

Elizabeth McFland, another AAUW prize winner, will read selections from her poems which were judged by Robert P Tristram Coffin, Pulitzer Prize poet, to be the outstanding poetry submitted in the contest.

Next week's Garnet and Gold program will begin a series of programs featuring AAUW contest winners presenting their own creative works.

Last Monday night at 7:45 the student radio series, which are broadcast from the college studio, were also a program by the college dance band, the Starduster. Pat Pattishall was the announcer.

This afternoon at 2:45 the fifth grade of Demonstration school will participate in a radio program sponsored by the Florida Education department of Florida State College and broadcast over the college radio system. The program will be in the form of a play about the musician Mozart and will be directed by Mrs Cawthon and Susan Davis, and is directed by Mrs Cawthon. Miss Ann Trawick will be accompanist, and Rosemary McLenore will announce.

Miss Tryon Attends Alumnae Meetings

Miss Florence Tryon, president of the alumnae association and instructor in history, attended alumnae meetings at Clearwater and St Petersburg April 16-19.

The meeting in Clearwater was in charge of Miss Rhoda McCall, and the one in St Petersburg was in charge of Miss Mary Rhoad and Miss Charlotte Cooper. Both were informal dinner meetings where the members chatted about activities on our campus. Miss Tryon said that many members of the association sent messages to the faculty members.

In St Petersburg members are organizing an alumnae group with regular meetings and programs.

This was Miss Tryon's last official trip as president of the Alumnae association.

Dancer Attributes Career Beginning To Russian Artist

"I think that seeing Pavlova, Russian ballerina, made me decide to take dancing as a career," answered Ruth Pace when asked what influenced her to try professional dancing. "Although I saw her before I even studied dancing, it influenced me greatly."

All through her dancing study she said that she remembered the performance of the Russian star. When Pavlova asked her to make a tour with her, she accepted and remained with her for over a year.

A few hours before Miss Pace's performing here at State College, she received a message of her mother's death. She insisted upon going ahead with the performance, but left Tallahassee on the midnight train immediately after the dinner which was given in her honor.

When asked where she got the idea of combining poetry with her dancing, she answered that she didn't exactly know. "When my partner entered the services three years ago, I started reading lots of poetry. I don't know why I did; perhaps because I never read very much of it before. Then I got the idea that I could mix the dancing with the poetry."

Continued on page Four

AAUW Fetes Contestants

Music, Dance and Writing Given in Recital

The Spring Arts contest was the climax of activities when the winning music, dance, and writing composition of the AAUW arts and crafts held in Gilchrist parlor with a recital Wednesday afternoon terminated the AAUW creative arts contest on campus for this term.

The recital was begun by a recognition of winners in the contest. Before the recital Dr Carmen Rogers, chairman, introduced the winners and judges who had received honorable mention. Dr Rogers also mentioned some distinguished guests. Robert P Tristram Coffin made comments on Elizabeth McFarland's poetry. He thought that her poems would "look good in anyone's magazine," and he was impressed with the depth and originality of her thinking. The visiting poet said, also, that the poetry on this campus was better than the average college poetry.

The program was opened with a song, "The Lord is My Shepherd" by Ann Phillips, who composed the music. Anna Watkins gave two piano selections, "Impression of Robert Browning's poem, "Pippa Passes." The third song was composed by Dolores Dupont Rowe and was entitled "Let Me Stay in the South." Dancing numbers were accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan. Frances Blackburn played her own composition, "Impression on a Spring Afternoon" and Anna Watkins played "Impression, Andante, Sonata, Opus 1."

Elizabeth McFarland, third

Continued on page four

Schornherst Speaks To Club in Palatka

Dr Ruth Olive Schornherst, assistant professor of home economics, flew to Palatka to address the Federation of Garden Clubs on the "Native Trees, Shrubs and Plants Used in Florida Gardens."

She gave the general origin of the popular plants suggested to be introduced into Florida. Some of the tropical forms are found in the Orient, Africa, China, and have gotten here by route of the Hawaiian Islands. Others are from Mexico or Central America and have come via the Gulf Coast from Mexico to Jamaica.

She said that two of the best known ornamentals grown in our southern gardens, the camellia, origin are azaleas and camellias. At present there are only two species of azaleas. They were derived by a Japanese and Portuguese botanist from Massachusetts Horticultural Society in 1926.

The camellia was named by Linnaeus in honor of Georgius Josephus Camellus. He derived a classification of plants according to the character of the fruit and it was in honor of this new system that Linnaeus chose his name. There are about ten species of camellias, but many varieties.

X-Rays for TB To Be Offered All Students

U S Public Health Service Is Sponsoring Exams In Landis Rec

Early Discovery of Cases Is Objective of Tests

Beginning Monday, all students, staff members, and employees of Florida State College will have the opportunity of being given X rays for tuberculosis.

The examinations, which are being financed by the United States Public Health Service, are to be given in Landis recreation room and kitchen with Miss Helen Neely as technician in charge and Miss Dorothy Pulton assisting.

Day students are asked to come for their test at their convenience during the time scheduled for all students. Those students living on campus will be notified of the time of their appointments through campus mail as well as by a list posted in Westcott. It is urged that everyone be on time for his appointment as the technicians will be busy and will be found in a box elsewhere in the Flambeau.

With early tubercular case finding as an objective, the United States Public Health service and the State Board of Health is sponsoring the program in cooperation with the Tuberculosis Health Department, Leon County Tuberculosis Association and officials of Florida State College. A similar program on this campus was conducted in the year 1942-43, but this year's program will be more extensive in equipment facilities and time limit so it is expected that with the hearty cooperation of all concerned and this benefit a larger number than before.

"We are especially glad to have these tests given on campus," said Dr Rogers of the college infirmary, "because tuberculosis is known to

Continued on page four

Florida Government Display Is Featured

Information on Legislature Sponsored By Students

The Information Center of the library is featuring a display on the government of Florida to give all students information concerning what their legislative bodies are doing. The display is under the students of Dr Marian Irish's American government class and is in charge of Miss Ruth Bennett.

Displayed on one table is a bill as it is ready to be introduced in the House of Representatives by "Pressure" telegrams for and against the bill have been collected for this display. In the same display is found many bills which the House refused to published daily.

A brief record of the senators and legislators has been formed from the biographical information which the legislators records show occupation, education, age, sex, and previous experience in politics.

To aid students wishing to find the senators and their districts, a chart with the seating order is also on display. A list of the bills to be printed bills as they are presented in Senate and the House of Representatives.

This exhibit is placed in the information center for the students to study.

Music Week Dinner To Feature Grainger

Part of the program for "Music Week," sponsored by Florida State College School of Music, will be a dinner given May 10 at 6:30 p m in the faculty dining hall with Percy Grainger, outstanding musician and composer, as guest speaker. He will speak on "Music as a State Asset."

The program, which will last from 6:30 to 8:30, will include a short musical program in which the Glee club will sing several numbers.

Tickets will be limited to 250, and sales for the outside public will close May 7. The price of the tickets is $1.25 but students eating regularly in the dining hall, will be admitted for $.60

All the public is invited as well as all the faculty and students.

Miss Anna M Tracy, head dietitian, promises an especially good dinner.

Dancer Gives Novel Recital

Varied Program Includes Comedy and Tragedy

True to the tradition of "the show must go on," Ruth Page presented her scheduled dance recital in the Florida State College auditorium Monday night after receiving word that her mother had died that afternoon.

Reciting poetry as she danced to the accompaniment of her pianist, Miss Irene Albrecht, Miss Page performed a variety of interpretations ranging from a light, comical mood to a tragic one.

Included in her program were: "A Fairly Sad Tale," "Inventory," "Ballet Class," and "Impressions" poems by Dorothy Parker in which the typical American girl is depicted through her continuous troubles in love. "Delirious Delusions" by Mompou expressed one bit of surrealism and the subconscious. The costume was a blue jersey tights with white ruffles at arms, necks, and legs, and an eye drawn all the way around the middle. Attached to the front of the tights was a red flap of material that hung down like a skirt until Miss Page turned around, revealing no back to the supposed skirt.

"Lament for the Death of a Spanish Bullfighter" by Garcia Lorca, portrayed the grief of a woman whose lover has been killed in the bullring. The honor of the bullfight in Spain is five, and it is this hour of death that the woman keeps reiterating in her obsession of sorrow. The costume was typically Spanish in design with black and white for its color motif.

"Limericks" was a recital of nursery rhymes in the manner of a young child. The costume was

Continued on Page Four

Councils to Have Hike and Supper

The in-coming council of the Baptist student organization will have the retiring council with a hike and supper Saturday night at Lafayette Park. It is announced by Jean Satterwhite, publicity chairman.

Heading the group who will be hostesses at the entertainment is Barbara Holt, president of the organization for the coming year. The other officers are the members of the retiring council and members of the junior council. Newly elected to the senior council are Jean Satterwhite, recruitment vice-president; Betty Speer, social vice-president; Mary Lou Hutchison shrdlu shrdlu is Louise Illingworth, Young Women's Auxiliation representative; Myrtle Robinson life service band representative, Jean Satterwhite, publicity chairman; Pat Millican, music chairman; Helen Hughson, promotional chairman; Mary Ora Pitt, house hostess, and Christine Zeiler, junior council president.

Members of the new junior council are Peggy Stanaland, enlistment vice-president; Ida Lee Rentz, social vice-president; Carol Johnson, devotional vice-president; Jimmie Rogers, secretary; Dorothy Crotts, treasurer; Margaret Turman, publicity chairman; Charlotte McCleachy, house hostess; Mary Helen Tew, music chairman, and Dorothy Thompson, promotional chairman.

U of F Club To Sing Here In Road Show

Jo Anna Olson, Formerly With Chicago Opera Will Appear

Pianist and Student Present Original Compositions

The University of Florida Glee Club, director, by Mr John W Dewbryn, will present a vocal program and road show tomorrow evening in Westcott auditorium at 8:15.

Jo Anna Olson, formerly the youngest member of the Chicago Opera Company, will be featured on the program. A former opera and concert singer from Chicago and a member of the Gainesville Army colony, Miss Olson will be the only woman to appear in the show. She will sing the aria "Un bel di Vedrmo" "One Fine Day") from Puccini's Madame Butterfly. She will also sing a duet with Hugh Page, a member of the Glee Club, which will be "I'll See You Again," by Coward.

Also featured on the program will be Al Alsenjo, pianist who has made records with Paul Whiteman and Benny Goodman and played as pianist with Xavier Cugat. The occasion of tomorrow night he will play his own composition, "In the Heaven of Heaven", which is based on his conception of what happens at Pierceville or St Ann's Hall in Hell. The song is dedicated to the students of FSC. The performers are the Kostelanetz 'arrangement of "Lament to Love." "I Should Care," and Carmichael's "Star Dust.

Of interest will be the practical premiere of a composition by a U of F student, Bill Rhodes, who is called "Palitn's New Birth", and is a Christmas story in poetry written by Miss Mary Harriet Mirill of St Petersburg. The Smith College Club of St Petersburg commissioned Bill to compose music for the poem. The impressionist music accompanies four verses, the first being introductory and using the three minor sixe dimtone in the key of G major, representing the three wisps of people around the manger. The other verses are pictures of shepards, wise men, and home folks. The third word sung is "Amen," making it impressionistic in that the story is accepted as being true. Fred Dennis of Pensacola sings the tenor solo. The accompanist will also play a piano solo, Rachmaninoff's "Prelichalm" which is a pupil of Mrs Francis Wakefield, the former Miss Gladys Comfort who, before her marriage, was a member of the FSC music faculty.

Among the specialty numbers are a humorous skit titled "Snowdoin," accordian selections by Jim Busse, dance numbers' by Elmer Allen, and "Old Black Woogie' by Al Carlton. Some of the Glee Club numbers are Gershwin's "I Got Plenty of Nuttin', Prim's "Song of the Vagabonds," Sweet and Low," "Pinafandia," "Cossack Song," and "Stars and Stripes" to close with "Garnet and Gold" and the University's alma mater.

The Glee Club is Florida's Am-

Continued on Page Four

Sophomores to Fete Seniors at Supper

The traditional sophomore-senior banquet will be held tonight at 6:15 in the east dining hall, with 35 new Sophomore Council girls acting as hostesses.

Following the supper, a skit will be given by the new Sophomore Council girls. Those who will include "Jit," Madge Pilcher; Mary Ann Johnson, entertainment; "Stwedcome," Betty LaBree; "Si Peter," Jackie Nevers; "Twesty," Shirley Kroner; "Mirror," Janice Richey; "Voice," Georgie Jaeckel and Connie Kroner. A quartet composed of Betty LaBree, Jimmie Rogers, Jean Bennett, and Jean Cranmer will present a song written in honor of the seniors by Daphne Hamilton for students. Members of the committees are: Harriet Kirk, chairman; Frances Blackburn, Dorothy Colvin and Nell Clark, skit committee; Mary Ann Johnson, Betty Lou Wicham, publicity; Martha Abbott, food, and Jean-Anne Graham, finance.

No special seating arrangements are to be made, but special tables will be reserved for the class officer, and faculty guests.

All the girls will be expected to wear white, and sophomores will not be expected to order with their senior dates as has previously been the custom.

Spirit of the Week

MODERN DANCE

● ARE WE HEELING?

Time and time again one hears comments about college students not being interested in national and world events. with Florida State College students just as guilty as the next group. Immersed in the artificial collegiate world around our lives revolve, we pay little heed or attention to the swiftly changing world outside.

Sporsdic emotional remarks are liberated when some great catastrophe has occurred, hut for the most part we act though we are living in a land far away from the troubles and calamities that beset mankind. We all of course knew that Franklin D. Roosevelt passed away a couple of weeks ago, thst the Russians are in the heart of Berlin, and that there is a conference going on in San Francisco, but we give too little thought or study to the significance of events like these. Our thoughts are so completely taken up with collegiate activities and happenings that we have little time or inclination to think of anything else.

For instance, how many of us have studied the Dumbarton Oaks proposals and have thought about problems that are undouhtedly srising at the San Francisco Conference today? Then, too, now thst we have a new President ideas and policies of various countries are changing—do we see the significance behind these changes?

We reported last week that two college representatives are attending the Conference to voice their opinions, and that in itself is a marvelous thing, hut this step alone is not enough.

Puhlic opinion is one great factor in a working democracy. Puhlic opinion by informed persons is the best for which our country can ask; snd the logical breeding place for such opinion is in American colleges and universities.

If there weren't newspapers, magazines, radios, and lecture series, there would be some excuse for average college students lacking knowledge on current events. But living in the scientific age that we do with every opportunity open for us to learn about what is going on, we deserve only rehuke and scorn. Scorn for our foolish preoccupation which keeps us from taking sdvantage of the opportunity to learn while we have the chance.

College activities, curricular and extra-curricular, should be important to us, hut not so important that we divorce worldly interests from our shaping minds. How can we expect to shake hands with "life after college" if we do not keep up with its actions and acquire in insight on its ways?

● WORLDLY EDUCATION

A proposal to establish an International Office of Education has been suggested to the San Francisco conference representatives hy the presidents and chancellors of five hundred American universities and colleges. Delegates of thirty-four foreign countries, meeting in the International Education Assembly in New York City and the National Education Association have adopted a similar proposal.

It is thought that a world education office, to serve as a clearing house and advisory center, could prove effective in maintaining peace. Hitler very well knew the importance of education, as did all of the occupied countries who can attest in pointing to their devastated schools, tortured teachers, their plundered books and other supplies.

American educators urge that the cultural institutions be enlisted "to heal the torn world and to turn men's minds and emotions to the creation of a common well-being." In order to create better understanding between the peoples of the world it will be obligatory to dissolve the barriers that have kept nations apart culturally. It is felt that this is a positive approach to a field in which cultural values have exploited for destructive purpose through propaganda.

A statement concerning the establishment of such a world education says significantly: "International interest in education must now include not only the instruction offered by universities and furthered hy meetings of scientists and scholars, hut also elementary, secondary and adult education of a more informal character."

San Francisco will be discussing and deciding numerous important problems but it is to be hoped that this proposal for an international education office as an effective way to strengthen the peace, will receive serious attention and consideration.

● THE SIXTY-FOUR DOLLAR QUESTION

Were editorials written daily concerning the unconcern of college students to stimulating events on campus it would not be overdone.

The latest evidence of apathy was the sparce audience that attended the oratorical contest sponsored by B'nai B'rith Hillel foundation and the Student World Affairs Council Wednesday night. Not more than 75 members of student body of over 2,000 found time to be present.

Perhaps it is being overly optimistic to expect students to be interested enough to spare a precious hour listening to such weighty topics as world citizenship or expose their complacency to challenging statements. In view of this fact, presumably seven people interested enough to go to the effort of entering the contest is an astoundingly large number.

In this student's opinion, we should not only feel a personal shame, but a shame for the student body as a whole for the apparent lack of interest on our part when busy state officials give their time to act as judges for the contest.

The contest is one of the most important things students have had s hand in this year. Response, as usual, was practically nil. How can the few who sponsor like functions be expected to continue their valuable work when support is not forthcoming? What means can be employed to arouse student interest is the $64 question.

Short Change

This has been a hard week for everyone. First of all there was the weather and we can't say much for it except that it was weather. Then we made a vain attempt to catch up on our work which is always hard on us. And last of all those strange creatures called "goat," I believe, haven't made it any easier. It's a horrible shock to your system to wander over to the bookstore with just enough time before your 10 o'clock class to eat a breakfast of a coke and cheese crackers and be confronted by hundreds of weird human beings yodeling or limping around. As though there weren't enough forces on this campus working against our sanity already.

Won't life be dull this summer when we go back home and start eating in a small dining room the way ordinary people do? There won't be any squads of people dressed in white, or green and white, or black and white, or any other specific combination you can think of marching around our table looking solemn while they "tap" some lucky child. At least we'll be vaguely surprised if there are.

Then there was the girl who couldn't figure out how to stop writing to this sweet little boy without hurting his feelings until she hit upon the bright idea of telling him she was engaged. She did it all beautifully and even got a very stiff little note back from him giving her his best wishes and stuff, but now she's almost convinced herself that she is engaged and we're afraid she'll be awfully disappointed when she finds out she's not. Life is so complicated.

The pockets of small boys and women's pocketbooks have long been reputed for their wide assortment of contents. But these two catch-alls are as nothing compared to the conglomeration collected in our notebooks. We know; we cleaned ours out the other day. We found a letter that we had been fuming about not having received an answer to, our best handkerchief, and our artist series ticket which has been lost for weeks . Then there were our tweezers; we knew our roommate had lost them. And there were three combs, some cracker crumbs and odd assortments of gossip notes. We found a dollar bill too and those pictures we took at the lake last summer. There were stamps and cartoons we meant to mail ages ago. Our notebook held untold horrors and surprises. We're going to clean it out more often. Maybe some day we'll uncover a small fortune.

In these last days before exams we suddenly become apprehensive of the gigantic task before us—of all the endless studying we should have been doing all along. Our studying brains tire just like tennis arms or swimming legs or dancing feet. They need rest and relaxation in-between bouts, but people have lived through marathons before—and the next few weeks are going to be a studying marathon for most of us. But home is in sight. Buck up, me lassies, only a short while longer to be singing "The Worn-out Blues."

We absolutely deny all responsibility for this poem. We just found it lying around and thought it would look cute or something.

Refrain:
For we are like a Stratford goose,
We must be crammed with knowledge.
Cover to cover from CERTAIN books
For we are now in college.

I remember that first afternoon
When buildings met my eyes—
Solid red brick monuments
To make me quick and wise.
Refrain:

I remember once still later
After a year had passed
How I dreaded every day
And wished it were the last.
Refrain:

I remember once a student,
The one I almost met.
I wondered what became of him,
And I am wondering yet.
Refrain:

I remember once a teacher
Who spoke a liberal thought
And dismissal from the faculty
Was all the action brought.
Refrain:

Oh, I remember fun and frolic
Along the path of knowledge,
But I can't remember much
That I've learned in college.

Pattishall Wins In Oratorical Contest Here

Continued from page one

rights at the peacetable?" she asked.

That war is rooted in ignorance, which, in turn, must be blamed upon lacks within institutions of public enlightenment was the contention of Cordelia Barclay, who spoke on "The Crisis for Education." Evidence shows that schools, foremost among these institutions, are not graduating people who are well informed or eager to learn, she said. Concentration on curricula unrelated to daily living, poorly educated teachers and inadequate salaries for instructors are among the factors primarily responsible for this, Cordelia stated.

"We must aid in arousing schools to arouse the public in order to achieve a just peace. Finally, we must demand that schools of tomorrow aid future generations to keep it wisely," she concluded.

Speaking on the topic "Hate or Peace?", Rachel Bail said that peace cannot be preserved as long as Americans have a vendicitive attitude toward the German and Japanese people. Liberal re-education and re-habilitation of these people are difficult tasks, but they offer the only assurance of a lasting peace, she stated. Racial and religious tolerance will also do much to prevent future conflicts, Rachel concluded.

The goal of gaining an understanding of proposed peace plans can be each person's individual challenge to complacency, stated Janice Richey, who spoke on "Dumbarton Oaks in Public Opinion." That the Bretton Woods peace plans must be supported by international trade agreements, a world bank and an international monetary fund was the contention of Frances Traxler in a speech entitied "Foundations for the Peace: Economics."

A student trio, composed of Eleanor Bragg, Rachel Crotwell and Patricia Hill, presented musical selections during the intermission and following the addresses. Second prize in the contest was a $25 war bond and third place award was $10 in war stamps.

Parrots don't know what they are saying when they "speak." Their talk is merely mimetic ...on enabling them to readily repeat all kinds of sounds including ...ords and phrases of human speech.

Magazine Jottings . . .

By KATHERINE NOLLMAN

France Without the Gestapo
By MONICA STIRLING

In the April issue of the Atlantic Monthly Monica Stirling, an English writer, cites some of her experiences in France since the liberation. This article, "France Without the Gestapo," is the second in a series which Miss Stirling is writing for the magazine in order to give the public a picture of how the French people and the Allied soldiers are living and working in that war-torn country.

Behind the advancing armies remain the usual evidences of war, wrecked vehicles in fields and ditches, ruined bridges, and demolished towns. Otherwise, says Miss Stirling, the country is beautiful and again peaceful. At Reims she found that the buildings had not been destroyed and the countryside was in full cultivation. The Germans had not wished to destroy this section because the sugar beet production provided alcohol which was used as a substitute for gasoline.

At an Advanced Communication Zone Miss Stirling found soldiers and civilians busy salvaging clothing and field equipment from the formerly German occupied warehouses which had recently been the targets of Allied bombs. Soldiers were repairing or making boots from captured German leather, sorting clothes and working in the laundry trailers, and "cannibalizing" which is the term used for stripping parts from discarded machines and using them for repairs. There were also small neatly tied packages containing personal effects. These were being sent to boys in hospitals or back across the seas to bereaved families. At another depot Miss Stirling found a detail of officers and men working to ship captured medical supplies to displaced persons' camps and prisoner or war stockades.

While visiting the hundred square miles of underground installations which were said by Polish workers to have been for Hitler's invasion of England, Miss Stirling came to the conclusion that the installations were a "mingling of engineering efficiency and adolescent mentality." They were astonishingly well camouflaged with factitious haystacks and hollow cottages painted to look like bricks. It had taken two years to build them and they were ready for occupation just at the time the first Allied armies landed in France.

Near the installations live a number of Poles who were imported for slave labor. Although these people are now entitled to go to displaced persons' camps many prefer to work for the Allies, fight Germans and eat American meals.

Gestapo Museum

At a small town on the Marne Miss Stirling visited a former Gestapo headquarters. In the town hall which the Germans had occupied the Frenchmen had reserved the cellar as a museum in order that Allied soldiers might have a chance to see and understanding some of the Gestapo's instruments of torture. In another little room in the cellar there were on display farewell letters from the men who had been killed. The last words of all of them were of love for wife, exhortation to child and "Vive La France." Under the first cellar was a smaller one in which the ceiling was so low that an ordinary size man could not stand up. In this cellar which was partly filled with water Frenchmen died without the aid of German ammunition.

Miss Stirling tells of traveling by train, meeting seven American infantry lieutenants, singing Negro spirituals with them and dividing a D ration when they become famished with hunger. Back in Paris she visited the painter, Picasso, who when asked if the Germans had killed many of his friends replied, "All. Everyone shot by the Germans I consider my friend."

At Christmas time Miss Stirling visited the HQ of the First Tactical Air Force. Here she talked wtih the men, visited the air field, and some of the quarters which the men had made for themselves from small huts. In one called "Mabel's House" the men had a tiny lighted tree decorated with matchboxes in colored wrappings and packets of gum.

In another section of France Miss Stirling found Frenchmen in Canadian uniforms driving British trucks for the American army. She felt that this was an example of a cooperation that is helping to make nationality a source of inspiration.

A camera that takes three dimensional pictures has been developed for the use of the armed forces. The pictures look like jumbled masses to the naked eye, but the film takes on depth when viewed through special lenses.

In This Our Time. . . By GLORIA REED

Action in Germany

The fighting in Europe this week has climaxed in the battle of Berlin. How long it will require to take the entire city and its numerous suburbs, not even the Allied Command will venture to say. But the fighting men of the Russian armies know that the Germans will fight to the last man because of the order from Hitler which called for fanatical resistance and demanded a fight to the death. He told Nazi troops: "Whosoever gives you a command to retreat is, unless you know him well, to be arrested immediately, and if necessary, to be executed."

At this writing, the German army troops, with the guns of the fanatic SS troops at their backs, counter-attack in vain since the Russians have already swarmed over approximately one half of the capital.

Russian troops entered the city in three main columns and have continued fighting in this formation. The column in the north of Berlin is attacking the Pankow section, a workers' district. The central column advanced along the Unter den Linden to its present position in the heart of the city. This boulevard is the famous thoroughfare down which Nazi troops used to march in review. To the south, the third column is attacking the well known Tempelhof air field. So far, the Russians have found the field fairly heavily garrisoned although most of the planes didn't take off, which is thought to be due to the fuel shortage. Throughout all Berlin there is wholesale destruction because the resisting German troops have to be burned out or shelled out of their defenses and the German civilians are destroying property to keep the Russians from capturing it. One correspondent said that the city resembled a gigantic torch.

These are some statistics concerning Berlin: Population — 4,335,000, the largest city on the European continent, fourth largest city of the world; Area— 431 square miles, spread out over flat, marshy lands; Political importance—the seat of government of the German Reich; Main industries—electrical equipment, machinery, chemicals, scientific instruments, locomotives, furniture, office machines and supplies; Main streets—Unter den Linden, Leipzigstrasse, Friederichstrasse; Chief buildings—the Reichchancellery, the Ministeries of Justice and State, the University of Berlin, the Protestant Cathedral, and the Kaiser Fredrick Wilhelm University and its museum; Environs—The city is surrounded by a thick belt of pine woods; Transportation — Twenty important railway stations serve the city. Superhighways feed Berlin from several directions and 27,000 miles of the city's streets are paved. There is a network of subways and elevated railways. Tempelhof is one of the world's largest and best equipped airports.

Southwest of the burning city, Red army tanks drove on to the Elbe River within 20 miles of American forces awaiting a link-up. The two armies have had radio contact and exchange of orders for several days .

Farther to the south General George S Patton's forces have taken 33,000 prisoners in the first day of a new drive to meet with other Russian divisions. Tanks of General Patton's Third Army were crossing natural barriers 75 miles north of Munich. Several other junctions of the Russian Armies and the western Allied Armies are expected to be announced simultaneously from the capitals of the "Big Three" this week.

In the Netherlands, Canadians reached the North Sea and the Zuider Zee this last week, sealing off Nazi Units in Holland. It is believed that this large pocket, like the Ruhr, will have to be whittled down little by little until it is defeated by the sheer force of numbers.

War Against Japan

The Japanese defenders of Mindnao, second island of the Philippines, have been split in two by fast advancing American forces, General Douglas MacArthur reported.

Also in his report, General MacArthur said that 10,896 Japanese had been killed during this last week, raising the grand total of Japanese casualties in that archipelago to 335,000.

During this last week American air power was working out a four-fold pattern for the destruction of Japan's arsenals. The attacks took these forms: Tokyo's already blasted industrial section was bombed several times by Superfortresses from the Marianas. Airfields and installations on the main islands were riddled by fighters based at Iwo. The enemy's remaining air strength was further smashed when it rose to beat off these attacks. Army planes from strips recently won on Okinawa took a similar toll.

Meanwhile in the Ryukyus, action aimed at gaining bases from which to launch further air and amphibious assaults was entering its final action. American forces on Okinawa and Ie to the west began their push against the remaining Japanese, well entrenched in strongly fortified positions. To date, the Americans have captured five air fields.

American infantrymen were mentioned briefly in dispatches as fighting to recapture Kakazu, near Naha, heavily defended Okinawa capital. The Japanese took the town in close bitter fighting after infiltrating American lines at night.

Peace Organization

President Harry S Truman opened a conference of statesmen of 46 nations and exhorted them to become the "architects of a better world". He said that the delegates of the nations represented at the San Francisco conference had the choice between the continuation of international chaos—or the establishment of a world organization for the enforcement of peace.

The only dark cloud on the horizon was the still dangling question of Polish representation at the conference. Russia, after Foreign Commissar Molitov's talks with President Truman and English officials, still demands that Poland be represented in the conference by members of the Lublin, Russian-backed government in Warsaw. The United States and England, on the other hand, are demanding that the Polish delegates be chosen from both the Lublin government and the Polish Government in Exile, in London. And it seems that both sides af the question have good reasons for not wishing to give in. Russia wants a government in Poland that will be friendly to her in case the Nazi monster raises its head again. However, the English and American officials feel that the Lublin government is not truly representative af the Polish people. For this reason, they believe that the Polish representatives to the conference should be chosen from both the Lublin government and the Polish government in London. So far, neither side has shown any sign of giving in, and in some quarters this is taken to be the first step in further desentions between England and the United States on one side and Russia on the other. Yet others are of the opinion that this is merely a minor difference that can easily be ironed out with a little effort. To date, there is no indication of how the problem will be worked out.

Legislature In Brief

Continued From Page One

cured in a bil lto grant a $500,-000 state advertising fund, and it has been sent to the governor fo his signature. The original sum asked was $1,000,000.

Two bills to regulate Florida public utilities companies and their ates—one by expansion of the state railroad commission and the other by setting up a new commission—were introduced.

In face of opposition, the House passed by a bare majority a bill to revise the state consitution, written 60 years ago. Establishment of a drafting committee is permitted. If the amendment is ratiied in the 1946 general election, the 1947 session's speaker and president will join the governor and supreme court in naming the commission. The commission's draft would be submitted to the 1949 session, where it could be changed and approved by a three-fifths vote, and be subject to ratificatin in the 1950 general election.

Such lengthy procedure meets objections that the constitution should not be revised while men are in the armed services, proponent Rep Muray of Polk said. A shorter method was rejected by the Senate.

Spirogiras Hear Negro Spirituals

A plantation home in the moonlight, with plantive songs from assembled Negroes entertaining the guests—this was part of the party given for Spirogira members last night by Nancy Parker. The members of the honoray wee asked to a supper party at the Parker home near Tallahassee, and after supper eaten on the porches of the hostess' home heard spirituals, sung by workers on the big farm.

Spirogiras, led by president Nancy, sang in return to the colored group.

From investigations of caves, refuse dumps and lake dwellings, it is known that Europeans of the New Stone Age possessed dogs.

College Flag Is Dedicated

Continued From Page One

ed the alumnae. She gave a short presentation speech thanking the members of the flag committee: Miss Lynette Thompson, chairman of the committee and instructor in classics; Miss Bertha E Bloodworth, publicity secretary; and Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary; and the members of the student flag committee: Sarah Stewart, Bea Weaver, and Anne McDonald for their work on the flag.

Isabel Rogers, past president of the College Government association, represented the students. She said that the flag would be "the spirit of our college femina perfecta". "It will be a symbol to all of us now as students and later as alumnae."

Dr Doak Campbell, president of Florida State College, made a short dedication speech installing the flag as one of the three to be honored on campus. Dr Campbell "officially pronounced it flag and pennant of the Florida State College for Women."

Miss Tryon and Isabel Rogers presented the flag to Dr Campbell who in turn presented it to the color guard. "Garnet and Gold" was played by the band during the presentation to the color guard. The school flag was placed beside the flag of the state of Florida in the color guard. The color guard and the band then marched past the main platform around to the back of Landis and then to the front of Bryan.

Those who were on the main platform were Dr Campbell, past and present CGA presidents, alumnae officers, the student flag committee, the alumnae flag committee, and the members of the executive council.

The flag will remain in Dr Campbell's office.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor — JUDY PEPPER
Associate Editor — JANET ROGERS
Assistant Editors — PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHER, BETTY WEAVER
Managing Editor — SHIRLEY RODGERS
News Editors — MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON

Copy Editor — Lois Rose
Copy Staff — Ruth Keller, Mary N McFadden, Jeanne Tillman, Virginia Allstock
Feature Editor — Dolores Papy
Feature Writers — Eileen Davis, Anne Hutton
Columnists — Letticia Sullivan, Betty Hargrove
Office Manager — Louise Sims
Student Interviewers — Marie Waters, Burma Cox
Asst. Managing Editor — Bobbie Bell
Society Editor — Beryl Kitchen
Asst Society Editor — Darley Lochner
Sports Editor — Betty Dowd
Outside News Editor — Gloria Reed
Exchange Editors — Miriam Angell, Nicky Barton
Literary Editor — Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors — Alice Crum, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor — Dolores Gardner
Art Editor — Lucy Feiden
Asst. Art Editor — Georgia Fields

REPORTERS: Eugenia Ahlers, Mary Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Joycelin Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Alice Brady, Laura Lee Butler, Ethel June Chyna, Marjorie Clark, Tiny Clavel, Virginia Croghan, Jean Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Montine Ingram, Winnie LePard, Beulah McPherson, Josephine Mingola, Mary Lou Norwood, Eileen Perry, Joyce Betty, Madga Pilcher, Louise Rabb, Martha Roberson, Laurel Rosenbaum, Evelyn Shea, Marydel Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Tarai Thomas, Joyce Williams.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager — Helen Tarapani
Advertising Manager — Eileen Davis
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ada Rawls, Lila Barrington, Lillian Brown, Betsy Bird.
Circulation Manager — Martha Abbot
Collection Manager — Eleanor Bayer

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat

...ings, suppers and a...
...ng summer highlighted social ...
...ons this week as sororities ...
...ged members for achieve...
...of the year and the Pi ...
...gma to observe the 78th an...
...of their founding.

...ebrity followed by the tra...
...ary Pi Beta Phi service will ...
...gma this occasion Saturday ...
...Margaret Palmer, Louise ...
...Cleota Ashner, Marilyn ...
...and Margaret Baugh are in ...
...ge of arrangements for this ...
...sion.

...ne's supreme party at the ...
...Tea house Saturday night ...
...ded bowling with lemons and ...
...mon eating contest. The prize ...
...arded the number of lemon ...
...h is to be awarded to ...
...Avery Ann Brady was ...
...ed to Delta Zeta Tuesday ...

...s was given by Dr and Mrs Paul ...
...per and Dr Annie M Popper ...
...and Mrs Pioneer's home with ...
...of Alpha Xi Delta members ...
...ter. A picnic dinner at Wa...
...ll former Sunday in charge ...
...ette Sullivan and a banquet ...
...ember night, honoring Mary ...
...ne Orr, who was tapped for ...
...emoranies this year, were on ...

Send Your Mother's Day Greetings Home
60 to Photograph Record
Set. 50c — 8-in. 75c
Love Selection of Popular Records and Albums in Stock
TALLAHASSEE
Radio & Sound Co.
105 S. Monroe St.
Opposite Western Union

Travel in Mid-Week
THIS WEEK TRAVELER
1 2 3
8 9 10
When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Railway Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.
All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
E. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701
NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Come See Our Stock of Classical Records and Sheet Music
TALLAHASSEE MUSIC COMPANY

Try Our Luncheonette For Those In-Between Snacks Drinks and Sandwiches
MARTIN AND DALTON

Positions Open

Miss Nellie Shaw, representative of Wheelan Studios, New York City, will be on the campus on Monday to interview seniors who are interested in work in photographic studios as managers, photographers, personnel supervisors or colorists. Any one interested is asked to come to the Personnel Office and make an appointment.

McCormick, Florid To Give Recitals

Mary McCormick, pianist, and Eva Mary Florid, soprano, will present their certificate recitals jointly in the college auditorium tonight at 7:15.

Mary, a public school music major, is a student of Miss Mary Esther Whitaker, assistant professor of piano. She directs the Campus Student Choir, is a member of the Music Club and the Glee Club. She will open the program with Papillon, by Schumann. Her other selections are Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, by Bach-Hess; Rustle of Spring, by Lindland; and Seville, by Albeniz.

Eva Mary, who will be the first girl from the Colleges of Arts and Sciences to obtain a certificate in music, and Mr Karl O Ruesteiner, dean of the School of Music. She is a student of Miss Mary Ellen Johnson, instructor in voice.

She will sing: Ah! cuando s'ero, aria of Venus from "Il Pomo d'Oro" by Cesti; Spring, from the oratorio "Orbo" by Handel; Voce di donna, aria from "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli; and Si pleure en rve by Rue. Also O luce di quest' anima, recitative and cavatina from Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Mrs L W Shirley from Orlando, Mrs A W Ramsdell from Tampa, and Mrs Marion McDonald from Miami have recently been visiting their daughters, who are all members of Tri-Deli.

Delta Phi Epsilon pledges gave an activity party last Saturday honoring their pledge mothers and outstanding pledges of the year. Pledges presented their pledge mothers with gifts, and Rita Greenberg and Linda Reese received scholarship awards for outstanding grades. Esther Bassah was awarded the pledge cup for having been the best pledge of the year. Arlene Sigal and Doris Davis were in charge of arrangements.

Out-of-town guests recently entained by the sorority were Mr and Mrs Harry Katz and son from Jacksonville.

Party to Be Given University Singers

An informal party given by members of the Florida State Glee club at the Sigma Kappa house will honor members of the University of Florida Glee club following their concert tomorrow night in Westcott auditorium. Recorded music will also include members of Florida State College for Women's faculty and Glee club.

Spring flowers will decorate the room where guests will participate in games, dancing, and refreshments will be served. Margaret Smith and Rosemary Thrasher are in charge of arrangements, and committee chairmen are Miriam Angell, refreshments and Renee Hedrecoth, publicity.

Baptist Girls Give Party for 'Mothers'

Friday night at the Baptist student house, the college students will honor the ladies of the town who have been their foster-mothers for this school year.

The girls are going to meet their "mothers" at the student house and bring them over to hear the certificate recital of Mary McCormack, a senior who has directed the Baptist student choir this year. After the recital the girls will take their guests back over to the student house for light refreshments.

Jean Satterwhite, publicity chairman of the Baptist students, said that this party would be to show the ladies that the girls appreciated their many kindnesses to them during the year.

"Old English" refers to English spoken from the earliest records to 1100.

College to Observe Music Week in May

Percy Grainger Asked to Be Guest Pianist-Composer

National Music Week will be held for the first time on the campus of Florida State College, May 6-12, Mr Karl O Ruesteiner, dean of the school of music is in charge of the planned events.

"I thought it would be nice to have a well-known person on the campus to get acquainted with the students," Mr Ruesteiner said. "I thought of Percy Grainger for several reasons. He is known and recognized as an accomplished pianist, and composer the world over. But more that that, he reaches back into the past because he was a good friend of Edvard Grieg, noted Norwegian composer. Grieg said of Grainger that none of his own countrymen interpreted his folk songs as he could and did."

"Grainger is also a good friend of Cyril Scott, who composed the 'Tallahassee Suite.' When he found that he could come here, he asked Scott's permission to play the suite for the people of Tallahassee."

"I know the students will like both Mr and Mrs Grainger very much," Dean Ruesteiner said.

Broward Hall Gives First Formal Dance

Broward's first formal dance was held last Saturday in the lounge.

Music was provided by a juke box with some of the latest records.

Bouquets of lilies, stock, daisies, delphinium and ferns were scattered around the room in accordance with the spring theme of the dance. Miss Dorothy Hagaman's Art class made the decorations.

Chaperones were Miss Florence Jones, instructor in modeling for "Convention;" Beverly Watkins in weaving, for a knitting bee; Gertrude Noxtine, in wood for book ends; Mary Ann Waller in leather for a bible and Margaret Pattishallin leather for a book cover.

The guest speaker for Thursday afternoon was Mrs Doak S Campbell, chairman of the arts and crafts committee.

The articles will be displayed through Sunday, so that all will have an opportunity to see what the girls have been doing toward creative art.

Everyone is urged to attend.

Methodist Groups Visit Nearby Towns

Week-end deputations will be sent by Methodist Student Movement this week. Miss Florence Jones, Methodist student director of the Tallahassee district, who has charge of the deputations, announced that they would leave this noon Saturday and return Sunday evening.

The purpose of these deputations is to help the students in the smaller churches in the district by sending a group of students out to work with the young people about the possibilities of youth work in the church. The four main committees discussed by the girls are worship, community service, world friendship and recreation.

While in the communities the girls conduct lay worship services and instruct interested persons in the various committees. Also, in order to get acquainted, Miss Jones said they gave a party on Saturday night for the entire community.

The girls who are going to Monticello this week-end are: Lillian Blackwelder, Wilna Humphrey, Joyce Carlton and Dot Caswell. Those who will visit Lake City are: Betty Bell, Margaret Clayton, Betty Labree and Eleanor Boyles.

Intramural Bridge Finals Completed

The finals of the intramural bridge tournament have just been completed, with Ann Thornton and Sandy Owens, representing Broward Hall, winners. They competed with Edith Hawkins and Jean Anne White of Tri-Deli in the finals.

The ping-pong series began yesterday, with the elimination tournament to be finished by Monday. Semi-finals will begin on Monday with finals being played either on Wednesday or Thursday of next week. All the games will be played on the ping-pong tables at the gymnasium and in the games room of the Student-Alumnae building.

Since the games are in the form of singles, no practice points are required. As yet only 16 entries, each one representing a dormitory hall or sorority, have signed up for competition.

Club to Initiate

Members and goats will meet in back of Bryan hall tomorrow at 1:45 p m to leave in cars where formal initiation of the goats will take place. The goats dressed in various costumes, will hike the five miles to camp after first having given the members of the club different types of entertainment.

F Club goats entertained the members of the club at a banquet in Lands dining hall Wednesday night. The members wore regular F club whites while the goats dressed up in their grandmother's dresses, saddle shoes and goat horns.

After the initiation of the students into the club the new officers recently elected will automatically take over their positions.

Christianity reached Britain from Gaul during the third century.

TB Test Schedule

April 30 through May 4
Students, 10 to 12 o'clock; 4 to 5 o'clock.

May 7
Faculty, 10 to 12 and 4 to 5 o'clock.

May 8
Demonstration school students, 10 to 12 o'clock.
White women employees, 4 to 4:30;
Negro women employees, 4:30 to 6 o'clock.

May 9
Staff, 10 to 12 o'clock;
White men employees, 4 to 5 o'clock;
Negro men employees, 5 to 6 o'clock.

Special Tea Honors Winners in Contest

An exhibit of the winning arts and crafts of the American Association of University Women's creative Arts contest, opened Wednesday in Gilchrist parlor with a special tea.

Mrs Ernest Rogers, general chairman of the creative arts committee of the AAUW, gave the awards for the contest to the winners of the contest and introduced them to the other guests.

Six first prizes were awarded in the writing and art and craft. Martha Lawson won first prize in pottery for a vase; Mildred Zindler in modeling for "Convention;" Beverly Watkins in weaving, for a knitting bee; Gertrude Noxtine, in wood for book ends; Mary Ann Waller in leather for a bible and Margaret Pattishallin leather for a book cover.

The guest speaker for Thursday afternoon was Mrs Doak S Campbell, chairman of the arts and crafts committee.

The articles will be displayed through Sunday, so that all will have an opportunity to see what the girls have been doing toward creative art.

Everyone is urged to attend.

Browsing Room Uses Old South as Theme

In order to stimulate the interest of the students toward the browsing room in the library, an exhibit has been placed on the main floor featuring the different types of books and entertainment found in the browsing room.

The browsing room this week is using for its theme "The Old South" because of Memorial Day. The first book displayed is Gone With the Wind by Margaret Mitchell. War and Peace in two volumes by Leo Tolstoy is a translation from Russian. It contains illustrations and reproductions of various paintings. Ruth E Pinyan's book The Lady of Godey's is a story based on the fashions of the day starting with the Civil War on to the modern days.

Besides these books, there are many other novels and biographies which are on display to familiarize every one with "the Old South."

Esteren Elects

Officers for the coming year were elected at Esteen's regular Monday night meeting in the SAB club room at 9 p m.

Sarah Bennett was elected president; Bea Weaver, vice-president and goat trainer; and Ruth Dismore, secretary-treasurer.

JUST THE THINGS for SUMMER
Play Suits—Shorts
Bathing Suits
Slack Suits
All At
P. W. WILSON CO.
—Since 1837—

FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
"Makers and Bakers of Good Things to Eat"

Seven YW Groups Meet in Jacksonville

National Y Secretary Visits Campus After Meeting

Of the eight student YWCA's in the state, seven were represented at the area meeting in Jacksonville last Saturday.

The theme of the meeting was "The Times Demand" which was the subject of a lecture by Dr William H Gray, Jr, president of Florida A and M college.

Students from Florida A and M college gave the worship programs under the leadership of Lavinia Perkins, president of the YWCA at A and M college.

Two talks, "Y in the World" by Miss Irene Harris, and "What to Do This Summer" by Miss Evelyn von Herrmann were given in the afternoon to present ideas of the opportunities for service made possible through YWCA. Miss Harris and Miss von Herrmann are national student secretaries of the Southern Area of YWCA.

Miss Nelle Ansley, executive YWCA secretary of the state presented "The Jacksonville YWCA and What It Does."

Miss von Herrmann was Miss Lula Bartley, member of the faculty at A and M college.

The planning committee for the meeting was Dixie Cummings, chairman, Pgh; Lavinia Perkins, Florida A and M; Hallieanne Chaloner, Florida State; Margaret Cockerell, FSC.

As a follow up of the meeting, a delegation from Florida State College brought Miss von Herrmann back to the campus with them. She spoke to the members of the YWCA making announcements at 6 o'clock in the Student-Alumnae building auditorium, giving them some ideas for future use. One such idea is to form small interest groups of freshmen next year with upper classmen advisors.

In her talk to the association, Miss von Herrmann also told the origin, history, purposes, scope, and outlook for the future of the YWCA.

Tuesday morning the cabinet members of the YWCA entertained Miss von Herrmann with breakfast in the kitchen.

Margaret Clayton, president of YWCA says, "We were especially glad to have Miss von Herrmann here on the campus, because it is the first time we have been visited by a national secretary."

Confirmation Held

Last Sunday three students and two faculty members of Florida State College were presented for confirmation to Bishop Frank A Juhan by Rev Alvin A Bullen, chaplain of Ruge hall.

These five persons were the special guests at the Sunday night supper at Ruge hall. They were Sylvia Virginia Neely Hardy and Gloria Reed ,students, and Misses Isobel McKinnell and Peggy Parker, faculty members.

Typists Needed at Veterans Hospital

Graduating seniors and students who do not plan to re-enter the Florida State College may make application for government employment at Finney General Hospital, Thomasville, Georgia, by seeing Dr Elizabeth G Andrews of the Personnel Office, second floor of Westcott, and filling in Form 57 Application Blanks at once.

Finney General Hospital has reported an extremely urgent need" and has made a request for stenographers and typists who can qualify under Civil Service rules and regulations.

A speed of at least 40 words per minute (preferably 50) is the typist requirement and 80 words per minute is shorthand for stenographers. Positions pay $1440 and $1620 per annum which amounts to $146.50 and $165.90 per month including overtime, respectively. Full maintenance appointments made for the duration of the war and not to exceed six months therefore.

A letter from the Army Service Forces, Fourth Service Command, requesting the applicants states, "It is respectfully requested that you canvass your commercial students and stress to them the importance of filling these positions at this station at the earliest practicable date. Wounded soldiers from combat areas are being regularly returned to this hospital to be admitted for medical treatment and attention. Civilian employees serve in a very important capacity as 'civilian soldiers'."

Pictures Overdue

Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel, requests that prospective graduates let the Personnel Office have their application pictures as soon as possible, as these pictures were due in the office on January 15. In order that graduates receive effective service, Miss Andrews said, their co-operation is needed. If a position in any field is desired, six pictures should be filed in the Personnel office, and only one if no position is wanted.

Parkers Entertain

Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, and Hainey Parker, president of Spirogirs, gave a party in their home yesterday afternoon for the members of Spirogyra.

The party began at 6:30 p m and consisted of a supper and special entertainment. The guests were unexpectedly entertained by a group of nine negro singers from Lake Jackson. The singers gave a pantomime on "Dem Bones. Dem Dry Bones."

The members met in front of Bryan and left together for the party.

Sale!

DEODORANT CREAM
Regular and Ceiling Price, $1
SALE PRICE 50¢ plus tax
Limited Time!
● Buy your summer supply now! Creamy-soft, smooth deodorant keeps you well groomed. Checks under-arm perspiration, stops odor. Men like Tussy Deodorant Cream, too! Get yours today and save half!
BENNETT'S
College Inn Pharmacy
Phone 800
Monroe St. Pharmacy
Phone 93

Prison Camp Widows Rejoice as Allies Advance in Germany

Recent government announcements of the release of Allied prisoners in Germany have been joyfully received by many Florida State students who had brothers, husbands, and friends captured over there.

Mamie Ida Stalag Luft, Ofleg, Stargard, Dulac, Lasaret Bad Sedan, and Burgaufschutzhuft, which are only unpronounceable words to most of the college, are actual locations painfully found on a Red Cross map to these "prison camp widows."

They hope that Allied victories will change the unsatisfying once-a-month postcards that prisoners are allowed to send to the former once-a-day letters.

Some girls, however, are a little worried about the progress of the war. Too many things happen at one time. On the same day that she received news that seeing Dr Elizabeth G Andrews of the Personnel Office, second floor of Westcott, and filling in Form 57 Application Blanks at once.

Finney General Hospital has reported an extremely urgent need" and has made a request for stenographers and typists who can qualify under Civil Service rules and regulations.

A speed of at least 40 words per minute (preferably 50) is the typist requirement and 80 words per minute is shorthand for stenographers. Positions pay $1440 and $1620 per annum which amounts to $146.50 and $165.90 per month including overtime, respectively. Full maintenance appointments made for the duration of the war and not to exceed six months therefore.

A letter from the Army Service Forces, Fourth Service Command, requesting the applicants states, "It is respectfully requested that you canvass your commercial students and stress to them the importance of filling these positions at this station at the earliest practicable date. Wounded soldiers from combat areas are being regularly returned to this hospital to be admitted for medical treatment and attention. Civilian employees serve in a very important capacity as 'civilian soldiers'."

Clothing Drive Ends With Good Results

An appreciable contribution of clothing was collected in the United Nations clothing drive which was sponsored by the Florida State College campus by the YWCA.

Margaret Clayton, president of YWCA, says that she is very proud of the number of good, usable articles contributed. Just the wool sweaters and winter clothes are all especially needed. Margaret also stated that when girls are packing up their clothes to go home they may find something they do not need to room 6 Bryan hall and it will be sent in to the clothing drive late.

The final count of articles of clothing contributed shows the following figures: 323 wool sweaters, 84 winter coats, 84 winter suits, 64 cotton and rayon skirts, 35 cotton suits, 25 pairs of jeans, 3 bathrobes, 150 blouses, 76 pairs of socks, 2 pairs of slacks, 5 jackets, 29 dresses, 8 pairs of gloves, 3 rain coats, 6 pairs of trousers, 10 scarfs, 5 men's vests, 38 long women's coats, 20 short coats, 61 articles of underwear, 2 cotton vests, 6 towels, 20 miscellaneous sweater articles, and several boxes of shoes.

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"HERE COMES THE COEDS"
Sunday and Monday
"KEYS OF THE KINGDOM"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"THE SUSPECT"
Thursday thru Saturday
"TONIGHT & EVERY NIGHT"
STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"Great Stagecoach Mystery"
—and—
"Man in Half Moon Street"
Sunday and Monday
"CRY OF THE WEREWOLF"
—and—
"LET'S GO STEADY"
Tuesday Only
STAGE SHOW
and also screen
"CHINESE CAT"
Wednesday and Thursday
"WOMAN IN THE WINDOW"
—and—
"LOST IN A HAREM"
RITZ
Last Times Tonight
"DRAGON SEED"
Saturday Only
"LAW OF THE VALLEY"
Sunday and Monday
"KISMET"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"THE LAST RIDE"
—and—
"ATLANTIC CITY"
Thursday and Friday
"MEET MISS BOBBY SOCKS"
—and—
"CANTERVILLE GHOST"

Esteren Picks New Members Tuesday

Thirteen Outstanding Evens Selected by Honorary

Esteren, Even honorary, tapped 10 juniors, two freshmen, and one faculty member last Tuesday noon in the college dining hall.

The new members include: Dr Corie E Moore, professor of sociology and director of social work, Margaret Baugh, Babe Evans, Jo Guthrie, Madelyn King, Jeanne Koesy, Jane Lyles, Audrey Perry, Ella Mae Quinby, Lodie Sikes, Anne Widerquist, Ida Lee Rentz and Jimmie Rogers.

After tapping was completed the members and the goats met in Landis parlor where the latter were welcomed into the orientation and were told their new duties.

The goats honored the members and faculty guests at a banquet in Landis dining hall that night. The tables were decorated with centerpieces of daisies in green vases, place cards in the form of calendars, and green ribbons. Later on in the evening the goats entertained the members with what "formal initiating." They ended the feasting with a session of eating and dieting in the Soda Shop.

The faculty guests at the banquet included Dr Katherine Montgomery, director of physical education; Miss Dorothea Marsh, instructor in physics; Miss Lynette Thompson, instructor in the classics; Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education; Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant professor of physics and counselor to senior girls; and Miss Louise Chanhan, alumnae secretary.

This week Esteren expects to see many of its alumnae on campus including Mary Lipolit, Elsie Hines, Marjie Lambert, Peggy Lee Walker and Dottie B McGahaun.

AAUW Fetes Contestants

Continued From Page One

time winner of the AAUW poetry contest, read two of her poems, "The Mausoleum," "Exiles," "After Reading Wordsworth," "Here In Your Room," and "The Old House." Peggy Li Thomson's prize winning short story, "Satisfactory," was read by Maurine Petty.

After the readings, the original dance routines were performed. Betty Bryson gave her original tap dance to the tune of "St. Louis Woman." A bit of comedy was introduced on the program by Julia Traylor and Nancy Mac-Edwards as they gave their modern dance, "The Dance of the Burros." To add to the effect of the dance, these two girls were dressed in costumes that represented burros. In conclusion, Marzery Hobs and Anne Hunter gave their modern dance interpretation of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C-Sharp Minor." The dance represented two despairing souls who saw a ray of hope, strove to attain it, but failed.

Certificates of Merit enarraved with the national seal of the AAUW were awarded to the following prize winners: Myra Pathfinall, Mary Ann Waller, Betty Troop, Dorothy Mayhew, Jacqueline Mazes, Mildred Zindler, Sarah Boswell, Juanita Cooper, Martha Lawson, Beverly Watkins Gertrude Nontine, Marzery Hobs, Anne Hunter, Anna Watkins, Alice Phillips, Peggy Lu Thomson, and Elizabeth McFarland.

Meeting to be Held

Saturday afternoon from 2 to 6 a vestry conference will be held at Ruse Hall to select a theme and plan a program for the comin rear. Both the old and new vestry members will be present.

The newly-elected vestry members will be installed at communion service on Sunday morning at 8:30.

Outing Club Elects Officers Tuesday

At the meeting of the Outing Club last Tuesday night in the clubroom of the Student Alumnae building officers were elected for the coming year. They are as follows: Tommy Thompson, chairman; Jean Breedlove, vice chairlove, food committee chairman; Charlotte Bourland, chairman of the finance committee; Rose Marie Perry, publicity chairman, and Audrey Nelson, reporter.

Definite plans were made for a trip to Wakulla on Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. There is a fee of 30 cents to all who wish to go. Swimming is included in this fee.

For those who wish to belong to the Outing Club next year, there will be a list of all committees posted on the bulletin board in Westcott next week. Students are requested to sign up for the committee they wish to be on.

Dancer Gives Navel Recitol

Continued From Page One

red and white checked skirt, long white ruffled pantaloons, and red and white shoes. Miss Barnes' romping back to the state to recite a few more nursery rhymes every time she received an encore to this number.

In her rendition of "Juliet" Miss Page did not try to tell the story of Juliet, but merely to evoke the mood of poetic romance that is implied by the character of Juliet. To music by Shubert and Liszt she danced in a pale pink, flowing, silver sprinkled costume which fell to the floor opening on one side from the waist.

Miss Albrecht played two solos "Will-o-the-wisp" by Philippo and "Clair de Lune" by Debussy. She was encored each time.

At the close of her program Miss Page was entertained at a banquet given in her honor by Rosemary Hubble at the Rainbow Dining Room.

Those attending this affair were Miss Page, Miss Albrecht, Dr and Mrs Milton W Carothers, Dean and Mrs Earl E Koerner, Mr and Mrs Van H Ferguson, Miss Frances Ferguson, Miss Bra Ni Atwood, Bonnie Kindig, and the hostess, Rosemary Hubble.

Miss Page told a story at dinner about an incident that happened to her not long ago. She had made the acquaintance of a German dancer many years ago in her travels and had occasionally corresponded with him. Not very long ago she received a letter from him and answered it without a thought. Soon after the FBI came to see her to find out what connection she had with the dancer who had become an influential member of the Nazi regime since Miss Page had last seen him. She said that it took her husband, who is a lawyer, to convince the authorities that the whole affair was harmless.

Dunn Will Present Piano Recital

Miss Margaret Dunn, instructor in piano, will present a piano recital in the college auditorium on Sunday evening, April 29, at 6:15 o'clock. Miss Dunn is the newest member of the music faculty at Florida State College, having come here in the spring semester of this year.

She was formerly at Baker University in Baldwin, Kansas. Miss Dunn is an experienced artist, having played professionally in London, Boston and New York. The program Sunday evening will be her first appearance in a recital at FSC.

She will first play Bist Du Bei Mir (originally for voice) by Dunn-Bach. Dorian Toccata-D minor (originally for organ) by Chiapusso Bach. Following will be Sonata-Fantasie G sharp minor. by Scriabine. Chopin's Nocturne-opus 27 No 1. and Nocturne-opus 27 No 1.

Also Ravel's Ondine, Albeniz's Almeria and Triana from Iberia by Albeniz, and Reflets dans l'eau by DeBusse. The program concludes with Etude D-shop minor by Scriabine.

43 Students Attend BSU State Retreat

Forty-three Baptistes students of Florida State College branch of Baptist Student Union attended the annual BSU state retreat at Camp O'Leno near Gainesville last week-end.

This retreat, according to Jean Satterwhite, publicity chairman, was for the purpose of training the new officers of the BSU's over the state.

The theme of the retreat this year was based on the phrase "Are We Able?" from the book of Nehemiah, name.

The major speakers were Dr Lablalau Biro, pastor of the University Baptist church of Coral Gables; Dr Hugh Brimm, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lakeland; Dr Porter Routhe, Baptist state executive secretary; Mrs Jack Maxwell, state youth leader in Jacksonville; Rev W C Strickland, associate pastor of the First Baptist church of Jacksville; Rev Joe Abetance, city-wide Baptist secretary in Atlanta; Rev Clyde B Lipscomb, Baptist state student secretary; and Miss Katherine Walker, Baptist student secretary at Florida State College for women. Also given by John Ford, State BSU president and a student at the University of Florida.

The girls left Tallahassee Friday afternoon and returned to the campus Sunday night.

Traveling Secretary Speaks to Y W C A

Continued From Page One

live on the campuses of one of five universities, and while they work in the city for the purpose of understanding the problems of a certain group of working people, they will be taught by professors or visiting professionals in their field of study. The five universities being used this year for this study are: University of Chicago, University of Connecticut, University of Michigan, University of Washington, and the University of Minnesota.

The second phase of summer work is the religious classes at Columbia University. In addition to the theology and Christian ethics classes, there will be a course in Christian organization.

The last phase is the summer camps to which representatives are sent to get ideas and plans to bring back to their local Y's.

Miss von Herrmann, according to Margaret, is the first traveling secretary to visit FSC in many years. While on campus she was entertained at a breakfast given in Landis kitchen.

After attending the Jacksonville YWCA convention with the FSC delegates, Miss von Herrmann returned to Tallahassee for another two days.

Snow to Lecture On Peruvian Articles

Sidney Snow, artist who is to classify the Peruvian relics sent to Florida State College by Mr and Mrs John Victor Carter of the Canal Zone, will speak on the collection on the fourth floor of the Student Alumnae building at 6:30 May 7.

Thirteen cases of the Incan and pre-Incan relics have been sent to FSC so far. In addition to being very rare, the collection will be the largest accumulation of early South American art in this country. The only collection to surpass it in size is the one at the University of California.

Plans are being made to build a new art building after the war to house the collection and give room for other art activity on the campus. After the exhibition as part of the AAUW Creative Arts Spring Program, the collection will be closed indefinitely except by special permission.

Mr Snow will be at the college for several months to arrange a classification of the relics from his own artistic standpoint. The arranging of the collection in rears to the Florida museum is a new trend in museum work. It is expected to be a great attraction when the museum is opened to the public.

The only event to follow this entertainment on the Creative Arts program will be Music Week, May 6-12.

Dancer Attributes Coreer Beginning To Russian Artist

Continued From Page One

tried it but it went sour, so I let it went over; so I have been doing it ever since."

While down on her knees straightening out a tangled veil, she replied to a query about her training. "I was adopted into the skating very much. "I read quite a lot, too," she added, still busy with the veil, "and I am quite interested in modern art of all kinds. I am also very much interested in everything that is done today."

Miss Page said that "Lament for the Death of a Spanish Bullfighter" by Garcia Lorca was the favorite of the dancers from here. She added that she always liked those Spanish encore each time. "I hope to do one of Lorca's poems in the original Spanish some day, as I've got a flair for them."

The dancer has been doing a ballet in the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo company this winter, and FSC was the first stop in the tour this season. From here they were going to Jacksonville.

At the dinner after the performance, Miss Page spoke of her experiences on he tours in Germany and Japan. She recounted an experience of six months ago when she wrote a cable to a German dancer, a former partner of hers. The FBI considering the cable suspicious came to investigate its source. Miss Page pushed her hair back off her neck as she laughed and said, "They talked as if they thought I was a second Mata Hari until my husband, a hard-boiled lawyer, came in to explain it to them. They believed him, but I never could have made them understand it."

The United States contains about 12,000 secondary schools, serving approximately 750,000 children.

Two of every seven pedestrians killed in motor vehicle traffic accidents are 65 years of age or over.

An "iron lung" resembling an oversized periscope is in use by both Allied and Axis submarines. The "iron lung" tube which is projected above the water allows the submarine to take on air without surfacing. A value in the tube prevents tht tube from filling with water and flooding the submarine

Groinger Will Appear In Two Piono Concerts

Continued From Page One

erty Loan meeting to another. One day at the Barracks at Governor's Island, New York City, Grainger put his adaptations of "Country Gardens" upon paper. This little piece has since broken all G Schirmer's sales records for the last 75 years, and is at present selling at the rate of over 27,000 copies a year in the United States alone while it is also appearing in British, German, Scandinavian and Australian editions.

Mr Grainger says that both diet and exercise are important for keeping fit and for an artist wishing to give his best to the world. He says that his piano practice is so vicorous that he sweats freely while at work and finds that this sweating effort continues for 3 to 5 hours each day near an open window, makes other exercise unnecessary. He is also fond of sports, trotting in particular, which he does instead of walking almost all of the time. He was called the "trotting pianist" in London.

Mr Grainger feels that America should develop a national musical style, and it is of this that most of his articles in "Etude" a national music magazine, deal. He says, "There is nothing worse than to neglect your own, as well as other national styles. Modern geniuses are coming to America continually and unless something is done to foster and preserve American music, and musicians as well, there will never be a characteristic American music."

Grainger's democratic tastes and love of "doing things for himself" sometimes lead to complications. Recently he selected a tall metal piano lamp as a gift and, in his eagerness to present the gift personally, solved the services of Stern's shipping department and staggered to Grand Central Station on his way to White Plains bearing the heavy metal lamp himself. While at the station, waiting hatless for the train (for Grainger despises hats) he aroused the suspicions of the station detectives who approached Grainger by asking him where he had gotten the lamp. Fortunately he had Stern's receipt for the lamp in his pocket, and it was only after he had produced this and told them who he was that the station detectives were entirely satisfied that the perspiring, hatless person before them, bearing the huge metal lamp was not a pilferer, but the composer of "Shepherd's Hey", and "Country Gardens."

Once when Mr Grainger visited a peasant cottage he had heard and knew a version of a folk-song in which he was interested, the peasant was so enthusiastic about the idea of helping the young Australian to get what he wanted that he wrote the whole song on the wall and then ripped off nine feet of wall paper and gave it to Grainger. The celebrated pianist still has this interesting "Snatch of Song" among his most cherished possessions.

During his stay here on the campus, Mr Grainger will give two concerts, rehearse the orchestra, band, glee club, speak at the School of Music dinner, conduct the Gala Concert of Glee Club selections who approached Grainger by asking him where he had gotten the lamp. Fortunately he had Stern's receipt for the lamp evening, and ... morning at 10 in the Music Annex on "Creativeness in the ... .

Journalism Students Will Edit Democrat

The one issue of The Daily Democrat which is put out annually by Journalism department will be the Sunday edition May 6, instead.

This edition is part of the training of the journalism students and the Flambeau staff of 1944-45 will take over the editorial, business and advertising positions of the Democrat staff.

Sophomore reporters of Journalism 201 will do the r- ortings which they have already started by getting up material for fea- tures, interviews, and informative articles. On Saturday before the Sunday issue the reporters will get the regular daily news assignments that the Democrat reporters receive each day. Then they will cover the news of the town, advanced journalism students will have late permission as usual to say until the paper comes off the press.

The faculty direction for this issue of the paper will be under Mr Earl L. Vance, associate professor of economics and Mrs Pearl Shepard, instructor in English and Journalism.

U of F Club To Sing Here In Road Show

Continued From Page One

bassadors of Good Will," made its first appearance at FSC in the spring of 1927. It returned for 16 consecutive years, until the present war. 'I would not be surprised if there'd always have been girls in that first audience who today are the matrons of girls who will be there Saturday night", said Director DeBruyn.

The Glee Club last year was a skeleton organization of about 15 men, and Director DeBruyn had been recruited to teach English to prospective members of the Army Air Forces. The outlook for a vocal organization was discouraging. Last fall the AAF teaching was discontinued and the enrollment of civilian students increased. But -le new members of the Glee Club were untrained, and there were few of the older experienced men left to help show them the techniques employed. However, the new men began to work faithfully four times a week. Each man was entitled to one brief voice lesson in return for his efforts. The club began to show promising signs at the beginning of the second semester when help came from discharged veterans. In the group tomorrow night there will singers with citations, and others who have received an considerable number of Nipponese planes.

In March the Club had progressed enough to make appearances at Starke, Camp Blanding, and the Lake City Veterans Hospital. The colonel in command of the Starke Prisoner of War Camp wrote to the administration in Gainesville that his patients had enjoyed the concert, and on campus boards, were furnished to the boys by the County Health department under the direction Dr Paul J Couchlin.

YWCA Big Sisters Will Meet Tuesd

Wilna Humphrey, vice pres of the Young Woman's Chri Association, is calling a me of the Big Sisters of next on Tuesday at 2 p m in room of the Student Alu building. since there will be convocation because of t meetings on that night.

A paper has been placed o Y bulletin board in Westcot all girls who wish to be Bi ters next year are urged to on it. However, girls w'o h signed the paper, but wh to be Big Sisters, may come i meeting.

The chairman and secretar the Big Sister group will be ed at this meeting, and plan the Big-Little Sister party during the 1946 orientation will be discussed. Wilna also that plans would be discuss continuing activity between groups after the party.

X-Rays For TB To Be Offered All Studer

Continued From Page One

more common among wo than men and most prevale people between the ages of 15 35. So it is most easily cure people of college age."

Informational literature m bers will be distributed everyone on campus in orde familiarize people with stat concerning the disease and further realization for the ne portance of the program. Miss Parrish, executive secretary o Leon County TB Association in charge of distributing the terial. The posters on tube will be on campus bulletin boards, were furnished to the leys by the County health department under the direction Dr Paul J Couchlin.

Ham Harris from Eustis; Wi Hess, James Busse and Ed McCullers from Jackson Walter Hoffman, George H William Goehring and Ted son from Miami; Dave Ha and Burton Ricks from Gon ville; Al Beer from Miami Be Al Carlos from Wauchula; Hargrave from Hawthorne.

AIR SERVICE
FROM TALLAHASSEE
to ORLANDO
and
OCALA

Arrives Tallahassee—11:15 A.M.
Departs for Ocala and Orlando—1:30 P.M.
Municipal Airport

Office Opens at 10 A.M.
For Reservations, Phone 2565

MRS. WHEELER, Agent

WAX FOR DANCE FLOORS
SILVER POLISH

Seek it First at VAN'BRUNT & VON INC
VON'S HARDWARE

● Over the ravaged ground of war-torn Europe, trudge 125 million men, women, and children who have given all but life itself toward the same permanent peace we all are striving for.

Their need for clothing is as great as that for food—in some areas deaths from exposure equal those from starvation.

These people need something you don't. They need your spare clothing.

150 million pounds must be collected this month. Will you give your share?

What YOU Can Do!

1. Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, skirts, jackets, pants, shirts, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all bed goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.

2. Take your contribution to your local COLLECTION DEPOT near or accessible to have your LOCAL COMMITTEE collect it before April 30th.

3. Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort, and energy.

UNITED NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION
for Overseas War Relief ● HENRY J. KAISER, National Chairman

APRIL 1 TO 30

This advertisement prepared by the War Advertising Council for United National Clothing Collection

Z 106

VOL. XXXII, No. 26

Tallahassee, Florida

MAY 4, 1945

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

"Know Your Tallahassee"

Legislature in Brief

By CORDELIA BARCLAY

Florida's educational institutions of higher learning were left in the purse's stalin this week, as the sons of representatives passed a bill concerning both FSCW and the University of Florida, and as a legislative committee continued investigation of the death of a student in the University infirmary and subsequent charges of "neglect" and "waste" at the school.

The Senate-approved Barnard bill, which provides that wives and husbands of war veterans may, under the bill of Virginia, attend either the University of Florida or Florida State College for Women. If the bill is approved by the Governor, husbands of VAVETS or WAACs may attend here, and wives of servicemen can attend classes at Gainesville.

State attention was attracted to the investigation at Gainesville by a special legislative committee of the death of Howard Kilian Bartsch, veteran student, and the school infirmary. Charges were made by Dr. C. Live Oak, member of the Board of Control, that the death was due to neglect.

Senator Hodges, chairman of the committee heard Dr T. Z. Cason of Jacksonville, specialist on diabetic cases, but Dr. Bartsch's case, he declared, lacked adequate treatment.

"Everything was done that medical science could do," said Dr Cason who assisted in a post mortem for the Alumnae Association. He said that Dr Walley Morrow, former Gainesville physician, had acted as promptly as possible in seeing and treating Bartsch.

Dr Murphree had received a call in the committee and had denied that certain tests be made. After receiving tests at Live Oak, however, the institute treatment that was continued until the death.

Cason also stated that all facilities "except human ones" were abundant at the infirmary. Dr Tigert, school president, had earlier testified that infirmary (one short of personnel) and real every attempt to find a full-time physician had failed.

The charges of neglect made by Board of Control Member Scott were followed by a counter-charge in addition to the protest against the infirmary, Scott charged "waste and extravagance" in the operation of the university.

R P Beasley of Jacksonville board president, yesterday told the investigating committee that he was convinced that the charges were unwarranted and unfounded in fact."

Adair's testimony came as the University presented its evidence if the committee's investigation's three-day hearing. Monday and Tuesday saw the Board's fiscal secretary, the auditor and members of the university budget committee testify. Wednesday and Thursday Scott had testified for two hours of direct examination. The committee's report will then stained the college budget, and hard testimony from President John J Tigert, of the university.

Tigert, in reply to Scott's statement that sufficient funds the last set by the budget had been put to investigate the clerical staff of the University radio station, WRUF, said that the budget for his institution had been cut to the minimum requirements for peacetime conditions.

Adair, in sensational testimony, said that the four other members of the Board of Control had known nothing of the charges until 24 hours after he had told a group of legislators in Tallahassee.

He explained that in his opinion the charges were brought because "Mr Scott wanted to be the University, and the four other members won't let him do it." The statement brought cheers from the state students and faculty members of the university.

Adair added that the University had to continue its large budget, even though enrollment somewhat had dropped, because before the end of the biennium the University will be housing students in temporary barracks and teaching them in temporary classrooms.

"If we haven't extra money available it doesn't mean that the boys will do when they come back," Adair said, pointing out that if the money is not spent it will revert to the state treasury.

State finances and taxation were headlines news last week as opposition continued to block passage of administration sponsored bills adding taxes to cigarettes and beer.

The administration's 4-cent cigarette tax bill was killed last week when the Senate refused to consider it. Administration leaders of the finance and taxation com-

Continued on Page Two

Barclay Heads Staff to Edit The Democrat

"Know Your Tallahassee" Will Be Featured In Edition

Journalism Students Cover: All Regular Beats

Students of the journalism department will edit Sunday's edition of the Daily Democrat.

Editing of the paper is an annual procedure, with girls of the department assuming full control for news-gathering,editing, and page make-up.

Theme of this year's edition is "Know your Tallahassee", according to Cordella Barclay, who will serve as editor-in-chief of the Sunday Democrat. Shirley Rubin, will be managing editor, with Janet Pancoast and Rachael Hill in charge of feiatyre news. City editors are Peggy Kay and Anne Dalton. Ella Mae Gray is proofreading and proof-reading is Janet Rogers, with Frances Rines and Delia Perez on the staff. Feature editor is Barbara Bess, and sports will be handled by Betty Weaver.

Society news will be edited by Lois Byrd. Muriel Copinus will serve as cartoonist and question editor. Frances Hines is art and picture editor.

Business and advertising will be managed by Marianne Smith and Helen Parsons. Girls who will assist are Betty Strickland, Bobbie Rees, Dot Miller, Georgia Keating, Lettie Sullivan, and Aileen Sayers.

Twenty-eight students will serve as reporters and will spend Saturday following news assignments of local events. To report the following: Virginia Allstock, Lois Rose, Ruth Keller, Mary Ann Wall, Elizabeth Sue Tillman, Delores Papy, Eileen Davis, Anne Hudson, Elizabeth Lanham, Betty Pearsyne, Louise Sims, Marte Waters, Burma Cox, Bobbie Jo Berry, Betty Jean Barker, Esther, Betty Dowd, Gloria Reed, Miriam Angell, Nicky Sartoris, Catherine Wellman, Alice Crowell, Barbara Wickham, Dee Gardner, Georgia Cooper, Jean Sanders, Peggy Lu Thomson, and May Alexander.

Reporters have already written full-length features on Tallahassee institutions and establishments.

Continued on Page Two

FSC Art Will Be Exhibited at Leon

Some of the art work of FSC students and former students is to be exhibited at Leon HS May 7 during the week through May 12.

There will be examples from the freshman design, advanced design, theory and composition, freshman drawing, head life, painting, advanced painting. Prepared members were: Amarene Thompson, chairman of the food committee; members of the committee, Jean Shaver, Jackie Nevers, Joyce Petty, Bobbey Randolf and Wilma Peacock; Ann Fielding, chairman of the entertainment committee; Charlotte Ireland, Babs McCarthy and Betty La Bree; Janice Hodges, chairman of the posters committee: members, Doris DuBois, Enid Krouse, Marilyn Hutchinson and Sue Shepherd; Iris Parsons, chairman of the invitation committee; members, Audrey Evans, La Perne Quinn, Marshall Lee Vernon, Catherine

Continued on Page Two

Irish Is Appointed Special Consultant

Dr Marion Irish, professor of Political Science, has been appointed technical consultant by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, in a nation-wide survey of state government organizations.

This survey has been initiated in response to the need, long recognized by specialists and by Federal and state officials, for information about a level of government that is important in itself and in relation to other government levels.

Dr Irish has also recently been elected to the national council of the National Civil Service Reformatory. The council is the policy forming body of the league. It is composed of personnel technicians in various parts of the country who are interested in the improvement of the merit system and in the extension through out the public service.

Cordella Barclay, editor of the Flambeau for the past year, will act as editor in chief of the annual edition of the Daily Democrat, published each year by journalism department students.

Snow Tells Of Incan Relics

Pottery, Weaving, Carving Included in Exhibit

A South American atmosphere enveloped the informal crowd as it gathered Wednesday night on the fourth floor of the Students' Building to see the rare collection of Incan relics.

As the visitors looked at the collection, Mr Sidney Snow, an artist who arranged the exhibit, explained the relics consisting of pottery, weaving, wood carving, leather wearing apparel and other handicrafts, most all of which are said to be from 500 to 5,000 years old.

One relic which caused much attraction was a group of wood carvings depicting "Savonic Dance No 1 in G Minor" as the orchestra number. The dance was accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan at the piano. Miss Dolly Hutton played the violin solos, and soloists, played Maurice Ravel's "Piece en Forme de Habanera" the fifteen minute program was concluded after Daphne Rowe, accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan, sang "Mia Carlotta" by Naginsky and "Caprice" by Genevieve Dale.

The regular Thursday night Garnet and Gold broadcast featured AAUW prize winners presenting their own creative works.

Those participating in the broadcast were: Amarene Thompson, chairman of the food committee; members of the committee, Jean Shaver, Jackie Nevers, Joyce Petty, Bobbey Randolf and Wilma Peacock; Ann Fielding, chairman of the entertainment committee; Charlotte Ireland, Babs McCarthy and Betty La Bree; Janice Hodges, chairman of the posters committee: members, Doris DuBois, Enid Krouse, Marilyn Hutchinson and Sue Shepherd; Iris Parsons, chairman of the invitation committee; members, Audrey Evans, La Perne Quinn, Marshall Lee Vernon, Catherine

Continued on Page Two

Sophomore Council Fetes Old Members

Decorations and Skit Follow Co-education Theme

The new Sophomore Council members gave a supper for the old members last night in the East dining hall. The dinner was followed by entertainment in Brownand lounge.

The theme, "Coeducation in Tallahassee," which was kept secret until the party began, was brought out in the decorations and in the skit which portrayed the modern dance class of Miss Cubby Papazios, instructor in physical education, and in the hygiene class of Dr Sarah Parker white, orthopedic physician and professor of hygiene.

The members of the party was Rosemary Marcoux, Chairmen of the other committees and their members were: Amarene Thompson, chairman of the food committee; members of the committee, Jean Shaver, Jackie Nevers, Joyce Petty, Bobbey Randolf and Wilma Peacock; Ann Fielding, chairman of the entertainment committee; Charlotte Ireland, Babs McCarthy and Betty La Bree; Janice Hodges, chairman of the posters committee: members, Doris DuBois, Enid Krouse, Marilyn Hutchinson and Sue Shepherd; Iris Parsons, chairman of the invitation committee; members, Audrey Evans, La Perne Quinn, Marshall Lee Vernon, Catherine

Continued on Page Two

Coeducation Comes To Florida State

Florida State College for Women has become co-educational. After years of deliberation and months of controversial arguing, the only remaining state in the union not to have a state supported institution of higher learning has at last changed its policies, and co-educational doors opened the stately gates of Florida State College no longer for women only.

The final bill has passed Legislature permitting wives or husbands of ex-servicemen and women to attend both U.s University of Florida at Gainesville and Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee.

To have the hard-fought-for co-education, a student of FSCW has only to join with GAW, WAVES, Marines, or SPARS, get married and when she is discharged from the service, she and her husband may attend Florida State College together.

If a girl does not wish to join the service to get co-education, she may marry a serviceman and when he is discharged from the service they may attend the University together.

The name of Florida State College for Women will not be changed.

Students Perform On 2 Radio Shows

AAUW Winners Give Works On Thursday Program

The second in the series of student programs was broadcast Thursday night, April 26, at 7:30 from the college studio.

Rachel Crotwell, violinist, played Sarasate-Zimbalist's "Slavonic Dance No 1 in G Minor" as the opening number. The dance was accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan at the piano. Miss Dolly Hutton played the violin solos, and soloists, played Maurice Ravel's "Piece en Forme de Habanera" the fifteen minute program was concluded after Daphne Rowe, accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan, sang "Mia Carlotta" by Naginsky and "Caprice" by Genevieve Dale.

The regular Thursday night Garnet and Gold broadcast featured AAUW prize winners presenting their own creative works.

Those participating in the broadcast were: Amarene Thompson, chairman of the food committee; members of the committee, Jean Shaver, Jackie Nevers, Joyce Petty, Bobbey Randolf and Wilma Peacock; Ann Fielding, chairman of the entertainment committee; Charlotte Ireland, Babs McCarthy and Betty La Bree; Janice Hodges, chairman of the posters committee: members, Doris DuBois, Enid Krouse, Marilyn Hutchinson and Sue Shepherd; Iris Parsons, chairman of the invitation committee; members, Audrey Evans, La Perne Quinn, Marshall Lee Vernon, Catherine

Continued on Page Two

College Girls Lead Local Church Groups

Methodfist leaders on campus are making extensive plans to enlarge the deputation program because this year as an experiment, Deputations will consist of college girls and an adult counselor who go into surrounding towns to present a worship service and a sermon in Methodist churches. Over thirty girls have gone into ten surrounding churches since February 24 when the first team went out.

Before any deputation group left, the college there was a special consecration service under the inspiration led by Miss Florence Jones. Tallahassee district director of the college group. At the close of the service Miss Shepherd the Reverend Ed Pendergast, district superintendent of Methodist churches, led the service of commitment.

The majority of deputation weekends are generally the same, varying only in small details. Each team arrives at the local church on Friday night for a reception with the pastor and key young people. Saturday morning is taken up with a planning period for the weekend and becoming familiar with the local situation.

The team leads a business meeting and discussion group with the local young people on Saturday afternoon. Often the group breaks into four divisions for discussion concerning various parts of the work of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Saturday night the college girls lead the recreation for a party. Sunday morning the team members are available to lead and part of church school activities. Usually they substitute for the morning sermon in the formal church service. Sunday afternoon is a continuation of Saturday afternoon activities and before they leave on Sunday night the team presents the evening worship service of the youth fellowship meeting.

University Glee Club Gives Show

Jo Anna Olson, Formerly Chicago Opera Singer, Is Featured

Al Alsenjo, Blind Pianist, Plays Original Song

The University of Florida Glee Club, directed by Mr John W De Bruyn presented a vocal show last night, in the University auditorium.

Jo Anna Olson, a former opera and concert singer from Chicago, was featured on the program. Mrs Robert B. She also sang "I See You Again" with Huch Pappy and "Evening Tou" with Richard Kinney. Both boys are members of the Glee Club.

Also featured on the program was Al Alsenjo, blind pianist who has made many records for Decca, Hageman, Benny Goodman, and Xavier Cugat. He introduced a number of his own compositions, "I'm in Heaven at Eleven." The words which Mrs Alsenjo reads to him flashes at his college uses were written by Henry Jennings of Miami. The original song was dedicated to FSC the vocals were performed by the Glee Club. Other numbers were Kastalanetz's "Lament to Love," "I Dream Too Much" and Kastalanetz's "Star Dust" which was dedicated to the girls of Florida State College. Closing the regular pieces Mr Asenjo agreed to show the girls how he composed and can be jazzed up. He played "La Cinquintaine" and "Improvisation" and then "Medieval Symphony" he developed "Accentuate the Positive."

Then he enjoyed Mr Alsenjo's performance may be interested in knowing that within a week he is going to Tampa to have an operation performed on his eyes. The doctors give the operation a seven to one chance of success.

The performance of "Faith's New Birth" was the theatrical premiere of a composition by William J Bryan, University of Florida student. The female sang the solo part while Mr Bryan played the piece. Mr Bryan played Bach's "Invention No 13" and Rachmaninoff's "Polichinella."

A skit called "Gwendolyn" was given in the Glee Club. Starring Sims Valders, Frank Grafton and

Continued on page two

Students Approve FSC Ring Changes

A majority of students voted yesterday to accept the changes in the design of the Florida State College for Women ring. The vote was taken at the meeting of the combined Freshman, Sophomore, junior and Senior class meeting. They were brought up at the meeting because a new contract has expired and the change can be made when the contract is signed.

Betty Lewis announced to the Senior class that commencement invitations would be sent to Delta Zeta Book Store and hoods to be worn by graduates would have to be ordered through the Book Store as soon as possible.

Seniors Plant Tree At Annual Ceremony

The senior class sponsors, Mrs Lazelle W Dickens, instructor in physical education, and Dr W B Rogers, professor of English, gave brief talks at the tree planting ceremony held by the graduating senior classes last night.

Immediately following the planting of the tree, the seniors held their traditional ceremony to burn their books. This year, they decided to burn notes and notebooks which would be of no use rather than books in good repair because of the paper shortage.

The class tree, a live oak, is cedar, at the Lands green corner nearest the dormitory.

Notice to Seniors

All seniors who need to rent caps, gowns or hoods should order their orders with the bookstore immediately.

Rent on the hoods is $5.50. Those who do not return them promptly after graduation, then they will receive a refund of $3.00. The deadline for ordering hoods is May 25.

May Day Theme To Be Village

Queen to Be Revealed In Saturday Pageant

The theme of the annual May Day celebration, which will be held Saturday afternoon, May 12 behind Westcott building on Florida State campus, will be a small village.

The traditional Queen of the May will be crowned and attended by her members of her court. The queen and attendants are a secret not to be revealed until the crowning ceremony. The royal party will then be entertained with dances and pageantry.

The singers to entertain the royal party are: Yrobel Hodges, chairman of the committee; Virginia Helle, Ann Daniels, Marcia McLaughlin, Mary Alice Wheeler, Twyla Baer, Eloise Ziegler.

The musicians will be: Edwina Wiginia, chairman of the music committee; Betty Hilda Hutchinson, Marilyn Dewey, Rachel Crotwell.

The girls who will participate in the dances are: Marzie Platt chairman of the dance committee; Jeanne Dyer, Mary Jackson, Adele Gant, Clarice Garrison, Nicky Sartoris, Ethel Pare Linbaugh, Florence DuBant, Frances Hines, Betty Jean Barker,

Continued on page Two

Past Flambeau Staff Honored at Banquet

Speeches Given By Advisers, Barclay Makes Awards

The theme of the annual Flambeau banquet, which was held Wednesday night at the Rainbow Dining Room in honor of the outgoing staff, was "The Revolution."

Extemporaneous speeches were given by the faculty sponsors and members of the staff on subjects assigned to them by the program chairmen.

Mr Earl L Vance, associate professor of journalism, was listed on the program to speak on "Mr Vance and designated to speak on "My Job as Publication Camp." Mr Vance, however, did not include himself in his talk, but commended Cordella Barclay. College girls who are now working on the Democrat staff brought out the country by virtue of their Flambeau training.

"Sophomores Are Returned" was the topic given Miss Pearle Shepard, instructor in physics. Miss Shepard was appointed and introduced as the banquet as "Foreign Minister"

Continued on page Two

Judy Attends Meet Of Spanish Teachers

Miss Marjorie Judy, instructor in Spanish at FSC, represented the local college at the meeting of the Florida chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese at Florida, Fla.

After a business meeting held early Saturday morning the remainder of the day was devoted to celebrating Pan American Day.

A luncheon was held at the Chamber of Commerce at which the principle speaker was Mr Charles Morrow Wilson, author and magazine editor, who spoke on "New Horizons for the New World."

During the afternoon session Colonel Robert L Scott, author of the book "God Is My Co-Pilot" lectured on "The Air Force of a United Western Hemisphere."

The Woman's Club was the scene of a banquet held that night at which the former governor Spessard L Holland was toastmaster. The honorable Herschel Brickell, editor, author, and assistant chief of the Division of Cultural Cooperation, Department of State, Washington, spoke on "Cultural Relations In the Post-War World."

Grainger Will Be Featured In FSC Music Week Opening Sunday Afternoon At Four

Week Will Be Centered Around Pianist-Composer; Opening Concert Will Be Presented By Florida State College Band

Music week at Florida State College, featuring Percy Grainger, pianist and composer, will be formally opened this weekend by an outdoor concert of the college band under the direction of Frank Sykors, conductor, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and a recital by Ramona C Beard, organist, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the college auditorium.

OUTDOOR CONCERT

The outdoor concert will be given from the front steps of Westcott building with the audience seated in chairs on the lawn. A program of marches, popular numbers and light classics will be given at this time. In the event of rain, the concert will be held in Westcott auditorium.

RECITAL

Mrs Beard's recital is the program planned for last winter which was put off because of the breakdown of the pipe organ in Westcott. It will include groups of classic, romantic and modern selections.

Recently Mrs Beard gave a program at the University of Florida and has also been active in the pre-Raster organ vespers here at FSC.

Sunday morning Percy Grainger and his wife will arrive to be entertained at luncheon this week. Because both Mr and Mrs Grainger are very fond of outdoor, the college has opened Camp Flastacroyo to them. According to Dr Ruth E Kinnaman, dean of the school of music, the Graingers will probably hike out from the camp for a three hour cross-country "walk" of 60 miles through Glacier National Park.

FINGER PLAY ACCOMPANCE

Mr Grainger's first appearance before an audience will be his concert Monday night at 8:15 in the college auditorium. The same program will be presented again Tuesday night at the same hour. Students may get tickets for either performance regardless of which ticket series they have. However, for reserved seats, only blue reserved seat tickets will be accepted Monday night, and red reserved seat tickets will be accepted Tuesday night, Tickets may be obtained at the door on the concert evening if some students have been unable to obtain them. Because of the large sale of tickets for Monday's performance, the music department requests as many students as possible to attend the concert Tuesday evening.

The music department has received several out-of-town tickets reservations, and people from several other cities are planning to spend the week in Tallahassee to hear Mr Grainger. Some of the cities which will be represented are Tampa, Jacksonville and St Augustine.

Wednesday evening in the Augusta Conradi theater at 8:15 the Grainger Piano Ensemble will make its first appearance. Members of this group are Mrs Mary E Wilson, who will play first piano, pianist; Mr Kuersteiner, 1st violin; Rachel Crotwell, 2nd violin; Mrs Olga Eitner, associate professor of violin; and Mrs Frank Sykors, associate professor of cello, 1st cello.

Three nufhers, "Fantasias" for string trios by Purcell will be rendered.

Continued on Page Five

X-Rays for TB Tests Given

Machine Adjusted to Take 150 Students an Hour

X-rays for tuberculosis, sponsored by the Florida State Public Health Service, are being given all this week through Wednesday in the Lands recreation room and kitchen with Miss Helen Neely as technician in charge and Miss Dorothy Fulton assisting.

Students were notified of the time of their appointments on campus mail and a list was posted in Westcott. Day students are asked to come for their x-rays at their convenience during the time scheduled for all students, which is through today.

With discovery of early tuberculosis cases as the objective, the United States Public Health Service and the State Board of Health is sponsoring this program in co-operation with the Leon County TB and Health Association, and the officials of Florida State College.

Though a similar series of examinations was conducted in the year 1942-43, this year's program will be far more extensive. Improved facilities and time limit so it is expected to benefit a larger number than before.

Over a thousand students had been x-rayed by May 3. The X-ray machine was adjusted so that an average of 150 students per hour could be taken.

The pictures are taken on a 35 millimeter film and are being developed in the college dark room. There are 350 X-ray pictures to one roll of film.

Dr Dorothy Chayes, physician at the college infirmary, stated that the plates will be read some time before the end of the term, and that certain percentage of those showing positive signs of the small film will be X-rayed again on large film. She also stated

Continued on page Two

Sophomores Honor Seniors at Supper

Sophomore-Senior supper, held in the old dining hall last Friday night, featured a Spanish theme.

The theme was carried out in small models of the gates of heaven, over which an angel was peeping, on tables. Red, white, blue, wings, and white dresses were the new sophomore council girls who served the dinner.

After the supper a skit was presented by the sophomores, and a quartet made up of Betty LaBree, Jimmie Rogers, Jean Bennett and Marilyn Dewey sang the original song written by Daphne Rowe in honor of the seniors.

Those who were reserved for the class officers and the faculty guests.

In former years, the supper was a breakfast, but waiting hours made it necessary to change this year's plans slightly.

Watkins Will Give Recital Saturday

Anna Watkins, pianist and composition major, will present a recital for her certificate in piano Saturday evening at 8:15 in Westcott auditorium.

Assisting her will be Rachel Crotwell, violin student, who is concert master of the symphony orchestra and a member of the band. Rachel will play several violin selections on the program. She has already received her certificate in voice, and when she receives her piano certificate, she will be qualified to teach both voice and piano.

The program will include two selections from Beethoven, "The Lark" by Glinka-Balakirew, "Nocturne" by Rezniki and Copeland's "Mexican Dance" by Anna Watkins. Rachel will play "Slavonic Dance in G Minor" and De Beriot's "Scene de Ballet."

Kid Party Will Be Held Before Lands

The junior-senior kid party will be held this afternoon at 6 o'clock at Lands field. In case of rain, the games will take place in Lands Recreational hall.

Junior and seniors will eat in Lands dining hall, after which they will go to the show, paying half price.

Jane Lyles was in charge of all preparations for the party.

Archery and Tennis Games to Be Played

Odd-Even Rivalry Runs High With Close Competition

The Odd-Even tennis matches, which began Tuesday, are nearing completion, finding the Evens slightly ahead with a 3-1 margin.

The game, which were to have been completed yesterday, were postponed until the next clear day because of rain.

Members of the teams were chosen Monday, and are composed of Lucy Brown, Betsy Wilson, Emily Shefiall, Eileen Perry, Mary Nell McFadden, June Hassell, and Blanche Favor, leader, for the Odds: and Connie Savage, Joy Little, Rose Mary Marcoux, Barbara Randolph, Rita Fraser, Ann MacInnes, and Frances Cannon, led by Babe Evans, for the Evens.

In the doubles section of the tournament, Betsy Wilson and Emily Shefiall defeated Barbara Randolph and Rose Mary Marcoux with a score of 6-2 and 6-1. Rita Fraser and Ann MacInnes won over Eileen Perry and Mary Nell McFadden by margins of 6-2 and 6-4. In the singles matches, Connie Savage defeated Emily Shefiall, 6-1 and 6-1; and Frances Cannon defeated June Hadsell by 6-4 and 6-1 margins.

Matches yet to be played will be between Joy Little, Lucy Brown, Blanche Favor, and Babe Evans.

Members of the archery teams are competing in the Odd-Even tournaments this week, following the selection of teams Monday and Wednesday. The Even team shot on Monday and Wednesday and the Odds on Tuesday. The shoot scheduled for Thursday was postponed due to rain.

With Carolyn Bourland as leader, members of the Even archery team are: Jean Bennett, Audrey Evans, Doris Hill, Candy Jones, Danny Martin, Charlotte Bourland, Betty Johnston and Lois Byrd. Carolyn Forehand is leader of the Odd team which includes Hariet Kirk, Kitty Johnson, Priscilla Char-, Martha Lawson, Nita Nord and Oleta Booth.

X-Roy For TB Tests Given

Continued from Page One

that the infirmary staff is to be X-rayed.

Informational literature on tuberculosis is being distributed by the Leon County TB Association. Posters to familiarize people with statistics concerning the disease and the further realization for the need of preventative action, are posted on campus bulletin boards and were published by the County Health Deparment under the direction of Dr Paul Coughlin.

The greater relative contribution to farm financing needs made by the life insurance companies today, as compared with 25 years ago, is reflected in the fact that the life companies now write nearly 20 per cent of total farm mortgages, compared with 8 to 14 per rent in the years 1914 to 1918.

Charm the Stag Line

Charm the stag line with fragrance . . . Drop a dash of dry perfume in the bath of your prom dress. That's a quick flip way to make your favorite perfume go farther. Scent your favorite scent from the ice created by Roger & Gallet and fill the air with fragrance as you dance. It's captured starlight . . . it's Roger & Gallet dry perfume.

Six exciting scents ... Nightcall Delight ... Fleurs d'Amour ... Blue Carnation ... Jade ... Sweetheart and Violette, priced at $1.25.

ROGER & GALLET

Summer Elections

There will be an important meeting of all students planning to attend summer school Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Student-Alumnae building auditorium.

Nominations and elections will be held for the following officers of the summer session; president of CGA, chairman of Judiciary, house presidents of Landis, and Gilchrist.

Barclay Heads Staff To Edit Next Sunday's News-Democrat

Continued from Page One

fashments. Both staff and reporters will work all day Saturday writing stories, headlines, reading copy and proof, preparing page make-up.

In past years the Sunday edition has averaged about twenty pages. Students will remain on the job until the Sunday morning paper rolls off the presses.

Mr Earl Vance, head of the journalism department, and Mrs Pearle Shepard, instructor in journalism, will be faculty advisers.

University Glee Club Gives Show

Continued from page one

George Moss appeared. Just before the skit went on a last minute change had to be made, the gun that was to be used in the play was missing. A knife was substituted and in the few minutes in which the scenery was changed the actors had to memorize new lines that referred to a knife instead of a gun.

Among the specialty numbers were some selected accordion numbers by James Busse who aroused the ire of the Evens by remarking, "You've got me at odds. I don't know what to play." Also included under specialty were some dance numbers by Elmer Allen and some Boogie Woogie played by Al Carlton.

Among the soloists was Frank Grafton who sang "Water Boy" a Negro convict song arranged by Avery Robinson, and William Goehring who sang Kern's "Ole Man River." Frank Grafton who elicted cries of "Frankieboy" from his audience will belong to Uncle Sam in a week or so.

Among the numbers which the Glee Club sang was Dett's "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," Hunter's "Ole Gray Robe," Bach's "Benediction," and Frimi's "Song of the Vagabonds." "Sweet Margarette" was sung for an encore and due to slip of the tongue Director DeBruyn accidently gave George Moss, a member of the Glee Club, credit for writing it.

Members of the Glee Club are Fred Dennis from Pensacola; Richard Kinney from Winter Haven; Gene Masters from St Augustine; Hugh Pappy from Key West; Sam Payne from Milton; Even Cameron from Havana, Cuba; Joe Katiba from Ocala; Dale Plummer from Milford, Illinois; Ralph Sexton from Vero Beach; Ray Townsend from St Petersburg; Elmo Vades from Tampa; Edward Walker from Tampa; David Braum from New York City; Frank Grafton from Ocoee; William Harris from Eustis; William Hess from Jacksonville; Walter Hoffman from Miami; David Martin from Gainesville; George Moss from Miami; Walton Ricks from Gainesville; Al Beer from Miami Beach; James Busse from Jacksonville; Al Carlton from Wauchula; William Goehring from Miami; John Hargrave from Hawthorne; Edward McCullers from Jacksonville; and Ted Nelson from Miami Beach.

A common constituent of suntan lotion, incorporated in transparent plastic materials used for windows in military airplanes, reduces deterioration from ultraviolet rays and protects crews against sunburn.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING
DURHAM, N. C.

The next class will be admitted September 27, 1945. Only one class is enrolled each year.

Basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. The academic requirements are 16 units of High School and at least one semester each of College Chemistry and Biology or Zoology. Annual tuition cost is $100 and covers the cost of instruction and maintenance.

Duke University School of Nursing offers the B.S. in Nursing upon completion of the 3-year nursing course and 60 semester hours of acceptable College credits.

Duke University School of Nursing also participates in the U. S. Nurse Cadet Corps program. Under this plan, students who pledge themselves to continue in nursing throughout the war, receive full tuition, uniforms and a small monthly stipend.

Application forms and catalogue can be obtained from: Dean, Duke University School of Nursing, Duke Hospital, Durham, North Carolina.

Legislature In Brief

Continued From Page One

mittee. A new three cent tax was proposed Wednesday, but an attempt to waive rules and have the bill considered on the floor immediately was blocked.

Blocking was accomplised by the passage earlier in the week of a rule demanding a two-thirds majority vote to get discussion on the floor of a bill killed in committee. Administration forces have not been able to get a repeal of the rule, and opposition groups threaten to filibuster until June if necessary to block the repeal.

The house has been engaged in filibustering action on the senate-approved beer tax. There has seemed to be enough strength in the house to eventually pass the bill, according to observers, and Senator Sheldon, who opposed the bill in the senate, conceded in a public statement that it will pass.

Also of interest in the Legislature this week was the favorable report in the house health committee of a bill to continue a present federal law providing for enrichment of all flour made in he state. The majority of southern states have already enacted such a law. Another house committee killed a bill providing for regulation of state bakeries and prohibition of return to bakeries of bread unsold by grocories.

Action on the floor of both the house and senate is expected for the juvenile court bill, providing for establishment of detention homes, separate courts, and probation officers for juvenile delinquency cases. The bill has been reported favorably by house and senate committees.

Three public health committees approved senate bills calling for prenatal and premarital syphilis tests.

The senate passed a resolution calling for a vote in favor of the U S house and senate treaty ratification process.

Past Flambeau Staff Honored at Banquet

Continued from page one

Richards, was asked to speak on "The Scientific Approach to Demolition." Dr Richards humorously explained the various types of bombs and then seriously associated these types with manners of presenting ideas.

"Confessions of an Editor" were given by "Comrade" Cordella Barclay, past editor, Janet Rogers, also called "Comrade," spoke on "How to Build Peace."

After the informal speeches Cordelia Barclay awarded certificates of merit to the five sophomores whose work in reporting for the Flambeau this past year was hailed by the staff to be worthy of distinction. Those who received the awards were Peggy Lu Thomson, Darley Lochner, Beryl Kitchen, Shirley Rodgers, and May Alexander.

Arrangements for the banquet were made by "Youth Leaders" Rachael Ball and Betty Weaver.

Other honor guests, besides faculty advisers of the Flambeau, were Mrs Harold P Richards and Mrs Earl L. Vance.

May Day Theme To Be Village

Continued from Page One

Joyce Carlton, Nell Laten, Mary Louise Perry, Clarice Trueblood, Nancy Ward, Frances Strickland, Martha Jane Sattlesfield, Jeanette Hollister, Mary Ann Waltz, Frankie Hall, Evelyn Stuckey, Ruth Brodaw, Marian Welch, Carol Avery, Catherine Barrs, Laura Evans, Jinx Parrier, Jo Guthrie, Skoota Lester, Grace Lindsey, Anne Widerquist, Aileen Fountain, Sarah Bennett, Elsie Boyles, Hester Hammond.

Committee chairmen for the May Day program are Frankie McCarry, chairman of entire program; Angel Fain, chairman of flower committee; Betty Wisenbaker, chairman of property committee; Joy Fleming, chairman of costume committee.

Students Perform On Two Rodio Shows

Continued from Page One

the vocal composition section of the AAUW creative arts contest.

Elizabeth McFarland, another AAUW prize winner, read selections from her poems which were judged by Robert P Tristram Coffin, during his visit to FSC.

This program originally scheduled for last week was postponed because of the broadcast of the opening session of the San Francisco conference.

The change from the domestic to the factory system of manufacture at the beginning of the 19th century, brought about a great shift of the laboring population, accompanied by a phenomenal growth of cities.

7 BILLIONS
from individuals alone
in the 7th WAR LOAN

that's why
it's the Peoples' Loan!

HERE'S WHAT UNCLE SAM WANTS YOU TO DO:

Select your individual quota in the 7th War Loan according to your income—then meet it!

If your average income per month is:	Your War Bond Quota in the 7th War Loan should be:
$250 & up	$187.50
225-250	150.00
210-225	131.25
200-210	112.50
180-200	93.75
140-180	75.00
100-140	37.50
Under $100	18.75

Let your dollars join the fight in the MIGHTY SEVENTH WAR LOAN!

ALL OUT FOR THE MIGHTY SEVENTH!

LOCAL DRIVE STARTS
MAY 14th

★ This is an official U.S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under the auspices of Treasury Department and War Advertising Council ★

...x Weeks of Classes End For Prospective Counselors

...e junior counselor training ...ed its six weeks' train- ...ioted with Wednesday night's ...ing.

...se courses consisted of six ...ty meetings which were de- ...ed to develop a unity of pur- ...and point of view among the ...e counselors for the 1945-46 ...ol year. The counselors met ...er as a group in presenting ...ame point of view to the ...dren although they did use ...ent techniques and methods ...ome extent.

...e courses were also given to ...st the counselors with in- ...ation concerning their col- ...e regulations of the col- ...e kinds of problems that ...y will encounter among the ...dren, and suggestions in tech- ...es and ways to take care of ...d of the problems.

...e first meeting served as an ...entation to what was expect- ...of the junior counselors. The ...s were addressed by Dean ...n N Dorman, professor of ...ion and dramatics, and Mary K Warren, assistant ...or of students. The junior ...ol's responsibilities were ...ussed; responsibility for ...ective which they have to live ...p to the freshmen, responsi- ...of physical surroundings ...governments of the school, ...sibility of the duties of ...ce and correction, and re- ...nsibility in the relationships ...y will have on the freshmen.

...e Thirsty, freshman advisor ...e title of each year, spoke ...e second meeting on the ...t that the freshmen will ...e know. Allene urged the ...selors to emphasize the grade ...ce of the child meeting. The ...sion was divided into three ...s of college life concerning ...freshmen which were: ...standing human nature, cit- ...ship and extracurricular ...ic work and extra-curricu- ...ities. Miss Lelea M Al- ...ounced the Kendall Hall's ...Dorothy Brown, counselor in ...front and part-time instruct- ...English and Mary Ellen ...ler, counselor in Jennie ...Hall have represented the ...ence counselors. Each phase ...cussed in detail with spe- ...examples to illustrate the ...ous cases.

...e honor system was the topic ...e fourth meeting which was ...ussion led by Tedy Parker, ...chairman of judiciary; Cath- ...Barry, chairman of judici- ...and Margery Loomis, past ...man of the honor council. ...e speakers stressed the ...t that honor was three-fold: ...herself in the freshmen and ...ior college. They said that ...im of the college was to de- ...e functional honor code ...ent course.

...e last bit of information about ...problems of being a junior ...ellor was given the group ...ame of the counselors for the ...-46 school year. They stress- ...particularly that the counselors ...d be there when the fresh- ...ame tell them why we have ...m customs and what they ...low them to work things ...themselves, with a certain ...t of advice to help them to ...their Gold Books, and get ...to start to some of the col- ...organizations at the begin- ...of the school year.

...e last meeting was a "round- ...of the past meetings with dis- ...on subjects that the in- ...dual students brought up. The ...of the house president and ...e vice-president were outlin- ...Sophomore Council activities ...ing "Freshmen week" were ...h to climax the quarter stu- ...was discussed, and reports ...committees who were to in- ...ate the most important rules ...the freshmen should know ...given.

...ist of books were given to ...counselors to stimulate their ...ing and their orientation ...and the work.

...e junior counselors will take ...next Thursday, May 10, as ...to over all of the information ...has covered in the six ...ings.

...e more than three-fourths of ...States of the United States ...is an organized bureau of ...welfare, and in most of the ...e there is some provision for ...ayment of widows' pensions ...children's allowances.

Mr Frank Sykes, conductor, will lead the college band in the opening program of Music Week on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Journalism Students See Mabry War Room

The 201 journalism reporting class went to Dale Mabry last Saturday to see the war room. Arrangements for the trip were made by PFC Clyde Small of Dale Mabry.

Sgt Lloyd B Vaughn explained the war in Europe, using the map in the war room for the illustrations. He brought the war up to date.

The education facilities of the army were discussed by Pvt Holton. He explained the completeness of the plans for education.

While the class was at Dale Mabry news of peace rumors came over the teletype machine. This aroused the excitement of the class and made the visit more interesting.

The girls heard foreign records that go overseas to the soldiers, enabling them to recognize the sound of foreign words.

Some of the soldiers at the field gave the class refreshments at the Post Exchange.

Sun Goddesses on Landis Deck Have Special Suntan Processes

Now that the rain and the cold weather have again given way to golden Florida sunshine, sun-tan lotions are once more among the more important things of life at FSC. They vary widely, but their users all agree that their own especial choice is best for their own use.

One of the most popular of these lotions seems to be Noxema. Applied before and after it prevents redness and promotes a smooth even tan.

Among the unusual tan lotions are a mixture of tincture of iodine and mineral oil, mixtures of iodine and water, olive oil and iodine, and vaseline and iodine. All the usual prepared sun-tan lotions for sale at drug counters and beauty shops are of course in great demand.

As well as lotions used as aids to a lovely coat of tan, there are a number of other procedures that are considered very helpful. Some girls advocate the use of hot shower immediately upon returning from exposure to the sun, while another group insists that a cold shower is the thing. There is also the theory that the chemical action of soap on the burned skin causes peeling. Some use a period of from one to three days showers are taken frequently, but soapless.

The time of exposure to the sun is also another point of wide disagreement. The two most prevailing practices and beliefs are the following: Some take exposure in the hot sun of early afternoon is quicker and most effective. A long exposure in the cooler and fresher rays of the late morning sun is not quite so quick, but produces a more even and painless tan.

When an extremely brown girl was asked what her particular practices were, she replied, "I just lie out on the sundeck with - I get the chance, and the sun does all right by itself."

Ashton Named Head Of Senate Group

Legislative Committee to Aid in Regulation Changes

Student Senate met Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of appointing a committee for the nomination of the Legislative committee, and a chairman and members of the Codifying committee.

Martha Jane Brown, chairman of the nominating committee presented Maurine Ashton for chairman of the Legislative committee. This was approved by a unanimous vote. It was then suggested that members of the Legislative committee and chairman and members of the Codifying committee be nominated and elected at that meeting, but this was voted down.

It was finally decided after a debate that the presiding chairman of Senate, Sarah Lewis, appoint the nominating committee for this purpose, their choice to be presented at the next meeting of Senate on Wednesday, May 9. Martha Jane Brown was appointed chairman of this committee.

The Legislative committee was provided for several weeks ago. Its purpose to be the study of the Gold Book so that changes may be suggested which will clarify and bring up to date the college constitution. The purpose of the Codifying committee will be to rearrange and revise the Gold Book, and to approve changes suggested by the Legislative committee.

There was also some debate on the suggestion that the Codifying and the Legislative committees be combined into one committee, since their work will be so nearly parallel. However, since both committees would retain separate chairmen and both would remain unchanged it was decided that they need not be combined.

The appointment of a "pool" of those qualified to substitute for absent members of Senate also was discussed, but was not decided.

Positions Offered

Seniors interested in positions as Systems Service Operators with Remington Rand Inc are asked to come to the Personnel Office for additional information. The duties include training personnel, installing punched-card systems and sales work.

Men Invade FSC; U of F Glee Club Here to Give Show

Hair came down out of hair-clubs—pretties! dresses were donned—brightest lipstick put on. This could mean but one thing—MEN. Men, lots of men, from the University of Florida, just wandering around and taken in hand by a certain group of warblers who had a priority. There were hundreds of them, wandering all around and giving the boys in collage togs or tuxes the thrill of their lives, as the girls made coiles of approval and appreciation.

And what did these "absent but not forgotten" creatures have to say about their recent visit to FSCW? Well, listen—

Bill Bryan: "Isn't Betsy Marshin about the best pianist on the campus?"

Joe Kattke: "Have you made sure he stands like Custer?" after being told that Bryan was the campus fort.

Elmer Allen: "Such a lovely campus and girls."

Ralph Sexton: "Why don't more girls come to Orville and take pharmacy or something?"

Frank Grafton: (He sang "Water Boy.") "Did you really like it?"

And all agreed: "Why, oh why didn't co-education go through?"

Jennie Murphree Has Costume Barn Dance

Jeannie Murphree girls participated in a barn dance or "loose ends" party last Wednesday night from 7:30 till 9:30. The tickets were five cents apiece, and the girls were asked to come dressed as couples.

The prize for the couple dressed in the most appropriate costume in the barn dance was Mary Stanaland and Nell Caro.

Frances Cannon was in charge of the arrangements for the dance and Babe Evans was the official "caller."

Chaperones for the occasion were Miss Ruth Cromartie, Mrs Adelaide Ware, residence counselors in Jennie Murphree hall.

Legislators Speak

At the house meetings last Tuesday night, the guest speakers were senators and representatives from all parts of Florida, who spoke on the subject of the state legislature. Some told of some of the bills which come up before them.

Representative Evans Crary spoke in the Auruni Conradi theater to all residents of off-campus and sorority houses Senator John E Mathews, District 18, Jacksonville, spoke in Bryan, Representative Mabry A Carlton of Duval county spoke in Broward, and Representative George S Okell of Dade county spoke in Reynolds. Members of the legislature were to have talked in the other dormitories but were unable to be present.

Price panel assistants, working with local OPA boards, make about 400,000 calls a month on retailers to check ceiling prices.

Turner's Showing

Red Calf, Rationed or Red Gabardine, Unrationed

$5.95

Turner's

Methodist Council Hears About China

Cyto Tells of War, Inflation, And Scarcity of Books

Miss Sylvia Cyto of Canton, China made a short talk to the Methodist council Wednesday night on the subject of the activities and hardships of the Chinese girls since the beginning of the war with Japan eight years ago.

She spoke especially of the great scarcity of books for the students who are now living in caves and studying in the daylight because they do not have the lighting fuel to use at night. Also the students could not buy the textbooks that were available because of the inflated prices. Inflation was so extreme in China that a book cost about $200 and one egg could not be bought for less than $20, Miss Cyto said.

She closed her talk by singing one of the war songs that is quite popular in her native country today. She said that the girls were the bestdressed in China, and they often sang to the wounded soldiers in the hospitals.

Miss Cyto came to America six years ago when her family sent her over to get her collage education. She received her master's degree from a Boston college and is now engaged in social work. At the present time, she is in Jacksonville doing lecture work.

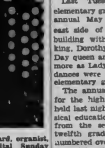
Seriousness Will Prevail on V-E Day

There will be no general dismissal of classes or holiday atmosphere because the total war will not be over, announced the recently appointed committee to make plans for campus activities on V-E Day. This committee is composed of faculty and students and is headed by Miss Edith West, assistant professor in classics.

If the announcement of V-E Day should come during a class hour, all classes meeting the next hour will be dismissed for a college community service lasting 30 or 40 minutes. This service, which will be led by President Doak S Campbell or in his absence someone designated by him, will be held in back of Westcott building if time and weather permit. If no outdoor gathering is held advisable, the service will be held in Westcott auditorium.

Should the news come at night, the announcement to the campus will be made at a time that the president of the college decides best.

The chimes will announce V-E Day by playing "Stars Spangled Banner." This will be done only on the authorization of the president or other designated by him and the National Anthem will not be played here before that occasion.



Staff Has Party

New reporters of theFlambeau were given an outdoor weiner roast by the Flambeau staff last Monday night at 6 o'clock at Miss Pearle Shepard, instructor in journalism.

The reporters entertained the staff members with a skit, introducing themselves. Invitations were also given as part of the entertainment.

Mary Earl Vance, professor of journalism, was also present.

Betty Dowd was in charge of the committee for arrangements.

Mrs Ramona C Beard, organist, will appear in recital Sunday evening at 7 o'clock as part of Music Week.

Desirable Qualities of Future Husband Subject of Psychology Student's Poll

Martha Cowan, for her term paper in adolescent psychology, has been conducting a survey among students on campus to see what they considered the five most desirable qualities in a husband.

Martha interviewed 50 freshmen and 50 upperclassmen (juniors and seniors only). The most desirable quality in the freshman mind was ambition. Three fourths of them agreed on this. The upperclassmen placed a sense of responsibility most important by a majority of 96 per cent.

The four other most important things according to the freshmen were in order of rank: a sense of responsibility, fondness for children, broadmindedness and ability to be a good provider. The ranking given by the juniors and seniors was: sense of humor, ambition, broadmindedness and intelligence.

Among the qualities considered unimportant by freshmen were good-looks, fondness for dogs, fondness for music, ability to dance, service record and officer's ranking in service. Of these, fondness for dogs, resemblance to the girl's father and the two service items were not considered important by upperclassmen either. Other things that the upperclassmen did not consider important were qualities in a "good cook," "a way with the women," worldliness, fondness for sports and abstinence from alcohol and cigarettes.

There were several striking differences between freshmen and upperclassmen. While 78 per cent of the upper classmen thought a sense of humor essential, only 48 per cent of the freshmen classed it so. Though none of the juniors and seniors placed abstinence from alcohol among the top five qualities, 22 per cent of the freshmen did. Twenty per cent of the freshmen thought a husband should have no pre-marital relations, while all of the upperclassmen considered other things more important.

Forty per cent of the freshmen would not marry against their parents' will, but only 26 per cent of the upperclassmen made this statement.

Only 24 per cent of the upperclassmen disapproved of divorce,

Demonstration School Has Drives and Celebrations

May Day festivities, paper and clothing drives and a bond selling campaign comprised the many activities of the Demonstration school pupils this past week.

Last Tuesday afternoon the elementary grade pupils held their annual May Day party on the east side of the Demonstrations building with Tom Patterson as king, Dorothy Pasaro as the May Day queen and Rose Mary McLemore as Lady Spring. Songs and dances were given by the various elementary grade children.

The annual May Day program for the high school division was held last night in the college physical education building. Students from the seventh through the twelfth grades and their guests numbered over 200. Virginia Cook, elected by the grade-school children, was Queen of May.

Attendants to the queen were Winifred Spear, Jeanette Smith, Dolores Wayman, Mary Ann Nichols, Lila Kathryn Turner and Frances Jean Green.

The program, held to honor the queen and her court, included a ballet dance, pixie selection, milk maid dance, tap dance and song by a trio presented by various Florida State College girls. Helen McCann sang a number of songs. There were also songs by Jack Golden and Jack Boykin. The seventh and eighth grade girls held a May Pole dance, and a grand march was led by the queen and her escort. The processional and crowning of Virginia Cook as queen preceded the entertainment.

After the grand march, there were a reception and no-break dances, one honoring each of the members of the court beginning with the Queen's dance.

Miss Mary Jane Medlin, physical education teacher, was chairman of a committee of teachers and students who planned the May Day program. Serving on the teachers' committee were Miss Nina Mae White, Miss Lou Cockrin and Miss Ruth Smith, Lila Catherine Turner, Georgia Calloway and Winifred Spear were on the students' committee.

A clothing drive was sponsored by the Key Club, the boys' organization at the Demonstration school and ended last Tuesday. Dean Brumm announced that over 400 pounds of used clothing were contributed.

Last Sunday morning, local Boy Scouts collected a six weeks' scrap collection and the paper drives began at the school this week.

A bond drive for the public school students will be inaugurated Monday and continue until the close of school next week. So far the Demonstration school has been given $6,900, or one sale of at least one bond to each school child.

The junior-senior banquet was held at the Woman's club last Monday night. According to Dr R L Wyman, dean of the School of Education, over 200 people attended the banquet and the dance which followed. Among those present were: Dr and Mrs R L Goulding, Dr and Mrs R L Goulding, Mrs Marion W Black, Miss Lou Cochran, Miss Ruth Hoover, Miss Clare Goertz, Mrs Cecil Strong and Mrs Nina Mae Williams. Tenth grade sales started in the serving, and mothers of members of the junior class assisted in the preparations for the banquet.

New Books Are Now In Browsing Room

The browsing room in the library has made a number of recent additions to its collection of books.

One addition is a thin volume containing Nathaniel Hawthorne's famous story of King Midas, The Golden Touch. It is bound in cream-colored, fine silk, and the illustrations are illuminated with gold paint. The volume is decorated by the artist Valenti Angelo.

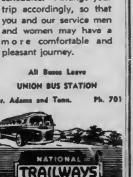
Numerous examples of Rockwell Kent's illustrations are seen in the new copy of Melville Landsdell's Paul Bunyan. Among other additions are Tolstoy's War and Peace, illustrated by the Russian artist, Vereshch; The Clouds of Aristophanes, illustrated by Andre Durenceau, Carrier and Ives, "Printmakers to the American People," by Harry T Peters, which contains many plates, both colored and black and white, and a few pages of explanatory text.

Honorary Initiates

Pi Delta Phi, national French honorary, initiated seven new members at a meeting on April 26 at the home of Miss Mary Campbell, honorary initiate; Ann Holbrook, Joyce Funke, Dorothy Scardino, Mary Florence Fox, Mary McRory and Ruby Plant.

For The

Formal Dress



For The

May Dance

Come To

P. W. WILSON CO.

Since 1837

Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and our service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave

UNION BUS STATION

Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

FLORIDA

Friday and Saturday
"TONIGHT & EVERY NIGHT"

Sunday and Monday
"GOD IS MY CO-PILOT"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"MINISTRY OF FEAR"

Thursday, Friday and Saturday
"TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN"

STATE

Friday and Saturday
"MARK OF THE WHISTLER"
—and—
"TOPEKA TERROR"

Sunday and Monday
"FALCON IN HOLLYWOOD"
—and—
"UNDER WESTERN SKIES"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"TOGETHER AGAIN"

Thursday Only
"BOWERY TO BROADWAY"
—and—
"GOING TO TOWN"

RITZ

Friday and Friday
"MEET MISS BOBBY SOCKS"
—and—
"CANTERVILLE GHOST"

Saturday Only
"MYSTERY RANGE"

Sunday and Monday
"BRIDE BY MISTAKE"

Tuesday and Wednesday
"TILL WE MEET AGAIN"
—and—
"NATIONAL BANDANCE"

Thursday and Friday
"OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG & GAY"
—and—
"STORM OVER LISBON"

Spirit of the Week

● PIGEON-HOLE OR PROGRESS

Student Senate appointed a committee Wednesday to make nominations for members to serve on the recodifying and legislative committees for the coming year. It is gratifying to see that these committees to examine the rules and regulations and the organization of the Gold Book will continue their wrok.

Progress made by the legislative committee in the first year of its existence, as shown in the chairman's report to Senate two weeks ago, has been slow. This is understandable, realizing the studying of the many laws in our statutes is a huge task. But now that the groundwork has been laid, it seems logical that the committee for the coming year will be able to come to many more definite conclusions, and that it will not be a process of revision which will necessarily span several years.

Dangers, however, as well as advantages are brought about by having such a committee. Several instances during the past year have shown very definite tendencies to refer any controversial discussion on rules in Senate to the committee to be cnsidered at their leisure. It could easily become a block to action on rules that Senate itself could take immediately.

Even if the legislative committee sees need for changes and suggests that these revisions be made, Student Senate does not have the final power to see that these changes become new rules or replace former ones. The reason: powers delegated to Student Senate are limited. The Faculty Committee on Student Affairs reserves the right in the CCA constitution to make final decision on all legislation. With such a set-up, the years of work of the legislative committee might well be wasted, should their recommendations not happen to agree with the opinion of those with whom the final power rests.

Furthermore, no provision has been made for the legislative committee to study our constitution for improvement. Neither has a separate committee been appointed for this purpose. There is a definite need for such a committee. As has been pointed out, the legislative committee acts simply as one of investigation, not one of legislating as the name suggests. Also, this committee has unearthed numerous regulations during the past year for which they can find no specific origin.

Until the powers of the constitution and the specific powers of each branch of CCA have been more clearly defined . . . which could be the objetiv eof a committee to study the constitution . . . very little headway can be made.

a

● SYMBIOSIS

This coming fall our college is changing from the se mester plan to the quarter system. To make this change takes lots af planning, discussion, and work, and one of the principal changes to be wrnked out is the college curriculum.

Because all students will be affected by whatever results are obtained, because many students have little knowledge of the workings of the quarter system and only a vague idea of course arrangements, it might be profitable to stage an open forum. In such a forum students could submit their ideas on the molding of the curriculum to fit the new system and together with the faculty could arrive at a more satisfactory conclusion. Organized as a joint meeting of the faculty and studeuts to express each others ideas and to receive new insights to the pertinent problem which faces us. Such a forum, if successful, might pave the way for student representation on the Curriculum Committee.

In an informal discussion the students, by virtue of their position, could voice opinions which faculty members might not realize; and in turn the members of our faculty, because of their position, could explain and answer questions in regard to proposed plans for courses under the quarter system.

It seems to be the opinion of some persons that students should not be enlightened on the program until it has been completely worked out, but because we are the ones who will be most affected by it and because we have the right to express our point of view we feel that a forum of this kind could set as a sample of "symbiosis."

● SAN FRANCISCO

The declared purpose of the San Francisco conference is for the United Nations to understand one another and come to agreements on international organization which will help to establish a lasting peace throughout the world. It has not been instituted to see which nation can out do the other on selfish prestige.

We feel that the best way to assure "friendly co-existence of nations" is through democracy. We feel that because we are Americans and through 150 years that has been the American way.

In view of the heated controversies which have already arisen at the conference, we wonder what sort of international organization will be produced. Are we as United Nations strong enough within ourselves to resolve national differences and to establish a security organization based upon the equal sovereignty of all nations, great or small—an equality which will conform with our basic democratic ideals?

If we are nnt strong and wise ennugh to agree and solve the problems existing among the United Nations, how can we expect to achieve and maintain peace in a world which must inevitably include our enemies. We must recognize that the Axis exists in our world, and we must approach the present situation with realistic and practical ideals.

Neville Chamberlain thought we could find "peace in our time," and he was an old man who had lived a full life. The question is can we who have a lifetime remaining before us prevent a third World War in our time?

Short Change

Last week we saw sure signs of Spring, but this week we saw a sure sign of Summer. A maiden's fancy man we know threw away his Christmas tree.

The Kentucky Kernel

Moe was very sick, and his wife called the doctor.

When the doctor had examined the unconscious mah, he announced, "Mrs. Moe, I'm afraid there's nothing I can do. Your husband is a dead man. At this moment Moe regained consciousness and sat up exclaiming, "I'm not dead!" "Lie down, dear," said his wife, "the doctor knows best."

The Red and Black

Two men in a tropical jungle covered their heads against mosquitoes. At last one of them peered out and saw a lightning bug. "It's no use," he said to his companion, "they're looking for us with flashlights."

The Red and Black

Dentist—"I'm sorry, but I'm all out of gas."

Girl in Chair—"Ye Gods! Do dentists pull that stuff, too?"

The Red and Black

Sweet young thing: "Have a cigarette, mother?"

Mother: "What? Smoke a cigarette, indeed! I'd rather kiss the first man that comes along."

Sweet young thing: "So would I, but have a cigarette while we're waiting."

Must be a man shortage.

The Red and Black

Wife: "Darling, your coffee today is not our baby. This is the wrong package."

Husband: "Shut up. This cartridge has rubber tires on it."

Hatchet

Prof (Who's that smoking in the back of the room?"

Student: "No one, sir. That's just the fog we're in."

Nothing that room could happen here. What prof would ever even think of smoking?

Hatchet

Love making hasn't changed much in the last 2500 years. Ghengis used to sit and listen to a lyre all evening.

Pep O' Plant

Freshman: "I wanna get out tonight, Mama."

Sophomore: "Please, Mother, may I go out?"

Junior: "I'm going out tonight, Dad."

Senior: "Goodnight, folks, I'll bring in the milk."

The Tiger's Tale

Two old maids were discussing men. (naturally) "Which would you desire most in your husband—brains, wealth, or appearance?" asked one.

"Appearance," snapped the other, "and the sooner the better."

The Kentucky Kernel.

Professor in a fit insane,
Thrust his head beneath a train.
All were quite surprised to find
How it broadened the Profie's mind.

And then there's Arthur Kobler's evidence.

Sometimes when I think of things
A little bell within me rings
Ding!
Sometimes when I'm sad
I wish to God that things were Jake
Whew!
Sometimes when I'm fast asleep
I still can see the jumpins sheep
Sometimes when I'm feeling good
I find my knuckles tapping wood.
Knock!
Sometimes when I'm deep in love
I don't know what I'm dreaming of Oh, don't I, though!

From Samuel Hoffenstein's Poems of Passion. Carefully Restrained at the Last Moment Nobody.

When you're away, I'm restless.
Lonely.
Wretched, bored, delected; only
Here's the rub, my darling dear,
I feel the same when you are here.

Bill: All my ancestors were fishermen. I'm at the end of the line.

Will: Oh, I see, a worm!

Little drops of acid
Little drops of lime
When they get together
They make an awful—odor.

Red and Black

War does not determine who is right—only who is left.

Pelican

Magazine Jottings . . .

By KATHERINE NOLLMAN

The Army Takes Over
By John Fischer—

The final triumph of the army in the battle to decide whether military or civilian authorities would administer the machinery which controls the nation's economy is discussed by John Fischer in the current issue of Harper's, Mr Fischer, at present on Harper's editorial staff, has spent the past ten years in Washington working as a newspaperman and government administrator.

After waging four successful battles for the bottoming of the war, the military finally succeeded in seizing possession of the directing forces of the country's economic administration during the early months of this year. From beginning to end the issue has been whether the military or business civilian administrators should direct the war economy. But, says Mr Fischer, it is not a fight between the Army and New Deal, and has little to do with politics as some of the quotations taken by men like Harry Hopkins and James Byrnes who support the military and Leon Henderson and Robert Nathan who oppose it. Neither is it between civilians and the fighting army but rather between civilians and supply officers in which the military authority is led by Under Secretary of War Robert Patterson, General Brehon Somervell, commanding the Army Service Forces, and General Lucius Clay.

The final phase of Conversion" took place at the organization of the Selective Service Commission. It was civilian and thanks to strong isolationist sentiment neither the President nor the Commission knew exactly what was expected of it. The Committee was given the ability to "study" and "co-ordinate" for the War Production Board but not that of actual purchasing. In the manner the military won by simply taking over the job of buying after Pearl Harbor there occurred the "Battle of Washington." The civilian agencies were confronted with the job of holding down military requirements to the country's ability to produce and to fight for equipment for civilian industries even those vitally concerned with the war effort.

Behind today conflict came over who should decide how available supplies should be allotted out. Under Somervell the military has fairly smoothly until Nelson's appointment as War Mission, to whom he had allowed control in WPB, and the military over Nelson's economic policy. After the temporary military setbacks last December it was realized that we must deny ourselves munitions had been a mistake. In spite of the fact that Under Secretary Patterson admitted that it was transportation difficulties and shortages at home that was interfering with the required supplies reaching the front, the military must not be made the civilians feel guilty. With the excuse that civilians failed to do their part after the defeat of Germany the military finally succeeded in gaining the control they desired.

Results of Military Control—

Under the military control, the army went on a buying spree, storing up warehouses of goods for the future. Meanwhile, despite the most drastic shortages of the entire war, the military "hoarded" supplies." "For the past five months the military has been striving to save civilian economy as close as possible to a 'bare level of subsistence'." Although civilians would willingly give up anything to shorten the war one day there was no excuse for imposing hardships for the sake of making the civilians "feel" that they were doing their share.

Today, as never before in such cases as denying badly needed supplies to Britain, the unwarranted action of troops and war materials is also hampered.

The unwarranted mistrust of military control on the home front has been followed by Congressional investigations. The author believes that perhaps President Roosevelt, who has shown little interest in these matters, will "restore civilian management in war time who has failed. There may be Congress that will take over the direction of the civilian administrators.

Demobilization and Common Sense—Another Article on "The Job Before Us—

Under Fortune's "The Job Before Us" is an article entitled "Demobilization and Common Sense." It is a plea for a practical theory for demobilization is set forth.

Reconversion will definitely be in effect on V-E day, says the author, in spite of the fact that there will still be Japan to defeat. Already the United States Army has cut its program for small-arms ammunition and the Navy has cancelled more than five building an "insurance" fleet of seven-

Continued on Page Five

Collegiate Comeback

BETTY HARGROVE
LETTIE SULLIVAN

Someone has called this a gripe column, but we really can't see why. There's never anything to gripe about around here. Especially, there's no fault to find with the weather, for this reason we have dreamed up the following with all due apology to Frank Sinatra.

This hair of mine drools on and on
Once it was curly; now all curl is gone
It's always in my eyes, both day and night
It's so stringy, what a sight!
I cry my eyes out 'cause the ends all break
Since nothing matters, let them break
I use the best shampoos, but it doesn't shine
What's the matter of it, this hair of mine?
Of course the weather couldn't be at all responsible!

We're quite excited. All the girls we know are soooo happy 'cause their men are all coming back to the States one by one. We're really quite happy for them. But, honestly, what are we to think. Why doesn't anything ever happen to us???

Vacation is rapidly approaching and the vacation spirit is already here. Plans are being made for the summer. Summer is the time men become a really big part of a girl's college reality is practical. Pedestrians are practical and pedestrians are men whose daughters are home from college. Daughters are home from college in the summer. Vicious circle, isn't it?

We don't know whether we've been worrying about something that hasn't at all important or not. We can't figure out what the cigarette fiends will do when one of their good-intentioned friends will offer them a cigarette while Mother Earth is in labor pains. They can always fall back on that trite phrase, "Why, whatever are you thinking of? You know I never smoke." If we think of something better we'll let you know.

Do you know why the little moron put sraps in his eyes? So his tears would flow like wine. That joke sounded a lot funnier when we heard it, but that might be because it was our own. Our fiez was telling it. We laughed

Continued on Page Five

In This Our Time. . . .

By GLORIA REED

European Activities

There is no longer any eastern and western front in Europe. And observers throughout the world believe that it will be only a matter of days or even hours until there is no European front at all. The exact hour of unconditional surrender to the Western Allies and to the Russians, heirs of the Big Three have ventured to predict. But the facts stand that the German Reich is tottering, and its final crash is momentarily awaited.

This last week, Germany was split in two by a junction of Anglo-American and Russian forces; the Allies gained a common and ever-widening front in the heart of the Reich. Berlin, Munich and Hamburg, Germany's three most important cities, are in Allied hands. American armored columns thrust into Austria, into Czechoslovakia and into the Bavarian stronghold. The last of the Wehrmacht was being destroyed.

The facts seemed to point out the futility of further German resistance. "Once Berlin falls it will be all over," said Lieut General Kurt Dittman, Germany's leading military commentator, who surrendered last Wednesday. Resistance will end in Austria and Denmark and the planned redoubt already has been penetrated and will not offer a fight."

Later reports concerning the battle of Berlin said the German capital fell amid smoke and flame. The city which had grown in two centuries from a provincial town to the largest on the European continent and fourth largest in the world was a battle-torn field of wreckage. Red army soldiers drove out remaining pockets of defenders in close, sniper-like fighting. Berlin's massive grandeur which typified the Prussian spirit of discipline and force is today known in the east, thus deprived of a monument to the end of the Nazi Reich.

While the world awaited the official announcement of the end of the European theatre of war on Wednesday, a broadcast from Rome told of the surrender of all German troops in the Po Valley to American forces.

The surrender of the months-long German defense of the Po Valley and the big industrial cities of the northern plain came about after the sudden drive of General Mark Clark's Eighth and Fifth armies. The strategy of the drive followed this plan: Instead of continuing smarting face-to-face combat with the enemy, a mighty American armored column circled the Po River and drove straight north toward Switzerland. This move cut the Nazis' escape from the Italian Riviera sector off from those in the east, thus deprived them of supplies and making surrender imminent.

At the same time the Nazi forces in Austria, divided from all aid except through Czechoslovakia, were being hemmed in on all sides by advancing Allied and Russian armies, divisions pushing for a junction near Munich.

Asiatic Operations

During this last week on Okinawa, most important of the Ryukyus and only 362 miles from Japanese homeland, American forces launched an offensive which appeared to be the final blow to push the enemy off the island. In the north Marine divisions reached the island's narrow tip, but in the south American doughboys seemed to be having tougher going. A dispatch of heavy reinforcements had been sent to this area.

Allied invasion of Dutch Borneo was reported by official Australian sources while General Douglas MacArthur announced that Filipino and American troops had reached within 35 miles of Davao, vital port of Mindanao Island in the Philippines.

Radio Tokyo reported that allied assault troops had landed near Tarakan, great oil shipping port just off Borneo's northeast coast. The Japanese claimed the invasion had been beaten back.

The Japanese army in northern Burma—estimated at 30,000—was cut off from escape across the British and Indian armored forces took Pegu and secured the main road and rail line leading to Thailand. Pegu is 50 miles north of Rangoon. During the fighting the Japanese suffered 4,000 killed prisoners, 100 of whom were Japanese women who were shot down in that area.

Peace Organization

The United Nations conference in San Francisco, put Britain, South Africa, Norway and Venezuela in the position of sponsoring countries. Molotov said he favored the 10 thirds rule, because the American republics alone could constitute a majority and that there was no need for allowing a proposal to be adopted by a mere majority. Secretary of State Stettinius of British foreign Secretary Eden did not give their opinions on the matter.

The Students Speak . . .

Since the announcement of VE Day is being eagerly awaited by everyone and is expected to come at any moment, the question of alumns is concerned with the question "What do you think people will do on VE day?"

I think think that people will want to be at home with their families. They will want to spend that day in peace.

Gerry Sogniers, sophomore

Since VE Day will be the first step toward the end of victory, I think that everyone should keep in mind that the war is not over and dedicate themselves to renewing their efforts to doing everything they can to win the war. They will probably spend that day ., giving thanks for the end of one and the war to be.

Mickey Fountain, senior

I think that people will be calm and not do much celebrating. They will stay at home listening to the radio and everything.

Lonnie Friday and Sara Pollhill, freshmen

We have been waiting for the news of VE Day so long that we probably won't know what to do about it and take it in our stride. Naturally everyone will want to spend the day in praying.

Ann Nicholson, sophomore

I think that everyone will be so excited that they won't know what to do.

Bette Jo Wilson, freshman

This is term paper season and everyone is hard at work. Well, that's what this is term paper season. We decided to ask seniors who have stood many such seasons how to be allowed to do it. Is this time of year that little things that have been going on for a long time begin to get your nerves so the question of the week is "What is your pet peeve?"

One of my pet peeves is teachers that keep you after the bell rings. Also people who talk when who corner all the current magazines and won't let anyone read them although they themselves don't read them all at once. People who don't know the words of the PO during the rush hours and read their mail. And people who pretend they're interested during the hall between classes and won't let you by for the next class.

FRANCES HINES, Sr.

"Hypocrites. Bobby sox with heels pet on my nerves, too. And to be reminded by salespeople that there is a war on. The Nut-cracker Suite also is one of my pet peeves."

LUCY LEE WARD, Sr

"I hate to hear people gripe and tell the world they have to do instead of doing it."

TEDY PARKER, Sr.

"People who carry on bridge conversations at the breakfast table is one of my pet peeves. That and people who sleep on your door and then go away."

ANN BRIDGES, Sr.

"I hate people who gripe all the time and about everything. Also teachers who don't give tests except at quarters and semesters and thereby let you get way behind in your work. Also dances. And meetings that start late."

ROSEMARY HUBBELL, Sr.

"My pet peeve is people who will talk about things that are trivial when you ask them for an opinion for "The Students Speak" they won't say a thing."

BARBARA WICKHAM Soph.

Corps Has Meeting

On Thursday night officers of the Life Saving Corps held an informal meeting to discuss plans for next year. These plans have not been disclosed.

All members of the Life Saving Corps are participating in guarding the swimming pool and teaching swimming to the children in the Orientation Program.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor ..... JUDY PEPPER
Assistant Editor ..... Betty Hargrove
Managing Editor ..... PEGGY KAY, ANNE BAITHER, BETTY KAY
Sara Edwards
Copy Editor ..... MARY ALEXANDER, PEGGY CRAWFORD
Copy Editor ..... Lela Rose
Copy Editor ..... Ruth Mercer
Mary N. McFadden,
Jeanne Rhodes,
Virginia Alritach
Feature Editor ..... Betty Bell
Feature Editor ..... Eileen Dent
Anne Hutton
Columnists ..... Lettie Sullivan
Betty Hargrove
Office Manager ..... Lester Stone
Student Interviewers ..... Sara's Type Bureau Geo
REPORTERS: Eugenia Akers, Mary Alice Akers, Akers, Lee Akers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Black, Alice Brady, Lee Brown, Ethel Cook, Mary Ann Cooper, Virginia Curry, Jean Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Martine Ingram, Winnie Lee Jones, Betty Kay Kennedy, Jacqueline Kennedy, Betty Lou Lewis, Betty Madge Fleming, Lucile Smith, Marjorie Ellen Sloan, Sheas, Marydel Smith, Mary Charles Skipper, Terri Thomas, Joyce Williams.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager ..... Helen Taylor
Advertising Manager ..... Elaine Dill
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ada Rawls, Lile Barrington, Lillian Brown, Betsy Rice.
Circulation Manager ..... Martha Ann
Collection Manager ..... Jean Bryan

Entered as second class mail matter, January 20, 1913, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

...y Formal and Graduating Members ...Inspire Flux of Sorority Activities

...ssion parties and sup-...ember senior members ...e spotlight in activities of ...eters' sororities this week ...annual May Day weekend ...ch.

...appa's intermission ...urday the May Day dance ...ay night is planned ...r Jackson. A banquet ...r members tonight at the ...rorities is also on the social ...ar at the Sigma Kappa ...se this week. Miss Mary Ruth ...of Miami, province president ...of the sorority who will at-...ese functions, is an inspector ...ill be honored at coffee ...r afternoon. At this time ...ions, friends, and alumnae, ...ng presidents and chapte-...rons of all local sororities and Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell will be guests of the sorority.

A senior farewell supper at the Pi Beta Phi house Monday night will feature a class prophecy, a will, and senior requests. Eleanor Miller is handling the refreshments for the party.

An intermission party during the May Day dance is also on the calendar of Kappa Alpha Theta activities this weekend. The entire group will spend Sunday at Wakulla Springs.

Honoring senior chapter members a buffet supper was given at the Phi Mu house Saturday night with Frances Habard in charge of arrangements. Gifts were exchanged after the class will and prophecy were read. An after dinner coffee last Sunday was arranged by Nancy Hazard.

Members of Delta Phi Epsilon spent last weekend at Camp Flatacowe. One of the weekend's refreshments were Naomi Shulman's Sylvia Mountcastle's Nicky Rechter and Flo Eilner. An installation ceremony was recently held for new sorority members, who include Mrs Louis Gibbs, Mrs Sam Robbins, Mrs Jack Lipsey, Mrs Ben Goldman, and Mrs Louis Turner.

Senior members of Tri Delta will be honored at a party Monday evening at 5:30 p m with Betty Ellen Dixon in charge of all arrangements.

Alpha Delta Pi will also honor senior members at a party next Thursday evening. Mrs Ellen Barrs, Mrs Ben Hall Odum, guest of honor last night at a surprise birthday party arranged by Sarah Hudson, Betty Howell and Frances Choate are planning a dinner party for tomorrow night.

A quartet composed of Jane Johnson, Jeanne Mayo, Twyla Bair, Rene Hedgecoth, and Jane Carr sang several numbers for the local program which members of Alpha Chi Omega are presenting at Camp Cornelia Fort Airfield Sunday. The chapter will go in an army bus to the field where they will visit the hospital and lead group singing.

Mrs. Ed Marinski, Mary Florence Fox and Neil Hawkins, sen-...ors, were guests of honor at the Alpha Xi Delta party Monday night at which time the honorees were presented with gifts. Formalities took by Dorothy Dasher ...ent welcome and Martin and Mrs Paul F Pinner and Dr Annie B Pepper were hostesses at the Alpha Xi Delta members at a ...ties given at the Pinner's home Sunday afternoon. Guests for the occasion included Miss Grace Madsen, Dr. Lucy Gaither, Eugenia Hall, Ruth Thacher, Dr Dorothy Dasher and Dr Annie Pepper, sorority patroness. Miss Hall is a daughter of Key West, sister of Letitia Sullivan, was also a guest at the party.

Chi Omega members were guests ...t an informal party given Wednesday night by Mrs Benton Davis Avant and daughter, Eugenia, at their home in Tallahassee.

Sunday afternoon Rush parties and pledges will pick blueberries and have a picnic supper at the home of Miss Harry Arnow, a Delta Zeta living in Tallahassee. Grace De Wolf, social chairman, is in charge of the refreshments.

Snow Tells of Incan Relics

Continued from page one

with his hands over his eyes, one with his hands over his mouth, and the other closing his ears. Another relic on display which amused the visitors was a water pitcher made in the shape of a bird which, when tipped to pour, would whistle. One thing Dr Snow spoke of, was a red hummingbird that came from Columbia, South America. He explained that the head, after being dried out, was split up the back, and all bones were removed from it. It was then filled with hot rocks or sand and the natural features of the face were retained. The bird being preserved the head, although it is only about a third of the original size. It is said that in some parts of Columbia, even today, the Columbians continue this practice.

Although the exhibit held Wednesday night was fairly large, it was only about a third the size of the exhibit to be shown. It will then be one of the fourth largest museum pieces of American art. Since the room formerly used for Red Cross work was not big enough for the entire exhibit, plans are being made for a new building. The museum will be open at specified times for visitors.

Sophomore Council Fetes Old Members

Continued From Page One

Fridy, Juanita Krentzman, Frecklin Smith, Jean Bennett, Glenn Asher and Patricia Pattishall, and Yvonne Boatright, chairman of the place cards committee; members, Margaret Stringfellow, Ada Ruth Lallie Stevens, Betty Strickland Roberta Perkins and Jean Pitson.

Odd-Even Softball To Be Played Today

Each Team Has One Game To Credit Before Finals

Odd and Evens will again renew their rivalry when they play today at five o'clock on the soccer field, in the Odd-Even softball game.

This week, the class games were played with the sophomore-sophomore combination winning the opener on Monday, 4-3, while on Wednesday the freshmen and juniors won the game with a 12-8 score. Battery for the sophomores-seniors were Louise Fernandes, pitcher, and Mary Louise Fernandes, catcher. For the freshmen and juniors Bopie Whitaker was pitching and Sarah Bennett catching. Anna Glese pitched for the Evens during the last inning of Wednesday's game.

Aless Trieste, Odd leader, declared that the Odds had shaped up well this season. She also commented that the Evens were in for a surprise in today's game.

"The Odds have already seen our surprise," was Frankie Hall's remark when she learned of the Odd's impressive victory. Referring to the Evens pitcher, Anna Glese.

Members of the Odd softball team are Margaret Fernandez, Louise Fernandes, Betty Sheer, Aless Trieste, Marion Looby, Mae Manning, Rachel Chambers, Ann Shaw, Carolyn Mickey Rechter and Sara Bell Key, Schwartz, Virginia Palmer, and Clarice Trueblood.

Even team members are: Tami Bowers, Frankie Hall, Bopie Whitaker, Jeanne Booth, Rosa Lee Vick, Gwendolyn Reid, Evelyn Stuckey, Catherine Sullivan, Sarah Bennett, Tommy Thompson, Ann Glese, Virginia Whidden, Anna Glese, Bopie Whitaker, and Frankie Hall.

Comebacks Collegiate

Continued from page four

and laughed at it until his date came up and dragged him away and then we decided it wasn't a very cute joke anyway.

In case you are planning to go to that May Day dance don't forget to fill out Form 33 in triplicate, tear off the tops of three army cans and fill them with the blown pinkish-red stuff that looked once gose and send them to someone interested in such. I would like some more directions for you to comply with before the moon reaches its zenith in the morning. We aren't sure that these rules are quite exactly right but we heard something similar and you can't go wrong in doing this.

We've heard some people complaining about that little pile of boards and junk in front of the Science building, but we sort of like it. We stumble over it on our way to class about all the time and we can count how many times we've been there by checking the number of new bruises. In years to come a few pieces of wood will make us nostalgic for dear old FSC.

This has been a comparatively quiet week on campus. No people trotting around decked out in red horns. Just a couple of thousand hectic looking girls trying to read three books at one time or trying to make up 10 dinner periods in one week.

The little piano is missing from Landis parlor. No one knows where it has to that is in the Cockrell. The indictment girls have pressed but still it is gone with a "substitute" in its place. Will somebody please bring the little thing back and let it rest in its rightful place?

There is a sweet little boy at home that we've started writing to like mad this week. He has a lot of personality and we really don't mind wearing low heels when we go out with him. Maybe he can't rhumba—or even foxtrot, but we have been away from home for a long time and all those cute boys got transferred. Anyway he's one of the NICEST boys we know and he is SO dependable. At least we hope he's dependable.

Percy Grainger, pianist and composer, will appear in several programs on FSC campus as featured artist for Music Week.

Tuberculosis X-rays Are Among Health Services Offered Students and Faculty

As one of many health services, offered at Florida State College, all students, faculty and staff members and employees of the college have the opportunity this week and next of being given X-ray tests for tuberculosis. Machines being used for the examinations, which are financed by the United States Public Health Service, are expected to X-ray 200 students per hour, as compared to only 30 to 40 which the cities were first brought here in 1942. Also for the first time this year, faculty members as well as students may receive tests. All students are aware of this opportunity, but many do not realize the volume of work performed throughout the year by the infirmary.

"Our chief objective is to cure patients and allow them to return to college life as quickly as possible with a minimum of danger to other students," stated Dr Dorothy Chayes, college physician, referring to this work.

In carrying out such an objective, the infirmary has given 151 shots of penicillin to date, has successfully treated a wide variety of serious illnesses and has given four units of plasma and one blood transfusion during the year. College physicians have, moreover, performed 12 appendicectomies and treated one small fracture and numerous other cases requiring minor surgery. Every prospective graduate has the opportunity to receive a complete physical examination, including a hemoglobin test, urinalysis and Kahn test and also a chest X-ray if indicated. In addition seniors are given a Schick test, vaccination against pox and inoculation for typhoid fever. It is hoped that next year these vaccinations will be available to all students who wish to take them, according to Dr Chayes. Plans are also being made to replace the clinic thermometers with individual treatment for each patient by appointment only. Dr Chayes said.

Equipped with 30 beds, the infirmary has 28 double rooms and three wards. In case of epidemic, facilities are also available to accommodate students of the fourth floor which is not in use at the present time. The infirmary has not only the reception room, doctor's office and clinic which greet the visitor upon entering the infirmary door, but not everyone knows that the infirmary also boasts a pharmacy an X-ray room, equipped with an X-ray machine convertible into a fluoroscope, a complete kitchen and a lab story, where a technician is on duty daily. The latter addition to the infirmary is a new diathermy machine, which is used in the treatment of muscular disorders, sinus troubles and all other ailments for which heat is indicated.

Dr Dorothy Chayes and Dr Minerva Gorden, college physicians, are assisted at the infirmary by a staff of six nurses on full-time duty and by eight other personnel. Special nurses are also employed in cases of serious and prolonged illness.

Smokers Have Trying Problems Even After They Obtain Fags

When spring made its appearance early this year, the girls were very glad to leave the stuffy corners for the more comfortable open areas. Between classes and after every meal, the outside smoking lounges filled students enjoying a cigarette or perhaps a pipe in the sun and exchanging the latest gossip.

But this week rain and cool weather descended on us and once more we're glad to seek the protection of smokers again, only to find the one in Reynolds closed. Most of this habituees of this den think that they know because they didn't keep the room very clean, while some are sure that it is because they made a trifle too much noise.

However, the fact that this cute smoker was closed gave rise to the rumor that all smokers were closed. Most of the freshmen, however, went to the game-room of the Student Alumnae building without even investigating.

Neither Bryan nor New Hall has a smoker. No one seems to have an explanation of this lack in New Hall, other than that it must have been an oversight. But the general opinion as to why Bryan is without this very popular room is that it really isn't safe to strike a match in the dear old fortress.

New Hall Has Dance In Dormitory Parlor

"And a man broke on me," was the unfamiliar remark heard after the New Hall Ball last Saturday night, held in the parlor.

New Hall girls were hostess to the Army, Navy, Marines, and Gainesville Glee Club amidst decorations of Magnolia blossoms. Punch was served from an attractive table during the evening. A "Jake" provided the music.

During intermission, LaVera Roop and Eloise Zeiler sang duets, and Barbara Owen and Alice Phillips performed a character sketch, singing "Pretty Baby" and "Meet Me in St Louis."

Chaperones for the evening were Miss Calla Segerman and Miss P B. Furman, residence counselors. Honor guests were Dr and Mrs Doak Campbell.

Under the direction of Chairman Harriet Marsh, committees for the ball included Phyllis Parker and Dot McCleod, hostesses; Dot Hicks, Barbara Owen, decorations; Georgia Fields, entertainment; Cox Lee Wells, clean-up; Pat Houlihan, refreshments; and Mildred Hamilton and Jeanne Mayo, serving committees.

Refund funds from the ball were donated to the American Red Cross.

Annual Tea Honors Members of Faculty

Campuside, Hillside and Parkside dormitories held their annual faculty tea Monday afternoon, April 25, in the parlor of Campuside. It was sponsored by Miss Eleanor Lallance, residence counselor for Campuside and Hillside and Miss Martha Barksdale, residence counselor for Parkside.

An unusual feature of the tea was that, not only were the three houses invited a faculty member to her guest, but also, in addition to the attending faculty members were: Dr Olivia Dorman, dean of students, Miss Ruthine Warren, assistant dean of students, residence counselors, and members of the executive house directors.

The social committee, acting as hostesses were Jane McIntosh, Phyllis Reindel, Barbara Perry, Ruby Richburg, Para Jones, and Gloria Hughes. Also assisting in hospitalities were Junior Counselors Peggy Hall, Janie Redfern, Marsaret McCann, Carolyn Bouriand and Katherine Webb.

Those on the serving committee included Edna Earle Whitfield, Carol Mann, Dorothy Rechtenbaugh, Dorothy Cox, Marjorie Crocker, Peggy Hall, Jean Hoffman and Blanche Rosemont.

Tarpon Plans May Day Demonstration

Two dozen girls will swim to the rhythm of Latin American music when the Tarpon Club presents its annual May Day demonstration at 8:30 o'clock Friday night at the pool of the Student Alumnae building.

According to Mary Louise Perry, president of the Tarpon club, there will be five Tarpon formations, and a three-girl comedy diving.

Members who will present the water version of the "South American Way" are as follows: Jeanne Mayo, Virginia Collins, Nell Cooper, Anzel Pain, Jinx Parrior, Margie Hoole, Anne Bennett, Jo Jelks, Gladys Lester, Nancy McEdwards, Felicia Millican, Venoria Mott, Frances Pease, Mary Louise Perry, Ann Richardson, Betty Rose Richardson, Jean Wagner, Mary Ann Watts and Trixi Thompson.

Those who will participate in the demonstration are Jeani Harris, Quinkie Brown, Lucy Say, Moira Long and Anna Lou Rivers.

The schedule is:

Monday, May 7 A through F.
Tuesday, May 8, G through L.
Wednesday, May 9, O through Z.

Assignments for the junior counselors have not been made yet.

Room Assignments To Be Announced

Room assignments will be available Monday through Wednesday in the office of the director of residence during these hours: 8:00 to 12:00 and 2:00 to 4:00, announced Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence.

Miss McCollum says that everyone call for her assignment on the day set for her according to the alphabet. The schedule is:

Monday, May 7 A through F.
Tuesday, May 8, G through L.
Wednesday, May 9, O through Z.

Gala Dance Highlights May Activities Tomorrow Night in College Gymnasium

The annual May dance will be held tomorrow night in the Florida State College gymnasium from 8:30 till 12, with the introduction of the Court scheduled for 10 p m.

The gymnasium will be appropriately decorated with bright May poles and flowers, and the Gordon Johnson "Harbor Craft-ers" will provide the music.

Carol Sherman is in charge of general preparations for the dance. Other committee chairmen are Frances Hines, decorations; Anne Hays Davis, business manager; Marguerite Rost, ticket distribution; Katherine Welch, chaperones and student hostesses.

Chaperones and guests for the occasion will be: Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Professor and Mrs Walter R Cowie, Dr and Mrs Milton W Carothers, Dean and Mrs Karl O Kurtzahn, Dr Olivia Dorman, Miss Katherine Warren, Miss Edith McCollum, Dr and Mrs W H Rogers, Miss Elizabeth Hodges, Dr and Mrs Coyle E Moore, Mrs Beverly Stetson, Miss Joyce Bevis, Miss Celia Segerman, Miss Margaret Roser, Miss Anne Poor, Lt and Mrs Pannier, of Gordon Jhnstn, and Mr and Mrs J Frank Miller.

Carol Sherman, general chairman of the dance, announced that there will be a 45-minute intermission, beginning at 10:15, after the presentation of members of the May Court. She particularly stressed the fact that this is to be a "dinking out" dance asking that everyone remember to sign out when leaving the dance floor, whether for smoking or at intermission time.

Magazine Jottings . . .

Continued from page four

ty-two vessels. War spending is placed at 45 billion dollars for dollars in fiscal years 1945-46. However reconversion will not mean the immediate vanquishment of the May Court. She particularly stressed the fact that this is to be a "dinking out" dance asking that everyone remember to sign out when leaving the dance floor, whether for smoking or at intermission time.

Florida Glee Club Honored at Party

An informal party honoring members of the University of Florida Glee Club after their concert Friday night in Wescott auditorium was given by members of the Florida State College Glee Club at the Sigma Kappa house, with punch table decorated with spring flowers was placed in the west parlor. A crystal punch bowl and colored candles adorned the center. Dainty cookies and assorted nuts were served throughout the party.

Mrs Anna Olson, one of the guests of honor, entertained with music and songs while other guests danced in the east parlor which was banked with Easter lilies, snapdragons and gladiolas.

Margaret Smith and Rosemary Thrasher were co-chairmen of arrangements. Committee chairmen were Miriam Angell, refreshments, and Renee Hedgecoth, publicity.

Goats Initiated at Camp Last Weekend

After the completion of their initiation last Saturday and Sunday at camp the F C'ers state a new official members of F club.

New members are: Carol Mann, Jeanie Redfern, Jinx Parrior, Rachel Chambers Marian Floyd, Jeanne Booth, Ann Shaw, Carolyn Cox Jones, Irma Lee Shepherd, Mary Louise Perry, Louise Fernandes, Anna Glese, Betty Sheer, Evelyn Shea, Catherine Sullivan Gwendolyn Reid, Virginia Whidden, Betty Gardiner, Marli Richardson, Bobbie Leonard, Barbara Mann Ann Parker, Mary Ann Edwards, Anna Horne, Betty Wiseheiker, Alice Taft, Catherine Gallagher and Betty Donnally.

The honorary faculty members are: Miss Calla Segerman and Miss Margaret Stanton, instructors in physical education.

Bride-Elect Given Surprise Shower

Betty Jane Fox was honored at a shower party given by Mrs Ben Hall Odum at her home on Call street Monday night.

Miss Mary Ann Beasley is to be married in the Call Street Baptist church and Wednesday night.

A number of guests were present and the bride-elect to be married in the Call Street Baptist church and will be married on graduation day with many of her sorority sisters remaining for the ceremony.

The bridegroom to be is Harry Harris, a pilot in the Eastern Air Lines. The couple plan a live in Macon, Georgia, after the wedding.

Coffee and individual cakes were served at the shower. Betty Jane's gifts were opened and displayed on the table for the rest of the evening.

For Mother
CHARMS
by Lengel
A GIFT OF GOLD!
All Mothers are not just like Whistler's.
They're modern . . . don't seem to grow old.
They love jewelry and doo-dads.
We cater.
And charms for their bracelets, of Gold.
Our Selection of Gold Charms Starts at $3.00

Can While You Can!
Fruit Jars . . . Jelly Glasses

Seek it First at
VAN BRUNT & VON INC
VON'S HARDWARE

REGISTERED JEWELER
AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
Moon's

Compliments
of Fain's Drug Store
...ne and Colleen Ph. 56

M & N CAFE
OPEN DAY AND NIGHT
Sizzling Western Steaks—Sea Foods
UNEXCELLED COFFEE
SHORT ORDERS AT ALL HOURS
119 E. Jefferson PHONE 1054 Tallahassee, Fla.

Methodists Elect Leader

Council Will Be Installed And Honored Sunday

Dorothy Binger, in-coming senior, will head the Methodist student organization for the year of 1945-46. She and other members of the Methodist student council were elected last Sunday at their regular Sunday school hour.

The council will be installed at Trinity Methodist church this Sunday night at 7:30, and a reception breakfast will be given for them at 7:30 Sunday morning.

Miss Alpharetta Leeper, student secretary, announced that Rev Claud D Haines, Methodist minister, would make a short talk at the installation, and the retiring senior officers would give the new members of the council their pledges.

Dorothy Caswell, senior, is in charge of the breakfast that will be given by the old council. It will be held at the Student house and all members of both the councils have been sent invitations.

Those who will be assisting Dorothy as officers of the student organization are: Catherine Welch, vice president; Wilma Humphrey, secretary; and Carolyn Fiewellen, treasurer. Jean Cole was elected president of the Sunday school class. Her assistants will be: Grace Sims, vice president; Elizabeth McLean, secretery; Frances Cannon, treasurer.

Martha Jane Brown will serve as the deputation director in charge of all the trips to neighboring churches. The rest of the committee heads are as follows: Julie Ann Banks, dramatics; Pat Pattishall, choral reading; Doris McIntosh, shimmie; Joyce Carlton, music; Kathleen Johnson, sorority; Joanne Newman, editor of the Fourth Torch; Grace De Wolf, week-day worship; Janie Redfern, fellowship; Betty Ruth Goode, world friendship; Betty Bell, community service and social action; Babe Evans, recreation; Joyce Petty, personnel; Rnenda Gregory, publicity; Ruth Clark, campus-church; and Mattie Lou Alford, the house.

Intramural Yearly Awards to Be Given

Theresa Munroe, who is in charge of all intramurals, has announced that if time allows, awards will be given out for the year's intramurals in connection on Tuesday.

Merrill Long, playing for Delta Zeta sorority, won the ping pong intramural singles last Tuesday afternoon in the finals at the gymnasium.

Leading up to the finals, Patsy Adams, Chi Omega, won over Joyce Gardner of Parkside; Bryan and Reynolds Halls defaulted; Betty Davis Shouse, Delta Delta Delta, beat Bessie Setzer of Delta Phi Epsilon. Chi Omega then played Tri-Delta and lost.

This left Pi Beta Phi, Tri Delta and Delta Zeta in the semi-finals. The three sororities then drew, with Delta Zeta drawing "wash." Dottie Young, Pi Phi, played Betty Davis Shouse, Tri-Delta, and won. In the playoff between Delta Zeta and Pi Phi, Delta Zeta won with the scores 21-18 and 21-18.

Telegraphic Meet To Be Held Soon

The National Telegraphic Archery Tournament will be held in a few days according to an announcement made by Miss Frances Cresn, instructor in the Physical Education. Florida State College placed third in the Southern District in 1943, but did not enter the tournament in 1944.

The Columbia Round, which consists of twenty-four arrows shot from 50, 40, and 30 yards respectively, will be the approved method of shooting in the contest. Each team will be made up of eight archers. Those entering the tournament from Miss Cresn's class are: Betty Jo Kaczinski, who made high score for FSC in the 1943 tournament, Irma Shephard, Bobbie Rees, Sarah Ellen Glenn, Harriet Winkleman, Bobbie Carter, Julia Perkins, Joy Knipe, Helen Stone, Mary Ann Hopson, Anna Mae Monson, Juanita Nordin, and Priscilla Clark.

All others interested in entering the tournament are urged to get in touch with Miss Cresn as soon as possible.

Anyone placing in any one of the three classifications in the tournament is awarded a certificate.

Party to Be Held

All students and faculty members are invited to attend the annual garden party at Rure hall, Episcopal student center, on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5.

Rev and Mrs Alvin Bullen will be the host and hostess at this affair, which will be held on the grounds at Rure.

EXAM SCHEDULE

Hygiene 101	Friday	8:50- 8:50
Commerce 404	Friday	8:50-10:50
Philosophy 224	Friday	8:50-10:50
Psychology 209	Friday	11:00- 1:00
Five-Hour Integrated Courses	Friday	2:00- 5:00
English 001 and 101	Saturday	8:50-10:50
Economics 201	Saturday	8:50-10:50
Social Studies 103	Saturday	11:00- 1:00
Physical Education	Saturday	2:00- 2:00
Home economics 106, 113, 442	Saturday	3:00- 5:00
Chemistry 204 and 205 and 207	Monday	8:50-10:50
M W F 12:00	Monday	11:00- 1:00
T Th S 12:00	Monday	2:00- 4:00
Journalism 110	Monday	4:00- 6:00
M W F 11:00	Tuesday	8:50-10:50
T Th S 11:00	Tuesday	11:00- 1:00
M W F 10:00	Tuesday	2:00- 4:00
Political Science 201	Tuesday	4:00- 6:00
T Th S 10:00	Wednesday	8:50-10:50
M W F 9:00	Wednesday	11:00- 1:00
T Th S 9:00	Wednesday	2:00- 4:00
M W F 4:00	Thursday	8:50-10:50
M W F 3:00	Thursday	11:00- 1:00
M W F 2:00	Thursday	2:00- 4:00
T Th 4:00	Friday	8:50-10:50
T Th 3:00	Friday	11:00-12:30
One-hour courses and conflicts	Friday at Saturday	2:00- 5:00 8:50- 7:00

Where two examinations are scheduled for the same hour, the first named takes precedence.

Beard Gives Impressions of FSC Campus; Thinks College Camp Most Outstanding

"Camp Flastacowo is one of the outstanding parts of the college," stated Mrs Ramona C Beard, associate professor of organ, piano and theory. Mrs Beard is going to present her formal faculty recital at the organ Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in Westcott auditorium.

Many of Mrs Beard's friends and relatives have told her, and she herself thinks, that the FSC campus is one of the most attractive campuses that she has visited. Because she likes sports so well, she went out to Lake Bradford nearly every evening in the early fall season when she first arrived in Tallahassee from Chicago.

Mrs Beard is a new member of the music faculty staff. She came to Tallahassee last September. She had been teaching organ, piano and theory in Perry Hall, Lake Forest, Ill. While in that position she was also the director of music in the St Lukes Lutheran Church where she directed three choirs and played the organ.

Upon coming to FSC Mrs Beard took the position that Miss Margaret W Dow, former professor of organ and theory had. Both came from the same home town, went to the same college, and are both members of Phi Beta Kappa.

After Mrs Beard received her first music degree from Carlton, where she graduated with honors in the field of music, she taught three years. Shortly after that she married Mr Parker S Beard and they went to Europe on their honeymoon, where they both studied pipe-organ in Paris with Marcel Dupre. Mr Beard studied voice and they both went to Alliances Francaises. Upon their return from abroad they lived in and around Chicago.

Following Mr Beard's death, she started teaching in Eureka College, and later went to Perry Hall to teach.

Mrs Beard's first college degree was an AB in biology. Although she is qualified to teach biology and French, the only teaching she done other than piano, organ and theory, has been English. She has received her master's degree of music in piano and composition and master of arts in organ and theory.

She has played concerts in and about Chicago, and she is a member of the Society of American Musicians, Chicago Club of Women Organists, and the American Guild of Organists. In the Tallahassee chapter of the latter she is the present regent.

When asked of her first impressions of FSC, she stated that all the student leaders seemed to her sincere and worthwhile and that she was impressed with the sudent ability on the campus.

Political Science Instructor Speaks

Miss Daisy Parker Talks At Jacksonville Luncheon

The International Relations Department of the Woman's club of Jacksonville, Florida presented Miss Daisy Parker, political science instructor at the Florida State College, as guest speaker on its luncheon program on Wednesday.

Miss Parker had as her subject, "The United States Constitution and World Organization," and subdivided her talk under two general headings, namely, the problems that confront the San Francisco Conference and the Constitutionality of the United States' entrance into a world organization.

Miss Parker outlined four major problems, headed by the possibility that the conference may not be a success. However, she pointed out that, whether it is a success or not, it will have proved that nations can argue instead of warring.

With regard to problems within the United States, Miss Parker said the major concern is the acceptance of the charter of world organization and the membership therein when the charter is offered to the nations of the world for acceptance or rejection.

"Although there still be many arguments in San Francisco," the speaker pointed out, "we hope that this will lead to a peace which will afford to all nations assurance that all men in all lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want.

Library Work to Be Discussed Tuesday

Students who are interested in investigating library work in any field are invited to meet with Miss Louise Richardson, librarian and professor of library science, and the faculty of the department of library science next Tuesday at 5 p m in 304 Library.

Stuents who cannot go at the specified time may arrange for conferences with Miss Richardson, Miss Elizabeth Hodges, acting associate professor of library science, Miss Eulah Mae Snider, acting associate professor of library science, or with other members of the library staff.

According to Miss Richardson, there are many openings in Florida as well as in other states for librarians, and the demand for them is so great that many scholarships are being offered to those interested in going to library school. There are many fields in library work including medical, hospital, business, technical, college, school and art libraries.

Pictures of two Florida State College alumnae who are now doing hospital library work are shown on the Library bulletin board in Westcott.

Club Hos Outing

Wakulla Springs was the destination of the Outing club last Saturday afternoon. The truck left the new dining hall at 2 o'clock packed with 35 students seeking the outdoors. Swimming, diving, volleyball, and water games constituted the afternoon sports.

This week a poster will be placed in Westcott for all those who wish to sign up for next week's Outing club. All students are eligible for membership.

F Club Elects Hall Of Fame Members

F Club Hall of Fame has been chosen, and the club is giving a dinner for the senior members.

Election of members to the F Club Hall of Fame and a talk on sportsmanship by Priscilla Gillette, past president of F Club, was the main business of the club's meeting last night at 8 o'clock in the Student Alumnae building auditorium. The members chosen for this year's Hall of Fame are to be announced at a later date.

The Hall of Fame is composed of seniors in the F Club who are outstanding for their sportsmanship. One or two members of the senior class are chosen each year by a majority vote of the members. The president of the club automatically becomes a member of the Hall of Fame since she is nominated and elected by the club to lead their organization.

F Club is planning to give a dinner next Wednesday for all of the senior members of the club. The entire club and members of the faculty are invited to the dinner. It is undecided as to whether the affair will be held at camp or in town.

Victory Comes

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Seniors Leave

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXII, No. 27 | Tallahassee, Florida | MAY 11, 1945

Nancy Parker Chosen Queen Of May at FSC

Celebration Has Pastoral Theme With Music And Flowers

Cast Includes Nine Seniors Chosen by Student Poll

Nancy Parker, Queen of the May, was crowned in the annual May Day celebration which was held Saturday afternoon, May 5, on the Westcott building on the campus of the Florida State College for Women.

Musicians, dancers, wood nymphs, flower girls and singers created atmosphere for the theme, a small village, before the arrival of the royal party. They decked the queen's throne with flowers, carried dances, to the accompaniment of the musicians, and rehearsing acts on the village green.

One of the dances was performed by four sailboards and a vaudeville cops.

All activities ceased when the time of coronation drew near. Corinne Dixon, arrived in top hat and cape, announced the May Queen and her court to the village green. The May Court preceded the queen in three and each couple was announced as it arrived. The message started from the front of Byrne Hall and proceeded through the aisle between the girls which were seated on the outside of the street and up to the queen's throne. The court was arranged in pairs on either side of the throne.

The May court in the order of appearance were: Mary Yost and Harriet Pixley, Jean Kendall and Betty Brown, Ann Aldrich and Lucy Mendenhall, Betsy Ann and Frances McGarry, and Jo Levin. They were followed by pastel-colored dresses and the bouquets of flowers. The crown-bearer followed the carrying the crown on a white satin cushion. The queen arrived in an old-fashioned coach, ruffled dress carrying a bouquet of white spirea flowers.

The crown was crowned by the Lord of ceremonies. She was met by the lester who was followed by the flutist and both in turn crowned her queen.

Continued on Page Two

Dean Kari Kuersteiner of the school of music who has been in charge of general arrangements for the May celebration of National Music Week.

Students Edit Daily Democrat

Know Your Tallahassee Was Theme Followed

"Know Your Tallahassee" was the theme of Sunday's Daily Democrat which was edited by students of the journalism department headed by Cordelia Bayclay. More than 50 students assisted in writing, reporting, copyreading, proof-reading and managing the teletype news.

From early Saturday morning until the paper rolled off the press Sunday morning, these students assumed full responsibility in editing the paper. There were hopes up until the last minute that V On Day would be announced. All waited patiently for the great news which did not come. This would have been a great honor and privilege long to have been remembered.

There was never a dull moment while the girls occupied the editorial chairs. Miss Mary Vance, associate professor of journalism helped as assistant society editor. There were far more people than available chairs. The typists, the proof readers, writers and teletype machines clicking, the sound of fountain pens and pencils writing furiously added to the atmosphere of a typical newspaper office at work.

The paper included many full-length features on Tallahassee industries and establishments as well as the usual news, society, editorials, and sports news.

Shirley Burns served as managing editor, with Janet Pancoast and Rachael Hill in charge of teletype news. City editors were Peggy Lay and Anne Oglethorpe.

Continued on Page Five

Gala Concert Will Climax Music Week

Band, Orchestra, Glee Club Directed Tonight By Grainger

Various Musical Programs Are Held as Celebration

A gala concert by the band, orchestra, and glee club will climax the various musical programs which have been presented this past week. Will feature Percy Grainger, guest artist.

The fourth annual outdoor concert will be the first event of Music Week. This was followed by the Faculty Recital with Mrs Ramona Barr, associate professor of organ, piano and theory, as organist. Next, came the Artist Series programs on Monday and Tuesday nights featuring Percy Grainger, pianist. Wednesday night, Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, dean of the school of music, played the violin at the Chamber Music program. Last night, over 200 people attended the Music Week dinner in the lower south dining hall.

At the concert tonight, the orchestra will open the program with the band. Then the pre-flash string music selections, followed by "Lord Peter's Stable Boy" and "Handel's Largo." Next, Mr Walter Cowles, director of orchestra, will act as conductor for the glee club. They will appear with Mr Grainger, Eleanor Bragg, and Betsy Ruffin at the piano.

English Gothic Music, sung by the Glee Club, will be featured in the concert. It will be directed by Mr Grainger will be the pianist; Miss Elizabeth Ann Bragg, and Miss Etta L Robertson, director of the Glee club, conductor.

The finale will be the major part of the program, "The Gum Suckers March" and the "Colonial

Continued on Page Six

Percy Grainger, well known composer and pianist, has been campus guest artist since last Sunday.

Panhellenic Makes Plans

Meeting Will Be Held First Tuesday Next Fall

Although the quarter system will be in effect, rushing next year will be on the same basis Panhellenic basis as it has been in previous years. All scorrities will be under formal rushing regulations during all three quarters.

On the first Tuesday after school opens in September, there will be a meeting of all sorority presidents, rush chairmen, and Panhellenic representatives in order to make last minute plans for rush week. With the opening of the quarter in September, rush week will be held during freshman week starting with a general meeting of all freshmen and pledging will be held during preschool opens. Jean Clifford, Panhellenic president, will be in charge of this meeting to explain all rushing rules.

On the first Friday night, there will be formal receptions in all of the sorority houses on campus. On Saturday afternoon, Monday, the remainder of rush week, there will be engagements at all houses. The main plan for each sorority having fire engagements with parties on Saturday, four on Sunday, and three on Monday, will be followed next year. It is recommended that each sorority be responsible for the activities of the alumnae during the summer and one week, and these alumni must be under the same rules as the college girls. They should not be any contacting of rushees by wires or telegrams.

Pledge day will be the second Saturday after school opens. Jean Clifford states that "We rushed last year under strict preferential system and we will do the same in September." The main idea in this system is that there will be no pressuring for bids or engagements during rush week.

There will not be a great deal of change with the quarter system in rushing as there will be a formal rush period at the beginning of each quarter. However, during the winter and spring quarters, there will only be three days of rushing. At these quarters, there will be the regular Friday night formal reception with

Continued on Page Two

Opportunity Calls Many Seniors North To Varied Positions

Graduation time will find the graduating seniors heading for New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Maryland, Tennessee, Michigan, and many other parts of the country to take varied jobs.

A large number of girls intend to continue with their studies at the following places: Catherine Barnes, Assembly Training Echo; Richmond; Betsy R Bell, University of Rochester, Rochester, N Y; Dorothy Bolick, Philadelphia General Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa; Mary Colton, Francine Fisher, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Mary Florence Fox, Virginia Kinner, St. Vincent's Hospital, Jacksonville; Nancy Orleman, John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md, Isabel Roger.

Interesting and unusual vocational jobs have been taken by a number of girls. Anne Bennett and Marilyn Allen will work at the Clinton Work, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, where Marilyn Brown, a graduate of last semester, is working as a junior chemist. Marian Hendrix will be Miss Hutton's secretary at Webber College, Babson Park, Florida, where Jo Hall will also be an instructor of accounting. Clewiston Motor Company, Clewiston, Florida, will hire Aiden Maples as accountant, while Cecelia McColpin will be accountant at Flagler Howard, St. Augustine, Florida. Bessie Setzer will also be an accountant, working for Belser's Stores, Jacksonville, Florida. Mary D Bullenberger will be a

Continued on Page Five

Carothers, Becker, Fawley Go to Deland

Sloan Foundation and Summer Conference Discussed

Dr Mellon W Carothers, registrar, Mr Henry F Becker, professor of geography, and Miss Gladys Fawley, assistant professor of geography, attended two conferences in DeLand on Thursday and Friday.

The first conference was a meeting of the Sloan Foundation department which is preparing curricular materials on food, shelter, and clothing for the high schools of the state. Mr H E Nutting is the executive secretary of that project.

The Friday meeting was a conference called by the Florida Resources—Use Education project, of which Dr Carothers is the coordinator.

Those participating were teachers of social studies and others interesting to conservation of Florida's resources. The conference was called for the purpose of assisting the instructors to confer in regard to the objectives and organization of these courses and the sources of material available.

The conference consisted of representatives from the University of Florida, Florida State College for Women, Rollins College, Florida Southern College, Stetson University, Tampa, St Petersburg Junior College, Barry College, and University of Miami.

Legislature in Brief

By CORDELIA BARCLAY

Controversial state tax bills, supported by the administration were the main feature of legislative action this week. Cigarette and liquor tax bills were prime causes of bitter floor and senate disputes, with partial action completed on both of them.

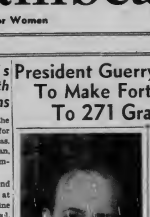
The liquor tax measure passed and sent to the house a bill, endorsed by Governor Caldwell, placing an additional five to ten cent tax per bottle on liquor. Proponents of the bill say it will add $7,200,000 to the state revenue fund. Opposition forces said the putting of the extra tax would bring in the needed extra revenue, but in view of the recent decision that the tax collections would be needed for setting up a post-war building fund.

Tuesday the much-debated four cent cigarette tax bill was passed by the house without discussion. The senate had previously passed the bill with an amendment to limit life of the measure to two years. The house struck out the limiting amendment, putting the bill in its original form. The tax bill is to be sent back to the senate for concurrence.

Following the federal announcement of the lifting of racing bans, bills to extend the day racing season 60 days in one-track counties, and 60 days in those counties polling a majority vote, were approved. The bill had the approval of administration leaders and racing operators.

Coeducation Discussed

Coeducation was in the news again, as the legislature Wednesday completed action on a resolution asking the State Board of Education to study the plan and undertake a two-year study of Florida college needs, including coeducation, and the proposed medical college. Recommendations concerning both will be reported at the next legislative session.



The bill was proposed as a compromise measure to end the coeducation battle raging during April.

Also before legislature were a series of recommendations from the citizens' education committees, volunteer surveyors of the Florida educational finance program who were appointed by the Governor. The recommendations called for increased salary schedules for teachers, state regulation of private schools and tutors; and distribution of state funds to schools over a ten month's period instead of nine.

Monday the house passed Governor Caldwell's bill that liberalizes

Continued on Page Two

President Guerry of University of the South To Make Fortieth Commencement Address To 271 Graduating FSC Seniors on May 28

Alexander Guerry, president of the University of the South, will be commencement speaker at graduation ceremonies.

Annual Baccalaureate Exercises to Be Directed By Frank Juhan, Consecrated Bishop of Florida, In Westcott Auditorium May 27

President Alexander Guerry of the University of the South, in Sewannee, Tennessee, will deliver the address at the fortieth annual commencement exercises for approximately 271 graduates. The Rt Rev Frank A Juhan of Jacksonville will give the sermon at baccalaureate, which will be held on Sunday morning, May 27, at 11:00 o'clock. Commencement will take place on Monday morning, May 28, at 10:30 o'clock, and both exercises are to be presented in Westcott auditorium.

Dr Guerry graduated in 1919 from the University of the South, of which he is now president, and in 1929 took his doctorate in classical literature from the same school. He also took a law degree in the Chattanooga College of Law in 1912. Since 1919 he has been prominent in public and educational affairs in Tennessee, and has been president of the university since 1938. He is a member of the American Legion, having served in the First World War as a lieutenant in the army, and is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary.

Rev Juhan is originally from the Texas, and graduated in 1908 from the West Texas Military Academy in San Antonio, Texas, and took his A B degree from the University of the South in 1910. In 1911 he received his B D degree from Theological Seminary, became a deacon in the same year, and ordained in 1912. He served as missionary in West Texas and New Mexico, as chaplain for the Sewanee Military Academy for three years following this, and was rector of Christ Church in Greenville, S C. He became Consecrated Bishop of Florida on November 28, 1924, which position he has held since then. Rev Juhan will be a trustee of the University of the South, of the 271 graduates, 180 will receive BS degrees in various fields of science, an AB degree, 12 will receive BM degrees, and four will receive Master degrees. The graduating class, by college divisions, is as follows:

Graduate Division

Master of Science: Lotta M Barclay Humphries and Josetina T Irizarry. Master of Arts: Frances Belcher and Hilda Montine Foster.

College of Arts and Sciences

Bachelor of Science in Commerce: Carolyn Ann Bailey, Lenôre Clara Benson, Lou Rita D Bradberry, Lorine Ashley Brandon, Mary Anne Cosmos Brooks Chazal, Betty Rimes Chester, Mary Jane Cochran, Christine Dewey, Thelma Corpening Differbaugh, Kate Lucile Dudley, Grace Pain, Blanche Faver, Margaret Louise Fernandez, Dorothy Grace Graham, Rebecca Cabell Halpern, Rubye Evalyn Kemp, Sarah Jeanette Kendall, Ruth Elizabeth Knight, Marian Ann Lambeth, Lydia Kris Lewis, Alice Carolann Lincoln, Ruth Elder Mahoney, Eleanor Putnam Matherly, Emma Rose Mims, Sarah Herndon, Mrs Margaret Blair and Mrs Lee E Milner, are suggesting that it include more secretarial work and that it be extended to all academic sections as soon as facilities can be made available.

Miss Herndon states that any type of Writing may be done in the laboratory and by anyone who have any time beyond the regular assignments. There is no supervision but the faculty member is there to assist when needed.

There is no time limit for the use of the room. Miss Herndon says the student to use the unbroken period for writing whatever she wants, at her rate of speed.

Miss Herndon, Mrs Blair and Mrs Milner believe that the favorable surroundings are encouraging. The classes are in the Westcott which is equipped with five tables, each accommodating six girls. Reference books are available in the room. One of the students has made curtains worked with the proportion motif to be used next year.

Fetes Honor FSC Seniors

Reception, Baccalaureate Are Featured Events

A reception given by President and Mrs Doak S Campbell in honor of graduating seniors, traditional class day exercises, baccalaureate, a school of Music concert, and the final event of graduation are the main features of the commencement exercises which will last from Saturday May 26 through Monday, May 28.

The reception is to be given by President and Mrs Campbell with the assistance of wives of college professors, and will take place in the reception room of the Student-Alumnae building on Saturday afternoon from 5-6 pm. Friends of the graduates, parents, their friends and relatives, and members of the college faculty, with the latter acting as hostesses and their parents a chance to talk with members of the faculty before leaving. There will be no receiving line.

On Saturday evening at 9 o'clock the seniors will pass on to their junior sisters their caps and gowns, symbols of their rank, and will receive from President Campbell on behalf of the juniors palm branches, symbols of eternal life. This traditional Class Day ceremony will take place on the lawn behind Westcott, and soft organ music will be played throughout the program.

Baccalaureate exercises will

Con.nued on Page Two

YW Reveals Future Plans For 1945-46

Activities Include Forums, Recreation, Worship

The YWCA plans for the coming year have as their theme "Individual activity." Directed forums, discussions, group recreation, and group directed Co-worship are just a few of the many activities planned by the "Y."

All freshmen are to be grouped according to dormitories, each dormitory having divided Hos and Hostens. Each section will have a chairman, elected from the freshmen committees, as well as one to be as large as last year's and more individual activity and assistance will be given to freshmen. Each group is to have an upperclassman sponsor, who is to advise and help in preparation of these activities.

An invitation will be given to all freshmen to become members of one of the three standing committee groups, to which all upperclassmen are to belong. The five committees, as set forth for the coming year, will be as follows: Worship Committee—Betty Rose Goode, chairman. This committee will work on Convocation devotions, sponsor forums on religious beliefs and practices and instruct in the leading of group and personal worship. A worship room is to be set up somewhere on campus for the use of all the members.

Social Action Committee—Betty Dowd and Betty Lee will act as co-chairmen. This committ

Continued on Page Two

Library Displays Steps To Peace

A special table in the reference room of the library has been set up for the display of books, pamphlets and arranged to show the various steps taken toward world peace and organization. This material is available for reading by all interested students.

The pamphlets are divided into four sections: first, those pertaining to the international conferences such as the Moscow Conference, Dumbarton Oaks Conference, Conference, the Atlantic Charter, and others; second, the proposed plans of action made at Bretton Woods, the Conference at San Francisco, Miss Miller believes that the favorable surroundings are encouraging. The classes are in the Westcott which is equipped with five tables, each accommodating six girls. Reference books are available in the room. One of the students has made curtains worked with the proportion motif to be used next year.

Writing Experiment Proves Successful

Teachers Advise Expansion In English Courses

At the beginning of second semester this year, the English department added a one-hour writing laboratory period to three freshman English sections with the aim of developing the student's writing.

The experiment has been such a success that the teachers of the sections, Miss Sarah Herndon, Mrs Margaret Blair and Mrs Lee E Milner, are suggesting that it include more secretarial work and that it be extended to all academic sections as soon as facilities can be made available.

Miss Herndon states that any type of Writing may be done in the laboratory and by anyone who have any time beyond the regular assignments. There is no supervision but the faculty member is there to assist when needed.

There is no time limit for the use of the room. Miss Herndon says the student to use the unbroken period for writing whatever she wants, at her rate of speed.

Miss Herndon, Mrs Blair and Mrs Milner believe that the favorable surroundings are encouraging. The classes are in the Westcott which is equipped with five tables, each accommodating six girls. Reference books are available in the room. One of the students has made curtains worked with the proportion motif to be used next year.

S Club Girls Urged To Be at Initiation

All S Club members are urged to attend the final initiation of the sheep which will be held tomorrow directly after lunch.

"Although we are in mourning for the lost sheep who has gone astray, all members are expected to attend this initiation" Nancy Parker, president of S Club, requests.

Members and sheep are asked to wear traditional brown and white.

Campbell Speaks

Miss Margaret Campbell, instructor in the Modern Language Department, spoke last Wednesday in Madison, Florida, where she spoke to a group of club-women on Pan-Americanism in Chile.

Miss Campbell was in Chile on fellowships awarded her by the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and The International Institute, which are for the furtherance of better understanding between the Americas.

Miss Ruth Campbell also an instructor in the Modern Languages Department, plans to spend the summer studying language at Columbia University in New York City.

Distaff Delayed

Elizabeth McFarland, editor of the Distaff, reports that the Distaff will be delayed due to difficulties in preparing it for publication. One of the main causes of the delay was the remodeling of the business office which did not permit the Distaff would be ready for publication.

In This Our Time. . .

By GLORIA REED

German Capitulation

The last week has seen the unconditional surrender of the Nazi forces in Europe to the victorious United Nations. And observers throughout the world who are perhaps wondering if the German monster has reared its ugly head for the last time may be comparing this military victory to the one in 1918.

Germany's World War I ended when the Fatherland, forseeing defeat and her allies collapsing, sought peace to save itself from devastation and turmoil. The Germans signed armistice terms behind the western front. But even though the surrender coinsided with an uprising in Germany, Kaiser Wilhelm's flight to Holland and the establishment of

A republic, the Allies were able to deal with an authoritative central government. At the bugle's truce German soil had not been invaded and the defeated German Army, though weakened, still held together its Prussian officer corps.

Now Germany's World War II has drawn to its close in a very different fashion. The Reich has been overrun, its cities devastated, its capital wrecked. The Nazi holy cities are in Allied hands. The Army has been destroyed. There is no real functioning central government. There is no armistice—only the strongly enforced results of unconditional surrender to the Allies. The end was utter chaos. Few nations in the history of the world have gone down in such an unparralled military and political defeat.

The once mighty war machine of that had controlled almost all of Europe has been cut to pieces, its centralized direction destroyed. The result was a series of separated and isolated surrenders by the corps, by the sector, by the Army. Last week the Alpine redoubt, where the Nazis had hoped to prolong the war, collapsed. On Saturday the northern pocket, including the Netherlands and Denmark, surrendered. The result of these two victories was a prisoner toll estimated at 2,000,000 men. Norway and Bohemia were the last Nazi strongholds to capitulate.

When the beaten German leaders signed the unconditional terms demanded by the United Nations, they, of course, surrendered all the German forces. And by this act of acknowledging defeat they became, under international law, prisoners of war. However, the one Nazi Army in Czechoslovakia whose general refuses to capitulate is thereby breaking the terms of the surrender When this Army is finally subdued—and it should be only a matter of a few days for the powerful Red Army—its troops will be treated, as breakers of the surrender and of international law, as war criminals who are not entitled to the priviledges which are granted prisoners of war.

Marshall Carl Gerd von Rundstedt, whom General Eisenhower once called "the greatest German strategist of World War II", last week told why Germany lost the war. This captured, stiff-necked and typically Prussian officer gave these reasons: (1) The Allies' strategic and tactical bombing campaigns; (2) Germany's lack of oil and gasoline for motorized transport; (3) The power of the Allies' naval guns, which reached deep inland in the time of the Normandy invasion, making impossible the bringing up of reserves needed to hurl Allied invasion forces into the Channel. "Had it not been for these factors", the Marshall said, "and had I been able to draw divisions and reserves together I am positive that the first Allied landings would not have been successful and I could have knocked out the Allies".

From May 2, when Northern Italy and Western Austria surrendered, to May 7, when unconditional capitulation brought about official cessation of all hostilities except in small isolated Nazi pockets, the map above traces sporadic surrenders that culminated in total victory.

Quiet of V-E Day

V-E Day, which cost us the expenditure of $185,000,000,000 and more than 750,000 casualities of about which 150,000 were killed, seemed to bring about an attitude of quiet thanksgiving throughont the Allied world in which, except for parts of London, the business of the day preceeded as usual. In his brief V-E Day proclamation, President Truman's message to the people was summarized in one word—"work"

Pacific Operations

As V-E Day was announced to a war-weary world, American marines on Okinawa stood in fox holes half filled with water and celebrated the occasion in bloody retaliation to the Japanese agressor. At times the advances were only a few yards and the casualties ran very high. Since V-E Day, the American forces have almost conquered the remainder of the island, but the opposition continues to be fierce.

Since the German collapse, the Japanese have been given stern warnings — unconditional surrender or eventual destruction.

On Mindanao island in the Philippines, the Japanese forces penetrated the thin American lines and took Libby airdrome captured by the Yanks some time ago.

On Tarakan, Aussie and Dutch troops were a mile from the Djoeata oil field.

In the eighteenth raid of Superfortresses against Japanese air bases on Kyushu from which the Nipponese have mounted suicide plane attacks against Okinawa, 325 miles southward, the Japanese offered no air opposition.

Peace Organization

On Wednesday Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov left San Francisco for Moscow, leaving the Big Three still deadlocked over the Polish question. And high diplomatic sources said there was no immediate prospect for resuming negotiations for a new Polish government. These were broken off after Molotov informed Stettinius and Eden of the arrest of 16 Polish leaders some of whom had been suggested by the American and British as members of a possible broadened Warsaw regime.

Rick Loses Pen

Walton Ricks, a member of the University Glee Club, lost his black Sheaffer life time pen when he was on campus with the Glee Club. He believes that he lost the pen when running from Westcott to the Signa Kappa House.

The pen was given to him before he went over seas and has a sentimental value. Mr Ricks will pay the mailing charges plus a five dollar COD charge if the finder will send it to him at the S A E House in Gainesville.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING

DURHAM, N. C.

The next class will be admitted September 27, 1945. Only one class is enrolled each year.

Basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. The academic requirements are 16 units of High School and at least one semester each of College Chemistry and Biology or Zoology. Annual tuition cost is $100 and covers the cost of instruction and maintenance.

Duke University School of Nursing offers the B.S. in Nursing upon completion of the 3-year nursing course and 60 semester hours of acceptable College credits.

Duke University School of Nursing also participates in the U. S. Nurse Cadet Corps program. Under this plan, students who pledge themselves to continue in nursing throughout the war, receive free tuition, uniforms and a small monthly stipend.

Application forms and catalogue can be obtained from: Dean, Duke University School of Nursing, Duke Hospital, Durham, North Carolina

Nancy Parker Chosen Queen

Continued from page one

who unexpectedly took part in the festivities. The singers and musicians entertained the queen with a song. The dancers then appearer with the May pole and began the May pole dance. Tha musicians played "Gathering Peascods" during the May pole dance.

After the entertainment had ceased the May Queen led her court through the "village" again up to Bryan hall.

The singers who entertained the royal court were: Ysobel DuPree, chairman of the song committee; Virginia Helle, Ann Daniels, Marilyn Michael, Ann Bower, Alice Wheeler, Twyla Baer and Eloise Ziegler.

The musicians who entertained were: Edwina Wiggins, chairman of the music committee: Betty Ruth Aughenbaugh, Marilyn Dewey and Rachel Crotwell.

The dancers included: Jeannette Lane, Virginia Green, Mary Jackson, Adele Gant, Clarice Journigan, Dorothy Peacock, Nicky Sartoris, Ethel Faye Limbaugh Mary Kendall, Florence DeeRant, Frances Rutland, Marilyn Cleveland, Joyce Carlton, Nell Tuten, Mary Louise Perry, Clarice Trueblood, Nancy Ward, Frances Strickland, Martha Jane Satterfield, Jeannette Hollister, Mary Ann Walts, Mary Frances Hall, Evelyn Stuckey, Ruth Brokaw, Marian Welch, Margie Platt, Carol Avery, Catherine Barrs, Laura Evans, Jinx Parrior, Jo Guthrie, Gladys Lester, Grace Lindberg, Anne Widerquist, Aileen Fountain, Sarah Bennett, Eloise Boyles and Hester Hammond.

The flower girls were Doris Snow and Jeanne Harris.

Committee chairman for the May Day program were: Frankie McGarry, chairman of the entire program; Margie Platt, chairman of the dance committee; Ysobel Du Pree, chairman of the properties committee; Joy Fleming, chairman of the costumes committee; Angel Fain, chairman of the flowers committee, and Jean Obee, chairman of the finance committee.

The queen and her May court were presented at the May Day dance the same night at 10 p m. The May court marched in according to their height with their escorts to the tune of "Sweet and Lovely." The May queen was the last one to enter. The May court then began the last dance before intermission. The May queen was unable to start the dance off, as is customary, because she could not dance in her hooped skirt.

Committee Chooses Bond Drive Motto

"A quarter a girl for the peace of the world" is the motto of the War Activities Committee in their drive for the 7th war loan.

Eugenia Avant, publicity manager, said that the committee was asking each girl to buy at least one 25c war stamp before the close of school this spring.

She said that this would enable the school to meet its quota for the 7th war loan drive, and she urged every girl to do her part.

Dietitians Get Free Training

Students Learn Dietetics At Government Cost

The War Department, Veterans Administration, and United States Public Health Service are offering professional training in dietetics at government expense.

As a student in an army hospital it is possible to advance to an apprentice position and later to be appointed as medical department dietitian; as a student in Veterans Administration or US Public Health Service hospital it is possible to advance to Staff Dietitian. To become a Medical Department Dietitian in the army with the rank of Second Lieutenant, it is necessary to begin as a Student Dietitian in the War Department at $1,752 a year After six months, one will be advanced to Apprentice Dietitian at $1,970 a year, and in six more months will be eligible for appointment as Second Lieutenant in the Army.

Army Hospitals where training programs are now under way are Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D C; Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta, Georgia; Fitzsimons General Hospital, Denver, Colorado; and Brooke General Hospital, Ft Sam Houston, Texas.

To become a staff dietitian at a Veterans Administration or US Public Health Service Hospital, one will start as a student at $1,752 a year. After six months she'll be promoted to $1,970 a year. After twelve months of training one will be eligible for appointment as staff dietitien at $2,190 a year.

Veterans Administration trains students at Hines, Illinois; at Los Angeles; and at New York City, US Public Health Service trains students at the Marine Hospital, Staten Island, New York.

In order to apply for one of these positions, applicants must have completed thirty-six semester hours of study in a college or university of recognized standing. This study must include: twelve hours in chemistry, six hours in biology, six hours in foods, six hours in nutrition and diet in disease, and six hours in institution management.

All applicants must pass a written test, consisting of two parts. The first part is a general test, and the second is a technical test.

Applicants must be at least sixty inches in height without shoes and must weigh not less than one hundred and five pounds.

Those selected for training will be required to obtain a report of a physical examination by a licensed doctor. The final physical examination will be made by a board of medical officers at the station of first assignment.

All students who are eligible for one of these positions must file their applications with the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D C.

Fetes Honor F S C Seniors

Continued from page one

take place on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The Rt Rev Frank A Juhan, Consecrated Bishop of Florida, will give the baccalaureate sermon.

The School of Music will give its annual concert on Sunday evening at 8:15. Mrs Ramona Beard, organist, will be assisting guest artist. The program will consist of several organ, voice, and piano numbers, and one violin number, as follows:

Organ—Mrs Beard, (selection not announced); voice—Norma Wittenstein, accompanied by Margaret Smith, "Chanson Boheme" from the opera Carmen by Bizet; piano—Eleanor Bragg, "Ronde des Lutinus" by Nerini; voice—Frances Jean Blackburn, accompanied by Ruby Dunstan, "Connais-tu le Pays" from the opera Mignon by Thomas; piano—Irene Putzer, "Gardens in the Rain" by Debussy; violin—Rachel Crotwell, "Allegro" by Fiocco; voice—Elva May Florrid, accompanied by Betsy Martin, "O Luce di Quest' Anima" from the opera Linda di Chamounix by Donizetti; organ—Mrs Beard (selection not announced).

The culminating event, commencement, will take place on Monday morning at 10:30, with the commencement address to be given by Dr Alexander Guerry, president of the University of the South.

Pi Beta Phi Elects Brown as President

Louise Brown was elected president of Pi Beta Phi sorority at their last meeting. Other officers elected at this time include: Teresa Munroe, vice president; Edwina Wiggins, recording secretary; Ann Daniels, corresponding secretary; Anne Bower, treasurer; and Robin Hill, pledge supervisor

Seniors to Order

All seniors who have not placed their order for caps, gowns, and hoods should do so immediately as tha deadlina is May 23.

Students who wish to keep their hoods may do so for $5.50. Those who so not wish to keep them will receive a refund of $5.00 if they are returned promptly after gradnation.

F Club Initiates At Annual Banquet

Prophecy Read, After Stanion, Ebert Become Members

The annual F Club banquet was held Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at the Three Torches, following the initiation of Ruby Ebert, student, and Margaret Stanion, physical education instructor.

After the meal toasts were made to Priscilla Gillette, past president of F Club and to the graduating seniors. A prophecy relating what the seniors would be doing in 1965 was read and following that songs were sung to the seniors. One of these songs was composed by a newly initiated member. Following the banquet all members formed the F Club circle.

Faculty guests were: Miss Anne Pope, Miss Margaret L Clements, Mrs Lazelle Dickens, Miss Grace Fox, Miss Henrietta Greenburg, Dr Katherine Montgomery, Miss Callope Papatsos and Miss Frances Crean, all instructors in the physical education department. Also present were: Miss Dorothea Marsh, physics instructor; Miss Margaret Maxwell, stenographer in the infirmary; Miss Peggy Barker, secretary to the dean of students, and Mrs Martha Adams, owner of the Three Torches. All of the guests were former F Club members.

At the last F Club meeting the two members elected to the Hall of Fame were Priscilla Gillette, past president and Alleze Trieste, emblem wearer.

Y W Reveals Future Plans

Continued from Page One

tee will study and discuss social activities, political action, Christian citizenship, and various other subjects at frequent forums.

Creative Activities Committee—Doris Hill, chairman, Drift and Dream programs will not be given the usual once a week, only once every other week. These programs will follow up the orientation program for the week. This committee will also assist the World Student Service Fund Drive.

Publicity Committee—Marvis Core, chairman. This committee will give ou the news regarding all "Y" activities.

Community Service Committee—Anne Singleton will act as chairman, with Shirley Duggan and Franie Myers assisting. This committee will head the playground work in connection with Miss Henrietta Greenberg of the Tallahassee Recreation Commission.

A new idea of membership is going to be used in the "Y" for the coming year. So that all girls may participate in the activities of the "Y," those girls who do not wish to subscribe to the purpose of the "Y" are to be affiliate members. A student forum on interesting and important subjects will be held monthly, with well qualified leaders participating in these discussions. Such subjects as "What it takes to make a Christian" "World Community," "The Future of Conquered Countries," "Contemporary Education," and "Democracy on the Campus" will be discussed.

The faculty advisory board will consist of Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, Professor Earl L Vance, Miss Daisy Parker, Dr Robert D Miller, Dr P W Shankweiler, Dr Raymond Bellamy, Miss Vela H Cleveland, Mrs Myrtle Rush Johnson, Miss Marguerite R Dressler, Mrs Adelaid S Ware, and ex-officio members Dr Doak S Campbell, Dr Olivia N Dorman, and Dr Elizabeth G Andrews.

Executive officers for the coming year will be Margaret Clayton, president; Wilna Humphrey, vice president; Joyce Petty, secretary; Alva Ray, treasurer; Margaret Cockrell, office manager.

Panhellenic Makes Plans

Continued from page one

engagements on Saturday and Sunday but there will be no Monday engagements. At the fall quarter, as stated, the second Saturday will be pledge day but in the other two quarters, the second Friday will be pledge day.

Under the quarter system, pledges will be able to be initiated after they have made their C average at a quarter.

Hillside Residents Regret Leaving Homelike Dormitory

The telephone in the downstairs hall rings and no less than seven girls scamper hopefully to answer it. The back lawn is filled with freshmen eagerly absorbing the healthful rays of the afternoon sun. The living room is cool and fragrant with vases of freshly picked spring fflowers.

Yes, life is colorful in "Hillside," a freshman house on Jefferson st purchased last year by the college and named for its former owners, the Hill family. Remodeled and equipped in September of 1944, "Hillside" houses 19 students and the house director, Mrs Blanche Sasser, of Live Oak.

"Hillside's" occupants now enjoy every convenience, but they can well remember the icy winter days before the installation of the present effective heating system. There were yelps from showers as hot water refused to spray forth and toes suddenly turned blue, were thrust hurriedly into saddle shoes on those chilly mornings.

Then, there were the innumerable fire alarms that came when the heater in the hall finally did get hot. What a mad rush that was! The campus across the street was strewn with clothes as "Hillside" residents escaped the "fire." (The extent of the damage was a scorched spot on the wall, five inches by six inches.) Hence, "Hillside" acquired its nickname—"HELLSIDE."

On a cold winter night a roaring fire in the living room fireplace seemed to complete the "homey" atmosphere of "Hillside." Frequent gatherings and the roasting of nuts around the fire became a kind of tradition there. The living room has been the backdrop for many parties and group meetings. When any "Hillside" resident has a birthday the occasion calls for a very informal celebration in the living room about 10:30 p m. If for some reason the cake from home fails to arrive in the afternoon mail, a hurried trip is made to a local bakery and the party proceeds according to custom.

There is no light flash in "Hillside"! Sounds heavenly, doesn't it? Nevertheless, the same rules apply and as the proper hour arrives the junior counselors, Catherine Welch and Doris McIntosh, herd their freshmen into their respective rooms and shortly thereafter everything is considerably quiet.

The faint trace of leniency in the rules, and the feeling of living in a "home away from home" tend to impart to the freshmen a kind of dread of living in a regular dorm next year. However room assignments are coming out and come may get to remain at "Hillside." Who knows? Still, the majority of "Hillside's" personnel will be leaving soon. They each sum up their emotions in three words, "We'll always remember!"

President Guerry of University of the South to Make Address

Continued from Page One

Day Fountain Coleman, Maxine Edwards, Nora Kathleen Falconer, Mary Louise Fernandez, Helen Fletcher, Betty Jane Fox, Juanita Marguerite Gibson, Marjorie Vonceal Goff, Nancy Carolyn Haston, Edith Hawkins, Lillian Doris Headley, Eugenia Theresa Joiner, Ruby Inez Karns, Bonnie Lue Kindig, Ruth Adele Longcrier, Margery Ann Loomis, Julia Frances Mays, Mrs Louise Wetzel Newman, Sylvia Agnes Ogden, Margaret Elizabeth Owen, Persis Miles Owens, Velna Jacqueline Partin, Marguerite Joyce Pemble, Gertrude Choats Pope, Anne Elizabeth Ritter, Cleo Anne Sapp, Caroline Matilda Clapp Alvord Sherman, Mary Jane Sims, Sarah Emily Stewart, Mary Louise Thorp, Elizabeth Anne Tisdale, Ida Alieze Trieste, Jean Marie Vaughan, Pransetta Adele Vinson, Doris Lyons Wells, Elizabeth Jane Worrill.

Bachelor of Arts: Betty Claire Ames, Mary-Alice Bachelor, Racheal Elizabeth Bail, Pauline Simone Bailey, Cordelia Elizabeth Barclay, Catherine Stephens Barnes, Barbara Ann Bess, Grace Dorothy Boardman, Frances Owens Brinson, Bertha Elizabeth Brown, Clara Jardim Bush, Sarah Randle Callison, Dorothy Helen Caswell, Elizabeth Louise Christian, Gloria Carlton Clavel, Mary Elizabeth Colton, Alta L Daniel, Elva Mary Florrid, Helen Cooper Floyd, Mary Florence Fox, Margaret Louise Friedmann, Ann Pendleton Gaines, Priscilla Gillette, Jeanne Guliette, Frances Louise Hines, Anne Holbrook, Virginia Adele Holmes, Rosemary Lydia Hubbell, Martha Anne Jackson, Edna Eloise Jenson, Betty Jo Kacinski, Dorothy Lancaster, Martha Teeter Lawson, Jeanne Leech, Betty Douglas Lewis, Clara Lovitz, Rosalie Moore Martz, Elizabeth Meldrim McFarland, Frances Marian McGarry, Marjorie Lucile McMullen, Mary Oakley McRory, Mary Lucy Mendenhall, Audrey Opal Moore, Gertrude Alice Noxtine, Betty Jean Obee, Janet Claire Pancoast, Maria Della Perez, Mary Nell Pinholster, Isabel Wood Rogers, Bryna Ann Ross, Shirley Ruth Rubin, Joyce Lee Satterwhite, Louise Sproull Simpson, Sanna Virginia Taylor, Mary Jane Towne, Elizabeth Catherine Troop, Mary Ann Waller, Lucy Lee Leslie Ward, Diana Lee Washbon, Rita Gilleylen Wilson, Mary E Woodward, Jean Curtis Yothers, Mildred Zindler.

School of Education

Bachelor of Science: Elta Faye Anderson, Evelyn Marian Berry, Thelma Isabell Cutrer, Jessie Millen Durden, Ruby Agnes Ebert, Ethel Fields, Carolyn Mae Forehand, Aline Fountain, Ida Margaret Fridy, Mary Hecht, Laura Alden Maples, Eleanor Mary Parker, Margie Platt, Sarah Belle Stull, Johnnie Rosetta Thomas, Mina LaVerna Toms, Norma Helen Wittenstein.

Bachelor of Arts: Thelma Lucia Alvarez, Ann K Bartlett, Catherine Huber Buttram, Ruth Cameron, Grace Elvira Earnest, Martha Louise Fain, Eunice Hart, Lillian Louise Hendricks, Elizabeth Logan Holland, Ellonne Valentine Hosford, Onalee Emilee Hoxie, Roberta Joan Jamison, Irene Johnson, Jeanne Claire Knapp, Eugenie Argintar Krause, Ethel Fay Limbaugh, Sarah Elizabeth Mann, Bessie Edith Mitchell, Elizabeth Lois Morgan, Marjorie Marcella Morris, Margie Sue Oxford, Nancy Parker, Lucille Parrish, Myra Marie Pattishall, Mary Elizabeth Reams, Ruth Elibabeth Rice, Margaret Eaton Roberts, Deborah Stansbury Shumaker, Jacquelin Ten Eyck, Louise Herring Terry, Dorothy Jean Tobias, Frances Elizabeth Whigham.

School of Home Economics

Bachelor of Science in Nursing: Katherine E Lyman.

Bachelor of Science: Muriel Agnes Beck, Eleanor Kristine Boyles, Annabel Sloat Bradfield, Charlotte Marie Brubaker, Jane Douglas Bruns, Elizabeth Coleman Cassels, Edith Rachel Collins, Anne Hays Davis, Clara Elizabeth Eberhardt, Margaret Olga Fuller, Katherine Elizabeth Futch, Mary Lilla Ganey, Helen Stuart Glover, June Constance Hadsell, Bettie Jane Harriman Mary Patricia Howard, Mary Peacock Jelks, Ethel Christine Johnson, Reba Jones, Jean Loan Lewis, Kathryn Geneva Lindsey, Josephine Maniaci, Rose C Messina, Margaret Morgan, Mary Frances McAnally, Mary Elizabeth McCann, Minna Lee McCarthy, Julia Gardner McLaurin, Dorothy Sue Jinks Parker, Marie Theresa Pavese, Marjorie Pease, Betty Carter Perry, Adrienne Frances Petrie, Sarah Jane Pitts, Mary Louise Reichert, Fannie Marguerite Rush, Betty Louise Sanford, Gayle Sewell, Emma Louise Stevenson, Margaret Burrage Stout, Carmen Dolores Vazquez, Elizabeth Janice Vickery, Mary Elizabeth Walker, Barbara Elaine Wheelock, Sibyl Averett Wool.

Shchool ef Music

Bachelor of Music in Composition: Mary Anna Watkins.

Bachelor of Music in Piano: Gabriella Irene Putzer.

Bachelor of Music in Public School Music: Betty Ruth Aughenbaugh, Frances Jean Blackburn, Mildred Crawford, Roberta Leonard, Mary Elizabeth McCormack, Margaret Rose Miller, Joanna Ruby Sistrunk, Margaret Louise Smith, Marjorie Frances Sparkman, Rosemary Thrasher.

In addition to these, eight members of the School of Music are taking certificates in various fields. They are:

Certificate in Piano: Mary McCormack, Joanna Sistrunk, Anna Watkins.

Certificate in Voice: Frances Jean Blackburn, Elva May Florrid, Anna Watkins, Betty Ruth Aughenbaugh.

Certificate in Organ: Margaret Louise Smith.

M & N CAFE

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT

Sizzling Western Steaks—Sea Foods

UNEXCELLED COFFEE

SHORT ORDERS AT ALL HOURS

119 E. Jefferson PHONE 1054 Tallahassee, Fla.

Esteren Will Play Hostess at Camp

Goats Prapare Invitations, Placecards and Skit

The traditional Esteren-Spirogira camp will be held Friday night to Saturday noon of the last week-end before graduation at Camp Flastacowo.

Esteren is hostess this year, since the organization which is not graduating plays hostess to the seniors of the other group, according to tradition.

The goats of both organizations are in charge of camp and are now preparing invitations, placecards and a skit. Food and transportation problems will also be worked out by the goats.

It is the custom for the junior hostesses to serenade the others with the seniors' group songs.

"Don't be alarmed if you hear some girls clad in green and white wandering around campus singing "Spirogira Friends and Pals Forever"—they are just practicing" says Sarah Bennett, president of Esteren.

Esteren was honored this week at their regular Sunday night meeting with the appearance of Ensign Jeanne Smith of the class of 1944.

Legislature In Brief

Continued from page one

teacher retirement benefits.

The house also authorized the use of convict labor in state institutions, presumably including colleges.

The house appropriations committee voted an increased appropriation for the Florida farm colony yesterday, on the basis of reports of "deplorable" conditions at the Gainesville institution. In other action, the house committee reported unfavorably a bill to provide free milk and orange juice to Florida school children.

As news of oil discoveries at Collier county's Sunniland, oil committees of the legislature and Attorney General Tom Watson prepared bills to tax the new wealth and to provide laws to regulate the new industry. Both a percentage tax and a definite tax per barrel are being considered. Proposed legislation about beach protection and income from state-owned lands, was offered.

Majority of bills discussed in the house and senate this week seemed to be of little general interest. Among the minor bills were the following:

The house passed bills to:

Make 10 years of insanity grounds for divorce.

Resolve that an international compact should be made to insure access to true information in all countries.

Prevent overloading of names on general election ballots. Having senate concurrence, this was sent to the governor.

Raising the pay of legislators from $6 a day to $15.

The senate passed bills to:

Ask congress to set up a three per cent income tax to provide for a national old age pension system.

Allow for increases in sheriff fees. This bill had been concurred in by the house, and is to be sent to the governor.

Stardust in your "Bonnet"?

We mean "captured stardust" or Roger & Gellet dry perfume. Just put some of this powdered perfume between two thin layers of cotton and actually tuck it in your "bonnet". It's the cutest surest way of keeping your favorite Roger & Gallet scent with you all the time. Your hair will be fragrant with "captured stardust."

Six exciting scents ...Night of Delight ..Fleurs d'Amour.. Blue Carnation.. Jade..Sandalwood and Violette, priced at $1.25.

ROGER & GALLET

-Rays Given 2279 Persons

...ults Will Be Reported Before School Closes

...grand total of 2279 persons, ...ding 86 per cent of Florida ...te College student, were given ...ay-X chest examinations this ...k in the program spon-...d by the United States Public ...lth Service. Students will be ...fied about results of these ...minations by the end of school. ...ording to present plans.

...he girl whose X-ray is negative receive a postcard to that ...ect. Students with suspected ...ions will be notified by ...ter than will actu-...ise the disease," stated Dr ...ley Chaney, physician. He ...also said that any girl desir-...e examination who has not ...en given the opportunity ...ointment at the infirmary ...ld see Dr. Chaney. All ...ents will remain in Tallahassee ...proximately a month.

...ny fairure to number of ...ose participating in the pro-...e show that 194 students, 11 ...ulty and staff members, 192 ...ministers school pupils and ...presentatives of college re-...ations.

...ssured by the health service ...ficials that the health in con-...ion with the Leon County ...ervice and Health Associa-...e superior to that indicated ...e by an X-ray committee ...ed of Dr. Chaney, Dr. Shaw ...rman, Dr. Dorothy Chaves, ...Louise Crawford, Miss Mil-...Pyrah and Dr. Ira Cornelius ...Technicians in charge of ...examinations were Miss ...Neely and Miss Dorothy ...ch were aided by health ...ts and volunteer staff ...assistants.

...Although a smaller percentage ...ls participated in the ...ram this year than when the ...ations were first given, ...e consider that the results ...s very favorable showing," ...ed Dr. Shaw. "We wish to ...all those who cooperated ...making the survey, in ...ular the personnel and student ...ants who conducted the ex-...ations and those who ...ssisted by having X-ray."—Mr ...Sheldon

Books Are Wanted

The book store will buy second-hand books each week of May 21 through May 26. They want copies of all books that will be used during summer school and the fall term.

A second hand book company will be located in the book store May 21 through the 22nd and will accept all books the book store cannot use.

It's Either Too Cold or It Rains Is Girls' Lament

With this changeable weather, college girls are having a difficult time trying to decide upon a suitable wardrobe. One minute the sun will be shining brightly and so with hopes soaring, many a lassie will put on a frilly, in a brightly colored pinafore only to find that the rain clouds have preceded her. Others find dismay in the fact that after many hours of tireless packing away of winter clothes and blankets. One minute there will drop to a temperature most unseasonable to have left only with thin summer dresses.

Because of such unreliable weather conditions, a lot of coats have had to be temporarily postponed. A few pessimistic souls are rumored to have ripped apart their theme song. "It's Either Ice Cold or It Rains."

Suntans acquired earlier in the spring are beginning to fade and many have resorted to cosmetics for the possibility of remaining white all summer.

One particular theory is held by many as to the cause of this fickle weather. They seem to attribute it to the unusual activity in the verse of the song, "Spring Will Be a Little Late This Year."

Redecorated Smoker Opened in Reynolds To Joy of Habituees

The Reynolds smoker which has been closed for the past two weeks was opened Monday morning to the pleasure of its many participants, especially delighted over the better ventilation that has been done.

The smoker was closed previously because of excessive noise that arose from the bridge tables and the consequent complaints received concerning vacation plans.

Wednesday at 4 o'clock, the crowd of girls came in for their after breakfast cigarette, and bridge game. The social committee of girls that have organized in an effort to keep the room clean and quiet as the girls when they brought signs and posters that have been very successful in brightening the room and in entertaining relaxation.

On one wall is a poster covered with pictures of the current popular movie stars (males, of course). On another wall is a poster very large in proportion, per with pictures pasted on it, and it is entitled "On the Coming Attractions." Just beyond and ...there's still room. The pictures portray in a comical manner the vacation activities of the college girls from the time she boards the train for home until she returns, having, until she returns to school in the fall of the next year, depicted said still reminiscing over her happy holiday.

Many of the more artistically inclined girls have offered to add some piece of art to the collection and all of the girls have agreed to keep the smoker clean and reasonably quiet—and also to cooperate with the holiday spirit in the air.

Fernandez Presents Intramural Awards

Intramural awards were presented last Tuesday afternoon in convocation by Louise Fernandez, past chairman of Intramurals. The awards were as follows: Broward, bridge; Delta Zeta, pingpong; Kappa Alpha Theta, tennis singles; Pi Beta Phi, volleyball and swimming; Reynolds, archery; tennis doubles and basketball. The intramural cup, given for organization winning the most other awards, went to Reynolds.

Beard Is Elected

Mrs Ramona C Beard was elected Regent of the Tallahassee Woman's Club of Florida Chapter of the American Guild of Organists for the coming year at a meeting held on campus Friday, April 27.

Other officers elected at the same time were Miss Fawn Trawick, vice-resent; Miss Margaret McCabe, secretary; Miss Gaertner, treasurer, and Miss Rebecca Rodenberg, register and librarian.

Clerical Positions Offered Students

The Farm Security administration is recruiting accountants, stenographers, typists, and clerks for positions in the Washington office, as well as in regional offices in Montgomery, Alabama, and for positions throughout Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and South Carolina.

If any seniors are interested, arrangements will be made to have a representative from the Farm Security administration supervise examinations at Florida State College for accounting and examination takes a day to complete, the typist and clerical tests require also a two and one half hours, and the stenographic test about three hours.

The administration is interested in recruiting personnel for agricultural positions in the home management field. Examinations are not required for this position.

Any one interested is asked to see Miss Jane Hall in the Personnel office within the next two days.

Scholarships Given To Worthy Students

Carmen Gomes and Carolyn Roberta Glenn, juniors, have been awarded the Delta Kappa Gamma, while Catherine Barrs, junior, received the Panhellenic scholarship, according to the Personnel office.

Carmen has worked as a student assistant in the bacteriology department throughout her college life and has maintained a three-point average in this course. She is also a member of Gamma Sigma, honorary sorority.

Carolyn did National Youth Administration work in botany during her freshman year. She holds a three of 3 o'clock classes and one who thinks she can stay awake in them.

RUTH HAWKINS leaves her hiccups to NELL CLARK and also chicks away her 8 O'clock class in the "Gaines-Young" financial organization to DOT "legs" YOUNG.

Assorted gray hairs are left by RUTH CAMPBELL to the future chairman of WSSF.

ROSALIE MARTZ leaves her share of 3 o'clock classes to any one who thinks she can stay awake in them.

RUTH HAWKINS leaves her hiccups to NELL CLARK and also chicks away her 8 O'clock class in the "Gaines-Young" financial organization to DOT "legs" YOUNG.

Assorted gray hairs are left by RUTH CAMPBELL to the future chairman of WSSF.

ROSALIE MARTZ leaves her share of 3 o'clock classes to any one who thinks she can stay awake in them.

RENEE BROWN leaves the worrying about her roommate to whoever will be left in the room she may show the world what Jean might have been.

MARGIE ROBINSON leaves her big feet to EDNA YEARTY.

MARGARET HARRIS leaves her job on RAN WRIGHT to step out of.

ANN'S brush-like voice of CLEO SAPP is bequeathed to some freshman.

RENEE BROWN leaves the worrying about her roommate to whoever will be left in the room she may show the world what Jean might have been.

MARGIE ROBINSON leaves her big feet to EDNA YEARTY.

MARGARET HARRIS leaves her job on RAN WRIGHT to step out of.

ANN'S brush-like voice of CLEO SAPP is bequeathed to some freshman.

RENEE BROWN leaves the worrying about her roommate to whoever will be left in the room she may show the world what Jean might have been.

MARGIE ROBINSON leaves her big feet to EDNA YEARTY.

MARGARET HARRIS leaves her job on RAN WRIGHT to step out of.

ANN'S brush-like voice of CLEO SAPP is bequeathed to some freshman.

Photography Girls Will Give Exhibit

The photography department of the Florida State College will give its biennial exhibit from May 18, to May 26, inclusive, in the Student Union building.

The majority of the photographs will be taken on the subjects of architecture, scenic views, group pictures, clouds, and informal and formal portraiture. The finest samples of work will be those presented by the group of students.

"The first exhibit was given as a competition among students. The best entry was sent to the book at the Sweet Shop goes from MARY VOOT to ANGIE CAMMARATA—if she'll get Mary's car, that is.

DEBORAH SHUMAKER gladly left her underwear section kids to ELIZABETH McDAVID.

ANABEL PEACOCK'S passion for "Mr. Personality" goes to Dorothy Lyn.

The table next to the jock at the Sweet Shop goes from MARY VOOT to ANGIE CAMMARATA—if she'll get Mary's car, that is.

DEBORAH SHUMAKER gladly left her underwear section kids to ELIZABETH McDAVID.

ANABEL PEACOCK'S passion for "Mr. Personality" goes to Dorothy Lyn.

The table next to the jock at the Sweet Shop goes from MARY VOOT to ANGIE CAMMARATA—if she'll get Mary's car, that is.

DEBORAH SHUMAKER gladly left her underwear section kids to ELIZABETH McDAVID.

ANABEL PEACOCK'S passion for "Mr. Personality" goes to Dorothy Lyn.

Students Participate

In accordance with President Roosevelt's proclamation, a radio hour Sunday as a special day of prayer and thanksgiving, Episcopal students were urged to take part in church services on that day.

The program for the Holy Week at St John's will include Holy Communion at Rugg Hall at 8:30 a m morning prayer at Rugg Hall at 11:00 a m; Canterbury Club supper at Rugg Hall at 6:00 p m and Camp Wingmann movies at Rugg Hall at 7:00 p m. There will be no evening prayer and sermon at Rugg Hall at 7:30 p m. This final service is recommended to the parishioners by the rector.

To Mary Ellen Jones Parker goes the privilege to be used when fighting ceases in any part of the world.

Students expecting to attend the Canterbury Club supper are asked to turn in the lower Westcott bulletin board.

Gardinias for All

"Gardenias—want one? Help yourself," said Mr K E Gullick and spread out a paper covered with blue, green, and yellow on the curb near Westcott. The girls moved quickly and energetically from the crowd beaming and thanking Mr Gullick profusely.

According to Mrs Gullick, who works at the information desk in the Student Alumnae building, "He just sets up early and goes out and picks them. There are so many now that he brings them in and gives them away. I'll bet he's the most popular man on the campus right now." Though this might be telling, the place where the gardenias are found in such profusion is the college camp.

Last Will and Testament of Class of '45

We, the class of 1945, being in relatively sound mind and body, despite approaching exams, suffering from senioritis and celebrating V-E day, do hereby make and bequeath our last will and testament.

We, the seniors in all our traditional dignity, leave collectively to the class of 1946 the following: The So Sieer Sad Sacks, our four-year-old storage house (due to the paper shortage, of course), our secret formula of wrinkle eradicant, our emmald debs, Dr Richards and his wife Hasel, the other half of knowledge (the library retains the better half), our dear president, Dr Campbell —born the same year as a diaper were, and, the dining hall's favorite mem: variations of potatoes (gravy, sauteed, mashed salads and bread—with Miss Tracy's desire for "digger and better" Pfood students.

Individually, we as the class of 1945, do bequeath the following talents to those underclassmen who need them.

ISABEL ROGERS, bequeaths her well-worn pedestal, graceful walk and melodious laughter to CAROLYN CARRAWAY.

The technique of rushing P Chih goes from MARY PEASE to CADENCE GUNTER.

MARY LOUISE REICHERT leaves half interest in Mississippi and Bebe to ELLA MARCY.

The high quality food of ALTA DANIEL goes to the next age for next year's P Chih goals on Mountain Climber's Day.

ANN CARLSON leaves her share in the "Gaines-Young" financial organization to DOT "legs" YOUNG.

Assorted gray hairs are left by RUTH CAMPBELL to the future chairman of WSSF.

ROSALIE MARTZ leaves her share of 3 o'clock classes to any one who thinks she can stay awake in them.

RUTH HAWKINS leaves her hiccups to NELL CLARK and also chicks away her 8 O'clock class in the "Gaines-Young" financial organization to DOT "legs" YOUNG.

Assorted gray hairs are left by RUTH CAMPBELL to the future chairman of WSSF.

The long red nudies of SARA JANE PITTS are to be inherited by MARGARET PARKER.

Apprentice Seaman BERT ERNEST bequeaths his no-effort seat in the library to MAE ANNICE MANNING with the hope that she'll use it more often and to better advantage.

"FERDIE" FERNANDEZ leaves HARRIET RIDER her position in the Odd Soft ball team and his eye exercises for finding a catcher to catch her chest on balls!

MARGIE PLATT offers EVELYN STUCKEY a cudgle in hand to carry on the fight for the group of girls we love—the physical education majors.

The table next to the jock at the Sweet Shop goes from MARY VOOT to ANGIE CAMMARATA—if she'll get Mary's car, that is.

DEBORAH SHUMAKER gladly left her underwear section kids to ELIZABETH McDAVID.

ANABEL PEACOCK'S passion for "Mr. Personality" goes to Dorothy Lyn.

The first temper of NANCY PARKER is gratefully willed to MARTHA JEAN BLITCH.

JEAN PHILLIPS leaves her collection of "Back Home for Keeps" to FRANCES DANIELS.

The donor of her boisterous way is VIRGINIA HOWARD with the recipient is BEVERLY LOTT.

LOUIE McMULLEN offers her nose on the map to anyone interested in vicarious courting.

At long last, ALIEEE TRIESTE leaves her freshman year ability to ...r of AUDREY PERRY.

DOROTHY MAE JONES PARKER donates her ability to change her mind to JEAN OWTNN.

To MARY BARR goes all worthy P Chih members. PRISCILLA GILLETTE hereby leaves a flaming torch to show the way to "the highest good of womanhood."

JACKIE PARTIN leaves her ability to set along on 12 hours sleep—with a nap in the afternoon—to any sleep-neglected freshman.

Stained and burned fingers, blinded eyes, and mercuric chloride covered rings are left by SYLVIA ODEEN to any bacteriology major.

ANN BRADFORD bequeaths her firmness in room 213 to MARY STALLINGS along with all Texas men.

To Orkin Exterminating Co. goes FAY ANDERSON'S canned chicken.

MARGUERITE ARTHUR leaves her favorite rag to the malicious seniors on the third floor of Lucile.

KATHERINE LINDSAY donates her last package of cigarettes to MARY JANE INABNIT.

The super-colossal reducing formula of DORIS HEADLEY goes to BARBARA JEAN HOLT.

FRANCES CHRISTIAN leaves her third engagement ring to anybody who is willing.

BONNIE KINDIG leaves her sprained toe to anyone who tries to stand in a chair at the Jr-Sr Kid Party.

DEAN WITHERS leaves her regard to DEAN DORMAN in the event Mary Lee replaces her.

The super-duper reducing diet ABBYE EBERHART leave their love for a gay time to DOLLEY ANN CRAWFORD and ...

ROSEMARY THRASHER leaves her share of 3 o'clock classes to any one who thinks she can stay awake in them.

MARY McCORMACK bequeaths practice room 213 to any fool who wants to practice.

BETTY JANE FOX leaves at FSCW her title as "Miss" and "Mrs" and as "Mrs" on graduation day. (We wish you luck, Betty Jane.)

JEAN OBIE leaves a blueprint of her undeveloped musical talent to ANN CARLSON in the hope she may show the world what Jean might have been.

MARGIE ROBINSON leaves her big feet to EDNA YEARTY.

MARGARET HARRIS leaves her job on RAN WRIGHT to step out of.

ANN'S brush-like voice of CLEO SAPP is bequeathed to some freshman.

RENEE BROWN leaves the worrying about her roommate to whoever will be left in the room she may show the world what Jean might have been.

MARGIE ROBINSON leaves her big feet to EDNA YEARTY.

MARGARET HARRIS leaves her job on RAN WRIGHT to step out of.

ANN'S brush-like voice of CLEO SAPP is bequeathed to some freshman.

RENEE BROWN leaves the worrying about her roommate to whoever will be left in the room she may show the world what Jean might have been.

MARGIE ROBINSON leaves her big feet to EDNA YEARTY.

MARGARET HARRIS leaves her job on RAN WRIGHT to step out of.

ANN'S brush-like voice of CLEO SAPP is bequeathed to some freshman.

DOT JEAN GLASS her loyalty to dear old DUKE—second only to PSC.

JANE SIMS leaves her ability to get to senior class meetings and to go class secretary to ETTA PRAZER.

To TRIO THOMPSON goes HELEN FLETCHER'S last tube (Keep it clean, Trig.)

"S'NOOKY" DIFFENBAUGH leaves to her adoring sister, ANN DANIELS, her ability to go through four years with only one visit to house council (and that for over-dating Jimmy).

REBA JONES bequeaths her passion for one am ication partge to MISS LYNN.

ASHLEY RUBIN wills to ANN HUTTON, future occupant of her room, the rat which has been roaming around all year.

VIRGINIA AN RISE leaves her expensive face to BETTY ANN CAMPBELL.

SUSANNE LEECH bequeathes her ability to get dates with seventeen year olds to MARGARET TRIBBLE.

FRANNIE BRINSON donates her sophistication to BARBARA MANN.

"ADVARK CONSTANTINUS KEITH" to ADVARK CONSTANTINUS leaves her ability to accumulate excuses to that person who needs one.

MARGARET PRIDY bestows her "Southern Belle" title and presidentship to JO GUTHRIE.

CAROLYN GILLETTE and BETTY AUGHENBAUGH bequeath their position in the dining hall to any two dining room players able to hit as many sour notes in five minutes as they can, probably to JEAN SIMS and to "BUTCH" BREEDLOVE.

"FIDDE" WOOL leaves her ability to keep a secret to anyone who needs a mean.

MARY HATTIE hands her ability to change her hairdo constantly to her sophomore sister.

MICKEY FOUNTAIN turns over her not so very evident ability to tap dance to ANN CARLSON who wants it (the physical education department doesn't want it nor does Mickey).

MARGARET FERNANDEZ leaves her ability to keep her roommates teeth to the person desiring to enter a four year battle.

DOT BOARDMAN leave the responsibility for adjusting the social standards to JANE LYLES.

TEDY PARKER bequeathes her "MORNING BARK" to next room (227) with the hope she'll do better.

BETTY LOU BOYNTON gives ELLA MAE QUINBY her aggressiveness and domineering personality.

The girl with an angel face and a pretty laugh, MARY McHOEY bestows her talents to ROBIN LEE.

JANET PANCOAST wills her propensity for oratorical sorcerous to whom it may concern. She expeditiously assimilated to BETTY DOYLE.

BETTY LEWIS leaves to her sister SARAH fame and fortune accompanied by Betty's sotto laughter.

MARY GEORGE leaves her ability to get a husband to MARGARET FRANCES WHEELER.

RACHAEL RAY wills her passion for riding and her cow-girl outfit to BETTY WEAVER.

CORNY BAGLEY leaves his ability to JUDY PEPPER her interest in athletic subjects such as boating and shipping.

OPAL MOORE leaves her ambitious future to MARJORIE CHRISTENSEN.

PAT AIKEN leaves her experience with Dale Mabry men to posterity.

SARA STEWART leaves her ability to sleep in the afternoon to JEAN COLE.

PETE PEEBLE just leaves this will.

IN FACT WE, AS CLASS JUST- LEAVE.

Signed, Sealed and Spat on.

This 8 day of May

Woodden artificial limbs are quickly becoming things of the past. Modern artificial limbs are being made from plastics, although hands and knees are still made from bass wood and the joints from metal.

May Makes Request

In recent weeks an unusually large number of campus notices have been dropped into the campus mail box without proper addresses and on all types and sizes of paper. Miss W H May, clerk in charge of the post office, requests that all notices be written on a 3x5 card or placed in an envelope. This will facilitate prompt distribution. Also the student's name and box number should be correct.

Variety of Signs Decorate Freshmen Dormitory Doors

Anyone who has walked through the freshmen dormitories this year must have noticed the various signs decorating the doors of the different rooms. It is not uncommon to see "Tourists" or "Room for Rent." The girls say, however, that they don't have much demand.

There are two door adventures, "Ware's Drug Company—The Retail Store—Cut Rates." Another sign asks that "Please Please Use Back Entrance." Still another advises "To Escape Kick Out This Panel."

Other doors give indication of their inhabitant's characteristics proclaiming, "Quiet, Genius at Work!" or "I'm Studying—and Please Don't Wake Me Up—When You Come In!"

Another bears this unique sign, "Quiet, Men Working!" while still another sadly states, "Maiden Lane."

In the basement of Bryan, near Miss Edith McCollum's office, the Residence Hall Office, is this notice, placed there since room researchers were making their survey for Reservations at Chattahoochee —It's Co-ed!"

Council Will Be Installed Sunday

Miss Miriam Wilson, Presbyterian student secretary, announced that the council for the Westminster Fellowship will be installed at a candlelight service on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Presbyterian Church.

Dorothy Boardman of Orlando, the retiring president, will be in charge of the installation service. At the conclusion of the service Dr W A Cleveland Jr. Jacksonville will have charge of a communion service for the students. The final communion service for the seniors has been held on the second Sunday of May for the past 20 years.

The officers for next year are Betty Boardman, president; Jocelyn Zeigler, vice-president; Betty McRae, secretary; and Irene Coleman, treasurer.

Committee chairmen will be Ava Jones, spiritual life; Marjorie Foster worship; Stella Barfield, membership; Mary Lillian Pagan, publicity; Lillian Kennedy, social; Elizabeth Hudson, dietitian; Catherine Pitts, social service; Joyce Zeigler, program; Della Santos, music; Mary Monaco, secretary; Peggy Lee Thomas, Sunday night hostess; and Barbara Reese, editor of Westminster Chimes.

On Saturday both the out and the new councils will go to Wakulla Springs for their annual spring outing. Their guests for this occasion will be the faculty sponsors of the Westminster Fellowship.

Pianist Entertains Wounded Veterans

Percy Grainger, visiting pianist-composer, played Tuesday than thirty wounded war veterans at Dale Mabry Hospital last Tuesday afternoon.

Among the various musical selections which he played for the benefit of the soldiers were "Claire de Lune" by Debussy, his own "Country Gardens," "The Man I Love" by George Gershwin, and the "Second Hungarian Rhapsody".

Mr Karl O Kuerstciner, dean of the School of Music, accompanied Mr Grainger on his trip to Dale Mabry Air Field.

Sprig Will Be Proper Before School Closes

...grand total of 2279 persons, ...ding 86 per cent of Florida ...te College student, were given ...ay-X chest examinations this ...k in the program spon-...d by the United States Public ...lth Service. Students will be ...fied about results of these ...minations by the end of school. ...ording to present plans.

...he girl whose X-ray is negative receive a postcard to that ...ect. Students with suspected ...ions will be notified by ...ter than will actu-...ise the disease," stated Dr ...ley Chaney, physician. He ...also said that any girl desir-...e examination who has not ...en given the opportunity ...ointment at the infirmary ...ld see Dr. Chaney. All ...ents will remain in Tallahassee ...proximately a month.

...ny fairure to number of ...ose participating in the pro-...e show that 194 students, 11 ...ulty and staff members, 192 ...ministers school pupils and ...presentatives of college re-...ations.

...ssured by the health service ...ficials that the health in con-...ion with the Leon County ...ervice and Health Associa-...e superior to that indicated ...e by an X-ray committee ...ed of Dr. Chaney, Dr. Shaw ...rman, Dr. Dorothy Chaves, ...Louise Crawford, Miss Mil-...Pyrah and Dr. Ira Cornelius ...Technicians in charge of ...examinations were Miss ...Neely and Miss Dorothy ...ch were aided by health ...ts and volunteer staff ...assistants.

...Although a smaller percentage ...ls participated in the ...ram this year than when the ...ations were first given, ...e consider that the results ...s very favorable showing," ...ed Dr. Shaw. "We wish to ...all those who cooperated ...making the survey, in ...ular the personnel and student ...ants who conducted the ex-...ations and those who ...ssisted by having X-ray."—Mr ...Sheldon

Saving Corps Tells Future Plans

...st year is to be one of the ...Saving Corps' most outstand-...ears since it was first or-...ed, according to Shoaf.

...ile this past year the Corps ...tained the standards set ...t it in keeping the swimming ...ility open and by the ...t of its members as swimming ...tors in freshman orienta-...However, plans are laid ...for even more activities ...the coming year.

..."Budget" is instead of ..."Be Sister" idea will be ...ed to unite the old and new ...bers into a more efficient, ...ible organization. The Life ...ard at Camp Flastocowo, ...h life saving and water ...ty schools open are also ...ed of the many activities be-...ted for the members' en-...ment during their ser-...e the students of Florida ...College.

Appropriations Made For Courts, Piano

...propriations to hard-surface ...nnis courts, to finance ...tres publication tests of ...ing floor wax, and ...ing to aid in the purchase of the ...ly grand piano now in ...dio parlor were approved ...ding of the Budget Commit-...April 30.

...e committee authorized the ...e of $600 from the Women's ...e Association reserve fund ...e same sum from the Bud-...Committee reserve fund ...tennis court improvements. ...additional appropriation ...ed to the Flambeau came to ...

...e sum of $600 from the com-...fund appropriated toward ...purchase of the piano will be ...mented by a contribution ...the social fund. "This pi-...ecure a long-felt need for ...ll instrument available to ...," stated the report.

Japan

...Japan a husband may di-...e wife if she is childless, ...ness or ill-tempered.

Gifts for the Graduates

WATCHES RINGS
GOLD CHARMS

BRACELETS
LOCKETS
BARRETTES

H. L. STRONG
Jeweler
208 SOUTH MONROE STREET

Come See Our Stock of Classical and Popular Records

TALLAHASSEE MUSIC COMPANY

'S American Way' Is Theme of Tarpon

Latin Scenes Decorate Pool In Aquatic Exhibition

"The South American Way" was the theme of Tarpon Club's annual spring performance, presented last Friday night in honor of May Day.

The walls of the swimming pool were decorated in a mural effect with typically South American scenes pictured along one side and a large colored map of South America placed at one end. The South American theme was carried out further by the use of music in Latin rhythms.

The program began with "Cuba Libre", an aquatic version of the dance. "Begin the Beguine" was presented next by four blue-suited Tarpon Minnows, "Amazon Valley" followed, presented by nine Tarpons in white suits. "Three Caballeros," the next number gave an exhibition of comic diving. The final three numbers were "Pachanga" information for six swimmers in red and white, "Adios" trio, and "Madrid Mozzo" the finale.

Tarpon Minnows assisted in this performance by its sponsors, Miss Margaret Clements and Mrs Eric Scruggs. Betty Louise Fernandes, student, who was in charge of lighting.

Committees were: Carol Claus, Anna Horne, and Mary Louise Pierce, in charge of decorations; Jinx Parlior, chairman of the program committee; Carol Wagner and Gertrude Nottine, formation committee.

Ensign Smith Taps Ebert for 'F' Club

When Ruby Ebert was tapped for F Club by Ensign Jean Eyman Smith, U. S. N. R., head of FSC, Monday at lunch in the first special ceremony ever held by the club, the girl was not officially this time, by its former owner

For three days after this Ruby was the only F Club girl. Wednesday night, however, her initiation ceremonies were held, followed by a banquet at the Three Torches tea room.

Ensign Smith, who is now in the communications department of the Navy, was head in Washington, D C, will be the guest of her parents through next Monday.

Advisor Elected

Margaret McCain was elected senior advisor of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary society, Monday afternoon, announced Martha Peacock, the new president.

A special service was held this week to initiate Mary Louise Vaiden, who was unable to be present at the regular initiation.

Travel in Mid-Week

When you plan your next necessary trip, phone your Trailways Agent for information first. Inquire about the best days and schedules. Arrange your trip accordingly, so that you and your service men and women may have a more comfortable and pleasant journey.

All Buses Leave
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Adams and Tenn. Ph. 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Spirit of the Week

FIRE BEAT

● HOPES FOR NEW YEAR

With the changes to be inaugurated next year at Florida State, we sincerely hope the improvements or perhaps reforms advocated by the Flambeau during the past year and years will come.

We strongly believe in democracy, for we believe in fair play; and we do not consider it unreasonable to ask for these standards in our government on campus. We want to conform with the ideals set up in the preamble of our CGA constitution—we want practical application of these ideals.

To quote the preamble of our CGA constitution:

"Whereas, the students of Florida State College for Women desire to assume individually and collectively a responsibility for the conduct of students in their college life, and

"Whereas, it is believed that such responsibility if given to the students will make for growth in character and power and will promote loyalty to the best interests of the College, the president and faculty of Florida State College for Women do hereby authorize the College Government Association of Florida State College for Women and do charge this Association to exercise the powers that may be committed to it with most careful regard both for the liberty and order, for the maintenance of the best conditions for scholarly work and for the development of character."

But the following articles of the constitution tend to take away our "growth in character and power (that) will promote loyalty to the best interests of the College . . ." The president and faculty entrust the management of all matters concerning the conduct of students in their college life that are not academic in nature to the student government except "in cases of conduct serious enough to involve the possibility of suspension or expulsion from the College, this association shall act by presenting a recommendation from its judiciary to the faculty committee on student affairs." Another reserved power is (p. 13 of the Gold Book) "The authorities of the College reserve for themselves the regulation . . . " Continuing along the line of our "student" government, "It shall be within the power of the authorities of the College to withdraw all or any part of the powers granted in this document, or of the College Government Association of the Florida State College for Women formally to relinquish the same, thirty days' notice being given in either case."

Under such a system we are not turning out graduates who can think for themselves. But rather they are stereotyped and their initiative has been lost beneath the restrictions and rules of four years of regulated living.

We want to be proud of our college, we do not like to hear outsiders jokingly refer to it as Florida State "Prison." We want to defend it from statements like that, but all we can do is repeat the well-worn statements, "I'm sorry, we can't go there," "We can't do that—there's a rule against it." "No, we always have to be in at eleven."

As already pointed out, the faculty committee on student affairs or the executive council of the student council is involved in all the details of our "student" government. The Gold Book shows the majority of rules do not come from Student Senate; therefore, they must come from one of the other two branches of legislative bodies—either the faculty committee on student affairs or college council.

We should be democratic and have a Student Senate when the same ex-officio CGA members of senate outnumber the regular class-elected representatives.

Students do not have much chance for student government when the legislative work of the "College Government Association shall be performed by three bodies acting conjointly namely—the student senate, the college council, and the faculty committee on student affairs." All rules passed by Student Senate must eventually in some form be approved by the faculty committee or student affairs or the college council. That is not student government and it is not democratic.

We are in college preparing to go out into a world where college graduates should be leaders. The problems which face us, of maintaining a world peace and taking part in our American government, will not be easy to solve. We think the college at least owes us a fair start, and education in the ways of democratic living.

● BOYS COME HOME

Today Bill came home. Twenty months ago in the midst of a successful football season, he had hung up his gold sweater with its huge school letter emblazoned on the chest, had bade an embittered goodbye to his high school crowd, and had gone none too happily to war. To others in the crowd, going into the service spelled adventure, but to Bill it foreboded disaster.

Big, rugged Bill came back home today . . . that is, all of him except his right arm. Those of us who remember his skill in handling a football and a basketball and a baseball; those of us who remember that Bill didn't go to war for glory or excitement, or even because he was filled with patriotism, but because he had no choice but to go, what can we say that will alleviate his bitterness? What can we do to help?

This serious problem is one which all of us must face—those of us who meet him in his home and family life, or those of us who contact him in his social activities. Hundreds of thousands of men like Bill have already been returned from the service and are yet to come.

Their coming will bring us face to face with the problem of providing adequately for their physical needs through medical care; for their educational needs in the cases where their schooling was interrupted; for their rehabilitation for new employment in cases where they are no longer physically able to pursue their former line of work; for their emotional re-adjustment.

The GI Bill of Rights has made provision for meeting their financial and educational needs, but it will take more than money and legislative support.

Not all of these men, of course, will return armless like Bill, or otherwise disfigured for life. Many will return scarred, even broken perhaps, in spirit. These wounds are often the deepest and hardest to heal. Most difficult to dispel is the emotional despair of the handicapped whose prolonged illness has induced an apprehensive fear that life will be profoundly changed for him, or the bitter resentment of the boy drafted from college, who finds his post-war plans shattered.

Are we college girls prepared to meet our boys who thought we would be "so nice to come home to?" While our "Joe" has been piloting, navigating, and servicing planes, with a half million dollars worth of human life and vital war materials entrusted to his knowledge and skill and his unfailing judgment, we have been at college learning to punctuate a sentence a bit more correctly, to interpret the history of Greek literature, and to discover the causes of seasons and earthquakes. Will our divergence of knowledge be too great?

Our limited pre-war travel will seem insignificant in comparison with the distances he has covered in his training and in his overseas assignment to "adventure" in the European theater or Pacific area—in tiny places we with difficulty can locate on a map, and with more difficulty can pronounce. Have we at college also been re-learning our geography of the world?

Furthermore, have we taken the trouble to know how the "other half" lives? We know little (if anything!) of the life in these places, the nature of the people, their customs, or of Joe's adjustment to them. But we will be conscious that all of this has left its mark on him when he comes home to find our people and our ways almost as foreign to him as theirs.

To bridge this gap and to assure him an intelligent audience and sympathetic understanding, there must be a deepened interest on our part about the things which have been his interests during the years from us. Only in that way can again speak the same language and renew the bond strained by the enforced diversity of interests over a period of time.

It will take patience and sincere concern on our part to help "Joe" when he comes back to the life he longed for as he went through the assigned job in the engine room of a submarine, waded through mud or snow, endured centuries in a foxhole under bombardment, or knew only the comfort of a barren tent. Back to the family he idealized, the town he hragged about, the life he glamorized in his dreaming. To the man on the foxhole or in the engine room of an American sub, home is a fantasy. To the returning veteran, unless we take some steps in the right direction, home may not live up to the dream image created in his s mind.

Frequently it will be a hitter shock for the veteran to come back and face the realization that family life has its problems as well as its ups. that Mom's good old home-cooking is not as tasty as he had remembered, and that the home town has gone on its husy way, changing the old familiar places to which he clung so tenaciously in his dreams. "Joe" may often be forced to acknowledge that the dreams he treasured as sacred are no roep in reality. It will be a shock, a shock that hurts deeply. Such hurt it will be for GI Joe unless we make it our business to prevent it.

As young women we have been challenged to see this problem through. This task presents an opportunity as well as a challenge to those of us on the home front. Only with a thorough knowledge of the readjustments to be made by these men will face can we possibly solve the problems to our mutual benefit. It's up to us to prove to our men that what they left behind was worth fighting for!

● SNAFU

It is paradoxical indeed that the announcement of the triumph of democratic ideals in Europe should be the occasion also for the curtailment of freedom of speech, one of the main principles of the democracy for which the victorious nations fought. Yet the announcement of the unconditional surrender of the German Wehrmacht by veteran news correspondent Edward Kennedy resulted in a six-hour, twenty-minute news blackout for the Associated Press, which he worked in Paris.

In reporting the event, Kennedy was basing his information on no false assumptions or vague rumors; he himself was present at the signing of the surrender in Reims, France, by both German and Allied military leaders. He wrote and filed to the Associated Press the information which was later cleared through field censorship and had long been publicly known through the radio of a defeated Germany. The truth of the dispatch was even admitted by the Supreme Headquarters in allowing it to be quoted by other American correspondents. Yet as a result of the disclosure, all privileges of the news service he represented were suspended in the European theatre of war for almost seven hours during one of the most critical periods in world history, and Kennedy himself has yet to be reinstated as a correspondent in good standing.

With the surrender an established fact, it was a natural assumption on the part of Kennedy that there was no longer reason for military censorship in the European theater, and censorship had been imposed for reasons of military security, in order to insure the confidential nature of any information which might prove of service to the enemy, and as Germany laid down her arms, the purpose and power of the censorship was also put aside. As military motives were supplanted by political, the army commands no longer had authority to exercise any restrictions on the transmission of news dispatches, and the duty of the newspaperman was no longer with the military hut with the reading public the world over.

In the announcement of the German capitulation, American readers were interested not in the triumphal speeches of political leaders, hut in an early assurance that there would be no further loss of life on European battlefields. They wanted as prompt an announcement of this assurance as was humanly possible, and it was absurd that with fighting ended at 8:41 on Sunday night, the political leaders of the three powers should mull over this as a great secret known only to themselves, withholding for thirty-six hours the news the world has fought five years to hear. In reporting the event, Kennedy may have violated a military secret, but he may even have given valuable information, but he was true to the people for whom he wrote. He gave them the news they deserved to hear, and he gave it to them without delay.

Short Change

They always say
Like father, like son;
But, I like daughter, and to heck
With the rest of the family.

—The Red and Black.

Teacher: Kiss is a noun. Can you decline it?
Student: I don't know. I never declined one.

—The Red and Black.

A leaf just landed on my head
And I felt a little sad.
The leaf that landed on my head
Was taken from the table.

—The Red and Black.

"That's a nice dog you have, Spitz?"
"No, just drools a little."

—The Red and Black.

Sgt: "What are you too rookies doing?"
Pvt: "Oh, we're carrying these boards over the lumber pile."
Sgt: "What boards?"
Pvt: "Holy smoke, Sam, we dropped one."

No college man likes to be beat to the punch, especially if it is gin.

We never saw it happen, but then—

—The Kentucky Kernel

Any girl can be gay in a convertible.
In a taxi they all can be jolly
But the girl worth while
Is the girl who can smile
When you're taking her home in the rain.

—The Kentucky Kernel

If all the coeds in the world who didn't neck were gathered in one room, what would we do with her?

—The Kentucky Kernel.

Female voice to bus driver—
"Can't you wait until I get my hair combed?"

And fifty people twisted their necks out of joint while the laundried climbed on board with a basket of clothing.

—The Kentucky Kernel.

A chip on the shoulder indicates that there is more than lumber up.

—The Red and Black.

The only guy who'll thank you for sticking your nose in his business is the handkerchief manufacturer.

—The Red and Black.

Mother: "Do you know where little boys go who don't put the money in the collection plate?"
Boy: "Yeah, to the movies."

—The Red and Black.

Mother: "Johnny,if you eat that cake you'll bust."
Johnny: "Well, pass the cake and get out of the way."

—The Red and Black.

Definitions
Decade—Rotten.
Accord—A rope.
Matinee—A movie actor.
Depose—The position of a model.
Decal—A chair.
Fiend—To discover.
Confusion—A Chinese profit.
Assail—Part of a boat.
Aqueduct—Two pieces of water.
Accelerate—The positive.
Abridge—Where people jump off.

—Red and Black.

Magazine Jottings ..

By KATHERINE NOLLMAN

Feeding The Forty Million—
By ARTHUR MOORE

The existence of poverty in a country which is capable of producing more than enough for its people, is discussed by Arthur Moore in his article "Feeding The Forty Million," which appears in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

Mr. Moore cites examples to show that approximately one third of the 131,000,000 people are directly or indirectly to deficient diet. The chief of the Medical Division of the Air Service has observed the following contrast: seven out of ten men drafted in Colorado were accepted while three out of ten men from the lower southern states were accepted. In a pre-war survey the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture found that among 2000 wage earners and clerical workers 76 per cent did not 'save a "good" diet and 46 per cent did not even have a "fair" diet. A study by the WPA in 1936 showed that families on relief in New City's poverty area schools had a high deficiency in vitamins.

After careful dietary nutrition tests broadly agree that around 40 million people suffer from insufficient diet. Of course, says Mr Moore, a certain number of these people have insufficient diets through their own laziness or lack of interest in eating the right foods.

The author believes that in the post-war era a new radical will appear who will not try to limit production to those who have enough money to buy the food at profitable prices. He will say, "Let us produce enough food for everyone and then push it with radical methods into a public policy if necessary." But, says Mr Moore, the nutrition populist will radically alter the old and amply fed through private industry means rather than public policy. Statistics show that as the income increases the amount of meat consumed does not rise.

After expressing his faith that adequate diets for all should be the legitimate goal of agriculture, Mr Moore goes on to say that when the farmer has a new ecology that he can not sell at a sufficient profit to maintain his own family, it is not his fault nor has he raised one hog too many for there is need for the hog. It is rather the economic system, which allows want to thrive in the midst of plenty, that has fallen down on the job.

Which Veterans Should Go To College—
By WILLARD WALLER

The future veterans' problem of deciding whether or not to take advantage of the GI Bill of Rights and the G.I. Bill of Rights is discussed by Willard Waller in an article in the May issue of the Ladies Home Journal.

It is estimated that at least 900,000 will take advantage of the GI Bill of Rights which provides for the government to pay for tuition and fees and contribute $50 a month for the expenses of a single man and $75 for the veteran with dependents.

One of the advantages gained will be in the number of boys who will go to college who otherwise would not have had the opportunity. One of the difficulties to be faced is that the boys who are not fitted for college by nature will nevertheless try very hard for all the ships hitherto denied to come in.

We keep telling ourselves that the reason the mail situation has slacked up so noticeably lately (instead of one letter a week, used to get two) is because we're going home soon and everyone is just waiting until our address settles down once more. We at least have that idea with which to console ourselves.

The seniors who have been fussing for four years about the things on campus that gripe them have suddenly discovered that their Alma Mater is quite a place after all. But we think their chief sorrow is the fact that soon they will have to go out into an unfamiliar world and find something to fuss about. But it shouldn't be hard for them: they've had plenty of practice.

Life is real and life is earnest . . . Life is filled with work, especially last minute work. But after the strain of exams a number of our fair colleagues are planning on getting war jobs for the summer—either as riveters or something—just to get the feel of things. Perhaps this campus with its goals needs they need the peace and quiet

We've been all confused about the days this week because everything started off Monday. Even today the people that should have been with us Friday are just coming out in white, so we blissfully assumed it was Friday. When classes at Wes Thursday we were morose. The only thing we were sure of was that they'd forgotten to write the Friday before. We hope everything gets straightened out this week because we have enough to worry about with exams without having to worry about what day it is.

We suppose everyone else has a creepy feeling about now, the so good luck on your exams. That's what it takes. Here's hoping you have a most exciting summer! \

Peruvian Museum Will Remain Open

The Peruvian Museum at Florida State College will be open to the public every Sunday afternoon from the present time until 1:30 to 4 o'clock, announced Sunday afternoon. Tours and lectures for display of the valuable collection on the fourth floor of the Language Building-Library building at the college.

Mr Snow will be on hand to conduct visitors through the museum on Sunday afternoons His announcement comes in response to much publicity received since last week's AAUW-sponsored concert of the display. Mr. Snow said last night on the Garnet and Gold radio program from the college giving a brief history of the collection which he said is perhaps the most complete of its kind on the continent.

Assignments Given

Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence halls, announced that the summer school assignments will be ready Monday morning from 9:30 until 12 and again afternoon from 2 until 5.

Students are reminded by the school term in September secure their assignments last Monday.

In Japan adultery is a ground for divorce only when the wife commits it.

COLLEGIATE COMEBACKS

Lettie Sullivan
Betty Hargrove

We aren't in a very good mood this morning because we haven't had any mail since last Saturday. Mother's day is almost here, but what can you get for dad? One thing that worries us that our family might forget about us completely and not send us any money to come home on and it is such a long walk. Maybe we'll run away to be let's be a sailor. That would show them.

* * * * *

Then there is the girl who was a little upset when she learned she had 16 plates to wash to make up next week. She could have sworn it was more than that.

* * * * *

In case one of your dearer friends with a peculiar sense of humor hasn't already told you let us be the first. To begin with you have to be sitting comfortably in a big chair (don't ask us where to find one) reading the latest serial in the Ladies Home Journal or a reasonable facsimile thinking very happily that now that you've finished your term paper you can relax for a while. Then we come quietly up behind you and say, "Did you know that there are just two more days of school." Even if you did realize it you feel a little guilty about finishing your story so you slink back to your room, put up a study sign—and when it happens to be time to up the study sign and went to sleep.

* * * * *

The cigarette shortage must be getting worse. Not only soon we noticed one of our cute little freshmen sitting nonchalantly on the back step of Byrnes and what do you think? Boised daintily between her lips was a real-life pipe. We wonder if what kind of tobacco she was using, but it looks powerful. Maybe some freshmen will introduce to FSC next year?

* * * * *

As the end of school approaches we find a number of room mate girls left almost penniless. Their funds didn't stretch quite as far as they had expected. One girl we know has one cent exactly to last till FSC closes it. doors on this session. She is planning on cleaning, pay the numerous debts that just seem to crop up, buy a g ticket home, and to enjoy life in general. Let us all quietly hope to secure their degree. Mr Waller says, "College education is useful only to those who have the qualities of mind and personality to profit from it". And he added, "It is more helpful in making a life than in making a living."

* * * * *

Under the GI Bill of Rights it is to be noted that veterans for which veterans shall enter, it is almost universally agreed that for the nation's good and that of women, entrance exams should be waived. Most colleges now admit veterans without high school diplomas. "In trying to select men for the service we are able of doing colleges work for the men will be careful, but we will make mistakes," says Mr Waller.

"The veteran and his family will avoid future disappointment," he says, "by carefully considering whether or not the boy is college material." The veteran must also weigh the cost of spending four years of his life in college against the profit which he will reap in the distant future. The author suggests that he take into careful consideration such questions as his own ability and interest in academic subjects, his freedom from other obligations, and his state of health and age.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor ..... JUDY FEITH
Associate Editor ..... SANDY ROCK
Associate Editor ..... PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHER, MARY WEBB
Managing Editor ..... SHIRLEY BOZARD
News Editor ..... MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMAS

Copy Editor ..... Lela Rose
Copy Staff ..... Bobbie Sue Hall
Mary N McFadden,
Jeanne Hall,
Virginia Allcock
Feature Editor ..... Betty Devore
Feature Writer ..... Anne Hilton
Columnists ..... Lettie Sullivan,
Betty Hargrove
Office Manager ..... Louise Sims
Staff Secretaries ..... Marie Waters,
Burma Cox

Asst. Managing Editor ..... Bobbie Mc
Asst. Managing Editor ..... Mary Ann Wa
Asst. Society Editor ..... Dorcey Lou
Asst. Society Editor ..... Betty Ann
Outside News Editor ..... Ann
Sports Editor ..... Miriam Ann
Sports Writer ..... Betty Devore
Literary Editor ..... Catherine Ro
Literary Staff ..... Jeanne Hall, Ma
Virginia Allcock
Picture Editor ..... Delcey Cook
Art Editor ..... Jerry Fo
Asst. Art Editor ..... Georgia Fo

REPORTERS: Eugenia Aniers, Mary Alice Bennett, Ann Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Alice Brady, Lee Bucher, Betty Ann Bullock, Virginia Bullock, Virginia Lee Bess Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Hill, Mombie Ingram, Jeanne Hall, Mary Ann Hall, Mary Ann Hall, Jeanne Perry, Betty Madge Pyle, Jeanne Hall, Mary Ann Remenderfer, Betty Shea, Marylee Smith Mary Charles Skipper, Toni Thomas, Joyce Williams

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager ..... Helen Taylor
Advertising Manager ..... Jeanne Hall
Advertising Staff—Betty Strickland, Virginia Budd, Ada Rawls, Lila Bernard
Lillian Brown, Betsy Burk
Circulation Manager ..... Martha Sc
Collection Manager ..... Jeanne Hall

Entered as second class mail matter, January 20, 1912, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

ororities Have Last-Minute Flings Before 'Dead Week' and Exams Strike

s "Dead Week" begins and ex- boom up in this immediate ter, sororities are having a last fling, consisting mostly parties honoring graduating ors and pledging ceremonies.

le honors: the Alpha Phi party at the Floridan last night . . . the Pi Beta ty tonight at 8:30 last Monday, at which time the seniors ored guests with the sorority ed them, and the sorority and prophecy was read . after-dinner coffee for graduating members of Kappa Alpha ha . . . the Zeta Tau Alpha Monday night, honoring ate girls . . . the Chi Omega on Wednesday night, under direction of Laura Platt . . . annual party by Alpha Gamity initiated at 8:30 last ies highlighted by a skit pre- ed by the eight graduating sters of the chapter.

Pledgings: Mary Ann Herring Kappa Delta . . . Joyce Evans

avis Weds Brown In Ceremony Here

ss Jo Ann Davis, former in- ture in commerce at Florida ty College, became the wife Cecil M. Brown, chief radio ician in the Navy, in a mar- ceremony performed at the ne of Mrs. J. Lewis, 601 W ement st. at 7:45 on the eve- of April 30.

Dr. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the n Baptist church of Tallahas- was the officiating minister. Miss Helen Davis, organist, is public school music at FSC, played a short program of nup- music before the ceremony. Peter Ellis, gladioli and Queen ne's lace decorated the room, illuminated by soft tiphia. After the ceremony the bridal ty left immediately for a ne's wedding trip to Wakulla s and points in South Flor-

They are leaving Tallahasse- to go to Sarasota Island, ida where Mr Brown will ue second Civil Service exam- n. En route to California the ple plans to visit his parents Phoenix City, Alabama, and sarrete in Pawhuska, Okla- The bride has resigned her tion in order to be with her and sit his new post.

n Cosper Honors Sigma Kappa Seniors

rs J O Cosper, Sigma Kappa ember, honored graduating ber members of the sorority with a luncheon Sunday at her home.

The color motn of the Sigma ha house, where the luncheon ved, was decorated with gar- and other spring flowers. ver place-cards directed the ests to their places. t to the conclusion of the lunch- each senior made a short im- tu talk about a subject sh she was given during the Honorees were Bernice Scott, Howard, Carolyn Bailey, Alice Smith, Rosemary Thurston, Vivia Gibson and Grace Pain.

Campbell Returns

Dr Desk S Campbell, president Florida State College, has re- ently returned from Washington, C, where he attended a meet- g of the Executive Committee of he American Council on Educa-

Since the entire council could ot meet as planned, due to trans- ortation difficulties, the entire ew committee acted in repre- entation it. President Campbell re- orted.

GRADUATION GIFTS
Cosmetics . . . Stationery
at
MARTIN AND DALTON

to Tri Delta . . . Fay Irvin to Phi Mu . . .

Five girls were pledged to Zeta Tau Alpha yesterday. Added to membership in ZTA were Catherine Nollman, Inez Smith, Audrey Evans, Nancy McMullin and Peggy Moss.

The new initiates were given candelia corsages, and were guests of honor at an informal supper at the Three Torches, following the ceremony.

Visitors: Alpha Xi Delta alumnae, Muriel and Avis Thomas, of Gainesville, visited the chapter last week . . . Betty Mickinen, alumnae of the Kappa Alpha chapter of Kappa Delta, visited here last week-end. Betty, who is now president of the KD Alumnae Association of Jacksonville, is in charge of the War Service Project for the state of Florida . . . Cecelia McColpin, former Delta Zeta president, plans to return next week for a short visit . . . Mrs Frank Bisbee, financial advisor for Delta Delta Delta, visited on campus last week . . . Mrs Sam Murinson, a guest at he Delta Phi Epsilon house, is here for the confirmation of Eileen Murinson, her daughter. Jean Lieberman, and Jeannie Shulman . . .

The Chi Omega's will enjoy a round of activities this week-end, beginning with luncheon with a garden party at the home of Mrs Byron Skinner, from 1 to 5:30. The party will be given jointly by Mrs Whitfield and Mrs Frank Miller.

Tomorrow evening, at the house-mother, Mrs O S Lanier, will entertain the actives and other chapter members at a party at Wakulla Springs.

Last Tuesday night, Mrs George Lewis gave a party for her daughter, Betty Jean, at the sorority theater to be guests at her home on East Park street.

Kappa Alpha Theta members and dates had a picnic Saturday at the Wakulla Springs. Wednesday, they honored Hester Hammond, who will marry in June, at a dinner and shower.

Seniors of Kappa Delta honored their house-mother, Mrs Barnes Hendry, at a tea last night at the house. Special guests were friends of Mrs Hasrum.

Miss Kay Warren, assistant dean of women, entertained the Delta Zeta house this week on "The Future of Sororities". Sunday afternoon members of Delta Zeta honored, Miss Helen Gwinn, an alumna of the chapter, guest of her engagement, at a picnic.

Sigma Kappa is making plans for a house-party to be held at Wakulla Springs, beginning on Saturday, May 26.

Officers Initiated By Classical Club

The Classical Club held initiation ceremonies for its new officers last Wednesday at 7:30 p m in the Florida Union. The group of officers will hold office during the year 1945-46.

The newly elected officers are: Anne MacInnes, president; Betty Robertson, vice president; Robbie Pate, secretary; Lucille Matthews, treasurer; Mary Ruth Miller, bulletin board chairman; Ruth Moore, social chairman; and Mary Ellen Scarborough, publicity chairman.

Retiring officers are: Peggy Lou Thomas, president; Dot Lake, secretary; Betty Spear, treasurer; Betty Hunter, bulletin board chairman; Rose McLean, social chairman; and Barbara Wickam, publicity chairman.

In 790 Emperor Charlemagne granted rights to all monks of the Sithin Order to procure inks and make gloves, girdles, parchment and book coverings.

Tenant Inn Brings Home Atmosphere To Dorm Corridor

There is nothing like a good home atmosphere in a dormitory hall—so thought Nancy Rivers, Kai Lindsay, and Reba Jones last week as they proceeded to drag furniture into the hall on the third floor of Landis.

These three seniors, with several of their neighbors, decided to pool some of their furniture and make a homey den out of the hall. Their result was the "Tenant Inn" to accomodate about twenty guests instead of the usual dormitory rooms.

The "Tenant Inn" was, at first, made up of a living room with chairs, magazine racks, books, and a rug. Later on, when guests they call the members sheep. Three names chosen thus far by the sheep are Sheep Ish, Sheep Skate, and Three Sheep In A Boat. The hall is also heavily they dress the fire hydrant (instead of the lamp post as do the F Club-

'Sensitive Seniors' Tap Twenty Sheep Of Acknowledged Athletic Inability

The S Club, an organization recently formed on campus by a group of "sensitive seniors," tapped 20 new members last night. Although their purpose is the direct contrast to those of the P Club, members say that their club is based on the real level of organization of athletes. While P Clubbers are proud of their skill in sports, S Clubbers are selected for their lack of athletic ability.

The instigators of this club have chosen twenty descriptive names for themselves. They are Puney (Nancy) Parker and Pesky Spencer. Initiation for the new members is turn-ta the pail and kicking the bucket. Rather than call the new members goats, they call the members sheep. Three names chosen thus far by the sheep are Sheep Ish, Sheep Skate, and Three Sheep In A Boat. The hall is also heavily they dress the fire hydrant (instead of the lamp post as do the F Club-bers) and call it "Sheep Eagle."

Since the P's have chosen Friday as their day to wear their sweaters, the S's will wear their collars. On Saturday Brown and white are their colors because they say they do everything up in brown with lily white hands. Their motto is "Study and Solitude."

Incidently, Bert Ebert, one of the 13 members of the S, was tapped this week for P Club. The other 8 members will mourn her withdrawal from the S Club, and will all wear black tomorrow.

New S Club sheep include: Pete Bevis, Mary Frost, Helen Glover, Mary McRory Edith Hawkins, Mary Lucy Mendenhall, Margaret Smith, Margaret Owen, Catherine Futch, Cleo Sapp, Jean Kindle, Barbara Lee Massay, Dot Jean Tobias, Carol Sherman, Dot Boardman, Diana Watson, Doris Headley, Elisabeth Brown, Dot Caswell, Reba Jones, and Bernice Scott.

Great Composers Have Power to Foresee Wars, Says Noted Pianist and Composer

"Since they are especially sensitive to what is in the world, all great composers can foretell wars to the exact month and year," stated Percy Grainger, composer and pianist, in a recent interview with artist at Florida State College during Music Week, May 6 through 12.

Speaking to his clipped Australian accent, Mr Grainger stated in an informal interview that this is because music is the best form of a memorial to the painful side of life. "The object of music," he said, "is to prepare people for future catastrophes."

A frequent performer before college audiences, Mr Grainger is now making his second appearance at FSC. Grainger, a resident artist on campus in January, 1926. He said that he considers Florida a very nice state.

"Football used to be my favorite game," remarked Mr Grainger in regard to his preferences in sports, "but I also enjoy running and like fast as much to peck parties, especially musical instruments for exercise." Mr Grainger played 13 instruments, 10 of these instruments with him, which included a few unfamiliar ones such as staff bells.

In reply to a question regarding his most unforgettable person in his likes best, Mr Grainger said that he prefers the opening chorus of Bach's "St. Matthew's Passion." Among his own works the "Marching Song of Democracy" is his favorite original song, and the first and second "Hill Songs," are his favorite compositions for instruments.

Regarding American musical life, Mr Grainger stated that it closely resembles that of China. He once took a missionary's book to the Chinese and discovered that Kentucky folk songs and found that they were Chinese melodies, consisting of almost exactly the same phrases. American and English music is a product of centuries behind that of continental countries, he said, because of lack of his own, he said. Contrary to popular belief, he added, music is not the universal art that is generally considered, but is particularly nationalistic.

When told that college students were not interested in folk music, on behind his name for the "Gumsucker's March" Mr Grainger replied that it doesn't matter even either chewing gum or sucking it, but has a sense of the word. "Gumsucker," he said, "is the nickname for a person born in the state of Victoria, Australia, and comes from the name of gum, or eucalyptus tree. Eucalyptus trees, which are quite numerous in that district. Such a name is applied to people born there."

When asked what he considers the advantage of the unusually frequent time changes in his compositions, Mr Grainger replied that this lends variety to his work. For example, he remarked that Bach composed his "Well Tempered" to tell and retell the same story over and over again, but today's music has to be done about by telling the same story ,they prefer to tell it in different ways. So it is with time changes," he said.

"Contrary to popular belief," he stated, "all creative music is very irregular and yet the impression is very rhythmic. Like all other arts music is becoming more complicater. Civilization is not only more complicated of life, but one doesn't attempt to make things appear easy when, in reality, they are difficult," he said.

Mr Grainger has been playing the piano for 52 years and has appeared in from 80 to 120 concerts per year for the past 50 years. Commins here on his present tour from Lafayette, Louisiana, he will go on to Baton Rouge and then to Rushton, Louisiana, after which he will return to New York in order to make a number of musical recordings.

See Our Wide Selection of Spring Evening and Street DRESSES
at
MAE'S SHOP

Teas and Luncheons Honor Miss Bowman

Miss Evelyn Bowman of the speech department, whose engagement to Captain L B Kennedy of Marshall Town, Iowa, has recently been announced, will be honored with a number of social events this week and next.

Mrs Ida Simmons and Miss Vela Cleveland will entertain her at a tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs Simmons. Miss Bowman will also be honored with a luncheon given by Mrs Buford Thursday at her home. Guests will include close friends of the honoree.

A tea given at the Student Alumnae reception room will also honor Miss Bowman on Friday, May 18. Miss Sadie Young will be hostess on this occasion.

Miss Bowman, daughter of Mr and Mrs Kindle Bowman of Marshall Town, Iowa, plans to be married at the home of her parents immediately after her graduation. Captain Kennehan is stationed at the air base in Lincoln, Nebraska, where he is connected with the dental corps.

Wriggling Turtle Bites to Freedom

"Look out, he'll bite you!"

"Oh gosh, what can we do with him?"

These exclamations pierced the air as two girls in the Florida Union Cafeteria screamed, shrieked, holding cautiously before them a wriggling turtle. He was striking at his neck like an experienced contortionist.

Suddenly the procession stopped. The turtle went sailing through the air accompanied by a terrified shriek. It took little imagination to guess what had happened. The turtle promptly left the scene, one of them nurses a badly pinched finger. And the battle-cry of "Run, run quick!" was soon trippingly repeated along in her testand and something about Gold Withdrawn in favor of Silver before.

Much other radio activity has gone on at the college since October 28, in addition to the regular Garnet and Gold programs. There have been special radio programs presented from the college library, the colleges personnel office, the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation and the music department of the demonstration school. There has also been the 13-weeks series of "Let's Learn Spanish" programs, produced by Irene Lott, and broadcast weekly, sponsored by the modern language department of the college. This transcribed series, presented several times a week since early February, ended this week.

In addition to these activities, a short series of student-sponsored Monday night concerts programs has just ended with an all-poetry program last Monday night. Anne Widerquist is chairman of the student radio committee, which plans for a regular year-long series for next year.

Favor, Mrs Virginia Evans Morrison will act as medical technician in the Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee.

Elisabeth Lotlich is to serve as visitor in the Social Welfare Office in Tallahassee. Home Demonstration work will be done by Miss Stevenson and Marguerite Rish.

Working in the public library in Washington, D C, will be Mary Jane Towne and Mary Nell Pinkhaver. Gloria Glusman will be clerk in the Florida Industrial Commission in Tallahassee.

The cap of a true mushroom very seldom exceeds five inches in diameter.

Edible mushrooms contain more nitrogenous foods and about 90 per cent water.

Snow Presents Radio Address

Garnet and Gold Programs Have Only One Break

The 20th edition of Garnet and Gold, Florida State College weekly radio program, went on the air from the college studio last night with Eleanor Loyless of Tallahassee as its master of ceiler and Sidney Snow designer of the college's Perrotine museum, as its personality of the week.

Eleanor Loyless is a piano student in the FSCW school of music. She played Chopin's Nocturne, Opus 48, No 1, on last night's program. Snow talked briefly on the history of the valuable Perrotian relics which were presented to the college last year by the John Victor Carters of the Canal Zone.

For the second successive week the program planned to present a musical work of her own early "Let Me Stay in the South," which won honorable mention in the vocal composition division of the AAUW creative arts contest. Anna Watkins is the author of the and composition, and Frances Jean Blackburn with her honorable mention piano composition was postponed—this time because of the absence of accompanist, by which all three performers were scheduled to sing with the glee club. It is expected that the two numbers will be presented on the program for May 27.

On May 24 the Garnet and Gold program will feature Irene Putnam, student pianist, who will present her certificate recital on May 25, as its music editor. This edition of the Garnet and Gold program will be the last one in the regular 1944-45 session, but the Garnet and Gold broadcasts will continue throughout the summer without a break.

Since the college studio was dedicated on October 28, with the presentation of the first edition of Garnet and Gold, there has been only one break in the schedule. That was the occasion of the last San Francisco Conference, Garnet and Gold withdrew in favor of the national broadcast of one of its sessions. But not even the Christmas holidays kept the program off before.

Opportunity Call Many Seniors North

Continued from Page One

stenographer for Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, Texas.

Working in chemistry laboratories will be Mary Louise Grist, Katherine Boney, Nutrition Laboratory, University of Florida; Elizabeth Cason, College of Medicine, Baylor University, Houston, Texas; Jane Hutchinson, Fort Worth, Texas Company, Beacon, N Y; and Alice Trieste, Humble Oil Company, Houston, Texas.

Teaching and structing positions will also be filled by some FSCW graduates. Mary Earnest will teach history in Pensacola. Others who will be doing elementary or high schools are Elizabeth Eberhardt, Ocala, Florida; Martha Edwards Lazes, Mrs Lotts Humphries, St Petersburg; Ethel Mae Linehaus, Daytona Beach; Marie Platt, Daytona Beach; Mrs Deborah Shumaker, St Petersburg; Mrs Mamie Pride Gamard (married; Mildred Zindler, Sarasota; Mrs Ruth Bond, Clearwater; Dorothy Tobias, Chipley; Mildred Williams and Mrs Ruth Platts will be instructors in Dr Carlson's School in Pompano, and Olive Gallaway plans to be an instructor in the Red Cross at the Municipal hospital in Tampa.

Serving their country in civilian and armed services will be Ruby Ebert in the WAVES; Mrs Dorothy Hallor-an in Red Cross work, and Mary Frances Morse in the Army Nurses Corps.

Mary Jeks and Jeanne Kendall are joining the training school for Store Service, at Davison Paxon in Atlanta.

Cordelia Barclay is taking a position as feature writer on the Tampa Tribune. Janet Panosian and Diana Washbon are to intern at the National Institute of Public Affairs in Washington, D C.

Mrs Jeanne Knapp Pitzsimmons will work in Monn's Jewelry Store in Tallahassee. YWCA work in Miami will be done by Blanche

Archery Telegrahic Meet Begins May 12

Class Ratings to Be Given According to Scores

The archery classes of the Florida State College are entering the Women's Intercollegiate Telegraphic Archery Tournament which is sponsored by the National Archery Association.

FSC participants are shooting for scores during the second period of the meet. This period begins May 12 and ends May 18. Only scores shot during that period can count in the National Competition.

The girls on the team will shoot every day during that time, having their scores checked and officially signed by Miss Frances Crean, instructor in Physical Education, or by Carolyn Forehand, student head of archery.

Girls making scores over 438 will be given a Class A rating; scorers between 360 and 434 will be given Class B rating, and those making scores between 280 and 349 will be in Class C. A certificate showing the score and the class rating will be awarded to each competitor who makes any of the three classes.

In the participation will shoot Columbia Rounds, that is 24 arrows from 30 yards, from 40 yards and from 50 yards, consecutively, arranging the three scores.

Inside of the National Tournament there are 9 District Tournaments for the Different Sections of the country. FSC is located in the Southern District and will compete with the other Southern states therein.

"We are entering the highest eight scores which will be made during the meet. This is the first now entered in the contest," said Miss Crean. "Also each individual competitor may who is interested in entering the tournament should see me this week." Miss Crean added.

The following girls are entered in the participation: Mary Sara Allen Glenn, Harriet Winkleman, Bobbie Carter, Julia Perkins, Joy Knipe, Helen Stone, Betty Jo Kanzinsky, Mary Ann Hopson, Anna Lee Mooney, Mary Shepard, Juanita Nord, Priscilla Clark, Miriam Booth, Betsy Surwrite, Lois Erwen, and Betty Johnston.

Odds Take Archery Finals From Evens

In Odd-Even archery finals, the Odds defeated the Evens 2418 to 2411 in the finals. The high scorer for the Odds with the total of 347 while Doris Hill was high scorer for the Evens with 333 points.

The tournament is played by allowing each girl to shoot 24 arrows from 50, 40 and 30 yards. Each team totals its scores and the best scores from each were compiled.

Saturday marked the finals of the Odd-Even tennis matches with the Odds taking one game and the Evens another.

Lucy Brown, Odd, defeated Joy Knipe, Even, 6-2, and Babe Evans, Even, defeated Blanche Faver in the number 1 game 6-1, 6-4 and 8-1. The score was by Babe gave the Evens a victory over the Odds for the whole tournament, the Evens winning four games and the Odds, two.

Flastacowo Delayed

It is doubtful that the 1945 Flastacowo will be ready for distribution before school closes, according to Cleo Sapp, editor, because the books have not been completed at the printers.

In the event that the yearbooks are not ready for release this year, Cleo has said that they will be mailed during the summer to all seniors who graduated. All other students will have an opportunity to get them when they return to college in the fall.

Pyrex for June Brides
at
Seek it First at
VAN BRUNT & VON INC
YON'S
HARDWARE

Two Concerts Feature Artist

..cy Grainger Highlights National Music Week

..ercy A Grainger, pianist-com..ser and musician in residence, presented his individual interpretations of well-known musical compositions in two artist series programs held last Monday and Tuesday in Westcott auditorium.

The two programs were identical, but there was some difference in the encores which Mr Grainger played at the conclusion of the various parts of the two programs.

In commemoration of V-E day, Mr Grainger opened his Monday night program with the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Mr Grainger then played "Toccata and Fugue" in D minor by J S Bach, followed by "Prelude and Fugue" in C sharp minor, from "The Well-Tempered Clavier," by J S Bach.

The second half of his program consisted of the playing of "Four Etudes" by Scriabin. The first was "A flat major, op 25, No 1; the second, "C minor, op 10, No 12; the third, "C sharp minor, op 25, No 7, and the fourth and last etude was "B minor op 25, No 10.

The third part of Mr Grainger's program was the "Sonata, op 7" by Grieg which included an allegro moderato, andante molto, Alla Menuetto ma poco piu lento, and Finale molto allegro.

In the fourth and last part of the artist series programs, Mr Grainger played the "Romance in D flat major, op 94, No 5" of Sibelius, and the "Hungarian Rhapsody No 2" by Liszt.

For encores the first night, Mr Grainger played "Country Dance," a composition written in the time of Bach. DeBussy's "Claire de Lune," George Gershwin's "The Man I Love" "Romance in F sharp major" by Schumann and his well-known "Country Gardens."

Included in the encores of the second performance were Brahm's "Lullaby" and Henry Cowell's "Olien Harp" and "Lilt of the Reel."

Alumnae Report

Three former presidents of the Florida State College Alumnae Association, have been visitors to the campus this month.

Mrs Dempsey Creary, first president of the Student Alumnae Association, spent a few days on campus. Mrs Creary was a member of the class of 1929 and is now head of the Girl Scouts in Miami. She was also the first director of the Rowena Longmire Student Alumnae building.

The second visitor to the SAA this month was Mrs J F Ashmore of Graceville, Florida, also a past president of the association.

Mrs Ashmore was of the class of 1928, and a music major at FSC. She came to the college to stay during Music Week.

Mrs Creary and Mrs Ashmore were guests of the Student Alumnae building.

Mrs Frank Bisbee, of Jacksonville, was a visitor at the Delta Delta Delta sorority house last week.

Mrs Bisbee has been president of the Alumnae Association and was a member of the FSC Class of 1919.

A member of the present board of the association was also on campus this month. She was Miss Betty Nickenson, from Pensacola. Miss Nickenson graduated here in 1941.

Sixty girls joined the Student Alumnae association at the Mid-Winter Talent Convocation held in Westcott last Thursday at 1:45. The convocation, under the direction of Rosemary Hubbell was the first girl of the class of 1945 to take out a life membership in the SAA.

Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of the week of May 8, and Monday and Tuesday of the week of May 13, 1945, the Student Alumnae building is holding open house for all seniors.

The object of thi..' said Miss Louise Gehan, secretary of the SAB, "is to acquaint the girls with the files of correspondence that are used to keep the college in touch with past graduates. We also want them to know about the association and how it is run,' said Miss Gehan.

Last week Miss Gehan heard "some interesting news" about one of the 1928 graduates, Martha Branscomb, who received her Ph D degree from Chicago University in 1942, majoring in social work. She is now the Chief of the Child Welfare Section of the Welfare Division of the United Nations Rehabilitation and Relief Association.

Miss Branscomb is now in Paris conferring with the French about the post-war welfare of children, according to the letter received here. "The heads of the Italian and Greek governments are coming to confer with her in the near future," said Miss Gehan, who added that Miss Branscomb is the third one of our Alumnae to become part of UNRRA.

Miss Finnie Minton, of the class of 1930, is director of welfare in the Balkans. She is in charge of distributing clothes, food, and all necessities to the people in the Balkans. Miss Kathryn Walters, assistant dietitian here at FSC until a month ago, left this country last week on her way to Germany.

Mrs Walters was of the class of 1934. Her activities now have to do with the entire di-tetic field for up to 10,000 people. She took intensive special training in Washington, D C, before going overseas.

Six of the alumnae of FSC have been accepted for foreign duty with the American Red Cross. They are: Anna Grover, of the class of 1936, who has been in personnel work at the Naval Air Station Glynco, Ga.; Lucile Prine, from Mount Olive, Mississippi, who has been in the WAAF since she graduated in 1940; Doris Summerlin, of the class of 1940, from Plant City; Edna Earle Wilson, also of the class of 1940, from Plant City; Mary Stanton Wood, of the class of 1938, from Tallahassee; and Lorraine (Pat) Bulkley, of the class of 1939, who is now in Paris with ARC.

Hazard Elected

Harriet Hazard, has been elected to presidency of the Cotillion Club for the year of 1945-46.

The other Cotillion officers who were elected at the same time are Mary Louise Perry, vice president; Marian McEvers, secretary; Lillian Brown, treasurer; and Betty Jane Singleton, dance chairman.

Cotillion held their last meeting of the year at noon yesterday.

Gala Concert Will Climax Music Week

Continued from Page One

Song both solo and ensembles of Mr Grainger. The band will also play Mr Grainger's arrangement of "Molly on the Shore."

"The Thanksgiving Song" presented by the FSC choir, the orchestra, band, and organ, will begin the fourth and last part of tonight's concert. The first movement of this song will be the first performance ever presented. Percy Grainger will be first pianist; Mrs Mildred H Davis, instructress in voice and piano accompanist; Mrs Mary M McGinnis, instructress in voice, Mrs Ruth Perry, instructress in piano, Grant Wallin.. baritone; Allen Sapp, tenor; and Mr Karl O Kuerstainer, dean of the school of music, conductor.

Next, the Glee club, orchestra, and band will play two arrangements by Percy Grainger, the "Irish Tune From County Derry" and the "Marching Song of Democracy". Mr Grainger conducting.

The playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the combined groups with the audience singing will bring the program to a close.

At the Chamber Music Concert held last Wednesday night, Dean Karl O Kuerstainer of the school of music made his first Tallahassee appearance as featured violinist, when he and Mr Grainger played Cyril Scott's "Tallahassee Suite". The program, presented by the faculty piano quintet and the faculty string trio of the college, was held in the Augusta Conrad auditorium.

The faculty string trio consisted of Dean Kuerstainer, violinist; Miss Olin Ebner, violist; and Frank Sykora, 'cellist also made his first appearance as a trio when they played Henry Purcell's Three-Part "Fantasias" No 1, No 2 and No 3.

The piano quintet has played an out-of-town engagement, but had not appeared in Tallahassee until Wednesday night. It is composed of Miss Mary E Winslow, pianist; Dean Kuerstainer, first violinist; Rachel Crotwell, second violinist; Miss Ebner, violist; and Frank Sykora, 'cellist. Robert Schumann's Quintet for Piano and Strings was the quintet's offering on Wednesday night's program.

The Purcell Fantasias by the trio came first, followed by the Fantasia No 2. The composition of many melodies into one composition characterized all the numbers.

Next on the program was the Schumann Quintet for Piano and Strings. All four of its movements were played, ending with "Allegro, ma non troppo" The fateful, "knell-of-doom" quality of the second movement, "In modo d'una Marcia" was striking. Consultation of the program notes revealed that it had been written as funeral march.

The last number on the program was the Tallahassee Suite played by Mr Kuerstainer and Mr Grainger. The Tallahassee Suite was written by Cyril Scott, and English composer, in 1919. It has three parts: Bygone Memories, After Sundown, and Negro Air and Dance. According to Dean Kuerstainer, the idea of playing the Tallahassee Suite was Grainger's own. Mr Grainger is a personnal friend of the composer, and suggested when he was first asked to come to Tallahassee for National Music week that the Scott Suite be featured at some program during the week.

Over two hundred people at the Music Week Dinner given by the School of Mule in the Lower South Dining Hall last night. The welcome was given by Dean Karl O Kuerstainer, toastmaster, was followed by the introduction of guests. Greetings by Dr Doak S Campbell was followed by songs with Miss Etta Robertson, directing the Glee club, accompanied by Mrs Maynard R Miller.

Mr Percy Grainger, guest at the dinner, spoke on "Music as a State Resource". He said that music cannot thrive amidst competition, and that if artists in the various countries would portray the individual characteristics of their communities, art, the world over, would become greatly enriched.

At the conclusion of the dinner program, guests rose and sang "Garnet and Gold".

At the outdoor concert held Sunday on the terrace of Westcott building, the pieces played were, "The Man I Love" by Gershwin, "Night and Day" by Porter, "Stouthearted Men" by Romberg, "Melonal Rubies" by Bayley, the "Light Cavalry", an overture by Suppe, and "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa.

Assistant student conductors were Betty Sanford and Rachel Crotwell. At the conclusion of the program Mr Percy Grainger, visiting pianist-composer, congratulated Mr Harris and band members for their performance.

Among the selections played by Mrs Mildred Davis, soprano were "Fugue In A" by Mendelssohn, the "Lamentation" by Tschaikowsky, "Prelude" by Pierne, written in the toccata or "touch piece" style, and "Romance" by Rubinstein. At 10 30 tomorrow morning, he will preside at a composition forum in the recital hall. Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, there will be an organization luncheon of "Florida Composers' League" at the Cheraw hotel with Dean Karl O Kuerstainer presiding.

At 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, there will be an initiation of Phi Chapter, Pi Kappa Lambda members of the national honorary society in music in the Student Alumnae building.

The very last event of Music Week will be a dinner honoring new members of Phi Chapter, Pi Kappa Lambda in the college dining hall at 6 o'clock tomorrow night. Miss Ella S Opperman, dean emeritus, will preside, and Dr William D Dodd, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences, will be guest speaker.

The Grand Canyon is more than 200 miles long, 13 miles wide, and a mile in depth from the brink of the canyon to the river bed.

Honorary Initiates; 7 Students Taken In

Party Honors 34 Students, Tea Held in Garden

Spring initiation of Pi chapter of Omicron Nu was held Thursday evening, May 3, in the clubroom of the Student Alumnae building.

The decorations of spring flowers and the romance presented in the new initiates were in pink and lavendar, the colors of the society.

At the conclusion of the initiation ceremony, Miss Margaret Sandels, dean of the school of home economics, spoke to the new members.

After Dean Sandel's speech an informal social hour was held at which coffee and decorated cake squares were served. Mrs Ruth Perryman and Mrs Elouse Goulding were in charge of the social arrangements.

The two juniors who were initiated are Margaret Dureer and Carolyn Plewellen and the senior initiates are Eleanor Boyles, Margaret Fisher, Josephine Maniaci Mrs Ruth Perry, and Mrs Dorothy Jinks Parker.

Omicron Nu Scholarship Tea Members of Omicron Nu, home economics honorary society, honored the 34 home economics majors whose average last semester was B or above with the society's annual scholarship tea which was held in the garden of Miss Helen Richey last Monday afternoon.

Upon arrival the new initiates were given pins and tender nosegays of spring flowers. Miss Edna Mae McIntosh presided at the punch table where fruit punch and cookies were served. She and Miss Ellen Wright were in charge of the refreshments.

The outside guests at the tea included Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Mrs Thelma Flannagan, Miss Boletha Propst, Miss Helen Case, Mrs Edris Butler Mrs Edna Mae Williams, Miss Dorothy Leahy, Miss Ina Van Stan and Mrs Ida Van Stan.

The 34 honorees were Muriel Beck, Eleanor Boyles, Margaret Dureer, Margaret Fisher, Mary Honey, Mary Jeles, Dorothy Jinks Parker, Jocelyn Zeesler Esther Dale, Grace Ward Ann Parker, Juanita Ault, Jean Bennett, Imogene Boyette, Helen Cappleman, Dora Debois, Irma Hammond, Elizabeth Harper Helen Hasley, Mary Ann Herring Josephine Parker, Audie Ramper Lestrice Joy Smith, Lorna Lucille Story, and Sara Wainwright.

In the immediate postwar period, Americans ate an average of 19 pounds of candy a year.

Packing Boxes Are Objects of Search As Vacation Nears

Heavy twine and card board boxes are becoming very precious articles on the campus. With less than one week left of this year's college session, students are becoming more and more conscious of the summer holidays, and with this vacation-wise attitude they are learning to pack up bulky belongings to be expressed or mailed home. Every day the college post office is faced with large, som-times not too neatly wrapped, packages which foreseeably stand in line for hours.

Hermes, the messenger of the Gods, comes in and guarantees that Persephone will be brought back, the length of her stay depending on what she has eaten in the underworld. She has eaten six pomegranate seeds so she can live on earth only six months.

On Persephone's return there is great rejoicing, and Demeter chooses an emissary from this world of mortals to have everlasting spring, so went the plot of 1938.

ing students are mailing home—many times collect.

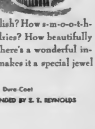
Contrary to earlier announcements, the Book Store has not been able to obtain the moth proof boxes for summer storage that they have sold to students in previous years. For this reason the managers of the Sweet Shop, Spick and Span, and Soda Shop are being approached frequently, manager of the Spick and Span "In the last few days, as many as 25 or 30 girls have asked me for boxes suitable for mailing."

Students Pressed to Find New Ways to Present May Festival

The students of Florida State College have tried each year to think of some original way of presenting the May Festival.

In 1938 the students went to their humanities course for a theme. They emerged with the story of Persephone. Persephone, the daughter of Demeter, the Goddess of Grain, is kidnapped by the King of the Underworld. Demeter is so angry and grief stricken at the loss of her daughter that she orders all things to die.

In 1934 with a little tampering with history produced a monumental Queen for Alsace-Lorraine. She is buried with his and offers a huge reward to anyone who can amuse her. Everyone in her Kingdom tries but in little avail. While the people are vainly trying to interest the Queen a young girl rushes in pursued by a beast. The beast is killed by the soldiers, and the dancers for the Queen. She is so talented that the Queen gives her the reward.



In 1941 a tale of Nature was told in which Mother Earth sends heralds to all corners of the earth and the heavens to search for the world of mortals that have everlasting spring, so went the plot of 1938.

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"A TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN"
Sunday and Monday
"THUNDERHEAD"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"SEA CAPTAIN'S SWEETIES"
Thursday thru Friday
"A SONG TO REMEMBER"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"SERGEANT MIKE"
—and—
"ROCKIN' IN THE ROCKIES"
Sunday and Monday
"DEAD MAN'S EYES"
—and—
"LEAVE IT TO BLONDIE"
Tuesday Only
STAGE SHOW
and on the screen
"LEAVE IT TO THE IRISH"
Wednesday and Thursday
"HERE COMES THE WAVES"
—and—
"None But the Lonely Heart"

Tonight Only
"Hearts Were Young and Gay"
—and—
"STORM OVER LISBON"
Saturday Only
"OUTLAW TRAIL"
Sunday and Monday
"CAN'T HELP SING"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"DARK MOUNTAIN"
—and—
"STEP LIVELY"
Thursday and Friday
"MARINE RAIDERS"
—and—
"UP IN MABEL'S ROOM"

Keep DURA-GLOSS always "on hand" says Cupid

Have you discovered Dura-Gloss Nail Polish? How s-m-o-o-t-h-l-y and easily it flows on? How fast it dries? How beautifully it brings out your whole personality? There's a wonderful ingredient in it called "Chrystallyne" that makes it a special jewel among nail polishes. 10¢, plus tax.

Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Dura-Coat
LOIS LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

BUY
from individuals alone
in the 7th WAR LOAN
that's why
it's the Peoples' Loan!
—HERE'S WHAT UNCLE SAM WANTS YOU TO DO:—
Select your individual quota in the 7th War Loan according to your income—then meet it!

If your average income per month is:	Your War Bond Quota in the 7th is: (CASH VALUE)
$250 & up	$187.50
225-250	150.00
210-225	131.25
200-210	112.50
180-200	93.75
140-180	75.00
100-140	37.50
Under $100	18.75

Let your dollars join the fight in the MIGHTY SEVENTH WAR LOAN!

ALL OUT FOR THE MIGHTY SEVENTH!
This is an official U. S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under the auspices of Treasury Department and War Advertising Council

Cuts Are Out

The Florida Flambeau

Quarters Are In

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Z 108

Tallahassee, Florida

OCTOBER 12, 1945

VOL. XXXIII, No. 1

Enrollment Approaches 2500 As Registration Continues; Campus Buildings Crowded

Post-War Plans Involve Two Questions Including Sufficient Building Space, Expansion Of Educational Program

The highest enrollment ever to be reached in the history of Florida State college is fast approaching the 2500 mark. The total registration at this time numbers 2,411 students, but all students have not completed registration procedures as yet, reported Dr Doak S Campbell, president of the college.

The increased enrollment has necessitated the addition of two off-campus houses, the "Lodge," and a new floor in Reynolds hall.

Last year's survey of women's state-owned colleges place FSC as the second largest in the country. With the increased enrollment, although registration figures from other colleges are not available, it is believed that FSC has maintained its former rank and possibly has jumped to first place over Texas State College for Women.

Dr Campbell faced the enlarged campus population with optimism that expansion plans long delayed by the war may soon be put into effect. "Post-war plans for the state institutions are under consideration" said the president. "They are the developing of a shortage and sufficient building for the student population who normally attend the colleges and the expansion of the college's educational program to meet the anticipated needs of young women high school graduates from secondary schools."

According to information received from Miss Mildred Horton, director of residence, two new off-campus houses have been leased. The Lodge, Lana house, Cockrell house, and Van Brunt house make up "The Village" where a new floor has been made from storage space in the top of Reynolds. She also stated that although 37 girls were housed at the school's camp but the last they were sent home within a week after their arrival.

The two new off-campus houses are Hutchinson house and Fisher house. Hutchinson house, located at Jefferson and Gaines streets, accommodates 14 girls and has as its house mother Mrs M B Brown. Fisher house located at Macomb and Pensacola streets, accommodates 18 girls and has as its house mother Mrs F H Hyatt.

"The Village," which is now organized as a sorority has its own office with its staff headed by

Continued on Page Two

Memoirs of Conradi Are Now Published

The memoirs of Dr Edward Conradi, president emeritus and professor of Florida State College from 1909 until his death last December, has just been published by the Alumnae association of FSC.

A forward and biographical sketch by President Doak S Campbell, a tribute by Dr W H Roberts, a memorial by Dean Emeritus William G Dodd, and an FSC faculty resolution upon Dr Conradi's death are included in the publication.

The memoirs consist of nine chapters: Election as President, Association with Florida Education, Accumulation of Land, Beautifying the Campus, Building Permanent Distinctive Incidents, Reconstitution of the College, Relations with the Students, and Retirement as President.

Dr Conradi completed the writing of his memoirs shortly before his death. He wrote them upon the request of the Alumnae Council, alumnae, and other friends who urged him to write of his 32 year term as president of FSC.

History Professors Publish Reviews

Dr Vernia L Shores and Dr Robert Spencer Cotterill, both professors of history at Florida State college, had book reviews of Florida During the Territorial Days by Herbert W Martin published during the summer.

Mississippi Valley Historical Review carried Dr Cotterill's review and the Journal of Southern History had Dr Chauncey's.

According to the context of the reviews, the book honors the centennial of Florida's admission as the 28th state in the union. They mention that it is probably an outgrowth of the author's doctoral thesis.

As presented by the reviews, the book relates the problems and progress of Florida from its admission by the United States until its admission to the union in 1845.

Correspondent Lectures To FSC Students

Vincent Sheean, Author, Journalist, Speaks On Personal Opinion

Russian - American Relations Subject Of Speech

Vincent Sheean, international war correspondent and author, presented a lecture on the subject "Personal Opinion" in the college auditorium on Tuesday evening. The lecture was followed by a question and discussion period.

In elaborating his theme, Personal Opinion, Mr Sheean presented a summary of, and his views on, world situations in general and on American-Russian relations in particular.

He first outlined the causes and factors of the first World War, the attempt at creating world peace that followed, and termed World War II a direct result and a continuation of that war.

"On the eve of interrupting a new peace", said Mr Sheean, "let us look to the legacies of the last war." He named the Versailles Treaty, Wilson's Forteen Points, and the League of Nations, "Russia's sole position," to which he sacrificed many of the ideals embodied in the Forteen Points.

One of the causes of the present war, Mr Sheean stated, was the fact that the United States withdrew completely from the European scene after the failure of the League of Nations, thus leaving Europe to the dominance

Continued on Page Four

102 Glee Club Girls Begin Rehearsals

Hedgeoth Heads Songsters For Coming Year

One hundred and six glee club members, the largest group in the past, are practicing last Wednesday evening for their Thanksgiving broadcast which will mark the first appearance of the group this year.

New officers for the year are: Renee Hedgeoth, president; Joyce Parker, secretary-treasurer; and Priscilla Clarke, secretary-treasurer and librarian.

First sopranos are: Juanita Alderman, Dorothy Taylor; Sarah Brannester; Marsha McCormick; Bettie Bess Pryor; Betty Glover; Betty Houlihan; Margie Pussel; Jeannelle Brown; Dixie Kennedy; Patricia Dickinson; Nancy Lee Wheeler; Christina Blasini; Madge Finney; and Dolores Clark.

First altos are: Mary Pat Wasden; Phyllis De Kalb; Mary Russell; Billie Bagley; Dorothy Hewitt; Ann Smith; Beth Gardner; Betty Ann Townsend; Barbara Vaughn; Annie Stringfellow; and Jeanne Hampton.

Second soprano are: Helen McCann; Margaret Smith; Kinsey Kinsey; Jean Lynch King; Virginia Dee Garry; Virginia Gallemore; Betty Jo Hall; Jeanne Mitchell; Marjorie Headley; Hazel Clarkson; Ruth Deupree; Annalee Wyatt; Ethel Chyna; Lois Hyde; Cynthia Merrin; and Virginia Hall.

Second altos are: Margaret Wooten; Constance Bradley; Mary Ann Whitfield Robson; Martha Weatherly.

Amazing Quantities of Food Used Daily To Keep FSC's Hungry Horde Well Fed

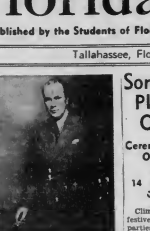
The serving of an average of 6530 meals is the task which faces our head dietitian, Miss Ruth Tracy, upon arising each morning. Miss Tracy states that she five years ago would have hardly believed that she would be responsible for her gin class attendance. Nevertheless, however, will be excluded from this plan until their third quarter.

Old "Cut" System

The old "cut" system, which required a certain number of absences, has been in effect during many members of the faculty, according to the administration, and a new system has been appointed a committee, of which Miss Katherine Stone is chairman, to study the "cut" system and report their findings to the faculty.

The committee stated that since students felt they must use up their cuts, that the committee felt class time than was actually necessary. The system that was recommended by the committee and approved unanimously by the faculty is explained in the statement of President Campbell which has been sent to the parents of FSC students.

In his letter Dr Campbell stated that the "cuts" now allowed the students were originally intended to take care of special cases or conditions when students are



Continued on Page Three

Distaff Sponsors Freshman Contest

The traditional freshmen contest sponsored annually by the Distaff is now open for contributions. All freshmen are urged to participate in writing poetry, short stories and articles on any subject. The deadline for entries is November 1. The winning contribution will be published in the first issue of the Distaff which is scheduled to appear on December 1. The winners of the contest will be invited to join the staff.

Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff for this year, said she hopes that the contest will encounter contributions in any form from students that will be their main way of recruiting new talent.

"The theme of the first issue in the Distaff will be Christmas" she "will be Post War planning." It is the desire of the staff that every student may submit material on any phase of this theme. However, any form of literature will be accepted. Poetry is especially requested. The deadline for entries is also November 1.

Vincent Sheean, noted author and foreign correspondent, lectured here October 5 on "Personal Opinions."

Artist Series Opens Season With Soprano

Marjorie Lawrence Sings Gotterdamerung Aria

The final scene from Gotterdamerung was the featured number on Marjorie Lawrence's concert of October 8, which was the first event of the "A" Artist Series for this year. Miss Lawrence used this number in all her concerts to the army of occupation in Germany because it was she said, one of the favorites of the soldiers.

The singer, a dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, is a native of Australia, and made her debut in New York 10 years ago after studying in Melbourne, Australia and Paris, France.

In spite of continued effects from infantile paralysis, she has made several tours for the armed forces, the last of which from Dupre six weeks ago and the FSC concert was her first for the fall season.

As a special request at FSC Miss Lawrence sang Waltzing Matilda a folk song of her native country. Another final ethore she asked that the audience join her in the Star-Spangled Banner.

Barrows to Return To FSC This Year

Major William M Barrows, Jr, associate professor of physics and curator of the Florida museum of natural history, is expected to return to the Florida State College campus this year after a leave of absence since 1942 years during which he served in the Army.

Major Barrows was on his way home from Europe when he was assigned as the physics professor at the Army University which has been established at Biarritz France, a seaside resort town.

He served as a reserve officer in the Army and volunteered for service before the war and was made the professor of military science in the ROTC at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. After specializing in artillery and ballistics, Barrows was then given a nation-wide assignment in the army ordnance, a group of experts in his charge. They toured the country as a consultant service to keep the artillery in action. Following this assignment he was sent aboard where he saw service in Ireland, England, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Germany. He was appointed as liaison officer in the Battle of the Bulge. He has had a very distinguished career after the war ended with three American generals, General Patton, General Simpson, and General Hodges.

Orchestra Prepares January Concert

The orchestra, under the direction of Professor W B Cowles will begin the year by working on a concert to be given in January. The exact date will be disclosed at a later date.

There are members of the 1945-46 year orchestra of Florida State College: Sidney Conner, saxophone; Mary Sue Bennett, flute; Geraldine Farnsworth, bassoon; Rosalind Rogers, violin; Marion Sparjarian, violin; Rachel Crobwell, violin; Annabelle Redwine, violin; Virginia Allen, violin; Sarah Smith, violin; Jo Little, violin; Marilyn Dewey, cello; Joyce Dunke, violin; Shirley Pelaiz, violin; Marie Ford, cello; Mary Du Pree, flute; Betty Jean Allen, trumpet; Elisabeth Futch, trumpet; Gladys Smith, cello; Sara Jane Hemmings, violin; Lillian White, violin; Mary Ann [illegible], violin; [illegible] Joyce Curth, flute; Gladys White, violin.

Sororities Pledge Total Of 222 Girls

Ceremonies Climax Week Of Festive Parties And Luncheons

14 Greek-Lettered S-ials Observe Rush Week

Climaxing a week crowded with festive luncheons suppers, and parties the 14 campus sororities pledged a total of 222 girls.

To Alpha Chi Omega: Dorothy Sara Curry, Lucile Claire Harris, Carter, Joyce Carter, Virginia Creehan Virginia Dee Garry, Ruth Halladay, Mary Hart, Judy Rhodes, Betty Bawes, Charlotte Sisson, Pat Harrison, Betty Wilis, Betty Jane Wright, and Nancy Wood.

To Alpha Delta Pi: Betty Jean Bartlett, Carrie Kate Boynton, Sara Curry, Lois Claire Harris, Betty Johnson, Marion Johnson, Mary Catherine Klutts, Gloria Ruth Lindsey Lyon, Elisabeth Milton, Idella Parker, Bobbie Lee Rice, Ann Richardson, Dee Simon, Shirley Stephens, Ann Stinson, Frances Wesem.

To Alpha Gamma Delta: Anne Butler, Clara Jane Carroll, Kathleen Corry, Lois Dorothy Crosby Dot Galbraith, Allice Miller, Marion Rogers, Ann Sweet, Mary Jane Shirley, Jesse Spratt, Frances Stockridge, Margaret Thompson, Jean Turbeville, Violet Walters, Mary Pat Warner.

To Alpha Xi Delta: Kathleen

Continued on Page Four

'Y' Sponsors Drive For New Members

Recognition Service to Be Held Thursday in Wescott

The Young Women's Christian Association of Florida State College is conducting a membership drive through tomorrow, Saturday, October 13, in the lower Westcott since Thursday in order to give all students an opportunity to join.

The YWCA is an active, international, interracial, and interdenominational group. Membership is open to all who accept its purpose to unite in the desire to build among a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God; to determine to live in part it make into life possible for all people, and to understand Jesus and to follow him.

Those who wish to participate in YWCA fellowship but cannot subscribe to its purpose, or those who subscribe to its purpose but cannot participate in its activities may become affiliate members with voting privileges.

The recognition service for new members will be held Thursday at 6:30 p m in the Westcott living room. All girls are requested to be present.

The majority of the work is to be headed by Betty Ruth Goode, chairman of the YWCA membership committee; Doris Hill creative activities; Betty Dowd and Betty M Lee, social activities; Jane Hewlett, community service, and Marris Dyer, publicity.

The YWCA room, on the second floor of the Student Alumnae building, is open at all times. Books and pamphlets are placed there for the students' information. A radio-victrola in the room every afternoon from 5 to 6. Monday through Friday

Miss Lucile Wagner To Present Recital

Miss Lucile Wagner, pianist and member of the music department, will give a recital in the college auditorium this evening at 8:15.

Miss Wagner, who came to this college last year from a position at Iowa State Teacher's College, has been prominent in music circles. She was winner of the semi-finals of a contest sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs. At the national contest sponsored by the Music Teachers' National Association she was winner of the American composition, which was Carl Preyor. She has also done professional work, as accompanist for the Tallahassee Symphony and gave a recital at this college last year, on the evening of November 8.

The program will be as follows: Ballet Gluck-Prescott; Rondo in A minor Mozart; Hark, Hark, the Lark, Liszt; Sonata in B-flat minor, Op 35, Chopin: Concert Etude, Carl Preyor; Hudson River Sketches, Carl Preyor; "Thousand and One Nights" Waltz, Strauss-Preyor.

Attention, Seniors

The last time to order caps and gowns will be Saturday morning, October 13, from 8-12 in the Day Students' Lounge of the Student-Alumnae building. Bring $9.80 for cap, gown, and informal collar. Please do not bring checks. Formal collars, if not already ordered, must be ordered at once from the seamstress in Reynolds laundry room. As the date of Investiture has been changed October 15, from October 13, this must be attended to as soon as possible.

Changes Made In Handbook

Social, Academic, Health Revisions in Effect

The 1945-46 Gold Book has undergone a number of revisions due to the changeover from a semester to a trimester system. Social and academic procedure along with health conditions and rules have been affected by this change. A summary of the major changes that the standing regulations has also been added.

Freshmen are recommended that sophomores be allowed four weekends per quarter. Freshmen will be permitted to attend only the first six weeks of the first quarter. Then they will receive one in the first quarter, and three every quarter thereafter.

The requirement of an introduction of dates to residence counselors, except for freshmen during their first and second quarter in residence has been eliminated. Freshmen cabin not-of-town shopping trips with young men must return by the eighth hour, 7:30 p m.

House meetings shall be called for the hour immediately following dinner and only this hour will be closed to social activities in contrast to last year's rule which

Continued on Page Two

Spirigira Sponsored Book of Oddiquette Issued to Freshmen

A "Book of Oddiquette, delightfully retro to the Odd class of '49 from whom are expected great things," sponsored by the Odd Democratic Spirigira, was issued to all freshmen at Florida State College. This book explains Odd sportsmanship and traditions, as well as the honorary.

"Personalities" listed in the handbook include Francis Myers, president of the junior class; Alice North American Indian relic from the Heye Foundation in New York City in exchange for a few pieces from the FSC collection.

The art treasures, selected by Dr Bellamy as representative of every section of the Old World, in connection with the Carter Collection of Peruvian relics presented to the college by Mrs Carter, are the nucleus for a Western Hemisphere art center at FSC.

The new museum pieces will arrive in several shipments and the present plan is to make a special exhibit of each shipment when it arrives. Public announcement of such exhibits will be made at a later date.

Sydney Carter and who designed and arranged a museum room on the fourth floor of the Student Alumnae building, but returned as full-time director this year.

Book for Children Written By DeWitt, Illustrated By Kirn to Be Published

"Old Caboose," a picture story for children written by Mrs DeWitt and illustrated by Ann Kirn, has just been published and will be on sale in the store by the month. Mrs DeWitt graduated from Florida State College for Women with an A.B. in journalism. Miss Kirn is an instructor in art at the college. The story is a picture book that has a chance for a last trip across country before its retirement to the junk yard. The drawings in black, white and red are on each page. Gilbert Hale Book Company is the publisher of this book.

"Old Caboose" is Mrs DeWitt's first book. She is Miss Kirn's second. She illustrated "Pinky Pye" written by Elizabeth Graham and is now drawing for another of the Pinky Marie series.

Mrs DeWitt the former Evelyn Driver was editor-in-chief of The Flambeau in 1938. After graduation she worked in Washington on the Nation and Observer a news weekly published for schools all over the country. In 1941, Mrs DeWitt returned to Florida to take a job with the State Welfare Board. In 1943 she married Robert L DeWitt. After he went overseas she joined the department in the FSC Nursery school. It was then that she began to work seriously on the "Old Caboose" a year ago she resigned her position to become supervisor of the State Welfare Board.

Miss Kirn who received her art training at the St Louis School of Fine Arts the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, and Columbia University joined the faculty here last year. She designed, through her class in stage craft, the costumes for college play productions. Miss Kirn was also a member of the crafts committee of the Creative Arts group, and, as a part of this program, discussed silk screen painting at an exhibit. She spent the summer of 1943 in Taxco, Mexico, studying clay craft.

Mrs DeWitt and Miss Kirn plan to collaborate on other children's stories.

Thirty-Five New Appointees Added to FSC Teaching Staff; Further Increase Is Pending

Six Members Resume Duties After Absences; Nine Alumnae Among New Faculty; Dietitians And Counselors Included

With the addition of 35 new appointees the number of faculty members at Florida State College this year has increased to a high of 221. Moreover, other late appointments are pending approval by the State Board of Control.

The new faculty appointed members, among which are nine FSC alumnae, include two professors, one associate professor, seventeen instructors, four Demonstration School faculty members, four counselors and three dietitians. Also added to the teaching staff this year are six members who have returned after leaves of absence.

New Members

Dr Claude R Flory professor of English, occupies the position left vacant when Dr Guy L Diffenbaugh was made dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He is now beginning to examine the changes that shift in the academic calendar has brought about.

Among primary reasons for the change is to permit student schedules to include two classes of more hours per class college authorities recently stated. Moreover, the quarter session is now of approximately the same length as a quarter of a regular school, whereas it was previously almost two months shorter than a semester.

The basis for class rankins has been altered this year. Mildred, Ky. where she headed that department. Her assistant will be include Miss Ruby Elizabeth Brown, psychology; Miss Mary Wood, history; Miss Mary Evelyn Bowman; Dr George R Monks, botany, and Mr James A Pyne, English.

FSC Alumnae

Among FSC alumnae who are returning as faculty members is Miss Charlotte Cooper of Bradenton, who replaces Miss Sarah Ritchcolk Screabin as instructor in instrumental music and assistant to the band director. For the past two years Miss Cooper has been director of the Bradenton Junior High School in St Petersburg. With further study at the University of Florida to her credit, Miss Edna Mae Howard has been appointed assistant instructor in economics. She also had several years experience in business and teaching since her graduation from FSC in 1943.

Also members of the class of 1945 who have recently been added to the staff are Miss Bonnie Kimble, instructor in physics, and Miss

Continued on Page Three

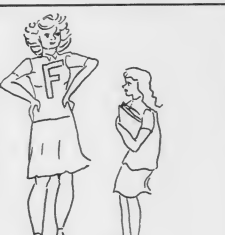
Elections Are Held In First Convocation

Elections for the editor of the Flambeau and the freshman representatives to judiciary were held at the first convocation of the year yesterday. Postponed a hundred the afternoon session while the first convocation was designed for upperclassmen only.

Janet Rogers, who was unopposed for the newly-elected editor of the Flambeau, replacing Judy Pepper. Elaine Bowles and Jeanne Hampton were elected Collins and Betty Ann Shiver, serving as freshman representatives to judiciary as Dot Jean Glass and Ruth Dismore are no longer on campus.

The presentation of "F's" was conducted by Jo Guthrie. These include Jane Bennett, Harriet Kirk, Audrey Evans, Cora Lee Wells, Ann McKinnis, Lois Byrd, Helen Perry Mackey, Charlotte Bouland, Nita Bolles, Joy Little Eugenia Rooth, Sis Myers, Ruth Hill and Marinell Graham.

A series of announcements and group singing concluded the convocation.



Annual Pictures

Members of the junior class may make appointments to have class pictures made for the '48 Flastacovo from 9 a m until 12 noon on Monday and Monday in lower Westcott. The price for having the picture made will be $2 00

Adam Studio, located on Jefferson St. one block south of the Sweet Shoppe, will begin taking the first pictures next Wednesday, and Margaret Baush, editor, urges all juniors to make appointments immediately in order to get production underway.

Appointment times for all other classes will be announced later.

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

DOES THAT STAND FOR FLAMBEAU?

Honor

Editor's Note: This is a guest editorial by Rosetta Carver, Chairman of the Honor Committee.

Honor is a personal quality and the effectiveness of our Honor Code can come only through the united efforts of all students. The Honor Code on this campus was established a number of years ago when women's colleges were still considered "younger sisters" in educational circles, and it still was an established fact that young girls with advanced schooling ideas must be told the "hows" and "whens" for everything they did or thought. They could not trust the responsibilities with which a college man was entrusted. Girls just could not manage their own affairs. And then, with time, college women began doing things for themselves. Student senates, social councils, student courts and finally, student honor codes.

Of these progressive steps in community-living on a woman's campus, the honor code is the only system are the most recent. There are still girls' schools that will not accept them, and still actually lock their gates at dusk and require student offenders to appear before black-robed "courts" for "trial."

FSC has its very own honor code established by students who believed in the personal integrity of every member of the college community. Although our code was worked out by our College Government Association, a cooperative government made up of students and faculty, the impetus for establishing an honor code came from the students, students who loved and cherished their college and who believed that the reputation and honor of the college had been entrusted to them. These students talked with other students and with their faculty, and after some time the Honor Code was established on these principles: (1) When a student registers in this college, she pledges herself to maintain a spirit of honor. (2) A student pledges herself to give or receive no aid on examinations or any class work, or to use any materials unauthorized by her instructor. (3) A student willingly obeys residence and social regulations. (4) A student is honorable in all her personal relations, for as a college woman, she looks upon lying, cheating, and stealing as the most base of all infringements of the Honor Code. (5) A student pledges herself to instruct any fellow student who may unintentionally be violating the Code, and to warn any students whom she sees knowingly violating the Code, and if the student continues to transgress, in fairness to herself and to her classmates, to report the violation to student judiciary.

This is the Honor Code, one of the most cherished traditions of our campus, and if you are a college woman, whom we define as a young lady who has reached maturity with a maximum of discretion, you will live by it.

For Freshmen

Upperclassmen come and upperclassmen go, but there's one thing Florida State college is always sure of having: freshmen, and a lot of them. Crowding the halls, the post office, and all other places on campus and downtown are the girls who are just beginning the long grind toward 1949.

It is obvious that all concerned are very much interested in their welfare. Tests, lectures, orientation tours, sorority functions have been the order of the past weeks. They have become acquainted with various campus traditions and institutions, such as Senior Hall, Torch Night, Sophomore Council and they have seen Eatonen members in green and Spirogyra girls in black to emphasize the Odd-Even tradition tha tprevails on campus. Student officers and members of Senate and Judiciary are not unfamiliar to them, and most of all they have attended classes.

All of which has given the impression of bigness and importance to college and brings up the question of how one becomes a good student and an outstanding person here at FSC. Memories of past activities in their respective high school are still vivid, but they wonder how that could mean much here in a place so large.

Unfortunately each girl's potentialities are not immediately recognized when she gets here, but there is a complicated process which is the result of which results in the end.

Freshmen may learn the procedure of student government by attending Senate meetings, talking to the student representatives, CGA officers, and by reading the CGA constitution found in the handbook.

Student forums, class discussions, and lectures all help to give the student a picture of campus life here and at other colleges. Our professors, too, contrary to joking opinions, have invaluable ideas to offer us if we will only take advantage of them.

Articles and books about regional, national, and international problems and governments may be obtained from the library. This type of information can easily be compared and contrasted with smaller problems of the same nature here on campus.

There is no scarcity of information, but there is a danger that goes with it. That is, becoming confused and depending solely upon the opinions of others in making our decisions and drawing our own conclusions. FSC does not claim to have an infallible college government nor the complete answer to perfect social behavior. Growth and perfection come only through changes that meet the demands of a changing world of which all of us are important parts.

In the opinion of many great educators, the main function of education is to give the student a questioning mind. No student should allow the opinions of others to dominate her mind entirely, nor should mere color words and generalities be capable of swaying her.

Thinking clearly and forming our own ideas after carefully studying pertinent facts is the answer to success and knowledge here at college, just as it is after college.

From Boudoir to Laundry

Because of the factless chatter which has been circulating through campus circles since this college session has begun, we thought it wise to "get the facts" in regard to our over-crowded conditions.

Since the beginning of the overcrowded situation has been much more noticeable because of varying reasons including many parents having more money to spend on their children's education, young men being taken care of by government means, and a general trend of more emphasis being placed on the educating of women. The adoption of the selective service law has been studied, worked out, put into practice. Even with this inflow of college population outweighing the college facilities as they stand, the college has yet to refuse an applicant who desires to attend this institution. Students are advised that temporary conditions must be accepted until conditions permit them to get permanently settled; nevertheless, she has the opportunity to attend if she so desires.

There has been a limitation of applicants, however, since 1944; out-of-state girls who have never before enrolled at FSC may not study here, although upperclassmen who are residents of other states may continue their studies on this campus. The limitation is necessary primarily for the State girls preference, which is only fair in a State school.

We have heard about the living conditions on campus, if not witnessed them ourselves. Of course they are not the most luxurious quarters one might expect, but when we consider the war's effect on building privileges, WPB operations, and Tallahassee's housing shortage, which in college we must realize that conditions such as ours must exist— at least until we have the opportunity to build FSC up to equal her population.

This will be accomplished by next fall if blue prints go according to plan. Additional space will no longer permit us to "let student in" on these plans at the moment, but not too far distant we will see careful planning in action on campus. In addition to living conditions being strained, housing classes have also been taxed to the maximum. The enlargement of the library building will help to relieve this inadequacy, but in time other additions will be constructed.

As a rule colleges use between 25 and 40 per cent of classroom space, but FSC has an astounding record; by intricately working out a schedule whereby at times we utilize between 80 and 90 per cent of our classrooms.

Although some people don't realize it, this college will proudly present a boast: 2,000 students in a reasonable length of time. Women have set the precedent that they ARE useful for other things besides washing dishes and will be gaining more and more precedent to employ for successful business careers. We are just beginning to make a name for our self; in making this name we certainly do not have time to gripe about petty, temporary, crowded conditions.

Not a Sword, but Peace

The smoke of four years of war is clearing. The battles and campaigns which were once headline news are fading into the pages of history. But the whole war is not yet won. In the days to come we will meet the enemy across the peace table in perhaps the greatest battle of them all.

Nor will this be a battle free from complications. There is no peacetime substitute for the cooperation which with some exceptions exists during war. Peacetime patriotism does not subdue self-interest to the extent that wartime patriotism did, nor does it carry with it the burning enthusiasm for noble ideas nobly expressed. When the fighting is over, victors begin to squabble over special advantages or, as in the case of some Americans, revert to isolationism. Men become more human and less noble, more greedy and less reasonable. The threat to the world is not now war or enemy invasion, but a lack of concerted effort to end all wars.

Only by the most determined effort to give way to discouragement or disillusionment, or to shrug off hard problems that must be solved. The war which has left America virtually undamaged leaves it with a special obligation in the struggle for peace. Europe has gazed too long at the military map and lowered too low its periscope to think straight now or to look ahead. Russia is powerful but has suffered loss and suspicion; England is exhausted and France convalescent. China is large, but disunited and embryonic in international affairs.

In a hungry and threadbare world we are well nourished; in a broken world we are merely worn. America stands as the logical leader, a comparatively disinterested participant in the struggle for a just and lasting peace. The time has come for us to summon our reserves of sanity, courage, and patience and use them to make peace as wholly as we used our production power to make war.

This is our chance to slough off old conceptions and make political settlements that have some reason relation to economic realities. This is our chance to key our social, political and economic thinking to the age of scientific thinking that produced the atomic bomb.

In This Our Time

By Gloria Reed

Military Trainee

General George C Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, who warned that an unarmed America will "court disaster" Monday evening, called for universal peacetime military training as the best way United States can an an emergency mobilize 4,000,000 trained fighting men.

In his biennial report he said that World War III—if it comes—will strike with lightning speed and loose such destruction as the world has never known.

Declaring that the United States barely "squeezed through" to victory, he called for:

1. Military training to provide a citizen army which could mobilize 4,000,000 fighting men in a year;

2. An intensive program of scientific research to assure that the fighting force would be well-equipped;

3 Drafting a plan for the rapid mobilization of industry from peace to war

Atomic Bomb

President Truman, after declaring this last week that he would seek bilateral agreements to outlaw the use of the atomic bomb, Monday said that the secrets of atomic energy will not be shared with "additional nations." These secrets, he stated, are industrial "known only to since other nations have access to the scientific knowledge that is back of such weapons development. The President also asserted that he felt certain Canada and Great Britain will agree that these secrets will not be shared.

Big Three Meeting

The council of foreign ministers in London ended in apparent failure Monday when Secretary Byrnes stood by his decision that all nations which fought the Axis in Europe should be given a seat in on the European peace settlement, particularly the Balkan settlement, under the leadership of the Big Three against Stalin's stand that according to the Potsdam agreement only the Big Three ought to formulate such a settlement, thus excluding France and China.

Japanese Cabinet Shake-Up

Baron Shidehara, a well-known Japanese liberal, became premier of the new Japanese cabinet and forthwith disbanded and dissolved secret police The preceeding government collapsed because it had failed to carry out MacArthur's orders to release political prisoners and abolish the secret police.

Strikes

Strikes continued last week in the bituminous coal, telephone, New York shipping and oil industries. President Truman, on Thursday evening ordered the Navy to seize and operate 52 strike-bound plants of 26 oil companies because the situation had become so critical that "essential military operations" were already "jeopardized."

However, in the coal strike, back-to-work movements reduced the number away from work, and Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach reported "encouraging" effort to end the soft coal strike brought about by the operators' refusal to recognize a union of foremen and supervisory employees, the United Mine Workers.

Tax Reductions

The House Ways and Means Committee Monday approved the Representative Carlson's (R-Kan) plan to reduce individual income taxes by about $2,500,000,000 in preference of Secretary of Treasury Vinson's plan to reduce them by about $2,085,000,000. Both plans would relieve about 12,061,000 persons who pay no taxes at all, leaving only those who pay income liability.

Sororities Pledge

Continued from Page One

Charles, Judy Courtney, Phillis Daniels, Sally Gardner, Betty Lovett, Ouida Martin, Maude Mims, Vern Rogers.

To Chi Omega: Elizabeth Alexander, Ann Bannerman, Bali Brown, Mary Margaret Davis, Mary Flynn, Virginia Gallemore, Mary Catherine Georgia Jarckel, Bettelle Jones, Ann Cooper Knight, Ann Martin, Ann McCrary, Betty Wood Mitchell, Betty Ann Moore, Joanne Whitehurst, Ann Wingard.

To Delta Delta Delta: Faith Adams, Virginia Allen, Beverly Bacon, Mary Margaret Bell Barton, Jean Furman, Louise Hutchinson, Dorothy Jarckel, Sylvia Meisch, Cynthia Merrin, Barbara Mitchell, Marjorie Norris, Mildred Rhodes, Frances Allison Root, Amanie Semmes.

To Delta Zeta: Dorothy Boring, Sally Bullock, Betty Ann Dees, Jane Hilton, Shirley Huggins, Jo Ann Leonard, Marjorie Lewis, Betty Somery, Barbara Nolan, Ann Oertjen, Betty Jean Phillips, Ellabarn Ann Rose, Rosalie Sanders, Mildred Ann Turner, Carol Wise.

Delta Phi Epsilon: Shirley Arress, Gladys Atlas, Jacqueline Bernstein, Sylvia Hirshfield, Ruth Silverman, Phyllis Paul, Miriam Pinsky, Annette Staky.

To Kappa Alpha Theta: Juanelu Bailey, Betty Banke, Lavanne Barnes, Betty Bonnet, Janet Brown, Betty Jane Cargill, Jean Ann Dell, Mary Lou Melville Ingram, Ruby Granger, Phyllis Hacker, Lou Harris, Kay Harrison, Betty Hutchinson, Barbara Kina, Martha Lainheart, Anne Leach, Helen McCann, Roses Marcoux, Jane Shober, Pauline Tuttle.

To Kappa Delta: Ann Bendict, Mary Elizabeth Conant, Rosemary Fleming, Patty Folsom Roxanne Hartwell, Charlotte Hayes, Betty Herring, Betty Lou Maddox, Dorothy Martin, Jane Mathis, Betty Ann Morrison, Ruth Ellen Olsen, Iris Parsons, Emmala Pate, Nancy Lee Streter, Sara Jane Talkington, Dorothy Taylor, Jean Thomas, Mary Nell Thrower, Frances White.

To Phi Mu: Elizabeth Anderson, Virginia Anthony, Winifred Anthony, Camille Bailen, Margaret Ann Bracker, Jacqueline Bray, Mary Elizabeth Burrell, Patty Ann Carlton, Jacqueline Cooper, Ann Carter, Polly Chazel, Pater Crosby, Pat Dillard, Jeanne Dupree, Shirley Hamilton, Betty Hunt, Jackie Jones, Nancy Letner, Antoinette Minardi, Barbara Miser, Mary Alice Pitts, Esther Rasmussen, Joanne Sewell, Jean Thompson, Katherine Moody, Betty Robbins.

To Pi Phi: Elizabeth Sue Adams, Laura Bentley, Mary Ann Berry, Clare Bliss, Leda Fay Conklin, Hazel Clarkson, Frances Ewart, Joan Giberson, Frances Harris, Jane Hendricks, Betty Seaward, Alice Vaughn Sharpe, Laura Simpson, Jane Lee Stanley, Betty Jane Thompson.

To Sigma Kappa: Carolyn Colter, Margaret Cowart, Rosemary Flanagan, June Grindstaff, Florence Johnson, Mary Jo Jones, Marta Kennedy, Betty McCollum, Barbara Middleton, Jacqueline Pelham, Betty Jean Roberts, Gene Robinson, Dallas Stever.

To Zeta Tau Alpha: Betty Arnold, Ethel Clann, Carol Cochlan, Jackie Cox, Betty Jane Graham, Anita Hebbe, Evelyn Johnson, Marie Moe, Jean Simpson, Jo Simpson, Barbara White, Joyce Williams, Betty Wolfe, Sarah M Woodward.

Enrollment 2,500

Continued from page one

two counselors. Miss Evelyn Brantley and Mrs William E Mansfield. Fifty-six new classrooms and rooms on the new floor of Reynolds. Work is progressing rapidly and several new features are being used in these rooms looking toward the future in new dormitories to be built later.

Scores of plant diseases have appeared for the first time in the air by experts, in airplanes.

Venice, Italy, stands on 117 islands, formed by 150 canals, joined together by 400 bridges.

The Students Speak...

Students of the four classes, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors express differences of opinion, some for, and some against the new quarter system which was inaugurated here at Florida State college last summer. The great majority, however, are still confused about the number of credit hours received during semesters as compared to number of credit gained on the new quarter system.

Mary A Clemons, freshman, feels that the system is completely new to her class, and that they need to be thoroughly orientated on the new system. Many upperclassmen agree that they, too, need a little education on this new complicated arrangement of classes. Mary likes the idea of being able to finish some subjects in two quarters instead of spreading an entire nine months studying the same old thing. However, few freshmen will be bored by attending the same class every day in the week for most of them are taking three and four-hour subjects.

Margaret Ann Blocker, freshman, likes the new plan. She says, "I think that when the school year is divided into quarters it is more satisfactory. We won't have to worry during the Christmas holidays about not having to semester exams. Consiedering each division of work in a three months period is a fine system to my way of thinking It's easier on the memory because we have much shorter periods in which to recall past work."

But Kathleen Bolen, sophomore, disagreed with the freshman viewpoint. She says quite emphatically, "I don't like it! First, there is the little matter of having to shorten three hours instead of the customary two Second, it is much easier to plan one's schedule on the semester system, because it is necessary to carry over into next year some subjects which are offered only two quarters this school year. I am taking two five-hour courses, but I somehow work every night in each. "The faculty says all "should remember we're on the quarter system when handing out such heavy assignments which must be completed in a much shorter period of time."

Roses Marcoux, sophomore, physical education major, dislikes the quarter system because it gives less opportunity for a student to make her letter in the club. Pre-

New School System

Continued from Page One

135 hours and 132 points. These requirements are based on what are approximately one and one-half hours per hour that the average students under the semester system.

Moreover, the number of hours students will be allowed to carry has been increased this year in order to facilitate their progress over. A student with a one point average other than a first quarter freshman may now carry 17½ hours provided she has written permission from her dean. Previously only students with B averages were permitted to carry more than 16½ hours.

With grades appearing three times this year instead of only twice, the "unsatisfactory" reports which customarily appeared in college mailboxes following midterm examinations have been eliminated.

Changes Made

Continued from Page One

stated that the entire evening was considered as a closed time. Consequently, all telephone callers of visits to private hours will no longer be required after the first time.

The rule concerning approval for absence from the dorm itself except for first and second quarter freshmen who must still obtain the necessary permission.

Students returning from overnight absences are required to be in their places of residence before the hours of 7:30 p.m. and 10:30 on light flash. Any student entering her place of residence between the hours of 7:30 and light flash and 7 a m will be subject to the same rule as Senior and Hall committee.

In regard to day trips, it has been announced that freshmen will be allowed no day trips the first two weeks and one day during the second six weeks, and six per quarter thereafter. Senior automatic late permission has been increased in time from 12:30 to 1:00 and the late permission one hour beyond light flash.

Sun bathing will not be permitted on ground level, but only on upper arcades and sun decks.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... JUDY PEPPER
Associate Editor ..... MARY ALEXANDER
Assistant Editors ..... PEGGY KAY, ANNE GAITHER, BETTY WEAVER
News Editor ..... MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY KAY, LIZ THOMPSON

Copy Editor ..... Lelia Rose
Copy Staff ..... Betty Ann Dees
Mary N McFatter
Jeanne Dilman
Virginia Allison
Dolores Papy
Betty Wolfe
Anne Wingard
Lavinia Sullivan
Betty Jean Phillips
Lenore Rose
Student Interviewers ..... Marie Waters
Betty Ann Dees

Asst. Managing Editor ..... Peggy Kay
Asst. Copy Editor ..... Betty Wolfe
Asst. Society Editor ..... Betty Dees
Sports Editor ..... Betty Dees
Florida News Editor ..... Clint Allen
Exchange Editors ..... Miriam Adams
Betty Wolfe
Literary Editor ..... Anne Gaither
Opinion Editors ..... Allen Crum
Betty Weaver
Feature Editor ..... Lenore Rose
Art Editor ..... Lucy Fenton
Asst. Art Editor ..... Gwendolyn Cox

REPORTERS: Eugenia Ahern, Mary Alice Armstrong, Adrian Ash, Jaquelyn Ayers, Barbara Ann Beckman, Jean Bird, Rosalind Blackwell, Betty Bolen, Lee Bolen, Fike, June Chiva, Marjorie Clark, Tiny Clavs, Virginia Cooper, Ann Douglas, Barbara Farrar, Patricia Fisher, Mary Ann Fuller, Betsy Gilbreath, McPherson, Josephine Mcintyre, Mary Lou Norwood, Eileen Perry, Jo Ann Betty Margo Pruitt, Jean Rhodes, Laurel Rosenbloom, Jewell Rose, Rhoda, Marylin Smith, Mary Charlie Skipper, Tami Thomas, Joyce Williamson.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager ..... Mabon Pearson
Advertising Manager ..... Jean Rhodes
Advertising Staff—Marie Betty Strickland, Virginia Sudd, Ada Rewis, Lila Ann Bannerman, Lillian Brown, Betsy Bird.
Circulation Manager ..... Martha Ann
Collector Manager ..... Eleanor Bird

Entered as second class mail matter, January 20, 1913, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority 'Dates' During Rush Week Feature 'Active' Talents, Ingenuity

Now it can be told who were responsible for this year's successful week in each of the sorority houses and what activities were planned to entertain the girls.

Rush Chairman

Barbara Wickham, Alpha Chi Omega; Loulou Sikes, Alpha Delta Pi; Shirley Rodgers and Jane Alpha Gamma Delta; Rose Ann Sherrod, Alpha Xi Delta; Mary Bradford, Chi Omega; Betty Thompson, Delta Delta Delta; Betty Jo Rogers, Gamma Phi Beta; Don Vincent, Delta Sig; B J Singleton, Kappa Alpha Theta; Margaret Miller, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Joanii Gentry, Phi Mu; Jean Monroe, Pi Beta Phi; Clark, Sigma Kappa; Sue Cooper, Zeta Tau.

Hostess and Participants

Alpha Chi Omega: Bubble party during bubble dancers; Pledge party by Betty Hanson and Alpha Chi trio; Jenny Mixers, and banquet and pledge ceremony.

Alpha Delta Pi: Fashion Shows, tea dances, pledge dinner and after game roast.

Alpha Gamma Delta: Esquire party with Bonnie Hunt as mistress of ceremonies; buffet supper.

Alpha Xi Delta: Fashion Shows present "A Date with Kate"; dream dinner party; Historical ceremony; "Passing Parade of Alpha Xi Delta" and pledge music.

Chi Omega: Swindell, played the piano; Immorene Airs, the piano; Ravkins and Billie Kachtaki duet.

Chi Omega: Candlelight ceremony.

Bowery Party

Delta Delta Delta: Bowery party, Delta quintet, Mary Julia; Martha Wile, Chi Omega; Bernette Barnes, Delta Delta Delta; pianer leend.

Delta Phi Epsilon: Coke parties, tea parties, cocktail dinner.

Delta Zeta: Sorority ceremonies.

Kappa Alpha Theta: Skit, "Pass Through the Area"; poems by Betty Hall; solo in the theme of the Theta kite at their dinner in shirley dinner; story "Sorority Sisters" illustrated by Clare Gray, composition by Marianne Swindell; Jinsles in each rushee.

Kappa Delta: White rose ceremony; skits.

Pi Mu Piano solos by Peggy Thompson and Martha Gerber; piano by Frances Myers and Peggy Thompson; readings by Colleen Johnson and Marianne Epps.

Pi Beta Phi: Fashion shows, tea.

Sigma Kappa: Skits and sorority; bridge parties.

Zeta Tau Alpha: Floor shows for silent programs.

Who Ate Out Where, When

At the Three Torches Tea Room Alpha Chi Omera, Sunday dinner; Alpha Delta Pi, Saturday noon; Delta Delta Delta Monday night; Delta Zeta Monday night; Zeta Tau Alpha Sunday night.

At the Cherokee—Alpha Xi Delta Monday night; Chi Omega Sunday noon; Kappa Alpha Theta Sunday night; Phi Mu Sunday night; Sigma Kappa Saturday night.

At the Floridan—Alpha Gamma Delta Monday night; Kappa Delta Sunday night.

Receiving Lines

Alpha Chi Omega: Jane Geerts, president; Mrs J W Harrell, house mother; Mrs Ferguson, patroness; Miss Madge Clayton, patroness; Louise Sims, panhellenic representative.

Alpha Delta Pi: Mary Stallings, president; Mrs S E Barrett, house mother; Jeanne Elwin Thomas, patron; Mrs Ben Willis, alumnae secretary; president; Mrs Frank T Moore, Tallahassee alumna.

Alpha Gamma Delta: Betty Jo McIver, president; Mrs Rosabelle Hiland house mother; Dr Annie Mitchell patroness; Miss Carolyn Bell, Tampa alumna.

Alpha Xi Delta: Mary Cooper Mills, president; Mrs Jeane Turner, house mother; Dr Annie Pottle, faculty advisor; Mrs Nellie Strickler, patroness; Dr and Mrs Paul Pinner, patron and patroness.

Chi Omega: Patty Lou Hill, president; Mrs O S Lanier, house mother; Mrs Frank Miller, alumnae editor; Flo Bartleson, vice-president; Katherine Godfrey, secretary; Bobbie Whidden, treasurer; Dolly Sutton, pledge train-

Delta Delta Delta: Betty Touchton, president; Mrs Wallace House, house mother; Governor and Mrs Millard Caldwell, patron and patroness; Miss Katherine Montgomery Tallahassee alumnae president; Mrs Olive Cross, faculty advisor.

Delta Phi Epsilon: Ester Argintar, president; Mrs W E Murr, house mother; Sylvia Moscowitch, pledge trainer.

Delta Zeta: Kathleen Johnson, president; Mrs T R Crowell, house mother; Dr M H DeGraff, faculty advisor, and Mrs DeGraff; Miss Marguerite Dressler, Tallahassee alumna.

Kappa Alpha Theta: Ann Chillingworth, president; Betty Alday, vice-president; Mrs J F Morgan, house mother; Miss West and Miss Finnegan, alumnae faculty members.

Kappa Delta: Maurine Ashton, president; Mrs Barbara Rasmus, house mother; Miss Florence Tryon, faculty advisor.

Phi Mu: Shells B Smith, president; Dr Cora Moore, faculty advisor; Miss Mary Claybrook, Miss Cab Pappas, and Mrs B T Webb, patronesses; Barbara Irven, secretary; Frances Tharpe, treasurer; Joann Gentry, rush chairman.

Pi Beta Phi: Mrs Esther Ferguson, patroness; Mrs Sadie Young, faculty advisor; Dr and Mrs H Rogers, patron and patroness; Mrs Ivan Munroe, Tallahassee Alumna; Mrs E K Porgan, alumnae member; Jean Monroe, rush chairman; Louise Brown, treasurer.

Sigma Kappa: Donna Bridges, president; Mrs J O Cooper, house mother; Mrs Charlotte Hall, vice-president; Doris Dunaway, second vice-president; Fay Hall, secretary; Mary Douglas Dell, treasurer.

Zeta Tau Alpha: Mrs Whitfred Dodge, house mother; Polly Council, president; Jackie Belcher, vice-president; Mrs Ruth Campbell, faculty advisor.

Entertainment Chairmen

Louise Sims and Margaret Williams, Alpha Chi Omega; Sarah Hutchinson and Betty Kirk, Anne Fielding, Alpha Delta Pi; Kitty Hamilton Sides, Alpha Xi Delta; Betty Dowling and Betty Bishop, Chi Omega; Martha Wile and Rosetta Carver, Delta Delta Delta; Alberta Hudson and Bernice Bartah, Delta Phi Epsilon; Grace Davis and Ann Gantt, Gamma Phi Beta; Blanch Boanquet and Lucy Brown, Kappa Alpha Theta; Lois Wilson and Mary Elizabeth Louise McMichael, Kappa Delta; Mary Hamilton and Betty Jo Mitchell, Jeani Harris and Marilyn Ward, Pi Beta Phi; Wilda Hayes, Sigma Kappa. Sue Walters, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Food Chairmen

Alpha Chi Omega—Mrs Alpha Chi Omega; Laura Pratt, Chi Omega; Mae Dowling, Delta Delta Delta; Betty Coakley, who comes here from the dietary department of Vanderbilt University Hospital in Nashville.

Only member of the staff who has returned from military leave is Owen F Sellers, associate professor of music and director of the college band, who has served with the Air Transport Command since 1943. Also rejoining the PSC faculty are Miss Mary Hood, assistant professor of biology; Miss Jerry Kelly, assistant professor of chemistry; Miss Mary Moody, instructor in art; Miss Clara Krustman, demonstration school librarian, and Miss Rita Matthews, library assistant.

Other additions to the faculty include the following instructors: Miss Priscilla Allen, Miss Emily Crow and Miss Ruth Buchanan, English; Miss Agnes Gregory, library science; Miss Florine Mathews, public school music; Miss Mary Elizabeth Mitchell, history; Miss Bernice Moskowitz, sociology; Miss Carmen Rivera, assistant in Spanish; Miss Inez Newman, assistant in Spanish; Miss Carolyn Trump, sociogy; and Miss Matilda Willyard, part-time in physical education and camp director.

New Counselors

Increasing to 14 the number of residence hall counselors, Miss Evelyn Broadwell, Cockrell; Miss Williams Mansfield, The Lodge, and Miss Ruth Pycha and Miss Marie Williams, Landis, have recently been added to the staff. Two additional residence hall faculty members, Miss Mary Board and Miss Elisabeth Hamlin, and one additional dietician, Miss Eloise Rogers, complete the list of new appointees.

Coulter, Mrs William Macklin, Mrs J H Tucker, Tallahassee; Betty Sue Long Katherine Young, Myra and Martha Pattishall, Jacksonville; Marjorie Lapping, Monticello; Sarah Boswell, Tampa.

Capitol Shoe Fixery

DANCING TAPS
All Kinds

118 E. Jefferson St.

Phone 761

Fixed While You Wait!

Playnight Relates Plans for October

The Playnight committee, under the direction of Miss Williamson, held a meeting in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae Building Thursday night. The committee planned the program for Playnight through October 27.

For this week the program is composed of individual talent, and is to be of a half hour's duration.

Playnight is held from 6 to 10:30 p m every Saturday night. The program is scheduled for 9:30 to 10 tomorrow night.

"For October 20, the Playnight committee is sponsoring an 'All Freshmen Night' and the Saturday night of October 27 will call forth the extra preparation and traditional crowds that always attend Florida State's 'Halloween Carnival,'" Ann announced.

The Recreation Association under the direction of Miss Henrietta Greenberg, physical education instructor, will have full charge of the carnival.

35 New Appointees

Continued from Page One

Ann Richardson, instructor in Spanish and French. Replacing Miss Grace Madsen, on leave for graduate study, Miss Elizabeth Linthicum has been appointed instructor in physical education.

Miss Linthicum has received her MS degree in the University of Southern California.

Miss Mary Theresa Rogolino, 1944 graduate of the PSC, and Miss Margaret Campbell, who is also on leave of absence for further study, are assistant librarians at McQuire General Hospital in Richmond, Va. After receiving her degree from the Colorado State Teacher's College, Miss Rogolino taught for three years in Quincy.

Two new dietitians and 1944 graduates complete the list of appointees who are returning to PSC as members of the staff. They are Miss Mae Wilson and Miss Martha Atwater, in law school at University of Florida.

Alpha Gamma Delta—Carolyn Haston, Tampa; Ruth Bishop, West Palm Beach; Betty Lou Boynton, Havana; Sarah Pepper Willis, Jacksonville; Peggy Folsom, Chipley.

Alpha Xi Delta—Mrs J Edgar White, Mrs Mary Tribble, Tallahassee; Nell Hawkins, Monticello; Mrs Swindell, Immoorne Airs, Miami.

Chi Omega—Mrs Robert Jenkins, Miss Betty Harrison, Miss Sara Burwell; Mrs George Lewis, Tallahassee; Mary Martin, Patsy Adams, Mrs Robert Tucker, Tampa; Mary Ann Cannon, Eleanor Matherly, Josephine Stock, Gainesville; Betty Lou Christian, McIntosh; Jean Flynn, Jacksonville.

Delta Delta Delta—Barbara Hunter and Mary Virginia Green, Live Oak

Delta Phi Epsilon—Charlotte Rose, southern regional director, Jacksonville; Ruthre Spiwak, Florida State College interbne.

Delta Zeta—Mrs McColpin, St. Augustine, Lorean Nicholsen, Mary Williams, Landis, have recently been added to the staff. Two additional residence hall faculty members, Miss Mary Board and Miss Elisabeth Hamlin, and one additional dietician, Miss Eloise Rogers, complete the list of new appointees.

Odd and Even Season Begins

Hockey and Soccer to Be Thanksgiving Games

For the first time in the history of Florida State College hockey and soccer will be featured as the main Odd-Even contests on Thanksgiving holidays. Up to this time, basketball and volley ball have been the outstanding events of this season.

Odd-Even hockey and soccer practices are now being held at 5 o'clock every afternoon. Odds practice Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon: Evens, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

As the first Odd-Even soccer practice last Monday, two teams played an exhibition game for the benefit of those who had never before witnessed one. Although many who turned out were entirely unfamiliar with the game, Virginia Palmer, leader of Odd soccer, expects to be able to put a polished to those practicing by this afternoon.

The Even soccer players began their season by each taking an armful of rakes off the soccer field. Catherine Gallagher, Even soccer leader, takes this as an benefit of those who had never before witnessed one. Although many who turned out were entirely unfamiliar with the game, Virginia Palmer, leader of Odd soccer, expects to be able to put a polished to those practicing by this afternoon.

The Even soccer players began their season by each taking an armful of rakes off the soccer field. Catherine Gallagher, Even soccer leader, takes this as an benefit of those who had never before witnessed one. Although many who turned out were entirely unfamiliar with the game, Virginia Palmer, leader of Odd soccer, expects to be able to put a polished to those practicing by this afternoon.

Thirty-five eager hockey players turned out for the first Odd hockey practice on Monday. They had some lively scrimmages, and Nita Nord, Odd hockey leader, is expecting to have a star team.

Evelyn Stuckey, Even hockey leader, states that the Evens are going to pick up where they left off last year, and that they intend to even that score. All of last year's players are back and many new ones are expected.

Modern dance practices of Odd-Even teams are held every Tuesday and Tuesday with a large number of participants. According to Alice Taft and Anne Widerquist, Odd-Even leaders, respectively.

Even rehearsals are held every Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday at 5 o'clock and all will participate in the night of competition, the last play night before Thanksgiving. Odds refuse to be kept secret until this time.

Odd practices are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 5 o'clock. The theme, which will be presented in secret until presentation, will be decided on at a later meeting. A large number of freshmen as well as upperclassmen have turned out for practices.

The first tryouts were held Monday and Tuesday in Odd-Even archery. Camilla Clark, Odd leader, and Carolyn Bouriand, Even leader have been established of a winning team. The competitive meet, which will be the decisive factor of the leaders' position, is to be held November 28 and 29. Priscilla and Carolyn urge all students interested in archery to attend these practices. Jo Guthrie, president of WAA announced that in order to be eligible for the Odd-Even games, a player must have attended two-thirds of all scheduled practices and have participated in one class game.

Freshmen to Hear F Club Discuss FSC

F Club's first activity of the year is an outing for freshmen which is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 on the hockey and soccer field north of the gymnasium, Jo Guthrie, president of WAA announced this week.

"Of course, the main attraction for the class of '49 will have an opportunity to hear talks on subjects concerned with several phases of school life here on campus. The following talks are to be included: "Sportsmanship," by Catherine Barry; "Odd-Even Competition," by Joe Guthrie; "What PSC Can Come To Mean To A Freshman," by Sonon Lester; "PSC Traditions," by Frankie Hall and "What F Club Means To Me," by Sarah Bennett. Freshmen are invited to relax around the fire, help themselves to refreshments and listen to tales of PSC.

F Club will continue this year as in the past to hold their Friday night sings in front of the new dining hall immediately after dinner. Babe Evans, president, urges every student to attend these weekly informal gatherings.

MARTIN AND DALTON'S

Drug Store - Luncheonette

Beauty Parlor

•

Tallahassee's Only Air-Conditioned Drug Store and Beauty Parlor

•

Phone 123 210-212 S. Adams St.

Basketball Begins Intramural Games

Intramurals will begin Monday with basketball since today will conclude the fifth day of basketball practice. Five games will be held every day between 5 and 6 o'clock from Monday through Friday. Those eligible to play will be only those who have had two practice spells.

Theresa Munroe, intramurals manager, has other intramural plans after a warm-up in basketball. Beginning October 22 through 26 volleyball practice will be held every evening between 5 and 6 o'clock. These practices will be followed by a week of games. Swimming and badminton, respectively, are the last two intramurals on schedule for this quarter. The exact dates of these sports will be announced at a later date.

Theresa asks that all intramural captains meet in the basketball court this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Cut System

Continued from page one

compelled to be absent from classes for legitimate reasons, they are not expected to use these "cuts" unnecessarily. However, it became known at the present that the system resulted in unnecessary absences from classes. Responsibility for attendance in classes is upon the student. Excuses for absence from classes will not be given either by faculty members or administrative officers. Students are excused from the infirmary, but a list will be posted every day so that teachers may know which students are ill. The administration feels that absence from class, even for legitimate reasons, will usually result in some loss to the student, which is greater than each faculty member would treat such information by his discretion. The proper, except in the case of first and second semester freshmen.

Freshmen Regulations

Dr Campbell's statement to patrons he explains that all freshmen students who are in their first quarter in the college will be required to attend class. Students who make a "D" average at the end of their first quarter shall thereafter be fully responsible for their own class attendance. Those who do not make a "D" average will be required to go to all classes until the end of their second quarter at which time they will become responsible for their attendance in classes regardless of average.

According to the administration, causes of absences for freshmen who come within the above provision will be investigated by the dean of students, and excuses will be issued for those which are found to be necessary and unavoidable. Such absences, when not excused, will result in a "cut" for the in the courses in which the absences occurred.

Dr Campbell believes this policy to be sound from the standpoint of good education, and that it will improve the spirit and quality of the work of both faculty and students.

PEA Gives Reception To Honor Freshmen

Montgomery and Stuckey Welcome New Members

A reception honoring freshman physical education majors was given Wednesday evening at 6:00 p m. Evelyn Stuckey, president of the Physical Education Association announced.

A short informal program was presented. Evelyn Stucky formally welcomed the 46 freshmen into the Association and Dr Katherine Montgomery, director of physical education, gave a short talk. All faculty members of the physical education department were invited to be present.

The following committees were in charge of the reception: Alice Taft, program; Ann Stambaugh and Juanita Boles, refreshments; and Mary Manning, properties and decorations.

The new officers of the Physical Education Association, elected last year, are: Evelyn Stucky, president; Alice Taft, vice-president; and Candy Jones, secretary-treasurer.

The Association's next project, planned for the near future, probably next month, is a "Physical education majors' Big-Little Sister party.

Amazing Quantities

Continued from page one

rooms. Miss Tracy and her staff now have also the aid of the most modern kitchen equipment known, with all cooking and baking done by electricity and all dishwashing accomplished with the most up-to-date machines. The new kitchen has three types of power-driven machines to help handle the great quantity of food which must be used each day.

Miss Tracy's most immediate problem seems to be one of time and space. On this subject she says, "Shortage of help is due to the way of traffic management. The recognized physical size of the main lobby is deficient, which fact is responsible for waiting lines extending to the front door. As we learn the ways in and out of the dining lines will be lessened, but without present regulation chaos would result." The new equipment installed together with the unaccountable popularity of the summer school this year, married Harry Elliot, also Florida State graduate, Saturday. They were married in the Salem Methodist church. Serving as matron of honor was Mrs Frank Bishop, sister of the bride, and Mrs Ralph Bishop, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Miss Ruth Bishop of West Palm Beach played the violin.

Special Visitor

Mrs Frank Bisbee from Jacksonville, Delta Delta Delta financial advisor, visited the Tri Delta house the first part of this week for a few days.

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Campus social activities after rush week centered around formal banquets as members of six sororities honored their new pledges.

The Floridan hotel was the scene of Alpha Gamma Delta's pledge banquet Saturday night at which time gifts of stationary were presented the new pledges. Helen Miller, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

Delta Zeta actives entertained new pledges with an informal banquet Monday night at the home of Mrs Harry Owen. Dr M H DeGraff and patronesses were special guests.

Rose and white flowers were used as decorations at the Phi Mu banquet Saturday night at the Cherokee hotel. Dr and Mrs Coyle Moore, Mrs H T Webb, patrons and patronesses were present at the occasion at which time new pledges were presented with gifts of stationery.

A party Sunday night at the sorority house honored new Delta Delta Delta pledges.

Sigma Kappa's pledge banquet Sunday night was held at the Cherokee hotel. Match books engraved with SK and crystal plate cards decorated the banquet table.

Theta Banquet

The "actives" of Kappa Alpha Theta held their pledge banquet last Saturday night at the Three Torches' Tea Room. Floral decorations for the occasion were in the shape of the Theta kite placed at the president's table.

Alumnae present included: Miss Betty Ames, Jacksonville; Miss Blanche Brown, Miss Peggy Barker and Mrs Elizabeth Barclay, Tallahassee. Other special guests were Mrs J M Hodges, also Mother; Dr Jennie Tisi, Miss Finnegan and Miss West.

EVENTS HERE N' THERE

Other special activities in sororities include election of officers, a marriage, and a special visitor.

New Officers

The new Chi Omega pledges elected officers at their first meeting held Monday. Those elected were: Peggy Martin, president; Estelle Jones, secretary; Virginia Fran Gallemore, treasurer.

Alpha Gam Marries

Elizabeth McDavid from Havana, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta who graduated from Florida State College in summer school this year, married Harry Elliot, also Florida State graduate, Saturday. They were married in the Salem Methodist church. Serving as matron of honor was Mrs Frank Bishop, sister of the bride, and Mrs Ralph Bishop, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Miss Ruth Bishop of West Palm Beach played the violin.

Special Visitor

Mrs Frank Bisbee from Jacksonville, Delta Delta Delta financial advisor, visited the Tri Delta house the first part of this week for a few days.

Tarpon Club Holds Tryouts Next Week

Tryouts to secure new members for the Tarpon club will be held next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium pool, according to B J. Singleton, newly elected president of the club.

Practice swimming classes have been held every afternoon since last Tuesday. "B J." requests all good swimmers who feel they can meet the standards of the club to attend tryouts.

At a meeting held last Monday night, club members discussed the purchase of new suits and the planning of new pins. Active members of Tarpon club will take part in the various tryout contests.

Margery Holm is vice-president of the club; Anna Horne, secretary-treasurer; and Barbara Jane Lindsey, publicity director.

Spirogira Taps
Six New Goats

Spirogira, Odd honorary, tapped six "goats" in the dining halls last Tuesday at noon. Those tapped were Nancy Ward, Clarice Theobold, Ann Colvin, and Betty Jane Singleton, Junkins, and Miss Hensley Greenlaw and Miss Calliope Papatsos, faculty members.

The new goats and those tapped last spring will give a party tonight for the members in celebration of the first birthday anniversary of the founding of Spirogira.

Boats and members have been sponsoring nightly sings in front of the east dining hall. The sings will be organized even better in the future, asserted Frances Myers, president of Spirogira, who urged all loyal Odds to join in the singing.

Excellent Food
Phone 1054
M & N CAFE
Open Day and Night
Sizzling Western Steaks
Sea Foods
Unexcelled Coffee
Short Orders at All Hours
119 E. Jefferson St.
Tallahassee, Fla.

FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
Ernie Pyles
"Story of G. I. Joe"
Sunday and Monday
"It's In The Bag"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"Cowboy and Lady"
Thursday thru Saturday
"Lady On The Train"

STATE
Today and Tomorrow
"Rustlers of Badlands"
and
"Crime Inc."
Sunday and Monday
"G. I. Honeymoon"
and
"Strange Illusion"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"I'll Be Seeing You"
Thursday Only
"Forever Yours"
and
"Roughly Speaking"
Friday and Saturday
"Rhythm Roundup"
and
"Gay Senorita"

CURTAINS
Dotted Marquisette—Ecru, White
Ruffled and Tailored
$3.95 up
CURTAIN MATERIAL
Red Marquisette
59c yd.
Red, White, Blue Marquisette
69c yd.
The Surprise Store
"Tallahassee's Busiest Department Store"

New Counselors Are Appointed to Staff

Five Chosen for Outstanding Ability Added to Faculty

Five new residence counselors have been appointed to Dean Ollyn Dorman's staff. They are: Miss Ruth Pyche and Miss Marie Williams in Landis hall; Miss Marie Donahue in Reynolds hall; Miss Evelyn Bramlett in the Village, and Mrs Pauline Mansfield in the Lodge.

Dean Dorman stated that these counselors were selected because of their outstanding ability to do guidance and personnel work, valuable in assisting the students in all phases of campus life. All five of them have had special training in personnel guidance.

Miss Pityche, now the head residence counselor in Landis hall, is from Nebraska. She attended the University of Colorado, where she was with the office of personnel. She also taught school in Wyoming and Nebraska.

Miss Williams is from Arkansas and attended Columbia University. She taught in the Navy school in Zil Derraho, Arkansas.

Miss Donahue of New York, attended Buffalo State College for two years in Boston. She finished her college education at Purdue University in Indiana.

Miss Bramlett, who is from Mississippi, also attended Columbia University. Upon graduation from the university she taught in the public schools of Mississippi for several years.

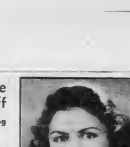
Miss Mansfield of Boston, is a professional singer and has taught singing in Boston and New York. She was in charge of a dormitory at Dennison University in Ohio for two years previous to her appointment at Florida State college

Correspondent

Continued from Page One

Germany and to attempt to carry out the preparation plan, which is, his opinion, cvolved as a most ineffective government. Out of this, he said, grew the Germanideology of "we are superior" . . . "we are persecuted" and "we must and will fight", a cause which was championed in 1923 by the then almost unknown Hitler.

Mr Sheean then traced Hitler's rise to power, the beginning if the war, and the turning point of the war, which was in three phases. During the first phase the British held out alone against Hitler with almost no land resources. In the second period the Russians held out alone against Hitler for almost 2 years. Finally the United States became primary in importance in both a military and an industrial sense.



Hitler's one remaining hope at the end of the war in Europe, said Mr Sheean, was that the American and Russian armies would fight when they met in Germany. However, he said, these armies avoided an disputes as to occupation of Vienna and control of Germany, and there have been no serious conflicts between the Russians and the Americans. He accredited this parity to the fact that the San Francisco World Conference was in progress at the time of the German surrender.

Mr Sheean asked that the problem of conflict between Russia and America be faced and acknowledged. He stated, however, that this problem is ideological or psychological, and not practical, that nowhere on the globe is there actual conflict between what he termed "the two most powerful nations on earth, who arrived at that state through diametrically opposite methods."

He warned against the fact that the pattern of the last attempts at peace may be repeated, as similified by the disputes at the San Francisco conference. He acted if we are being entirely fair and honest in advocating a democratic system of world government which hinges on decision by vote, when it has been proved that the United States controls most of the votes and could outvote any Russian suggestions. He stated that this situation may be agravated by the use by the United States of the secret of the atomic bomb "as a form of international blackmail", and that we may well look for the withdrawal of Russia from the United Nations organization.

Mr Sheean's opinion on the atomic bomb is that "it had no military results whatsoever" because it was used so late in the war, when the end was so nearly

WELCOME BACK!
Come in and see our Fall styles.
MARION'S HATS
120 E. Jefferson St.

pictured above are Ann Carolyn Allison, left, and Catherine Barry, right, who will serve as president of College Government association and chairman of Judiciary.

New Construction Is Now Being Used

Classrooms in the part of the History building now under construction are being used, although some finishing work is still to be done on them. Dr Doak S Campbell, president of the college says that this work will be done after hours and on Saturdays so as not to interfre with the conducting of classes.

Dr Campbell says that at the time of the building's completion some time during the school year, there will be fifteen classrooms, a number of offices, and a special workroom for the speech department. The newly constructed wing is a permanent erection, and it conforms to the style of the rest of the History building.

Among other improvements of buildings on campus are the lighting changes in the library. During the last summer the school the college authorities experimented with neon lights in the periodical room of the library. As a result of this experiment permanent installations have been made in the periodical room and in the service area at the lending desk. Dr Campbell says that similar installations have greatly improved the lighting in the library, and more are planned for the rest of the building.

Holmes Featured On Garnet, Gold

Miss Virginia Holmes, instructor in piano at Florida State College, was Garnet and Gold's music editor last night. She selected two of Brahms compositions for the program.

News editor and announcer this week was Sara Norman who is student radio assistant in the office of Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director.

President Doak S Campbell was the speaker on the opening radio edition of the newspaper of the air September 27. Miss Bloodworth acted as announcer and gave the college news. Chopin's "Waltz in A Minor" was played by Eleanor Bragg at the piano.

On the program of October 4 Miss Lucile Wagner, assistant professor of piano, rendered piano selections and Sara Norman acted as news editor.

Home Ec Majors To Honor New Students

A tea, honoring freshmen and transfer home economics majors, will be held from three to five today at the Home Management house.

Dr Margaret R Sandels, Dean of the School of Home Economics will head the receiving line, which will also include Miss Ellen Wright, adviser of the club; Miss Betty Harrison, director of the home management house; Miss Grace Sims, president of the club; and Miss Lillie Crosby, student manager of the home management house.

Freshmen and transfers will be introduced to the home economics faculty members and will be shown around the house by the seniors living there.

Goulding Announces Dem School Changes

Several changes have been made in the Demonstration school faculty, according to Dr R L Goulding, superintendent of the Demonstration school.

Miss Florence Marlatte and Miss Madge Clayton are supervising and teaching methods in the elementary grades and in the Junior high grades, respectively, both replacing Mrs Cecil Strenge, who resigned in order to become supervisor of music in Lake county. Miss Sarah McCrimmon, who has returned after a year of graduate study at Columbia University, is serving as librarian. She is also part time consultant for the State Department of Education. Miss Charlotte Cooper, a graduate of Florida State college, is taking the place of Mrs Jean Scroggin as band leader. Miss Mary Lou King is the physical education teacher in the Demonstration school and is also teaching a class at FSC.

Get Flastacovos

All students who have not received their 1945 annuals may get them in the Flastacovo office in the Student Alumnae building between 3and 5 p m today.

Margaret Baugh, editor of the Flastacovo, announced that all freshmen who are interested in working on the school annual in any capacity such as photographer, feature writer, or copy writer, are to contact her at the Pi Phi house for an interview. The staff will be chosen later.

LOST—One pair of brown and white saddle shoes, left in Broward-New Hall dining room last Friday night. Please contact Helen Harper, 155 New Hall, if found.

GORHAM STERLING
Camellia
FLOWER PATTERN
by GORHAM
SIX-PIECE PLACE SETTINGS ONLY
$22.81
(20% FED. TAX INCLUDED)

Sterling Barrettes
$1.75 up
We engrave them. Wear a barrette and make it easy for others to know your name.
308 S. Monroe St.

Moon's

Dr Campbell Honors Freshmen, Transfers

Governor and Mrs Caldwell Receive at Reception

Governor and Mrs Millard Caldwell joined President and Mrs Doak S Campbell of Florida State College in receiving the new freshmen in the sunken gardens of Bryan hall, September 28, at the first evening of the annual president's reception.

On the first evening, freshmen from Jennie Murphree hall, The Village and off-campus houses, and the day students went through the receiving line and gathered in the sunken gardens for two hours.

In the receiving line with President and Mrs Campbell and Governor and Mrs Caldwell were Ann Carolyn Allison, president of the College Government association; Audrey Perry, freshman adviser of CGA; and Catherine Burrs, chairman of Judiciary. Introducing the freshmen to the line were Barbara Irving, president of Jennie Murphree; Anne Hunter, president of The Village; and Daphne Dyer, president of the day students' organization.

Miss Catherine Warren, assistant dean of students; Miss Edith McCallum, director of residence; and Miss Anne Pope, head counselor for freshmen, officiated at the end of the line. At the punch bowls the first hour were Miss Louise Creamer and Miss Evelyn Bramlett, counselors for Jennie Murphree and The Village; and the second hour Mrs Ruth Geary and Mrs Pauline Manfield, also counselors for Jennie Murphree and The Village.

Floor hostesses were counselors, the executive council of CGA and aproximately 100 faculty members. CGA executive council members serving as floor hostesses included Sarah Lewis, Jean Cole, Robin Hill, Jimmie Rogers, Madelyn King, Peggy Lou Thomas and Betty Alday.

The second evening of the reception freshmen from Reynolds hall, Bryan hall and Camp Flastacovo were received, together with all of the transfer students. Substantiating the same hostesses assisted President and Mrs Campbell, except that Eileen Perry, president of Reynolds hall, and Ann Parker, president of Bryan hall, substituted for the line, and the counselors for Reynolds Bryan and Parkside presided at the punch bowls. They are Miss Lelen Allen, Mrs Ray Warner, Miss Marie Donahue and Miss Dorothy Brown.

Speech Department Announces Its First Production of Year

The speech department's first play, "Time and the Conways," will be produced in about seven weeks. Miss Mary Wood, assistMary Elizabeth Moocy of the art department, are beginning work on the play. Tryouts for para will be held the first part of next week. Miss Wood says that the exact time will be announced an the speech bulletin board in lower History.

"Time and the Conways" by J B Priestly, was first produced in London in 1938. The play begins during a party in Mrs Conway's sitting rom in the year 1919. It is a happy, cozy scene according to the playwright's stage directions. During the first act are introduced Robin, R A F pilot; Kay, who wanted to be a novelist; Madge, reformer; Mrs Conway, and sprite-like Carol.

Character variety is great, and the play should consequently ge very friendly, Miss Wood, director, believes. The cast calls for four male parts, and Miss Wood sees the difficulty and says she is hoping that men on the faculty will cooperate. Male leads might also come from Dale Mabry or from town.

Miss Wood says of herself "I'm this year's Miss Bowman." She is a pretty blonde Tennessean, who did her undergraduate work with the Carolina Playmakers at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. She got her master's degree last year in the school of speech at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. In between degrees she was sponsored by the Carolina Playmakers, and she was the drama department at Averett Junior College, Danville, Ky. Asked when she fell in love with the stage, Miss Wood answered, "I was born in love with it. I've done stage work all my life and can't help loving it."

Miss Mary Elizabeth Mooty, art director, was on leave of absence from FSC last year to study at Columbia University in New York City. Miss Mooty did about 35 sets in the seven years that she taught here. She is glad to be back in Tallahassee, for remembers with pleasure the winter of playgoing behind her. Of the plays she saw, she remembers "Carmen Jones," "Up In Central Park," and "The Tempest" as the most interestingly staged. "The Tempest" was especially "tricky," as it was set permanently on a lyn Allison, president of CGA.

Senate Will Elect Officers at Meet

House, Committee Vacancies Filled on Wednesday

Senate will elect officers to fill vacancies in house governments and committees this evening at $ p m, in the Student Alumnae building. Dink Ashton and Mary White will report on the Legislative and Codifying committees.

Nominations made at the first meeting, were Mary Russell Turr, president of Campuside, Hillside, and Parkside; Agnes Bedsole, Frances Dawning, vice presidents of Campuside, Hillside, and Parkside; Anne Geise, Irene Coleman, Marmolia vice president; Joyce Carlton Village vice president; Marjorie Miller, chairman of the Usher committee; Doris Corry, Handbook committee chairman. Senators present at the need for better ways of learning the opinions and desires of all senate and the hope that more people would attend Senate meetings to express their ideas.

Ann Arnston, reporting for the Handbook committee, suggested that the Handbook committee work more closely with the Legislative and Codifying committees.

Also at the first meeting of student senate this year which was held October 3, senate members received a copy of "Senate Sense". This bulletin presents an outline of senate procedure and information concerning the body including a complete list of members for this year.

Freshman Flunkies To Meet Tuesday

Freshman Flunkies will meet for the first time this year in the Student Alumnae building auditorium on October 18, at 2 p m. All freshmen who are willing to do the important unseen work around the campus will have the opportunity if they sign up on the CGA bulletin board in Westcott. The activities of freshman flunkies are divided into three groups. They are typing, poster-making, and miscellaneous which includes errands and decorating.

At the meeting on October 16 a general chairman and a chairman for each committee will be elected.

"This is the first opportunity for the freshmen to become an active part of the College Government Association, and I hope that all will participate," said Ann Caro-

But Nay Not So

'Twas Reception night. Four freshmin crept up a dark stairway on Lexington street to peer through the doorway at bright lights and laughing girls. To this the Chi Omega House?" they thought. Then a voice: "Is the Sweet Shoppe.

SC Band Increases Members to Sixty

The Florida State college band has added 20 new members, increasing its membership to 60 student, and a concert has been scheduled for some time in December.

Mr Owen F Sellers, who was director of the band from the time of its organization until his entrance into the army in 1942, has returned this year as director. The assistant conductor is Miss Charlotte Lester a 1943 alumna of FSC. New band officers for this year are Ann Richardson, president; Freyc Elliott, vice-president; Frances Duckworth, secretary; Betty Taylor, publicity manager; Betty Redd, social chairman; Evelyn Breedlove, property manager; Elizabeth and Emily Harper, librarians.

A band tryout will be held Tuesday in 134 Westcott at 4 o'clock Beryl Taylor, publicity manager, invites all who are interested in playing with the band to try out.

Seniors Told Where To Get Caps, Gowns

At the meeting of the senior class on October 4, students were told where to order their caps and gowns and were given pointers on the best methods to wear them. Senior class president, Martha Jane Brown, announced that another class meeting will be held next week, when the plans for senior investiture will be perfected.

Martha Jane Brown said that the whole student body is invited to attend the investiture service. At this service, to be held October 22 at 7:45 p m, seniors will be officially recognized as seniors and will be allowed to wear the traditional caps and gowns for the first time.

Vestry Conference Held at Ruge Hall

Canterbury Club Announces Year's Weekly Program

The vestry of the Canterbury Club had its conference on Friday and Saturday September 21 and 22, at Ruge hall, the Episcopal Student center. At this time the work for the coming year was discussed and a program was planned. The weekly program of services and meetings is as follows:

SUNDAY
8:00-8:30 a m—Holy Communion, St John's
9:00-10:15 a m—Breakfast and discussion, Ruge hall.
1:00-12:0 0 a m—Morning prayer, St John's.
7:30-8:30 s m—Vespers, Ruge hall.

MONDAY
8:40-9:50 a m—Morning Watch.

TUESDAY
8:40-8:50 a m—Morning Watch.
10:30-10 45 p m — Preparation Service for Holy Communion.

WEDNESDAY
7:30-8:00 a m—Holy Communion, Ruge hall.

THURSDAY
8 40-8:50 a m—Morning Watch.

FRIDAY
8 40-8 50 a m—Morning Watch.
7:15-8:00 p m—Choir rehearsal.
7:30-8:30 p m—After-dinner coffee

SATURDAY
8 40-8:50 a m—Morning Watch.
1 45-3:00 p m—Workshop.

Make an Appointment Today for a NEW PORTRAIT
Pike Studios
107 W. College

Come in and See Our New Stock of Records and Wide Selection of Sheet Music
TALLAHASSEE MUSIC CO.
So. Monroe St.

Pull Overs - - Long and Short Sleeves
Cardigans - - All Colors and All 100% Wool All Sizes
P. W. WILSON COMPANY
"Tallahassee's Best Department Store"
—Since 1837—

Seniors Are Invested

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Come to Senate

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL XXXIII, No. 2 Tallahassee, Florida OCTOBER 19, 1945

FSC Faculty Featured in Annual Affair

Dr Campbell 'Challenges' The Student Body In His Address

Faculty String Trio Renders Selection by Kvelve

The traditional academic procession of the Florida State College faculty, which was held Thursday, has been included on address by Dean S. Campbell, president of the college, and a faculty string quartet.

This event is held each year as one of the first convocations. Its purpose, according to Dr Campbell, is to acquaint the freshman class with the faculty as a group. It is one of the many traditions of FSC and is continued. Dr Campbell said, "because we like to do as the others have done."

Dr Campbell's Speech

In his address Dr Campbell challenged the student body to become "pioneers" in the field of knowledge rather than mere "imitators" of the past. He stressed the importance of not being the type of person who does things just like did not know whom he came to college but to use their own brains in thinking, deciding, and actions.

The procession consisted of the faculty dressed in the gowns and hood of their particular title and college. The marshals and faculty members entered last and left the auditorium first, as is the customary procedure. The program has been the practice to have the departmental heads seated on the stage and the remainder of the faculty seated in the wings. After the playing of "Grand March" by Wagner, and a hymn by the audience, Dr Robert S. Miller professor of religion, gave a devotional taken from the Hymns of Walter.

"Sea Nocturne" by Kvelve was the rendition of the faculty trio consisting of Miss Olga Ensner, violin; Mr Owen Seiters, violincello, and Miss Mary Lou Wilkinson piano. Mrs Ramona C Beard, organist and member of the faculty played "Romance in March" by Sibelius for the recessional after the singing of "Gartzel and Gold."

Housing Situation Now Under Control

90 Girls Await Assignments To Fill First Vacancies

The housing situation on the Florida State College campus is becoming much more simplified, according to an announcement from the office of the Residence Director.

As the last day for general checkins in rooms was last Saturday the task henceforth is one of moving the 58 freshmen and 31 transfer students to temporary quarters into vacancies that occur. These temporarily placed freshmen are being housed in the hotel in various parts of Refugia, Jennie Murphree, Bryan, and Gilchrist halls. Six freshmen are still residing in Student Alumnae building and will be called to permanent private homes pending shifts elsewhere. Two transfers in Seminole have been reassigned each to those in Landis Reception and Gilchrist temporary to rooms in private homes. Miss Olivia Grant, dean of students states that there have been no changes within this quarter than were expected, although the situation of temporary assignees is more difficult.

The two newly added houses on Jefferson are in full operation now as the latter was opened at the beginning of school. Among 32 girls, and the Salley House on Jefferson and Copeland was opened on October 1 for 12 girls.

Dean Dorman says that these two residences together with other newly acquired housing facilities on campus, will successfully absorb the weight of increased enrollment.

Flunkies Elect

The Freshman Flunkies elected Mrs Dillard general chairman of the group at its first meeting held in Westcott auditorium Monday afternoon Laura Simpson was elected chairman of the letter committee, and Frances Dean and Jane Nightengale chairmen of the typing and miscellaneous committees respectively.

A discussion of the duties and skills of the Freshman Flunkies preceded the election of committee heads.

Seniors to Meet

There will be an important meeting for all seniors in the Student Alumnae building, Friday afternoon at 5 p m. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the procedure for investiture.

First Dance Is Scheduled

Soldier Dance to Be Held In SAB, October 27

There will be soldier dances again this year, Miss Olivia Norman, dean of students announced recently. The first dance will be held in the Student Alumnae building October 27. However, she said that a method has not yet been decided upon for the distribution of tickets.

Camp Gordon Johnston, previously an amphibious base, is now a separation center. There are nine or ten thousand soldiers waiting there to receive their discharges, according to the recreation manager of the camp.

The head bostess of the local USO is in charge of the manager of Camp Gordon Johnston have both requested that the college continue its entertainment program for the soldiers.

The recreation directors were also interested in going forward with the quiz programs started last year. Five outstanding girls from the college will be chosen to participate in the five soldiers. The teams will take turns preparing the questions. The first of these quiz programs is to be held November 8.

Miss Norman said that girls would be sent to the Army hospital to talk to the men there. There will be a dance given by the college girls at the hospital and at Camp Gordon Johnston.

President Proclaims Thanksgiving Date

Homecoming Festivities Are Scheduled Week Earlier

Five Thursdays in November have made it necessary for the changes to be made in the college calendar for that month.

When the Florida State College calendar was being set up this summer, consideration was given Thanksgiving celebrations for the last Thursday in November. But a presidential proclamation has set Thanksgiving on the fourth Thursday, November 22.

The college schedule has been moved up one week and stands as follows:

Thursday, November 8—Demonstration Rehearsal, 7:30.

Friday, November 9—Demonstration Rehearsal, 7:30.

Saturday, November 10—Play night, gymnasium.

Monday, November 12—Demonstration Rehearsal 7:30.

Tuesday, November 13—Convocation, 8:45 and 8:45.

Wednesday, November 14—Demonstration Rehearsal, 7:30.

Thursday, November 15—Demonstration Rehearsal, 7:30.

Friday, November 16—Dr Campbell's Birthday Party — Miss Norman's reception.

Saturday, November 17—Demonstration Rehearsal, 7:30.

Monday, November 19—Artist Series, Donald Dickson, 8:15.

Tuesday, November 20—Demonstration Dress Rehearsal, 7:30.

Convocation, 8:45.

Wednesday, November 21—Demonstration Dress Rehearsal, 7:30

Tarpon Springs Excursion.

Thursday, November 22 — Thanksgiving Service 10:30—Thanksgiving Dinner, 7:30 — Tarpon Demonstration, 8.

Friday, November 23—Demonstration, 8.

Saturday, November 24—Demonstration Dress Rehearsal, 2:30—Thanksgiving Dance, 8.

Physics Graduates In Varied Fields

The graduates of the physics department are entering the varied fields of activity in physics after their graduation.

Miss Bonnie Kindig is the new instructor in the physics department on this campus. She replaced Miss Dorothea E. Marsh who has accepted a position in industrial physics with the Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester, New York.

Miss Eleanor Hamm who graduated in 1944 works in the Oak Ridge Atomic Bomb Plant near Knoxville, Tennessee. She studied chemistry and physics while she was on this campus.

Miss Florence Bentley and Miss Edith Hawkins, who graduated in the last school session, are now working in the Naval Research Station in Orlando, Florida.

Dr Richards To Speak on Atomic Power

Speech to Be Delivered In SAB Auditorium Tonight at 8

Lecturer Attempts to Lay Scientific Foundation

"The Atomic Power for War and Peace" is the subject of Dr Harold P. Richards, head of the physics department, speech will be the first meeting of the year of the Tallahassee Branch of the Florida Academy of Sciences this evening at 8 p m in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae building.

Dr Richards will attempt "to lay a scientific foundation for the intelligent understanding of atomic power in war and peace." He feels that a thoroughly informed public opinion is needed by the world's political leaders to guide them in the task "for the full benefit of atomic power" from the atomic bomb in deciding national affairs. He thinks that the biggest job in history must now be taken by mankind and that is on in and out of the schools and churches. He will be the first prominent mankind with unparalleled possibilities for either good or evil. "Never in history," he says, "do I not feel that it is possible to change the physical world so simple into wise and kind people overnight so "if we can't be good, we'll have to die."

The speech, it is reported, will be a non-technical discussion in order that it may be practicable.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend and to join freely in the discussion at the close of the talk.

Dr Richards came to the campus of Florida State College for Women in 1925 to become the head of the physics department which has been connected with the University of Cincinnati and Bowdoin University. He is a fellow of the National Research Council Fellowship in Physics in 1922-23. During World War I he served as an Ensign in the United States Army in France, and during World War II he served as Chairman of the Civilian Defense Committee of the University and College Department in the period of activity of the Civil Defense Council. He has written a book called "The Universe Surveyed" and a number of scientific articles. At present he is a member of the American Physical Society and of the Phi Beta Kappa.

Five FSC Graduates On Campus Recently

Five former Florida State College graduates have returned to the campus this past week, according to Miss Edna Grace, secretary.

Bernice M Stockbridge of the class of 1934, is here visiting Dr Jennie Tilt of the chemistry department. She has charge of dietetics at the U S veterans' hospital in Dawson, Georgia.

Marjorie M Morrison, who received her BS in home economics here in the class of 1944, is employed in the U S Public Health Service. She is stationed at Ellis Island. She is a member of a special Public Health Service unit which visits immigrants' communities and determines the cause of such diseases.

Continued on Page Two

Scholarship Open To Mortar Board

The $500 Katherine Wills Coleman scholarship open to members of Mortar Board graduating in 1946 is announced by Mary Weaver, chairman of the local chapter, upon receiving this information from the national society.

The fellowship, awarded for the last 5 years, will go to one or two applicants to be selected by a committee of deans and National Mortar Board officers. Value of the award is $500 for each, will depend upon the number and quality of applications. Candidates must be unmarried, less than 25 years of age at the time of application, and "especially as candidates for a master's degree or degree in an accepted graduate school.

Information and application blanks may be obtained by writing Miss Katherine Ruhlman, Mortar Board National Council, 40 Wisteria Drive, Dayton, 9, Ohio, before January 15, 1946.

The winner of the 1946 award was Ruth Charlotte Pierle, University of Cincinnati, who is now doing graduate work in organic chemistry at the University of Illinois.

Dr Richards To Speak on Atomic Power

Speech to Be Delivered In SAB Auditorium Tonight at 8

Lecturer Attempts to Lay Scientific Foundation

"The Atomic Power for War and Peace" is the subject of Dr Harold P. Richards, head of the physics department, speech will be the first meeting of the year of the Tallahassee Branch of the Florida Academy of Sciences this evening at 8 p m in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae building.

Dr Richards will attempt "to lay a scientific foundation for the intelligent understanding of atomic power in war and peace." He feels that a thoroughly informed public opinion is needed by the world's political leaders to guide them in the task "for the full benefit of atomic power" from the atomic bomb in deciding national affairs. He thinks that the biggest job in history must now be taken by mankind and that is on in and out of the schools and churches. He will be the first prominent mankind with unparalleled possibilities for either good or evil. "Never in history," he says, "do I not feel that it is possible to change the physical world so simple into wise and kind people overnight so "if we can't be good, we'll have to die."

The speech, it is reported, will be a non-technical discussion in order that it may be practicable.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend and to join freely in the discussion at the close of the talk.

Dr Richards came to the campus of Florida State College for Women in 1925 to become the head of the physics department which has been connected with the University of Cincinnati and Bowdoin University. He is a fellow of the National Research Council Fellowship in Physics in 1922-23. During World War I he served as an Ensign in the United States Army in France, and during World War II he served as Chairman of the Civilian Defense Committee of the University and College Department in the period of activity of the Civil Defense Council. He has written a book called "The Universe Surveyed" and a number of scientific articles. At present he is a member of the American Physical Society and of the Phi Beta Kappa.

Watson for Changes In Negro Education

For Negroes Attending FSC, U of F, If Segregated

Attorney General Tom Watson, opposite out-of-state scholarships for Florida negro college students, said today, 'we have ample means for segregation at the state's white colleges to give one equivalent was offered at the state Negro college.

"I believe in segregation," he told a press conference, "but in adopting that means" of providing the state's Negroes the same educational facilities as offered to white students at the University of Florida and Florida State College for Women.

Other cabinet members cited a similar case in the recent United States supreme court which compelled the law school negroes to their white colleges unless they provide the same courses at their publicly-supported Negro institutions.

Governor Caldwell said

Continued on Page Two

IRC Plans for New Membership Drive

United Nations Charter Is Theme of Coming Year

Next week the International Relations club will hold its annual membership drive. Interested girls fee is fifty cents per quarter and all girls who are interested in joining may sign at the table in lower Westcott any afternoon next week.

The first organization meeting of the old members was held Tuesday. The members decided upon the club's theme which will be "The United Nations Charter as drawn up at San Francisco in April-June."

On October 26 the club will hold a regular meeting at 5 o'clock in the Student Alumnae building club room. Two prominent speakers will be present according to Jessie McCalla, president of the club.

Other officers of the club are Doris Hill, vice-president and Miller Tarpon Springs, secretary.

Marjorie M Morrison, who received her BS in home economics here in the class of 1944, is employed in the U S Public Health Service. She is stationed at Ellis Island. She is a member of a special Public Health Service unit which visits immigrants' communities and determines the cause of such diseases

Continued on Page Two

Shankweiler Speaks To Garden Clubs

Professor Paul W Shankweiler, associate professor of horticulture spoke on the "Modern Challenge to Local Leadership" at the North District meeting of the Federated Clubs of Florida, recently held at the Tallahassee Woman's Club. The meeting was presided over by a former professor of sociology at Florida State College for Women, Mims Brink, who is now the chairman of the North Florida Garden clubs.

Mr Shankweiler emphasized the need of making a democracy work in the home town in order to assure its working in the nation and in the world at large. He defined the "importance of developing local leadership" within the Garden club organization offers such a fine opportunity. In a world of ever-increasing complexities of the 'Big Three.' 'Big Five,' the time of the 'Big Thirteen' is the some reason for safeguarding democracy on the home front through the developing of local resources and knowing one's own community and planning for the better relation of our own community to other communities."

Above all he stressed the importance through social organization of dev. oping a thinking democracy since only the people themselves could free the world from the present menace of dictatorship and wars.

Freshmen Lead Rugged Life at Camp Flastacowo During Week

"What are we, anyway, backwoods women or college women girls?" one little freshman asked another as she tumbled from the double decker bed onto the hard pine floor of the big one-room cabin.

The scene was Camp Flastacowo where 20 freshmen had their first taste of college life by the placid waters of Lake Bradford. In the gray dawn they arose, dressed hurriedly, and by 7 a m were traveling along the five-mile road to Florida State College and a hearty breakfast of ham and eggs, the most beautiful mirage at the end of the road.

Showers in dorm lavatories between classes soon became the habit of these girls, for to wash oneself in the wilderness would have meant a dip in the dark into the waters of the lake. Betty Schwartz, the would-be radical of the group, one night proposed a midnight swimming party. As the early hours grew nearer, Betty unequaled dreamer into the comfortwarmth of thick fluffy blankets. At 4 a m, zero hour, her brave followers in belle attire (pajamas) dashed from the camp and plunged headlong into the cold still water. With the dawn of light, came the dawn of truth—that their leader had frozen them. It was an unpardonable disgrace, yet the girls couldn't quite convince Betty that hardiri was the honorable way out.

"The sitters are sitting again tonight," remarked passers-by as they perceived the nightly separations perched on the fifth step leading transportation back to the concentration Camp Flastacowo.

Several nights, after a period of prolonged waiting, the president of the sitters himself, Dr Doak S Campbell, and his wife, drove by in his automobile and cheered.

Continued on Page Two

Home Ec Club Holds First Meeting

Majors Sign for Membership At Booth in Westcott

The Home Economics Club, which home economic majors join by signing up for membership at the booth in Westcott during the day and tomorrow, had its first meeting of the year Wednesday night in the auditorium of the Student Alumnae building.

The program which was planned by the senior representatives, Carolyn Fleming, consisted of a resume of the different fields of work in home economics as presented by the graduates of this college who have already had their training and have gone back on campus.

The speakers included: diestetics, Miss Ida Pare and Miss Betty Coakley who are staff dietitians with the college dining hall now; textiles and vocational training, Miss Mary Lou Turner; home demonstration work, Miss Fay Rooks, Jane Lyles, a student dietitian, spoke briefly and told about her experiences this summer in the hotel.

Grace Sims, president, also introduced the officers of the club for the year. Jennie Dale, vice-president; Margaret Dannahower, secretary; Barbara Irving, treasurer; Barbara Irving, senior representative; Josephine Parker, junior representative; Mrs French, man representative, to be elected; Dr Ruth Matheny, faculty chairman; Emile Harper, poster chairman; and Elisabeth Harper, publicity chairman.

Pocket Pets Attract Attention at FSC As Students Raise Squirrels on Campus

When last seen over the Sweet Shoppe, Jimmy Joe, Earl of Squirrel, was happily pattering down the street with a pocket. As usual, Jimmy Joe was the cause of the attraction, and as he be cornered into submission when he was told that it was time to light out. Jimmy Joe and to leave all the pleasant company and go back to his home in the forest.

Jimmy Joe was found in the backyard of an FSC student Thursday afternoon by that artful thief Mimi last September, and since that time he has been living on an eyedropper, nuts, pound cake, etc, etc. You go on Mimi, he has a very ordinary squirrel by any means, Jimmy Joe is of the finest breed and at the tender age of age he has learned to make flying leaps from the window sill on the dormitory beds in two jesps which is pretty good for a little tail of for that matter. Several inches of animal and three inches es in all.

His owner, who wishes to remain anonymous for safety reasons, says that early in life, Jimmy Joe developed an aversion to the ordinary squirrel food and does most of his scampering about in town and in the dorm. Indeed at large, where he has buried nuts in every nook and cranny. "He plays and plays and plays all night," his owner commented wistfully while sleeping he curls up in a ball and cover- his eyes —with his tail to keep the light out. ~~ favorite sleeping place is in the dark warmness of someone's pocket or jacket. "Every time he runs across my diaphragm, he gets me," was the laughing statement of the unknown student.

Because he is a squirrel and can conceal himself in a jacket, Jimmy Joe has had many opportunities that so many students dream of. He has been known to sleep through every class, a privilege none can afford, but not because the inclination is lacking.

There are two more squirrels on the campus, Oh no, slack and alas, one has left us. His name was Mortimer, affectionately called "Mort" by the Chi Omegas, with whom he had his residence. Mortimer was very young when he fell out of a tree onto the side yard and was adopted by the girls in the house. His home was a quilt box, and sometimes on a cold Sunday, when "died as he lived, curled up asleep." He made the mistake of biting off the end of the eyedropper with which he was being fed and his pets were quite broken up with the passing of the little animal. Mortimer have a funeral, after which "Mort" lay in state on the side porch of the Chi Omega South of pecan leaves. Interment was in the yard.

The other squirrel, called George, is living merrily in a big box which is kept warm with a study lamp inside it. He practices jumping on a branch his guardian thoughtfully placed in the box. Although he sleeps most of the time, he manages to rouse himself every now and then to munch a few nuts. Found by two soldiers, after he had fallen on the sidewalk, George was given to a student who wanted to

Senate Plans Topics for Discussion

Dead Week Continuance, Social Standards Issues To Be Debated

Vacancies in Offices Filled In Senate Wednesday

The continuance of dead week as a college institution and the strengthening of the social standards committee will be the two main issues of discussion at the next regular meeting of Student Senate, Jeanne Dickey Allison, president of the College Government Association announced. Because of the change from semesters to quarters, the question has been raised as to the advisability of maintaining dead week as a part of the college calendar. It is also considered that the social standards committee be made more effective in order to enforce its resolutions and thus maintain social standards at Florida State College, Ann Carolyn Hall said.

Several Senate vacancies were filled in last Wednesday's meeting. They were: chairman of the usher committee, Marjorie Miller; handbook chairman, Ann Hall; president of Hillside Campuside, and Parkside, Betty Wilson; presidents of Magnolia Hall, Anna Geise and Irene Coleman; vice-president of the college, Joyce Carlton; and vice president of Parkside, Agnes Bedole.

The vice-presidency of Hillside remains undecided and will be considered again at the next meeting.

Of this number, 1166 are freshmen; 1228 upperclassmen; 177, juniors; and 298, seniors. There is one less senior than was invested last week.

Included in this official total are 13 graduates and 13 non-degree special students. Fifty-Five girls not included in these figures are enrolled as students in the department of the School of Music.

There are 1500 students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences; 564 in the School of Education; 177 in the School of Home Economics; and 94 in the School of Music, the Registrar's office announced.

The Demonstration school has an enrollment this year, said the Registrar's office.

Registrar Announces Enrollment of 2444

1228 Upperclassmen Return; Freshmen Number 1168

The Registrar's office announced yesterday that the official enrollment of students for the fall quarter is 2444. This is the largest count of girls in the school's history.

Of this number, 1166 are freshmen; 1228 upperclassmen; 177, juniors; and 298, seniors. There is one less senior than was invested last week.

Included in this official total are 13 graduates and 13 non-degree special students. Fifty-Five girls not included in these figures are enrolled as students in the department of the School of Music.

There are 1500 students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences; 564 in the School of Education; 177 in the School of Home Economics; and 94 in the School of Music, the Registrar's office announced.

The Demonstration school has an enrollment this year, said the Registrar's office.

Twin Trouble Has Campus in Dither; Confusion Mounts

Are you bothered with bafflingcinations? Are your eyes deceiving you lately? No, your glasses don't need changing, it's just twin trouble again. The campus seems to be dotted with identicles this year and students as well as faculty members are sharing in the confusion.

The Pinchey twins, Dorothy and Doris, arrived last year from Jacksonville Beach. Myra and Mairo Long from Cr stview were here to aid them in keeping everything wonderful. But "which was who."

Now there are fire more sets of twins enrolled. Although they are not all identicals many a person takes a second look for reassurance.

Among these "problem children" are Jean and Joy Simpson from Daytona Beach, Dorothy Ann Hall and Mary Frances Hall, Miami, the Carter twins, Jean and Joyce, from Jacksonville. Wind-

Continued on Page Two

Personnel Office Announces Contest

Mademoiselle, Vogue Sponsor Artistic Competition

Announcements of two publication contests, the annual Mademoiselle College Board competition and the Vogue Prix de Paris contest, received by Miss Elisabeth G. Andrews, director of personnel. Information about the two contests have been posted on the Personnel Office bulletin board.

The College Board contest is designed to discover girls who are interested in careers as writers, artists, and fashion designers. Winners are given an opportunity to write for Mademoiselle. In addition to the awarding of Victory Bonds and stamps, Mademoiselle pays for all work accepted for publication. Contest closing dates must complete approximately four assignments for 1946 are based upon the ideas and activities of the students they represent. The assignments take the form of articles and snapshots for publication.

In the late spring, Mademoiselle chooses fourteen College Board members to serve as guest editors. They spend the month of June in New York preparing the August college issue of the magazine.

In order to be eligible for the College Board contest, students must follow a definite application procedure, must maintain good scholastic averages, participate in extra-curricular activities and they must be acceptable for recommendation by college officials as responsible young citizens.

The eleventh Vogue Prix de Paris award is offered to students of American college and universities who are interested in a career in fashion, decorating, merchandising, and drama. The special award is given in a new division of the Prix de Paris contest. Outstanding drawings in the contest winners receive junior editorships in Vogue magazine. First prize is six months work on New York Vogue and six months with Paris Vogue, if conditions permit.

The contest consists of four scenes of the contestant's choice in a 1500 word article. In addition to Jobs on Vogue staff for first prize and second prize winners, Jobs on other Conde' Nast publications are open to students receiving honorable mention. All winners receive recommendations for job interviews with outstanding stores and advertising agencies.

Students who are interested in representing Florida State College as College Board members or contestants in the Vogue Prix de Paris may obtain information from Miss Andrews, through whom recommendations are made.

Talks Sponsored

Every Thursday at five o'clock the music department will sponsor a recital in the auditorium for the students. Ten or fifteen minutes will be given by music speakers concerning some phase of music.

Secretary Scoble Opperman, dean-emeritus of the School of Music, the first speaker, will talk-ed on "Musical Conversation." Yesterday Dr C P Heinlein, professor of psychology was the guest speaker. His topic was "Science and Music." Director Robert Miller, professor of philosophy and religion, will talk next Thursday. These recitals will continue throughout the year, and all students are invited.

Dr Cotterill Will Address Senior Class

Dr Campbell Will Invest 301 Seniors Tuesday In Ceremony

Processional on College Songs To Be Played

Dr R S Cotterill professor of history, will present the address of the evening on a topic which has not yet been announced at the Investiture service for the class of 1946 to be held Tuesday evening at 8 p m in Westcott auditorium. Three hundred and one seniors will be invested by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, with the aid of their sophomore sisters at this ceremony.

"Processional on College Songs" will be played by Mrs Ramona Beard as Dr Campbell invests the seniors. The devotional service, led by Miss Dorothy Parker, will follow, after which Katherine Merritt will sing Bond-Precia's "Gloria," accompanied by Mrs Beard at the organ. Dr Cotterill will then speak. And the recessional, "War March of the Priests" by Mendelssohn will close the ceremony.

Guests for the service include the class sponsors, Miss Daisy Parker and Dr Cyple Moore. Members of college executive council, who will also be seated on the stage, include Dr Campbell, Dean Olivia Norman, dean of students; Miss Katherine Warren, assistant dean of students; Miss Edna Grace, secretary, director of personnel; Dr Milton W Caruthers, registrar, and Mrs W Shaw, business manager. Heads of the various departments will also be present at the service.

Martha Jane Brown, class president, will lead the processional followed by Ann Carolyn Allison, president of the College Government Association. Behind her come other class officers, CGA officers and members of the Mortar Board.

In charge of planning the service were Martha Jane Brown and Carolyn Lester, vice-president of the class.

Interviews Held By Senior Girls

Over 40 freshmen flew through the Personnel office daily, three at a time, being interviewed by personality qualities and skills, according to Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of Personnel.

The information obtained is to be the basis of a permanent cumulative record of each student.

Four social work majors, Maurine Ashton, Betty Bell, Pauline Council, and Jane Mizelle are aiding the Personnel office in ascertaining this information. Other student interviewers are Louise H Brown, Letitia Groom, Clarice Hedgcoth, Jeanne McCoy, psychology majors, and Carolyn Bourland and Lois Dossey, home economics majors, and Jeanne Redfearn, a political science major, also aids in the interviewing.

Freshmen Talent Is Playnight Feature

All student on campus are urged to come to Playnight this evening. Freshmen are especially invited to attend since it is to be "All Freshmen Night," Jeanne Marquis, chairman of the Playnight committee.

The committee announces that the program for this week will be composed entirely of talent from the freshman class. Everyone think all freshmen, as well as others, who have any talent are cordially invited to come and find out what a good time everyone has.

Playnight is every Saturday night from 8 to 10:30. Everyone is invited to come out and have a good time.

Alpha Lambda Delta Has First Meeting

Plans for a supper honoring last year's active members and the 1945 initiates Alpha Lambda Delta meeting of the year held Wednesday night in the college room of the Student Alumnae building. New members will entertain the old members group at the home of Dr Dorothy Hoffman, faculty advisor for the honorary. Scoble Opperman, dean-emeritus of the School of Music, will be the guest speaker. He will talked on "Musical Conversation."

Yesterday Dr C P Heinlein, professor of psychology was the guest speaker. His topic was "Science and Music." Director Robert Miller, professor of philosophy and religion, will talk next Thursday. These recitals will continue throughout the year, and all students are invited.

Other business included the election of Mary Louise Van Netta as secretary replacing Lallie Hoeres, who did not return to school this year and the distribution of Alpha Lambda Delta pins and certificates. All members who have not yet received theirs may obtain them from Iris Parsons, treasurer of the organization, according to Martha Peacock, club president.

Bernice Scott Is Airline Stewardess

Graduate Sees Latin America While on Flight Duty

Bernice Scott, who graduated from Florida State College in May, 1945, has won her wings and is now a full-fledged airline hostess. She travels regularly to six Latin American countries and has been doing so for two months.

Bernice met all requirements for flight service employment last spring and then was sent to ground training school. There she learned to serve meals while flying and assist travelers in every way. She also learned something about meteorology, radio, and the handling of mail and baggages.

After this training, she and the other girls spent two weeks making short flights under the supervision of experienced stewards and stewardesses, and then at last were on their own. Eventually Bernice will make longer trips and see more sights.

"It's the little things I remember," Bernice said. "Shopping for perfume in Havana, seeing the Mayan ruins in Mexico, flying over the Florida keys early in the morning.

"I was really scared on one of my first trips when I learned that an airline official was coming aboard. But he was really nice, and I had no trouble at all. Then there was the time a lady got on and handed me two orchids. Of course, I know that orchids are a dime apiece where she came from, but my friends in Miami were certainly impressed."

Bernice's father, Claude S Scott, was formerly with the Industrial Commission in Tallahassee. While she was at Florida State College, Bernice majored in commerce and minored in Spanish and education. She was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

All for Spirogira

Attracted by Spirogira's black and white, two freshmen decided to join the honorary for Odds. An upperclassman kindly volunteered this advice: "All you have to do is to sign up in the Augusta Conradi theater. Just go over there and shout 'Hell's bells, where's little Nell?' Then get your name on the list first so that you'll have priority on being considered."

It all sounded silly, but the freshmen were game. Anyway lots of things sound silly to freshman. Their reception did not happen as they had planned for no one seemed to understand their questions. Sadly they left, vowing vengeance on their "friend" who was, as they later discovered, just an Esteren member.

F Club Members Tap Fifteen Goats

At their first tapping of the year, F Club chose 15 new members Monday night. The girls are now undergoing the customary period of goating, which will culminate in the club's traditional "Hell Week."

The goats, who have not as yet held their customary election of a president for their group, include Audrey Evans, Jeanne Bennett, Charlotte Bourland, Doris Hill, Lois Byrd, Mae Manning, Harriet Kirk, Nita Bowles, Cora Lea Wells, Joy Little, Ann MacInnis, Eileen Perry, Eugenia Booth, Theresa Myers and Mary Nell Goldman.

For the next two weeks F Club members will take permits for students who wish to go to Camp Flastacowo, announced Babe Evans, club president, following the regular meeting Tuesday night.

Senate Plans

Continued From Page One

bility of using an upperclassman who does not have her grades or a transfer stuuent was discussed in this matter. It was decided to appoint the transfer student. This is to be an exception rather than a precedent however, Ann Carolyn said.

The regular meeting time of the legislative and codifying committees was set at 9:30 p m every Wednesday night as announced by Dink Ashton, chairman of the legislative committee.

Kat Land chairman of the Senate Committee planning the November house meeting, outlined the program which they are planning to give at that time. The present working of CGA and what the students can do as members will be the theme of the house meetings.

Beth Fuhrer was appointed as chairman of the nomination committee to fill the vacancy left by Jean Koesy upon her election as senior representative. Connie Savage and Barbara Irving are serving with Beth on the committee.

Freshmen Lead

Continued From Page One

ried the girls back to the woods in style.

Unfortunately, the canoeing and bowling facilities at camp remained as they were before the freshman invasion. For it was dark when they left and too dark when they returned to have any fun, even if they had felt in the mood after a full day's drudgery.

The shining savior of the camp was Miss Ver Heoven, physical education teacher, who allowed each and every girl to enjoy the luxury of a bath in her private tub in her home. "Only her kindness," explains Violet May James, "saved us poor girls, determined to rid ourselves of a day's grit and grime, from an 11 p m outdoor bath in the lake.

Fourteen of the girls who survived freshman week at camp are now in Gilchrist smoker, but none dare smoke. The dangers of the woods still permeate their minds, and perhaps, too, the fear of a fiery wrath from above. On the door of their new abode hangs a paper with the heading, "Sad Sacks" and following is a list of the little "country gals" who finally found their way back to the city and the civilization of FSC.

Five FSC Grads

Continued From Page One

as pellegra, malaria, and hook worm. The committee, a new experiment in the Public Health service, then makes recommendations to improve the health of the various communities.

Another graduate who has been visiting here is Helen Everett from Alexandria, Virginia, who received her MS in 1936. A nutritionist for the National Red Cross, she is visiting her sister, Mrs Marian McIntosh, a student.

Hilda Jane Walters, class of 1931, was one of the first FSC students to receive an MD degree. She is now one of four doctors in Bethesda, Maryland.

Other visitors on campus this past week were Mary Vocelle, former picture editor on the Florida Flambeau, and Mary Parker, formerly in the American Red Cross, both 1944 graduates. Mary Vocelle represented the Flambeau at the San Francisco Conference last spring.

Deadline Is Set For Getting Annuals

All students who have not gotten their 1945 annuals are requested to do so Friday afternoon between 3 and 6 at the Flastacowo office in the Student Alumnae building. This is the last time they will be given out, according to Margaret Baugh, editor of the Flastacowo.

Pictures of the juniors are now being taker for the 1946 Flastacowo. Appointments can be made at the table in lower Westcott 9-5 daily, according to Margaret. The cost of the pictures are $2.

All students especially freshmen who are interested in worknig on the Flastacowc staff are requested by Margaret Baugh to get in touch with her through 1019 campus mail stating all qualifications.

Home Fires Caused 7,000 Deaths 400,000 Homeless Last Year

More than 7,000 persons, mostly women and children, were burned to death and more than 400,000 families were made homeless in 1944 because people ignored simple precautions against fire.

Even elementary precautions against the danger of fire which may cost your life or the lives of your loved ones would have averted the preponderance of these fires, according to the October issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, which lists several precautions to take against fire in your home.

Floffy clothing while cooking is one of the major causes of fires in the bome, according to the article, which advises women to wear short-sleeved dresses while cooking.

"Screen your fireplace to keep popping embers off rugs, apholstery," the article states. "Be careful where you put your eigarette. Nearly 300 fires are caosed each week by persons forgetting to disconnect their electric irous. Be especially carefnl aboot dry-cleaning fluids which are bighly inflammable.

"Watch out for fires starting in rubbish. Put in metal, not wooden, containers. Keep your heating pad dry to avoid not only fires but painful hurns or shock. Be careful to keep your portable heater away from curtains and woodwork where people might stumble over it.

"If you must burn dead leaves, other debris, withoot an incinerator, do it on a windless day in a clear space far from house or outboildings and away from grass, shrubs and hedges."

Once a fire starts in your home, if you can't extinguish it within a few eeconds after you discover it, doo't continoe to fight it. Get everyone out of the house and call the fire department.

In this connection, the article points out thet it is advisable, as a precaotionary measure, to learn tbe location of the oearest fire box and also to train tha family in the best means of escaping from the house, especially if the doors and stairs are blocked by flames.

Outing Club Makes Plans for This Year

The first meeting of the year of the Outing Club was held October 5, 1945, in the Student Alumnae clubroom. Here plans were made for a Gaines woods hike which had to be postponed later because of uncertain weather.

Outing Club's plans for the year include many events in which all students here in the college will have the chance to participate.

Plans are not yet complete for the first outing event, but if arrangements can be made there will be a trip to Wakulla Springs before the weather gets too cold for swimming. Students are notified to watch the bulletin boards for further announcements.

A trip to Gaines woods, a breakfast hike, an afternoon at the college camp, a visit to the Messer estate, a hike for the purpose of seeing historic places in Tallahassee, and a possible hike to the college dairy are listed as coming events.

Officers and committee heads for the following year include Amarene Thompson, president; Catherine Sullivan, secretary; Evelyn Breedlove, in charge of food; Charlotte Bourland, in charge of finance; Rosemary Ferro, publicity chairman, and Bobby Reese reporter to Flambeau.

Day Students to Meet

A meeting of all day students will be held next Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Day Students Launge, announced Geraldine Brumby, vice president of the organization.

A secretary and senate representative will be elected, since the girls who were to serve in these offices have resignd.

Plans for a week-end at Camp Flastacown in November are to be discussed, and rules for winning the freshman cup will be outlined."

Geraldine urges that "all members be present at this important meeting."

Watson for Changes

Continued From Page One

state, which offers many courses at its white colleges that are not offered at Florida A and M college for Negroes, has the "simple choice of sending our Negro boys and girls to the University of Florida and Florida Stata College for Women or sending them some place else."

President W H Gray, jr, of Florida A and M college said he has 15 applications for admission to his institution for courses which are not offered.

With only Attorney General Watson casting a negative vote, the cabinet, sitting as a budget commission, agreed to make available $7,000 from A and M college funds to provide scholarships outside the stata for Negro studenta and said more would be forthcoming later if it becomes necessary.

The state board of education and the state board of control at a joint session in Gainesville Sunday approved regulations setting up scholarships to pay the difference between what it will cost a Florida Negro to attend college outside the state and what it would cost in Florida.

The scholarships would be awarded only for enrollment in courses which are offered at the Florida State College for Women and the University of Florida, but not at Florida A and M college for Negroes.

The Negro school president said although there are only 15 applicants at present for such instruction, he estimated there will be 150 a year for the next five years if the scholarships are made available. (Reprinted from the Daily Democrat.)

Sister Kenny Charges Plot Against Infantile Treatment

Forces so powerful that they even succeeded in blocking a Congressional investigation are arrayed against the work of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, whose revolutionary technique for the treatment of infantitle paralysis has made her the storm center of a national controversy, Representative Donald L. O'Toole of Brooklyn, charged today.

Sister Kenny, whoee revolutionary method of treating infantile paralysis has brought her global attention, is convinced that all her difficulties in winning recognition are attributable to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, of which Basil O'Connor is present, and the American Medical Association, for which Dr. Morris Fishbein is spokesman, according to an article in the October issue of Cosmopolitan magazine in which she tells for the first time her own story of the rebuffs which she met in this country.

"Nobody is interested in your theories," she quotes O'Connor as saying to her at the end of a two-hour conference after she presented to him an official letter from the Premier of Australia highly commending her work. "You had better retorn to Australia."

Engulfed with despair at this reception sha was about to retorn to ber native Australia when unofficial recognition of the merit of her treatment won her an appointment as Special Gnest Instructor on the staff of the University of Minnesota and the people of that stata gave her a home and a big hospital—the Elizabeth Kenny Institute—in which to continoe her work.

Although medical societies affiliated with the American Medical Association have endorsed the Sister Kenny method of treating infantile paralysis, and part of the treatment is even used at the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, of which O'Connor is president, the National Foondation has denied Sister Kenny any of its millions for further research, she charges.

Commenting on the blocking of a Congressional inquiry which she sponsored, Representative O'Toola said:

"I knew that such an inquiry would prove Sister Kenny, who unfortunately isn't an M.D., has the only successfol treatment for infantile paralysis in all the world.

"But some of the most powerful forces in tha United States threw their weight against such an investigation—weight used right op to the top. We were np against a stone wall, and lost, and I so told Sister Kenny."

FSC Grads Holding Promising Positions In New York City

Among the many alumnaa of Florida State College quite a few hava recently found promising positions in New York.

Elizabeth McFarland, a graduate of last year and former editor of the Distaff, is now poetry editor of "The Scholastic." This magazine is used in high schools and colleges throughout the country.

Graduating two years ago as editor of the Flambeau, Mildred Heston is now a member of the editorial staff of Prentice Hall, New York book publishers.

Jo Ann Carrol, who also graduated last year, holds a position with the Botanical Gardens.

Mante Theophilatos is affiliated with the New York bureau of tha London Daily Mail. Mante graduated from FSC in 1943.

Another alumna whn continued her college work in an occupational capacity is Cherie Stevens. Prominent in the college plays while in school, Cherie has recently been cast in the New York production "Stage Door."

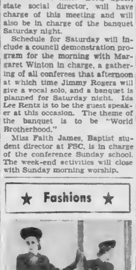
Dorothy Barclay, several years ago a graduate of FSC is at the present on the ataff of the New York Times.

Mildred Zindler, a former art major, is now continuing her study of art in New York.

Editor of the Distaff a few years ago, Margaret Daiz has recently been employed by the Office of Censorship.

Also a holder of the FSC diploma is Marian Conner. While in school she took an interest in radin work and is now engaged in that field at Radio City.

BSU Sends 66 Girls To State Convention



The State Baptist Student Union convention is meeting today through Sunday in Gainesville with seven Florida colleges and universities represented, including 66 girls from Florida State College. The theme of the convention is "Christ, My Imperative."

A felowship group gathering has been planned for the first meeting of the week-end. Students from each college will present a stunt at this time. Betty Speer, state social director, will have charge of this meeting and will also be in charge of the banquet Saturday night.

Schedule for Saturday will include a council demonstration program for the morning with Margaret Winton in charge, a gathering of all conferees that afternoon at which time Jimmy Rogers will give a vocal solo, and a banquet is planned for Saturday night. Ida Lee Rentz is to be the guest speaker at this occasion. The theme of the banquet is to be "World Brotherhood."

Miss Faith James, Baptist student director at FSC, is in charge of the conference Sunday school. The week-end ectivities will close with Sunday morning worship.

★ Fashions ★

Clothes must be ehosen with care if yoor proportions are large. A too-tight skirt can make you look even larger than yon really are. Sbown above as pictured in tha October issue of Good Housekeeping magazioe is the indiepensable soit-dress in navy or red wool.

Behind Your Bonds

Lies the Might of America

WHEAT IN OREGON

Oregon's principal crop, wheat, totals 20,424,000 bushels a year worth $15,263,000. Oats, barley, corn and rye are grown in substantial quantities. Its applea, peers and cberries are major economic items. Vegetables thrive there. Oregon produces almost 8 million bushels of potatoes and 660,000 sacks of onions yearly. All that rolls up added wealth for the Nation behind your Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Library Exhibits Versions of Bible

"National Bible Week," October 15-21, was this week's library exhibit.

In the glass case in the center of the vestibule of tha library were various versions of the Bible which may be found in the library.

The versions included: "The Living Bible," edited by Polton Hall, which gives the whole Bible in its fewest words; "The Modern Reader's Bible" presented in the modern literary form and edited by Richard G Moulton; "Chain-Reference Bible," Thompson's Chain Reference and Text Cyclopedia by Frank Charles Thompson; "The English Bible" translated out of the original tongues by Commandment of King James the First; "The Holy Bible" cootaining the Old and the New Testament translated from tha Latin Vulgate; and "The Bible," an American translation of the Old and the New Testament translated by J M Powis Smith and Edgar J Goodspeed.

There is also a book which contains facsimile leaves from the Gutenberg Bible.

A poster on the bulletin board urged the reading of the Bibla every day as a "fountain of strength" and a "source of inspiration."

Twin Troubles

Continued From Page One

fred and Virginia Anthony of Palm Beach, and the Johnson twins from Quincy, Betty and Marian.

Being a double has its humorous aspects as well as its puzzling ones. The Finchers told of the experience whereby a friend from Duke University came to visit Dorothy. It had been two years since she had last seen him. On his arrival she eagerly opened the door only to have him walk nonchalantly by and hug her sister, Doris.

Another unsuspecting male also fell victim to a plan of Myra and Moira Long. Myra had made the date and although the boy had been with her on previous occasions he never knew he was dating the other twin, Moira. The confusing conversation involved can easily be imagined.

All the girls claim that teachers and companions are forever confusing them. They always try to speak to everyone who greets them, but if some day in return for a hearty "Hello" you receive a puzzled look, you haven't lost a friend — it is just another bad guess.

Sixteen tree planting machines built after one designed by the Agricultural Engineering Department at the University of Wisconsin have completed the plantin gof over 5,000,000 trees during the 1944 and 1945 tree planting seasons.

For Upperclassmen

All sophomores, juniors, and seniors wishing to work on the usher committee please sign up on the Social Standards bulletin board by Saturday noon.

Shape of Florida Is Idea for House

In the "Letters to the Editors" column in the October 1 issue of the Life magazine Dr Raymond Bellamy, proffessor of sociology, suggested a floor plan for a house built in the shape of the state of Florida, similar to the idea submitted in an earlier issue in regard to the state of Texas.

The house is a one-story elongated building with the rooms fitted into the shape of tha state of Florida. Tha laundry and tool room, garage and kitchen run from west to east across the northern part of tha state. The dining room, combined living room and bedroom, another bedroom, and a playroom follow in line down to the end of the peninsula. A large closet for the bedroom fills in the irregularly shaped tip of the state. There are doors entering from points at Miami, Tampa, St Augustine, and Jacksonville. The back doors lead out into Georgia and into Pensacola harbor. The shape of the state of Florida even makes provisions for an overhang for a shade.

Evens Oust Odd

Remembering that Evens had no freshmen this year, the directors of Even demonstration were surprised to see one girl at tryouts who was definitely an "eager beaver." She had tried out for many of the parts, and on tha dancing tryouts had even worked out her own routine.

Spotting her as promising material, the girl in charge asked for her name and classification. When the girl said she was a freshman, the director was fearful, but pursued the point further asking her if perhaps she was a third quarter freshman.

"No, I'm just a freshman," answed the girl. So they tell her that freshmen are Odds and aren't allowed to be in Even demonstration!

Sociologists Glean New Ideas From Recent Experiences

The members of the sociology department have returned to the campus with new ideas and experiences that they have gathered through their various activities during the summer.

Mrs Margaret C Bristol, assistant professor of sociology, attended the workshop in social work at the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio in early June. In connection with the Inca Museum on campus, Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, visited the Heye Foundation in New York City in early July. Dr Bellamy was selecting certain relics and artifacts from the Heye collection which were to be received in exchange for some Inca pieces. The first shipment of artifacts have already arrived. It contains pottery and worked shells of Florida Indians.

While in New York Dr Bellamy was the guest of Mr and Mrs Victor Carter, the donors of the Inca collection. Former students of Dr Bellamy's acted as principal guides on some research into night-club life while in New York City.

Immediately after V-J day, Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology and director of social work, and some of his friends from Jacksonville, Florida and Mooresville, North Carolina departed for a Canadian trip. Professor Moore stopped at various Indian mounds around Cairo, Illinois and made some first-hand observations of corn and grain farming in Iowa, the Dakotas, and tha provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. He was in Canada for fifteen days, and has been regaling his friends with stories of funny incidents that happened to the party on the trip.

Miss Caroline Blue, assistant professor of sociology, taught at the University of Alabama during the summer quarter.

Rogers Made Dean

Miss Margaret S Rogers, former residence conselor in Landis, has been appointed Dean of students at Webber College, Babson Park, Florida.

She will also teach a course in psychology which she calls "A Course in Making Decisions." Miss Rogers received he. B A from Rollins College and her M A from Boston University.

Complete Your Wardrobe with a new

Suit and Sweater

We also have that Special Date Dress and Coat for big evenings ahead

Mae's Shop

Sterling Barrettes

$1.75 up

Tax Inc.

We engrave them. Wear a barrette and make it easy for others to know your name.

W. W. PUTNAM

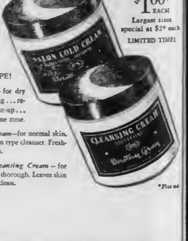
Registered Jeweler

AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

308 S. Monroe St.

ONLY ONCE A YEAR!

Dorothy Gray



CLEANSING CREAMS

reg. $2 sizes

$1.00* EACH

Largest sizes special at $2* each

LIMITED TIME!

SPECIALIZED CREAMS FOR EVERY SKIN TYPE!

Dry-Skin Cleanser — for dry skin. Richly lubricating ... removes dirt, stale make-up ... helps soften at the same time.

Salon Cold Cream — for normal skin. Bland cold-cream type cleanser. Freshens as it cleanses.

Liquefying Cleansing Cream — for oily skin. Light, thorough. Leaves skin looking crystal-clean.

*Plus tax

BENNETT'S

COLLEGE INN PHARMACY

Phone 800

MONROE STREET PHARMACY

Phone 93

Sports Have Good Turnout

...ld and Even Leaders See Optimistic Future

Practices for four Odd-Even teams are continuing to run on schedule with a hopeful outlook expressed by leaders of the respective teams.

Soccer and hockey leaders are using new bursts of team energy with the arrival of cold weather and all to their optimistic outlook as the Odd-Even sportd season.

The hockey teams, coached ...y Heath sponsors, Miss Calliope Pantazi, Miss Harrietta Greenstone, and Miss Margaret Stanion as captain. Demonstration games were Friday to review fundamentals and rules. Evelyn Stuckey, team leader and Nita Nord, Odd leader are both expecting good showings from their teams. Evelyn says that all the Evens are experienced players having participated in Odd-Even and class games last year. Smooth experienced Odds came out to form a team, and the Odds are confident players are capable and eager, said Nita.

Elizabeth Gallagher, Even soccer leader echoed Miss Fox, coach of the Even team, in saying that the honor for a Thanksgiving victory are well-grounded. Forty players turned out for practice Friday and the Evens are working on new plays.

Odd prospects were strengthened by a turnout of 60 players Friday. Leader Virginia Pilsner stated that practice games between the rival classes will be under way "in a week or two."

Neither Priscilla Clark, Odd leader, nor Carolyn Bourland, Even leader, of archery would make any predictions as to her respective team's prospects for the future, but both will have good material to choose from, they said. Odds and Evens are now practicing regularly, and approximately 25 Evens have signed up for practices.

Modern dance practices continued to both Odds and Evens began to feel the shadow of approaching performing games. Enthusiasm was high among the freshmen, 54 of whom have signed up for modern dance. Alice Ruth Odd leader, said, "I think that this is the finest number that I've heard of, and we should surely have a good team." Anne Widerquist, Even leader, indicated that the Evens' schools are still working on technique, would soon start on their main dances.

Currencies of several Latin American countries have been named after celebrated persons: Bolivano (Bolivia), Bolivar (Venezuela) for Simon Bolivar; Colon (Costa Rica and El Salvador) for Columbus; Sucre (Ecuador) for General de Sucre; Balboa (Panama) for Vasco Nunes de Balboa.

Southern Fried Chicken Dinner
Fried Shrimp Platter
SMORGASBORD
Every Thursday Night
6:30—8:30
PHONE FOR RESERVATION 837
THREE T's TEA ROOM

Stop That Cold!
1-2-3 Kold Medicine in Liquid and Capsule Form
Liquid . . . 50c | | Capsule . . . 50c
(Not a Laxative)
Also
Aqueous Nose Drops
50c
Martin & Dalton's
Phone 123 210-212 S. Adams St.

Life Saving Corps Entertains Freshmen

Activities Are in Full Sway; Classes Meet Monday

As a part of its initial activities for the new social year, Life Saving Corps is planning a splash party for prospective freshman members of the corps. The party is to be given this evening at 7:30 in the college pool, and the agenda of entertainment will be a short program to be presented by members, water games to be played by all, and refreshments to be served afterwards at the Sweet Shop.

Committees and their chairmen are as follows: Sweep Shop committee, Marjorie Holm; games committe, Anne Herns; comedy committee, Joyce Cayer and Nancy MacKlwards; and invitation, and decoration committee, Margaret Ann Shackleford

Senior Life Saving classes began last Monday night under the instruction of Gladys "Skoka" Lester, president of Life Saving Corps, and Anna Horne, with Miss Margaret Stanion as faculty supervisor. Twenty-eight students were enrolled. Those who successfully complete the course will be qualified to serve as guards in the college pool and in any other bathing areas where life guards are needed.

The purpose of the Red Cross in sponsoring these classes is to promote safety in the water for all persons, and to teach each person to save his own life and that of others.

Mr Eohrand, Red Cross field representative, from Jacksonville, will be at the college during November to instruct in several Red Cross activities.

The freshman orientation class is a swimming party on Monday All those signed up as guards ur instructors for these classes are requested to attend their duties in these capacities.

At a business meeting of the Life Saving Corps will be held this week the exact date to be announced later. The business of the meeting will be the election of an assistant secretary from the freshmao members of the Corps and the selection of other miscellaneous business.

Let's Donce

Coalition club, an organization composed of the acknowledged good dancers of Florida State College is conducting a "Rec" every night in the Student Alumnae building it was announced by Harriett Hazard, president.

Members of the club are looking for students who can lead and follow well as prospective tapees.

One of President Truman's favourite hobbies is to peruse the statutes having to do with the duties of the President of the United States, according to the October issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. One he unearthed recently states that the President shall fix the fees of all fortune tellers in the Panama Canal Zone.

Above is pictured Florida State College's Westcott building. It harbors classrooms, offices, the post office, college bank book store and numerous other activities vital to the running of a college.

Exchange of Students Urged As U. S. Good Neighbor Aid

Exchange of students between the United States and other countries will go a long way in the post-war world toward cementing good will between this and other nations, in the opinion of leading educators.

Top experts in international relations also agree that to young Americans studying abroad and to foreign students rounding out their educations in the United States will fall much of the responsibility of educating the peoples of the world about one another, according to an article in the October issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

These international experts seem to feel that heretofore the nations have presented distorted pictures of American life; that diplomats never meet the common people of other nations, and that tourists are too busy hitting the points of interest to bother much about improving relations between the United States and other nations.

Students are admirably fitted to serve as emissaries of good will, in the opinion of Dr. I. L. Kandel of Teachers College, Columbia University, who says:

"Students carry with them few prejudices and preconceived notions. They examine a society, a culture, and a people different from their own with open, inquiring minds. If sufficiently mature and if selected by rigid standards from outstanding institutions of learning, even though thousands of miles removed from the restraining influences of home, most students depart themselves, both in and out of the classroom, in a manner reflecting credit on their nation of origin."

THE RECORD RACK.....

The Fall college term, along with new classes, new clothes and the present crop of fresh faces around the campus, also has brought with it a big backlog of the latest record releases which may have been missed during the summer months. Now's the time to stock up a stack of discs to while away the winter nights along fraternity row. And there's plenty to choose from!

Have you kept up during vacation on the new Ellington discs? The Duke, in top form, has released a pair of platters for RCA Victor that display his superb musicianship to the best advantage. "Every Hour On the Hour" is a typical Ellington jump tune backed with a haunting melody that gets an expert treatment from the boys in the band. There's an irresistible Johnny Hodges sax solo with a beautifully phrased vocal by Al Hibbler as well this commercial-sounding release. "Time's A-Wastin'", the flipover, is a good excursion into the lowdown groove. The boys in the band scorch the shellac with searing brass, and plenty of solid rhythm. Another choice bit of RCA Victor Ellingtonia that deserves special mention is "(Otto, Make That) Riff Staccato", which has a catchy rhythmic pattern that lingers on long after the disc has stopped spinning. It's a really original and unique novelty number. The reverse side, "Everything But You," is still another blues song in the best Ellington manner with an effective vocal by Joya Sherrill.

Vaughn Monroe has been keeping the turntables revolving at a rapid pace with some fourth new RCA Victor releases in the most tuneful Monroe manner. "Something Sentimental" bids fair to repeat the success of Vaughn's earlier outstanding hit, "There, I've Said It Again." The maestro and The Norton Sisters weave a colorful lyric pattern to swaying dance tempo. It's platter-mate, "(Why Don't You Look Me Up) Down In Chi-Chi Hotcha Mokalee," is a contagious novelty played at a lively jump tempo. A country vocal highlights this amusing novelty. Vaughn also gives Hoagy Carmichael's trick new ditty, "No More Troujours L'Amour," a solid performance. T'h e Carmichael tune is the droll musical picture of a soldier's short and not too happy leave. The turnover, "The Story of Two Cigarettes," is a sad and sentimental tale of a broken romance. Both of these numbers are on the top head of Monroe's current RCA Victor offerings.

Another bandleader out during the summer with a strong batch of current releases due now to whirl merrily on the phonos and juke boxes is Sammy Kaye, on the market with his first RCA Victor album, "Stephen Foster Favorites." The beloved old tunes are dressed in sprightly modern harmonic patterns which brilliantly showcase their sentimental charm. A typically melodious "Swing and Sway" single from the popular Kaye baton is "Promises" coupled with "I'll Be Walkin' With My Honey." It's smooth and mellow Kaye styling with delightful vocals by Billy Williams and Nancy Norman.

There's another RCA Victor release out of the Tommy Dorsey dicring of Pite Top Smith's immortal "Boogie Woogie." It's the third for his classic rendition and still the customers mmeet the demand. One listening gives the answer. The beat is contagious as coupled with Dorsey's new ballad, "There You Go," featuring high wailing and the romantic voice of Stuart Foster. Tee Dee's new orchestral version of "Hong Kong Blues" also is a natural for spell-binding listening on RCA Victor's black label. On the reverse of this oriental excursion. The sentimental Gentleman gives out with the sweet as only he can on "You Came Along," a beautiful love song superbly showcased in fine Dorsey style.

An interesting new voice on the vocal horizon is that of Betty Jane Bonney. A session with her newest RCA Victor release, "Ho Hum" and "I Can Make You Love Me," will show what a distinctive singing style this attractive young thrush has. It's warm, appealing and intimate charm will make it a prize possession in any dorm.

Two new tunes with unusually appealing melodies, "That's For Me" and "Yolanda," are played to perfection by Artie Shaw and his band on RCA Victor.

Stardust in your "Bonnet"?

We mean "captured stardust" or Roger & Gallet dry perfume. Just put some of this powdered perfume between two thin layers of cotton and actually tuck it in your "bonnet". It's the cutest surest way of keeping your favorite Roger & Gallet scent with you all the time. Your hair will be fragrant with "captured stardust."

ROGER & GALLET

Chapel Hill Meets Women Vet Needs

GREENSBORO, N C, (I P)—To meet the needs of women war veterans, the faculty of The Woman's College of the University of North Carolina has set up a Veterans' Education committee, approved certain modification of courses, and provided for a committee on curriculum problems, looking toward further changes.

Important in the plans for meeting the needs of service women is the decision to allow nurses of the army and navy medical corps to obtain a college degree by taking two years of college work. In addition to the nurses' training already received.

It is recommended that this also apply to graduate nurses of approved hospitals who have carried on their profession on the home front during the war, the faculty recognizing an obligation to public health nurses, who face the outstanding difficulty of trying to obtain college degrees.

Other suggested curriculum changes are the setting up of special physiotherapy, homemaking and secretarial courses for women veterans and placing first year foreign language courses on a status-a-year basis, to enable students to finish the entire language requirement in one year.

The Veterans' Education committee is charged with dealing "with all problems relating to the academic placement" of veterans, psychological testing, vocational and social advising;" with publishing data on credits and with recommending further curriculum changes to meet the needs and interests of women veterans.

The committee on curricular problems will consist of a faculty committee of 20 members, one to be elected by each of the 20 major departments, and a student advisory committee of like number and representation, to be chosen by students majoring in the departments. Each division shall elect a temporary committee of five members to coordinate findings and recommendations to the larger committee.

Intramurals Open With Basketball

The 1945 intramural basketball season opened Monday afternoon when the Delta Delta Delta's won over the Alpha Delta Pi's; the Chi Omega's over the Kappa Alpha Theta's; Bryan Hall over Brown and Hall: and Reynolds Hall over the Villages.

Tuesday afternoon the games were resumed as the Zeta Tau Alpha's eliminated the Pi Beta Phi's; the Phi Mu's eliminated the Kappa Delta's; Gilchrist Hall eliminated Jennie Murphree Hall; and the Alpha Chi Omega's and the Delta Phi Epsilon's fought to a tie.

The rivalry stepped up a notch Wednesday afternoon with the Zeta Tau Alpha's defeating the Alpha Gamma Delta's, 10 8; the Delta Delta Delta's defeating the Chi Omega's 17-10; the Delta Zeta's defating the Sigma Kappa's 12-6; and Reynolds Hall defeating Bryan Hall, 15-7.

Yesterday the competition gained momentum when the Delta Zeta's were triumphant over the Delta Phi Epsilon's 22-4; the Phi Mu's over the Alpha Chi Omega's, 14-12; over the Zeta Tau Alpha's, 31-9; Reynolds over the Delta Zeta Delta's, 20-14.

The games will continue today and Monday the finals being played at that time.

School Is Moved

Florida High School has been moved from the Demonstration School to Leon High School, according to Dr R L. Goulding, superintendent of the Demonstration School. Dr Goulding stated that the reason for this was the inability to secure a full and sufficient faculty and the lack of prospect of obtaining one in the near future. The resumption of the high school depends upon the securing of a complete faculty. Student teachers will now serve in Leon High School and other high schools in the county.

New Jr Officers

Sara Ellen Glenn, Juanita Nord, and Juanita Bowles were elected yesterday to fill the junior class offices of Senate representative, secretary and parliamentarian, respectively, according to the returns of the election held in lower Westcott.

Mary Lou Norwood was elected Chairman of the Junior Miniatures in the primaries on Tuesday.

INSIDE CGA

AN' CAROLYN ALLISON

Ten students holding ten different offices make up your Executive Council of CGA. This is the group which is the definite link between faculty and students. Because there are so many things which need to be done because it is very easy to fall into the rule of lethargy when doing the routine business of an office, we have set up certain aims for this school year. Of necessity they must be general in scope and form.

First of all, to promote a spirit of unity over our entire campus will be our aim. Secondly, we hope to make each student feel a part of the college government through active participation in its various agencies, and to present the Honor Code as a vital part of college living.

To make Executive Council a channel through which the views of both faculty and students may be coordinated an't to make the student body conscious of the fact that we are all citizens of the world as well as members of this select community will be another aim.

We think it is important to work closely with the Flambeau in maintaining an informed student body in order to carry out these objectives.

We intend to improve our student government by exchanging ideas with other members of the following organizations: National Student Federation of America, Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Government, and Florida Student Government Association.

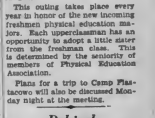
To realize at all times that each member of the student body is an individual is all one of our constant aims.

It seems to me that these objectives cover most of the phases of our campus life. It is a challenge to realize that here are over two thousand people, each possessing an individual personality and potentiality. It is inspiring, too, to realize that in all probability they will be the leaders in the local communities. They will be doing that or failing the State and its people for the trust it has placed in their education.

Your officers then can only strive to carry on their activities in such a way as to give to you a satisfaction and a sense of achievement in your growth here —not only in scholarship—but in awareness, participation, ...n d service.

PEA to Hold Meet October 22 at 7:30

Will Elect New Treasurer; Plan Annual Outing



There will be a business meeting of the Physical Education Association Monday, October 22, at 7:30 p m., Evelyn Stucky, president, has announced.

The main purpose of the meeting is to elect a treasurer to replace Candy Jones, who has resigned. There are also several other business matters to be settled, including final plans for the annual Big-Little Sister outing. The picnic will be held in the traditional place below the hockey field at the old "PEA Family Tree." The tentative date for this annual affair is next Wednesday at 6 p m. Plans for a wiener roast, porgram and songs are being arranged.

This outing takes place every year in honor of the new incoming freshmen physical education majors. Each upperclassman has an opportunity to adopt a little sister from the freshman class. This is determined by the seniority of members of Physical Education Association.

Plans for a trip to Camp Flaccarowo will also be discussed Monday night at the meeting.

Behind Your Bonds
Lies the Might of America

LIVESTOCK IN KANSAS
Despite the general opinion, livestock, and not wheat, is a chief source of income in Kansas. That state also has the largest broom corn market and is first among all states for flour milling, averaging more than 13,000,000 barrels each year. Such diversified production helps build the wealth of a great nation. The Bonds of that nation are the world's soundest investment.
U. S. Treasury Department

Warm Blankets
Size 72x84
Cannon 50% Wool Blankets in solid Colors—Rose Dust—Blue—Apricot 8.16
American Woolen Mills 100% Wool Blankets in solid colors—Green, Blue, Rose 10.95
THE SURPRISE STORE
"Tallahassee's Busiest Department Store"

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

Ah-ha! Rat caps dull silver wings

● EVALUATE, THEN ELIMINATE

Pencils have been sharpened, tennis racquets have new strings, books are dusted off, our hours are reserved at a Soda Shop table—our intentions for a successful college year are good, but our actions must be carefully watched for assurance that we keep on an even keel.

"Join, join, join," cry the organizations. "Come, come, come," beckon the bulletin boards. "Study, study, study," warn the teachers. "Play, have a big time," friends cajole. At the beginning of the school year this "attraction" is predominent on most campuses.

Before we sign for any irons in the fire it is wise to stand a safe distance from all the luring activities, gaze upon them, pick out the ones which are the most interesting and beneficial to us, and then weigh them mentally to be sure they don't upset the balance of the duties and responsibilities of our schedule cards.

A true living education is designed to guide us to build satisfactory lives—a life which gives the individual happiness and at the same time is beneficial to society. Many factory lives do not stop with the earning of a livelihood; education serves a far more important purpose than merely teaching a vocation. Education must help students to mold a clear-cut philosophy of life, warn us to be skeptical of stories we hear and read—not to be "taken-in" by everything that comes along; and to self relinate of thought which is essential equipment for citizens of a democracy.

This goal, which every one of us should want to attain, can not be reached by attending an interminable series of meetings, although some are helpful and enjoyable. Sitting in the library day after day with books piled high around us will not take us up to the third step. A schedule which contains so many physical activities that there is no energy left to devote to thought is certainly not reaching the goal. A system in which there is no time for hull sessions and chats with friends over a coke is not highly beneficial.

It is clear that the above examples are extreme cases, but in this way it is more easily seen that a happy medium must be established for every person. It is up to the individuals to choose from all the activities a few which she feels will be most beneficial and at the same time give her most pleasure. These should be varied enough to offer recreation and social activity, vocational training and intellectual pursuit.

The point system and organizations committee guide us, but the final analysis is up to the student herself to so regulate her activities as to get the most personal satisfaction of her college years.

● REPERCUSSION

In protest to the state of siege declared last week by Argentina's Provisional President Juan Peron, 30,000 university students turned their campuses into battlefields for freedom and democracy. Early in the incident classes were disbanded, hut as arrests increased and freedom of speech and assembly were curtailed, a need for stronger protest was seen. Declaring a retaliation strike the students of six universities worked together against the counter-blows of police, drawing the eye of the continent once again to the military regime of Argentina.

At the University of La Plata, students turned 20 blocks in the center of town into a battleground, blacking out the area by smashing streetlights and tripping up mounted police with low-strung wires. Strikers on campus barricaded the university buildings, while engineering students broadcast a denunciation of the military regime over improvised transmitters. As police and firemen rushed the buildings with reinforcements, the students were slowly driven from classroom to classroom by high-pressure fire hoses and tear gas. Throwing benches, chairs, blackboards —anything with which to defend themselves—strikers were finally overcome in the central hall and, with some 50 injured and one killed, were forced to yield their positions.

At the University of Buenos Aires, a similar struggle was under way. When barricaded buildings were surrou-ied by police, cutting off communications and supply, small groups of women sneaked through guard lines to throw packages of food and cigarettes in the windows and to replace with oranges the disconnected water supply. Repeated attacks on the strike-bound campus were made and finally police succeeded in the capture of some 2,000 students, who were sent to prisons throughout the city. Coed participants were housed in the filthy Asilo San Miguel, a prison for prostitutes and degenerates, from which several inmates had to be released to make room for students.

The case of Argentina is an extreme one. It is not often that students are called upon to defend physically the rights and freedoms which true education demands. But Argentina is important in its evidence that no college or university is an entity within itself. A tiny community which follows a secluded way of life when disaster threatens on every side. It is important in its evidence of student realization of the need to fight for rights and freedom and student power when joined together against a common enemy.

● OR FOREVER HOLD YOUR PEACE

"Or forever hold your peace" is a phrase most often connected with white tulle and orange blossoms, which, when it is spoken, gives the disappointed swain his last legal opportunity to recapture his love without divorce proceedings. Here on campus, however, it means that anyone, either student or faculty member, with a desire to get certain statements off his chest, has a medium for doing so.

"Or Forever Hold Your Peace" has been a regular column of the Flambeau for this purpose. Freshmen, perhaps, are unaware that it exists, but it does and all contributions are welcomed and are printed regardless of content provided that each letter is signed by its author. It is not a column for the expression of opinions for any one person or student group, and it is not a Flambeau-solicited feature.

With the advent of the quarter system, changes in the cut system, and other innovations in procedures connected with our behavior, there are undoubtedly diversified opinions on many points which will remain unanswered in our minds. It is the purpose of this column to air views and perhaps gain explanations.

The right to express personal opinion on matters concerning you and others like you is yours. You are, or should be, governed by certain conditions and regulations which exist, because no one can be more directly affected by the aforementioned than you. If changes are necessary or desirable in our community-life here, it is the responsibility of each member of the community to make their opinion known. This column, we believe, offers the opportunity for you to reach the largest number of people with what you think or feel.

There is also another means for expressing your ideas: talking to your representatives to Student Senate. You elected them to represent you. We heartily urge you to utilize both of these methods, so let's hear what you have to say.

We express deepest sympathy to Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell in the recent loss of Mrs Campbell's father, Mr W E Simmons, a resident of Tylertown, Miss.

● FROM ME TO Y'ALL

SHARPIE

Do you have a problem? This department is prepared to give you helpful advice on all difficulties concerning the art of love, finance, etiquette, studies, and we even predict weather for picnic-planners. Just address your letters to Sharpie and put them in the Flambeau box over in Campus Mail. Prumpt replies can be expected in the next issue of the F.

This week's question sent in by an exidently confused and misguided creature is simply signed, "Bewildered".

Her letter reads, "Dear Sharpie, This year I find the cut system is abolished and that we can cut classes, but I am very confused. Frankly, I am worried. If I do cut classes, will I be sorry?"

Poor Bewildered! If you are a freshman, go to classes. If you are an upperclassman, you are having the same problem we are. Perhaps the rule should read, "cut as your own conscience dictates." Not the answer to this one, let us know. We hope we have helped you solve this problem.

A girl who must be a BWOC because she signs her letter, "Prominent" asks, "How can I find time to do everything I'm supposed to do?"

This is a hard question to answer. First of all, we feel that she is withholding some valuable information. If our readers will help Sharpie with this one, we can help them? This advice department cannot imagine what Prominent has been doing when she says she has a lot to do. None of the teachers are giving out long assignments, there is plenty of time in the evenings for letter writing and incidentally, the most active and popular girls can find time to crowd in a movie date or two each month! We don't understand Prominent's question. She must be overworked.

A freshman wants to know if the hollering about the cut system in true Dr Richards was busily engaged with a hammer in the end beside his car when a sophomore hailed him, "Stuck in the mud?" she asked.

"Oh no!" replied Dr Richards pleasantly, "My engine died here and I'm digging a grave for it."

We make it our policy to confirm or discredit rumors. It is to be pens that the only statement we can make at this time is that it could have happened.

College Comments . . .

These are those lucky people who have returned veterans roaming around their campus this year and like them. From a recent write-up in the Kernel, the University of Kentucky has enrolled about 400 ex-servicemen, and according to the Campus Chat the vets at North Texas State Teachers College have taken over the presidences which the co-eds efficiently handled during the "war-ring days." Aren't we fortunate—no male competition.

(CPS) Weep no more, coeds—here's good news! College women needn't turn grey any more for the prospect of being old maids. A survey made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company proves that the smarter a woman is, the more likely she is to get a chance to a so-called "good match." The survey didn't go into details of how to catch the males; undoubtedly they feel that college women know the hows and wherefores of the chase. Let us hope so.

It seems that PSC is not the only school adding more "musics" to an already specialized curriculum. Texas State College for Women announced their curriculum expansion included such new occupational therapy, recreation, and recreational administration. Something new in education . . . now college credit is given one for learning how to recreate.

Here's what: Van Johnson has been asked to judge Alabamian pulchritude for the selection of beauties for the forthcoming Coronella, the University of Alabama's yearbook

One boy describes the new bathing suits.

He: Nice suit. When properly filled, it is a garment with no hools but plenty of eyes on it.

She: Spectator

Esther Williams, you know, the girl who swims without getting a single hair out of place, was chosen as Grid Queen of Los Angeles City College. We can imagine she looked almost as good when she appeared on the football field as she did when sh; taught Van Johnson how to swim in five easy lessons. Incidentally, Esther is a former student of City College.

Schools just aren't big enough or else there are just too many students attending for learning. North Texas State Teachers College refused more than one thousand applications for dormitory rooms since last June, but one girl with determination plus was not to be outdone or in any way discouraged. Taking her little suitcase and pennant in hand she set up shop to go about this business of getting an education in a pup tent pitched on the lawn in front of the girls' dormitory.

The Students Speak...

BARBARA WICKAM

Have you noticed how many people there have been in class even with the week-end at G'ville and all the odds? And from the general concensus of opinion this will keep on increasing for the duration of the quarter. The anti-cut, anti-compulsion don't seem to be inclined to cut and the freshmen can't, so the new no cut system seems to be working.

This week the question was "Do You Think There Will Be More Or Less Cutting Under The New System And Why?" You can judge for yourself the reactions.

PEGGY LOU THOMAS, senior

"I think the new system will stop so much cutting because it puts the responsibility on the students and I believe that the students will accept it."

MARGERY POTTER, junior

"I believe that there will be less cutting because you don't always know what the teacher will do if you miss class."

GEORGIA MARIAN JAECKEL, sophomore

"There will be less at first because the students don't understand it and don't yet know how to treat freedom."

BETTY HUNTER, junior

"It is a very democratic way to

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By Catherine Nollinas

A Service Man Speaks for Peace

Mr Cord Meyer, Jr, who served with the 22nd Marine Regiment and who was wounded after two aids to Commander Stassen at the San Francisco Conference, has expressed his views on the peace in this article, which is published in the September issue of The Atlantic monthly.

Mr Meyer prefaces his discussion with the statement that "if the San Francisco Conference is to be viewed in true perspective, its achievement must be seen through the eyes of those men who have served on the front lines: who alone know the true cost of the opportunity represented to the delegates."

"Defense", he says, "is not a sufficient explanation of the cause of the war." If great underlying causes had not existed, defense would not have been necessary. Therefore, in order to settle once and for all the international strife it is not sufficient alone to destroy the Nazis and Japanese militarists, by which the allies were united.

One of the basic causes of international wars, states Mr Meyer, is the natural desire of the individual to find security in international society. The failure of the past to do this is owing to remain politically independent at the same time that they are economically dependent upon economically interdependent. Peace depends upon the establishment of the courts of arbitration between nations each nation must rely on armed force for its protection and for the enforcement of its desires." With this condition prevailing "war is inevitable"

Possible Solution

"If peace is to be as all possible," says the author, "we must achieve the basic relationship of national states." If the truth to admitted, subjection to a sovereign law is the only way by which people could be governed in separate communities. "The people will submit to the nations must delegate to a higher government the power to decide those issues that are international."

Present Situation

This international government is not accomplished by the United Nations Charter for within the Security Council the five permanent members hold "the power of veto". Not one of the large nations, states Mr Meyer, "is yet willing to delegate any of its power so as to create a society over which it does not have complete negative control."

"The veto police force" is, in the extreme, ineffective because its power may be enacted without the decision of the Security Council. Within the Security Council only one of the nations has the right to veto any action against it, that is the organization which it desires to defend.

The veto power not only gives the five nations a "privileged" over the Organization which the smaller nations do not have, but also "envolves certain surrender of the small nations independence because the Security Council can employ their armies and territories without their consent to the actions of enforcement.

Other of the international organizations are also restricted. The International Court of Justice is limited to the interpretation of treaties: to fact finding, and to the determination of reparations. Even on these grounds it can pass its decisions so long as both parties agree to submit the issue. The Economic and Social Council can only investigate.

For these reasons Mr Meyer says that "the International Organization is not at present in fact capable of dealing with the problem of preventing war." Effective extinuisher is of quenching the fires of war. The necessity for its success upon the willing cooperation of heavily armed and independent nations. The says Mr Meyer, this war is justifiable only on the grounds that victory gives us the chance to construct by "intelligent and radical reform a more satisfying society and a peaceful world."

Despair would achieve nothing "We must," says the author, "support the Charter to the limit as the best means for doing that today. We must work for its improvement and by every honest effort, the Charter may yet become an instrument of post-ori-ented to the preservation of government on a world level is to be disregarded. Reality for this many. First, there must be a clear comprehension that the fundamental problem of peace is at the root of our misfortunes. Second, there must be agreement on the general principles and values upon which this government on a world level is to be based."

Goats Entertain Esteren Members

Esteren goats entertained the members last Friday night with a party at the Alpha Omicron Pi House Special features were a Mad Hatter's tea and scavenger hunt—and a cake which measured two and a half feet by two feet with a green rambling rose on it.

Even pep rally last Wednesday night was responsible for goats. They are: goat president, Anne Wilcox; goat, Betty Jane Quinby, Madelyn King, Jane Lyles, Margaret Baugh, Babe Evans, Jo Ogden, and Peggy Mayfield. "It's pretty, Louise Sikes, Ida Lee Rents and Jimmie Rogers.

Cindy Lou Cox has been elected to the office of secretary treasurer, succeeding Betty Jo Mills, who withdrawal of Ruth Dismore from school. Sarah Bennett is serving as president and Betty Jo as vice president and goat trainer.

The green and white goats make their dramatic entrance at the first convocation of the year by filling in single file to take their places as seniors in the front seats. They all loyal Esteen made the rafters ring with "Hello Evens."

Practice Begins

Practices for color rush, a feature of the traditional rivalry between the Odds and Evens, will begin Monday at 5 p m and continue every afternoon in front of the Administration Building, Mary Ann Hall, president, announced yesterday.

The annual Thanksgiving races, when Odds and Even vie for the privilege of hanging their colors on campus buildings, will be postponed again this year by F club. Following the early morning color rush, tradition has it that girls must enter backwards all buildings on which are hung colors of the opposing team.

In This Our Time

By Gloria Reed

Argentine Crisis

After a series of public demonstrations in Buenos Aires last week Argentine Army (Fascist trained) and Navy (U S-British trained) pressure forced the arrest and resignation of Vice-president Peron, Argentina's 'strong man'. Peron took over the ministeries of interior and finance, and Lieut. Navy chief, became foreign minister and minister of justice and education. Avione, Lieut. and Lieut. Army now compose a three-man government to try to induce leading citizens to join a temporary cabinet until an election is held on April 7, 1946. At the present time, it is not clear whether Parrel will remain, since the Army-Navy spokesman said that his committee had received Parrel's resignation. Since Peron's removal from office labor leaders who support him have threatened to call a paralyzing transport and utility strike involving 4,000,000 workers who favor his social reform program.

Strikes

"The longshoremen's strike in New York City over now that load limits is gradually coming to an end as many of the workers return to their jobs.

In Washington soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers contiu ued conferences over reduction of a forenoon's unioni but, in spite of Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's efforts, there was no sign of an early settlement. In Massachusetts Governor Tobin took over the Boston-Maine-Connecticu Street Railway Company after 15,000 employees, who are demanding higher wages, rejected his back-to-work ultimatum.

Tax Reductions

The House Thursday voted in favor of a tax relief measure which, if the Senate concurs, will save individuals and business $1,350,000,000 in 1946. This bill passed the House after the rules committee banned any change in the bill on the floor by stating that only the amendments offered by the ways and means committee could be considered. Although the bill will take 12,000,000 taxpayers off the roll, Robert Doughton (Dems. N C) says it is only cheaper government retrenching any further tax reductions.

Japanese Attack

With the Russians taking an active hand, the several guerrilla political parties in Japan are preparing for the coming mid-winter election for control. Premier Shidehara's new cabinet approved woman suffrage, lowered the voting age from 25 to 20, dismissed 4,800 "thought police" and abolished a law under which some 60,000 political prisoners had been arrested during the last thirteen years.

The Communist attitude remains the biggest problem to American officials. Tokyo reports report that local leaders are awaiting the return of the Japanese exiles who have been flown before announcing their plans. The Russian officials in Tokyo, as yet, however, have not give out any information, as many requests for information took over the week-end. The Americans also say that they have answered all Soviet requests since it is the policy of the United States to deal openly with her allies.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Dear Editor:

Today as I walked through the lower hall of what used to be called the Administration building I saw the Florida State College for women, I saw two signs which made me shudder.

One read:

Vote now!
Booths in lower
WESCOT
The other:
Picnic Saturday
in GAINES' woods

Now don't misunderstand me, I hold no grie' against voting, and I have no objection to picnic. I think both are worthwhile institutions, equally fundamental to the Florida State College for women. What other nation in the world knows as well how to turn voting into a picnic, with hamburgers and coca-colas on the side?

No, it is in fact more serious matter that concerns me — one that goes back to the days of Jacob and Esau and the birthright. It is the matter of choosing a person out of his right name.

Some fifty years or more ago a child was born to parents whose man became interested in the college at Tallahassee. in fact so much interested that he named the he bequeathed to the school a goodly sum of money. As a consequence, several years later the Board of State Institutions renamed the Administration building in his honor.

His name? Westcott, James D Westcott. Please note the surname W E S T C O T T. Not W E S T as in direction, not Wesley; but W E S T as in Western, Westinghouse, or Max West. Not C O T as in cot; but C O T T as in Cotton.

And then there is Dr Gaines' Scholar, wit, nemesis the head of the department of classics and general literature at this college. How amused that kindly gentleman must be—and how disturbed he must be to see his name plaid from heaven he can see his cherished acres of trees named for some one else—a perfect stranger to his body, a man erected from flesh, air, a man named Gaines!

Dr Gaine loved his woodland. He watched it grow. He taught his students there for weeks and months and years. He lived in it. He talked about it. And when it passed from his possession he must have wished to think of the thousands of young women who would in future generations make similar excursions into G A M E' S W O O D S. I think that Dr Gaines, were he living, may I propose a week be set aside and designated Gaines' Abstinence Week. "For God, Campus — And — Learn — To — Call — Each — Thing — By — Its — Right — Names Week!

Lou Egerton Miller

Dear Editor:

Since the legislative committee of Student Senate is asking the Student body for suggestions for a name for the building on the Florida State College and the Flambeau is asking the student body to "Or Forever Hold Your Peace," why can't we have both? Why can't the suggestions through this department? In this way, all students could keep up with what their friends are thinking about their colleges and perhaps a good suggestion will lead to another, better one.

At times, we're all inclined to complain about the little part we play in the "big picture" but everyone of us an opportunity to express ideas in a constructive manner.

Barbara Beckam.

Editor's Note:

We welcome any suggestions, the student body, may have for the legislative committee.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS — Editor
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY — Associate Editor
LOIS — Managing Editor
SHIRLEY RODGERS — News Editor
ALEXANDRIA, PEGGY LU THOMSON — News Editor

Copy Editor — Lois Rex
Staff — Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Hall, Betty Jo Mills, Anna Hutton, Jean Bell
Assistant Managing Editor — Mary Nell McFadden
Society Editor — Beryl Kinser
Sports Editor — Margie Hall
Sports Editor — Betty Davis
Column Editor — Dolores Bell
Literary Editor — Catherine Wicker
Literary Editor — Jerry Crum, Barbara Gaither
Art Editor — Lucy Perry

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alice Armstrong, Aileen Bailey, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blount, Virginia Bond, Lenore Lee Bowden, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Betty Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Fox, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Mizingo, Jacqueline Nevels, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Peter Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Marianne Byrd, Mary Tarr, Temi Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deurs.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Tarpaul — Business Manager
Eileen Davis — Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1925, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Greek-Letter Houses Start Fall Season With New Drapes, Paint and Furniture

New drapes, fresh coats of paint, and chairs flaunting new slip covers are among rengovations at seven sorority houses this fall. Several have been busy painting, redecorating and sewing in preparation for the year's social season.

Drapes and paint brushes flew at the Alpha Xi Delta house as they hung new drapes and veneer blinds, waxed floors and restored parts of the downstairs living room furniture now includes new end tables and coffee table and a new refrigerator has been added to the kitchen.

Visitors at the Alpha Delta Pi house say freshly-painted colors. Both the living room and the room boast reupholstered furniture and new drapes. Each bedroom has also redecorated her own room.

A water color painting of the Sage library now decorates the fully-panelled little living room at the Alpha Chi Omega house, where the furniture exhibits new slip covers. Members have also added new curtains and pillows to the smokers and given several of the bedrooms fresh coats of paint.

Brushes have been busy at the Chi Delta house, where the living room, and house chairs sitting room have taken on that freshly painted look. The new bosasta of a new rug, and fresh linoleum covers the floors.

A new bulletin board containing pictures of the sorority members now decorate the smoker at the Alpha Gamma Delta house. Improvements include a new coat of paint on the lawn furniture.

The Delta Phi Epsilon members donned their own color schemes when redecorations when given "green light" by sorority officials.

The Zeta members furnished their sun porch and date parlor with new draperies and upholstery. All the floors in the house were sanded and waxed. The upstairs rooms were painted and new furniture added. The Delta Zeta house furnished them with new chairs, a punch bowl, and money for a floor service.

The Kappa Alpha Theta girls say their globe's got very energetic and came up their house because they had to have a new one in the garden. However, they did say the shady and comfy corner in the parlor.

Also, there was very little improvement on the Kappa Delta house this summer but for a different reason. They had theirs redecorated the summer before.

The porch and a partially panelled lawn greeted the returning members of Phi Mu this fall. The table linens and painted bedrooms were the only interior improvements.

Pi Beta Phi sanded and waxed their floors; then added a new rug for the stairs. The smoker furniture was re-upholstered, too.

Sigma Kappa held a contest to give their house a new and desirable color scheme. Each transfer was presented a new color with a small name pennant attached.

Honoring the Reynolds junior counselors, a tea was held by the residence counselors of Reynolds, the Misses Allen and Donalson. Louise Illingsworth was in charge of all arrangements. Regular teas in Reynolds will begin next week.

A freshmen tea was held in Jennie Murphree under the direction of Sarah Ellen Glenn. Jane Whitfield was in charge of New Hall's first tea this year. Broward's social committee has charge of all arrangements for the regular weekly tea. No teas were held this week in Byran, the Village, or the off-campus houses.

New House-Mothers For Two Sororities

New sorority house mothers are gracing the Phi Mu and Alpha Xi Delta houses this fall as the whirl of campus social life begins.

Mrs. Harvey to PSC campus is Mrs Betty Webb of Baltimore, who replaced Mrs H. J. Caldwell as chaperon at the Phi Mu house. Previously she served for eight years as Alpha Xi Delta house mother, leaving there last year because of illness. Her daughter, the former Miss Elizabeth Ann Webb, graduated here in 1946 and was elected permanent president of her class.

Mrs. Breane Turner, new Alpha Xi Delta chaperone, is having her first experience as a house mother. Mrs. Ann Turner, of Pittsburgh, replaces Mrs Garnett Parks.

Goats Give Party For Spirogira Girls

Spirogira goats honored the members with a party and hike to Games Woods last Friday, complete with fried chicken.

The honorary is sponsoring sings every Tuesday and Thursday night at 7. Front of the freshman dining hall.

Weekly meetings of the Spirogira members are held at the Deb around 9:30-ish, at which time the honored members store some and map out campaigns against the Evens.

The officers for this year are: Franny Myers, president; Betty Schwartz, vice-president; Virginia Palmer, secretary-treasurer; and Mary White, publicity manager.

Fashion Flashes

Now that all the trunks which arrived crammed full of the latest in college fashions have been unpacked, this campus resembles a veritable style show . . . one which would do justice even to Vogue, will all of its "out of this world" creations.

Many new clothes have already made their post-victory debut and and many of them are carrying off top honors on the Florida State College campus from breakfast bell to light flash.

For the 9-in-5 routine, sweaters and skirts are still rated 1A. Smart substitutes for sweaters 'n skirts (but who wants substitutes?) are light-weight wool suits. A good wool suit is a mainstay in any collegienne's wardrobe, but for fall campus wear buy also for weekend jaunts.

Speaking of off-campus jaunts, many Tally belles, tired of hiding in larnin' and the clothes that go with it, left last Friday to attend the Homecoming weekend at Gainesville. With each went at least one hammed full of the good-looking new fall clothes guaranteed to make a big hit with the boys at the big game Saturday night plenty of undeniably smart wool dresses in wine colors. Later, for some soft cashmere wool classics in enticing pastel colors. Later, for bustling around the bright spots and dancing to the Gator Band's dreamy music, that "school-girl" look was shed with a bang, as the partying-around clothes made their debut. With glamour the object, there's nothing to compare with just the thing.

For those who remain within the lived walls during the weekend, sweaters and skirts still lead the list of favorites. Matched ensembles in off-shades are exceptionally smart this year, as are combinations of bright vivid shades. Needless to say, bow blouses add the finishing touch to any suit.

Round of Pledge Banquets and Parties Highlight Social Calendar This Week

Banquets and parties are still being given in honor of the pledges at the 14 sororities on campus.

Alpha Delta Pi honored its new pledges on October 10, with a banquet at the Cherokee Hotel. Mary Stallings, chapter president, was mistress of ceremonies, and the pledges gave short impromptu skits. Alpha Delta Pi is also planning an after dinner coffee this Sunday night.

Breakfast at the Three Torches Tea Room was given in honor of the Alpha Chi Omega pledges last Sunday morning. Following the breakfast, impromptu speeches were made by Mrs J W Harrell, Alpha Chi house mother, Jane Gaertner, and Gloria Wells. In response to these speeches, Joyce Carter spoke on behalf of the pledges.

Plans are under way for a Delta Delta Delta pledge banquet to be held Monday night at the Cherokee Hotel.

An afternoon tea was held last Sunday at the Pi Beta Phi house. Esier Kerr, Betty Kennedy, Ann Adams, and Olive Pearson were on the arrangement committee. Forty guests attended the tea, including several service men. Entertainment features were a song by Pat Crosby and Pi Phi songs by the group.

Zeta Tau Alpha honored its pledges with a banquet last Friday night at the Floridan Hotel. White asters made up the table centerpiece, and each pledge was presented with a box of ZTA stationery. After the banquet, Jackie Belcher led the group in singing some of the favorite chapter songs. Guests attending the banquet were Miss Vella Cleveland, Comptroller and Mrs Lee, Mrs Anna Jane Macklin, and Mr and Mrs H S Bover.

Cardinal and straw-colored flowers decorated the Cherokee Hotel last Monday night when Chi Omega honored its new pledges with a banquet there. Entertainment was presented in the form of poems and rhymes by Louise Lake, Nell McNeil, and Nell Clark. Mrs Frank Miller, faculty adviser, Mrs O S Lanier, house mother, Dolly Sutton, pledge mother, and Patty Hill, president, addressed the pledges. A gift was presented to Mrs Lanier, who has been Chi Omega's house mother for 20 years. Appropriate remarks were given in honor of Mrs Lanier and her 20 years' service by Patty Hill and Nell Clark. Town alumnae present were Mrs Frances Keller, Mrs George Lewis, Mrs Harold Richards, Mrs Robert Jenkins, Mrs W J Oven, Mrs Hill Luce, and Mrs D A Avant. There will also be an after dinner coffee for the pledges and their guests at the Chi Omega house Sunday night.

Alpha Xi Delta members are making plans for their pledge banquet to be held on October 27.

The Sage Inn garden terrace was the scene of a pledge supper last Saturday night in honor of new KD pledges. Last night was another evening night for the KD's as they gathered at the Floridan Motel for their banquet. A toast was presented to each pledge by her "big sister" and favors of KD stationery were given to all the pledges. Annette Chapman is the social chairman, and Lois Wilson was in charge of the program at the banquet.

Post-War Planning Is Address Topic

"Post-War Planning of the Florida State Improvement Commission" was the topic of an address by Mr I W Snyder of the community service committee of the American Association of University Women for the 1945-46 season, held last night in the clubroom of the Student-Alumnae building. In presenting this address, Mr Snyder gave expression to the branch's theme for the current year, "The Human and Natural Resources of Florida."

Mrs Mabel Hodgson, president, presided over the meeting, to which all college graduates eligible to AAUW membership were invited. Miss Marie Judy, vice-president, was in charge of the program. A social hour followed the address, planned by Miss Maud Britt, social chairman.

NEED ROOM DECORATIONS ?

PIN-UP LAMPS
SCATTER RUGS
MIRRORS

AND FOR THOSE EXTRA DOO-DADS
HOW ABOUT A WHATNOT?

Grant Furniture Co.
Phone 100

Girls, Alumni Invade G'ville

"If Mohammed won't go to the mountain, then the mountain to Mohammed" was put into practice last week-end as girls from Florida State College went to "coeducation" since coeducation couldn't come to them.

The occasion was homecoming and the Florida-Vanderbilt game at University of Florida. An added attraction this year in the fraternity houses was decorations, which were not allowed during the war. "Welcome Alumni" signs decked all available posts and walls and varied life-size papier mache-around "frat" lawns. One of the most original featured a Gator swallowing a little fat boy, Vandy, and Vandy's legs were kicking helplessly (he was electrically wired).

Friday night the band of Dean Prudence, who was formerly a Gator, played for the dance held in the gymnasium and afforded a real short—marched up one side of the field and down the other singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here. She Ain't What She Used to Be." Also during the half, one of the guest speakers pulled a prize boner by saying that everybody was ealmed to watch the University of Miami—the boos that went up caused him to correct and apologize hastily.

After the game the "frat" bons again had dances and the week-end ended, officially.

The girls loaded into buses reluctantly Sunday, tired but more happy than not, and sang fraternity songs all the way to FSC.

Air Corps-G'Ville Date Reconversion Sweeps Campus

The familiar trek between Tally and Gainesville is on again. Maybe it's not co-education, but through the traditional ticket sales of Florida State College this fall, the University boys are arriving in force.

As students return this year to swell once-scattered ranks at Gainesville, "frat" pins and football jargon are again in evidence. Though lingering GI's remain, the sight of a rat-capped boy and his college date is now familiar on campus.

FSC is once more football conscious, and the weekend found many girls repaying the visits of their University "brothers." Meanwhile "We are the Boys from Ole Florida" was again be heard in every hall, chorused by the lasses who once hummed the "Air Corps Song."

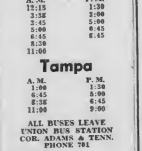
In keeping with the new "intercollegiate" trend, fraternity houses have reappeared on Sloppy Joe's this fall and traditional exchange football letters of the Florida Alligators are rapidly replacing army field jackets in the co-ed girls' wardrobe. Moreover, what a few rat caps now via as headgear with the fatigue hats of last year.

Maybe Florida boys are not entering as Tallahassee this year, but, for the weekends at least, FSC's campus is co-educational—almost.

Freshmen to Get WAA Handbook Soon

A handbook on the Women's Athletic Association of Florida State College will be distributed to the freshmen in about two weeks according to Jo Ashburn, president of WAA. This handbook, published last year for the first time since 1938, explains WAA and the various athletic activities on campus to the freshmen.

Jo also announced that practice for color rush will begin Monday. Evens will practice on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; and Odds on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.



Practice for cheerleading began on Landis Green October 15. Practice days are the same as for color rush.

Attention should be called to the fact that swimming will be held second quarter and tennis, third, instead of as previously announced.

Correction Note

The Memoirs of Dr Edward Conradi were published by the College and not by the Alumnae Association, as stated in last week's Flambeau.

Copies of the Memoirs may be obtained by requesting them at three Alumnae offices, according to Miss Louise Gehan, director.

Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .

Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
3:35	3:00
5:45	5:00
5:00	6:45
6:45	8:45
8:30
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:30
6:45	5:00
6:35	6:45
11:00	9:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 761

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Coffee, weiner roasts, and anniversary celebrations are the most popular entertainments at sorority houses this week as the buzz of rushing and pledging has subsided.

Alpha Xi Delta plans a coffee for some friends from the college tomorrow night from 7:30 to 8:30. According to Kathleen Sides, publicity chairman, this will be an informal affair with no planned program.

Alpha Chi Omega also is planning a coffee for their patrons and patronesses this week-end—Saturday at five. Margaret Williams, social chairman, will be in charge of all arrangements. Also, Alpha Chi Omega's celebrated their Founders Day Monday with a joint meeting of pledges and actives. Marjorie Austin, who was in charge of the program, told of the history and founding of the sorority. Those participating in the program were Barbara Wrighton, Jesie McNeil, and Margaret Johnson.

Alpha Gamma Delta will have an informal party Saturday night for members and their friends. Katherine Rogers, assistant social chairman, will be in charge of all arrangements. Then Sunday morning the Alpha Gam pledges will prepare their first breakfast for the active members. They will continue this practice until their pledge period is over.

Delta Phi Epsilon celebrated the twenty-fifth birthday of their chapter last Monday night with a "big-little sister party" arranged by Mona Murtaugh. After the serving of a birthday cake, the history of the group was read.

A Hallowe'en Party is being planned for October 27 by Kappa Alpha Theta. Also, the Thetas are having a supper Sunday night for the actives, pledges and their guests.

It was an exciting occasion for the Phi Mu sorority when attended the wedding of their own Dede Stewart who was married Saturday to Lieutenant Robert E Jacoby at Dale Mabry Field.

Phi Mu Alpha elected Hazel Clarkston as their president at a meeting Tuesday. Other officers elected at the same time were: Claire Bice, vice-president; Sara Lee Woodward, secretary; and Laura Bentley, treasurer.

The Zeta Tau Alpha annual Founders Day banquet was held Monday morning at the house. Following the banquet the members and pledges enjoyed breakfast and sang sorority songs.

A barn yard party will be held at the Delta Zeta house tomorrow night, according to Alice Walton, publicity chairman. Guests will wear overalls or other rustic costumes and the decorations, supervised by Anne Singleton, will carry out the barnyard theme. June Padgett will head the entertainment committee and Lillian Blackwelder, the committee for planning refreshments.

DRESSES for the JUNIOR MISS

Are You Accustomed To Wearing Gay Gibson Carole King Heart Beat and Carolyn? Dresses

If So You Will Find Them And Many Others Of Your Favorites In This Store

Steyermans

AIR CONDITIONED FLORIDA
Today and Tomorrow
"LADY ON THE TRAIN"
Sunday and Monday
and
Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday
"WILSON"
Friday and Saturday
"NAUGHTY NINETIES"
and

COOL WASHED-AIR STATE PHONE 1-0
Today and Tomorrow
"RHYTHM ROUNDUP"
and
"GAY SENORITA"
Sunday and Monday
"WILD FIRE"
"THAT'S THE SPIRIT"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"NOB HILL"
Thursday Only
"DILLINGER"
and
"WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE"
Friday and Saturday
"UTAH"
and
"TWO O'CLOCK COURAGE"
and

COOL WASHED-AIR RITZ PHONE 1-0
Today and Tomorrow
"LOST RANCH"
and
"THIN MAN GOES HOME"
Sunday and Monday
"WINGED VICTORY"
and
"BABES ON SWING STREET"
Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday
PRINCESS AND THE PIRATE"
Friday and Saturday
"MAISIE GOES TO RENO"
and
"FUZZY SETTLES DOWN"

As smooth and beautiful as the petals of a flower.

Give new beauty to your fingernails

Work Dura-Gloss, the nail polish of perfection

Dura-Gloss is like liquid Jewelry. Its beauty and brilliance come from Chrystallyne,

a special ingredient in the Dura-Gloss formula.

It dries fast. Its smoothness will delight you.

10¢ plus tax

The DURA-GLOSS Touch!

16 Exciting Shades

Dura-Gloss Cosmetics, Tarrytown, N. Y. Founded by E. T. Reynolds

YWCA Service Honors Girls

Program and Drive Plans Are Getting Underway

In candle-lit Westcott auditorium, the Young Women's Christian association held its annual recognition service last night honoring this year's new members.

The ceremony, which is a nationwide YWCA procedure, will start a series of programs and drives which will be sponsored by the club for this coming year.

Dr Anna Forbes Liddell opened the program with the invocation and Miss Daisy Parker gave the address of the hour.

Jane Gaertner, organist, accompanied the audience in various hymns, among them, 'Fairest Lord Jesus," Edmundsen's "Bells Through the Trees," and "Jesus Calls Us." Joyce Carlton sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Marjorie Clayton, president of the "Y" gave a "Challenge to Members," in her welcome to new members, and this was followed by a group declaration of the YWCA purpose.

The candle lighting ceremony in which the sisters assisted new members in lighting their candles climaxed the evening's program. The Panel Advisory Board and the Student Cabinet lighted theirs simultaneously on the platform.

The Advisory Board then led the group from the auditorium around the fountain in front of Westcott. There the entire club joined in singing "Follow the Gleam," "Taps," which was played by Evelyn Breedlove, ended the service.

The Advisory Board is made up of ten members of the faculty. They are Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, Dr Raymond Bellamy, Dr Robert D Miller, Dr Paul W Stanikweiler, Mr Earl Vance, Mr. Myrtle H Jounson, Mrs. Melton Ware, Miss Daisy Parker, Miss Veh Clevenland, and Miss Marguerite R Dressler.

Ushers for the evening were Jeanne Zetzoser Doris Bamford and Mrs. Mildred Bridges.

LOST: Gold and royal blue Eversharp fountain pen with ornamental attachments. Please return to 121 Broward and collect reward.

Reprinted from the October issue of Esquire

PFC

"He isn't only demobilized—he's immobilized"

Meldrim Announces Contest Procedures

The Distaff's literary contest for freshmen, including contributions of articles, stories, and poems is now on and will not end until November 5, Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff, announced.

Separate judgement will be given to each of the 3 types. The emphasis in judging will be placed more on thought and originality rather than technical form since the chief aims of the contest are to make freshmen aware of their literary abilities and to foster individuality, according to the editor. Winifred said. "Under this principal it does not matter if one has ever written before: what does matter is whether one has ever thought before." Any length, any style, and any form suitable to the individual is acceptable according to Winifred.

Entries should be typewritten, have contestant's name and box number on the top, and should be addressed to the Distaff in the campus mail.

Although there is no contest open to upperclassmen, contributions are accepted from them also, Winifred stated. The deadline for these is also November 5.

3 Pianists Appear On Garnet and Gold

The music editors, Anne Townsend ,Jere Farnsworth and Lucille Wooten, of the "Newspaper of the Air" Garnet and Gold program, played piano solos over last night's weekly radio broadcast.

Sara Norman, news editor, was the announcer for the evening's program.

"Girl With Flax In Her Hair" by Claude Debussey was played by Jere Farnsworth. Anne Townsend played, "Dialogue Without Words," composed by Carl Fryer. Chopin's "Waltz Opus 42" was Lucille Wooten's selection.

Girls May Come; Girls May Go; But Times Don't Change a Bit

Editorial Note: This was written back in 1932 by a student here at Florida State College. Maybe times have changed, but still—

We stand in line for a taxi.
We stand in line to register.
We stand in line to make schedules.
We stand in line to check trunks.
We stand in line to buy stamps.
We stand in line to mail packages.
We stand in line to get packages.
We stand in line to cash checks.
We stand in line to get library books.
We stand in line to see the doctor at the infirmary.
We stand in line to get our annuals.
We stand in line to get our degrees conferred upon us.

From the day we enter to the day we graduate we stand in line.

We save places in the dining room.
We save places in the theatre.
We save places at Artist Series.
We save places on the bus.
We save tennis courts.
We save whole tables at the drug store.

We sign up to go to town.
We sign up to spend the night in town.
We sign up to go to the infirmary.
We sign up to go riding.
We sign up to have a date.
We sign up to spend week-ends out of town.
We sign up to go horse-back riding.
We sign up for rooms.
We sign up for courses.
We sign up for pictures in the Ad building.
We sign up for reserved tables in the dining room.
We sign off every time we sign up or it costs us two bits.

We run to meals.
We run to the gym.
We run to the class.
We run to the library with reserved books.
We run to get in the dorm before light flash.
We run for the trains.
We run for the buses.
We run for offices.

We report to the business office.
We report to the personnel office.
We report to our classes.
We report to convocation.
We report to the Dean.
We report to judiciary.

We take rides up the hills with men
We play "hics" out of hours.
We make unnecessary noise out of hours.
We keep our lights on after light flash.
We have dates without signing up.
We go on hikes without six in a crowd.
We spend the night three in a room.
We stay in another room without signing up.
We go to town at night without signing up: Then,
We report ourselves to CGA.
We get restricted.

We get tapped for cabinet.
We get tapped for Esoreo.
We get tapped for Sorogira.
We get tapped for Greek letter honoraries.
We get tapped for Mortar Board.
We get tapped for sources of information, but we have none.

We gripe about the meals.
We gripe about the teachers.
We gripe about late classes.
We gripe about early classes.
We gripe about the Dean.
We gripe about the rules.
We gripe about CGA.
We gripe about convocation.
We gripe about the hills.
We gripe about the walk to town.
We gripe about term papers.
We gripe about exams.
We gripe about one thing or another all of the time.

We cry when we have to leave home.
We cry when we don't get a letter.
We cry when we get bum grades.
We cry when we have a load of work to do.
We cry when our teachers tell us we aren't working.
We cry when our friends cry
We cry because we have to stay up here.
We cry because we can't control our emotions
We cry when we have to leave.

We lend clothes.
We lend money.
We lend soap.
We lend pape and pencils and ink.

We lend books.
We lend stamps.
We lend notes.
We lend term papers.
We lend our services for all occasions.

The other people do all the borrowing

We make friends.
We make enemies.
We make A's.
We make F's.
We make good. or
We make a mess of things.
We make a stab at living down. our mistakes
We make plans, and most of them go up in smoke.

We talk about our friends.
We talk about our families
We talk about our line of ancestry
We talk about our past.
We talk soout our future.
We talk about Gainesville.
We talk about the faculty.
We talk about our enemies.
We talk about everything and everybody.

We go to college.
We go to teas.
We go to conferences.
We go to examinations.
We go nuts.
We graduate.

Library Features "Planned Reading"

"Planned reading for the year" is the theme of the library exhibit which begins tomorrow in the vestibule of the library.

Students are urged to pick subjects according to their individual likes and interests instead of selecting books on a "hit and miss" basis.

There will be a poster up on the bulletin board and selected books on specific subjects and various fields for individual interests in the bookcases around the main distributing desk in the library.

Books on world affairs and for recreational reading will be in the other bookcases.

★ FASHIONS ★

To look your best, even if you can wear anything, care should be taken that your attire fits perfectly at important points, according to the October issue of Good Housekeeping magazine. Note in above photo how waistline and shoulder pads are perfect and dress looks as well at rear as it does in front.

Supervisors Plan

The Regional Supervisors Council held a meeting last Wednesday and Thursday to discuss the curriculum laboratory of the Demonstration school on the campus of the Florida State College

The council is composed of the various county and city supervisors in north Florida. Their meeting was carried on under th direction of the State Department of Education. Their work is concerned with the regional planning of county programs of instruction.

The meetings began at 2 p m on Wednesday afternoon and continued until 12 p m Thursday afternoon

Canterbury Girls Attend Conference

Canterbury club representatives at the Diocesan Youth commission held in Jacksonville last week-end included Sarah Erwin co-chairman of the commission; Barbara Randolph, acting secretary replacing Nancy Jones, and Dotte Sperry, Canterbury club delegate.

The purpose of the conference was to revive the United Movement of Church's Youth in the northern Florida Diocese. The commission was made up of 50 representatives from parishes and missions in this section of the state

Presbyterians Hold Session

Lakeland Pastor Is Named Fifty-fourth Moderator

During a three-day session of the Florida Synod of the Presbyterian church, which convened in Tallahassee Wednesday evening, many Florida State College girls have gotten the chance to "renew acquaintance" with their hometown pastor.

Rev C A Raymond, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lakeland, was elected moderator of the Fifty-fourth session The three-day session is being held in the educational building of the First Presbyterian church.

Out of state visitors to this meeting are as follows: Rev Thomas Kay Young, DD, pastor of Idlewild Presbyterian church of Tampa; Rev Charles W Ramsey, moderator of the Synod of Florida of the Presbyterian church; Dr Rev Melton Clarke, pastor, Anniston, Ala; Rev Laurence I Stell new pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city; Chaplain Ralph McCaskill of the U S army; Rev M A McDonald, president Thornwell orphanage, South Carolina; and Dr John R Cunningham, president Davidson college North Carolina.

Class Elections

A sophomore class meeting will be held this afternoon at 5 p m in 303 Westcott to make nominations for sophomore representatives to Senate. The election will be held in lower Westcott on Wednesday.

Plans will be discussed at the meeting for the Thanksgiving dinner with Carol Claus as chairman of the dinner.

Irma Lee Shephard and Connie Savage, president of the sophomore class, will be in charge of the Even Feather-Selling booth.

Always Buy Chesterfield

MILDER...BETTER-TASTING...COOLER

If you're coming to see me tonight don't forget your A B C's for more smoking pleasure. You know, A—ALWAYS MILDER, B—BETTER TASTING and C—COOLER SMOKING.

Chesterfield's Right Combination . . . World's Best Tobaccos gives you ALL the benefits of smoking pleasure.

CHESTERFIELD

Copyright 1945, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

RIGHT COMBINATION • WORLD'S BEST TOBACCOS

This Shop Has Attracted Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Former Students Of F. S. C. W. Since 1923—

We Shall Do All Within Our Power to Prove Equally Worthy Of YOUR Patronage

The Vogue

Keep Journeying

The Florida Flambeau

Z 106

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Half-Dead Week

VOL. XXXIII, No. 3 | Tallahassee, Florida | OCTOBER 26, 1945

Cotterill Advises Seniors To Covet Freedom of Thought In the Investiture Address

303 Girls Hear History Professor Emphasize Role Of Independent Thinking After Dr. Campbell Invests Them With Caps

Those going forth from college on the journey of life must cherish that freedom of thought which they have won by hard apprenticeship in education, Dr R S Cotterill, professor of history, told 303 newly invested seniors of the class of 1946 at the traditional Investiture service Tuesday evening in Westcott auditorium.

Emphasizing the role of independent thinking in their life-long search for knowledge, Dr Cotterill spoke after the investing of the seniors with their academic caps by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, who was aided by their sophomore sisters.

"Although you will find many who wish to do your thinking for you, most insidious menace to free thought is within yourself." Dr Cotterill warned. "If you allow yourself to think and act as others direct you will loose the treasure of free though that your education should have given you," he said.

Dr Cotterill presented thi journey in freedom as one of three ways in which those leaving college should go forth. Comparing the seniors of journeymen, who, having completed their apprenticeship at education are going "a-journeying" in search of further knowledge, he expressed the hope that they may also travel without fear and in peace.

"This journey in search of further education which you who are seniors will soon undertake is lifelong," Dr Cotterill declared. "There is," he said, "no limit to knowledge and no end to the search for it. The best we can hope for is to be faithful journeymen."

"The real dangers to a journey without fear," said Dr Cotterill, "are conventions, smothering your soul, and prejudices, baring your way to wisdom."

"Most issues raised in order to arouse your fear are, however, merely old moth-eaten inanities set up at totem poles, demanding your reverence," he added.

In order to travel in peace every journeyman should carry an island of thought within which he may withdraw undisturbed by external struggles, Dr Cotterill said. Each person may in this way keep internal reserves which will provide balm for his soul in time of need, he said.

The ceremony also included a devotional service, led by Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, and Buzz-Peccia's

Continued on Page Three

Odds Begin Dem Practice

Chairmen, Cast, Start Task On Original Program

Odd Demonstration script is finished, rehearsals were started last Saturday when final musical and speaking parts were cast and committee chairmen have been named and put to work, according to Nell Clark, demonstration leader.

Three original compositions, including a ballad and some blues, by Mary Lou Norwood, musical director, will be featured along with Eleanor Bragg's piano adaptation of a symphony and another special piano arrangement played by Irene Coleman. The thirty girl chorus, Chris Morrison's swing band, two trios, and solos by Betty Murray, Alice Gehan, and Dallas Stever will complete the musical background. The trios are:

Continued on Page Three

Baritone to Appear Here November 19

Donald Dickson to Be Feature Of Blue Artist Series

Donald Dickson, nationally known baritone, will appear at Florida State College in a program sponsored by the Artist Series on November 19.

Since his debut at nineteen with Artur Rodzinski as a symphony soloist, Mr Dickson has starred in opera, concert, radio and screen performances. The youngest male singer to appear with the Metropolitan Opera Company, he is also considered to be one of its most versatile performers. His repertoire covers a range of composers from Jerome Kern to Verdi.

Donald Dickson's performance is a feature of the Blue Artist Series, but students holding Red Series tickets who wish to attend this performance may obtain tickets for half-price at the College Book Store. Tickets will be available from November 6 through November 12 in the Student Alumnae building

SAB to Be Called Longmire Building

The Rowena Longmire building, which is now more commonly known as the Student Alumnae building, should be called by its correct name it was decided by the board of management of the building Tuesday.

At the meeting which was held at 4 p m the board also decided that groups wanting rooms for lectures committee meetings, or conferences, when there is no social hour in connection, will in the future be expected to use the auditorium or one of several conference rooms on the fourth floor. Students may use the lounges on the main floor for campus groups. The smaller lounge is to be used for a group of fifteen or more and the main lounge for a group of seventy-five or more.

Two students have been added to the board of management of the Longmire building. They are Patsy Millican and Henrietta Trezevant.

World Community Day to Be Observed

In observance of World Community Day on November 2, two members of the Florida State College faculty will speak, announced Mrs J G Kellum, president of the Tallahassee branch of the United Council of Church Women.

At an inter-denominational meeting of Tallahassee church women to be held in the Presbyterian church at 3 p m on November 2, Dr Marion Irish, professor of political science at FSC, will speak on the charter of the United Nations and the influence church women can exert in making it effective.

Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, professor of philosophy, will broadcast over WTAL at 7:40 p m that night on the subject, "Women as Peacemakers."

Kuersteiner Speaks To Musicale Today

Karl O Kuersteiner, acting dean of the school of music, will be the guest speaker at a program of the Friday Musicale of Jacksonville this morning at 10:30 Mr Kuersteiner will speak on "The Beautiful in Music."

Before coming to Florida State College Mr Kuersteiner's earlier experiences include his study at Chicago Musical College, graduate work at the University of Michigan, and study of the violin abroad

Mr Kuersteiner was greatly interested in the music camp, and he hoped to see the FSC camp become one of the foremost educational institutions of its kind in the South. Plans for FSC's music department include the building of a new music building with practice and rehearsal rooms complete with air-conditioning.

Heinlein to Talk On 'Color Photography'

Tonight at 7:45 in Broward lounge Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental phychology, will lecture on "Color Photography" and will show in connection some of his own colored potographs. Everyone on campus is cordially invited to attend, according to Mrs Ray M Warner, Broward residence counselor.

Prior to the lecture Dr and Mrs Heinlein will be entertained at dinner in Broward dining room by the Broward house council. Following the dinner there will be a coffee held for a number of faculty members and invited guests.

Atomic Power Is Discussed By Lecturer

Richards Speaks at First Meeting of Academy Of Science

History and Possibilities of Energy Are Outlined

"When the first atomic bomb was dropped in New Mexico on July 16, 1945, the atomic age was ushered in with an unparalleled man-made bang," said Dr Harold P Richards, head of the physics department at Florida State College. He spoke on "Atomic Fower for War and Peace" Friday night, at the first meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the Florida Academy of Sciences this year.

Dr Richards pointed out that secrecy in the engineering processing of atomic power would be impossible for long, even if it were a wise policy. He exhibited prewar text books which, coupled with a recent War Department bulletin, gave enough information to enable a competent physicist, aided by his government, to work out the secret of the atomic bomb within two years at most.

"Is it worthwhile to antagonize the rest of the world by hugging these little engineering secrets for a year or two?" he asked.

"Pioneer work in the practical release of sub-atomic energy was done abroad by foreign scientists and was brought to the United States by them, making atomic power international in origin," stated the lecturer.

Believing that no sound policy

Continued on Page Three

Bryan Suite Proves Shocking to Campus By Being Bright Red

There are, no doubt, many clever and attractive rooms throughout the resident halls at Florida State College; however, there is one that quite outshines or perhaps outglows the rest. When people passed this room, they spontaniously stopped dead in their tracks, maybe because they were taught that red meant stop or perhaps because they were just scared to death. Whatever the cause this striking little suite at 111 Bryan, the main room of which was tinted a brilliant shade of red, attracted campus attention.

If one would visit it now, however, he would find that its original-minded occupants have made a slight alteration. This consists of calming down the brilliant hue of the walls to a pink, not a delicate pink, but a shocking pink. They will be quite unable to tell the reason for this, but one member might timidly suggest that they just couldn't sleep too well at night.

As the suite stands now, one side room is half blue and half green, for the girls are in the process of painting it blue. Just to add a little cheer to it they put up yellow, blue, and orange bulletin boards. The other side room consists of three green walls and one wall covered with green and white striped wall paper, while they concealed the original dull gray of the ceiling with rosebud paper. In both of these

Continued on Page Three

Professor Appeals For War Fund Drive

Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, spoke over radio station WTAL Wednesday morning in an appeal to the citizens of Tallahassee to give generous contributions to the United War Fund Drive.

One of the organizations that the drive will benefit is the Boy Scouts of America. Dr Bellamy presented the value of scouting, and the need this city has for more scouts.

"With the funds secured during the drive, the scouts in Tallahassee will have better opportunities in furthering their ideals," said Dr Bellamy

Dance Cancelled

Because dormitories will be having Hallowe'en parties during the week-end of October 27 it has been necessary to cancel the soldier dance scheduled for that time, it was learned from the Personnel office.

On November 17 and December 8 the Florida State College Swing Band will furnish music for dances to which soldiers from Camp Gordon Johnston and Dale Mabry may be invited.

Flambeau Conducts Opinion Poll On Honor System Effectiveness

In order to find out some of the opinions students had on the honor system and its effectiveness on this campus, the Flambeau asked 20 students from different parts of the campus their opinions on the subject. Of the group 11 thought it was not effective on this campus, but thought it would be a good system if it could be worked. The others thought it very effective and generally liked it better than a strict rule system.

In the poll all the freshmen and day students interviewed liked the system and could think of no way to improve upon it.

The most frequent complaint of the students who were critical of it was the clause about, as they expressed it, "having to report another girl for doing something wrong."

When asked why she especially disliked that clause, one girl answered that she didn't think she should report anyone unless she was doing something that would harm someone else.

A transfer student said, "I don't think it's any of my business to tell on her, but if I were asked questions I would answer them."

Another answered, "I would speak to a girl myself if I saw her committing a major offense. She could report herself if she wanted to, but I don't think I ever would." Concerning minor violations of rules, she said she would just let it go if it wasn't hurting anyone.

Another frequent complaint about the system was that there wasn't one. One girl gave as an example the instance that the lights were supopsed to be off at a certain time, yet proctors were appointed to see that each one turned his off.

One of the interviewed had among her grievances the practice of having a girl withdraw from college as punishment for major offenses. She said she did not think it was very "honorable" to ship a girl for violating a rule, as that not only did not teach her to live but also made her a sort of "social outcast."

Continued on Page Three

Professor Confers On Latin Education

Meldrim Announces Scheduled Publication, December 1

Mrs Angela Palomo Cambell, director of Casa Iberia at Rollins college, was a recent visitor at Florida State College, where she conferred with Dr Myra Yancy, associate professor of education. The meeting was a discussion of a program on the teaching of Spanish and Inter-American education in public schools.

Dr Yancy said that an announcement which will include a state contest in art and Spanish will soon reach all state Spanish teachers. This contest will be made possible by a grant from the office of Inter-American affairs for the promotion of such activities, according to Dr Yancy.

Mrs Cambell, a professor of Spanish at Rollins, was entertained by Dr Dorothy L Hoffman, associate professor of Spanish and French at a tea held on Saturday afternoon. Guests included the modern language department, the members of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, and the Spanish speaking students on campus. Mrs Cambell is a former president of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish.

Sellers Predicts A 75-piece Band

A 75-piece band is expected this year at Florida State College by O F Sellers, director.

Because of the larger band it was necessary to order 15 new uniforms. Mr Sellers urged all who were interested in joining the band to see him before Wednesday, October 31, so that all the uniforms might be ordered at once.

He said there was a special need for students who play French horns, bass saxaphones, bass clarinets and bass horns. The French and bass horns can be furnished by the college, but the others would have to be furnished by the students who play them.

"The band is planning," said Mr Sellers, "to order some of the larger instruments as soon as they come back on the market."

A trip to Camp Gordon Johnston is the most immediate activity planned by this organization. The date has not yet been set, but they plan to play at the hospital and recreation hall, and then eat supper at the camp.

The director said he thought the rehearsals this year had been quite successful, but he wanted to urge band members to come to the full marching practices on Landis green every Saturday afternoon at 2 p m.

Kay and Johnston Elected to Senate

Peggy Kay and Corrine Johnston were elected senior representatives to Student Senate in the senior class elections held Wednesday and Betty Kenedy and Candy Jones are candidates for sophomore Senate representatives in the final election which is to take place in lower Westcott tomorrow.

Other senior candidates who ran for Senate were Catherine Gallagher and Mary Stallings.

Sophomores who were nominated for the Senate positions were Ann Avery, Lucy Felden, Jackie Nevers, Martha Peacock, Irma Lee Shepherd, Betty Ann Sinclair, and Peggy Stanaland.

Shepard Resigns Faculty Position

FSC Graduate Appointed to Fill Instructorship

Miss Pearle Shepard, instructor in English and journalism for the past three years, is leaving next week to accept another position. Miss Shepard asked to be relieved before the opening of this college year, but consented to remain until a person was found to succeed her.

President Doak S Campbell announced this week that Miss Vivian Ahlesweh of St Petersburg has been secured to fill the position pending the return of Herbert L Hackett from the Army. Miss Shepard came here in 1942 to take the place of Mr Hackett upon his entering the Army.

Both Miss Shepard and Miss Ahlesweh are gradurtes of FSC. While a student here, Miss Shepard was managing editor and co-editor of the Flambeau, a member of Alpha Chi Alpha, journalism honorary fraternity, Chi Delta Phi, literary honorary fraternity, Mortar Board, and Who's Who in American Colleges. Immediately prior to her coming here as an instructor she taught English and journalism at the West Palm Beach High School and Junior College. Miss Shepard also worked for the St Petersburg Times.

Miss Ahlesweh, graduate of 1941 was editor of the Distaff, news editor of the Flambeau, Flambeau Gold Key, Mortar Board, Chi Delta Phi, Alpha Chi Alpha and was a delegate to the Collegiate Press Convention her senior year. Since her graduation, Miss Ahlesweh has worked two years for the Sarasota Herald Tribune, and also did two years of social work before joining the staff of the Tribune.

Miss Shepard has accepted a position as secretary on the Flying V ranch in Tucson, Arizona. She had a similar job this summer with the owners of Flying V ranch in Texas, at one of their ranches.

Attention, Seniors

Seniors may make their picture appointments today through Tuesday, October 31, in lower Westcott. Caps and gowns with formal collars will be worn.

Baugh Names Annual Staff

38 Appointees Begin Work On 1946 Flastacowo

With the selection of new staff members the production of the 1946 Flastacowo is now officially underway, according to Margaret Baugh, editor of the annual. Because previously scarce materials are now available, Margaret added that the aim of the new staff is to turn out the best annual ever published.

The new appointments to the staff are as follows: Kit Land, assistant editor; Jean Ann Ramsdell and Marshall Lee Vernon, administrative section; Jean Sharer, Betty Jo Craig, Jackie Nevers, and Frances Cannon, class section; Pat Pattishall and Jean Ann Graham, sorority section; Betty Ann Shiver, feature section; Louise Sims and Saran Ellen Glenn, organizations; Shirley Duggan; honoraries; Catherine Gallagher, Frankie Hall, and Juanita Bowles, W A A section.

Jane Lyles and LaFerne Quinn, activity section; Franklin Smith and Dot Butts, copy editors; Jackie Magee, Lillian Brower and Jean Sharer, art staff; Anne Lindsey, Lucille Barry, Peggy Pearson and Hascla Levine, photographers: Kit Land, Franklin Smith and Margaret Baugh, editorial board; Nancy Lefholz, Beverly Bacon, Marcia Daniels, Sara Corry and Mary Catherine Moody, staff assistants; Marianne Jones, Lavonne Black Nancy Ware, Kitty Chaires and Ann Anderson, business staff.

Gremli Is President Of School of Music

Katheryn Gremli was elected president of the School of Music yesterday at the student recitals held in the recital hall of the Music Annex.

According to Eleanor Bragg, who was in charge of the elections, the other officers elected were: Eleanor Bragg, vice-president; Anne Townsend, secretary, and Helen McCann, treasurer.

Lois Hyde, Wilda Hayes and Dolly Sutton gave their piano recitals. Lois played a "MacDowell' Etude: Wilda, both "Bruyeres" by Debussy and "Rigaudon" by Havel, and Dolly, "Andaluza" by De Falla.

As a special feature Dr Robert D Miller, associate professor in philosophy and religion, spoke to the group on "Recreation and Re-creation in Music." According to Dean Karl O Kuersteiner of the School of Music, it is going to be the practice this year to have a guest speaker at each of the recitals.

Owen F Sellers, associate professor of cello and other orchestral instruments, presided at the recital.

Stories of Summertime Linger As Students Recall Vacations

Summertime is just a memory now for the Florida State College students, but memories are lingering on. The girls are still telling long stories about their summer vacations.

Peggy Kay was a counselor at a camp on Cape Cod for a while until she and another counselor from the camp decided to go hosteling through the White Mountains of New Hampshire. "We covered 400 miles in 15 days," Peggy said. They rode bicycles and hitch-biked rides on log trucks up some of the mountains. Eating outside and never wearing dresses were part of the novelties of their outdoor life. "The other girls at camp told us we'd probably lose weight, but we gained." They picked apples by the roadside, borrowed corn from the fields, and met some Canadians, Englishmen, and some South American girls who were also hosteling.

La Ferne Quin was a cub reporter on the Jacksonville Journal all summer. She went with regular reporters on their assigned beats and once she covered a Federal Court case by herself. "I was sent to get a story about the American "Frogmen" who are the swimmers who hit the war front beaches before D-Day to search out and blow up underwater obstacles and map out landing beaches," La Ferne said. "I also covered dog stories and was in charge of the daily Service Parade Column and got my by-line on a Western Union feature story," she added.

Marion Floyd was chemical tester for a citrus plant at Orlando, while Frances Pease kept a check on the water plant at Fort Lauderdale and tested wells in that vicinity. Another of the technically minded students, "Doc" Barber of the pre-med department, worked at the Osceola hospital in Orlando and observed the latest surgical and operational techniques.

Dalia Santos and Kay Moore had jobs supervising children and recreation in Tampa. Dalia was supervisor of the junior department of the Presbyterian Mission and was in charge of Bible School, the choir, and a basketball team. Kay was at a day nursery school and told stories and played most of the day. "They were little Spanish children," Kay said "And

Continued on Page Three

Second Meeting of Senate Results in Modification Of Dead Week Restrictions

Artist Series and Traditional College Events Are Exceptions to Usual Limitations According to Senate Chairman

The student policy of dead week was modified yesterday afternoon at a second meeting of senate to allow artist series events and traditional college events to take place during dead week. The question was brought up and discussed by Senate at its regular meeting at 5 p m Wednesday; however, no decision was reached and a continuation of the meeting was called for Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the purpose of further discussion and voting on the motion and on a modifying amendment.

The motion approved by Senate vote reads in full as follows: "Dead week under the quarter system is modified to include Artist Series and traditional college events." An amendment was also suggested which defined traditional college events as "dormitory and sorority Christmas parties, the senior Christmas party, and church programs," but this was defeated. The motion was made by Martha Jane Brown and seconded by Jean Koesy, and the amendment made by Robin Hill, seconded by Pat Pattishall.

In the past, under the semester system, dead week was designated as a week during which no social or campus business activities were to take place. As a result, no Artists Series events could be scheduled during the six weeks of the year thus closed, and many opportunities to secure the performances of well-known artists have been missed for this reason, according to Ann Allison, CGA president.

Under the quarter system the first dead week of the year will begin on December 3 and exam week will be held from December 10 to December 15, immediately after which Christmas holidays begin. Scheduled for this time by tradition are dormitory and sorority Christmas parties, the Senior Christmas party, church programs and the Glee Club Vespers program. Also tentatively scheduled for this time is a soldier dance, to be held on December 1.

As stated by Sarah Lewis, Senate chairman the business of Senate was to decide among three alternatives: upholding of Dead Week in all particulars, which would exclude all Christmas parties Glee Club Vespers and any Artist Series event which might otherwise be offered during this

Continued on Page Three

Evens Swing Into Rehearsal

Quinby Names Dem Cast; Includes Composers

"Even Demonstration rehearsals are running smoothly due to the competent cast and committee heads", says Ella Mae Quinby, chairman of this year's Even production.

Original songs have been written by Anne Fifield, Georgia Jackie and Jackie Belcher. The soloists for the occasion will be Calista Hatcher and Ann Tucker.

"As usual Even Dem is so good Odds are still trying to get in. Odds may have the quantity, but the Evens have the quality plus experience" boasts Ella Mae.

Speaking parts in the production have been given to Corrine Johnson, Bea Weaver, Betty

Continued on Page Three

Richards Works on Expansion Measure

Physicists Seek New Method Of Indicating Heat

Dr Harold Richards of the physics department, with the help of Miss Elizabeth Gehan, recent graduate of Florida State College, is working on an experiment to test the possibility of a new method of measuring and indicating very small amounts of heat expansion.

Pyrex glass and fused quartz art examples of materials which expand so little that special methods are needed to measure their expansion. Due to their small expansion, Pyrex and fused quartz are desirable because they are not subject to heat shock and can undergo sudden change of temperature without much danger of cracking.

The method of the experiment is suggested by the fact that a platform mounted on posts, to be level, is actually at different temperatures only if all the posts expand or contract equally when the temperature changes. Otherwise, tilting occurs. In the experiment, two optically flat glass plates are used.—flat to within less than half a wave length of light. Monochromatic light from a sodium vapor lamp is reflected from the plates. One plate is stationary, the other rests like a platform on top of posts made of the different materials to be tested. Unequal expansion of the posts tilts one post and causes a shift of black interference bands which can be readily seen and counted by eye. By this means small expansions can be measured directly in wave lengths of light. When this experiment is completed it will be useful in the laboratory and in demonstrations, according to Dr Richards.

"Teeny" Langston, student assistant in physics, is helping with the shop work of devising improved equipment for the experiment.

Cast Is Announced For First Production

Miss Mary Wood, director of the speech department's first play, "Time and the Conways," by J B Priestly, has announced the tentative cast for the play. Several male parts are being played by teachers at Florida State College and at Leon High school.

The cast is as follows: Kay, Ann Hunter; Madge, Maureen Petty; Havel Sarah Lewis; Joan, Clair St John; Carol, Barbara Holt; Mrs Conway, Catherine Steed; Robin, Mr Ralph Donaldson, associate professor of industrial arts at FSC. Ernest, Mr Owen F Sellers, associate professor of cello and other orchestra instruments at FSC.

"Time and the Conways" was first produced in London in 1938.

Symposium Will Be Feature of Distaff

A symposium on post war reconstruction will be the theme of the first issue of the Distaff, scheduled for publication on or around December 1 Winifred Meldrim, Distaff editor announced

"The purpose for this question and answer discussion on post war reconstruction is to stimulate among the students thoughts along such lines," said Winifred. "And although this will be the featured theme, other contributions in any particular field such as religion, politics, or entertainments will also be accepted."

Upperclassmen were especially urged to turn in all material to the Distaff, in care of campus mail by the November 5 deadline in order not to delay the date of publication.

"The lag seems to be in short stories and poetry," said Winifred, "especially poetry. If anyone needs any help with her writing, consult either of the two associate editors or myself, and all possible advice or suggestions will be given."

Associate editors of the Distaff are Peggy Lu Thomson and Ellen Whitman. Beryl Taylor is business manager. Anyone caring to work on the financial staff of the Distaff is asked to see Beryl.

Club Ends Drive

The Home Economics Club completed their membership drive last Saturday, increasing the membership to a total of 111 students.

Those who signed their names on the traditional blue and gold scroll included 18 seniors, 16 juniors, 30 sophomores and 41 freshmen, Bobbie Glenn, treasurer of the club, announced today.

Anyone who would like to become a member and failed to sign on the appointed days may now do so by contacting Grace Sims, president.

All members are asked to watch the bulletin board in the Science building for an announcement regarding the next meeting.

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

YOU KNOW ABOUT THIS ONE

● FSC'S EMILY POST

Opinion has been voiced on campus that the Social Standards Council is not as effective as it might be. Some students have continued to wear slacks, blue jeans, and other sports attire in public eating places such as the Spic, Soda Shop and the Sweet Shop, even though the council decided that the wearing of the aforementioned apparel reflected poorly on the college social standards. So strong has the opinion been that Student Senate plans to devote a meeting to the discussion of making it more effective with the possibility that the decision will be reached to make the violations of the standards punishable by honor council.

It is the opinion of this student who seldom wears dungarees that the social standards council is at present serving its function properly and effectively enough. That is, the council now plans and arranges for many of the social affairs given for students' pleasure; it campaigns against bad manners in the dining hall, offers suggestions for correct social behavior, and attempts to correct breaches of good manners. This is the purpose a council of this nature should serve, if such a council must exist.

It might be compared to Emily Post, an accepted authority[illegible] one wears when, the proper postures to be assumed, and other little niceties that have become the accepted code and proper social behavior. Her advise is accepted or rejected. Human nature being what it is, most people strive to have social approval and accept the proffered suggestions. However, in the event that they do not wish to comply with certain accepted standards, those who digress from the conventional ways are not punished by law, but receive the frowns and disapproval of other people.

Consequently, there is no reason for making the council one more agency whereby students are regulated in their behavior by a hard, fast law or threat of ensuing penalty in case of violation. Already much too prevalent here are the petty rules and regulations which indicate that students are not capable of being "good citizens" and exercising discretion of their own free will.

● A FREE PRESS OR A HOG-TIED PEOPLE?

"A tongue-tied press is a hog-tied people." If the public understands these few words, they will have no doubt as to the need for a free press.

There are those who believe in press freedom—believe in a free press as long as the paper says what they think it should say. There are those, too, who regard the free press in this country as a social evil.

One of the chief complaints of both these groups is the fact that our press emphasizes conflict in human relations. Their suggestion runs along the line of "suppression" of those stories that result in dissension.

This is a dangerous policy to follow because these people or any other group have no concrete way to determine where the line should be drawn. Logical thought forbids it.

If an editor starts the dangerous policy of leaving out those stories which might "hurt someone's feelings" or he feels will have an unfavorable reaction, he is in essence permitting himself to be controlled and ultimately giving up his right for a free press. In addition to loosening the grip on the free press privilege, which has been won by the blood and sweat of millions of conscientious newspaper men, he is withholding information from the public; thus allowing them to have a distorted viewpoint.

It is not the policy of editors to hold back information that they think should be released, just because it may disturb the surface harmony. But many editors will refuse to print stories that, in advance, they are able to see will be harmful to the general welfare.

Those people who enjoy reading only what they want to read usually hold to the idea that "We know everything isn't rosy, that there is conflict, but let's not say anything and maybe it will go away." This is a defeatist, apathetic attitude, one which is unhealthy for a democratic form of life. Human relations are marked by conflict, and if the newspapers do not give a picture of the world of which everyone, good and bad, is a part; then they are not true recorders of events.

When a newspaper runs a story of a strike, it isn't the newspaper who started it—it is a fact and the editor is carrying out his job—giving the story to the public so that they may too know what is going on about them. But still there are those who read about strikes and connect them with the newspapers only. If the public does not enjoy reading about strikes it is up to them to dissolve this action. If the public could just realize that what happens in the world is their own action it would be much easier to understand the essential necessity of a free press, with no ifs or but's.

As long as unsocial actions of people are suppressed from the public those actions can grow and grow until these men and women destroy things which are dear to us. In other words, when the press "kills" a story about a crime, for instance, it is in actuality harboring a criminal, for how is the public to know of such actions; how is the public to campaign with public opinion and law against such practices?

One must believe in freedom of the press, without reservation, or one doesn't believe in it at all.

● TO CUT OR NOT TO CUT

The students of Florida State College have apparently been given an opportunity to exemplify the mature judgment of which they are expected to be capable by the time they reach college age.

The elimination of the cut system, according to the 1945-46 student hand-book, places, the responsibility for absence from class upon the individual student. Since it was believed by the administration that the old system of a limited number of excused "cuts" resulted in unnecessary absence, it apparently was thought that by letting the student judge the necessity of an absence the number of cuts should be reduced.

As we have graduated from the period of compulsory education and on the assumption that students are in session because they are desirous of a higher education, it seems logical that students will be desirous to attend classes regularly, missing them only when it is inevitable or when they believe the quality of their work will not be impaired, by the absence. College students surely realize, however, that contributing to a rounded discussion in class is primarily dependent on the individual's knowledge of that subject and hence, to a great degree, dependent on regular class attendance. But learning to discriminate among values is a desirable achievement for any college student. Taking a responsibility such as decided the importance of an absence as against the importance of material to be presented in the class might be a step toward learning wiser discrimination.

There seems to be some confusion on the part of the students, however, as to the degree to which the faculty is to leave the discrimination to the student. Some students are under the impression that the individual teacher has the privilege of taking the number of absences into account in determining the final grade regardless of the over-all quality of work done in the class. The statements regarding absence in the hand book read:

"All students are expected to attend all of their scheduled college classes and not to absent themselves without adequate reason."

And under Upperclass Students: "Since the responsibility for class attendance rests with the student, no excuses will be issued for absences of upperclassmen. The results of absences will be reflected in the quality of work done by the student."

These statements, which represent the legislation of the matter to the student, apparently give the student full responsibility for determining absence necessity.

If, however, the instructor as well as the student may determine the value of an excuse for absence, it seems possible that faith in the mature judgment of the student may be lost and the opportunity for students' acceptance of responsibility will not have been increased.

The Students Speak...

By BARBARA WICKHAM

No matter where you look in a newspaper these days, on every page from the editorials to the comics you see comments on atomic power. They have even predicted atomic hair tonic to give you lovely curly hair. Last week in chapel we spoke on the problem of the atomic power and what to do about it. This made the students even more conscious of the problem.

This week we turn from "cuts" to atoms in our effort to seek student opinion. The question was this: Do you think we ought to keep the secret of the atomic bomb ourselves or what do you suggest we do with it?"

Marion Cook, senior—

"I don't think they should keep it a secret and hold it over Russia's head as a threat."

Ann Colvin, junior—

"We ought never to have used it or if it was necessary we should never have even announced it but kept the entire thing a secret. Now we should withhold it for the whole thing or just drop the subject from all of the papers and do something so much comment about it."

Lee Goodman, sophomore—

"I think we ought to keep it a secret until we find more about it and know what it can do."

Harriet Ruth Dees, sophomore—

"We might as well give it out because Russia will be able to find out keep it a secret anyway."

Betty Jane Wright, freshman—

"We should keep it a secret and not use it at all except perhaps for commercial use. It should never be used again for destruction."

Sarah Stewart, graduate student—

"We can't keep it a secret, so we might as well let everyone know as much as we have found out so it can help everyone. Now it is just causing unrest and might even lead to another war."

Emily Sheffall, junior—

"No, it ought to be given to the United Nations Organization to be kept in trust and only be used for constructive purposes. We definitely should have an international school about it."

Mary Ann Cannon, junior—

"I don't think it should be given to anyone under any conditions."

Margaret Ann Marshall, freshman—

"I think we ought to keep it a secret because it might get into the hands of the enemy and if they had it we'd be back where we started from."

Dot Fouts, sophomore—

"I believe that it ought to be buried six feet under the ground. It is very destructive to mankind and will eventually lead to annihilation.

College Comments...

BARBARA BECKMAN

Many students were reported to be scurrying in all directions last week when Indian tribes were seen invading the campus. "P-Day was peaceful, but the anti-LI'l Abner readers[illegible] is here." was the cry. It was later confirmed all a[illegible] Indian feathers were merely part of the YWCA drive and it was only "P-Day" when you wonder "why" you came to college!

—Kentucky Kernel

The Crimson-White, University of Alabama publication, reports that "no classes met and that no assignments were given last Saturday or will be held tomorrow." These two days are Alabama football holidays. That is one problem we at Florida State College do not have to worry about—we can attend all of our beloved Saturday classes.

A freshman knows not and knows not that he knows not.

A sophomore knows not and knows that he knows not.

A junior knows and knows not that he knows.

A senior knows and knows that he knows.

—Paul Creighonton

A group of irate students decended on the dining hall girls at breakfast Wednesday morning! They were not fed their breakfast and cups of tea. They had been through the long line, found a table, and had their breakfast trays to their taste—or so they thought. The first bite of cereal or the first swallow of coffee revealed that during the night someone had substituted salt for sugar in the bowls. The one who heard of this misfortune was tasting "what was in the bowl" and "spitting it out."

—FSC

"That's just exactly what I think —so there!"

Click goes the receiver and the person who is the object of such a sigh of relief—guess she got THERE too! Girls' heads have been[illegible] attracted to the large old wall phone with a hand ringer which is now in the office of the[illegible] This aged, grey phone, which has been in the[illegible] family for nearly 25 years, was presented to the speech department to be used in the radio room. It has been proved even more useful for those who wish to make a complaint or get somebody "told."

—Gripe Machine

FREE OF CHARGE

When hysterical laughter comes from the speech office it's a sign that some innocent victim has sincerely tried to call only to find out that the phone doesn't really work!

—The Lass-o

Van Johnson will pick the final winner in the North Texas State Teachers College cover girl contest. Seven students were nominated to enter. Each girl had full length pictures in street dress and formal gowns made. The pictures will be sent directly to Van Johnson in Hollywood, who will pick the final winner. What do you think of that?

The latest fashion fad at Mississippi State college for women, according to the Spectator, is the peek-a-boo bang. To quote them, "And speaking of the peek-a-boo bang, the freshmen seem to have a few ideals along that line. Anyway a lot of them have taken to[illegible] quite a bang out of cutting them, and a good talent scout wouldn't have any trouble finding a double for Ish Kabibble in these parts."

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED

War Crimes

A four-power commission of jurists, composed of representatives from the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, last week in Berlin formally indicted 24 major war criminals. The accused have been given until November 20 to prepare their defense.

Russo-American Split

A rift between Russia on the one hand and the United States and Great Britain on the other is becoming more and more apparent to many observers in Germany. It is pointed out that Russia and the two English-speaking nations are finding difficulty over the rights of newspapers, choice of textbooks to be used in the public schools, and an unofficial Russian source said that the United States and Great Britain were preparing to set up a form a capitalism in Germany that will be used as a "bulwark against Russian Communism. Meanwhile there is considerable controversy between Russia and the United States over the[illegible] granted American newspapers and other organizations. In order to straighten out difficulties and to expedite the American occupation in Japan, the United States has invited representatives from the United Nations to act as an advisory board conference to be held soon in Washington. It is thought by some observers that this is[illegible] out of her opposition to the American policies in Japan will not attend this conference.

Latin American Affairs

In Argentina, Vice - president Peron, supported by the Buenos Aires police and the laborers, seized to power and ousted Avalos and Lima, both of whom had taken over the major cabinet positions under President Farrell last week after the army-navy coup. Farrell, who remains president, is the figurehead president and is[illegible] to have trouble finding a double for Ish Kabibble in these parts."

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

To the Editor:

Steps are hard to climb, Forty or fifty steps a day would not overtax the ordinary individual. Even the prospect of locomoting four or five flights of steps several times a day would cause a[illegible] and[illegible] certain[illegible] into a state of panic.

Yet that is what is happening right here in Landis hall. We students, possessors of knowledge, are compelled to expend a great deal of time, energy and effort trudging up and down the result of which is much fatigue and little pursuit o. knowledge

Although this is a little exaggerated the point is clear that there is no need for so much walking This dormitory of approximately 500 girls can at present[illegible] with the utmost ease that elevator is often in a state of "repair". When one considers that the building has five floors and that there is another wing not now lying "dormant" except for house directors and servants, the whole situation seems a little unfair.

May I add that all the house directors and servants combined do not make up a number equal to the enrollment of Landis hall, and that the[illegible] of the latter are not nearly as constant as that of the students. Also, now that most of the rumble seats in cars have been disposed of, there is really no reason why the[illegible] elevator should be the "out of bounds" it[illegible] I speak for the students' convenience when I say this. Would you please consider this a complaint registered?

Mary Pat Weedon.

Sororities Disband At Hendrix College

CONWAY, Ark. (ACP)—Sororities of Hendrix College voted to disband all social sororities Three of the sororities voted to disband unanimously, the other by a large majority.

The action came this fall when a group of girls representing all four sororities, were discussing the problem of[illegible] politics and the chance of[illegible] by atmosphere. The campus is one of a clanish spirit brought on by[illegible] sorority life.

After hitting on this subject and the idea of disbanding other[illegible] sororities were called in to express their opinion. The feeling seemed to be the same throughout the group.

The news spread quickly over the campus. Regular meetings of of the sororities were held and this topic was the main discussion. Plans were made for each sorority to meet and voice for or against disbanding .

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

FRANCE: BEACHHEAD OF LIBERTY

"A strong France has always been an American necessity." The statement is made by Russell W. Davenport in an article in the current issue of Fortune. She is at present a middle ground between a necessitial war ownership and a burning sest for liberty. How she fuses socialism and human liberty is of vital importance to the world because our country is strong, geographically and ideologically, if the French lose their freedom.

France occupies the middle ground between two extremes, state and emotionalism. The author states that what Voltaire said that the French people were the most intelligent in the world was not that they were greater than the great of other lands but that they were supremely competent to judge the creations of others. France's main[illegible] is art, whether it be in conversation, politics or painting.

Mr Davenport says that although a sentimental tie certainly exists between France and the United States it is not for this reason that we have twice sent an expedition to die on French ground. Our dependence on France lies in a[illegible] sense. She is "in" to European affairs if we can avoid the[illegible] and France can offer us possible protection from detailed involvement. In the formula of the[illegible] we need to strengthen France not by weakening Britain but with the aid of Britain.

The development of our French policy is difficult and precarious because France was so badly weakened, physically and morally, by the war. A major difference in the war experiences of France and the United States was in the fact that France instead of organizing for a war effort disorganized by sabotage, black and[illegible] market in an effort to thwart the enemy in occupation. At present the economic system has reached such a state of nothingness that it is hard to know where to start reconstruction. The French workers with no[illegible] conditions are like "a hearried and lazy" in the eyes of American and British trained eyes geared to speed and efficiency. Moreover, the French peoples for labor, both human and material, were geared first by the Germans and later by the Allied needs.

Cool Premiers

"Almost every shortage in France today has its root in coal shortage." The coal problem, says Mr Davenport, can be traced back into the actual lack of natural coal deposits but also a shortage of[illegible] and a[illegible] productivity rate due to food shortages. The food shortage has also had its lead to a thriving black market from which it is possible to obtain absolutely anything if you have either the cash or the other half of a combine. The result is that the Frenchman is deeply frustrated and tries to hide it by a lackadaisical and[illegible] attitude.

A continuation of the present condition would lead to a situation with a certain development of a totalitarian regime. It is therefore to our interest to "formulate a policy that will tend to provide the several[illegible] France can a sense of security. Among other things this should include supplementing French materials needed in reviving industry Regarding the coal situation the Saar mines should be turned over to her and the Ruhr mines controlled so as to give her a substantial share."

With her coal France must have her pride, says the author. On these grounds the way in which we can best help here is to "stand true to our own democratic principles."

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS — Associate Editor
ANNA OATHOUT, PEGGY KAY — Associate Editor
LOIS BYRD — Associate Editor
BETTY JO ROGERS — Associate Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON — Associate Editor

Copy Editor — Lois Rogers
Copy Staff — Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Wilson
Feature Editor — Anne Rutledge
Assistant Feature Editor — Bobbie Bell
Assistant Managing Editor — Betty Gray
Assistant Society Editor — Betty Gray
Society Staff — Betty Gray
Society News Editor — Catherine Vickers
Literary Editor — Jerry Cruse, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor — Lois Rogers
Art Editor — Lois Rogers

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Bayo, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bennett, Virginia Bird, Laurel Bird, Lois Lee Bryan, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Mary Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Ann Winifred Lane, Barbara Lankford, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Miranda, Jacqueline Nolan, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Verne Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Marjorie Stevens, Mary Tarr, Tenil Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deusen.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager
Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager
Assistant Circulation Manager
Secretary

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1923, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . .

Mother roast, "coffees", Hallowe'en parties, and pledge activities are high-lights of sorority functions this week.

The Alpha Chi Omegas entertained Saturday afternoon with coffee" honoring their patrona pianoforte. Special guests ested Dr. Mariah Irish, Dean of Mrs. Karl O. Kuersteiner, Dr. M ssen Rogers, Miss Madge Clay Dr and Mrs M W Carothers. ll all sorority presidents and mothers. Mary Bloodworth ts and small daughter, Marcy, n Charlotte, North Carolina, ted the Alpha Chi house over week-end.

nesday night the new Alpha ledges sang their "goat" ge for entertainment of the ers". Newly elected pledges ers are Nancy Wren, presi Virginia Der Garry, vice-ident; Judy Rhodes, secretary Carter, treasurer; Charlotte ister, chaplain.

embers and their dates en a weiner roast at the Alpha Pi house Sunday evening ing Pi Phi served a pledging ony next Wednesday for ident McKinnon.

new Alpha Xi Delta pledge ers are Evelyn Lee, presi Marvin Thomas, vice-presi Betty Lovett, secretary; Mae Mann, treasurer; Barbara Brock, social chairman; Judy Turner, music chairman; Sally Jones, scholarship chairman; Dorothy Dowd, ritual chairman; Catherine Cooper, chairman of breakfasts and Virginia Walters, skit chairman.

Chi Omegas actives and pledges entertained in a weiner roast in ck of the Chi Omega house Monday night. The pledges are ning on skits to be presented the entertainment of actives they first gained a "coffee" to be held this Sunday night.

Delta Delta Delta pledges ers for the year are: Amanda ams, president; Beaufie Rob vice-president; Annette Nor secretary; Jean Roof treas and Louise Hutchinson, ian; Virginia Hall, historian.

An informal party for members their guests will be held at the Delta Phi Epsilon house on Sunday morning.

D Phi K's were given a pledge at the estate of Mrs Roem The following pledge o ers were elected recently: Bob Hinson, president; Annette ther vice-president and treas Joan Lasgner, secretary; Dorothy Vitsky, parliamentarian.

Mike Kirkland was elected resident of the Delta Zeta pledges t week meeting. Other pledges were elected at the same time Barbara Nolen, vice-presi Sue Hilton, secretary; Mil Turner, treasurer; and Shir Rigsby, chaplain.

Her news item last week of Delta ta activities include a pledge ormance held Friday night Pare McCracken, Lou Tay Priscilla Mullins, and Marilyn Jones were also redpledged at ame time. Wednesday night the Zeta's observed the 1-2-3 Dinner Day with a banquet at Floridan Hotel. Special guests the and Mrs Mark H Ehrlich, ball faculty advisors. The Al-Rama chapter here on the ssee State College campus was ized Wednesday, October 24.

This week-end Betty Jane Sin-and Anne Chillingworth n the University of Kentucky pare for the installation of the new Gamma Iota chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. Last Sunday night supper was served at the house for actives, pledges and guests. Joyce Strobey entertained with several songs.

Members and pledges of Kappa Delta celebrated the 48 nation-al anniversary on October 23 with a Pou..ders' day ceremony. It was in 1897 at Virginia State Normal college, Farmville, Virginia, that Kappa Delta was founded by Julia Tyler, Mary Sommerville Sparks, Sarah Turner, and Lenora Ashmore. Mrs Ben McGinnis, chairman of the alumnae advisory board and special guest at the ceremony, presented an award to Kappa Alpha chapter for outstanding achievement during the past year.

New Kappa Delta pledge officers are Emmala Fox, president; Iris Parsons, vice-president; Betty Lou Maddox, secretary; Bert Ellen Lamar, treasurer. At their regular meeting this week the pledges made plans for a Halloween party to be given Saturday night for "actives" and pledges.

Kappa Delta entertained Thursday evening at 7:30 with an after-noon "coffee" in honor of Miss J H MacFadden, daughter of Mrs Bert Allen Lamar, K D chaperone. Mrs MacFadden recently moved to Tallahassee and is a member of the Leon High school faculty.

At the "coffee" Maurine Ashmore, president, announced plans for a Halloween party to be given Saturday night for "actives" and pledges.

Kappa Delta pledges of their officers at the reg-ular Thursday meeting last week. New secretary is Mary Allen Lee; president: Anne Potter, vice-president; Frances Stockton, secretary; Jane Carpenter, treasurer; Marion Moorhead, social chairman; Judy Rhodes, publicity chairman; Catherine Cooper, chairman of breakfasts and Virginia Walters, skit chairman.

Chi Omega actives and pledges entertained in a weiner roast in back of the Chi Omega house Monday night. The pledges are planning on skits to be presented the entertainment of actives they first gained a "coffee" to be held this Sunday night.

Delta Delta Delta pledges officers for the year are: Amanda Williams, president; Beaufie Robertson, vice-president; Annette Norris, secretary; Jean Roof treasurer; and Louise Hutchinson, historian; Virginia Hall, historian.

An informal party for members and their guests will be held at the Delta Phi Epsilon house on Sunday morning.

D Phi K's were given a pledge at the estate of Mrs Roem The following pledge o ers were elected recently: Bob Hinson, president; Annette ther vice-president and treas Joan Lasgner, secretary; Dorothy Vitsky, parliamentarian.

Mike Kirkland was elected resident of the Delta Zeta pledges t week meeting. Other pledges were elected at the same time Barbara Nolen, vice-presi Sue Hilton, secretary; Mil Turner, treasurer; and Shir Rigsby, chaplain.

Her news item last week of Delta ta activities include a pledge ormance held Friday night Pare McCracken, Lou Tay Priscilla Mullins, and Marilyn Jones were also redpledged at ame time. Wednesday night the Zeta's observed the 1-2-3 Dinner Day with a banquet at Floridan Hotel. Special guests the and Mrs Mark H Ehrlich, ball faculty advisors. The Al-Rama chapter here on the ssee State College campus was ized Wednesday, October 24.

This week-end Betty Jane Sin-and Anne Chillingworth n the University of Kentucky pare for the installation of the new Gamma Iota chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. Last Sunday night supper was served at the house for actives, pledges and guests. Joyce Strobey entertained with several songs.

Members and pledges of Kappa Delta celebrated the 48 nation-al anniversary on October 23 with a Pou..ders' day ceremony. It was in 1897 at Virginia State Normal college, Farmville, Virginia, that Kappa Delta was founded by Julia Tyler, Mary Sommerville Sparks, Sarah Turner, and Lenora Ashmore. Mrs Ben McGinnis, chairman of the alumnae advisory board and special guest at the ceremony, presented an award to Kappa Alpha chapter for outstanding achievement during the past year.

New Kappa Delta pledge officers are Emmala Fox, president; Iris Parsons, vice-president; Betty Lou Maddox, secretary; Bert Ellen Lamar, treasurer. At their regular meeting this week the pledges made plans for a Halloween party to be given Saturday night for "actives" and pledges.

Kappa Delta entertained Thursday evening at 7:30 with an after-noon "coffee" in honor of Miss J H MacFadden, daughter of Mrs Bert Allen Lamar, K D chaperone. Mrs MacFadden recently moved to Tallahassee and is a member of the Leon High school faculty.

At the "coffee" Maurine Ashmore, president, announced plans for a Halloween party to be given Saturday night for "actives" and pledges.

Sororities Begin Initiating Today

Although pledging has just been completed for the fall quarter, several sororities have begun initiating girls pledged last spring or those who failed to make their grades.

Alpha Chi Omega members are initiating Betty Hancock, Jonnie Wires, Margaret Drummond and Luella Roane tomorrow night. A banquet in honor of the initiates will be held some time next week at the Cherokee hotel.

Betty Sassemore, Marie Everett and Catherine McKeown will be initiated into Alpha Delta Pi tomorrow night.

Tonight Chi Omega members are initiating Barbara Covington and Georgene Davis.

Joyce Evans, Chris Morrison and Betty Lazarev completed the first half of their initiation into Delta Delta Delta this morning and by tomorrow night will be full members. After initiation, Tri Delta actives and pledges are given a Hallowe'en wiener roast in honor of the initiates.

Tonight Mary Ann Waits will become an "active" of Pi Beta Phi and a dinner will be given in her honor at the Pi Phi chapter house. Tea room after her initiation tonight.

Graduates Write

Tuesday Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary, received two letters from Florida State College graduates. One was from Rosemary Hinkle, '45, who is now in the .Canal Zone. Rosemary is with the Research and Service Bureau of the Personnel Division in Panama.

The other letter was from Betty Jane Harriman, '45, who is in Rochester, New York and is on the cafeteria administration in Camera Works. In her letter B J said that she had bumped into Del Morris, former instructor of PSC at Kodak Park. She also mentioned that Barbara Wheelock, '45, is on the cafeteria administration with her.

Second Meeting

Continued from Page One

time; going away with Dead Week completely wiped out; doing away with all committee meetings, house meetings convocations, and any social event that the student body may wish to participate; or modification of the rule, which would mean the upholding of Dead Week with certain exceptions.

Several suggestions were made, among them that Dead Week be changed to Study Week Friday, December 30 to Friday, December 7, that a committee be appointed to study methods of Dead Week, that Dead Week be consolidated to the first week before exams each week, and that the Glee Club Vespers program be scheduled for one week earlier. A motion embodying of events was also submitted under which Dead Week activities should take place on the week-end immediately preceding exams.

At the next regular student body meeting, on Thursday afternoon, reports were made by Betty Jane Walton verifying the date of the Homecoming dance, Daphne Rowe, concerning the date of Glee Club Vespers.

The calendar of events now scheduled for Dead Week and exam week under the present ruling is as follows: December 10, Tallahassee Civic Music Event, December 12, Gubernatorial candidates; and on the evening of December 17, the Senior Christmas party.

Other business disposed of by Mrs Jones within the first meeting on Wednesday afternoon included the announcement of new appointees within the staff. They were: Handbook committee, Doris Carver; social committee, Marjorie Miller; organization committee, Harriet McCarty, and junior representative, Sarah Helen Moon. A report of the legislature and other organizational activities was made by Mary White, who stated that in the field, Phi Mu Alpha fraternity emphasis had been placed on a complete reorganization of Model Book and re-classification of students by classes. Eli Land reported on Eli Land's plans and skits. The vacancy in the vice-presidency of Hillside was filled by the unanimous election of Jess Skinner to that office.

The next meeting of Senate is scheduled for next Wednesday, October 31, at 5 p m.

Evens Swing

Continued from Page One

Shirley, Catherine Sullivan, Peggy Futch, Jane Gunn, Babs McCarty, Anne Hamilton, Verree Munroe, Katherine Jackson, Doris Snow, Anne Collins, Betty Alexander, Frankie Hall, Catherine Gallacher, June Mitchell, Jean Bates, Margaret Baugh, Jean Ann Ramsdell and Rose Marie Perry.

Verree would be glad of the opportunity to present their program on the first night since Odell might get some professional and colorful ideas", says Ella Mae.

The committee heads chosen for the work back stage are: lights, Jane Lyles and Eli Land; dance, Dot Tucker; music, Anita Belcher, Calista Hatcher; costumes, Virginia Collins, publicity, Frankie Hall; program, Jean Sharer; ushers, Peggy Kay; make-up, Annie Hunt; business manager, Sarah Jane McKelvy; and stage manager, Sarah Bennett.

Bryan Suite

Continued from Page One

rooms they have stooped to having white bedspreads. Maybe the janitors sent them.

As this attractive little suite stands in its complete prospective, the main room separates the two side ones, one blue and the other green. What is it that's said about surroundings?

"One's environment goes a long way in forming one's character and disposition." According to this statement, it would certainly be safe to predict that this foursome will be quite the britest students on campus.

Three Sororities Honor New Pledges

Pledge banquets of the sororities on campus are concluded this week with, the final three.

The Alpha Xi Delta formal banquet will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow night at the Cherokee Hotel, according to Mary Alma, president. Dr Annie Pepper, Alpha Xi faculty advisor, Mrs Deane Turner, house-mother, and Mary Ann Tidwell will give welcoming speeches. Evelyn Lee, pledge president, will give the response.

The Theta Beta Delta pledges were honored at a formal banquet held at the Cherokee Hotel Monday night. Guests present were Mrs Jim Berry, Mrs Olive B Cross, Miss Kay Warren, and Miss Agnes Gregory. The pledges were welcomed by Miss Warren and Mrs Cross. Amanie Semmes, president of the pledge group, responded in behalf of the pledges. Betty Touchton, chapter president, presided over the ceremonies.

All arrangements for the banquet were made by Mae Evans, social chairman, who was assisted by Joyce Bonn and Mary Gillis, according to Joyce Benton, publicity chairman.

A formal tea was given at the Wakulla Hotel Thursday evening at 4 o'clock by the Phi Mu pledges, according to Ann Tucker, publicity chairman. Louise Brown, pledge president, served as hostess and also addressed a few remarks to the pledges. Ann Carter, pledge president, gave a speech in response.

Tulis was decorated with garden flowers, and the favors were baskets of yellow mums and roses which were given to pledges.

Jackie Fosdick, social chairman, was assisted by Ann Allen, Beverly Reed, and Sarah Davis in making all arrangements.

Stories

Continued from Page One

they learned my English fastes than I learned the English of them."

Paulette Blank was at the headquarters of Overseas Air Transport Command in West Palm Beach. She helped keep track of the routes of the Green Project Airplanes, which were the C-47s that brought the boys home from Europe. "I knew which boys were coming home before they got here, and I kept charts on big wall maps and transferred incoming messages about the planes to their individual cards in the file," Polly said.

Jackie MacGee is an Art Major and had a spree in her chosen field, did the illustrations needed for the Yowell-Drew-Ivey company in Orlando. She also had a few harder chores, literally and figuratively, for she made-up advertisements for the shop and bandaged broken ankles with professional skill.

Janet Rogers and Kit Land pursued their academic interests at Columbia University in New York City. Both returned with the opinion that Florida is a wonderful place for study but they didn't qualify their statements further than stating professionally writing, English literature, political science, and sociology to the tune of practically every major midshipmen drilling, they managed to get in some of the conventional sight-seeing tours as well as many little excursions of their own. Only once they were lost, and that was when they ended up in Harlem via subway instead of Columbia Circle. Being there for V-J Day and seeing Times Empire State building shorby after the bomber crashed into it were lots of excitement in addition to the usual ones New York offered them during the seven weeks they were there.

Ruge Hall Holds Freshmen Banquet

The first formal banquet to be given for freshmen by a religious organization will take place tomorrow night at Ruge hall, Episcopal student house, at 7:15.

Bishop Frank Juhan, bishop of the diocese of Florida from Jacksonville, Bishop Henry Louttit, suffragan bishop of South Florida from West Palm Beach, and Mrs Randall Chase, former President secretary at Ruge hall, will be special guests.

All transfers, freshmen, and new faculty who are Episcopalians are invited.

Doris Corry is in charge of arrangements for freshmen and Harriet McCarter will be toastmistress.

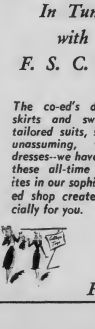
Saturday morning at Ruge hall there will be a faculty-vestry breakfast at which both bishops will be present.

Odds Begin

Continued from Page One

Joyce Strobey, Patsy Crosby, Nancy Jones; and Laura Simpson, Polly Kennedy, and Jean Watson.

Only the names of the cast could be devulged. Nell said, because it is traditional to keep the skit and name a surprise until Thanksgiving. The main characters will be played by Nancy Wright, Lizie Shuster, Patty McColpin, Bookie McMichael, Terry Johnston, Virginia Gray, Laura Simpson, Rosemary Fleming, Robbie Sherman, Jane Longino, Frances Stockbridge, Tobie Jacobson, Joan Longdon, Ann Butler, Barbara Ann Bowler, Joyce Hall, Rosetta Carver, Kay van Deurs.



Committee chairmen chosen to organize the hundreds of students who volunteered to work behind the scenes are: Ann Parker, costumes; Mary Lou Norwood and Eleanor Brock, music; Ann Hunter, properties; Joy Fleming, make-up; Mickie Lewis, lights; Frances Traxler, scenery; Shirley Rodgers, programs; Mary Louise White, stage manager; Shirley Palmer, stage construction; Frances Ewart, tyrpist; Nancy Ward, Isabel Jones, and Nikki Nicholson, Jean Ann Daly.

Plans subsequently include Sidney Conner, Syivia Melach, and Mary Lou Norwood.

Cotterill Advises

Continued from Page One

"Queen" sang by Katherine Gremli, senior music major. The processional, "Processional on College Songs" and the recessional, "War March of the Priests" by Mendelssohn were played by Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ piano and theory. Pat Pattillo and Beth Puhrer, representing Sophomore Council, served as marshalls for the procession.

In Tune with F. S. C. W.

The co-ed's delight, skirts and sweaters, tailored suits, simple, unassuming, woolen dresses--we have these these all-time favorites in our sophisticated shop created specially for you.

The FRENCH SHOP

Three Dormitories Celebrate Hallowe'en

Fortune-telling and games will highlight the Bermuda Hallowe'en party tonight. Costumes will add a holiday spirit to the occasion, and according to Louise Illingworth, the social chairman, "surprises are in store for all."

Music and dancing by the light of an open fire will be features of New Hall's party tonight. Jane Whitfield, the social chairman said that games and stunts would be presented as entertainment.

Bryan will celebrate Halloween with a combination party and informal dance Saturday night. Dancing will be streamers and with a floor show and several skits to be presented during the evening. About 160 invitations have been issued to men at Camp Gordon Johnston, according to Nickie Bettie, the social chairman.

Flambeau Conducts

Continued from Page One

When asked how they thought the honor system could be made more effective, several students said they thought the idea of a personal honor code should be stressed more. Along this same line, one junior said it was stressed in the wrong way. "They make it seem so complicated," she explained, "when it's a mere matter of honesty."

Two of the students admitted that they couldn't understand it at all, and they would not be entitled to an opinion on the subject.

One upperclassman thought it was worked out as well as could be expected. She said she thought it meant more to upperclassmen than it did to freshmen because the upperclassmen understood it better.

The good points brought up about the system were that it made better citizens out of students because it was more like life outside of college. They liked to see teachers really trust students on tests and in other instances. It was believed that one is more likely to do right when trusted, and that the honor system eliminated the constant closely guarded feeling.

Dormitory Teas Feature Musicales

Dormitory teas were held on Wednesday from 5 to 6 in their respective parlors. Special musical programs were featured in several of the halls.

Mildred Robson was in charge of the dorm Musicales tea. Ruth Wilkie played the piano and Margaret McCormack sang, accompanied by Helen McCann.

The fifth floor of Gilchrist, under the direction of Anne Fielding, had charge of the program in the hall. Elizabeth and Emilie Harper played several numbers on their lonettes. Mary Helen Tew played the piano, and a quartet composed of Jean Shaver, Irma Lee Shepherd, Judy Rhodes, and Anne Fielding sang three original songs.

Campuside and Hillside had 'ea together and enjoyed a solo by Elsie Elgin. The Village had its tea in Cockrell. A special committee was in charge of the tea in Broward. New Hall's committee was headed by Jane Whitfield. A two-piano and one-piano during the R-r-nolds tea, which was under the direction of Louise Illinsworth, featured enjoyed tea but had no special entertainment.

Last week the Landis tea table accidentally held salt in place of sugar but things were in their right place Wednesday and the tea ran smoothly.

Bryan did not have a tea this week.

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH
Longines
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR AWARDS PLUS 29 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR OTHER TIMEPIECES
"TH- MOST HONORED WATCH"
THE CAMPUS

COAT and SUIT DUET
WEAR THEM TOGETHER OR SEPARATELY IN BRIGHT AND PASTEL SOLIDS
$49.95 To $79.00
TWO PIECE SUITS
100% Wool Pastel Gabardines, Pin Stripes and Tweeds
$16.95
The Surprise Store

Tallahassee Music Company
Come in and see our new stock of Record and Wide Selection of Sheet Music
123 S. Monroe St.

Stop! Look! Choose!
FROM OUR COSTUME JEWELRY DISPLAY
A New Lapel Pin . . . for your suit
A Locket . . . for his picture
A Charm Bracelet . . . for luck
Or One of Our New Perfume Rings
Just for Fun!
MARTIN & DALTON
Phone 123 210-212 S. Adams St.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 42nd St., New York, N.Y.
Offers Interesting Work, $85.00 a Month

WAA Discusses Coming Events

Secure City Bleachers For Thanksgiving Games

Plans for the coming Thanksgiving games were among the main topics discussed at the meeting of the Women's Athletic Association Wednesday night, with Jo Guthrie presiding.

With the change of soccer and hockey from third sport season to ... the games will have to be played out-of-doors. This shift has necessitated the securing of bleachers. WAA has ... the ... which will seat 2000, for these annual Thanksgiving games that will be refereed by rated officials. Each team will have its own benches and there will also be a reserved section. Six cheerleaders will be chosen for each team, three from each class.

As the plans go now, the band will play during the games, and, between the hockey and soccer games they will perform on the field. All these features will blend together with King Winter to give what Jo Guthrie hopes will be the best Thanksgiving program yet devised.

"There are four main reasons why we have changed the sport seasons this year," Jo declared. "... of the school makes it impossible to seat as many students as there are who want to see the games. Secondly it will ... students a chance to participate in Thanksgiving activities ... the ... and volleyball ... on the interest in hockey and soccer will increase. ... the regular season for ... comes following the Christmas holidays. The curriculum as it now stands has been to conform ... the correct season."

At the ... Wednesday night it was announced that archery will begin November 21 and 23. It will be ... Columbia round.

WAA handbooks will be out on November 6 and will be distributed to all at the house meetings.

Miss Schornherst Honors Dr Hood

Under a spreading live oak gathered several instructors of Biological Science. This spacious tree shades an outdoor living room at the home of Miss Ruth Schornherst, associate professor of Botany. It was there that the instructors in Biological Science were entertained recently by Miss Schornherst and her sister Miss Mae Schornherst with a hamburger, apple sauce, and ginger bread dinner given in honor of Dr Mary Nako Hood, associate professor of bacteriology.

While the guests abandoned all reducing routine and enjoyed the menu to the fullest, they reciprocated tall tales.

The guests at this occasion were: Dr Mary Noka Hood, Dr and Mrs Herman Kurz, Miss Edna Mae Deviney, professor of zoology; Miss Mildred Irene Bolles, associate professor of zoology; Miss Caroline Trump, instructor of zoology; and Miss Betty Anthicum, instructor of botany.

"Have any of your childhood hopes been realized?"

"Yes, when mother used to pull my hair I wished I didn't have any."—Young America.

Life Saving Corps Has Splash Party

The members of the Life Saving Corps and their guests, prospective freshmen members, gathered at the college pool last Friday night for their first splash party of the year.

There was a short program, including a comic diving and swimming act presented by members Joyce Casey, Anna Horne, and Nancy MacEdwards. All those present divided themselves into three teams, called Starboard, Port and Engine, and competed in a pajama relay, a tandem relay, and a variety of water-polo. The Engine team won all events, scoring nine points, with the Port and Starboard teams came in with equal scores of four and one-half points each.

A business meeting of the Life Saving Corps was scheduled for 10 o'clock last night according to Gladys "Skooks" Lester, president of the corps for the purpose of the election of an assistant secretary from the freshmen members and four discussion of other current business.

Alumnae Meet For Dinner in New York

In a letter Miss Bertha Bloodworth publicity director, received last week from Mildred Heston was the latest news on Florida State College alumnae in New York City. In her letter Mildred, former editor of the Flambeau, said, "although we have no official Alumnae club here in New York City, a number of us do meet weekly for dinner at 'Aux Steaks Minute' a French restaurant on 52nd street. Any visiting alumnae wanting to visit with some Florida girls would almost be certain to find one or more FSC graduates there Thursday evenings."

Marietta Schultz, '44, is an executive secretary at the Marinque hotel Lee Malakoff, '45, is now Mrs Leonard Myers and is living in NYC. Della Perez, '45, is studying at the New York School for Social Work. Minnie Lee McCarthy, '45, is a student dietition at a New York hospital. Pinky Callison, '45, is working for McGraw-Hill Publishing company.

IRC to Hear Collins And Bradford Today

Featured on the program meeting of the International Relations club this afternoon will be Virginia Collins and Carol Bradford, student speakers, according to Jessie McCalla, president of the club. The meeting is scheduled for 5 o'clock in the Longmire building.

The two students spent six weeks this summer in an international institute in New Orleans, Jessie said, getting practical experience in international living. They will tell of their work in the institute, and an informal discussion will follow the speeches.

Jessie urged that all students interested in joining I R C come to the meeting, bringing 50 cents for dues for the quarter.

Meeting Planned

The first meeting of the day students' organization is scheduled for this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Day Students' Lounge, according to Geraldine Brumby, vice president of the organization.

Plans for the meeting include the election of a senate representative and a secretary. Also, plans for a week-end at Camp Flastcowo will be discussed and an outline of the rules for winning the freshman cup for the most outstanding day student will be given.

Tarpon Club Selects Nine New Minnows

58 Girls Compete in Finals; Plan Demonstration

Nine girls out of the 58 that competed were selected last Friday to enter Tarpon Club as minnows, after the final tryouts held October 19.

The newly chosen members are: Corinne Dunn, Camille Batton, Amelia Pavese, Myra Long, Sylvia Meisch, Dot Wynn, Phyllis Strickland, Norma Schaeffner, and Doris DuBois. They will remain minnows until they give their first performance on Thanksgiving day, after which they will be recognized as regular members.

In order to be chosen for Tarpon, a girl must be able to do the front crawl, the back crawl, the breast stroke, the side stroke, a standing front dive, a surface dive, the back roll, and the kip to the satisfaction of the members who make the final decisions.

Plans are already being formulated for the Thanksgiving demonstration given by Tarpon, it was announced by B J Singleton president.

Minnow practices began yesterday under the direction of Margery Holm.

'F' Club Sponsors FSC Song Contest

All students are eligible to participate in a contest for original school songs which opens today under sponsorship of F club. Contestants may submit entries with both words and music of their own composition or with original words and familiar music, according to "Skooks" Lester, chairman of the contest committee.

In regard to the purpose of the contest "Skooks" said, "we believe that new college songs are badly needed and hope through this contest to stimulate interest in their composition. Those eligible to participate, which include individual students, faculty members, groups of students, clubs and sororities, may submit their entries to any F club members or send them to box 394 campus mail," she added.

Deadline for the contest has not yet been decided upon, but this will be posted during the week. Other members of the contest committee, headed by "Skooks", include Anna Giese, Nancy MacEdwards, Joyce Garmon and Betty Jane Gardiner. Babe Evans, as club president, will also serve on the committee.

YWCA Begins Work On Year's Projects

With its major committees organized and functioning the Young Women's Christian Association has begun two of its projects for the year.

The members of the Community Service committee, under the instruction of Sarah Bennett, are taught recreational games. In the afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, the girls go to the Carolyn Brevard elementary school where they supervise playground activities for those pupils who wait for bus transportation home.

Another committee of the YWCA is the Creative Activity Group. It is their responsibility to present the pageants and plays given throughout the years. At present, under the leadership of Doris Hill, they are devoting their time to a Christmas program. Unlike those presented in the past which consisted entirely of musical selections, this year's presentation will be a full length play with musical effects.

Varied Social Activities Planned by Church Groups

Varied activities of religious organizations this week will include a banquet, initiation, parties, and meetings to be held at the various student houses for the girls of that particular denomination.

Episcopalians will hold their annual freshman banquet tonight at 7:15 Bappy McCarter, president of the vestry, will be toast mistress, and members of the vestry will act as hostesses. The Rt Rev Frank A Juhan, bishop of the Diocese of Florida, will be guest speaker. Other guests will be the new members of the faculty and Canterbury club faculty advisers. Jo Dawkins, vice president of the vestry, will be toast mistress for the annual faculty-vestry breakfast Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. All members of the faculty who are Episcopalians are invited and the vestry will be their hostesses.

Approximately 150 Presbyterians are expected to attend the informal party which is being given tonight to honor Presbyterian freshmen, according to Lillian Kennedy, social chairman in charge of arrangements. A surprise skit will highlight the evening's entertainment. Guests invited to the party are: Dr and Mrs M W Carothers, sponsors; Dr and Mrs W H Rogers, Miss Sarah Herndon, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, and Colonel and Mrs H D Mendenhall. Dr Carothers will be the regular instructor of Bible classes of the Westminster Fellowship beginning next Sunday morning.

At 6:30 p m Sunday night, Rev Lawrence I Stell, now minister from Dallas, Texas, will lead a discussion group based on the first chapter of a study book of which he is co-author. "Bases of World Order" will be the topic under discussion. Reverend Stell is a graduate of Austin College, Texas, and Union Theological Seminary at Richmond. He has acted as pastor in Texas, North Carolina, and Missouri, and is reportedly popular at young people's conferences.

Fifty-three girls were initiated into the Newman Club, Catholic student organization, last Sunday night at 7:30 in the club room of the Student-Alumnae building. The initiation exercises were followed by a coffee. On November 3 and 4, Catholic freshmen will entertain upperclassmen at Camp Flastcowo. Catholic girls who desire to go to camp are requested to sign up on the bulletin board in Westcott. Every Sunday morning, a special bus leaves from in front of Bryan hall at 7:45 to take Catholic girls to 8 o'clock mass, according to Eileen Perry, president of Newman Club. The regular weekly meeting of the club will be held at 7:30 Sunday night in the Student-Alumnae club room.

Methodist freshmen will entertain their upperclassmen with a Hallowe'en party to be given tonight from 8 to 10:30 at the Methodist student house. Girls may attend the informal party in costume, slacks, shorts, or street dresses. Ruth Young, chairman of the recreation committee, is in charge of plans for the party.

The first meeting of the Baptist Student Union greater council will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the student house. The greater council is composed of the officers of any phase of Baptist Student Union work.

Tomorrow night, the young people of the Christian church will meet before the church at 6:30 to go on a hayride to the marshes. This hayride is being given to honor Dallas Lindsey, ex-staff sergeant in the U S Army who has recently returned from France. Church ceremonies Sunday morning will be conducted by Rev T Boyd Clayton, state secretary of Christian churches, in the absence of a regular pastor.

Dr Dupre to Open WSSF Campaign

Opening the annual World Student Service Fund campaign on the campus of Florida State College will be addresses by Dr Huntley W Dupre, executive secretary for the WSSF, who will speak in both convocations next Tuesday.

"Unless the students of the world give all they can to the Fund this year," Jessie McCalla, spokesman for the Fund, declared, "it won't be necessary to have a drive next year for there will be few students left in many parts of the world." The situation in China and in some the European countries will be worse this winter tha nit has been at any time during the war, Jessie explained.

The WSSF, she said, is an internal organization, "dedicated to students by students," the purpose of which is to provide books, living essentials, and other things necessary for the maintenance of students all over the world, particularly Far Eastern and European countries.

Dr Dupre, who has had experience working with students in the Far East as well as in this country, will also speak at Florida A and M Monday.

INSIDE CGA

By FRANCES MYERS

The growth in importance of the honor code within the last few years and the promise of its increasing value in the lives of students on this campus have led the Honor Committee to formulate its projects for the year with an eye to the future and long-lasting results.

The Honor Committee, which is a special committee responsible to Student Senate, is headed by Rosetta Carver junior representative to judiciary. Its members are Catherine Barrs (ex-officio), Babe Evans, Irene Mendoza, and Mary Stallings, senior class members; Clarice Trueblood, Harriett Kirk, and Frances Myers, junior class members; and Betty Kennedy, Juanita Krentzman, and Babe McCarthy, sophomore class members.

The work of the committee began in the spring of last year, when its members were selected. At that time, general policies were formed, which were to be the basis for the rest of the year's work.

An attempt has been made this year to know various student reactions to the honor code on this campus. An honor questionnaire was circulated among upperclassmen in house meetings, and among freshmer and transfers along with their handbook examinations. It is hoped that concrete evidence as to the worth which individual students place upon the code, now, may be gleaned from this questionnaire, and may be helpful in directing the course of the Honor Committee in the future.

A suggestion which was made by the 1943 Honor Committee, and which has now been carried out, was the removal of some badly-worn signs adorning the walls of so many of the classrooms. These signs for many years had served as rather moldy reminders of the virtue in honor and integrity, but they had long since exhausted their effectiveness. The committee saw to it that they were taken down last week.

Several members of the committee have been delegated to investigate the programs used by other schools which operate under honor codes in an attempt to find new suggestions which would help broaden our own standards and make our own code a more functional one.

With this start, and with plans for many other undertakings which have not yet gotten under way, the committee hopes to make many advances this year, which will make each student more aware of the code and ready to incorporate it in her daily campus life.

Playnight Features Hallowe'en Carnival

A Hallowe'en Carnival will be the special attraction of Playnight tomorrow night from 8 to 10:30 at the gymnasium.

The main feature of the evening will be kept secret until 9:30 that night.

Booths will be the fad of the evening. Bingo, fortune telling, a shooting gallery, freak show, crazy house, fish pond, cake-walk, bobbing for apples, cutting candy, wheelbarrow roll, and darts will be featured at these booths.

Miss Henrietta Greenberg's recreation class, working in cooperation with the Playnight committee, is in charge of the entertainment.

A large crowd attended last week's Playnight but twice that number is expected this Saturday, according to Eloise Boyles, member of the recreation class.

All students and dates are welcome to this evening of free entertainment.

QUOTABLE QUOTE

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"The Ph D is one of education's major ills," stated Joseph Brandt, ex-president of the University of Oklahoma in a current issue of Time Magazine.

He recommended that "the institution of the doctorate should be either abolished by our universities of reformed so that it will reunite the people and the scholars."

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

From the overflowing mail box, we chose the following problems because they seem to be the most urgent. All letters will be answered, however, so watch for the solution to your particular problem.

An unorientated freshman puzzles over this one. Says she, "Since I signed up for my fizz ed class, I have not been able to locate it. I was told that it would be held in 'the building.' To which building did they refer?" Child, as everyone knows, "the building" houses "the department" where "the majors" become educated. Our best advice to you would be to follow the first major you see. Good luck on this venture.

This next letter deals with a fine point in etiquette. A reader who weekended at G'ville explains her problem. When she left the university her boy friend said, "I had a nice weekend but this wasn't it." She asks if she should be offended by his statement.

After giving this problem much thought we have decided that the manpower shortage hasn't improved to the point where a girl can afford to get angry over little technicalities like this. No, continue to be nice to the young man and maybe he'll get you a date with his roommate sometime.

Our next question is from a civilian from town who says, "Dear Miss Sharpie, at the theater last week, which featured, "I'll Be Seeing You." I noticed a strange phenomena. When a large red brick building with a sign saying, "Women's State Prison" was flashed on the screen the girls in the audience reacted with shrieks, groans and laughter. Can you tell me the reason for this?" It is plain to see that this letter was not written by an alumna of FSC. May we suggest that perhaps Frank Sinatra was singing in the background? Otherwise, we cannot account for the disturbance among the girls in the audience.

And here is another embarrassing question. Perhaps we had better quote a part of this interesting letter. She says, "I am a junior and had my first date since I entered FSC last Saturday night. As George appreciates the finer things in life, I took him to the alum and we sat on a beautiful couch. We had been there for 60 wonderful seconds when we were told that we mustn't tarry. George and I were forced to leave." This letter is signed "Miserable." We hope that "Miserable" doesn't expect any sympathy because she has had only one date. Ungrateful thing! We have looked into the situation at the alumnae building and the statistics positively prove that if every girl took her dates to the alum and sat on the couches like you and George so boldly did, through the years these couches may wear out. If George is half the man we think he is, he will break tradition and return to FSC when the first shock wears off. In this event, may we suggest the solid, immovable brick benches which you will find under each lamp post? This ought to throw light on the subject.

PEA Has Outing

The annual Big-Little sister outing of the Physical Education association was held Wednesday evening around the traditionally called "family tree" in back of the gym.

Upperclassmen, in accordance with their seniority, chose freshmen little sisters for the occasion. Alice Taff vice president of the organization and Nancy MacEdwards, committee chairman, were in charge of the affair. Their assistants were: Eloise Boyles, Caroline Avery, Rose Marie Perro, Frankie Hall, Catherine Sullivan, and Anna Geise.

Traditional F Club Goating Activities Proceed on Campus

Every Friday night the tables in the Spic and Span are shoved against the wall and the chairs are made into a large semi-circle. The floor is cleared and in walk 15 meek and humble individuals who apparently can't bear to be separated from each other. They stand very close together giving each other comfort and support. They remain quietly in a straight line until one of the seated individuals calls out "goat ———, step forward." The ordeal has begun. And from that moment on, anything can happen. Here it is possible to see apparently sane college students become fighting cats and dogs, "the White Cliffs of Dover" or "Flaming Mamies." Nothing is sacred.

In front of the new dining hall is another center of attraction for F Club goat antics. Here you can see a goat "jump to a conclusion," be a "segmented worm," "the last of a long line," or "taxation without representation."

Jean Bennett, president of the goats, says all of the goats have their horns together in preparation for the Game Woods party which the goats are giving for the F Club members tonight. This is the first in the series of entertainments which the goats sponsor for the members.

Movie To Be Shown On Design Methods

A two-hour movie portraying the methods used at the Institute of Design in Chicago to train and develop the new type of designer needed to solve the social, technical, and artistic problems of the present-day world will be presented next Friday night at 8 o'clock in 303 Westcott.

The technicolor film, jointly sponsored by the Tallahassee Arts Center and the fine arts department of FSC, is open to the public and no admission charges will be made.

Garnet and Gold

Alice Wheeler, soprano soloist, was the music editor of the Garnet and Gold radio program which was broadcast from the college studio last night. Alice sang four songs and was accompanied by Fawn Trawick.

Sara Norman and Bertha Bloodworth took care of the announcing and news reporting.

Alice's selections were "In the Luxembourg Gardens" by Kathleen Lockhart Manning, "Pale Moon" by Frederick Knight Logan, "The Little Road to Kerry" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, and "Wind Song" by James B Rogers.

The sergeant was lecturing to the recruits on modern methods of warfare.

"What you men have got to remember," he said, "is that science has revolutionized the art of war. Now can anyone suggest what is the most outstanding contribution that chemistry has made to the Army?"

"Yes", said a voice from the back "blondes".—Sheffield (England Weekly Telegraph.

Basketball Ends; Volleyball Begins

Defeating Delta Zeta 20-19, Reynolds hall, on Wednesday afternoon, won the final game and became winner of intramural basketball.

At the semi-finals on Tuesday, Reynolds won over Gilchrist 25-21 and Delta Zeta defeated Pi Mu 22-20.

Volley ball practices have been going on since Tuesday and there has been a very good turnout, according to Theresa Munroe, intramurals manager. Volleyball games will begin Monday and officials for them will be girls taking practical examinations for national rating as volley ball officials.

Swimming will be the next intramural sport and practice will begin Monday, November 5, Theresa stated.

Travel Light

Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
3:30	3:00
3:45	5:00
5:00	8:45
6:45	8:45
8:30
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M
1:00	1:30
6:45	5:00
8:30	6:45
11:00	9:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701

CHEN YU

Cloud silk Make Up

Out of a dream world into yours comes this new make-up to cover your skin with a perfect complexion—light as a cloud and smooth as silk.

$1.00 ... Refills $1.25 (tax extra)

BENNETT'S

MONROE STREET PHARMACY
Phone 93
COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
Phone 800

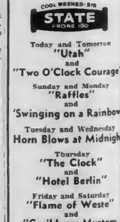
THE BOOK CORNER

FOR YOUR BOOKS, PERSONALIZED STATIONERY AND MATCHES

PHONE 1416 121 S. MONROE ST.

Old Master

The regal scrolls and graceful silhouette of Old Master will give a special distinction to your table. In the Renaissance manner — but in the modern mood.



FOR THE BRIDE, or the bride-to-be, Old Master is just one of the patterns created by Towle true to craft traditions from 1690. And Towle Sterling — solid silver — is not expensive. A place setting costs as little as $22.72 including 20% Federal Tax.

Moon's

Fall Term Charm

Add a new beauty habit to your fall term curricula. Make your favorite Roger & Gallet scent a part of your personality. Dab it on your skin like liquid perfume. It's an ever-lasting fragrance that's just starry with charm.

Six exciting scents ... Night of Delight, Fleurs d'Amour, Blue Carnation, Jade, Sandalwood and Violette, priced at $1.25.

ROGER & GALLET

AIR CONDITIONED FLORIDA PHONE 185

Today and Tomorrow
"Naughty Nineties"
Sunday and Monday
"Patrick the Great"
Tuesday and Wednesday
'George White Scandals'
Thursday Through Saturday
"You Came Along"

COOL WASHED-AIR STATE PHONE 180

Today and Tomorrow
"Utah"
and
"Two O'Clock Courage"
Sunday and Monday
"Raffles"
and
'Swinging on a Rainbow'
Tuesday and Wednesday
Horn Blows at Midnight
Thursday
"The Clock"
and
"Hotel Berlin"
Friday and Saturday
"Flame of Weste"
and
"Caribbean Mystery"

COOL WASHED-AIR RITZ PHONE 887

Today and Tomorrow
"Maisie Goes to Reno"
and
"Fuzzy Settles Down"
Sunday and Monday
"Sunday Dinner for a Soldier"
and
"San Diego I Love You"
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
'Here Come the Waves'
and
Man in Halfmoon Street
Friday and Saturday
'Death Rides the Range'
and
"Music for Millions"

Students There

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Students Here

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXIII, No. 4

NOVEMBER 2, 1945

Dupre Asks Contributions For World Student Service To Aid War-Ravaged Nations

Executive Secretary of WSSF Advises Student Union for Moral Revolution Against Conventions Forcing Poverty and Illness Upon World

Emphasizing the utter devastation and spiritual demoralization of war-ravaged countries, Dr J Huntley Dupre, executive secretary of the World Student Service Fund, called upon each Florida State College student at convocations last Tuesday night to give as much as she is able to aid her fellow students abroad in their fight for an education—that education which must instigate a moral revolution.

Dr Dupre, who helped to reunite the students of enemy nations after the last war, said that if humanity is to live in peace, there must be a moral revolution against prevailing attitudes a n d conventions, which force upon this nation and the world poverty, illness, disease and waste of resources. He called upon the students of the world to unite in an attack upon the evil forces which prevent common men from achieving the "good life" here on earth.

Touring to the San Francisco Charter as an example of the moral unreadiness of man to organize for peace, Dr Dupre said the control of the atomic bomb by an international government in which the autonomy of individual nations would be abolished.

Students at conquered countries have been forced to make life or death choices at gunpoint.

Continued on Page Three

Freshman Flunkies Do Campus Chores

Typing, Poster, Miscellaneous Groups Are Divisions

Freshman Flunkies have begun another year of service to the Florida State College campus.

As the many college clubs and organizations become active, there are numerous odd jobs that must be done. These are tasks for the Freshman Flunkies.

There are three separate divisions of this organization, the typing committee, the poster committee and the miscellaneous group, says Patricia Dillard, general chairman. The results of their activities are seen all over campus, she declared. The many posters announcing convention, pep rallies, color rush, F Club activities and dances have been lettered and painted by the poster committee under the leadership of Laura Simpson. The typists, working with Fran Ewart as their chairman, have busied themselves with the Odd Demonstration scripts, Student Senate announcements and various other scripts for house meetings. Whenever a message has to be delivered or an errand run Jane Nightingale contacts one of the members of her committee for the job.

Then there are times when all the Flunkies work together on a project. Such was the case when invocation seats were assigned. The main duty of the Freshman Flunkies, however, is to be on call wherever needed, Pat added.

Course Added In Chemistry

Kelley Plans to Alleviate Repetition of Work

A new course in chemistry has been set up this year by the chemistry department. It is hoped that this plan will be very helpful in fulfilling the needs of the students who are choosing various fields of endeavor, according to Mr J Kelley, assistant professor of chemistry.

The method planned in teaching the course, Dr Kelley said, Mr Kelley believes will alleviate much repetition for those students who have a good background in high school chemistry. Although they will receive the fundamental principles necessary for those beginning chemistry, it will not enforce those principles so that they are more easily applied, he said. The laboratory work is supplemented by reading assignments. This parallel reading enables the student to draw a comparison between the methods of preparation in the commercial and chemistry and the contemporary methods.

The use of experiments is another interesting phase of the course, Kelley said. Many experiments are used as illustrations of the light experiments as density of gases, valence and equivalent weights serve as material that will be of have and density.

A third phase of the work consists of assignments on industrial projects which concern plant siting, research organization of information, expressing or pre-

Continued on Page Three

FSC Girls to Watch Wits With Army Men

Five Florida State College students will match wits with five servicemen at Public Relations Session on Thursday, November 8. The quiz program is sponsored by the Florida State College for Women in the camp hospital.

As yet only four of the contestants from FSC have been chosen. They are, Ann Durrance, graduate student from Miami, Betty Kelley, Theo Brown, senior, and Rosetta Carver, junior. Miss Mary Evelyn Mortar Board, is in charge of the group. The Army servicemans have not yet been announced.

The party will be transported to and from the camp by Miss Mary Gordon Johnston bus. After the program the girls will be guests of the camp at the camp mess hall, and will be entertained briefly before returning to the campus. Members of Mortar Board will accompany the group.

Distaff Articles Must Be in Monday

Since next Monday, November 5 is the deadline for contributions to be submitted for the first issue of the Distaff this year, Winifred Meldrim, editor, urges that students wishing to contribute send in their material immediately.

Both contributions from the freshman contest and upperclass articles, stories and poems should be sent through campus mail addressed to Winifred Meldrim, Distaff editor.

Winifred said that freshmen have been slow in turning in their copy but there has been an enthusiastic response from upperclassmen in answer to the call for material for a symposium on post war reconstruction. This topic, announced Winifred, will be the theme of the coming Distaff to appear on or around December 1.

Irish Appointed

Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, has recently been appointed to the review staff of the New York Times Book Review. Her first review which will appear in a November issue will be of Let's Talk Peace by Raymond Swing.

Dr Irish has been writing book reviews and book notices since 1935. Other publications for which she has written articles are American Political Science Review and the Journal of Politics.

Dickson Is Making Second Appearance; Was Here in 1939

When Donald Dickson, famous Metropolitan opera singer, comes to Florida State College on November 15, it will not be for the first time. The young American singer whose rich baritone voice is well-known to radio fans and music lovers everywhere appeared here in October, 1939.

During his visit here six years ago, Mr Dickson was interviewed by several reporters of the Flambeau. The tall broad-shouldered singer ended this interview by saying, "I've been pretty lucky so far, and I hope my luck holds out. Time is the only real test of a singers' worth." He has been growing popularity of Mr. Dickson, it appears that his luck is still with him.

Even at that time the question of co-educational was an important subject, and when asked if he approved of co-education Mr. Dickson considered a moment and then said, "I think they're all right, but I favor co-education after 21 because by then they did not express any other opinions on the subject despite further urging.

The reporters of the 1939 Flambeau learned that Mr Dickson liked all baritone roles. "As a matter of fact," he said "any classic, operatic, light opera or musical comedy role I sing is. My job is singing and that's what I try to do—nothing else."

Art Film Will Be Presented Tonight

Movie Depicts Modern Trends in Teaching Design

A full-length technicolor movie depicting the basic principles of teaching art will be shown tonight at 8 o'clock in Strozier Westcott. No charges will be made for admission.

The film is being jointly sponsored in Tallahassee by the PSC Art Department and the Tallahassee Art Center. This movie, which was made by the students and faculty of the Institute of Design in Chicago in classrooms and workrooms, illustrates the unique program in integrated experimentation, according to Robert Delson, director of Tallahassee Arts Center.

Mr Delson further explained that the art program and classroom techniques at the Institute of Design are patterned after Bauhaus principles which include students first experimenting with various materials: wood, metal, paper, clay, textiles, and plastics. They are then allowed to specialize in one of the various workshops. It is this the aim of the Institute being to produce designers familiar with the various modern techniques of production as well as skilled in creative art abilities.

Walter Gropius, founder-president of the Institute of Design, was formerly the head of the Staatliche Bauhaus, the art school which Walter Gropius, now head of the architecture department at Harvard, founded at Weimar, Germany in 1919. He is internationally known in the field of industrial design education and furthered modern architecture.

Ad Lib Modernizes Ancient Adventures In Film Shown to Humanities Students

By JOYCE PETTY

"Yo-oh-heave-ho . . . unh!" Hubbas, Hubbs. "Odysseus, you have returned at last! Such remarks as these modernized the adventures of Odysseus, Homer's Greek hero, when the humanities students on Tuesday night saw a silent movie produced in 1908 based on the Odyssey.

Miss Martha O Chapman, assistant professor of English, said the humanities staff vented the film from the Film Classic Exchange. She thought the students enjoyed it in the "right spirit".

Enjoying it in the right spirit consisted of ad libbing to make up for the lack of sound in the picture.

One example was the last scene of Penelope's suitors. Julie Joan "threw herself into the arms of her long lost husband" to quote the title of the film, and several voices rose in unison, "Odysseus, you have returned at last."

In a scene showing the suitors and maids of Penelope in amorous poses around the palace lawn, one girl queried them with, "Is that dating sure, boys?" while another commanded, "No lounging on the lawns, please."

In another scene of the suitors where they were feasting, one or more cynical students warned them with, "Eat, drink, and be merry, and tomorrow you'll get fired."

The movie did not lack background music either. Odyssey was called "Yo-oh-heave-ho" and "Yo-oh-heave-ho . . . unh!" frac. the Polyo fracture. However a cute wag added at the end making it "Yo-oh-heave-ho . . . unh!"

The climax caused no end of hubbs, hubbas, and the worst of all, "Oh, you dirty rat, you!" Odysseus was taking leave of Calypso, the goddess with whom he had stayed seven years. As he started to push his raft off shore from the island, one of the maids started several times before it went smoothly. As a result of the mechanical defect Odysseus would kiss the goddess, the film would stop . . . and so on and so on. Odysseus was taking leave of Calypso, the goddess with whom he had stayed seven years. As he started to push his raft off shore from the island, one of the maids started several times before it went smoothly. As a result of the mechanical defect Odysseus would kiss the goddess, the film would stop . . . and so on and so on.

Continued on Page Three

Seniors Work At Institute

Political Science Majors Tell of Experience

Virginia Collins and Carol Bradford, senior political science majors, told International Relations club members of their six-weeks work this summer at the World Affairs Institute in Salisbury, Connecticut, at a meeting of the club last Friday in the club room of the Rowena Longmire building.

Two girls from each of the nine students from 11 different countries were present, 18 coming from Middlebury, 18 from Connecticut College for Women, and 18 from the United States.

Lectures, panel discussions, committee work on special problems, and a Washington conference contributed to an interesting and educational summer for the two girls who attended the Institute on a $150 scholarship.

Class work was under the direction of Lt Joseph C Bailey, of Hunter college. Students did all their own work, even to washing clothes and dishes. In their leisure time opportunities for sports abounded, swam in the near-by lake, and danced many special folk dances to the various accompaniments provided. Tim Chan, a Chinese student, was also a member of the Institute staff, taught many of them to do the rhumba, for he had learned the dance in Cuba, Miss Collins told Arthur Murray.

The week-end intermission men present were W Y Elliot of the War Production Board, head of the Harvard government school, and Sir Norman Angell, past member of England's parliament, who addressed the students. A recording made by the students in the form of a round-table discussion of the Institute will be broadcast over a national network in the near future.

Membership cards were collected and about 20 members attended the discussion meeting.

Miss Mary Ewing of the International Relations club will be held next Thursday night at 7:30 in the library of the Rowena Longmire building.

Hayes Guest Pianist On Garnet and Gold

This week the Garnet and Gold radio program, which is broadcast each Wednesday at 4:30 from the college studio, featured Wilda Hayes as pianist, Mary Elizabeth Steed as announcer, and Sarah Norman as news editor.

Miss Mary Ann Colones, new instructor in the speech department, has joined the radio staff committee. She fills the place left vacant by the resignation of Elizabeth Shumaker, recently editor in speech. The college radio committee is headed by Dr Herman Kurz, professor of botany.

Seniors Work At Institute

Political Science Majors Tell of Experience

Virginia Collins and Carol Bradford, senior political science majors, told International Relations club members of their six-weeks work this summer at the World Affairs Institute in Salisbury, Connecticut, at a meeting of the club last Friday in the club room of the Rowena Longmire building.

Two girls from each of the nine students from 11 different countries were present, 18 coming from Middlebury, 18 from Connecticut College for Women, and 18 from the United States.

Lectures, panel discussions, committee work on special problems, and a Washington conference contributed to an interesting and educational summer for the two girls who attended the Institute on a $150 scholarship.

Class work was under the direction of Lt Joseph C Bailey, of Hunter college. Students did all their own work, even to washing clothes and dishes. In their leisure time opportunities for sports abounded, swam in the near-by lake, and danced many special folk dances to the various accompaniments provided. Tim Chan, a Chinese student, was also a member of the Institute staff, taught many of them to do the rhumba, for he had learned the dance in Cuba, Miss Collins told Arthur Murray.

Membership cards were collected and about 20 members attended the discussion meeting.

Miss Mary Ewing of the International Relations club will be held next Thursday night at 7:30 in the library of the Rowena Longmire building.

Hayes Guest Pianist On Garnet and Gold

This week the Garnet and Gold radio program, which is broadcast each Wednesday at 4:30 from the college studio, featured Wilda Hayes as pianist, Mary Elizabeth Steed as announcer, and Sarah Norman as news editor.

Miss Mary Ann Colones, new instructor in the speech department, has joined the radio staff committee. She fills the place left vacant by the resignation of Elizabeth Shumaker, recently editor in speech. The college radio committee is headed by Dr Herman Kurz, professor of botany.

Large Enrollment, Shortage of Help Puts College Laundry Hand-Laundry, Dry Cleaning Units Under Great Strain

By JEAN DOUGLAS

Everybody talks about the laundry, in fact, a lot of people think about the laundry. It is one of those numerous institutions which we are widely seen but little noted. As one of those institutions it is vital but far too often unrecognized and unappreciated part in the activities of this campus.

Its triple job of laundering, dry cleaning and hand laundering the laundry for 2444 college girls is at present under somewhat a handicap due to the unusual increase in enrollment and to the acute shortage of help. However, as soon as new help can be trained, and as soon as the approach of winter substitutes woolens for summery cottons, the laundry hopes and expects to swing back to its normal schedule.

The first of the three duties of the laundry, that of simply washing and pressing, is by far the biggest and most complicated. This one department requires the services of 56 workers, and employs a variety of machines from the boiler-like washing machines of the size of which one rarely sees or wants to! Hissing steam-presses at every elbow, great washers whizzing merrily away at favorite buttons, grossing, steaming, blanching, growling washers lurking in corners, all are employed at the paradoxically gentle task of getting the dirt from the clothes, the wrinkles, out of clothes.

The second of the "big three" tasks, dry cleaning, which is handled at the same time and in approximately the same manner as is regular laundry. Garments are washed more carefully, are partly machine-ironed, then finished by hand; rugs, curtains, spreads, and other such items receive the special care specified in such cases.

Dry cleaning, under the direction of Mr T L Glover, is carried on in a special room to the rear of the basement, which, incidentally, is located directly underneath the gymnasium. To this division are sent those garments which cannot be washed in regular laundry. These are machined and then pressed, or hand cleaned —and finally, as a last resort, with an oxidizing process which removes not only the spot but also the color of the garment. Occasionally, of course, only with the permission of the student. At present a new dry cleaning plant is being installed, established as a cleaning agent is being installed and is expected to be ready for action within two or three weeks. This new system much more effectively cleans all types of garments and materials, with the exception of natural rubber and some synthetic materials.

The exact procedure, station by station, of the laundry package once it has been turned in at the local laundry room, begins with a trip to the checking room, where each package is counted and checked by the laundry list, and examined for damaged buttons and for old laundry marks. It is then sent to the washing machines, then to the dryer, where 70 per cent of the water is removed by centrifugal force. After this, it is sent to the breaking-table, where it is sorted according to the type of finishing which must be done. After each particular type of finishing has been accomplished, each piece is folded and sent to a semi-section to be checked against the original list. Each package is then inspected, buttons are replaced, and any minor damages are repaired. Dresses are tagged with the students' names, put on hangers, and assembled according to dormitories. The ride back to the dormitory laundry rooms then takes place, and the cycle is completed.

The college this year added one new laundry room to the two already in existence. It is the Mag-

Continued on Page Four

Attention, Seniors

Seniors who expect to complete their work for graduation at the end of the second quarter are asked to see either Miss Helen Parker or Mrs Frances Roberts in the Personnel Office as soon as possible.

Dr Graham Is New President

New Members of Phi Beta Kappa Welcomed

Dr Viola Graham, professor of physiology, was elected president of the Alpha of Florida chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at its annual business meeting Monday night. New members were welcomed by Dr Marion Irish, presiding officer.

Other officers elected at this meeting were Dr Frances Daley, vice-president; Miss Betty Hatch, secretary; Miss Mary Wilson, treasurer; and Dr A R Seymour, historian.

New members included Mrs Mary Alfriend, instructor of English, who was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa on April, 1943, at Florida State College as an alumna member of the local chapter, and Miss Carolyn Trump, instructor in zoology, who came to this campus from the University of Michigan.

A Council meeting will be held in the fall of 1946 at the College of William and Mary where Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1776. Dr Lucy Harrison R Dressler retiring secretary, upon receiving the gavel, gave congratulations to national headquarters. Because of wartime restrictions on travel and gasoline, the annual dinner meeting of Phi Beta Kappa postponed the meeting, the business being the authority body of the organization. which was scheduled for 1943.

Plans for the observation of Founder's Day, December 5, were discussed.

The Dorothy Rose Dlaher, retiring president, assumed a position in the department of psychology at Adelphi College, New York, the beginning of this year, Miss Dressler stated.

Kelley Publishes Chemistry Article

An article written by Jerry B Kelley, assistant professor of chemistry, appeared in the March issue of Chemical Education, July, 1945, entitled. 'A Simple Experiment Illustrating Dissociation and Properties of Indicators (2-Methylpropene." the article was by Mr Kelley and Dr T P Gladden of Minneapolis, Minnesota, who, according to Dr Kuersteiner, is "in a historical way the most important figure in public school music in America," will also be present at the meeting.

Members of the school of music at Florida State College who will attend the convention are Dr Viola Eila Sooke Opperman, Mrs Rachel Hunter, Miss Lucy Gwaltney, Miss Gladys O Koch, Miss Florine Mariatt, Miss Christine Wells, Miss Mary Reeder, Miss Patricia Millett, Miss Mary Dunn and Professor W R Cowles.

History of Mortar Board Is Studied

The history of Mortar Board and its constitution and by-laws were studied at the Mortar Board study period which was held at Miss Elizabeth Thomson's home last Sunday. Mortar Board members from all chapters gave their project of taking some entertainment to the Soldiers' Convalescent hospital once a month, and to sponsor monthly faculty-student fireside meetings. Secretary Dunk Adkison; treasurer, Martha Jane Brown; historian, Peggy Lou Thomas; editor, Margaret Baughan; advisor, Dr C P Hamlin; professor of experimental psychology at Florida State College.

Day Students

The Day Students' organization of Florida State College will be held Tuesday, November 6 in Conradi-Way Fund drive or the campus.

The day students, headed by Daphne Rowe, decided at a meeting Friday to take charge of a contributions booth in the hall of Westcott building from October 31 through November 2. The organization is composed of PSC students who are residents of Tallahassee and Geraldine Brumby is vice-president.

Twenty Outstanding Seniors Selected to Represent FSC In Who's Who Publication

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities Includes Seniors From All Campuses Elected for Annual Edition

Twenty seniors of Florida State College have been chosen by popular election to represent the college in the annual publication of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities which contains outstanding seniors of all colleges.

Those chosen were Ann Carolyn Allison, Maurine Ashton, Catherine Barrs, Sarah Bennett, Martha Jane Brown, Shirley Duggan, Lura Beth Evans, Jo Guthrie, Corinne Johnston, Madelyn King, Catherine Keesy, Catherine Land, Gladys Lester, Winifred Meldrim, Audrey Perry, Janet Rogers, Peggy Lou Thomas, Peggy Lu Thomson, Beatrice Weaver, and Anne Wilderquist.

Upperclassmen and girls who have attended FSC previous to this year cast the ballots. Freshmen were not included in the election since only those who were acquainted with the campus life and the past activities of the girls eligible for election were considered qualified to vote, according to Sarah Lewis, College Government Association representative.

The following approximate figures serve to indicate the general trend of the election, but no exact information on the election returns is available. Sarah said. Out of 1,475 ballots cast approximately 1,000 were returned. The votes for those elected ranged from 250 to 700.

The selection for representatives to Who's Who has been referred to popular vote of the students since 1942. Previous to that time, the Executive council of CGA annually recommended 40 to 50 girls, and then submitted the names to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs for final selection.

Following are the names of girls selected and their active contributions to college life:

Ann Carolyn Allison, Lake City, whose qualifications include her present office of president of College Government Association and membership in Mortar Board, past vice-president of CGA, Honorary Council, president of the sophomore class, Esteren, and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Maurine Ashton, New Smyrna Beach, whose activities include being representative to Senate, Mortar Board membership, representative to Judiciary, vice-president of Esteren, Kappa Delta Pi, member of CGA, Honorary Council, and president of the freshman class.

Catherine Barrs, Alachua, chairman of Judiciary, Mortar Board, representative to Judiciary, Sophomore Council, Esteren, vice-president of sophomore class, and Delta.

Sarah Bennett, Miami, Morrisfield, president of Esteren, vice-president of Athletic Association, Sophomore Council, athletic manager of sophomore class, and F Club.

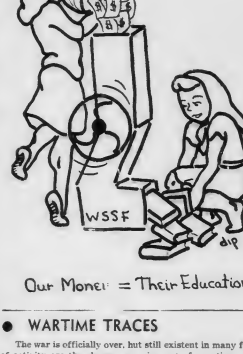
Martha Jane Brown, Lake City,

Continued on Page Four

New Rule Governs Civic Music Club

According to the recently formulated plans of the Tallahassee Civic Music association and in accordance with the national policy, only trained students and new faculty and staff members can become members of the club for the 1945-46 season.

Artists who will be presented are as follows: Richard Dyer-Bennet, modern troubadour and ballad singer, December 10; the LeRoy -Foster -Schoh Ensemble, flute, piano and cello, January 21; Eleanor Steber, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company; and Metropolitan Opera Ballet, February 21; Jose Echanis, pianist, scheduled April 26.



Season membership cards may be purchased for one dollars, including tax, from Mr Walter R Cowles, Miss Pat Thompson as ticket sales chairman, Dr Doris Forbes Liddell, or Miss Isabel McKinnon. Adult memberships are six dollars including tax.

Parker Appointed

Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, has been appointed coordinator for the program of the joint meeting of the Florida Historical Society and the Florida Academy of Science which will be held in St Augustine on December 7 and 8.

At the meeting Miss Parker will deliver a paper entitled "The Inauguration of the First Governor of Florida."

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● WARTIME TRACES

The war is officially over, but still existent in many fields of activity are the changes growing out of war-time expedience. An example of one of these activities is visible by the actions of the Army and Navy programs in the higher educational institutions.

Although it is reported that in the main, the speed-up program of wartime will disappear, many colleges and universities will retain the accelerated three-year course until the veterans have earned their degrees.

The influence of Army and Navy programs are being felt in other more important directions such as teaching, techniques and practices. Courses have been modified and new courses added.

A survey of 21 representative institutions of higher learning in various parts of the country which was conducted by Benjamin Fine, New York Times writer, shows some of the influences exerted by the military services through the Army Specialized Training Program, the Navy's several V-7 and V-12 projects, and the aviation and marine divisions on the campuses. University presidents predict that the imprint will be permanent.

Five major changes were discovered by this survey: (1) modified way of teaching foreign languages; (2) increased use of visual aids; (3) more emphasis on science and technical subjects; (4) greater stress on physical education; (5) greater flexibility in the use of faculty members in subjects outside their own field.

Of these changes, we are inclined to agree with Mr Fine in that the teaching of foreign languages is the most striking. Although the Army's teaching method was criticized as well as praised, it had, with variations, been accepted by almost all of the institutions polled.

Yale's program is typical of the new language teaching trend, according to Fine. All beginning courses in modern languages are now being taught by the intensive method similar to that employed by the Army training programs. Ten hours weekly are devoted to classes in the language selected by the student, with eight hours confined to oral practices.

Recording machines, after being used by the Army Military Intelligence School, have shown the far-reaching consequences of their service. This can be seen when it is revealed that seven instructors known as "informants," which use the mechanical devices now train 150 men; whereas 15 teachers without machines were formerly required to instruct 30 men.

The University of Nebraska is an example of another modification of the language program as a result of Army experience. A revision of the lecture-reading system is now in effect which includes two hour laboratory periods in which students hear the spoken language. Sound films and recordings have been introduced to supplement classroom instruction also.

That a change is to become a definite part of the college curriculum appears likely for the universities listed before have already revised their language-teaching method: Smith, Chicago, Indiana, Massachusetts State, Northwestern University, University of Denver, University of Iowa, Wellesley, Princeton, Brooklyn College, Mille College, Vanderbilt, Fordham, Syracuse, Minnesota, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, and Colgate.

● LOCAL TALENT

In the course of the four-year term at college, students have little opportunity to more than sample the 250 members of the college faculty. Limited by time and major requirements, the average student is seldom able to penetrate far beyond her chosen field. But the human mind is a complex thing, made up of various interests and numerous talents. Its desires cannot be satisfied by knowledge of one field only, nor can its interests be answered in the classroom alone.

During the last two weeks, students of Florida State College were able to hear two speakers from the faculty, outside of class hours. Speaking from the viewpoint of the history professor, Dr Robert Cotterill gave enlightening and inspiring advice to newly-invested seniors, showing through the historical analogy of the journeyman the way to free thought and higher education. During the latter part of the week, Dr Harold Richards gave a timely lecture on the atomic bomb in an era when those specializing in sponge cake or the Elizabethan sonnet have a new and vital interest in the basic stuff of the universe.

Although the Artist Series provides for contact with some of the headline speakers and top-ranking artists of the day, we have few such chances to learn of the excellence of our own teaching staff. In the routine of classes and study, we seem to emphasize the big-name personality and minimize the importance of lectures sponsored by specialized branches and featuring local talent in the form of members of the faculty. Yet it is opportunities such as these that are needed to help prevent too limited a specialization and to further lay the foundation for college and life. In this way, and in this way only, can the students come to know the faculty members outside of their own major interest and to understand something of the other fields and viewpoints which go to make up the varied whole of life.

WHAT BETTER WAY?

Every year about this time the campus is besieged with drives—and we feel obliged to give for this cause and that cause, without really thinking about the ultimate future of the money we contribute. November has been designated as World Student Service Fund month on the school calendar. We are being urged to set aside some money each week so that at the end of the month we may meet our pledges.

"But why give to WSSF?" In convocation Tuesday night, Dr Huntley Dupre, executive secretary of World Student Service Fund, outlined the desperate need of students this winter in war-ravaged Europe and Asia. No historian is more necessary to put before us vividly and with the plight of thousands of students in each country. The facts speak for themselves. The need is desperate, the need is NOW.

Still the question arises, "Why should we give? There are many richer colleges in the country who have more money to many than the average student on this campus." This year it is going to take every cent that every college and university in the nation can muster to begin to reach the needs of world-wide student relief. Some colleges average well over two dollars per person in their drives, yet the goal for many college is an average of at least one dollar, budgeted over the whole month of November. In previous years, FSC has not contributed her share. This year we will.

Now that we are no longer at war, our interests are concentrated toward a complete victory in the peace. What better way can we each do our share in building the kind of a world we dream of than by contributing to the education of our contemporaries who will shape the future along with us?

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHERINE NOLMAN

The Fascist Spirit in Europe

Not only intellectual receptivity but a species of sympathetic insight is necessary for Americans to understand the postwar political policies and motivations of European countries, says Percy Winner in an article in the October issue of Harper's. Mr Winner has spent fourteen years in Europe as a correspondent.

Americans feel the war against Germany was identical with war against fascism, he says, a needless oversimplification." It was a useful slogan during the war but in defeating Germany we have not finished the job of defeating fascism. Fascism is, he says, acceptable to certain people who prefer to be fascist it is the only way they know of solving their social and psychological security. The Fascists were not alike but one thing the many varied groups in one way or another; fascism solved each one's problem or seemed to solve it; or promised to solve it, at the expense of someone else. The method was acceptable because the people had come to have a considerable layer of desperate anxiety of unbearable insecurity, so all emotional equivalent of be killed or kill. The circumstances of European life have driven the majority of a country paved the way for the leaders who helped promote this feeling.

There are three major elements in fascism: the owners of wealth and power who were the paid hirelings of fascism; the fascist racist leaders and the masses who were led. The latter two groups solved their problems greatly in the realm of psycho-pathological fantasy.

The French critic, Jacques B Brunius, pointed out, "No people has ever given himself to a dictator for the simple pleasure of being oppressed. An analysis of the sado-masochistic complex which develops in the masses, during the advent of a dictator would reveal a whole in which the wish or emancipation, acceptance of submission through fear of responsibility and liberty, the will to the disappearance of the self, the loss of oneself to the community, are intermingled."

Aside from the psychological aspect the Fascist benefitted socially and economically at the expense of some scapegoat and later other nations much appeared to the Fascist as potential enemies. "The Fascists dealt destruction and death without feeling because they felt only the fear in themselves . . ."

Democracy?

"Only confidence and faith in the possibility that democracy can solve the deep economic problems can remove the vestiges of Fascist faith." On the material side we have already had the first steps in relief and rehabilitation, but on the spiritual side we are not yet capable of handling the present situation of restlessness and insecurity. Extra-legal trials, mob-violence, and executions although they do not mean a total breakdown of legal problems nevertheless help to pave the way by providing an audience for the Superior sense of guilt.

Communism?

The author says that at present fascism is dissolving into the elements from which it arose. Replaced by the same motives, they are joining parties which seem to offer the greatest hope of salvation. Although an influx of reactionaries has strengthened Communists and Fascists into the extreme Right parties mighta influence as an ultimate danger. The possibility of a new Fascism in France would be to remove wingers, the help of psychologically exploitable mass which at present does not exist and to remove the leaders and leaders of Fascists are emerging as anti-fascist-elective supporters of Communist orientations. For the most part they will be Communists, but Fascists, believing this because it is easier to be obeyed than to obey, the direct belief is more important than being free. "They will turn to Communism because of a considerable faith, while democracy is a faith which many man find for himself as an individual".

There is no need says Mr Winner, to fear Communism. Although Fascists will affect the gradual evolution of Russian Communism in the direction of a Communist "democracy" The real danger lies in the fact that the spirit of Fascism lies in civil war and then international war if a future choice is between Communism and Fascism-totalism were to split French Communism. A total of the United Nations charter can only be served by a whole and united Europe which can achieve that plane only through material and psychological reconstruction.

Classes Compete

Odds and Evens will compete in the sale of Victory bonds and stamps for the lection of their sponsor of the Thanksgiving game. Sales will take place during the week from Wednesday, November 14 through Wednesday November 21. Results of the sale and the election will be revealed at house meetings on Tuesday, November 6.

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED

Uprisings were notable during the week in China, Java and Brazil.

In China the Central Government troops, under the leadership of General Chiang, and the Chinese Communists have been waging a bloody struggle for the control of northern China. There is an unsupported rumor that Russian officials have given the Chinese Communists weapons captured from the Japanese in the last days of the war, and an unofficial source recently said that Chinese Communists were sending supplies to the Chinese Communist armies.

Java was the scene of a bitter struggle of r British garrison of 1,600 men attempting to hold out against a force of 10,000 armed natives who refuse to allow the Dutch colonials to enter the city of Ba'avia.

Brazil's President Vargas resigned his office and placed a strong guard around the war minister. The Minister Monteiro also resigned because it is believed that the two strongest candidates for the presidency in the coming elections, Generals Gomes and Eurico, are preparing for revolutions.

Tied up with the rebellions throughout the world are the reports that Soviet Russia supplied weapons are being used in the Latin-American and East Indian conflicts. Such statements caused the United States to declare that the United States supplied those weapons against possible Axis invasion. According to official reports, one-half of our war lend-lease exports to Latin American countries during 1944 was for arms. No such armaments, however, went to Argentina because of what our State Department felt to be her pro-Nazi sympathy.

General Vandenvrift of the Marines spoke in Washington recently against an Army-Navy merger on the grounds that it would cause more "bloodshed" in the final analysis. Meanwhile, President Truman proposed to the Congress a military training program for the physically able young men between the ages of 18 and 20. Although the President said the program will be more an educational one rather than out and out conscription, there are legislators on Capitol Hill who disagree with him.

During the week, the Senate Military Affairs committee was told by Dr W F Ogburn sociologist, and his co-workers that current elites must be scattered over the landscape in order to avoid mass destruction of their populations by a few bombs. Meanwhile a Soviet Union warned that if the atomic bomb should influence the United States' foreign policy "there can be no lasting peace." Also on the subject of the world's newest weapon, Professor Albert Einstein said the bomb must be kept secret, especially from Russia, until the recently ratified world security organization can be put into operation.

President Truman has cancelled his out-of-town trips for more than a month ahead in order to work on the reconversion strike problems being hampered by the present wage-price policy. Both the CIO and the AF of L say that a 30 per cent increase is necessary. A national labor-management conference will start next Monday to work out new governments wage-price policy.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

To the editor:

The West elevator in Landis is for the use of the maids, janitors, those transporting trays, janitors, and for the delivery of extra-heavy articles, such as trunks. It is true that the house directors and servants do not make up the elevator's daily run, as custom of Landis Hall, but their need of it is greater than that of the students. Our servant situation still is not what it should be, therefore, the time spent in going from floor to floor will give them less time to do their work and give us one less cause for complaint.

This elevator is of approximately 900 girls can boast of one elevator, and that is in a state of constant repair. For this very reason we students must be deprived of the use of the elevator. It is not to be kept in running order for more important uses. When the possibility for the use of this elevator by the students was discussed with Mrs Bold she stated: "My experience in Landis has been that the girls would not walk up a flight if in need of repair. This hindered the work of the house servants and the delivery of trays to the rooms."

"Steps are hard to climb." Girls are living in Landis Hall who use this out too Glichrist, although not so large as Landis, also has five flights of steps. The students there have no elevator for their use Landis is the only dormitory on campus which does have an elevator for student use. Girls in other dormitories are deprived of even one elevator are not compelled to walk as much as those in Landis. Let's appreciate our one elevator!

(Signed)
Happy McCarter
Irene Mendoza.

Grosts and Gremlins Abroad to Practice Hallowe'en Pranks

Many a girl hopped on her broom Wednesday night and went out on scheduled "trick or treat doing" only to come back to her room and find had been done while she was gone.

As usual "pie" beds, greased doorknobs, and "Hallowe'en" signs were very evident in all the dormitories. Doors opened, lights flashed and frightened girls as girls found their rooms in utter disarray. Many "Hallowe'en" "Who ruined my beautiful room?," "I'll bet I know who did this", or "I'll get even with whoever it was on me!" could be heard at every turn.

Lipsticked and soaped mirrors carried such messages as "no resident lives here," "Welcome to it a mess!" or "Yippee, Happy Hallowe'en to you."

One girl with certain scientific or inventive leanings placed a wastebasket filled with water on a pole with stopper and string in the window. The string was attached to the sheet in such a way as to make it disastrous to all doors that opened. The unknowing girl, tired after a night of fun, crawled into bed. When last seen she was dog-paddling down the hall.

Myers Hall 3rd floor E club post had the spirit of Hallowe'en for she entered the dining hall in costume dressed in traditional orange and black.

Hallowe'en would not have been complete without ghosts so a few "Tinis Jamesons" and "Tinnies" around just to make the scene complete. All in all, Hallowe'en in Florida State College was the night of little study and lots of fun.

VV Elect Officers

Officers of the Village Vamps were elected when the organization held its first meeting last Wednesday night. They are: Yvabel DuPree, president; Nell McNiel, vice president; Joan Cramer, secretary; Sarah Jane Gallagher, treasurer; and Norma Schaeffner, reporter.

Plans were discussed for the Thanksgiving Dance at which Cotillion and Village Vamps will be hostesses, according to Norma.

The Students Speak...

By BARBARA WICKHAM

Betty Brown, freshman—

"Yes, I think slacks cover you even more than a dress. Shorts would be a different matter."

Martha Gerber, senior—

"They are cute when I'd like to wear them myself but I guess on the whole they do not look right on campus."

Betty Jean Thomasson, junior—

"I wouldn't approve of shorts but I think that slacks are okay."

Betty Dot Galbraith, freshman—

"I can see both sides. But when a person has been studying in her room in jeans and wants something to eat it's a lot of trouble to change your clothes. I think slacks and jeans are all right late at night."

Bobbye Bradley, freshman—

"Blue jeans look collegiate. So many girls have a bike and to camp that it's hard to make them open for dates unless they get something to eat It's a lot of trouble, too."

Betty Shirley, sophomore—

"I think that it's all right with rain coats. Almost every day this year that you see in the Sple and Sweet Shop in shorts are girls on their way to play basketball or volleyball or something where they have to wear them."

Jean Sharer, sophomore—

"No, it lowers our standards Perhaps if you're on your way to camp it's okay to step."

College Comments . . .

BETTY LILLYCROP

In a poll conducted by the Los Angeles Collegian BRCC's students asked: "What are the qualities you desire in your ideal woman?"

After all the results were tabulated, the blondes are still holding their own and th trend is toward taller, heavier girls. And as the small, dark sweater girl walked by a long low whine could be heard."

In a poll conducted the week before 100 were asked the What characteristics and qualities do you want in your man?" It was found that the majority prefer their men unmarried handsome, shiny, razor-sharp, and with 80 points."

A professor is "a sophisticated rhetorical pedagogue inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity and gifted with an egotistical imagination that can at all times command an instantaneous and inconsistent series of interpretations to mailen his students and dazed bewilderment."

—Disraeli

Accounts to The Wheel the revival of one of Emory University's oldest traditions, Freshman Day, to be held November 8. The activities for the day include g chapel program, a push-ball game, a tug-o-war between the classes in the evening. Freshmen will be required to wear their dinks backward, walk up the library steps in reverse, and know all the traditional songs and verses of the Alma Mater.

The freshmen who registered this fall will pay the other freshmen in the push-ball game, the winners of which will reign as queen of the freshman hop. The members of the losing team must wear their recaps till Christmas.

Here's good news. College women needn't turn grey at any more as the prospect of being old maids. A survey made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company proves that the smarter a woman becomes the more likely she is to marry unless she make a so-called "good match."

The study shows both men and women are likely to choose men and women with schooling similar to their own. Almost half the college men interviewed had married college women, and only one in sixteen had married a girl whose education had stopped with grade school. The fact are of even less importance than half stated that they had married college men.

The survey didn't go into the details on how to catch the man. Undoubtedly the girls in the college women know the hows and wherefore of the chase.

The Daily Pantagraph, West Virginia

Featured Seniors Voted at Meeting

Upperclassmen will vote on the seniors for the feature section of the 1946 Seminole Tuesday night in the compulsory house meetings announced Margaret Bauch, editor

At the meetings printed ballots will be distributed names will be given out to be voted on and taken up that night. Not more than 40 girls may be voted for.

There are no specific qualifications for the seniors except that are declared, adding that the voters of the upperclassmen are the only criteria used in determining the seniors who shall be featured in the section.

Gautier Chosen

Miss Linnie Lou Gautier, a former student of Florida State College who is now taking graduate work at Fearrill college in Nashville, Tennessee, has been selected as one of six students from that school to appear in Who's Who Among College Students in American Universities and Colleges of 1945-46, according to word recently received from Nashville

The Florida Flambeau

1945 1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY ..... Assistant Editor
LOIS BYRD ..... Society Editor
WILMA RODGERS ..... Feature Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... Sports Editor

BUSINESS STAFF

Mary Nell McFadden, Jessie Vinson ..... Business Managers
Anne Holton ..... Assistant Business Manager
Bobbie Jo Scott ..... Circulation Manager
Lois Bee ..... Assistant Circulation Manager
Mary Frances Hall ..... Assistant Society Editor
Dot Galbraith ..... Exchange Editor
Dorothy Hayes, Editor ..... Copy Reader
Jimmie Lou Bowen ..... Catherine Nelson
Betty Barfield ..... Ferry Cronis, Secretary
Dee Carter ..... Proofreader
Art Editor ..... Jeanne Hopkins

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alida Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Barer, Barbara Berkman, Jean Bess, Brigida Bird, Louise Bird, Lois Byrd, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Mary Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Fuss, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lambert, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Maguire, Jacqueline Nevels, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Ferne Quinn, Mary Jane Sharman, Marianne Smith, Mary Tarr, Tami Thomas, Frances Traxler, Ray Van Deusen.

Entered as second class mail matter January 20, 1916, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Helen Tarpenin ..... Business Manager
Aileen Davis ..... Advertising Manager

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . .

initiations, out-of-town guests, pledge party and informal par- highlighted the sorority's fall -end activities.

The Alpha Chi Omegas had a ket-end. They initiated ppert Johnson, Jonnie Meyers, Lanella Dunbar last Saturday- ning ought they, and their ons received a delicious sup- ion supper at the chapter house- nday night the new initiates honored with a banquet at Cherokee Hotel. Gloria Smith Gloria Reed were chairmen the banquet-planning com- ee. Jane Arnold managed the rangement. Louise Sims deco- and Lillian Brown made the ractive place cards.

ne Saturday night the Alpha ra Pi's initiated Betty Beze- ne Marie Everitt, and Frances McKinnon. Wednesday night Ellen W. Barnett, A D Phi pledge, honored these new ini- ates and A D Pi pledges with informal buffet supper. The table decorated with autumn ers, was the setting for the ormal meeting which Mrs. Barrett in entertainunday night the A D Pi pledg- plan to entertain the chapter mbers with their guests with ffee at the chapter house.

Mrs. Beth Mathers had as r guests last week-end alum- Miss Nell Hawkins of Monti- and Miss Mary Lou Brown Dunnellon.

ve new members will be taken o Alpha Gamma Delta tonight ther traditional initiation cer- ony. The girls are Mary Burch- ley Futch, Betty McMinn, Ellen Nelson, and Norma Lewis. morrow night a Hallowe'en ty will be given in their honor Calderon Rogers, assistant ch chairman, in charge of rangements. Committee chair- who will help her with the ty are Carolyn Abrams, deco- ons, Lillian Ryle, refresh- ts, Violet Walters, pledge and Aileen Sayers, recreahe Chi Omega house was the ne of a pledge party last Sat- day afternoon. On the side the Hallowe'en theme carri- out with skits, fortune-telling, spook-bobbing.

Omega new initiates are ginnie Davis and Barbara on.

The Trident Degree ates into Delta Delta Del- was given Friday morning at ichool to Betty LaBree, Joyce n and Chris Morrison and Saturday afternoon they re- ved over Stars and Crescent ter a Halloween supper-party held at the house Saturday ht in honor of the three ini- After bobbing for apples having their fortunes told, girls roasted weiners and hmallows over an outdoor Delta Phi Epsilons members lni- ed Arlyne Siegel last Saturday afternoon. That night the ster honored Arlyne with a ner at the Cheraw Hotel. She presented with a corsage of ite and gold flowers, the rority's colors.

Tomorrow afternoon the activ- and pledges will hold a joint ting at the chapter house. ch will be followed by an in- mal party for the pledges and ion-sorority girls.

Betty Ames, of Leesburg, who graduated from FSC last ester is spending the week-end with her sis- ters. Kappa Delta sisters had a supper Sunday ht to celebrate Halloween. The new pledge class of Kappa lta Theta elected officers Mon- They are: Pauline Tuttle, sident; Anne Leach, vice-

THE MOST HONORED WATCH ON THE CAMPUS

Longines

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 9 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

Dupre Asks

Continued from Page One

sistence to tyranny, while we have not been tried nor tested on our fundamental beliefs in free- dom of thought and education. They have poised out.

Living on two slices of bread and one potato a day, wearing tattered clothing, suffering be- cause of lack of coal, yet still they cling to the knowledge that the heroic yet tragic story of the European and Chinese students who have been bombed out of great universities and forced into underground movements, who are in Holland, Poland, Czechoslova- kia, Denmark, Belgium, and the world's most famous universities were closed or completely control- led by the Nazis, both professors and 90 per cent of students from Lowland countries attempting to flee to the universities of the free in the waters of the Baltic Sea.

Yet Lord Lindsay of Dupre declared, the great universities are once more struggling to educate war- ped students, those who survived in Holland, Poland, Czechoslova- kia, Denmark, Belgium, and the world's most famous universities were closed or completely control- led by the Nazis, both professors and 90 per cent of students from Lowland countries attempting to flee to the universities of the free in the waters of the Baltic Sea.

Lord Lindsay of Dupre declared, the great universities are once more struggling to educate war- ped students, those who survived in Holland, Poland, Czechoslova- kia, Denmark, Belgium, and the world's most famous universities were closed or completely control- led by the Nazis, both professors and 90 per cent of students from Lowland countries attempting to flee to the universities of the free in the waters of the Baltic Sea.

Yet Lord Lindsay of Dupre declared, the great universities are once more struggling to educate war- ped students, those who are in desperate need of rehabilitation.

It is the WSSF which must provide this hospitalization, as well as food, medicine, supplies, clothing, and materials for study. To supply these needs, seven million dollars must be raised by this organization, and the United States. Of the seven million, the earth trust supply half this amount. Last year, students of this country gave $240,000, but in this year of desolation, we must give four times that amount, said Mr. Dupre

Jessie McCalla, president of WSSF at FSC, asked each girl to balance her budget carefully, dur- ing the November and to contribute as much as she can afford to this drive for the money she contri- butes will be distributed fairly ac- cording to the needs of suffering students abroad.

Dr Dupre served during World War I with the YMCA overseas and remained in Europe during the early years of post-war re- construction. For his outstand- ing work as director of the "Stu- dents' Aid Scheme" in Czechoslovakia he was decorated by the president of that nation with its medal of highest distinction. Since his re- turn to the United States, Dr Dupre has been professor of his- tory at Ohio State University and the University of Kentucky. As executive secretary of the WSSF he is making a tour of this coun- try asking for contributions and telling the inside stories of the suffering of foreign students.

Dr Dupre arrived here last Sunday night. Monday he spoke to student groups at Florida A and M Tuesday, besides speak- ing at both convocations. Dr Dupre also addressed the Re- ligious Workers Council at Rust Hall a cabinet meeting of YWCA, and the International Relations committee of the faculty and guests at an informal tea in the Rowena Longmire building.

Recital Is Held

A regular student recital of the music department was held Thurs- day afternoon at 4 o'clock in West- cott auditorium.

The following program was pre- sented: Cecil's "Ave Maria Stell," Fawn Trawick. "Waltz in A Flat," by Chopin, Lucille Wooten; the "Romance" of Sibelius, Annabelle Redwine; "If I Could Tell You," Sarah Ann Burmeister; and "Fire of Wide the Gates" by Karg-Elert, Rita Guerrero.

At the close of the musical pro- gram, President Doak S Campbell spoke to the group, pointing out his general theme the idea that music should be for everyone to understand and enjoy.

Trump Is Honored

Miss Carolyn Trump, new so- ciology instructor at Florida State College, was honor guest on a bird study trip Sunday morning to Ft. Marks, which was made by several members of the faculty.

Members of the party were: Dr Reda Devitney, professor of sociology; Miss Helen Rogers, instructor in public school music; Miss Betty Linthicum, instructor in botany; and Dr Mary Hood, assistant pro- fessor of bacteriology.

The motor trip was made to in- troduce Miss Trump to the flora and fauna of the state.

Tallahassee Music Company
Come in and see our new stock of Record and Wide Selection of Sheet Music
123 S. Monroe St.

Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Kappa Have Annual Formals Tomorrow Night

Members and pledges of Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, and Sigma Kappa are holding their annual formal balls tomorrow night.

The Chi Omega-Pi Phi dance will be held in the Longmire building. Decorations for the oc- casion will be wine and blue, Pi Phi colors, and red and yellow, Chi Omega colors. Music for dancing will be records.

Guests at the ball will include members of the faculty and pa- trons of the sororities. Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell, Miss Olivia Dorman, Miss Katherine Warren, Dr and Mrs Harold Richards, Miss Edith McCollum, Dr and Mrs Frank Miller, Miss Sara Bur- rell and Mr and Mrs George Lewis, who are patrons and pa- tronesses, have been invited as guests of Chi Omegas.

Guests of Pi Beta Phi will in- clude: Dr and Mrs W R Cowin, Dr and Mrs W Hudson Rogers, Miss Sadie Wemyss, Mrs R E Pope and Mr and Mrs Sidney Carlton.

Members of the committee for the ball are: Mary Ellen Allen, Esther Kerr, Sara Ann Davis, and Marty Perkins for Pi Beta Phi; Jackie Crawford, Jo Wyncoop, Claire Cashen, Martha Hanley, Margaret Godfrey, Ralph Godfrey and Isabel Wilson, Chi Omega.

Separate entertainments are being planned by both sorori- ties for the weekend. Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega will give tea dances at their houses tomorrow afternoon, and both plan to have picnics Sunday. During the in- termission Saturday night, pledges of Phi Beta Phi will entertain at an intermission party at the Pi Phi house.

Silver Anniversary

In celebration of its silver an- niversary, the Omega chapter of Sigma Kappa, which was installed at Florida State College in 1920, will give its annual ball.

Silver and blue will be the theme of the ball, which is to be held at the Sigma Kappa house Saturday night.

Guests will include Mrs Royal Mattice, faculty adviser, and pa- trons, who are: Dr and Mrs Paul Shankweiler, Mrs Nina Fay Wil- liams, Miss Daisy Parker and Miss Louise Stadler.

Dorothy Rahn is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment for the weekend, and committee members include Edna Earle Baker, Joyce Ayres, Dallas Stevens, Alice Comstock and Martha Magruder.

Before the dance, members will entertain their house mother, Mrs J O Cromartie, and their dat- ing guests at the Cherokee ho- tel. Sunday at 2 p m they will go to Lafayette park for a picnic.

Course Added

Continued from Page One

paring information, theoretical chemistry, and industrial, or ap- plied chemistry.

Also, much of the class work will be in group discussions, Mr Kelley asserted. For instance, he added, there is one group tak- ing chemistry for the purpose of a degree in Home Economics. Therefore, the interest of stu- dents in that group centers around practical problems to fit the needs in that field of work. Other groups are interested in problems of teaching chemistry, laboratory technique, medicine — pharmacy, and other fields.

Although this plan of teach- ing has been considered by the department for quite some time, it was not until this year, that it began to get under way. Mr Kelley is applying some princi- ples which he acquired while working with Dr Lawrence Quill, formerly the head of the chemis- try department at the University of Kentucky. Mr Kelley hopes that adequate space will soon be furnished for this course to be- come a permanent and profitable part of the chemistry curricula.

Martin and Dalton's

Has What You Need to Enchant Him On That Special Date!

BEAUTY PREPARATIONS BY

Coty
Bourjois
Max Factor
Three Flowers
Elmo
Campus
Almay

Colognes — Perfumes

Phone 123 — 210-212 S. Adams St.

Sororities Enjoy Hallowe'en Parties

Most of the sororities on cam- pus celebrated Hallowe'en last night in the traditional "witch craft" fashion of olden times. Bob- bing for apples, roasting marsh- mellows and telling ghost stories took the lead in entertaining the "greek letter" girls on the "Eve of All Saints."

The Alpha Delta Pi chapter other "spooky" ghost stories and then after first light flash they gathered 'round and popped corn for the rest of the evening.

The Alpha Delta Pi chapter members were entertained at a party given by Mrs Ellen Barrett, house mother, Hot dogger broke hard sauce, coffee, candies and pretty red candied apples were served as refreshments. Chapter members, who came to the party in banana costumes, entertained with songs and dances.

Tomorrow night Alpha Gamma Delta will honor new initiates, Betsy Bird, Kathleen Robb, Betty McMinn, Ellen Nelson and Peg- gy Futch, with a party. Costumes will be worn and a prize award- ed to the best costumed couple. A short skit will be presented by pledges, followed by games and dancing.

An unearthly smell coming from a "stink bomb" brought the Xi Delta get into the spirit of things. Refreshments were served with Peg "bomb and the girls, when last heard of, were rushing out of the kitchen in search of vinegar. Xi members donned their sheets and costumes and helped in the festivities by roasting marshmal- lows and popping pop corn.

Down in the smoker of the Chi Omega house, Chi O girls also roasted marshmallows and popped corn, then joined in sing- ing songs.

A combination Sunday night supper and Halloween party was Kappa Alpha Theta's way of cele- brating. Theta's dining room was attractively decorated for a buf- fet-style supper. Following the faculty and guests of actives and pledges were invited to the Theta supper. The table, which com- prised the center of the dish, consisted of a peach decorated with spices and coloring made into a face, and chicken salad and pickles were other "goodies" in- cluded in the meal.

Betty Ames, an alumni, told ghost stories in the candle-lit room. Group singing was also included in the evening program.

Kappa Delta's went "all-out" for Halloween fun last Saturday night when the pledges en- tained the actives and their dates at a gala dance at the house.

Patty Folsom, the pledge who was in charge of the party, saw to it that the house was decorated to create the proper "mood" — with cut-outs of black cats, pumpkins, witches on brooms, etc. generously distributed throughout the party rooms. Even the bil- rows were adorned to carry out the Halloween motif.

Just before light flash, chapter members, pledges, dates, and guests were served the traditional Halloween do-nuts, apples, and coffee.

The night before, the K D's held their second-degree ceremony for three girls who will be ini- tiated sometime in the near fu- ture. These girls are: Nancy Wright, Mary Ann Herring, and Teddy Hamlin.

The Phi Mu's will celebrate to- morrow night with a Hallowe'en party. Fortune telling, bobbed games will be played and a cham- ber of horrors will hold thrills galore for Phi Mu girls.

Dr Raymond Bellamy, profes- sor of sociology, was the center of attraction at the Phi Delt Pi house. The guard figures Dr Bellamy brought were lighted Hallowen faces with funny eyes and noses which hardly aided the spirit of Halloween down "Pi Phi" way.

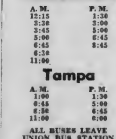
Paper Staff Gives Farewell Banquet To Honor Shepard

Miss Pearle Shepard, journal- ism and English instructor, was entertained at a farewell banquet given her by the Flambeau staff last Monday evening at the Three Torches. Miss Shepard resigned at the first of the year to accept a position as secretary on an Arizona ranch, but consented to remain in her present position un- til a substitute could be secured.

In addition to members of the Flambeau staff group, the following guests were present at the ban- quet: Mr and Mrs Earl I Vance, Dr and Mrs Harold F Richards, Miss Vivian Ahlswede, Miss Ber- tha Brookins, and Mrs Evelyn DeWitt.

Betty Dowd acted as mistress of ceremonies. At the beginning of the banquet, Mr Vance spoke a few words in praise of Miss Shep- ard's work at Florida State Col- lege for both as student and as a member of the faculty. Dr Rich- ards spoke briefly at the end of the banquet in appreciation of the journalism department and the Flambeau, after which Janet Rogers expressed the regret of the group and Ann Ahlswede at Miss Shepard's departure and presented her with two farewell gifts.

Miss Vivian Ahlswede, who grad- uated from FSC in 1941, has been selected to fill Miss Shepard's po- sition. A former news editor of the Flambeau, Miss Ahlswede has since worked on the staff of the Sarasota Herald Tribune, before which she held two years of social work. She holds the position pending the return of Lieut Ed Hackett, who joined the Army in 1941, and whose place Miss Shep- ard took at the arrival here at that time.



Miss Shepard, also a graduate of FSC, was managing editor and co-editor of the Flambeau. Im- mediately prior to her coming here as an instructor, she taught English in Williston at the West Palm Beach High School and Junior College. She also worked for the St Petersburg Times.

Miss Shepard plans to leave this campus on Wednesday, November 7, for Arizona, where she had a position as secretary on the Flying Y ranch in Tucson, Arizona. She had a similar position last summer with the owners of Flying Y Ranch at one of their ranches in New Mexico.

Graduates Write To Alumnae Secretary

During the past week Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary, has received letters from two Florida State College graduates of last year. The first letter was from Mrs J B Lyons, the former Sibyl Wool. Sibyl married an Australian soldier and is now liv- ing in Epping, N S W, Australia. She writes that Australia is a good substitute for home and says "if anybody comes down this way I'll surely extend an open invitation to them." She told of seeing some kangaroos and koala bears not long after her arrival there a month ago.

The other letter was from Mil- dred Zindler, who writes that she is living with Elizabeth McFar- land in Washington. She is in New York City and is taking work for Miss Mandeville at the New York University. She states that liv- ing in the village" is "an 'out of this world' existence."

Plan Ahead Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
2:30	3:00
3:45	5:00
5:00	6:45
6:45	8:45
8:30
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:30
7:45	5:00
8:30	6:45
11:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 761

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Mrs B F Whitner Visits FSC Campus

Mrs B F Whitner, former resi- dence counselor at Florida State College, visited friends on campus this week while the guest of her parents, Mr and Mrs F G Byrd of Tallahassee.

Mrs Whitner, formerly Miss Katherine Byrd, is an alumna of FSC and will be remembered as head counselor and as residence counselor for a number of years first in Gilchrist and then in Landis hall, since her marriage two years ago. Mrs Whitner has been living in Sanford.

Opperman Has Tea

Miss Ella Scotle Opperman, re- cently retired head of the School of Music, was hostess in her home Sunday afternoon at a tea which students of Latin American liter- ature were invited.

Miss Opperman showed her guests articles which she has col- lected in her travels in South and Central America. Afterward she served Argentinian tea, which was "something new to most of the students," according to Miss Op- perman.

Ad Lib Modernizes

Continued from Page One

Not only did the audience enter into the action wholeheartedly, but also they were critical of the film's production. When the picture skipped, a scene from the book, they yelled, that the producer had not read the story. And when one girl was quoting it- from a scene other than the one being shown, she was reprimanded by, "Hey, kid, why don't you get on the right script?"

As the girls left the room one re- marked, "Well, I would have en- joyed it, but everyone made so much noise I couldn't hear a thing." Said another student as she left "This all proves that art lives forever."

Mrs Bland Honored At Shower

Signs of ghosts, goblins, and spotted imps marked the festivi- ties on campus this week as for- dormitories celebrated All Hallow's Eve.

"The Old West" was the theme of the party held to Gilchrist par- lor Wednesday night. The crest- square-danced to music played by Jackie Floyd-Jones and refresh- ed themselves afterward with ap- ple juice and donuts. An amus- ing skit was presented which car- ried out the "Old West" theme.

Anne Fielding, Gilchrist social chairman, was in charge fo the party. Those working with her were Franklin Smith, program chairman; Yvonne Boatright, chairman of the refreshment com- mittee; and Marta Dozier, chair- man of the decoration committee.

Witches rode broomsticks and pumpkins danced three beams of light across Magnolia parlor last Friday night when the Sigs held Richbourg, chairman of the dec- oration committee. The guests danced by flickering and eclayed piano music by Dawn Shirah. They were served punch and doughnuts for refreshments.

Those responsible for the party were Jane Whitehurst, social chair- man; and committee chairmen were Corky Richbourg, decora- tion; Kitty Landress, dinner; and Gloria Hughes, refreshments.

The chamber of horrors high- lighted the Hallowe'en ashes in The Village Wednesday night. All the guests came masked and be- tween the times they spent guessi- ng the identity of another they had their fortunes told and bob- bed for apples. The unmasking came at 8:30 instead of the usual midnight hour, but it still held the same number of surprises.

Black Cats, Witches on Broomsticks Appear to Celebrate Hallowe'en

The celebration of Hallowe'en at Bryan included an informal dance which was held last Satur- day night. The program display- ed a variety of talent. Solos were sung by Phyllis De Kalb, Charlene Crews, Christine Stasinos and Betty Murray. Sara Rae gave tw tap dancing numbers. Irene Sea- ders, Mary Ann Graydon, Owen Clements, and Edna Womble play- ed the piano. Betty Jean Allen gave a trumpet solo. A cabinet composed of Jean Begley, Betty Murray, Ida Schin.d, Bunni Pa- rodilin, and Ina Jean Lyons sang "Sentimental Journey." A skit was given by Betty Murray and Alice Stalmaker in which Betty played Cing Beasley and Alice, Sank Pri- mates. Miss Mary Lou Brown, for the evening was Mary Philpot, Anne Bryan, social chairman, was assisted by several committee chairmen: Art Stevens, decora- tions; Jean Begley Ingram; Jack Paul, punch; Ann Turbeville, name tags; Marjorie Kinzl, music; and Pat Randolph, clean-up. Bach girl that attended the dance work- ed on a committee, according to Nickie Betti.

Vacancies Filled

To fill vacancies in student ser- vice, Betty Kennedy was elected sophomore representative, defeat- ing Candy Jones by 28 votes in the final elections held last Satur- day in Lowe Westcott.

Sara Elian Glenn will serve as the faculty member for this year. Juniors while the seniors will be represented by Peggy Ray and Corinne Johnston.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
READY FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnson O'Connor Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

Learn to Fly
AT
Wheeler Airport
1½ Miles East of the Capitol on the old St. Augustine Road
OPEN 9:30 A. M. TO SUNDOWN
ALL FLYING PERSONNEL ARE CAA RATED
Planes Are Inspected Daily by A. & E. Mechanics
CALL 2570
FOR INFORMATION CONCERNING
LESSONS AND FREE TRANSPORTATION

Rivalry Runs High In Volleyball Games

Yesterday afternoon the volley ball competition gained momentum when the Kappa Alpha Theta's won over Zeta Tau Alpha, 52-45; the Kappa Delta's over Alpha Chi Omega's, 35-34; Gilchrist Hall over the Alpha Gamma Delta's, 46-22; the Chi Omega's over Broward Hall, 41-31; and the Village over Reynolds Hall, 39-25.

The rivalry Wednesday afternoon ended when the Alpha Chi Omega's defeatine the Delta Delta Delta's, 51-43; the Chi Omega's defeating the Delta Zeta's, 47-17; the Kappa Delta's defeating the Delta Phi Delta's, 37-29; the Kappa Alpha Theta's defeating the Pi Beta Phi's, 34-28; Jennie Murchison Hall forfeited to Reynolds Hall; and the Alpha Xi Delta's forfeited to the Village.

Tuesday afternoon the games started when the Alpha Gamma Delta's downed the Sigma Kappa's, 35-22; the Zeta Tau Alpha's downed the Alpha Delta Pi's, 31-26; Gilchrist Hall eliminated Byron Hall; and Reynolds Hall forfeited to Broward Hall.

The semi-finals and finals for the volley ball season will be played Tuesday and Wednesday. There will be no games Monday because of the class meetings.

Swimming has been omitted this quarter due to the crowded season. The next intramural sport will be badminton.

Large Enrollment

Continued from Page One

nolds lounge room, under the chairmanship of Mrs Edwin Butler. The other two lounge rooms are located in Reynolds and Broward halls, manned by Mrs Ruth Adams and Mrs Hazel Gentry, respectively. Reynolds lounge is at present undergoing a revision, which will shortly be completed for self-service in receiving and returning linens.

About the only thing that registers with the laundry, unfortunately, is complaints, which the laundry does its best to right. However, upon being questioned, laundry staff and workers admitted they had a few complaints to register also. One is that laundry slips are rarely filled out carefully or correctly and the same goes for damage slips. If damage slips are not signed and enclosed within the package, all damaged articles must be sent back unlaundered. Fragile buttons or plastic buttons likely to be damaged in washing should be removed before the garment is sent to the laundry, as these are not always easy to spot before washing, and usually difficult, if not impossible, to replace. All jewelry should always be removed before the laundry is sent. Incidentally, quite a large package of jewelry recovered from the laundry is waiting to be reclaimed by the owners at the laundry office. Also, though complaints are registered with the laundry room clerks, blame should not be placed on them, as they cannot be rightfully held responsible in these cases. Complaints should be written on a sheet of paper, complete with name, residence hall and number, description of garment, date the laundry was sent, and the name of the laundry room and this report turned in to the laundry room.

The entire job of running the laundry and keeping it as nearly as possible on time was recently taken over by Mr W J Gerrell, who returned to this college on June 1 of last year, after his discharge from the army on May 8. He was first put in charge of the duplicating department, but in July he resumed the laundry position he held when he entered service on April 10, 1942. At that time the laundry was under the direction of Mrs Rhodes.

Campus Post Office Does Big Business

The post office is one of the busiest spots on the Florida State College campus in spite of the fact that very few packages are being sent overseas and almost no bonds are being bought, according to Mr W R May, clerk in charge of the post office. The stamp window has averaged a $100 worth of business a day this month.

Mr May has two regular assistants, Miss Amanda McGlamery who is in charge of the stamp window and Mrs Ralph Hamlin who takes care of the general delivery mail. There are four regular student assistants and four volunteer students who aid in the sorting and putting up of mail.

Approximately 450,000 incoming letters were handled through the campus postoffice from July, 1944 to July, 1945, Mr May said. During that same period, some 45,000 parcel post packages and 60,000 newspapers were distributed, he estimated.

A whirlpisk microscope, used by scientists to compare different groups of bacteria, permits one to look two ways at once.

Hallowe'en Carnival Features Hula Dance

Night Climaxed by Awarding Prize to Guest Sailor

A hula dance by Sarah Race was the feature number on the Hallowe'en Carnival program presented at Playnight last Saturday by members of Miss Henrietta Greenberg's recreation leadership class.

The amusement booths and program ran a whole week with many big sarcenes judging from the crowd attracted and their appreciant enjoyment, according to Ruth Brokaw, head of the entertainment committee of the recreation class.

The carnival was climaxed by the counting of 'points' which had been accumulated by participants at the various competitive amusement booths during the course of the evening. For the best score a sailor guest was awarded a lucky jar of hars' candy.

The program included, besides the hula attraction, the following numbers: vocal trio, "Ride by Side", by Martha Nell Booth and sisters Eugenia and Margie; a tap dance by Jean Harrington" by Sarah Race; two numbers on the accordion, "Stardust" and "Tico-Tico", played by Mary Luther Wheeler, and "Tangerine" sung by Alice Phillips. Mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Lynn Starbird

Twenty Outstanding

Continued from Page One

president of senior class, Mortar Board, secretary-president of CGA, chairman of Sophomore Council, Esteren, and Alpha Kappa Delta;

Shirley Duggan, Miami, Mortar Board, junior representative to Judiciary, Esteren, Sophomore Council, I Club;

Lura Beth Evans, Orlando, president of F Club, Mortified, Esteren;

Jo Guthrie, Punta Gorda, president of WAA, Mortified, Esteren, and F Club;

Corinne Johnston, Fort Myers, Mortified, past chairman of Even Demostration, senior representative to Senate, Esteren;

Madeline King, Tallahassee, treasurer of COA, Mortified, Esteren;

Jeanne Koesy, Miami, representative to Judiciary and Senate, Esteren, secretary of junior class, Sophomore Council, F Club;

Kit Land, Apopka, Esteren, senior representative to Senate, assistant editor to Flastacowo; Sophomore Council;

Gladys Lester, Jacksonville, vice-president of senior class, Esteren, Sophomore Council, F Club;

Winifred Meddin, Elkton, editor of Ekraft, and assistant editor of Ekraft, past president Chi Delta Phi;

Audrey Perry, Miami, freshman editor, Mortified, Esteren;

Janet Rogers, Apopka, editor of the Flambeau, copy editor of the Flambeau, reporter on Flambeau, Sophomore Council, class editor of Flastacowo, secretary of the sophomore class, Esteren;

Peggy Lou Thomas, Clearwater, chairman of Residence Halls Committee, Mortar Board, president of Classical Club;

Peggy Li Thomson, Gainesville, Spirograa, news editor of Flambeau, associate editor of Ekraft, president of Chi Delta Phi, sophomore representative to Senate, Sophomore Council, Alpha Lambda Delta;

Beatrice Weaver, Kissimmee, president of Mortar Board, vice-president of Esteren, president of junior class, Zeta Phi Eta, Sophomore Council, Alpha Lambda Delta;

Anne Widerquist, Fort Myers, chairman of playnight committee, junior athletic manager of WAA, Kappa Delta Pi, Sophomore Council, F Club, Esteren, orchestra.

Minnow Added

Tarpon Club received another minnow into their club October 22, making a total of ten girls taken in this quarter. The new minnow, Joanne Zewadski, has, along with her fellow minnows, begun practice for the annual demonstration that new members present at Thanksgiving.

First practices for Tarpon club members were held Monday under the direction of Betty Jane Simpleton, president. Minnow swim on Thursday under the guidance of Margery Holm, vice-president.

Tickets Available

Reserved seat tickets for Donald Dickson, baritone, who will appear at Florida State College on November 19 as a feature of the Artist Series will be available to students holding Blue series tickets from November 6 through November 12.

The tickets will be given out in the basement of the Longmire building by the members of the lyceum committee, under the direction of Marjorie Miller.

Esteren Entertains Faculty and Goats

Last night Esteren honored their faculty and goats at a weiner roast in Games Woods.

Faculty members who were invited to attend were Miss Grace Pell, Miss Elsie Kretzmann, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Miss Mary Jane Smith, Miss Ruth Schaefer, Dr Katherine M.tcgmery, Dr and Mrs Harold Richards, Dr Ruth Schoenjahn, Dr Hazel Stevenson, Miss Lynette Thompson, Miss Ruth Upton, and Miss Kathrine Warren.

Esteren members and goats were taken from Dodd Hall to the Soda Shop to hear goat Coyle E Moore's goat song which turned out to be a poem instead. Members conferred the title of poet laureate of the goat kingdom upon Mr. Moore.

Esteren alumna, elected to return for Thanksgiving festivities, Sarah Bennett said, are Margie Lambert, Jeanne Eyman Smith, Mary Jane Bell, and Martha Twitty, graduates of 1944.

Students Experience Midnight Fire Drill In Sleepy Confusion

"Do you close the windows and doors when you leave your room to transom and turn out the light? Or is it the door you close?" These were the sleepy but frantic queries that echoed through the dormitories of Florida State College at a few minutes past midnight Monday when the school "celebrated" its first fire drill of the year.

As groups of sleepy-eyed, pajama-clad figures collected about the campus, metal wavers, pin curls and even a few bobbed coiffured socks pinch-hitting as curlers were in evidence.

Apparently a number of quick-witted souls remembered to bring cigarettes and matches as well as towels, for several were seen busily "lighting up" for a quick smoke and midnight jam session while trekking up many flights of stairs to bed once more. Others made quick excursions to neighboring dormitories, while a few conscientious girls carefully examined skeletin boards to learn exactly what is the proper procedure for the drills.

Students testify that beating on the can "subed" for a fire alarm in off-campus houses. Other declare that the scuffle of closed signs being removed and unused doors opened forewarned them of the coming of the fire department.

Numerous bets were waged on which building would escape next. Some maintained that the "zero hour" would arrive Saturday night following the test alarm that afternoon, while others alleged that drills usually occur during the week and that, therefore, Monday was the long-anticipated night.

At any rate all agree that their peaceful sleep will now be undisturbed by nightly visions of fire gongs—that is until the time approaches for the next of FSC's fire drills.

Dateless Saturdays Threaten FSC When Flyers Leave Town

The hey-day when youthful cadets and even lieutenants in shiny convertibles were a familiar sight on campus at Florida State College may be drawing to a close. Persistant rumors have it that Dale Mabry field, long a primary source of the college girl's "date," will be inactivated within a month.

As the long-dreaded news spread throughout the dormitories, varied protests were voiced by girls faced with the prospect of "dateless" Saturday nights. Others remained upon the series of events in which college girls and GI's have participated since the field was first opened.

Upon hearing the recurrent rumors, one student offered her solution. "I'm going to start wearing bobby socks again and cultivate the high school boys," she declared.

"Guess I'll have to invite some friends up for the weekend," commented another.

A sloomier view was, however, expressed by another student, who said, "I'll just organize an old maids' club and learn to knit," she declared.

As they heard the news which will mean the end of all Of-col-lege affairs, students recalled a long parade of social events in which FSC girls and the boys from Dale Mabry have taken part since the field was first established. Soldier dances and parties for servicemen had become almost an integral part of the college social calendar.

Following the expression of approval by faculty members, officers' dances were first held in the fall of '43. In May of the next year the entire students body was invited to visit Dale Mabry for an air show, review and tea. Other such trips included visits by dormitory give clubs to the base hospital and excursions by political science students and classes to the news room at the field.

Pardon Us!

Delta Zeta observed its national Founders' Day last week, rather than the local Founders' day. Delta Zeta was founded 43 years ago on October 24, 1902.

INSIDE CGA

By SARAH LEWIS

Our campus life is centered around a college community—a community made up of students, faculty, and staff. Because this is a college community, our government is a college government. In this way students and faculty work together in governing the activities which take place on our campus.

Student Senate is the legislative channel through which we as students take our part in that college government. It is the body through which we reach the faculty may reach us. By pooling the ideas of both groups, we strengthen the unity of our college community.

Senate's membership is made up of fifty students. It is the body elected as senators from their representative classes and who are elected as senators from their respective classes and others who represent the student body through offices in other organizations. These members of Senate are supposed to be representative of the student body in general, but they can be so only when each individual student calls upon Senate representatives to let them know her views on campus issues.

At the first meeting of this school year, Senate discussed its aims for 1945-1946. It was agreed that the student body should be informed of and encouraged to participate in matters to be discussed in Senate meetings. Also, in order that the actions of Senate may more closely meet student body opinion, Senate should always strive to know class opinion.

One of the major aims of Senate for this year is to facilitate and supervise the work of the legislative and the other Senate committees. These two committees together are studying the handbook in order to group the regulations in a better form and also to consider the rules thoroughly as for effectiveness and consistency.

It is depended largely upon the interest of every student as to whether or not our part in college government will be successful and progressive. By working with your class senators and by participating in Senate discussions we can take a more active part in college government and consequently help in unifying our campus life.

Life Saving Corps Sponsors Classes

Demonstrations of elementary forms of rescue and elementary swimming strokes will be given by members of the Life Saving Corps on November 6 and November 7 at 3 p m in the college pool. The purpose of the demonstrations is to present those forms of rescue which can be most easily learned by the untrained swimmer, and to demonstrate the several swimming strokes.

Attendance is required for all freshman swimming swimming classes, but the demonstrations are open to any others interested. Sections 1, 2, 4 and 5 of class 121 will attend on November 6, and sections 3, 7, 8 and 9 of class 121 will attend on November 7.

Liddell Speaks

Dr Anna Forbes Liddell, director of philosophy and religion at Florida State College will talk on the subject, "Woman as Peacemaker" over WTAL tonight at 6 o'clock. Her address will be in observance of World Community Day.

"Y" and Religious Groups Sponsor Talks and Parties

"The Faith of the Student Christian Movement" is the subject of one of several talks given at meetings of religious groups this week. Other religious activities included parties.

Betty Ruth Goode conducted the YWCA service at which she spoke on "The Faith of the Student Christian Movement". Hymns were sung at the meeting, accompanied on the piano by Jeannette Setrouer. Dorthea McFee recorded out the theme of the program with a poem.

A business meeting followed the worship service, and Margaret Clayton, president, was in charge. Group chairmen were called on to discuss their plans for meetings. Joyce Petty spoke for the creative group in the absence of Doris Hill, chairman. Betty M Lee spoke for the social action group, and Betty Ruth Goode, for the worship group. In the absence of Marvin Cox, chairman, Margaret Clayton said a few words about publicity. Anne Singleton spoke on community service.

It was announced by Margaret Clayton that fifty members may go to camp the second week-end in November. A paper was put on the bulletin board for those interested to sign. Miss Sarai Lanson, instructor in geography, will be in charge of the recreation.

The Christian Youth Fellowship organization of the Capital Christian Church had a winter roast at the home of Lloyd Marsh last Sunday night. They sang songs around the campfire, played games, and did quite a bit of folk dancing, according to Ann Campbell, secretary. The party was in honor of ex-Sergeant Dallas Lindsey, who has just returned from over seas to Florida.

The missionary journeys of St Paul were discused by Jackie Peters Ki ck in the regular service in Ruge Hall last Sunday night. The information for this discussion was taken from the Acts of the Apostle, according to Dorothy Sperry, publicity chairman.

Conformation classes began two weeks ago at Ruge Hall. All those interested in joining the Episcopal church are urged to attend, said Dorothy Sperry.

Bishop Wilson's book, Faith and Practice, is used in breakfast discussion groups beginning this morning from 7 a m to 10:15 a m Dorothy said that this discussion is a study class which takes the place of Sunday School.

The Pan Hellenic Conference of The State Methodist Student Movement for this year will be during this week-end in Gainesville. Girls present at the conference from Florida State College are Janie Redfearn, Dot Bisner, Grace De Wolf and Martha Jane Brewer.

Plans to be made at this meeting include those for the National Methodist Student Conference, which will be held this year at the University of Illinois, and the State Student Conference next March.

From Me To Y'all

Ho, hum, the mail bag is overflowing with problems this week. Everyone seems to have some trouble and why anyone would have any troubles at Florida State College, we don't know.

Dear Mail Bag signed, "Bruised" who is complaining about the post office mob scene. "Well, we're glad to get just one little piece of mail that it's worth the rush at all. Seems we can't remember, we find it helps to equip ourselves with munnies and any suitable weapon such as a tennis racket.

And then there was the couple who met in the revolving door and started going around together, and going around reminds us of Senate and the six months' letter. This one is signed, "Muddled" and we think that she is annoyed with Senate. Anyway, she says, "After arguing for an hour, Senate comes to a heart-rending decision, to wit, they don't have the facts at hand and are not sure of what they're supposed to do, even if this is worth fighting for."

"Muddled" is the impatient type. Yer didn't grow on the vine overnight. We'll bet she got disgusted and took a nap Thursday when Senate met again and straightened everything out to their own satisfaction. It only took 20 minutes, too.

What's this we hear? Sharple's little chickens and their pardners are getting letters saying they hain't not cut. And nobody wants to complain that she didn't get any mail from us!

Here is a letter on pink stationery with the faint aroma of "Embraces-mot parfum." It reads, the text of the letter must be censored) nad she closes, "You can imagine how embarrassed I was at house meeting Wednesday before last." This one is signed, "Affectionately, Cuddles" You sound like the type of person, Cuddles, who would have an idea for a new college song to replace, "FSC. We Love Thee." The solution to too much mail must be to stay in next weekend and compose.

Do you have something on your mind? If so, don't hesitate to send your problems in to us. We will do our best to help you. Occasionally, we might step on somebody's toes but it ain't necessarily intentional. Our motto is "Sweetness and Light."

Thomson Entertains Spirogiras at Party

Miss Elizabeth Thomson, recently resigned instructor in speech, entertained members and guests of Spirogira at a Hallowe'en party in her home Wednesday.

Ghost stories, bobbing for apples, and a contest for the most original hand-made mask were featured attractions at the party.

Assisting Miss Thomson were Miss Peggy Barker, Miss Charlotte Cooper, Miss Virginia Greene and Miss Betty Hatch, all faculty members of Spirogira. Other faculty members attending were Dr Raymond Bellamy, Dr M W Carothers, Miss Edith West and Miss Daisy Parker.

Flastacowo

Sophomores may make their appointments for Flastacowo pictures starting Monday, Nov 5 through Saturday, Nov 10.

Freshmen will make their appointments for annual pictures beginning Thursday, Nov 8 through Tuesday, Nov 13, in lower Westcott. Bring two dollars.

Seniors Apply!

Miss Eva Mae Atwood, assistant registrar, announced that November 1 is the last day for seniors to apply for a degree if they graduate on December 15.

Saturday, October 27, was the last day for students to reduce their load of hours without receiving the grade of failure. All who drop courses now will be subject to the $2 per credit hour fee for failing.

Even Dem Publicity Spreads Propaganda

"Even rehearsals are moving along in fine fashion," Prancie Hall publicity chairman for Even Demonstration, Prancie added, however, that they are having a terrific time trying to obtain their complete cast. The Metropolitan is after the trio and the Rockets are trying desperately to contract their dancers.

In one of these recent rehearsals a big surprise greeted an end when she attempted to enroll in the Even dancing chorus. This is the third time Odds have tried to change their colors. "Well, must be they know a good thing when they see it," Prancie said.

The property committee is busy getting things from the physics department right on down to the home economics department, according to Prancie, therefore expecting no big kitchen sink scene in Even Dem, and who wouldare say that won't?

Sweater Story!

Yours for a warm smart winter—sweaters galore for every occasion! Brilliant contrasting "twins," gay jacquard sweaters, versatile coat sweaters. Choose yours today!

Steyerman's

Fabrics for Fashion Fame

Sew Yourself Some Super CLOTHES

The new woolens are full of interest, and the new pattern books show you how to make those stunning fashions that are just coming in, with their deep armholes, softer shoulders, tie necklines, and smart detail. Invest your money in these fine quality fabrics, make your own clothes and you'll end up with super suits and dresses at a fraction of what their ready-made or custom-made price would be. We'll advise you in the selection of fabric and pattern and accessories, if you wish. Come in before all the materials are snapped up!

P. W. WILSON CO.

"Tallahassee's Best Department Store"
—SINCE 1837—

TURNER'S FEATURING Rommies

COBBLERS Made In California

Brown Red, Black

Turner's DOORWAY TO FASHIONS

Examinations Coming Z 108

The Florida Flambeau

Is Conscription?

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

VOL. XXXIII, No. 5

NOVEMBER 9, 1945

Examination Plans Adopted By Council

Teachers Will Announce If Classes Will Meet December 17

Students Must Attend Classes Day Before Vacation

Examination schedule plans as adopted by Executive Council, November 5, 1945, have now been announced by Dr M W Carothers, registrar.

Students having examinations on Tuesday, December 11, will not be required to attend other classes on that day; however each teacher may decide and announce in advance whether a certain class will meet that day. The number of students excused from any of the examinations in the integrated courses, history, and English, will make it advisable that certain other classes to meet at their usual hour. The teacher will secure from the students themselves the information as to whether they are entitled to be excused from class on Tuesday.

If a student has three examinations scheduled for the forenoon of the afternoon of December 11, she is entitled to a special arrangement for the third one. A student having four examinations scheduled for the morning of December 11 is entitled to a special arrangement for the fourth one.

Examinations other than those in the integrated courses, English, and history will be held at the regular class periods during the week beginning Monday, December 10. No student or student who are taking an integrated course. English 101, 102, 201, 202, is excused from any of these examinations.

Continued on page four

Officers Urge Girls To Take Part in CGA

WSSF Sets Goal for November At Dollar Per Student

In an effort to stimulate more active participation in College Government Association, officers of CGA addressed students on the campus via the chapel meetings held Tuesday night, urging students to take an active part in CGA elections, to attend Senate meetings, and to make known their opinions to whatever their opinions and desires through letters and interviews.

Representatives of the World Student Service Service Fund drive also spoke upon the need of aid to students of other countries who are unable to continue their studies due to the ruthless destruction resulting from the war. Florida State College women were asked to pledge a contribution for the month of November in an effort to reach the goal of one dollar per student which has been set for this campaign.

Among the announcements from the faculty and the CGA committee was the clarification of the regulation concerning visits to Game's Woods. According to Peggy Lee Thomas, chairman of the Residence Halls Committee, it is not necessary for students going to Game's Woods to sign out; however for reasons of safety, students must go in groups. Parties of less than eight people are required to register in the office by 7 o'clock; parties of more than eight must return by 8 o'clock.

Broward Hall held elections for the temporary offices at the

Continued on page four

Three FSC Seniors Interning in Town

Three seniors at Florida State College are serving as interns in public administration in the state capitol during this quarter. Nancy Lee Wheeler, one of the interns, explained.

Virginia Collins is interning in the office of the Secretary of State R A Gray interning under Robert Jenkins, personnel director in the Practice of Dr Martial Commission, is Jessie McCalla. Nancy Lee is serving her internship under John Kilgore, information director at the Industrial Commission.

All three of the girls are majoring in political science with emphasis in the social sciences. Work with academic work under the direction of Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science at FSC.

Under the interne plan, which was instituted in 1939, the students work for eight weeks of term in a state office and learn about public administration by practicing it. During this period, the girls receive college credit and a stipend.

Survival of Fittest Apparent Doctrine On Crowded Buses

"Just a little bit more," he cries, "just a little bit more," as a crowd of girls push relentlessly on an already jammed bus. "There's always room for one more," he continues encouragingly, "so let's move back, just a little bit more."

Screaming protests are heard from the back of the bus as the driver continues to stop at every station to pick up more eager customers with a cheery, "Come right on in, there's plenty of room."

Apologies are not infrequent as many a lady, hot and flying into the nearest lap by the onrush of girls, breathlessly becomes practically impossible, and sharp looks of disapproval are thrown in the direction of the girl who inadvertantly tape out a cigarette and proceeds to smoke.

The last pull up the hill to town causes not a few anxious moments among those not yet initiated into the ways of conquering it. Others less faint-hearted join in the chorus of the current popular song.

As the bus makes its first stop in town, the confusion begins again, as many for fear of being left behind, start the endless pushing and shoving to get off the bus

Continued on page four

Daniel Wins Annual Poetry Competition

Distaff Announces Winners; Springs Is Runner-up

Marcia Daniel was announced as the winner of the annual Distaff poetry contest for freshmen which ended November 5, last Monday. Ann Springs was awarded honorable mention. There was no winner in the contest. Others but Gladys Nowack was awarded honorable mention for her short story and Peggy Thomas for her short story.

Winifred Meldrim, editor, said that although the contest was not wide in scope, it was very satisfactory. She said that the freshmen who entered poetry and let who entered it, did an excellent job. She said that most of the entrants handed in several contributions. Meldrim expressed the wish that all entrants would talk to the staff member of her dorm concerning her writing. She said all who were interested could send a note to 752 in campus mail.

"We hope in time to contain a large enough number to choose her entry, for we realize that judgment is sometimes too largely influenced," said Winifred.

The editor was also pleased with the enthusiasm to respond from the upperclassmen this year. Although the material for the next issue went to the press this week she urged that all students start writing now so that contributions to be handed in between now and December 15, the deadline for the next issue.

Becker and Jacobs To Address AAUW

Henry Becker, professor of geography at Florida State College, and William Jacobs, assistant state forester, will speak Tuesday night at 8:15 in the Longview auditorium at the regular monthly meeting of the American Association of University Women, Miss Marjorie Judy, vice-president, announced. The meeting is open to students, and Miss Judy urges that as many as possible attend the meeting after the first convocation.

Following the theme of this year's programs, The Development of Human and Natural Resources, Professor Becker will give a survey of the state project in this field. Also on the program, Mr Jacobs will speak on the "Place of Timber-crops in Florida Economics."

Students to Honor Dr Campbell Friday

Students at Florida State College will join next Friday in celebrating the birthday of Dr Doak S Campbell.

On this occasion Dr and Mrs Campbell College Government Association, the college officers, sponsors and college officials will entertain with a reception and buffet dining hall, following which students will gather in front of the new dining hall and sing to Dr Campbell. Seniors, clad in their academic caps and gowns, will then present him with a special birthday cake.

The junior class has charge of planning this event, and Doris Corry and Laurence Norton are supervising arrangements.

Annual Pictures

Tomorrow is the last day that sophomores can make appointments for Fistacuvo pictures at the table in lower Westcott.

Margaret Baugh, editor, said that freshmen could make their appointments until next Tuesday at 5 p m.

Also, all upperclassmen who failed to make their appointments during the time allotted them may make them at any time during the period for freshmen to sign up.

Conscription Is Discussed

Rogers, Vance Give Pro, Con of Military Training

Whether or not the United States should have a system of compulsory military conscription was discussed Wednesday by W B Rogers, professor of English, and Karl L Vance, associate professor of English and journalism, at the Methodist Student House last Wednesday night. Dr Rogers advocated compulsory military conscription for the country as insurance against any eventuality. Mr Vance opposed it on the grounds that it is undemocratic, volunteer army is required for modern warfare rather than a conscript army, and that trained standing army.

Mr Rogers presented the idea that military conscription would not only train men in basic combat tactics but would also train them to man tanks and fly planes. He said that conscription of the 18-year-olds was a fair solution to the problem of rotation of service men, and that each year every 18-year-old boy would be conscripted into the military service which would be necessary to fulfill needs at any particular time.

Mr Vance said that he believed that we should have a strong navy and air force, and a small professional army, but that such a large conscript army. Voluntary enlistments, he said, would be sufficient for these forces, Mr Vance said.

A comparison was drawn by Dr Rogers between the life insurance idea that he pays each year and

Continued on page four

IRC Girls Sponsor Panel Discussion

A panel discussion by three members of the Florida State College faculty concerning the United Nations Charter took place last night at the meeting of the International Relations Club in the Longview auditorium. Those who formed the panel were IRC sponsor Dr Miriam Irish, professor of political science; Dr Ralph Lazaro, Daisy Parker, instructor in political science; and Mr Earl Vance, professor of journalism. The discussion was attended by members and many interested guests of IRC, according to Jesse McCalla, chairman.

International Relations Clubs, which are sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, are organized for the purpose of creating a student interest in world affairs. The IRC at FSC is one of 400 clubs in the United States.

Dr Irish, in her talk, stated the opinion that a club larger than the present one of twenty should be added and should be built up at FSC.

Rule Changes in FSC Handbook Would Shock Students of 1914

Had it been possible for "Tally Lassies" war back in 1914 to look forward and see today's students at Florida State College they would probably have been shocked at the rules allowing smoking, dancing, card playing, and dating.

Numerous changes in these and other social procedures are to be found on looking into the past rules and customs on campus. "Gold" books did not become used until 1937. Before that time they were small handbooks called "Constitution and By-laws of the Student Government Association" and contained rules and customs for the student.

Under "Things Forbidden" in the 1914 handbook is stated that a student could not receive gentlemen callers. Juniors, however, could receive callers once a month and seniors, who had certain privileges, had permission to have gentlemen callers once a week. Guests were to be received in Bryan parlor, and each engagement had to be recorded in books provided for that purpose.

The book also stated that dancing with men on the campus was not allowed.

In 1921 rules were still generally the same. Dancing with men was still a forbidden thing and smoking and card playing were mentioned. That is, they were mentioned to being absolutely out for the students. Gentlemen callers were to be entertained in the parlor with no "rough" warm evenings it was permissible to sit on the steps and seats around the front door of Bryan and in the sunken gardens there. The girls were reminded that a boy must have not o be used in the evening when sitting with a gentleman. Callers were to leave at first light flash (10:15). There were no social functions to be enjoyed on one's immediate family, on Sunday.

In 1924, 1925, and 1926 some very definite changes and additions were made in the rules and regulations of the campus. There were regular reception evenings in the parlors and halls for the visiting callers. Each girl was entitled to three callers. Among the

Continued on page three

Series Tickets Are Available

Donald Dickson to Appear On Campus Nov 19

Students who hold blue Artist Series tickets may obtain reserve seat tickets for the performance of Donald Dickson, American baritone, from 4 until 6 p m this afternoon and Monday afternoon in the basement of the Dormitory building. Dickson, Metropolitan Opera star, will appear on the campus here on this campus November 19 and 20 at 6:15 pm in Westcott auditorium. Blue tickets will also train them to man tanks and fly planes. He said that conscription of the 18-year-olds was a fair solution to the problem of rotation of service men, and that each year every 18-year-old boy would be conscripted into the military service which would be necessary to fulfill needs at any particular time.

Mr Vance said that he believed that we should have a strong navy and air force, and a small professional army, but that such a large conscript army. Voluntary enlistments, he said, would be sufficient for these forces, Mr Vance said.

A comparison was drawn by Dr Rogers between the life insurance idea that he pays each year and

Continued on page four

Music Association Elects Kuersteiner

Convention Votes to Convene On FSC Campus Next Fall

The Florida State Music Teachers Association held its eleventh annual convention in Orlando Monday and Tuesday of this week and elected the Association of Florida State College to convene here next fall. Mr Karl Kuerstenier, member of the staff of school of music and 12 other members of the music department, were delegates to this convention.

Dean Kuerstenier, who was elected vice-president of the association for the coming year at this meeting, and other members of the music department took part in panel discussions on various topics and played musical numbers during this convention. Among prominent delegates present was Mr C F Goldman, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, who has accepted the invitation to be the guest lecturer to visit the school of music classes at FSC this year.

The Student Training for the Prospective Teacher of Music was the topic of an address by Mrs Thomas Hunter, state chairman of music. Mrs Hunter discussions at the convention. She is also chairman of the state junior talent contest and has part in other discussions.

Miss Gladys Koch, assistant professor of voice and solfeggio, acted as chairman of a forum on voice in the classroom. Miss Koch is liar chairman. Speaking on junior choir singing was Miss Mary Charlotte Cooper, assistant to the band director, also took part in the discussions.

Dean Kuerstenier states that one of the highlights of the convention was the appearance of Dr

Continued on page four

New Odd-Even Cheerleaders Are Selected

Sponsors to Be Presented At Thanksgiving Celebration

Both the Odds and the Evens have chosen their cheerleaders this week have nominated candidates for cheers at the Thanksgiving dance, and have selected faculty sponsors, whose identity will not be disclosed until their presentation at the Thanksgiving games. Plans for the annual revels which for pre-Thanksgiving activities were also made and committee chairman for them chosen by the various classes during the week.

Arrangements are now being made for the Odd-Even bond drive rally which will open Wednesday at booths in lower Westcott. During this drive Odds and Evens will compete for the sale of bonds, and the faction with the larger total sale at the end of the drive will win the privilege of having their queen reign at the traditional Thanksgiving dance.

Geneva Bettle will have charge of the Odd booth, and for the first time this year Westcott Plunkies will conduct the sale of bonds for the Evens. Booths will continue through November 21. No definite plans for the Even booth have been made as yet, according to Connie Savage, president of the sophomore class.

New Even cheerleaders, Anne Widerquist, Betty Jo McAteer and Mary Katherine Hall, join veterans and Jean Ann Ramsdell, Norma Schaeffner and Betty Lou Tuttle Theaker.

Icons to be the Odd cheering section were Alice Taft, Bookie McMichael and Henrietta Trevant. Junkon, and Wylma Bender. Mary Alice Pitts and Gloria Lacks, freshmen from Westcott, are were selected at class meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Evens have selected Carol Claus

Continued on page four

"Fireside Chat" To Be Held Sunday

Booths for Bond Drive Rally Set for Wednesday

Mortar Board is sponsoring faculty-student "fireside chats", to be held once a month in the Longwire Building, for the purpose of bringing students into interest and of intellectual value. The first chat will be held Sunday because of the informal nature of the discussions between students and faculty members.

The first such event of the year will be held in the auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Dr C B Heinlein, professor of experimental psychology, will be the faculty member present to stimulate discussion. "The Purpose and Aim of Higher Education," a member of Mortar Board will preside over the chat.

In order to keep the group small enough for interesting discussion, each member of Mortar Board invites two girls, but Bea Wescott, president of Mortar Board, announces that any girls particularly interested in this month's topic who would like to come should contact her.

New Seasonal Fad Called "Nutting" Hits FSC Students

"Bend down, sister," there's a new "green classes diversion. No, that humpback in the green is not trying to make like a camel she's practicing the seasonal campus fad. It's "nutting", a sure way to lose that stomach slump and at the same time stave off your hunger until mealtime.

Some sinners "nutters" claim that the sport is beneficial to the eyes as well, since you develop a technique for spotting your prey in the grass. "Sport" refers to your chances of meeting an easy roommate to the punch—or rather to the line.

Once you have cornered a nut.

Continued on page four

Forum Topic Is Atom Bomb

Richards, Young, Irish Present Viewpoints

"We the People of the Atomic Age" will be the topic of a forum which will be presented by the Press club, Thursday night at 8 p m in the auditorium of the Longwire building. Presenting the social, economic and political aspects of the atomic bomb in this discussion will include an address by Dr Harold F Richards, professor of physics, who will outline various aspects of the topic.

Dr Richards is associate professor of economics, Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, and a speaker who has not as yet been selected will present economic, political and social aspects, respectively. This discussion will be the last in a series of such forums, presented by the Press Club, on the international and atomic age in relation to economics, education, religion, and the free press.

Such panel discussions, forums and polls have been chosen as a special project this year by the club. Founded on campus in 1927, the organization has as its objective the fostering of interest in subjects related to journalism. Its membership includes anyone who is interested in the field of journalistic endeavor.

The first meeting of Press Club for the present year will be held next Friday afternoon at 5 pm in

Continued on page four

Navy Day Is Theme In College Library

Navy Day was the topic featured this week in the information center of the library, reports Mrs Conway Irvin, librarian assisted in the display and devoted to exhibits on current problems. The exhibits of this week included books and pictures on the major naval battles fought during this war and information of different types of naval ships and carriers.

This center is designed to help students in keeping abreast of current affairs, said Miss Irvin. Frances Hayes, reference librarian, in connection with Dr. Irish, is in charge of the center.

Miss Haynes stated that they are looking forward to having more exhibitions in the future, among which will be one on the proposed International Conference on Education and Cultural Origin, during November.

"We feel" said Miss Haynes, "that during education week, it would be especially appropriate that we keep in mind the importance of an International system of education to promote an understanding among the peoples of the world."

A special exhibit will be placed in the library during this week in connection with Children's Book Week.

Seniors Register For Placement

Registration of seniors for placement interviews will soon begin this week, according to Dr Elizabeth G Andrews director of placement. Each senior will present a blank to be filled out with information as to address, hours, major subject, and faculty references. All seniors are urged to register with the personnel office even though they may not wish to be placed, because the personnel files should be kept up to date in case of future need. If possible, the registration should be completed before Christmas.

Personal interviews with freshmen are expected to be completed this week also, Dr Andrews explained, as the personnel office had had interviews with at least 1000 students.

Conscription In Peacetime Is Discussed

Arguments For, Against Compulsory Training Given in Forum

Stone, Drummond Favor Idea; Ellis, Van Duers Oppose

Arguments for and against compulsory military training were presented by two student speakers and two guest speakers at a forum sponsored by the YWCA last Wednesday evening in the Longwire building auditorium.

The two speakers favoring military training were Dr Mode Stone, recently returned from the navy and Carolyn Drummond, freshman, while Bugs Ellis, former Army air corpsman, and Kay Van Duers, junior, presented the con argument. They were introduced by Mrs Margaret Bristol, assistant professor of sociology.

Dr Stone, first to present his views, stated that the youth of America would be most affected by this measure.

"Traditionally, compulsory military training is contrary to principals of democracy," Dr Stone declared. "But contrary to the general opinion, there is no democracy under military discipline, there is in the armed forces a democratic atmosphere." He based his statement on his experience in the navy stating that he found that from time to time men would make suggestions to their superiors officers.

Continued on page three

Speech Department Presents First Play

'Time and the Conways' to 3-Act English Drama

The first production of the speech department of Florida State College this fall, "Time and the Conways," by J B Priestley, will be presented here November 29, 30 and December 1 in the Augusta Conway Little theater. The play will be directed by Miss Mary Wood.

The entire three acts of the play have their settings in London. Act I and Act III are set in the living room of Mrs Conway in the World War I period. The Conway brothers, Allen and Robin, have returned from the war and the family is happily together once more. Act II has its setting in the Conway's living room twenty years later in the present. The costumes, make-up and lighting in Act II have a distinct change from the other two acts.

The male parts in "Time and the Conways" are being played by Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of cello and other orchestral instruments at FSC, who will play the part of Robin; Dr Ralph Donaldson, associate professor of industrial arts, as Robin; Mr Warren Green, a teacher in the high school who is to play the part of Gerald; and Dr Bellamy, head of the Treasury Department, in the role of Jerald.

Within the script itself the cast is Americanizing the English idiom for the benefit of the audience.

Junior English Exams Are Graded

The Junior English examination which was given at the beginning of the week for the purpose of Dr Hazel A Stevenson, professor of English, but the majority of students will not be required to see their papers until a later date.

Those girls whose papers indicated the need of remedial help will be sent special notice to this immediate future. If a weakness is shown in only one particular phase of the work, the girl will be notified to attend an interview for a better understanding of the difficulty.

These interviews for seniors who took the test are being conducted now since a successful completion of the examination is a necessary preliminary for graduation.

Dr Stevenson announced that the girls did much better this year than last." said Miss Stevenson.

Bellomy Selected

Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, has been selected to do abstracts for the publication Biological Abstracts. The magazine has recently added a new section carrying abstracts of books and articles dealing with biological and social significance and this is the section to which Dr Bellamy contributes.

Year's Artist Series Programs Promise Varied Entertainment Including Shakespearean Tragedy and Two Symphony Concerts

By JEAN DOUGLAS

Assistant Society Editor, star, classic theater group, symphony orchestra, medium dance artist, pianist, and violinist are among those artists yet to appear on the Florida State Series programs. Three of these, the opera star, the dance artist, and the violinist, have appeared in previous events on campus.

Donald Dickson, Metropolitan Opera baritone, a presentation of Shakespearean tragedy, and Jose Mendez dancer Charles Weidman, pianist-composer Percy Grainger, and the hell-men violinist, Mischa Elman, are scheduled to appear on dates between November 19 and May 7. Two events have already taken place this year. Lawrence, Metropolitan Opera soprano, and Vincent Sheean, foreign correspondent and author, who appeared on October 2 and October 9, respectively.

Donald Dickson's appearance here on November 19 will be his second since October, 1939. His musical training has consisted of voice lessons taken under Warren Proctor, Frank La Forge, and the Juilliard School of Music in 1926, from which he was signed by the Metropolitan Opera company as a result of his appearance in opera performances given by the school. In the interim he had won the Atwater Kent award for young unaccompanied singers, and had sung operatic roles for two years, with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra under Artur Rodzinski. His debut at the Metropolitan was in the role of Valentine in Gounod's opera, Faust. Since that time he has appeared on many radio programs and in many nationwide concerts.

Romeo and Juliet, the Shakespearean tragedy, is the presentation of the National Classic theater group, on the date of January 5. The director is to be Mrs Clare Tree Major, founder of the project, and the major roles are to be played by Ola Baliuh as Juliet, John Reilly as Romeo, Justine Johnson as the nurse, Alan Turnbough as Paris, and Frederick Ritter as Friar Lawrence. The entire cast numbers over thirty-five performers.

In the formation of a national classic theater is devoted specifically to the service of colleges and the genuine interest of the nation, it has been announced by Major Bowes, who is personally known director and producer. It is also stated that the group opened their season at Duke University and has been touring the eastern seaboard since that time.

Two concerts will be given by the Ballet Symphony Orchestra during their visit here on November 27, one at 8:15 in the afternoon, and the other will take place at 8:15 in the evening. Among the musicians will be Mr Frank Sykora, cellist who appeared here in FSC Forum 1942 until this year on the return of Mr Owen W Sellers from the army. Directing the orchestra is the Scottish Mr Reginald Stewart, who became its conductor in 1941. From his beginning as a concert pianist, Mr Stewart has been, successively, musical director of the Canadian Operatic Society, conductor of the Toronto Symphony, the BBC and NBC radio symphonies, and organizer and conductor of the Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra in Canada. He has also been associated as well as piano soloist with practically all the major symphony orchestras in the United States, including the New York Philharmonic, Chicago Symphony, Boston Symphony, National Symphony, and has made numerous recordings for RCA.

Charles Weidman, nationally known modern dance artist, is the next feature of the Artist Series, to be presented on the evening of January 27. Mr Weidman and his ensemble have appeared here twice before, once in March, 1939, and again in October, 1942. During both these previous appearances Miss Doris Humphrey, with whom he has been a dancer. Mr Weidman is a mid-westerner, as was Miss Humphrey. They met in the company of Ruth St Denis and Ted Shawn, and studied later in the Denishawn school of dance in California, from which they became featured soloists with Miss Humphrey. Limon toured the American continent and the

Continued on page three

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

IT'S A GREAT LIFE IF YOU DON'T WEEK-END

ENERGY FOR PEACE OR ENERGY FOR WAR

"When the first atomic bomh was dropped in New Mexico on July 16, 1945, the atomic age was ushered in with an unparalleled man-made bang." Dr Harold F Richards stated in a recent lecture on atomic power.

It is apparent that the complications of using and controlling a power as great as atomic power present the world with one of the gravest and most difficuit of prohlems. The practical application of our knowledge of atomic energy for the good of humanity could form a higher civilization than the world has ever known, hut ill-use could just as easily make it hreak down our existing ideals of culture

We have no assurance that the secret can remain as such in the hands of our government for long. Eminent scientists have made it clear that research will soon open the atomic field to any nation that cares to undertake the task.

There has been much discussion and speculation of the possihle outcome of man's new knowledge, but only a few concrete suggestions have been made. This week student officials on our campus have received a letter from the student officials of Bennington College, Bennington, Vermont, suggesting "that the college youth of this country should add its voice to that of the nation's foremost scientists, and ask our government for a bold and responsihle step toward international control of atomic energy."

The letter further states, "The prohlem is how to keep the United States from leading the world into the most ferocious armament race it has ever seen. The atomic bomh has opened up unlimited possibilities of destruction. Unless the facilities of producing and controlling this weapon are placed under effective international control, the great powers of the world will develop them in a vain search for security, and run blindly into another war.

"This would spell catastrophe for the world in which we are living and destroy all of our hopes for the future. We are certain that you and your fellow students are as deeply concerned with this challenge as the people at our college."

We feel that the students of Bennington College should be highly commended for taking this initial stand on a prohlem which is vitally pertinent to every college student.

Thus far, nothing concrete haa been done on this campus to show an active interest in the prohlem. With the hope that the students of FSC feel a need to become more fully informed, a forum on the suhject has been planned for next Thursday night. Discussion of such a universal issue should hring together one of the largest groups of this kind that FSC has ever seen.

It is probahle that many colleges throughout the country are taking similar steps, and we should stand with our fellow students in furthering an intelligent opinion on the use and control of atomic power.

SO FAR, SO GOOD

Congratulations are in order for FSC students this week for their prompt response to the World Student Service Fund drive. Although many pledge cards have yet to be turned in the unofficial returns of these pledges show that FSC is well above the amount received last year.

Of course it is easy to sign pledges for contrihutions and think we have fulfilled their obligation, hut the responsihility does not end with the act of pledging. The definition of the word according to Webster is "anything given or passed by way of guaranty or security for the performance of some act."

Many pledges have been signed, hut the WSSF purpose is still dependent on the collections. If all cooperate no financial strain will be imposed on anyone. As has been previously announced it is still not too late to pledge and contribute for the drive will last throughout the entire month of November.

This is but another opportunity to show we are adults, ahle to discipline our responsihility and to become a real part of the world community.

HEREIN LIES OUR DEFENSE

As the defeated nations the world over are surrendering their arms, the question of maintaining peace or preparing for defense in case of failure of that peace becomes of paramount concern. In the United States the question has taken the form of a compulsory one-year conscription for boys of 18 years of age.

It is an ohvious truth that the future cannot be foreseen. It is also an ohvious possihillty that the world is not yet ready to accept an international government which would prevent all wars. Some sort of national security for the United States is therefore a wise move, hut still to be decided is whether universal military training is the ideal solution.

Under such a plan, military instruction will be split in two parts, the regular professional army with distinct and separate duties at home and abroad and the civilian instructor army to train and indoctrinate the nation's youth. With one army for instruction and one for domestic and foreign duties there can be little cooperation between the two, but only a loose and unwieldly organization. Furthermore, it has been suggested that the instructors are to be rotated into the army and back into civilian life in a year or two, thus making the instruction markedly uneven and inavoidably inefficient.

Advocates of the conscription plan, staunch ones among them being our military leaders, feel that a large reservoir of civilians with one year of military training will be our hulwark of defense. Yet one year of military training is not sufficient time in which to convert a man into a soldier under modern conditions, since a soldier must learn infinitely more than he had to know in the past.

Technical training in modern mechanical warfare will be so highly specialized as to allow for little of an all-over picture of army structure. Specialists in such fields of mechanical warfare, intelligence, and reconnaissance will be of little value as graduates of one-year conscription unless qualified hy previous training in civilian life.

Experience has shown that no army ends a war with the weapon with which it began it, so quickly are advances made. In time of peace as in time of war the progress of technology will make the training of 1950 obsolete in 1955 and instruction received one year of little value the next.

Limited hy the regimentation characteristic of the army, conscripted recruits will have little of the resourcefulness and ingenuity they would develop in civilian life. They will learn to obey and little more. Yet many times on the battlefront, in situations requiring quick and accurate thought, it is not training in obedience and obedience alone which is effective, hut rather the ability to think rapidly and accurately for oneself.

Herein lies our defense.

In This Our Time

In the wake of peace, observers' attention this last week was turned to the rebellions and riots raging throughout the world.

In northern China Red troops armed with supplies captured from the Japanese were gaining control of several large cities, heavy industries and railroads American troops stationed in China to end Japanese activities and to collect Japanese material there are working with the central government, and because of this are finding some difficulty keeping out of the hostilities.

Javanese natives, armed with captured Japanese equipment and massed in the center of the island for a strong, concentrated attack, are combating British forces who would eventually pull out and leave the Dutch colonials in control.

Korean political parties presented Allied officials with an announcement demanding immediate and complete independence and protested against the splitting of the island into a Russian and an American zone of occupation

In Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt Arabs and other anti-Zionists groups staged riots in protest to making Palestine the national Jewish homeland.

In Argentina supporters of vice president Peron staged several demonstrations in which some were injured demanding that the "strong man" be made official president of the republic.

Reconversion strikes and general labor unrest this last week brought several new developments. In Washington labor and management sat down with government officials to try to settle labor-management reconversion disputes. Meanwhile, boat builder Andrew J Higgins has closed his three plants in New Orleans where an AFL request for a congressional investigation has been made. The Pennsylvania and Central and Southwestern Greyhound bus unions are on strike for a 30 per cent wage increase, and telegraph and auto workers are threatening to temporarily close those industries by striking The strike situation may be broken for a time, however, since Mr Truman hinted that it may be necessary to take over some vital industries if the number of strikes continue.

Since legislators on Capitol Hill still do not know just what to do about the atomic bomb control, both the House and Senate committees are now attending night classes conducted by four prominent physicists in an effort to understand the bomb and its effects. Meanwhile, Major De Seversky, aircraft designer who is now studying the effects of the bomb in Japan, said that the American people are overestimating its destructive power and that American cities were far safer from devastation by the bomb than Japanese cities since American cities are constructed with steel and concreta.

There have been two important developments in Venezuela this last week. New revolutionist president Bettancourt has made no move to nationalize Venezuela's oil industry as Mexico did, thus allowing American control of the industry to remain in tact. President Bettancourt also has issued an order that all foreign correspondents may send their dispatches out of the country completely uncensored.

Campus Mail Note

Stating that students have repeatedly disregarded post office regulations concerning campus notices, Mr W H May, college postmaster, emphasized this week that the post office will accept only those which are of postal card size or are enclosed in an envelope Only exception to this regulation will be in the case of organizations whose members will post their own campus mail, he added.

Armistice Day

A five-minute period of silence will be observed this Sunday evening at 8:15 in memory of those who gave their lives in World War I. During this period of reverence in observance of Armistice Day the chimes in Westcott tower will be played.

Miss Koch to Give Address at Recital

An address on "Musical Criticism" by Miss Gladys Koch, assistant professor of voice and solfeggio, will be featured at a student piano recital Thursday afternoon at 5:05 pm in the recital hall of the Music annex.

"Dialogue Without Words" by Carl Preyer will open the musical portion of the program played by Anne Townsend. "Sonata op. 14 Number 1, Allegro" by Beethoven, played by Frances Duckworth and Mozart's "Fantasie in C Minor", played by Wildo Hayes will follow.

Eleanor Bragg then will conclude the program with the playing of "The White Peacock" by Griffes and Chopin's "Ballade in F"

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHERINE NOLMAN

The Fate of American Science

Let's take a second look at the role which science will play in this our postwar world. "For the realization of fuller and more fruitful employment and a fuller and more fruitful life, we need a National Science Foundation and a country-wide awareness that governmental support for knowledge - research is henceforth basic in the national policy." This is the opinion expressed by Professor Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard College observatory, in the article "Status Quo or Pioneer" which appeared in the October issue of Harper's.

Farmers, miners, machine operators, merchants, and housekeepers, although not scientifically trained, are employing scientific methods rather than old time superstitions and are fast becoming conscious of the fact that conclusions based on observation, testing, and logical reasoning form the intelligent method of living. Moreover, not only does scientific advance in medicine provide for a longer and happier life for millions of individuals, but also scientific advance provides for the national defense so that these lives may be lived outside the horrors of war. Therefore, says Professor Shapley, it is time for the government to decide what it is going to do about the advance of scientific research and development.

Undeniably our scientists played a great part in the winning of this war. They produced "miracles of medicine, transportation, communication, and entertainment," but when we came to the peace conference at San Francisco not a scientist or engineer was invited to help plan the world of peace. Although Professor Shapley speaks sarcastically of the authorities who failed to invite the advise of technology, he also blames the scientists for their long indifference to their social responsibilities.

This took place before the explosion of the atomic bomb set the whole world to vibrating with the knowledge that its very existence depended on the proper handling of science. But says Professor Shapley, its occurrence has tended to produce in some people a desire to escape from science back to the old days. Fortunately, he says, there have been civilians in high places who realized the importance of government interest in science.

Action in Congress

Lately about half a dozen science bills have been introduced into Congress. Several years ago Senator Kilgore of Virginia tried to get governmental interest in the management of science. Scientists at first objected on the grounds of free enterprise, but later bills have been more acceptable. From the reports prepared in answer to a letter written by the late President Roosevelt inquiring about recent scientific developments and what should be the government's responsibility toward scientific research in general the Magnuson bill has materialized.

The Magnuson bill provides that there be established 'in the executive branch of the government an independent agency to be known as the National Research Foundation' which among its duties will include the "support of medical, military, and basic research with the help of grants, and the discovery of scientific talent and its development with the aid of governmental scholarships. In its full development the yearly cost of this plan will be less than the cost of one day of the past war. Professor Shapley continue to say that "A wide dispersion throughout the country of research activities, of scholarship assistance for young scientists, and of technological service to industry must be a fundamental principle of the National Science foundation." In the past a great deal of our basic research came from Germany where research was supported by Government funds. Now we must stand on our own feet in this field.

In answer to the question, "Does not this emphasis on science mean the death of art and poetry?", the author asks the reader to look at Russia where the use of science is a major concern. "No one questions the leadership of Russian musicians in composition and performance. Paintings are found in the modern art museums which the experts tell us are masterpieces. They are not escapist canvases like those we so often paint. . .. nor experiments in decadence, but interpretations of the grimness, humor, and serious thoughtfulness of life in a society that was reborn in heavy weather only a brief generation ago." along with science, he says, we also should include eventually all historical and social studies.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Dear Editor:

Due to lack of dormitory space a number of us are living in Landis recreation room this fall. Although such living arrangements necessitate a number of inconveniences, we who stay there have raised no objections to these living quarters. We realize that other students at Florida State College, many of them freshmen who would find it difficult to become acclimated to college life under normal conditions, are living in crowded, uncomfortable quarters. All this, we understand, is an unavoidable and temporary situation, which will be corrected as soon as humanly possible.

What we do object to is the fact that we were required to pay Landis prices for the doubtful privilege of living in its recreation room. Supposedly students paid this extra 15 dollars per year and in return had the conveniences of private telephones, modernistic furniture, sound-proof rooms and elevators. What we girls in the "rec" receive is the privileges double-decker bunks, of walking up three flights of stairs in order to use a telephone and of an elevator that is constantly in a state of disrepair. I believe that in all fairness we should be refunded the difference between Landis prices and those charged for other dormitories.

(Signed)
Kathleen Wagner
Betty Jean Barber
Bettye Martin
Dolores Edwards
Willa Land
Marian Curry

From Me To Y'all

By SHARPIE

Our first letter is signed, "Pleasingly Plump". She writes, "I seem to be gaining too much weight and it's in the wrong places. If this keeps up, I can't imagine the shape of things to come." We have had many weighty problems like this and the sad part of it is that these cases usually feel tired, nervous and rundown after a mere 15 hours of study.

Here's how Virginia Budd, Marguerite Reynolds, June Moore and Patty Evans are solving a similar problem. To the rhythmic beat of 1 - 2 - 3 - 4, the girls, with their blankets lined up on the 100 floor of Broward, exercise nightly from 10:30 until 11:00 When asked if they recommended this procedure, one of the quartet groaned, "We've lost pounds," and they all flopped over to make Miss Tracy's desserts less noticeable.

We are anticipating a deluge of letters next week from girls whol walked Landis' freshly painted arcade and want to know how to get rid of black feet. If you have a question like this, don t bother us with it. You should have worn shoes anyway. Feels awful when your toes stick together, doesn't it?

There is a shortage of letters this week from worried souls and this letter just about sums up the reason. "Sharpie . . . Why should anyone have problems when there are only five weeks until that beautiful Christmas vacation? Why should we complain if our naps are disturbed by people who sashay down dormitory halls enthusiastically beating drums? Hurray for the Evens and Odds. I want to go home. . . . Anxious." So Anxious thinks she has no cause for worry. She doesn't object to loyal fans. Ahaaaa (and that is Sharpie's fiendish laugh which shakes this L C Smith). There is always a place for worry as long as we write this column. If nothing else is a cause for worry, exams are always with us.

No one is even lovelorn this week but here's an interesting letter. A freshman with dark circles under her eyes writes, "Ugh, flup, zzzzzzzzzzz." Well, if she hadn't fallen asleep, we know she would have asked how upperclassmen manage to go home for week-ends so often and still retain their vim, vigor, good looks and wide awake sparkling eyes. I tell you, it's like this, uh zzzzz.

Music Department Shows New Movies

Three sound movies on the importance of acoustics in music were shown yesterday afternoon at the regular Thursday recital of the School of Music. These recitals are open to all students.

"Sound Waves and Their Sources", "Fundamentals of Acoustics", and "Sound Recording and Reproduction" were the films shown, Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, acting dean of the School of Music, said.

The movie program was arranged by Miss Elizabeth Lynn, assistant professor of physics, and shown by Mary Langston, one of her students.

Dean Kuersteiner said that the School of Music is trying to obtain the use of several excellent sound films on music in the near future and that he hopes many students will take advantage of these Thursday afternoon movies and recitals.

The Students Speak...

Evenings and week-ends seem to find some students at a loss as to how to occupy their spare time. The question, "What recreational facilities do you think should be provided on campus?" brought forth an assortment of ideas and suggestions as to how we might fill in those spare hours.

"Since Dale Mabry Field is being inactivated, I don't believe the soldier dances would prove successful. There doesn't seem to be enough room for both tables and dancing in the Alumnae building recreation room. An enlargement there would be a great improvement."

Kathryn Clark, sophomore

"The bowling alley in town isn't fit for student use so why not build one for the college girls to use. Recreation here on campus seems pretty complete; it's Tallahassee that lacks entertainment."

Nadine Bolin, junior

"I think carpet golf would be a great success. I played it all the time at home and it's one of the main things I miss. I see no reason for restricting dances on Sunday. It would help to enliven the weekends."

Constance Miller, freshman

"Why not open some stables on campus and have horseback riding? We could do so many things if a barirer of rules didn't stand in the way. For instance, sailing on the lake.

Gene Ryan, senior

"There is not enough organized play on campus. The equipment and facilities are good but there is not enough student spirit to utilize them. As for the dances we should be able to invite the boys we know in addition to the soldiers. This way we get a more select group of fellows."

Charlotte Bouland, sophomore

"More things should be open for our use on Sunday. The pool is always closed then, and the library is not open long enough for recreational reading. If we do anything, a show is the only alternative."

Violet James, freshman

"I believe if a student really wants to do something he can find it right here on campus. What we need is student-wide participation in the activities. Playnite is an example of a lack of cooperation."

Betty Bell, senior

"Now that things are getting back to normal we can shift our attention from the Army camps to Gainesville. It would be nice to invite the boys up as a group to our dances. It could be operated on the same basis that the soldier dances were.

Mary Glaviano, junior

College Comments . . .

FRANCES TRAXLER

Well, at last someone's recognized the importance of lipstick. We read in a magazine recently that lipstick was a protection against disease. That may suggest many things to you, but the one we are talking about has to do with the restaurants. It seems that pearl divers clean the glasses and silverware much more thoroughly when lipstick is deposited on them. They can't help themselves. So, you see, ladies, don't worry if you've left your mark: you are doing your part to prevent disease and unsanitary conditions

—Los Angeles Collegian

Co-ed—My mother always told me to say "no" to everything.

Ed—Well, do you mind if I hold your hand?

Coed—No.

Ed—Do you mind if I put my arms around you?

Coed—No.

Ed—Honey, if you're on the level about this, we're going to have a lot of fun.

—Kentucky Kernel

Geronimo, a small pet toad at Los Angeles City College, gives diners heart failure when roaming about the table during supper, by pointing himself toward a scalding hot cup of coffee and preparing to leap.

"No, Geronimo!" we will scream, "not that!" And lest the brave tyke's life end amidst clouds of toad vapor, we invert an empty water tumbler over him

One day an unfamiliar visitor came to see Geronimo's owner, who forgot that Geronimo was sitting on his nose. Suddenly Geronimo jumped.

Apparently the visitor had mistaken Geronimo for some odd kind of wart, for he screamed: "My God! it jumped!" and fell over backward in his chair.

—Los Angeles Collegian

"Here lies an atheist
All dressed up and no place to go."

—Kentucky Kernel

Smith—Jones. I think that son of yours is spoiled.

Jones—I am inclined to disagree with you, old man.

Smith—Well, come out and see what a steam roller just did to him.

—The Log

He (embracing her firmly)—Darling, your freckles are cute

She—Freckles, heck, I've got measles!

—Los Angeles Collegian

We've been reading polls and more polls about how many college-age veterans there are, and what kind of girls they prefer, etc., but the dreadful truth for us non-coeds is that about half of those veterans who come to Gainesville, when the special veterans' semester opens November 6, will have their attractive wives with them.

Crotwell on Radio

The Garnet and Gold radio program, presented every Thursday night at 7:30 featured this week violin selections rendered by Rachael Crotwell, accompanied by Miss Ruby Dunstan, instructor in piano.

Sara Norman, station announcer, introduced Rachael and also Maurine Petty who acted as news editor for this program.

Selections chosen by Rachael were "Suite in F Major" by Corelli and "Hungarian Dance" by Haesche.

Because the transcription of "Garnet and Gold," station theme song, has been broken, Rachael also played the theme to close the program.

Simmons Returns

Mrs Ida Simmons, secretary to Dr M W Carothers, registrar, has returned to her office after an absence of a week, due to the sudden death of her mother in Thomasville, Georgia.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ... Editor
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY ... Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD ... Assistant Editor
SHIRLEY RODGERS ... Managing Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ... News Editors
Copy Editor ... Lois Rose
Copy Staff ... Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Tillman
Feature Editor ... Betty Jo McLeod
Columnists ... Anne Hutton, Marie White
Assistant Managing Editor ... Bobbie Bell
Society Editor ... Beryl Kitchen
Assistant Society Editor ... Madge Fisher
Sports Editor ... Betty Dowd
Assistant Sports Editor ... Evelyn Shea
Outside News Editor ... Gloria Best
Literary Editor ... Catherine Nolman
Opinion Editors ... Jerry Crume, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor ... Dee Gardner
Art Editor ... Lucy Fields

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alleta Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Slack, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Butler, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Fouts, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Mingola, Jacqueline Nevers, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Ferna Quinn, Mary Jane Sharman, Marianne Snyder, Mary Tarr, Tami Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deura.

BUSINESS STAFF
Helen Tarapani ... Business Manager
Eileen Davis ... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . .

Initiations, banquets and afternoon coffees are occupying the social spotlight this week.

Alpha Chi Omega honored its 19 initiates on October 29, with a banquet at the Cherokee Hotel, the theme of which was "This Is Your Life." Jane Gaertner, chapter president, spoke on "The Aims to which We Aspire." Margaret Johnson, a new initiate, gave a speech on "Famous Heights Accomplishment." Virginia Dering's topic was "The Dream of Doll", and Mrs. J. W. Harrell, initiate mother, spoke on "The Basics of Cooperation." Other entertainment provided on the program consisted of a duet, "Rhythm of My Olympus," by Jane Arnold and Renee Hedgepeth, and a skit "Olympian Quiz" given by four actives. The new initiates are Betsy Arnold, Margaret Johnson, Vivian Mires, and Luella Rouse.

Pledge parents were honored Sunday night for Mary Jean Flanders. Another event for the Iota Chi Omega pledges was a dinner evening, in honor of Mrs. Farrell's daughters, Mrs. V Lee.

• • •

Alpha Delta Pi girls and faculty guests gathered around an open fire in the living room of Dodd Hall for a coffee. Ann Stinson entertained the group with a reading, "The White Girls of Dixie."

• • •

The Kappa Alpha Thetas initiated Betty Jane Brophy Friday night. Mary Elizabeth Reams, an alumna, was host for the initiation.

• • •

Tonight Kappa Delta will initiate Mary Ann Herring, Teddy Hamlin, and Nancy Wilkins with a coffee on the Sunday afternoon the KD's will celebrate their forty-first birthday on this campus. From 4:30 to 6:00 Thursday afternoon the pledges gave their annual pledge party which centered around a South Sea Island theme. Under the direction of Aileen Sayers, several games were played, including hula hooping.

A hike to Games Woods for a picnic on Sunday night is being planned for Alpha Gam members. Guests are Mr. and Mrs. Cathey Rogers in charge of preparations.

Mr. and Mrs C P Hainlein, parents for Alpha Gamma Delta, entertained the members and several Tallahassee alumnae at a buffet supper at an afternoon tea on their home yesterday afternoon from 5 to 7. Mrs Rosabelle Gilland, house-mother, and Mrs. Gordon Hainlein, daughter, poured the officers of the sorority assisted Mr. Heinlein with the service.

• • •

Alpha Xi Delta's new initiates are Mary Ann Lockard, Jackie Bennett, Willie Marshall and Betty Sides. These girls were initiated Saturday night. Mrs Dean Porter, housemother, was hostess Monday evening with a coffee, to which all patrons and other sorority house mothers were invited.

Phone for travel information Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
7:30	2:00
9:45	5:00
3:00	6:45
6:45	6:45
9:30
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:30
6:45	1:00
8:30	6:45
11:00	11:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENNN. PHONE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Journalism Majors Work in News Field

Newspapers throughout the state have beckoned journalism majors of the class of 1945 and this fall finds four of them engaged in part or full-time journalistic work.

Cordelia Barclay, editor of the Flambeau last year, is now reporting for the Tampa Tribune. In connection with this she also writes the column, Tribune Tidbits, for which she conducts interviews on questions of current interest.

Rachael Ball and Janet Pancoast, last year's associate editors, are now in Tampa and Washington respectively. Rachael is now working in the Tampa Times as a reporter. Having received a government scholarship, Janet is now interning at the state department in Washington, in connection with which she has attended lectures by Archibald McLeish and other noted government officials.

Now doing social work at the Traveler's Aid in Jacksonville is Shirley Bunn, former managing editor. She is also acting as Southeastern representative for the magazine, which is now being published in Miami.

New Band Students Are Entertained

An informal after-dinner coffee was held for the new band students in the cloisters of the Lemoire building Thursday evening at 6:30 P.M. Former managing editor She is also acting as Southeastern representative for the Florida State College, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Dorothy Hall, and Karl O. Kuersteiner, acting dean of the School of Music, were present to receive the more than 35 new members.

The band is scheduled to play for Camp Gordon Johnston on November 25. They will play two concerts on the day, the afternoon and the other in the evening for the hospital and recreational halls. Whether or not they have not yet been announced by Dr. Sellars who is directing the band.

Badminton Begins

Intramural badminton practices are now being held, following the close of the volley ball season.

Last Wednesday and Thursday afternoon practices were held, and are scheduled to continue this afternoon and November 12. Badminton tournaments will begin on November 19, according to Mary Elizabeth Bunn who is in charge of the games.

Engagement Announced

Wedding bells are about to ring for a former member of FSC's faculty. Miss Mary Wright, who was assistant professor of sociology three years ago.

Miss Wright's wedding sometime in the spring to Edward Daniel Winters, a Princeton graduate from New York state, are being made.

Speech Honorary To Honor Players

Upsilon chapter of Zeta Phi Eta, the national speech honorary fraternity, announces that Florida State College will give a tea for the cast and stage crew of the play "Time and the Conways" after the performance of the play November 20 in the speech office.

This year's officers of the honorary are: Barbara Hoag, president; Beatrice Weaver, vice president; Kathryn Sneed, secretary; Maurice Hoffman, reporter, and Bonnie Hunt, marshal. The sponsor of the organization is Miss Elizabeth Thomson, instructor in speech.

Zeta Phi Eta meets twice a month. The group holds a business meeting the second Thursday in every month and is subject to call once a month for a social meeting. Every quarter the honorary will have a project. Entertaining, the cast and stage crew will be their project this quarter.

Rule Changes

Continued From Page One

suppose Joe showed up at the wrong time. There were provisions for just such people. When callers came at an "off" hour, the maids knew they were considered as an extra. Seniors and juniors could have 12 extras and sophomores and freshmen were given nine extras. All social engagements still had to be signed for in Bryan and callers still had to be entertained in and around Bryan. Sorority girls had to have the approval of their chaperone before receiving callers at their house. Special arrangements had to be made for leaving the campus with an escort. A girl had to register and have her parent's permission to do this. When riding at night with an escort it was necessary to have a chaperone unless the escort got special permission to ride to and from town only.

A red letter year was 1937 for in that year it became possible to journey home for Thanksgiving for the week-end, provided a chaperone was with the party, but dancing during the week-end was still unheard of.

During that year there appeared in the handbook these words: "The student must subordinate her wishes to the rights of the community, and hence students may not smoke until they are members of the College Government Association."

In 1939 the wording about smoking was changed. Not only in places a girl could not smoke were all the restrictions lifted, but sorority or off-campus houses, in any college building, on college property or in any college place. In other words she didn't smoke unless she was in her room or in public place that didn't belong to the school and that she would be allowed to do that only if, without having to make a long trip. Those extras were still going strong and there were two dates on Friday, Saturday and Sunday each one of which the extras provided for them. They had to tell their young man to come at those times and the rest of the juniors and seniors had 12 extras and sophomores nine extras.

Fifteen hundred and thirty, the year when dancing was allowed, if you got permission from college authorities, and the year when the lovely grounds around Byran were first called the dating area.

The following year students at FSC were told that it was hoped that they could neither drink nor have in their possession any intoxicating liquor. Restrictions in areas were also established at this time but dancing in public was still not allowed.

During 1944 until 1856 many more changes of rules were in rules. Regular dating hours were specified and a definite dating area was given. Students were required to introduce callers to their directors of organizations. Seniors could now have unlimited dates; juniors, an average of four a week; sophomores, an average of three; and freshmen an average of two. Late dates were permitted in exceptional cases. Informal dancing was now permitted at certain times and proper dances were given on different occasions. Drinking and smoking were forbidden for the student.

In 1936 early dates came into being with permission for exceptional cases. Late dates were now to be in Bryan or off-campus parlors only.

In 1739 a girl became liable for suspension if she drank or possessed intoxicating beverages. This year juniors got unlimited dates and permission to smoke at date permission three times a semester. Approval of a date the of

Music Club Honors New Majors at Tea

Freshman Music majors were honored by the Music Club last Friday afternoon at a tea in the Longmire building. All members of the band orchestra, glee club, and Florida Data College music staff were invited.

In the receiving line were Dean and Mrs. Karl Kuersteiner; Miss Gladys O Kouch, Music Club faculty sponsor; Katherine Grenell, president of the school of music; and Fawn Trawick, Music Club president.

Dolly Dutton was floor chairman for the occasion. Other committees heads were Frances Duckworth, refreshments; and Jane Gaertner, decorations. Annabelle Redwine, Dolly Sutton and Eleanor Bragg provided background music.

Artist Series

Continued From Page One

Orleans Theater they proved this on their own, intending to work on the theory of dance as a vital force in the development of life which, simplified, means the joy of living through dance. They opened a school in New York in 1931 and from this idea, and since then have daqoed both as soloists and as a concert group, and have performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic Symphony, and the Cleveland Symphony, and in various Broadway productions.

Pupils of Mikhail Mordkin, Leo Ilinisi, will appear on March 28 as an added attraction of the Artist Series. Born in Petrograd, Russia, Mr Elman first played the violin in public at the age of five. He studied with Fidelman at Odessa for five years, then under Professor Auer of St. Petersburg, Russia, at his invitation, and received the honorary degree of Doctor of Music at the Chicago Musical College in 1936. He made his concert debut in St. Petersburg at the age of 12, and toured the European capitals before his arrival in America. He made his debut in New York in 1917 with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, and has since toured the American continent six times.

The Australian pianist-composer-conductor, Grainger, is quite well-known to many FSC students since his week-long visit in Tallahassee during Music Week held last May. He plans to remain for two days during next spring for the final Series event on May 6 and 7. Those who were present during his visit as ensemble man who kept his audiences entertained and informed by his ir'acte commentaries, as well as entertained by his virtuosity and brilliance during Grainger's solo piano. The entire music department, including the band, orchestra and glee club, also took part in this celebration of Music Week, and many of the evening's entertainment events were given, among them "Country Gardens", "Handel in the Strand", "Lord Peter's Stable Boy", "Gum Sucker's March", "Molly on the Shore."

This is the first time he called now became necessary.

Reserved places were inaugurated in 1940 and a girl attending such a place was liable for immediate suspension.

In the time since then other new laws have been added or taken away according to the needs and problems arising from time to time. Even when everything is left to the discretion of the student. Who knows?

Pre-Med Club Elects Officers for Year

Members Hope to Establish Chapter of Honorary

The Pre-medical club elected officers for the coming year at its first meeting held November 4. Joyce Parker is the new president; Peggy Limroth, recording secretary and treasurer, and Ella Mae Baer, corresponding secretary.

Election of a vice-president and further action concerning the establishment of a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national premedical honorary fraternity, on this campus will be the business of the next meeting to be held in the near future as announced by the president.

"If we do succeed in establishing a chapter here, we will be the first woman's college ever to have one of this fraternity," Joyce stated.

Faculty advisors for the organization are Dr Viola Graham, head of the physiology department, and Dr. Ross M Gentry, professor of zoology.

Aims of the Pre-Medical club, as stated in its constitution, include: "To foster a stronger association of pre-medical students; to acquaint the campus so that they may reach their goals more effectively in striving; and to provide opportunities of contact with members of the medical profession and related se ensuiffit in preparation for fields (also to provide opportunities for the members) to broaden the scope of their scientific knowledge and vocational guidance."

Membership is open to any student who is interested in the aims of the club.

Newman Club Takes Initiates to Camp

Members of Newman Club went to camp last weekend, with the new freshman initiates the honor guests. Among the Many Coonev social chairman of the club.

Working with Mary in making arrangements for the weekend were Gloria Stella, vice-president and Pat Nolan, secretary. Miss Ann Parker, Amelia Pavese, and Irene Mendoza, committee chairmen.

Skits, dances, and songs by the newly initiated members were given as entertainment during the weekend.

Members special permission from the Office of the Dean or Student Affairs, Coleman came only to the camp on Sunday to say Mass for the girls.

Faculty Committee Honored at Dinner

Executive Council of College Government and Association entertained the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs at dinner last Friday night in Leandra dining hall followed by an after dinner coffee in the Leandra parlors. Guests were under the direction of Robin Hill, Jean Cole, and Mary Nolan.

Members of the attending faculty committee were: Dr Doak S Campbell, ex - officio member, Dean Olivia N Dorman, chairman, Miss Florence Bethea, Dr G L Diffenbaugh, Dr R L Tyson, Dr Mary Nicks Hood, Dr Cecile E Moore, Dr Ruth O Schonhrest, Dr H L Weakom. Miss Kay Warren, Miss Lucy Lester, and Miss Elizabeth Lynn.

Dormitory Teas Feature Programs

At the weekly teas last Wednesday, two of the dormitories, Landis and Cockrell, presented programs for the entertainment of their guests.

At the Landis tea, three numbers were sung by Patti Landis, a "Surange Music." "You Came Along" and "Deen Purple." Sara Curry, social committee member in charge, said that at this tea there were guests from the faculty and administrative staff and from out of town.

The program given at Cockrell House for the whole of the Villages included a duet, "Tiu the End of Time", sung by Earlene Davis and Arlene Love, accompanied by Mavis McMillian on the piano. Mrs Paulina S Mansfield, counselor at the Lodge, also sang "Because", according to Kay Moore, social chairman for the house.

Conscription

Continued From Page One

to better the present conditions under which they were being taught and trained.

"Three things are essential in the making of an effective fighting force," he said. "Equipment is the first necessity. Second is the mastery of skills by the men so as to enable them to use this equipment. Third, and most important, are the goals for which men fight."

Kay Van Dusen, student speaker, opposed Mr Stone in his belief that America should undertake compulsory military training.

"Compulsory training would be the most drastic compulsion that could be given to us, and it would be as if it should be established here after the war.

"Twelve million reserves will not be able to stop an atomic bomb. What we need is a small, highly specialized army ready to fight this battle of mind and machines," said Kay.

Her opinion was that a large peacetime army under government control would develop into a vast and dangerous propaganda machine which would be a threat to America and democratic ideals.

Carolyn Drummond opposed Kay, saying that, in her opinion, it would be more undemocratic to be unprepared as the United States was at the time of Pearl Harbor.

"We owe it to those who did not return from this war to be prepared for another," she declared.

Carolyn said that too much emphasis was being placed on "now." There should be more considerations given to "post war" now instead of "now," for "our 'now' will be an emergency 'then' if we don't prepare."

"Preparing for war will lead to war—preparing against war will lead to peace." Carolyn concluded.

Mr Eugene Ellis, a local attorney who was with the army air corps before his recent discharge, was the last of the four speakers. His introductory comment was that the subject of compulsory military training is too close to be clearly seen and therefore "we should not make up our minds too hastily."

The basic consideration, according to Mr Ellis, is to grasp "what is best for democracy."

"We get confused with idealism as opposed to what we should do," he stated.

A definite point made by Mr Ellis was that although the United States has never had any kind of military conscription, it has never lost a war. Whereas other countries, such as Germany, Japan and Italy who have had conscription have lost wars.

"Under military regimentation, men lose their ability to think in an independent and quick-thinking, alert, unmilitarized American mind. Instead of a natural environment, a free society and freedom of thought that came from the spirit of initiative in the heat of battle. This can only be preserved by not regimenting men." stated Mr Ellis

"Maintain a strong army and navy but, with strong volunteers tie regular army and ROTC, not by half of the budget. A large national army would not set a good example to other nations if we had to maintain a spirit of peace. We cannot lead the world toward peace if we prepare for war."

After the speakers had expressed their opinions, Mrs Bristol summed up the discussion over to the audience. A series of arguments for and against conscription in hand followed, after which the discussion was adjourned.

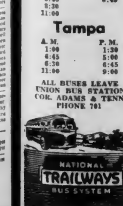
Magnolia Hall Has Formal Reception

A total of 143 guests, including faculty members, administrative staff, residence counselors, and house managers were present at the formal dances' reception given at Magnolia Hall last Wednesday at 4 o'clock, according to Jane Whitfield, social chairman at that hall.

The decorative motif carried out a red, white and gold color scheme with large bouquets of fall chrysanthemums. During this "at-home" coffee some of the guests were shown about the rooms of the dormitory by girls who live there.

In the receiving line were Dr Odrila N Dorman, dean of students; Mrs Marriet C Barksdale, counselor at Magnolia Hall; and the house officers. Coffee was served by Miss Edith McCollum, president of residence; Miss Jane J Pace, instructor in English; Miss M Lynette Thompson, instructor in classics and assistant counselor; and Miss Mary Cadman, student.

War Fund Aided



The Community - War Fund Drive, which was held on this campus from Wednesday, October 31, to Saturday, November 3, amounted to $114.09

The drive on this campus was sponsored by the Zeta Pi Delta Organization with Daphne Rowe as its president.

The Community - War Fund Drive, which was held on this campus from Wednesday, October 31, to Saturday, November 3, amounted to $114.09

The drive on this campus was sponsored by the Zeta Pi Delta Organization with Daphne Rowe as its president.

In the receiving line were Dr Odrila N Dorman, dean of students; Mrs Marriet C Barksdale, counselor at Magnolia Hall; and the house officers. Coffee was served by Miss Edith McCollum, president of residence; Miss Jane J Pace, instructor in English; Miss M Lynette Thompson, instructor in classics and assistant counselor; and Miss Mary Cadman, student.

Character and Charm Of Early American Living

This fine reproduction of a colonial favorite reflects all the character and charm of early American living.

Today, the simplicity and ageless beauty of the 1830 design appeals to those who appreciate craftsmanship in solid silver.

International Sterling Moon's 18/8 Pattern

THE COLLEGE SHOP

Newest Fad for College Girls

HOT OFF THE DISH

"CONTRA-BAND SETS"

NECK BAND AND BRACELET TO MATCH

also

"MAIL-BAIT" BRACELETS

with

Your Name and Address ENGRAVED

FREE

$1.00 Plus Tax

The College Shop

Gifts . . .

For Every Occasion

Select Them Here for Your Family and Friends

Remember—Christmas Is Coming!

MARTIN & DALTON

210-212 S. Adams St.

FLORIDA

Today and Tomorrow

"VALLEY OF DECISION"

Sunday and Monday

"THE GREAT JOHN L"

—and—

Tuesday and Wednesday

"WUTHERING HEIGHTS"

Thursday, Friday, Saturday

"ALONG CAME JONES"

STATE

Today and Tomorrow

"CISCO KID IN OLD MEXICO"

—and—

"ADVENTURES OF RUSTY"

Sunday and Monday

"THE SPANISH MAIN"

—and—

"I LOVE A BANDLEADER"

Tuesday and Wednesday

"XMAS IN CONNECTICUT"

Thursday

"SONG OF BERNADETTE"

Friday and Saturday

"WEST OF PECOS"

—and—

"TELL IT TO A STAR"

RITZ

Today and Tomorrow

"BARBARY COAST GENT"

—and—

"THE PINTO BANDIT"

Sunday and Monday

"BELLE OF THE YUKON"

—and—

"MARK OF THE WHISTLER"

Friday and Saturday

"PINTO CANYON"

—and—

"LOST IN A HAREM"

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday

"SONG TO REMEMBER"

—and—

"SERGEANT MIKE"

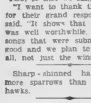
Song Contest Winner Named

Anonymous Seniors Write "All Hail to Thee"

First place in the F Club song contest was won by a group of seniors who would rather remain anonymous. Babe Evans announced. Their song, "All Hail to Thee, Dear FSC," was written to the time of "Navy Blue and Gold."

The F Club goats won second place with their song, "All Through the Night." "Dear FSC", with the words by Gladys Novak and Tobe Jacobkind and melody "When Day is Done", took third place.

Babe Evans asks all students to learn the words to the winning song by Thanksgiving. They are: "All hail to thee, our Florida, Hail to your torches three. And to the garnet and the gold— The pride of FSC. Hail to our Alma Mater dear, May thy daughters ever bring The praise and honor she is due; FSC, to thee we sing."



"I want to thank the students for their grand response," he said. "It shows that the contest was well worthwhile. All of the songs that were submitted were good and we plan to sing them all, not just the winning ones."

Sharp - shinned hawks catch more sparrows than do sparrow hawks.

The monetary unit of Costa Rica is the colon.

Stardust in your "Bonnet"?

We mean "captured stardust" or Roger & Gallet dry perfume. Just put some of this powdered perfume between two thin layers of cotton and actually tuck it in your "bonnet". It's the sweetest way of keeping your favorite Roger & Gallet scent with you all the time. Your hair will be fragrant with "captured stardust."

ROGER & GALLET

Heirloom Sterling

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION

Here is silver that becomes a most cherished possession. Silver that you'll enjoy using through the years. Before you select it today will find individual Place Settings a most convenient way to start their service.

6-PIECE PLACE SETTINGS Start at $20.96 20% Fed. Tax Incl.

Design shown is the VIRGINIAN

*Trade-mark of Oneida Ltd., Mfr.

W. W. PUTNAM Reputable and Dependable AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

386 So. Monroe Street

Sideline Squints

With Florida's cold streak about to snap, and with Thanksgiving just around the corner, FSC's mermaids, archers, modern dancers, hockey and soccer players, and color crash enthusiasts, are working to capacity in order to be at top form for the holiday festivities.

Class games, which begin next week will climax practice that has been going on for four weeks. These games will be a determining factor in deciding the members of the Odd and Even teams. The hockey games will be played on Monday and Wednesday and the soccer games on Tuesday and Thursday at 5 o'clock.

Looking at the hockey teams, the Evens appear potentially stronger at present with the bulwark of the team being built around experienced seniors such as Evelyn Stuckey, Shirley Duggan, Jane Lyles, Sarah Bennett, Anne Giese and Frankie Hall.

Injected with "new blood" this year, Nita Nord, Odd leader, boasts fifty freshmen and juniors out, and from these two-units Nita is building a strong team with the juniors leading the way. Marion Loohy, one of last year's outstanding hockey players has switched from hockey to soccer and her services will be greatly missed by the Odds this year.

Reinforced by a new coach, Miss Lois Ver Hoeven, and new freshmen talent, the Odds should field a powerful and capable soccer team for Thanksgiving. According to Virginia Palmer, Odd leader, her freshmen have done a remarkable job of learning the game. Along with the freshmen are the juniors who comprise the forward line for the Odds. Every member of last year's Odd hockey team is back with the addition of Marion Loohy. Virginia's charges should be comparatively strong. However, the Odds' glaring weakness is in the backfield where freshmen dominate the positions. One of the more promising Odd backfield players is freshman Jeff Tuttle of West Palm Beach, who, incidentally, is one-half of the Florida double's tennis championship pair last year. Her partner is a freshman at Rollins.

Catherine Gallagher, Even soccer leader, has led the Evens through a successful practice season. Although the Evens do not have as many out as the Odds, the girls are well-seasoned and should be up to, if not better than last year's team. From this corner it looks as if this year's soccer game should be as good as the 0-0 game last spring.

IT SEEMS TO ME . . .

That W.A.A.'s passage of the motion to use umpires and referees who are officially rated for Odd-Even games whenever possible, regardless of whether or not they coached a team is a move towards better playing here at FSC. For, as Babe Evans pointed out, the whole state of Florida is crying for nationally rated officials and yet we've had them here on campus and have neglected to use them in the past, because of their association with an Odd or an Even team. There are eight nationally rated officials in the physical education department. However, these ratings do not cover every sport.

A SUGGESTION FROM THIS COLUMNIST . . .

Why don't the soccer teams wear shin guards in the Odd-Even game this year and every year, for that matter? The equipment is available. It might save many bruises and cuts in the long run. Soccer rules permit these guards to be used.

JOKE OF THE WEEK . . .

Miss Lois Ver Hoeven, new Odd coach, and a 1944 graduate of Purdue, had never seen a sailboat up until last week-end. Miss Ver Hoeven went to camp and promptly proceeded to go out on the lake in a sailboat, leaving out the rudder. About half way across the lake, her blunder was discovered and she and her companion were forced to resort to the use of paddles to return to the dock. Why did she forget the rudder? Because as Miss Ver Hoeven said, "I wouldn't have known the rudder if I had seen it."

ORCHIDS TO . . .

F Club for their successfully conducted song writing contest which produced many good school songs.

F Club Goats Give Banquet

Bluebird Theme and Camp Climaxes Hell Week

Climaxing the F Club hell week will be a banquet given tonight by the goats in Landis dining hall. After the dinner, members will meet to decide which of the goats are to be allowed to come into the club, Sarah Bennett said. The old and new members will go to camp Flastacowo Saturday for the weekend.

Today is the day that F Club members wear white with their letter, and the goats are blue devils. They wear all blue, chiefly a bluebird, sing "Am I Blue?" and "talk a blue streak" all day. They also drag the goats they made. At noon today will be the parade of the goats.

At the banquet tonight, goats are to wear evening gowns, horns, saddle shoes, and seasin drag their goats with the blue bonns.

During this past week, the last week of seating, Shirley Duggan and Sarah Bennett, chief trainers, required the goats to be in Sarah's room at 8:10 every morning. If the goats were one minute early or one minute late, they had to carry a clock with them all day. Goats could use no profanity during hell week.

Each week has to carry a raw egg and get all members to sign it by tomorrow. Members often held parties with the goats as the goat looks on, praying that they won't drop it, Sarah said. Also during hell week, goats must address members by their whole title—Miss Titsworth, distinguished and esteemed F Club member; and polish at least one member's shoes daily.

At the 8:10 meetings, the goats had to line up according to originality, color of dress, or color of noses, or bowleggedness. Then they were told how they were to dress that day and given until 9 o'clock to assemble their costume. After the lamp post outside of the new dining hall, had to be dressed the same way as the other goats each day.

Monday, the goats appeared as pirates wearing red kerchiefs, black patches over the left eye, leather jackets, and boots. The goat with the largest feet was allowed to wear the traditional F Club boots, Sarah said. That day, the girls carried swords, repeated "touche" when they saw a member, and took care of the left side of their mouths.

Singing original words to the tune "Old Rocking Chair," the goats dressed as old ladies in grey with shawls, cotton stockings, and black shoes on Tuesday. Each girl carried a cane and greeted members by saying in a weary voice, "I am looking for youth as I raise cane."

Poet laureates of F club was the theme for Wednesday when the goats, goats wore smocks, barrets, poet's shoes, monocles, and talked with an English accent. Each time a goat said "By Jove," the monocle fell out of her eye. Original books of poetry was part of the equipment of the day.

Yesterday goats appeared as Donald Ducks. The costume for the day was a blue coat, Donald Duck hat, and webbed feet. They walked with a waddle and ducked every time they saw a member.

The theme of the F Club goat sing, which was held last Friday night after dinner on the hill in back of Jennie Murphree, was "the spirit of '45."

Goats, clad in sheets came over the hill singing "Dixie," Babe Evans, president of F Club, said. Each girl sang the goat song which she is required to write some time during the goating period, about F Club.

Members warned themselves around the large fire and enjoyed the candy passed around by the goats during the sing, Babe said.

Kappa Delta Wins Volley Ball Finals

Kappa Delta girls won the final victory in Intramural volley ball yesterday afternoon when they topped their close competitors, Gilchrist hallp layers, with a score of 21 to 27.

Last Tuesday afternoon Kappa Delta tied the Village with a 25 to 25 score, and Wednesday, Kappa Delta won the tie-off game, and became the challenger of Gilchrist, the other un-beaten team of the valley ball season.

The victorious girls of the Kappa Delta sorority team who won the final game yesterday are: Betsy Wilson, Lois Wilson, Ann Mikell, Margaret Olson, Jeanette Chapman, Jean Wilson, Marjorie Woodberry, and Joan Sparkman.

The hard-to-beat Gilchrist players are: Betty Sue Grey, Mary Louise Van Hats, Elizabeth Harper, Emily Harper, Josephine Story, Gweneth Dudley, Loretta Freeman and Mary Pierce.

Juanita Bowles refereed the game and Peggy Grimsley was time-keeper.

Military Training

Continued from page one

military conscription. He said that although it might not have immediate dividends it would certainly be worthwhile if it saved the country from another war.

On the other hand, Mr Vance said he felt it would be dismissed should we embark on the military policy which have always condemned to Europe We would be tending to adopt, he said, the very thing we have always fought against.

After both speakers had presented their opinions on the subject for discussion, the members of the audience were permitted to ask questions. A student asked Dr Rogers how a year of military training would affect a young man's education, Dr Rogers replied that, in his opinion, a year of the first 13 years of school was wasted, anyway and that the wasted year could profitably be replaced by a year of military training.

One student asked Mr Vance what the best form of training would be if it did not have military conscription and did not have England and Russia to act as buffers as they did in this war. "In other words" she said, "what if some nation should attack us and just say 'Here it is, brother, it's your war'?" Mr Vance answered that a large standing army would not stop bombs, and that as he saw it, the solution still lay in having a strong navy and air force.

A student suggested that life insurance, being a cooperative plan, could not be compared to compulsory military conscription unless such conscription should become international. Another suggested that perhaps the United States should adopt such a plan, all other countries would immediately feel the necessity for a similar provision.

Dr Rogers and Mr Vance agreed that education and Christianization of the world was the answer to the prevention of future wars. Dr Rogers went on to say, however, that until such an ideal could be realized, he felt that we should take other precautions. They also agreed that the only possible nation with which the United States might go to war is Russia, and that war with Russia is highly unlikely for many years.

Kappa Delta Finals Volley Ball Finals

Kappa Delta girls won the final victory in Intramural volley ball yesterday afternoon when they topped their close competitors, Gilchrist hallp layers, with a score of 21 to 27.

Last Tuesday afternoon Kappa Delta tied the Village with a 25 to 25 score, and Wednesday, Kappa Delta won the tie-off game, and became the challenger of Gilchrist, the other un-beaten team of the valley ball season.

The victorious girls of the Kappa Delta sorority team who won the final game yesterday are: Betsy Wilson, Lois Wilson, Ann Mikell, Margaret Olson, Jeanette Chapman, Jean Wilson, Marjorie Woodberry, and Joan Sparkman.

The hard-to-beat Gilchrist players are: Betty Sue Grey, Mary Louise Van Hats, Elizabeth Harper, Emily Harper, Josephine Story, Gweneth Dudley, Loretta Freeman and Mary Pierce.

Juanita Bowles refereed the game and Peggy Grimsley was time-keeper.

Exam Schedule

Group examinations for certain classes with multiple sections will be held as follows:

Health Education 105	December	10,	5:05 to 5:55
Physical Science	"	11,	9:05 to 10:25
Humanities	"	"	10:35 to 11:55
History 101	"	"	12:05 to 12:55
Soc Studies 101	"	"	2:05 to 3:25
English 101, 005	"	"	3:35 to 4:25
Biological Science	"	"	4:35 to 4:25
Physical Ed 121, 131	"	12,	5:05 to 5:55

Examination Survival

Continued from Page One

deposits most of its load, sighs or relief and exhaustion can be heard from the remaining passengers, while the driver closes the door and continues on his way with a bus that is many pounds lighter.

The ride back to school is much the same performance, but no one seems to mind too much. On arriving at the front gate of the school, the driver says his good night as he cries "Old Maids' Home, last stop," while the girls stream out, cheerful and not the least bit discouraged.

Officers Urge

Continued from Page One

housemeeting. Rose Mayfow was elected to fill the office of secretary or Broward, and Elizabeth Hunter was elected parliamentarian. Dormitory sponsors for this year were announced at the Landis housemeeting. They are: Miss Mildred Pinnegan, assistant professor of French; Miss Elizabeth Thomson, instructor in speech, and Dr Claude R Flory, professor of English.

Forum Topic

Continued From Page One

the Flambeau office, announced Betty Dowd, club secretary. Business at this time will be the election of a president to replace last year's officer who did not return to school this quarter and the formation of plans for the coming year.

Games Scheduled

At a meeting of the Women's Athletic Association on Wednesday night, the schedul. for hockey and soccer class games was decided. On November 13 and 14, hockey will be played and on November 13 and 15 soccer will take the spotlight. All who wish to participate in the class games must have ten practice points and be in "A" health.

Playnight Features Individual Talent

Playnight this Saturday night will feature a program of individual talent under the direction of Marguerite Ross and Dot Clark announced Anne Widemon, chairman of Playnight committee.

Hostesses will be Jane Cox, Laurgel, Betsy Jean Phillips, Thea Sellers, Norma Chalker and Harriett Bunnen. The publicity committee for this Saturday night entertainment is Elaine Parmore, Nancy Strauss and Kay Moore. In charge of arranging the chaperones is Harriet Newkirk.

Playnight committee has asked a program of good records for dancing in the gymnasium and students are invited to get away from their studies and relax for a few hours. Only six dates are reminded to get out cards to be presented at the door.

'To Err Is Human'

The Flambeau wishes to correct a statement made in last week's issue regarding the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Thomson, instructor in speech. Miss Thompson has not resigned as instructorship as was so stated.

Three Torches Beauty Shop

WE CAN FILL ALL TYPE PRESCRIPTIONS FOR BEAUTICIAN WORK

JUST ACROSS THE STREET FROM THE EDUCATION BUILDING

102 S. Copeland Phone 881

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

Longines

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR AWARDS PRIZES, 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

THE CAMPUS

THE MOST-HONORED WATCH IN THE WORLD

DO YOU KNOW YOUR ABC's

SIGNE HASSO knows her A B C's. This glamorous star is seen with a portion of the Twentieth Century Fox's "The House on 92nd Street"

New Seasonal Fad

Continued From Page One

there still remains the problem of cracking it. There are those hardy souls who can practically disintegrate a nut by merely clenching their fist about it. A few revert to the old standby, of one-at-a-time-and-everything-on-the-sidewalk method. One wise sophomore is never without nutcracker. (She says it's grand for opening bottles and hammering nails.)

Just how this all started, no one can authoritatively state. Perhaps someone told the girls that it was their patriotic duty to keep our campus clean.

Music Association

Continued From Page One

Giddings. One of the founders of the Interlocker, Dr Giddings formerly directed more than 50,000 children in public school music in Minnesota.

Members of the school of music at FSC who with Dean Kuersteiner attended the convention, include: Mrs Mary Mesginniss, Mrs Ramona Beard, Misses Rita Robertson, Mary Winslow, Gladys Koch, Florine Marlatt, Charlotte Cooper, Mary Reeder, Patricia Mudsell, Mary Dunn and Zadie Phipps.

New Odd-Even

Continued From Page One

as chairman of the committee that will plan the Even tables at Thanksgiving dinner and Irma Lee Shepherd to be in charge of the Even feather booth which will open Thursday in lower Westcott.

Other freshman-junior activities include plans for the sale of the traditional Odd caps and lanterns, which will also berin Thursday and the selection of committees to supervise decorating the fountain and planning the Odd Thanksgiving tables. In charge of decorating and selling at the booth in lower Westcott will be Virginia Palmer.

Chairmen of the table committees include Sarah Ellen Glenn and Barbara Mann, placecards and favors, and Lois Merkelbach, invitation and seating arrangements. Mae Manning and Lena Harding will be in charge of decorating the Odd fountain.

Then he brandished a long knife and robbed the woman of two diamond rings and a wrist watch.

M & N CAFE

OPEN DAY & NIGHT

Steaks—Sea Foods

Short Orders at All Hours

119 E. Jefferson Phone 1054

BENNETT'S

COLLEGE INN PHARMACY

PHONE 800

MONROE ST. PHARMACY

PHONE 93

FAST MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

Meet Your Friends at BENNETT'S Fountain - Luncheonette

SANDWICHES

GRILLED CHEESE	20c
CHICKEN SALAD	25c
BAKED HAM	25c
GRILL HAMBURGER	20c
GRILLED HOT DOG	10c

SODAS—AND—SUNDAES

Chocolate Fundge Sundae	20c
Pineapple Sundae	15c
Chocolate Soda	15c
Large Limeade	05c

Always Buy Chesterfield

Take your pick. Name any pleasure you enjoy in a cigarette. You'll find them all in Chesterfield's A B C: A—ALWAYS MILDER, B—BETTER TASTING and C—COOLER SMOKING.

The point is: Chesterfield's famous Right Combination . . . World's Best Tobaccos gives you ALL the benefits of smoking pleasure.

They Satisfy

Copyright 1945, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:

TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE

Johnston O'Connor Research Foundation

11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21

N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

Gobble, Gobble

The Florida Flambeau

Hubba, Hubba

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 6 — Tallahassee, Florida — NOVEMBER 16, 1945

Tickets For Thanksgiving Now Available

Students Can Obtain Them For Demonstrations, Tarpon, Dance

Distribution Begins Today in Longmire Building

Tickets for Thanksgiving activities, including both demonstrations, Tarpon club sponsored dance and the Thanksgiving dance, will be distinguished at table on the ground floor of the Longmire building today, tomorrow and Monday.

Anne McDonald, chairman of the ticket committee, has announced that Evens may get tickets this afternoon from 2 until 5:30 o'clock. Odds are to get their tickets tomorrow morning between the house of 9 and 1 and tomorrow from 2 until 5 o'clock. Both Odds and Evens may secure tickets Monday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock.

Since the seating capacity of the auditorium is not large enough to accommodate the entire student body, Evens will be entitled to tickets to the major performance of Even demonstration on Thanksgiving night, to either of the two performances as long as the tickets last, and to either performance of Odd demonstration.

No tickets to attend the Odd-Even games to be played on Saturday are necessary.

It has been necessary, according to Anne, to distribute the tickets for the Thanksgiving dance among the classes in proportion to the percentage of the classes to be total student body. The final numbers of each class asking for Tarpon tickets at Monday and Saturday will get them. However, no tickets will be required for admittance to the Tarpon program to be given on Sunday, November 25 at 4 p m.

Each student is expected to call for her own ticket unless she is to be out of town or in the infirmary on the day she is scheduled to receive her ticket, in which case another student will be permitted to call for her ticket.

Any students experiencing inconvenience with the Alumnae Visitors should call the Alumnae Dimming on Page Four

Girls Outwit GI's On CGJ Quiz Show

The quiz program of November 8 at Camp Gordon Johnston sponsored by Mortar Board ended with a score of 10 to 10 in favor of Mortar Board.

The program arranged by Mr Clifton Padiman of "Information Please" as carried out by six Mortar Board members: Betty Terrace, Marjorie Potter, Louise Evans, Nancy Lee Swann, Thora Brown, and Shirley Duggan, and six service men from Camp Gordon Johnston, Florida, in charge of services. The program was the third in a series, the girls won the first time, the service men the second, and the girls again the third.

After dinner at the Officers' Mess, they were entertained at the Service Club by the orchestra and also a violinist who had been in the London Symphony Orchestra. Following the quiz program, gifts of sunburn lotion were presented to those on the program. The other girls also received gifts. Before returning to their room on the camp bus, they were served refreshments. There were 11 in the group who made the trip: Mrs Olive H Cross, Instructor in English,

Professors Address Alumnae Meetings

Dr Harold P Richards, professor of physics and Chairman of Tryon, Instructor in history, each spoke this week at one of the series of alumnae meetings being held all over the state.

Miss Tryon addressed the Women's club of Graceville on our Nation's Problems Abroad, on Thursday after the Woman's club meeting Miss Tryon spoke to the Alumnae association about the college.

Also on Wednesday, Dr Richards spoke at an alumnae banquet held in St Petersburg at the Pennsylvania hotel. This meeting was arranged by Mrs D O Wood (Marjorie Mercer, 1940) president of the St Petersburg Alumnae club, and Mary Cotton (1943), secretary.

Alumnae Tickets

Students who are expecting alumnae for the Thanksgiving weekend are asked to go by the Alumnae office immediately to reserve tickets for the Demonstrations, Tarpon Club and Thanksgiving dinner.

There are a limited number of Thanksgiving dinner tickets on sale in the Alumnae office, and no more than two tickets may be made until a ticket is bought.

Even Talent Ready to Go

Broadway Is Next Step After Campus Success

Even Demonstration is lined up and all ready to go next Thursday night according to the Even chairman, Betty Broadway as the next stop.

Betty declares acts are all that are necessary before the big night, and the Evens are confident that the theme song is better and better with every preview.

Jackie Belcher and Collins Grimes Chairmen of show with musical parts includes: Doris Mumbelaus, Mary Ann Barnes, Barbara Fennell, Eugenia Booth, Martha Nell Booth, Pat Harrison, Mary Ann Belcher, Betty Belcher, Pfield, Ann Tucker, June Armistead, Mary Evelyn Powell, Dot DeBrovile, La Perne Quinn, Nanon Vaught, Anne Lindsay, Kathrine Crockett, Mary Hart, Betty Lou Brown, Blanche Weedon, Betty Vandevelt, and Nadeen Sason, Sarah Daughtery, Ann Shil-

Continued on Page Four

Thanksgiving Tables Planned by Students

Information Available Today In Longmire Building

For the first time the students, under the direction of Spirogyra Hoover, will plan their own Thanksgiving dinner tables. Under charge of making out, turning in, preventing duplication on, and distributing Thanksgiving dinner table lists: the dining hall staff and Residence committee find it to their advantage at house meetings Monday night and at the Spirogyra office beginning at 8 a.m.

All table lists were to have been turned in to the committee before sorority presidents before third flight flash last night, according to the announcement of the last limited invited guests at Thanksgiving dinner will be the faculty and alumnae who are four year graduates of Florida State College.

Students, Faculty Attend Music Clinic

Several Florida State College students and faculty members are planning to attend the Florida Music Association and which will be held next Monday and Tuesday.

The work in music will be vocal, orchestral, and band with a large number participating in each. There will be a chorus of 1,000 a band of 500 and also an orchestra of 2,000.

The students taking part in the convention are seniors who are practice teaching in this field in these institutions as follows: Center, Warrene Porter, Annabelle Redwine, Jackie Floyd Jones, Jane Hamilton, Mary Ann Hall, Thelma Nalarian, and Betty Bridges.

Faculty members attending will be Miss Marjorie Clayton, Miss Charlotte Cooper, Miss Florine Martin, Miss Ruth Streit, Professor Owen Sellers, and Dean Karl Kurrelmeyer.

FSC to Celebrate Campbell's Birthday

Tomorrow Dr Ada Comstock Campbell, president of Florida State College will eat his birthday dinner with the Odd-Even WAA officers, and members of Judiciary in Landis dining hall.

As has been the custom in years past, students of FSC will gather in front of the dining hall to sing college songs after dinner. When Dr Campbell appears, they will wish him a happy birthday in song.

Frances Myers, junior class president will present him with the birthday present and members of the senior class will help him eat his birthday cake at his home.

Tallahassee Girls See Bulldogs Meet Gators in Jax Game

Football is king—even at Florida—at least October the 27th when FSC students testified to that fact last weekend when they flocked to Jacksonville to watch old rivalries renewed as the Gators met the Bulldogs in the traditional Georgia-Florida football game.

The blue and gold pennants of Florida and Georgia's red and black bedecked the city, which with the sudden influx of the University crowd took on all the appearance of an old fashioned college town.

Odd-Even rivalry was temporarily forgotten as students joined the rah-rah-capped boys from Colinsville in cheering on to home team Saturday afternoon. University pennants waved and the girls sported huge yellow chrysanthemums strung with blue and gold ribbons.

"Tally was never like this!" exclaimed one girl on the train last whistle blew. She was assiduously attempting to board a bus across the crowded city men.

Saturday night, although the game was over, the festive spirit was once more in evidence The evening was climaxed by the sirens and their University "dates" flocking to a special dance at the

Continued on Page Four

Senate Hears Report Of Social Standards

CGA Housemeeting Programs Evaluated in Meeting

Senate business this week centered about a report from the Social Standards committee, and discussion on the College Government association programs which were presented at the Longmire night house meetings. The meeting of Senate was held in the Longmire building auditorium on Wednesday afternoon at 5 p m.

The chairman of the Social Standards Council, Alice Walton, presented a reported on that organization's activities and discussed special projects of, and membership in the Council.

She reported, "The purpose of the council is to make plans to meet the social and recreational needs of the student body, to eliminate duplication in publication of activities and to supplement the program wherever needed. In order to get a tentative activities of events for the year and to find ways of eliminating some of the conflicts of acceptable standards of conduct and of living in all social relations on the campus, in the dining hall, at public functions, on the street and in town."

The initial projects for the year, she stated, are the advancement and clarification of dining hall conduct, for which Ruby Grace Scarbel has been appointed chairman; and the publication of the Social Standards booklet — Campus War or It's Smart to Know, for which Geneva Bettle has been appointed chairman.

Membership in the council was further discussed. Plans for participating will be the presidents of CGA and WAA, chairmen of the senior and junior committees, social sorority representatives, eight dor-

Continued on Page Four

Dickson Will Appear Here Monday Night

Star of Radio, Opera and Concert Makes Second Appearance Here

Students Have Last Chance To Secure Tickets

Donald Dickson, baritone, will sing at Florida State College in Westcott auditorium at 8 o'clock on night at 8:15, as the third Artist Series attraction of the season.

Students may secure their seat reservations by the designated date will be given a chance to secure reserved seats from 7:15 at the box office in Westcott.

Dickson, star of radio, opera, and concert, first appeared in Tallahasee in 1939.

The first part of the program will be sixteenth and seventeenth century poems set to music by modern composers. Selections included in this are "There Is a Lady" by Winifred Burr, "Tune Bailiff's Daughter" by Frederick Corder, "Has Sorrow Thy Young Days Shaded" by Herbert Hughes, and "Good Ale" by Peter Warlock.

Second group presented will be the second division of the program. Those included are: "Der Mutti" Brahms, "Wenn Ich Lat's by Hugo Wolf, "Hat Dich Die Liebe Berührt" Brahms, "Traun Durch Die Daemmerung" by Strauss and "Es Werde Licht" by Erich Wolff.

The third part of the program will be piano solos by Lawrence Stevens, pianist and accompanist to Mr Dickson. He will play four pieces.

Continued on Page Four

WSSF Drive Totals $1300 in Pledges

A total of $1300 has been pledged up to the present time to the World Student Service Fund by students in the Florida State College according to Jessie McCuffs, president of WSSF at FSC.

"Some students did not pledge as much as the intend to give, and there are still a few campaigns returns," said Jessie, when questioned concerning the progress of the drive. She stated that during the week of November 26 through December 3 there will be tables in Westcott where people may bring their pledges. After December 1, all pledges which have not been paid will be collected in the dormitories.

The drive was started with the opening of the fall term by the executive secretary of WSSF, in convocation October 30. At house meetings following, talks about the WSSF, and slips were distributed to students with which to write the amount they intended to give during the drive. Solicitors for the drive lasted only a week, but the goal of the drive this year is to obtain an average contribution of one dollar from each student budgeted over the entire month of November. All pledges will be due December 1.

Relief, rehabilitation, and reconstruction help have been given by American students through the drive over each other are placed on either side of the hall around the booths.

Atomic Energy Is Forum Topic

Faculty Speakers Stress World Cooperation

World cooperation, socially, economically and politically, was advanced as the main solution to problems presented by the atomic era by speakers at the Press club forum last night in the clubroom of the Longmire building. In opening this discussion, entitled "Are the People of the Atomic Age," Dr Harold P Richards, professor of physics, stated that the International commission to control the threat of atomic destruction proposed yesterday by the United States and Canada is a fine step in the right direction.

"If the outcome is to be conducive to world progress, the conference must, however, feel the full effect of an enlightened public opinion," he said. "We must avoid any appearance of an international cartel in the secret knowledge of the bomb as a club in international negotiations and the atom bomb should be held profits of peace time uses for atomic energy," Dr Richards added.

A far less powerful international court and disarmament

Continued on page three

Caps and Feathers Are Bought Rapidly

Sales of caps and feathers from the Odd and Even booths in Westcott have surpassed even those of last year as the Odds took in over $100 during the first day.

Price this year is the same both this year is "The Garden of Even", which have been made to form a tree which is enclosed by a fence outside of the fence is a red, white, and purple snake with the words "I'll never get in" written across its back.

"Thanksgiving" is the theme chosen by the Odds for their booth. A huge horn of plenty covered with red, white, and purple paper extends from the center of the booth and Odd caps are placed on the end from the bell of the horn. Brightly colored lanterns are suspended from the sides of the booth.

Signs proclaiming the advantages of both Odds and Even

Tarpon Movie Short Is Current Feature At Florida Theater

"Campus Mermaids" is the name of the Tarpon club short which has brought nation-wide attention to Florida State College and which is currently appearing at the Florida theater.

This Orantland Rice production pictures swimming and diving at Silver Springs, Florida under the direction of Rod Warren and Russ Ervin.

Shooting began last May when Tarpon members posed for campus shots around Westcott and in front of Landis. Also at this time, two trips were made to Silver Springs to complete scenes to be discussed and for the actual water filming to get underway.

During the first week in June, the girls taking part in the short style skirts and the Landis Lodge and swam daily for the camera men. They were given the best hotel meals free. On the last night of their stay, a dance was given in the girls' honor at the home of the Lodge with officers from Dale Mabry field invited.

Swimming formations un ' in the short were flower patterns, the accomplishment of the entire circle with diving in the center of it. Dancing was done to jazz, one and a half, and a back dive. A combination of back rolls,

Continued on Page Four

Professors Discuss Allied Organization

United Nations Charter Is Topic of IRC Forum

At a meeting of the International Relations club held in the Social Science Dailey Parker, instructor in political science, Mr Earl Vance, associate professor of political science, and Miss Marian D Irish, professor of political science, spoke on topics related to the United Nations Organization.

Miss Parker outlined the 19 divisions of the United Nations Organization Charter and pointed out some of the main possible weaknesses inherent in it.

Mr Vance talked of the difficulties to be overcome if the charter is to be a success. Education is to be prevented The solution of these difficulties included the establishment of international understandings and advancement toward a more economic system, the material needs of any people," said Mr Vance, "must be met before they can be guaranteed."

Dr Irish summarized the steps leading up to the present United Nations Organization, the Dumbarton Oaks, the Atlantic Charter through the Potsdam conference.

During the discussion that followed the talk, the consensus reached was that the United Nations Organization had little or no effect in the settlement of civil wars. Opinions were also given on the issue of the A bomb, the hydrogen bomb, and the much-discussed topic of peacetime conscription. Chairman for the meeting was Gardner, member of the IRC in charge of the program at this meeting.

Homecoming Week Festivities To Feature Odd-Even Rivalry, Demonstrations and Dance

Hockey-Soccer to Replace Basketball-Volleyball; Dr Shorer to Speak Thanksgiving Day; Band to Perform Between Games

For the first time in the history of Florida State College the Homecoming Week celebration will be high-lighted by Odd-Even hockey and soccer games instead of the traditional basketball and volley ball.

In anticipation of the large crowds who will attend the Thanksgiving celebration at FSC, the Homecoming Week festivities will begin on Tuesday night with the presentation of the first of two Even Demonstrations to be followed by the first Odd Demonstration on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Thanksgiving night the Evens will give the second performance of their Demonstration at 8:00 o'clock. Dinner will be the annual Thanksgiving dance to be held Saturday night from 8:30 to 12 o'clock in the Physical Education building.

The games will be played Saturday afternoon on the Athletic field which will provide almost unlimited seating capacity for students and alumnae. Soccer will start at 2:30 and the hockey game will begin at 4 o'clock. Between the games the R.O.T.C. Band will drill and give a concert.

At the annual Thanksgiving service to be held in Westcott auditorium Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, Dr. Shorer, FSC professor of history, will deliver the address. A litany of Thanksgiving will be led by Dr Campbell and Dr Doak S Campbell will give a prayer and benediction. FSC choir will also be featured. Accompanist will be Joyce Punke as soloist.

Breakfast in the dining hall will be served Thanksgiving morning from 8:15 to 8:45. Dinner will be served at three different hours for the individual dining rooms. Dinner in Landis and Gilchrist

Continued on Page Four

Odds to Show Talent in Dem

Null Clark Predicts Unique Presentation of Teams

Odd demonstration, which will be presented next Wednesday and Friday nights, will be highlighted by the presentation of the teams in a way which, according to Null Clark, chairman of the demonstration will be unique.

"There is a lot of talent in the freshman class, merely hell at all," says, "I'm in a state of unprecedented elation over the talent displayed by the freshmen in practice. Those freshmen are just plain valuable sequia-superlative."

Freshman participation among the new talent seems to be a freshman trio consisting of Betty Clarkson, Laura Simpson, and Ruth Kennedy who sing in harmony.

The ad-libbing done by Kay Van Deusen, Nancy Wright, Betty Bookhout Michael during the play can be equalled only by such former

Continued on Page Four

Bob Zubrod Heads First Aid Classes

"Uncle Bob" Is Giving Talks To Life Saving Courses

Mr Robert "Uncle Bob" Zubrod, Red Cross field representative, is now on campus as Senior Coach of campus conducting faculty classes in first aid and life saving, and is also giving scheduled talks to the various life saving classes. He arrived on Monday, November 5 and will remain until Saturday, November 17.

Since 1942 Mr Zubrod has conducted two yearly Red Cross courses, and has had charge of the entire Red Cross program on campus. Miss Margaret L Clement, physical education instructor, has now been authorized to give the water safety course, and Dr Katherine Montgomery of the physical education department is authorized to give the Instructing course to be held Saturday night, November 24. In the gymnasium were held

Following the announcements, Mr Zubrod gave a demonstration student-secretary ARC FSC graduate of 1938 said that Thanksgiving was a one holiday which FSC celebrates as a united community gathering. "But" we think about our blessings in this year of 1945 we must find true Thanksgivings in our hearts."

To the amusement of the audience Mr Zubrod on behalf of an "old gray mare" as contrasted to the "Lincoln Zephyr" of '46. He said it would be about as appropriate for her to tell students of the Red Cross Standard First Aid Instructions as it would be for an old gray mare to tell Lincoln Zephyr how to run. He suggested that she did, however, present something of the more modern traditions in the light of one who has experienced them and has had the opportunity to realize how much they would mean in the years after graduation.

Traditional Yeshivings Festivities Had Beginning in 1910; Familiar Yells, Mysterious Preparations Evident Once More

By LAURA LEE BUTLER

"On with the red, white and blue! On to victory! On to the gold!" As the time approaches when Odds and Even will clash on the traditional battle ground on which culminate in Florida State College's time-honored, Thanksgiving weekend, such shouts as these once-more echo across the campus.

As girls mysteriously carry about everything from boxes to sandwiches destined for stage scenery in the demonstrations, and as Odds arrive carrying just practicing for color rush, they explain that they have been invited to a college tradition which started approximately 35 years ago.

First beginnings of the Odd-Even rivalry and accounts of the mysterious "deme" came back in 1910 when "young ladies" of the Florida State College closed vied against those of the sophomore and senior by executing skits in convocations deriding the opposing faction. In 1916 these productions began to assume the form known today but it was not until after the fall in such activities occasioned by World War I that the idea of elaborate annual comedies was first adopted.

A familiar campus tradition concerning the demonstrations is that of the "deme" was first instituted. The popular superstition had the Seminole Indian deme of yesterday, considered the lucky symbol, would present the best demonstration and win the games was not, however, begun until two years later. When in 1928 the Odd demonstration leads announced that they had found two pennies bearing an Odd date, her faction took this as a good omen and the two pennies so found were caused the floor of the old swimnasium to cave in.

The Thanksgiving games, which have given the Odds approximately a 10 point lead complete victory a "at clean sweep of all games for the Evens before them, first beers more than 20 years ago. In 1941 the first precedent-making game pitted the college Odds against the junior normal school team and save the former a clear victory.

Color rush in these early days was "offer" from competition by secondary colleges. Hell in those days before Thanksgiving, it consisted of putting colors in the highest place possible on each building.

In the month of 1940, one year an enterprising girl crawled onto the roof of Bryan hall and from there scrambled up to the tower, where she triumphantly posted her colors. She was the first and only a member of the opposing faction, for the Odds had already secured a fishing pole and, tying her colors to the end of it, leaned out of her window and raised them to the very top of the tower.

Later when girls ran for the buildings, all of them raced for everything. Leaving their rooms at the rising bell, they ran for such goals as lamp posts and telephone poles. In 1939 Mary Montgomery, head of the physical education department, was active in participating in this custom now used for color rush.

Even during the Depression years, when even the "deme" came back in 1940 when "young ladies" of the Florida State College closed vied against those of the sophomore and senior by executing skits in convocations deriding the opposing faction. In 1916 these productions began to assume the form known today but it was not until after the fall in such activities occasioned by World War I that the idea of elaborate annual comedies was first adopted.

Continued on Page Four

Honorary Pledges

Kappa Delta Pi education honorary initiated 20 new members recently at a meeting held in the Club Room of the Longmire building.

Pledges are Hilda Carolyn London, Geraldine Alsobrook, Peggy Maree Hines Mildred Ann Turner, and Erin Poylitzer.

The pledge service was conducted by Harriet McCarter, publicity chairman, in the place of Miss Edna Parker assistant professor of education and president of the society.

After the pledge service there was a business meeting and refreshments of tea, cookies, and nuts were served.

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

DEM THINGS ARE GREEN BEANS

● UNITE IN THANKSGIVING

The first peace-time Thanksgiving in three years finds an extra note of joy in the air as the entire nation says a prayer of gladness for our servicemeo who have returned and are returning from the world's battlefields.

Three years of war and its consequences will leave its mark around the festive board in many an American home next Thursday. But we must consider that those who will not return to take their place in the family circle died just so that circle might still exist.

That first Thanksgiving was a scene of tranquility and peace, of a cessation of hostilities between the white man and the red, of a mutual working together for the common benefit.

Today, we are striving to achieve that status with our fellow man which our forefathers had. Once more hostilities have ceased. International conferences are underway in America —all are working together for the common benefit. But that tranquility and peace which our ancestors so cherished is being threatened by scattered uprisings, rebellious murmurs and narrow-minded "squawkings."

We have a challenge—a challenge to unite and create an international feeling of "Peace on Earth, good will to men." given to us by those who gave their lives that democracy might live.

So let us answer this challenge and look forward to an unbroken chain of peace-time Thanksgivings—as we dust off the ole' Odd caps and Even feathers and enter this holiday season with a lighter heart.

● TRAINING OR EDUCATION

The majority of students claim they come to college to get an education. Then, they settle down to a hard year of training, excluding all the education they can squeeze by without getting.

A simple definition of education would help young people to understand what they mean when they talk glibly of a "college education." A concise way of stating it is to say that education in learning to read on any subject, to understand the content, and to be able to express one's owo ideas on the various subjects. This makes education a life-long project and not just a college project.

A definition of training is preparing in one specific field. It is possible to be labeled as "educated" with a college diploma without being educated, but merely trained. A vocational school could do the same thing for one and save money and time.

Students fight education. They register for the required subjects and then select the easiest courses they can find to make out the necessary hours. They work for grades and not for knowledge. They don't take advantage of the opportunities put before them in the form of Artist Series. Forums, and a library crammed full of books.

The Artist Series on campus introduce students into a world that they don't properly appreciate. The forums that formerly were sponsored regularly were never attended as they should have been. The library browsing room is seldom entered by the majority of students.

A knowledge of current affairs is had by daily newspapers, but young people read only the text assignments. When parallel reading is to be done, students skim through the required number of pages, just to ease their consciences when they hand in their reading reports. It is the professors who give examinations and they to the text material, why pay attention to the content of the parallel material?

Education struggles to penetrate this attitude of people who do only what they have to do and fear they may learn something not required. To make good grades is the dense desire that has pushed itself above the desire to get good knowledge.

Upton Sinclair wanted an education and cared nothing for grades. He didn't want to be trained but to be educated. He would start a course, get a preliminary view of the subject and the list of required reading; then he would go off by himself to do the reading and look for more material on the subject just to satisfy his thirst for knowledge.

If students could learn to love books and have fun finding "out new things from them, school would not seem a drudgery. If they would think of school as an opportunity and not as a duty, classes would be more interesting.

But, most important is the need for more young people who want ● go to college for the sake of an education and not for the purpose of preparing them to make a living.

● TO HAVE OR HAVE NOT

Early in the fall the question "Can those qualified seniors not living on Senior Hall enjoy designated special privileges when spending the night on the Hall?" was brought up in Senior Hall house meeting. The question was submitted to Executive Council, composed of faculty members and students, for study and ultimately an answer.

Until the verdict is reached seniors not living on Senior Hall may not use these special privileges. Because all girls who are rated as seniors in the Registrar's office are eligible for Senior Hall it seems to us that they should at least be permitted to enjoy these senior privileges when they have the occasion to spend the night on the Hall. There are various reasons why not all seniors live on Senior Hall, many of which are not voluntary but for cases of necessity. Sorority girls, for instance, help fraternity rush conditioned on campus by living at their respective houses. Some students attended summer school thus becoming a qualified senior during the summer; nevertheless their names were not on the official list at the time when money being paid in advance. Interrupted up late and the above groups of students are just as entitled to senior privileges as those who live on Senior Hall, it seems to us.

Some few have expressed the opinion that girls might abuse the privilege; that is, spend the night on the Hall just to get more out later and maybe to take a shower at 11:20. In the first place, non-senior hall girls will not have too many chances to sojourn to the Hall to spend the night for there will not always be an extra bed elsewhere for the senior Hall girl to occupy. In the second place, the senior privileges are to be enjoyed when legally all are entitled to live on Senior Hall. Then, too, who can say that visiting saviors, if granted these extra concessions, would abuse the privileges any more than do regular Senior Hall girls? It would be difficult, we think, to draw a line to distinguish "privileged senior" and "privileges abused".

We trust each member of Executive Council will add to many seniors' happiness in granting them those few extra privileges, which they so rightfully deserve, when they have the opportunity to spend the night with their senior colleagues who reside on Senior Hall.

College Comments

LA FERNE QUINN

Listed to this, girls, and groan. The beard-growing trend has reached Florida State University. In the healthy specimen one by one of the free-enterprise boys. It will probably grow as rapidly as the beard, the student body will probably look like a bunch of returnees from the Civil War.

The Emory Wheel

Dorpatch came to Los Angeles City College for Wednesday when a Sadie Hawkins Day "gurl drag boy" dance was held. Highlights of the dance included the landing of dummy marriage licenses by a tattered "Marrying Sam" and the unwinding of "kick-a-poo-joy-Juice."

Los Angeles Collegian

These two great intellectual statements were made the same place. Oh my goodness, such wit!

Seventy-five per cent of the girls today are working girls, the rest are working men.

Only one in a million after another.

—The Branding Iron

Lawyer: "Why didn't you scream as soon as he touched you?"

Old Maid: "I didn't know he wanted my money."

—The Branding Iron, University of Wyoming

Sixteen beauty nominees, four from each class at TSCW were guests at Texas A & M, where the final judging of the beauty contest was done by the entire Aggie corps. The girls attended the Aggie-Rice game and were presented at a huge Jamboree program and dance.

—The Lass-O, TSCW

But now we have an original joke of our own, which we joke.

Bud: "I like a girl who can take a joke."

Art: "I'm going to have a good chance of being accepted."

—The Utah Chronicle

"Do dear I've missed you so much!"—and she raised the veil to kiss her friend again.

The Techsaque, Georgia Tech

Alumnae of 25 Years Join Thanksgiving Celebration

As "turkey day" rolls around again, Florida State College will again be hostess to the many returning alumnae coming back for the many festivities of this coming "turkey week." From all points east, west, north and south loyal Odds and Evens of the past will be coming back to "hail the green and gold" and "down the red and white" or vice-versa.

Although most of the "returning F S C veterans" are '44 and '45 graduates, there are still a number who are expected that are graduates of earlier years. Among these is Mrs Virginia Holland Gallemore, sister of ex-governor Millard F. Holland. Mrs. Gallemore is a graduate of 1919 and is now connected with the Polk County Record in Bartow. Her daughter, Virginia Fran, whom she will visit, is a freshman here at F S C.

An Odd member and an Odd daughter are Mrs Marie Underwood and her daughter Ann Sinclair, also a freshman. Mrs Underwood, another 1919 graduate, majored in Home Economics while at F S C. She is now pee mistress at DePunak Springs.

Another expected alumna from the class of 1919 will be Edwina Odum.

Among those in the 1920 alumnae who are coming are: Johnnie Mae Cowart, 20; Lovice Verri Newton, '20; Rita Logan Hendrix, '25; Ruth Blanch, '27; Teresa Myers, '33; Marion P Berry, '33; Mary Moody, '35; Marjorie Pain Lowery, '36; Helen Cate, '27; Fran Lewis Luce, '36; Louise L. Lewis, '36; Marion Conn Bashinski, '36; Mary Reed Bridges, '39; Eloise Rhodes, '39; and Margaret Fisher, '39.

Anita Jackie Anthogy will be the only alumna from the class of 1940, and Margaret Clementz, of the 41 class. Marion Swanson, Charlotte Cooper, Virginia Greene, Martha Ellen Babb, Mary Mills Donahoo, and Mary Skeels Dobargenes are all 1942 graduates who will also be here.

1944 grads includes: Eleanor Calley, Mary Rhame, Percy Barfield, Elizabeth Gehan, Jeanne E Smith, Mary Ann Sarah D Wiggins, Martha Twitty, Marjorie Lambert, Rovana Du Parc, and Judy Rock.

Also many of last years graduates will be here and among them are: Ruth Ebert, Pat Howard, Marjorie Hollingsworth, Jean Obee, Margaret Fernandez, Mary Lee Witzers, Marion Welch, Margie Flint, Margaret Morris, Louise Fernandez, Marjie Loomis Marjorie Lay, Ann Durrance, Sara Stevens, Betty Parker, Bill Ames, Marion Lambreth, Mildred Williams, Dorothy Owens Tobias and Deborah Shumaker.

Two associate alumnae are Julia Mae Bartter and Dot Jean Glass Owen.

YWCA Has Meeting

The YWCA will hold its monthly meeting at 6:30 members today at five o'clock in the auditorium of the Lamunyon building. After a worship service combining Thanksgiving and World Student Service Fund themes, the members will hear plans for Y's weekend at camp. Reports from the five standing committees, discussion and adoption of this year's budget, and the election of a new treasurer will complete the business to be taken up at this time.

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

BY CATHERINE NOLLMAN

The Little Woman

The famous jester, Joe Miller, once boasted that he could make a joke oo any subject. When challenged to make one about the King, then a dangerous thing to do, he replies, "Th. King, gentlemen, is no subject," thereby winning the bet. "Contrariwise. Wife is always a subject", says I A R Wylie in the article "The Little Woman" published in the current issue of Harper's.

"Whenever lecturers, essayists, psychoanalysts . . . have undertaken to talk, write, or worry about" they take up the subject of "Do Women?" Women, for instance, although essentially always women, have taken different stands in different ages. In the Victorian era the Woman was a Wife and Mother and could faint at the sight of a mouse. Going into reverse the Woman became a Career Woman who could strut and t'ow snakes through her nose. Says Miss Wylie, "Next to the dinosaurus, Woman is probably nature's most unconvincing failure." She has the dinosaurus beaten, however, in the ability to survive. Nevertheless whatever a Woman has done successfully she would have done much better — even done to hairdressing — if it were humanly possible, men were it biologically possible, men could make better mothers."

Miss Wylie has a grudge against Man for look what masculine genius has done to Woman. No sooner does he invent "one cure for his disabilities than he turns around and has the audacity for making himself miserable"— Industrial Revolution, Machine Age. Woman couldn't do any worse She might do better, yet she hasn't had the opportunity. Man tends her oo help.

"Now Man has a problem." Since they have led him to such a mess of affairs he must be emotionally maladjusted to the extreme degree. Woman is the one half of humanity "intellectually inert and physically inadequate." Although he know little about our earliest history it is fairly certain that Miss Wylie, that Man and Woman were equal in muscle and brain power. At that time they were traveling toward the stars together. Then suddenly Woman was tied and waited for Man to come back occasionally and tell her what the constellations were. Man then canoed on the least line of resistance first was pursed acrobatic. As an excuse she decided to play up the theme of Mother Love. This is when she became The Little Woman, Chivalry became an institution, and Man, freed from his former companion's restraints, took up War as his man occupation.

As Woman became less active she felt "freakish" when she had an idea and strove to hide her desire to create something new. Therefore George (Man) did the creating. Any development admired by The Little Woman, and eventually became standard, "by which he meant sick of Home." 20thC. Woman.

Not until the first decade of the twentieth century did Woman get up enough vim to step into the fray and try to bat some sense into Man's head. The chance was provided by the Right Honorable Herbert Asquith, Prime Minister of Great Britain, who announced women who wanted suffrage that the time when they wanted it had fought — which of course women wouldn't do. Only they didn't. The First World War mercifully gave Man the chance to give The Little Woman the vote without losing face.

With rapidity the astonished little Woman discovered that she had got been dead but only asleep. She would not run as Lancashire London bobby, match wits with Scotland Yard, and land a straight left to the jaw.

Then, says Miss Wylie, for two years the Woman experienced serious, happy, will-adjusted women" who in spite of hardships were contented to be alive as never before. With the advent of the Second World War, the opportunity for Woman's rights put aside their personal struggle and were astonished and accepted the call to work and fight along side of their men. Then, says Miss Wylie, will they remain themselves or return to being a "Blue Birdie in the Land of Nod."

In organizing the United Nations charter some women went to the conference — not to speak but just to watch George again. This time Miss Wylie, in a forshadowing of a fresh disaster when "without the checks and balances of a well ordered society system, Man's passion for power will be unleashed as it has never whelm his platitudes. . . ." Woman undoubtedly is very strong, but she could be a lot stronger. On the hope that she will use this her fate of the world.

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

Here we are in the middle of November and the days fly by and still remember way back when June was busting out all over. Remember when the girls had that's about all that fugits these days. Remember when we used to sing "Don't Fence Me In" and now they're rare as buffalo in these parts and a fence is a thing that one has been complaining about this week. Pour out of every five letters here is one wrong; walk-I-were-a-coed-type.

This is the time the happy ows for you love-lorn comes in. We got a letter this week from three sailors in the Pacific. They say "Dear Madam. This is just one of those things that a fellow must do sometimes to get a little mail. I'm from the South and I know you are from the South because I have my name and my friends names printed in your college paper. Please write something and a little note asking the girls to write to us. We will be here for the present time and don't expect to return to the states for several months yet. We will be glad if this much we will appreciate it very much."

This letter is signed Leo Claude Groce, S1-c, Eus Albert E McGinnis, S2-c, and Jack Hall Hollingsworth, Y3-c. If you are skeptical, here are the full descriptions to look over before handing out sympathy this week: To: First, we'll look at Al McGinnis. He's from Georgia, is six-foot tall, weighs 165, has light brown hair, is 22 years old. Charlie Hollingsworth, then, stands about one-half inches tall, weighs 155, is 22 years old and has light hair. Leo Groom is a blonde, five feet, eight inches tall, 24 years old and weighs 145. Sounds swell, don't they? them are married!

We'll be all ready to go except for the address and it's written right here on my cuff. Thanks to the USS Lexington and USS Mobile (CL43), care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

This is the nicest thing I've done for you girls in many a day.

Here's a letter from a girl who wants to give credit where credit is due. She says that she is sick and tired of Frank Sinatra. She says she, "I like to see them dressed on people. I like to go to the show and sit at the fish table." Well spoken. We like to get letters from people who can see some good in anything.

This cozy letter concerns a problem to etiquette which will be answered with Sharpie's usual finesse. "I left the belt to one of my favorite dresses in a store or less public place to dry. Someone has taken the belt and I am left with the dress which doesn't look nice without the belt. My problem is what to do now?" Thus signed, "Perfect 34." With a delicate problem like this on her hands, "Perfect 34" must act with discretion. We would say that if she takes any pride at all in the appearance of her classmates, she should leave the dress where she left the belt so that the rightful owner can be a well-dressed woman. Otherwise, she may wear the belt with her slacks to the Sweet shop and that has considered very bad taste this season.

"Terrifically Tall" writes that she has a date for the Thanksgiving dance with a would-be who she shall call, "Sorrily Short." She wants to know, "How can I look up to him?" This is another one of those delicate problems that we hesitate to answer with our usual frankness. Therefore we can only suggest that Sharpie always says, "The better to have loved a short man,

Than ever to have loved a-tall."

News Is Received of Burhans, Mitchell

News has been received this week from Beverly Burhans and the former Cherry Mitchell, recent students of Florida State College.

According to information from the Alumnae office Beverly, a 1945 graduate, is now employed by the Red Cross scholarship in south Georgia and will attend for the graduate study at Tulane University soon. Scholarships of this kind are offered by the USES and upon completion of one year's employment with the Red Cross.

Cherry, now the wife of Donald Cook, political columnist for the New York Herald Tribune and son of Mr Earl L. Vance, associate professor of journalism, announcing the birth of their baby girl. Also the letter written from London by Cherry said that she was now beginning a series of articles for the Sunday edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

Since leaving FSC shree years ago, Cherry has been employed as script-writer for a radio news service there before her marriage to Mr Cook

In This Our Time

Gloria Reed

Java

The rebellion of 20,000 Indonesian soldiers and 100,000 other armed natives against the Netherlands Java appeared to grow more fierce Foreign Minister Soebardjo of the "Indonesian Republic" sent a radio appeal to Soviet Foreign Commisar Molotov asking for Russian intervention since he believes it is oow apparent that Britain is paving the way "for the reimposition of Dutch rule in Indonesia." Meanwhile three Japanese generals were placed under arrest by British authorities on charges of violating Allied surrender terms by turning weapons and ammunition over to the Indonesians.

Washington Conference

In Washington Prime Ministery Atlee and King sat down to a conference with Presidents Truman to attempt to reach a joint atomic bomb policy. President Truman has recently indicated that he wishes the bomb to be outlawed. However, Atlee believes that it should be outlawed effectively and that the way to handle it is to put it under control of the United Nations security council. There were indications that if final agreement is not reached the secret of the bomb through membership in the council be given Russia. Also "drastic action on her "policy of national security."

China

The battle between the nationalists and the Chinese Reds continued for the consrui of Manchuria. A peace conference between the two factions has been set for around November 20. The Democratic League, made up of Chinese intellectuals, have agreed to call the political consultative council session to consider the end of hostilities. Meanwhile, Secretary of War Patterson said that the United States troops in China will not be used "for the suppression of civil strife but will protect American lives and property." However, three American Marines were wounded by Communists during the week.

Jewish Program

At a mass demonstration for their Palestine program Representative Celler (D-NY) told a thousand of them that "if no way will teach the British the meaning of honor the Jews will." He also declared that the Jews were prepared to make every sacrifice for their homeland even to the extent of using bullets and bombs against the British. American Liberanean Fleet warship, put to sea for maneuvers off Palestine as the eve of an expected announcement of the British Government policy toward the Arab-Jewish problem.

Foreign Policy

President Truman declared that he wants a foreign policy of the people and not of any political party. "One of the great things that has happened to me," said the President, "is that when I had to have a foreign policy—and they always have one—the British people sat behind that foreign policy no matter which government in a power." On the other hand, some observers believe that the United States has followed that old foreign policy for well over a half century. As evidence for this one point to the Monroe Doctrine and South American countries and certain the Dollar Diplomacy of late given.

Labor-Management Parley

In the nation's capital industry's 18-man delegation to the labor-management conference will present a complete statement of its position on all major issues before the parley. Spokesman of the spokesman said. Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said the forthcoming statement probably could be regarded as the first coordination declaration by a major segment of American industry on employer-employee relations.

The Students Speak...

JEAN BESS

A variety of answers to the question "Which parts of the Flambeau do you consider most interesting and read first?" indicated that all parts of the Flambeau are read. The most popular sections of the paper are "Sharpie," "Students Speak" columns and the two main front page editorials.

"The two leading stories on the front page and then the editorials are my first choice."

Margaret Baugh, senior

"The sports page is my number one choice when reading the Flambeau, because that is the field that interests me the most. Next I read "Students Speak" because it is useful always with matters that interest me as a student."

Moira Long, sophomore

"I always start look at the front page and then the editorials. Then I like to read "Students Speak" because it is useful always with matters that interest me as a student."

Margaret Clayton, senior

"I always look at the front page first 'cause that's the best way I can keep up with meetings, activities, parties and such. Then I just look through for anything that looks interesting."

Frances Wessos, freshman

"I especially like the editorial since they give me other people's opinions on important questions. I also enjoy "Collegiate Comments."

Rita Haynie, junior

Breadmaking was so highly regarded as an art in ancient Rome that any baker who married into the his social rank was "forever" expelled from the union, deprived of his property, and banished forever from Rome."

The Florida Flambeau

1941-1942 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS — Associate Editor
ANNE GAUTHIER, PEGGY KAY — Managing Editors
LOIS BYRD — News Editor
SHIRLEY DODGEN — Assistant News Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON — Feature Writers

Copy Editor — Lois Sue
Copy Editor — Mary Neil McFadden, Janet Rogers
Feature Editor — Betty Jo Walker
Assistant Feature Editor — Anne Hutton
Assistant Managing Editor — Betty Ebrite
Society Editor — Betty Jo Walker
Assistant Society Editor — Betty Dees
Sports Editor — Gladys Gilbert
Sports Editor — Grady Gill
Jukebox News Editor — Catherine Stone
Jukebox Editors — Catherine Stone, Dee Copeland
Opinion Editors — Dee Copeland
Art Editor — Betty Ebrite

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Aleta Armstrong, Alvera Asha, Eleanor Bess, Betty Beckwith, Jean Bess, Pauletta Black, Virginia Bullock, Jean Burns, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan, Barbara Farrow, Doris Faulk, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Livings, Jo Maguire, Jacquelyn Nevers, Eileen Parry, Joyce Petty, Fiena Quinn, Mary Jane Sharman, Mildred Snyder, Mary Tarr, Tanu Thomas, Frances Turner, Kay Van Deusen.

BUSINESS STAFF
Helen Farrington — Business Manager
Eileen Davis — Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 20, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat

Coffees, teas, and informal suppers complete the sorority social calendar for this week, as another weekend looms large in Gainesville.

* * *

The Alpha Chi Omegas are giving a coffee Friday night in honor of Miss Sylvia Pollins, home economics instructor and resident house manager of the home economics house. Miss Pollins is an Alpha Chi Omega alumna from the Alpha Beta chapter at Pennsylvania College for Women. Also honoring the guest of honor will be the Alpha Omega chapter.

* * *

A winter roast was held by the Alpha Xi Deltas Wednesday night with Betty Baisley as hostess. National first vice-president of Alpha Xi Delta, Mrs Schellenberg and Mrs Mabel Miller, province president, visited the Alpha Xi Delta chapter at Florida this weekend. Invited to the coffee were Dr and Mrs Doak S Campbell and Dean Lucile Allen and the presidents and house mothers of all the sororities. Ruth Kendall headed the preparations committee.

* * *

Friday night the Chi Omega members gave a party for their house mother, Mrs O S Lanier. At this time they presented her with a gift, and served cake and ice cream. Margie Cook, Genevieve Davis, Betty Jo Wilson, and Estelle Arnold were on the committee in charge. A coffee will be held tonight for the members, pledges and guests.

* * *

A faculty tea was held Thursday afternoon at the Delta Delta Delta house. Serving as hostess chairman, was in charge of the arrangements.

* * *

Delta Phi Epsilon members will have a buffet supper party for their guests from Gainesville and Camp Gordon Johnston Saturday night. After a picnic was given for the members by Mrs B Sherman Sunday morning at the home.

* * *

Mrs Odis Johnson, province director, was the guest of Delta Zeta Friday and Saturday. Dorothy Mae Johnson, for the second time this year, is graduate of Florida State College. Monday night the "Zs gave an after dinner coffee for Miss Brady in honor. Invited guests included university presidents and house mothers.

* * *

The Kappa Alpha Theta pledges were in charge of Sunday night supper last week and after supper they entertained with a skit. Monday night the Theta's had a picnic supper. The Beta Upsilon chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta was host and Dr Jennie Tift told them the founding of the chapter on this campus. Ann Chillcott, Beverly and Betsy Slaughter told of their experiences while attending the installation of a new chapter in Jacksonville and Shira McVey told about life on the co-ed campus which she attended in Colorado this summer.

* * *

The forty - first birthday of Kappa Alpha chapter of Kappa Sigma was observed by the members as an informal coffee last Sunday afternoon. The pledges entertained the members and their guests with a skit and later dancing was enjoyed by all. Kappa is the first sorority founded on the campus and the Kappa Alpha chapter was instituted by Kappa Alpha fraternity. Tomorrow night the KSs will entertain at a spaghetti supper for the members and their guests. Sarah Satterfield and Betty Wright are in charge. Nettie Collette and Betty Merriam are weekend guests at the TD house.

* * *

Phi Mu will hold an open house for members and guests Saturday night after the Odd-Even Mo-Ho Dance. Mary Jane Lassiter will be in charge with Jane Nightingale, Jean Leslie, Betty Jean Underman, and Delta Rhoden serving on her committee. Frances Harris, a Phi Mu pledge, is withdrawing due to illness and is going to Duke Clinic.

* * *

Pi Beta Phi pledges gave their annual pledge party Thursday night. The party was centered around a circus theme and entertainment and decorations were in keeping with the circus idea. Jane Hardacre was in charge of the party and appointed special committees to work on decorations, entertainment, and refreshments. This week-end the pledges will spend the night at the house Saturday, and Sunday morning the actives are going to serve breakfast for them.

* * *

Last Monday was Founder's Day for the Sigma Kappas. They had an informal Monday afternoon at the house. Last Sunday afternoon they enjoyed a picnic.

* * *

The Zeta Tau Alphas are having a winter roast tomorrow afternoon for actives and pledges. Sunday night the ZTA house-mother, Mrs Wilson J Carter, is entertaining at supper for the pledges.

Fashion Flashes

By JOYCE PETTY

Because of Friend Weather's curious unorthodoxy in the warm weather of the past week, college girls who don't wear "mink on the down" have been forced to discard their uniform of skirt and sweater for the cooler gabardine and cotton dress.

By the way, those basic garbardines are as good as usual this year, and a touch of personality and comfort can be had by adding by a snappy belt—smartly wide this year — with a metal buckle in the shape of a face card, cigarette pack, or other appropriate design.

On Sundays during the delayed Indian summer the girls are starting in the direction of their dwelling for the season. Also popular are the tailored suits with bracelet-length sleeves, worn infrequently enhanced by the addition of a navy blue clutcher and wristband set.

Shoes are definitely going up this fall if one can judge by the platform soles seen around the campus. With the introduction of new nylons finding their way into the "girls" wardrobes, it becomes inkreasingly important to have those just-right footcovers. Among the favorites with those bearers of shapely ankles are the stylish pump, open, featured with brads of all sizes, shapes, and hues.

An ever increasing number of coeds are now bedecking their feet with saddle oxfords, loafer pumps and other collegiate trinkets, but it is quite noticeable that the former and latter members of a military love are holding their own with the girls whose affiliation has not yet "come marching home."

Goats to Entertain Esterens Thursday

Esteren and its alumnae will be given a breakfast on Thanksgiving morning at the home of Ann Widergut, according to Ann Widergut, president of the group, who is in charge of preparations for the breakfast.

The Esteren alumnae who will be here for the celebration are: Jean Eyman Smith, 44, Margie Chambers, '44, Betty Lippitt, '44, Martha Twitty, '44 and Sara Helen Wiggins, '44, who is working in Chattahoochee. They will begin to arrive Monday night.

At the Thanksgiving breakfast the goats will give a skit for the members and guests. They are making the place cards and favors for the breakfast now as one of their projects.

Besides the breakfast project, the Esterin goats will decorate the Esten gates Monday on a big way. Ann Widergut said. They are working on the invitations for Even Demonstration to be sent to Esterin's next week and also a special treat to be given to them at Even Dem.

Episcopal Group Has Various Plans

A business meeting and a freshmen camp week-end are the plans for the Episcopal student group on campus.

There will be a business meeting of the Canterbury club on Sunday night, November 18, at 6:30 p.m. The business will be the adoption of the constitution. Supper will be served at 6 p m as usual.

Vestry members will be the hostesses to the Episcopal freshmen at camp on Saturday and Sunday, November 24 and 25. All of the freshmen who wish to go should sign up on the bulletin board in Isovr Westcott before Monday morning, November 19. Transportation will be provided. The students will leave from Ruge Hall at 5:30 p m on Saturday afternoon. Expenses to be determined later will be divided among the students.

Delta Zeta Formal Will Have Theme "Garden of Roses"

"A Garden of Roses" will be the theme of the Delta Zeta formal dance to be held Saturday night at 8:30 in the Delta Zeta house. The theme will be carried out in a rose motif from the entrance, a burnished Roman lamp made of roses, and a replica of the Delta Zeta pin in the reception hall. In the date parlor will be found the served from a table decorated with roses.

An intermission program will feature vocal solos by Mary Ann Tesgarden and Jo Ann Long, and piano solos by Ruth Wilkie. Sallie Brites, Gloria King, and Barbara Nolan will take part in a specialty number.

Dr and Mrs M H DeGraff and Mrs T R Provost, Zeta Zeta house mother, will be chaperones for the occasion. Invited guests include the sorority's patrons and patronesses, Miss Marguerite Dressler, Miss Ruth Wilkie, Miss Sallie Brites, Gloria King, and Barbara Nolan will take part in a specialty number.

Dr and Mrs M H DeGraff and Mrs T R Provost, Zeta Zeta house mother, will be chaperones for the occasion. Invited guests include the sorority's patrons and patronesses, Miss Marguerite Dressler, Miss Ruth Wilkie, Miss Sallie Brites, Gloria King, and Barbara Nolan will take part in a specialty number.

Phi Mu's Take in New Boarder, Phi

The housing shortage has caused some unusual situations, and one of the most unusual on the campus, the Phi Mu's have taken in a boarder. His name is Phil. Phil usually wears light grey with darker grey accessories to match. He also has a permanent, a pledge, picked him up in lower Westcott and took him to the house where he has since been. Miss and Phil, it was a case of love at first sight.

All this happened a week ago Tuesday. After the first night, his social life has been very active. Life has been very peaceful at the house with Phil spending most of the day on his favorite couch. If anyone unthinkingly sits there, Phil growls at him in such a fierce manner that he will be offended for ever.

So, the Phi Mu house is completely dominated by the little seven weeks old kitten.

Alumnae Council To Form Policies

Plans for the first general meeting of the Alumnae Association, which has not convened since the fall of 1941, were discussed, at an all day session of the executive council of the Association tomorrow at 10 a m in the Longmire building, announced Miss Ruth Cowan, executive secretary and ex-officio of the board.

This executive council is the governing body of the Association, forming to policies and outlining the year's program.

Officers of the board scheduled to attend meeting are: Margaret Bryan Hall, president, Pascagoula; Katherine Byrd Whitner, vice president, from Sanford; Laura Crowell, secretary, Jacksonville; Sarah Burwell, treasurer, Tallahassee; and Frances Tryon, past president. Florida State College.

Board members are: Betty Nickinson, Pensacola; Eunice Hall, Orlando; Audrey Packham, Winter Park; Anne Jones, Gainesville; Cedora Futch, Plant City; and Louise Secretary also ex-officio of board, FSC.

Students or faculty members who wish to have anything discussed by the board are asked to call Miss Cowan Monday morning to Miss Gehan in her office in the Longmire building

YWCA Will Sponsor Week-end at Camp

Sixty girls are expected to go to camp for Y weekend this year, which is next week. Leaving at 2:15 tomorrow and leave on a chartered bus.

Boating, an outdoor vesper service, winner roast, group singing, and a devotional circle around the campfire are the events planned for Saturday. Sunday will be ushered in by an early morning worship service. After breakfast a discussion of current issues is scheduled. The planned activities will end with Sunday dinner at camp.

Margaret Clayton, president of the YWCA, said that she would like to compliment the freshmen on their work of planning the weekend. The following girls served on committees: Food committee—Mrs Mixie Brides, Shirley Baker, Josephine Story, Patricia Carr. Vesper committee—Betty Ruth Goode, Martha Ann Bird, Jeanette Zetrouer, Bobbie Bell and Jane Anne Ransom. Publicity committee—Marvia Cone, Ruth McCallister, Fri Kahlenberg. Recreation committee—Anne Singleton, Willardeen Pullion, Doris Samford, Martha Vail McDonald. Work Planning committee—Doris Samford, Maxine Mears. Campfire committee—Doris Hill, Margaret Shingleton, Jean Helms.

Dormitory Teas

Broward Hall:

Last Saturday night Broward girls enjoyed their second in the month series of "at home" parties, according to Mrs Ray M Warner, counselor of that hall. Mamie Weedon was in charge of the affair and saw to it that the girls enjoyed parlor games, music, Chinese checkers, and bingo. For musical entertainment, they listened to Sibelius's first symphony on records. Toward the end of the evening, sweet cider and doughnuts were served.

According to Mrs Warner, the purpose of these "at homes" is to have the students come and also bring guests to enjoy an informal social evening in the dormitory.

* * * *

Landis Hall:

Guests at the tea in Landis last week enjoyed accordian numbers by Claire Bowen and Betty Jo Patty Milligan. Claire played "Besame Mucho." "As Time Goes By," and "Stardust."

* * *

Jennie Murphree:

Joyce Jamerson and Sally Slater entertained the guests at the Wednesday afternoon tea in Jennie Murphree, with songs, accordian and piano renditions.

Piano Instructor Will Give Recital

Miss Virginia Holmes, instructor in piano at Florida State College, will give a graduate recital in Westcott auditorium next Friday at 8:15.

The public is invited to the recital, which will be Miss Holmes' first public appearance in Tallahassee except for several radio performances which she has given on the college Garnet and Gold radio program.

Miss Holmes joined the FSC faculty last fall after doing graduate work at the University of Michigan where she received her AB and BM degrees. She also studied at Northwestern University.

Her Friday night recital will include compositions by Haydn, Beethoven, Bach, Liszt, Brahms, and Chopin.

Lighting Difficulty Lends Atmosphere

College girls who study in a forbidden night club were almost fulfilled Wednesday night when the fuses blew out in a post-war blackout. With candlelight and a smoky haze, it wasn't hard to imagine yourself "back home for keeps."

Lapsing difficulties began about 8:55 and were not overcome until 10:40. During the time the entertainers themselves by singing and trying to decide how much cream to put in their coffee. Several students homeward bound from the Log Cabin Dance wandered over curiously to see why the Sweet wasn't giving out with its usual dance routine. Evidently entranced by the "honky-tonk" atmosphere, they came in and stayed and stayed. In fact they were late getting back to their dorms.

Wonder how many people escaped without paying their checks.

Special Religious Service to Be Held

Students leader of the Thanksgiving service to be held Nov-ember 25, at 11 a m in Westcott auditorium, will b Sarah Lewis, who will call the congregation to prayer and worship for Thanksgiving litany.

Service will include the opening hymn "Now Thank We All Our God" played by Mrs Ramona Beard, organist, with the call and benediction by Dr Doak S Campbell, and the Lenten Meditation by Dr Venila L Shores.

Students participating in the program are: Jerry Parker, who will sing a solo: Eleanor Bragg, accompanist, and a quartet of Alpha Gleo club, singing under the direction of Miss Kitts, a Robertson.

Faculty and staff members planning the service are: Miss Edith McCollum, chairman, Miss Anna Mae Tracy Miss Louise Gehan Mrs Edith Gulick, Miss Bertha Rodenbaugh, and Miss Margaret Clements.

Tickets on Sale

Reserved seat tickets for Time and the Conways, the play to be presented by the speech organization of FSC by Augusta Cornfield Little Theater on the nights of November 29, 30, and December 1, will be on sale for 50 cents each at the box office on the ground floor of the History Building on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 26, 27, and 28. The hours that the box will be open: afternoons from 4:30 until 6 and nights from 7:30 until 9.

Reynolds Freshmen Plan Soldier Dance

An informal soldier dance will be held for all the freshmen in Reynolds Hall Saturday night from 8 until 11 p m in the Longmire Building, Mary Reynolds Camp Gordon Johnston and Dan Mabry field have been invited to attend.

The theme, contrasting the old with the new, will be carried out in both the decorations and the entertainment. Dancers will vary from collegiate waltzing to modern jitterbugging.

The entertainment committee, under the leadership of Louise Illingsworth and Betty Jo Patty Milligan, is in charge of the preparations, with Reynolds' junior counselors acting as hostesses and ticket takers.

Music for the occasion will be provided by the college orchestra.

Atomic Energy

Continued From Page One

backed by a worldwide economine system which the United Nations were presented by the speakers as necessary measures for peace during this era. Miss Mabee participatine in the discussions included Dr Frank Shankweiler, associate professor of sociology, Miss Sadie Young, associate professor of economics, and Dr Marjorian Irish, professor of political science. The discussions were introduced by Betty Dowd, secretary of Press Club.

"The power to control the atomic bomb men must first control the propensities of human nature," Dr Shankweiler said. He stated that international brotherhood through international reconstruction is a necessary step in this direction.

Economic exploitation, political corruption, racial and religious persecution, and ignorance are the four freedoms are the specific problems that must be overcome before the world can be free from the threat of atomic destruction, according to Miss Young. "In order to do this, social control aimed at abolishing hatred and fear, ignorance and economic insecurity must, be think, involve a re-orientation of the attitudes of the provincial attitudes toward universal mindedness.

"Democratic planning social remaking means the overcoming of lags in our institutions so that social institutions may keep pace abreast of technological change," Miss Young stated. "Above all else means," he said, "that curriculum must be changed in the arts, religion socialized, industry democratized and the good life made available to all men everywhere."

An economic structure which will avoid depressions and the national in scope, increased production and lessened privies fear will be the three major economic effects of the atomic era, Miss Young stated. She added, however, that these results will be somewhat less than the theoretically possible industrial potentialities of atomic energy are as yet undeveloped.

"Our pattern of economic control must include the consumer section," Miss Young stated. Pointing out that present economic machinery is often inadequate she said, "Our lack of ability to control international cartels illustrates the insufficient scope of this country's economy."

Political control will result in lowered costs, she said, which will, in turn, enable the establishment of higher living standards and more leisure time. Modification of the present political machinery and organization of private initiative will be another result of the atomic age, according to Miss Young.

Giving control of the atomic bomb secret is the only possible course for solving political problems connected with the new era, stated Dr Irish. She then proposed a constitutional amendment as the purpose of drafting a new world court and social and cultural economy for the peoples of political blocs as necessary for the successful operation of this organization.

Freshmen Weep for Junior Counselors

"Junior counselors are certainly missed by the new girls of Fresh-men," said Miss Louise Creamer, counselor of Reynolds Hall. "Last Saturday night we heard the sounds of crying from the lower floors and the upper floors 'roumt' floor), and upon investigating found that the girls were homesick because their junior counselors were gone for the week-end."

The next night all the unit girls were asked to come to a compulsory floor meeting and to bring their towels with them, said Miss Creamer. "They were commanded to weep into buckets and wastebaskets. Of course they all got hysterical," Miss Creamer laughed. Miss Creamer said they considered the spontaneous party by serving popcorn.

Test To Be Given

The Economics and Commerce department will give the typewriting test Friday, November 16, at 8 o'clock in the Typing room (Room 108, History Building). Any student who wishes a rating may take the test at this time Students must provide their own paper.

Tomorrow Is Last Time to See Exhibit

"United Through Books," Is Theme for National Book Week

With the end of National Book Week, students have only the remaining time until 1 p m tomorrow to see the exhibits in the library featuring the theme "United Through Books."

Upstairs near the library science classrooms three alcoves are decorated carrying out the title of "United Through Understanding," featuring literature in four languages in addition to the book "Through Music," showing books on the evolution of composers; and "United Through Great Deeds," displaying biographies of famous men and women of all nations.

The library science laboratory displays an exhibit on Russia. A photographic section shows Russian scenes and life. Third floor there are two cases filled with books, the subjects of which are the problems of peace, and the customs, beliefs and governments of other nations.

The center and right cases in the downstairs library are exhibits of the book through the ages. The book is printed in color. The book ends in the "Wild Duck's Nest Soup," a picture story for children, written by a Florida State College alumnus, Phelps Putnam Witt and illustrated by Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art at FSC.

Dr Thomas Is Added To History Staff

Dr Mary Thomas, who has recently been added to the history department staff, has completed work at Duke University on Monday, October 29, and has come to Florida State College the following Wednesday to associate-professor of history.

Dr Thomas did undergraduate work at Randolph-Macon Woman's College and the University of Arkansas where she received her AB and AM degrees.

She has previously taught at Duke University, Agnes Scott College, Conway, Arkansas; El Dorado Junior College, El Dorado, Arkansas, Louisiana, Calumet, Georgia; and Fresco Junior College, Fresco, California.

Dr Thomas is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary; Phi Gamma Mu, social science honorary, and Kappa Delta Phi, education honorary.

"Odd" Conveyance

A "full-fledged, legitimate police squad car," to quote one of the officials, arrived on the FSC campus Odd yer rally last night with three somewhat frightened "Os." further surprise the astonished Odd revelers, Frannie Myers, Anne Hoeh homecoming Queen, guished and esteemed president were invited to ride around in it, accompanied by several of her colleagues.

The 30-piece band composed of freshmen and juniors hailed the affair with "appropriate" music.

Although questioned eagerly, Frannie declined to disclose the method by which she obtained the unique conveyance.

Social Standards Committee Undertakes Drive to Improve Dining Hall Conduct

The Social Standards committee is starting a drive to emphasize the importance of a fresh appearance and the use of good manners in the dining hall, Ruby Grace Daniels, a member of the committee announced. She outlined a few do's and don'ts and rules of conduct to be remembered.

Each table has a hostess who is responsible for the conduct of the girls sitting at her table. Students are asked not to eat, any food or drink anything before the blessing is sung. No reading or studying is to be done at the table, either.

Girls at Florida State Colleee are requested not to take chewing gum into the dining hall. Under the table is the place for gum and gum left on plates stops the dish washing machine, Ruby Grace states.

Bandanaas are by no right at breakfast, frowned upon at lunch, and out completely at dinner, Ruby Grace said. She urges that students pay more attention to their appearance. Students are still asked to dress for the Thursday night dinner.

The dining hall is no place for singing at the tables, loud talking, games, stunts, or throwing food, the social standards committee states.

All girls are supposed to eat in their assigned places except on weekends. If they wish to speak with to hold the table, the hostess should report that fact to the dean. Students are not to go over a closed sign.

The Social Standards committee has set up a system of signing out to leave the table in a group at dinner. They ask girls to remove any food except fresh fruit from the dining hall.

Guests are always welcomed to eat any meal in the dining hall, Ruby Grace said.

Seniors Register Now for Placement

All seniors who expect to graduate first and second quarter and all seniors enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences who have registered this month with the Placement Bureau of the Personnel Office, announced Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel Seniors in the Schools of Music, Education, and Home Economics who expect to graduate third quarter will be enrolled in January.

The 30 minute conferences are scheduled all day for almost four weeks and the Personnel office asks that those to be interviewed do not be late for the interview. Please come promptly. If a student is unable to be interviewed at her designated time she is to go to the office in advance and change the hour of her appointment.

It is necessary for every graduate to have a permanent placement record whether or not a position is desired and the Personnel Office will appreciate the cooperation of those being interviewed at this time.

Council to Hold Monthly Meeting

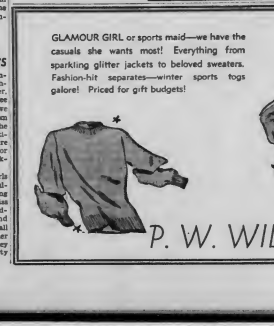
The Wesley Foundation's executive council of the Methodist student group will hold its monthly meeting Is Wednesday night at the supper hour. The newly elected officers on council will be the special guests.

Reverend C L Spottswood, director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Florida, and state director of the Methodist Student Movement will be present to be the guest at the monthly supper meeting. He will talk to the students about the National Methodist Student Conference at Cuba this December. Reports will also tell the students about the plans made at the Fall planning conference at Gainesville

The council will discuss the possibilities of making some definite plans for the Thanksgiving activities for the alumnae. Martha Jane Brown will be installed as chairman for the next quarter's deputations program. Janie Redfearn will tell about "Small Talk", the state Methodist movement paper, while she puts out.

The newly elected freshmen council members, Martha Jane Boyd, president; Nell Gray, vice-president; Mary Ann Hemingway; and Betty Arnold, Martha Ambrose, Dorothy Wells, Marian Price, Frances McLamore, Frances Clopton, Alice Ann Taylor, Flora Mae McBride, and Jane Whellan, "Inky" Parker, Betty Jo Boseman, Sue Mae Stairlift, Martha Vail McDonald, Mabel Ruth Lewis, and Jo McBride, Irvea Parabee, Emma Jean Thomas, Calmeeta Geor-gia; and Fresco Junior College, Fresco, California.

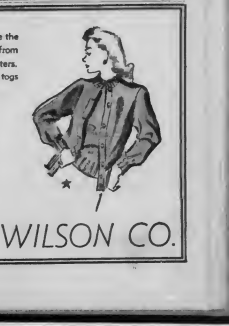
Dr Thomas is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary; Phi Gamma Mu, social science honorary, and Kappa Delta Phi, education honorary.



British Attache To Lecture Here

Mrs Marjorie D Spikes, attache for Women's Affairs, British Embassy, Washington, D.C, will speak on Wednesday, November 21, at 8 p m in the Longmire building on the topic "Post War Britannia". Her talk is being presented as a part of the vocational guidance series sponsored by the Personnel Office and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Mrs Spikes has been brought to Tallahassee by the Junior unit of the American Revolution through



RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Connor Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basic $65.00 a Month

GLAMOUR GIRL or sports maid—we have the casuals she wants most! Everything from sparkling glitter jackets to beloved sweaters. Fashion-hit separates—winter sports togs galore! Priced for gift budgets!

P. W. WILSON CO.

THE MOST HONORED CAMP IN THE WORLD

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

DEM THINGS ARE GETTING ME DOWN

• UNITE IN THANKSGIVING

The first peace-time Thanksgiving in three years finds an extra note of joy in the air as the entire nation says a prayer of gladness for our servicemen who have returned and are returning from the world's battlefields.

Three years of war and its consequences will leave its mark around the festive board in many an American home next Thursday. But we must consider that those who will not return to take their place in the family circle died just so that circle might still exist.

That first Thanksgiving was a scene of tranquillity and peace, of a cessation of hostilities between the white man and the red, of a mutual working together for the common benefit.

Today, we are striving to achieve that status with our fellow man which our forefathers bad. Once more hostilities have ceased. International committees, conferences, parleys—all are working together for the common benefit. But that tranquillity and peace which our ancestors so cherished is being threatened hy scattered uprisings, rebellious murmurs and narrow-minded "squawkings."

We have a challenge—a challenge to unite and create an international feeling of "Peace on Earth, good will to men," given to us by those who gave their lives that democracy might live.

So let us answer this challenge and look forward to an unhroken chain of peace-time Thanksgivings—as we dust off the ole' Odd caps and Even feathers and enter this holiday season with a lighter heart.

• TRAINING OR EDUCATION

The majority of students claim they come to college to get an education. Then, they settle down to a hard year of training, excluding all the education they can squeeze by without getting.

A simple definition of education would help young people to understand what they mean when they talk glihly of a "college education." A concise way of stating it is to say that education is learning to read on any suhject, to understand the content, and to be able to express one's own ideas on the various subjects. This makes education a life-long project and not just a college project.

A definition of training is preparing in one specific field. It is possible to be labeled as "educated" with a college diploma witbout being educated, hut merely trained. A vocational school could do the same thing for one and save money and time.

Students fight education. They register for the required subjects and then select the easiest courses they can find to make out the necessary hours. They work for grades and not for knowledge. They don't take advantage of the opportunities put before them in the form of Artist Series, Forums, and a library crammed full of books.

The Artist Series on campus introduce students into a world that they don't properly appreciate. The Forums that formerly were sponsored regularly were never attended as they should have been. The library hrowsing room is seldom entered by the majority of students.

A knowledge of current events can be had by daily newspapers, hut young people read only the text assignments. When parallel reading is to be done, students skim through the required number of pages, just to ease their consciences when they hand in their reading reports. If the professors give examinations only on the text material, why pay attention to the content of the parsllel material?

Education struggles to penetrate this attitude of people who do only what they bave to do and fear they may learn something not required. To make good grades is the demon desire that has pushed itself above the desire to get good knowledge.

Upton Sinclair wanted an education and cared nothing for grades. He didn't want to be trained but to be educated. He would start a course, get a preliminary view of the subject and the list of required reading; then he would go off by himself to do the reading and look for more material on the suhject just to satisfy his thirst for knowledge.

If students could learn to love books and have fun finding out new things from them, school would not seem a drudgery. If they would think of school as an opportunity and not as a duty, classes would be more interesting.

But, most important is the need for more young people who want to go to college for the sake of an education and not for the purpose of preparing them to make a living.

• TO HAVE OR HAVE NOT

Early in the fall the question "Can those qualified seniors not living on Senior Hall enjoy designated special privileges when spending the night on the Hall?" was brought up in Senior Hall house meeting. The question was suhmitted to Executive Council, composed of faculty members and students, for study and ultimately an answer.

Until the verdict is reached seniors not living on Senior Hall may not use these special privileges. Because all girls who are rated as seniors in the Registrar's office are eligible for Senior Hall it seems to us that they should at least be permitted to enjoy these senior privileges when they bave the occasion to spend the night on the Hall. There are various reasons why not all seniors live on Senior Hall, many of whicb are not voluntary hut for cases of necessity. Sorority girls, for instance, help facilltate housing conditions on campus by living at their respective houses. Some students attended summer school thus becoming a qualified senior during the summer; nevertheless their names were not on the official list at the time when rooms were being assigned. Seniors who signed up late and the above groups of students are just as entitled to senior privileges as those who live on Senior Hall, it seems to us.

Some few have expressed the opinion that girls might ahuse the privilege; that is, spend the night on the Hall just to stay up or stay out later and maybe to take a shower at 11:20. In the first place, non-senior hall girls will not bave too many chances to sojourn to the Hall to spend the night for there wil not always be an extra bed elsewhere for the Senior Hall girl to occupy. In the second place, exercising privileges cannot be an abuse when legally all are entitled to live on Senior Hall. Then, too, who can say that visiting seniors, if granted these extra concessions, would ahuse the privileges any more than do regular Senior Hall girls? It would be difficult, we think, to draw a line to distinguisb "privileges enjoyed" and "privileges abused".

We trust each member of Executive Council will add to many seniors' happiness in granting them those few extra privileges, which they so rightfully deserve, when they have the opportunity to spend the nigbt with their senior colleagues who reside on Senior Hall.

College Comments . . .

LA FERNE QUINN

Listen to this, girls, and groan. The beard-growing trend has come to Emory, as evidenced by the healthy speciman one by one of the free-enterprise boys. If the movement grows as rapidly as the beard, the student body will soon look like a bunch of returnees from the Civil War.

The Emory Wheel

Dogpatch came to Los Angeles City College last Wednesday when a Sadie Hawkins Day 'girl drag boy" dance was held. Highlights of the dance included the issuing of dummy marriage licenses by a tattered "Marrying Sam" and the indulging of "kick-a-poo-joy-juice."

—Los Angeles Collegian

These two great intellectual statements come from the same place. Oh my goodness, such wit!

Seventy-five per cent of the girls today are working girls, the rest are working men.

Life is one fool thing after another: love is two fool things after another.

—The Branding Iron

Lawyer: "Why didn't you scream as soon as he touched you?"

Old Maid: "I didn't know he wanted my money."

—The Bronding Iron,
University of Wyoming

Sixteen beanty nominees, four from each class at TSCW were guests at Texas A & M, where the final judging of the beauty contest was done by the entire Aggie corps. The girls attended the Aggie-SMU game and were precented at a huge Jamboree program and dance.

—The Lass-O, TSCW

But now we have an original joke of our own, which we stole.

Bud: "I like a girl who can take a joke."

Art: "Then you stand a good chance of being accepted."

—The Utah Chronicle

"Oo dear, I've missed you so much!"—and she raised the revolver and fired again.

The Technique,
Georgia Tech

Alumnae of 25 Years Join Thanksgiving Celebration

As "turkey day" rolls around again, Florida State College will again be hostess to the many returning alumnae coming to join in the many festivities of this coming "turkey week." From points east, west, north and south, loyal Odds and Evens of the past are now preparing to "hail the green and gold" and "down the red and white" or vice-versa.

Although most of the "returning F S C veterans" are '44 and '45 graduates, there are still a number who are expected that are graduates of earlier years. Among these is Mrs Virginia Holland Gallemore, sister of ex-governor Spessard L Holland. Mrs Gallemore is a graduate of 1919 and is now connected with the Polk County Record in Bartow. Her daughter, Virginia Pran, whom she will visit, is a freshman here at F S C.

An Odd mother and an Odd daughter are Mrs Marie Underwood and her daughter Ann Stinson, also a freshman. Mrs Underwood, another 1919 graduate, majored in Home Economics while at F S C, but is now post mistress at DeFuniak Springs.

Another expected alumnae from the class of 1919 will be Edwine Odum.

Among 1920 and 1930 alumnae who are coming are: Johnette O Widerquist, '20; Louise Verri Newton, '25, Rita Logan Streater, '25; Helen Bunch, '27; Teresa Myers, '33; Marion P Berry, '33; Mary Mooty, '35; Marjorie Fain Lowery, '36; Helen Cate, '37; Fran Lewis Luce, '38; Louise L Lewis, '38; Marion Conn Bashinski, '38; Mary Reed Bridges, '39; Eloise Rhodes, '39; and Margaret Fisher, 39.

Anita Jackie Anthony will be the only alumnae from the class of 1940, and Margaret Clements, of the 41 class. Marion Swanson, Charlotte Cooper, Virginia Greene, Martha Ellen Babb, Mary Mills Donahoo, and Mary Skenkis Dobarganes are all 1943 graduates who will also be here. The 1944 group includes: Eleanor Calley, Mary Rhame, Peggy Barfield, Elizabeth Gehan, Jeanne E Smith, Mary Lippitt, Sarah H Wiggins, Martha Twitty, Marjoria Lambert, Rovana Du Parc, and Judy Erck.

Also many of last years graduates will be here and among them are: Ruby Ebert, Pat Howard, Marjorie Philyaw, Cleo Sapp, Jean Obee, Margaret Fernandez, Mary Lee Withers, Marion Welch, Margie Platt, Marjorie Morris, Louise Fernandez, Marjie Loomis, Marjorie Lay, Ann Durrance, Sara Stewart, Tedy Parker, Betty Ames, Marion Lambeth, Mildred Williams, Dorothy Jean Tobias, and Deborah Shumaker.

Two associate alumnae are Julie Mae Suetter and Dot Jean Glass Owen.

YWCA Has Meeting

The YWCA will hold its monthly meeting of all members today at five o'clock in the auditorium of the Longmire building. After a worship service combining Thanksgiving and World Student Service Fund themes, the members will hear plans for Y's weekend at camp. Reports from the five standing committees, discussion and adoption of this year's budget, and the election of a new treasurer will complete the business to be taken up at this time.

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHERINE NOLLMAN

The Little Woman

The famous jester, Joe Miller, once boasted that he could make a joke on any subject. When challenged to make one about the King, then a dangerous thing to do, he replies, "The King, gentlemen, is no subject", thereby winning the bet. "Contrariwise, Woman is always a subject", says I A R Wylie in the article "The Little Woman" published in the current issue of Harper's.

"Whenever lecturers, essayists, psychoanalysts. . . have nothing else to talk, write, or worry about" they take up the subject of "Do Women-Are Women-? Women, although essentially always women, have taken different stands in different ages. In the Victorian era the Woman was a Wife and Mother and could faint at the sight of a mouse. Going into reverse the Woman became a Career Woman who could strut and blow smoke through her nose Says Miss Wylie, "Next to the dinosaurus, Woman is probably nature's most outstanding failure." She has the dinosaurus licked, however, in her ability to survive. Nevertheless whatever a Woman has done successfully some man has done so much better — even done to hairdressing and cooking. "I suspect that, were it biologically possible, men would make better mothers."

Yet Woman can't be stupider than Man for look what masculine genius does with the world. No sooner does he invent "one cure for his disabilities than he works out a new and better way for making himself miserable"—penicillin versus the rocket-bomb' Woman couldn't do any worse. She might do better, yet she makes only sporadic efforts and man lends her no help.

"Now Man has brains." Since they have led him to such a mess of affairs he must be emotionally maladjusted and no wonder with one half of humanity "intellectually inert and physically inadequate." Although we know little about our earliest history it is fairly certain, says Miss Mylie, that Man and Woman were equal in muscle and brain power. At that time they were traveling toward the stars together. Then suddenly Woman sat down and waited for Man to come back occasionally and tell her what had happened. That Woman chanced on the least line of resistance first was purely accidental. As an excuse she decided to play up the theme of Mother Love. This is when she became The Little Woman, Chivalry became an institution, and Man, freed from his former companion's restraints, took up War as his man occupation.

As Woman became less active she felt "freakish" when she had an idea and strove to hide her desire to create something new. Therefore George (Man) did the creating, was devotedly admired by The Little Woman, and eventually became homesick, "by which he meant sick of Home." 20thC. Woman.

Not until the first decade of the twentieth century did Woman get up enough vim to step into the fray and try to bat some sense into Man's head. The chance was provided by the Right Honorable Herbert Asquith, Prime Minister of Great Britain, who amusedly told women who wanted suffrage that the men when they wanted it had fought — which of course women wouldn't do. Only they did. The First World War mercifully gave Man the chance to give The Little Woman the vote without losing face.

With rapidity the astonished Little Woman discovered that she had not been dead but only asleep. She could out run an average London bobby, match wits with Scotland Yard, and land a straight left to the jaw.

Then, says Miss Wylie, for two years "I worked alongside vigorous, happy, will-adjusted women" who in spite of hardships were content as they had never been before. With the advant of the Second World War the fighters for Woman's rights put aside their personal struggle and were nationally accepted in their right to work and fight along side of their men. Now, says, Miss Wylie, will they remain themselves or return to being a "Blue Birdie in the Blue Nesty?"

In organizing the United Nations charter some women went to the conference — not to speak but just to watch George again. This, says Miss Wylie, is a foreshadowing of a fresh disaster when "without the checks and balances of a healthy two-party system, Man's passion for power for its own sake. . . will overwhelm his piatitudes. . ." Woman undoubtedly is very strong, but is she going to use her strength? On the hope that she will lies the fate of the world.

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

Here we are in the middle of November already and we can still remember way back when June was busting out all over. Tempus really does fugit but that's about all that fugits these days. Remember when we used to sing about the junior birdmen? Now they're rare as buffalo in these parts. And that's just what everyone has been eomplaining about this week. Four out of every five letters have been the weepy, wish-I-were-a-coed-type.

This is where the happy news for you love-lorn comes in. We got a letter this week from three sailors in Japan. They say, "Dear Madam, This is just one of those things that a fellow must do sometimes to get a little mail. I'm from the South and I know you will help us out. I would like to have my name and my friends names printed in your college paper, also our descriptions, and a little note asking the girls to write to us. We are in Japan for the present time and don't expect to return to the states for several months, so if you will help us out this much we will appreciate it very much."

This letter is signed Leo Claude Groos, S1-c, Ens Albert E McGinnis and Charles C Blankenship, Y3-c. If you are skeptical, here are full descriptions to look over before choosing someone to write to: First, we'll look at Al McGinnis. He's five feet, eleven inches tall, weighs 165, has light brown hair, is 23 years old. Charlie Blankenship is five feet, eight and one-half inches tall, weighs 155, is 22 years old and has red hair. Leo Groom is a blonde, five feet, eight inches tall, 24 years old and weighs 145. Incidently, none of them are married!

Now you're all ready to go except for the address and it's written right here on my cuff. They can all be reached at the USS Mobile (CL63), care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

This is the nicest thing I've done for you girls in many a day.

Here's a letter from a girl who wants to give credit where credit is due. She says that she is sick of hearing digs about F club. Says she, "I like to see them dressed up on Friday; it reminds me to eat at the fish table." Well spoken. We like to get letters from people who can see some good in anything.

This next letter concerns a problem in etiquette which will be answered with Sharpie's usual finesse. "I left the belt to one of my favorite dresses in a more or less public place to dry. Someone has taken the belt and I am left with the dress which doesn't look nice without the belt. My problem is what to do now?" That is signed, "Perfect 34." With a delicate problem like this on her hands, "Perfect 34" must act with discretion. We would say that if she takes any pride at all in the appearance of her classmates, she should leave the dress where she left the belt so that the new owner can be a well-dressed woman. Otherwise, she may wear the belt with her slacks to the Sweet shop and this is considered very bad taste this season.

"Terrifically Tall" writes that she has a date for the Thanksgiving dance with a man whom we shall call, "Sorrily Short." She wants to know, "How can I look up to him?" This is another one of those delicate problems that we hesitate to answer with our usual frankness. Therefore we can only pass on what Sharpie always says,

"'Tis better to have loved a short man,
Than never to have loved a-tall."

News Is Received of Burhans, Mitchell

News has been received this week from Beverly Burhans and the former Cherry Mitchell, recent students of Florida State College.

According to information from the Alumnae office Beverly, a 1945 graduate, has been accepted for a Red Cross scholarship in social work and will enroll for her graduate study at Tulane University soon. Scholarships of this kind granted by the Red Cross carry an obligation of one year's employment with the Red Cross.

Cherry, now the wife of Donald Cook, political columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, wrote Mr Earl L Vance, associate professor of journalism, announcing the birth of her child. Also, in the letter written from London where she now is, Cherry said that she was now beginning a series of articles for the Sunday edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

Since leaving FSC three years ago, Cherry has been employed at the Office of War Information in Washington, D C. She also did script-writing for a radio news sedvice there before her marriage to Mr Cook.

In This Our Time

Gloria Reed

Java

The rebellion o 20,000 Indonesian soldiers and 100,000 other armed natives against the British in Java appeared to grow more fierce Foreign Minister Soebardjo of the "Indonesian Republic" sent a radio appeal to Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov asking for Russian intervention since he believes it is now apparent that Britain is paving the way "for the reimposition of Dutch rule in Indonesia." Meanwhile three Japanese generals were placed under arrest by British authorities on charges of violating Allied surrender orders by turning weapons and ammunition over to the Indonesians.

Washington Conference

In Washington Prime Ministers Atlee and King sat down to a conference with President Truman to attempt to reach a joint atomic bomb policy. President Truman has recently indicated that he wishes the bomb to be outlawed. However, Atlee believes that it cannot be outlawed effectively and that the way to handle it is to put it under control of the United Nations security council. There were indications that if Russia were to be granted the secret of the bomb through membership in the council her price must be "drastic cessions" on her "policy of national secrecy."

China

The battle between the nationalists and the Chinese Reds continued for the control of Manchuria A peace conference between the two factions has been set for around November 20. The Democratic League, made up of Chinese intellectuals, have agreed to call the political consultative council session to consider the end of hostilities. Meanwhile, Secretary of War Patterson said that United States troops in China will not be used "for the suppression of civil strife but will protect American lives and property." However, three American Marines were wounded by Communists during the week.

Jewish Program

At a mass demonstration for their Palestine program Representative Celler (D-NY) told a thousand Jews that "if no one will teach the British the meaning of honor the Jews will." He also declared that the Jews are prepared to make every sacrifice for their homeland even to the extent of using bullets and bombs. However, the British Mediterranean Fleet warships put to sea for maneuvers off Palestine on the eve of an expected announcement of the British Government policy toward the Arab-Jewish problem.

Foreign Policy

President Truman declared that he wants a foreign policy of the people and not of any political party. "One of the great things of the British Empire," said the President, "is that when they have a foreign policy—and they always have one—the British people are behind that foreign policy no matter which government is in power.' On the other hand, some observers believe that the United States has followed a definite foreign policy for well over a half century. As evidence for this conviction American policy toward South American countries and certain Pacific islands is often given.

Labor-Management Parley

In the nation's capital industry's 18-man delegation to the Labor - Management Conference will present a complete statement of its position on all major questions this week, a management spokesman said. Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said the forthcoming statement probably could be described as the first co-ordination declaration by a major segment of American industry on employer-employee relations.

The Students Speak...

JEAN BESS

A variety of answers to the question "Which parts of the Flambeau do you consider most interesting and read first?" indicated that all parts of the Flambeau are read. The most popular sections of the paper are "Sharpie," "Students Speak," editorials, and the two main front page stories.

"The two leading stories on the front page and then the editorials are my first choices."

Margaret Baugh, senior

"The sports page is my number one choice when reading the Flambeau, since that is the field that interests me the most. Next, I read "Students Speak" because it usually deals with subjects that interest me as a student."

Moira Long, sophomore

"I always skim over the headlines on the front page first and stop to read anything that might prove interesting to me. "Sharpie" and "Students Speak" are always my second choices.

Rosalind Riegle, junior

"I always read the stories that take the dominate placed on the front page first because I figure that if they take the most important places in the paper they should interest me. Next I look at headlines and read the stories that particularly appeal to me."

Pat Small, freshman

"First off I always turn to "Sharpie" when I get my Flambeau on Friday and then editorials are my second interest since I always like to know what the students are gripping about now."

Anne Singleton, sophomore

"The main news stories are the most important part of the paper to me and the "Spirit of the Week" takes second place."

Bettye Usher, senior

'Editorials and letters to the editor are my first interest in the Flambeau each week."

Robin Hill, junior

"Front-page leading articles and editorials, together with letters to the editor, compete for first place, so far as I'm concerned. Then announcements of coming events are scanned to aid planning of the next week's calendar."

Margaret Clayton, senior

"I always look at the front page first 'cause that's the best way I can keep up with meetings, announcements, and such. Then I just look through for anything that looks interesting.

Frances Wesson, freshman

"I 'specially like the editorials since they give me other peoples ideas and views on important questions. I also enjoy "College Comments."

Edna Haynie, junior

Breadmaking was so highly regarded as an art in ancient Rome that any baker who married below his social rank was "flogged, expelled from the union, deprived of his property, and banished forever from Rome."

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS — Editor
ANNE GAITHER, PEGGY KAY — Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD — Assistant Editor
SHIRLEY RODGERS — Managing Editor
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON — News Editors

Copy Editor — Lois Ros[illegible]
Copy Staff — Mary Neil McFadden, Jeanne Tillman
Feature Editor — Betty Jo McLeod
Columnists — Anne Hutton, Marie Waters
Assistant Managing Editor — Bobbie [illegible]
Society Editor — Beryl Kitchen
Assistant Society Editor — Madge Pil[illegible]
Sports Editor — Betty De[illegible]
Assistant Sports Editor — Evelyn S[illegible]
Outside News Editor — Gloria Reed
Literary Editor — Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors — Jerry Crume, Barbara Wickham
Picture Editor — Dee Gardner
Art Editor — Lucy Foster

REPORTERS: Eugenia Alhers, Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Butler, Marjorie Clark, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Dunagan Barbara Farrar, Dorothy Fouts, Winifred Lane Barbara Lanford, Betty Lillycrop, Jo Mingola, Jacqueline Nevers, Eileen Perry, Joyce Petty, Ferne Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Marianne Snyder, Mary Tarr, Tami Thomas, Frances Traxler, Kay Van Deurs.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Farapani — Business Manager
Eileen Davis — Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter, January 20, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . . .

Theta Zeta Formal Will Have Theme "Garden of Roses"

Dormitory Tints

Reynolds Freshmen Plan Soldier Dance

Fashion Flashes

Phi Mu's Tails in New Boarder, Phil

Piano Instructor Will Give Recital

Social Standards Committee Undertakes Drive to Improve Dining Hall Conduct

Seniors Register Now for Placement

Tomorrow Is Last Time to See Exhibit

Atomic Energy

Council to Hold Monthly Meeting

Dr. Thomas Is Added To History Staff

[illegible]

... afternoon at the Delta Delta Delta house. May Evans, social chairman, was in charge of the arrangements.

• • •

Delta Phi Epsilon members will have an informal party for their guests from Gainesville and Camp Gordon Johnston Saturday night. Also, a picnic was given for the members by Mrs S. Eisenberg Sunday morning at her home.

• • •

Mrs Odis Johnson, province director, was the guest of Delta Zeta from last Sunday until Tuesday. Mrs Johnson, the former Eva Allagood, is a graduate of Florida State College. Monday night the DZs gave an after dinner coffee with Ann Brady in charge. Invited guests included all sorority presidents and house mothers.

• • •

The Kappa Alpha Theta pledges were in charge of Sunday night supper last week and after supper they entertained with a skit. Monday night the Theta's had a "pledge get together!" The history of Kappa Alpha Theta was read and Dr Jennie Tilt told about the founding of the chapter on this campus. Ann Chillingworth and Betty Jane Singleton told of their experiences while attending the installation of a new chapter in Kentucky and Gloria McVey told about life on the co-ed campus which she attended in Colorado this summer.

• • •

The forty-first birthday of Kappa Alpha chapter of Kappa Delta was celebrated by the members at an informal coffee last Sunday afternoon. The pledges entertained the members and their guests with a skit and later singing was enjoyed by all. KD was the first sorority founded on the campus and the Kappa Alpha chapter was instigated by Kappa Alpha fraternity. Tomorrow night the KDs will entertain at a spaghetti supper for the members and their guests. Martha Jean Satterfield and Nancy Wright are in charge. Jeanne Gullette and Betty Nickinson are weekend guests at the KD house.

• • •

Phi Mu will hold an open house for members and guests Saturday night after the Odd-Even Modern Dance. Mary Jane Lassiter will be in charge with Jane Nightingale, Jean Leslie, Betty Jean Linderman, and Della Rhodes serving on her committee. Frances Harris, a Phi Mu pledge, is withdrawing due to illness and is going to Duke Clinic.

• • •

Pi Beta Phi pledges gave their annual pledge party Thursday night. The party was centered around a circus theme and en-

... bug-eyed blouses with fraternity pins and other collegiate trinkets but it is quite noticeable that the wings and other symbols of a military love are holding their own with girls whose "Johnnie" has not yet "come marching home."

Goats to Entertain Esterens Thursday

Esteren and its alumnae will be given a breakfast on Thanksgiving morning at the Rainbow Inn, according to Ann Widerquist, president of the goats, who is in charge of preparations for the breakfast.

The Esteren alumnae who will be here for the celebration are, Jean Eyman Smith, '44, Margie Lambert, '44, Mary Lippitt, '44, Martha Twitty, '44 and Sara Helen Wiggins, who is interning in Chattahoochee. They will begin to arrive Monday night.

At the Thanksgiving breakfast the goats will give a skit for the members and alumnae. They are making the place cards and favors for the breakfast now as one of their projects.

Besides the breakfast project the Esteren goats will decorate the Even gates Monday in a big way, Ann Widequist said. They are working on the invitations for Even Demonstration to be sent to Spirogira next week and also a special treat to be given to them at Even Dem.

Episcopal Group Has Various Plans

A business meeting and a freshmen camp week-end are the plans for the Episcopal student group on campus.

There will be a business meeting of the Canterbury club on Sunday night, November 18 at 6:30 p. m. The main business will be the adoption of the constitution. Supper will be served at 6 p. m. as usual.

Vestry members will be the hostesses to the Episcopal freshmen at camp on Saturday and Sunday, November 24 and 25. All of the freshmen who wish to go should sign up on the bulletin board in lower Westcott before Monday morning, November 19. Transportation will be provided. The students will leave from Hugh Hall at 5:30 p. m. on Saturday afternoon. Expenses to be determined later will be divided among the students.

Alumnae Council To Form Policies

[illegible]

This executive council is the governing force of the Association, forming its policies and outlining the year's program.

Officers of the board scheduled to attend meeting are Margaret Boyle, president, from Tampa; Katherine Byrd Whitner, vice-president, from Sanford; Laura Caswell, secretary, Jacksonville; Sarah Burwell, treasurer, Tallahassee; and Florence Tryon, past president, Florida State College.

Board members are Betty Nickinson, Pensacola; Ruth Grady, Miami; Audrey Packham, Winter Park; Anna Jones, Gainesville; Cedora Futch, Plant City; and Louise Gehan, secretary and ex-officio of board, FSC.

Students or faculty members who wish to have anything discussed by the board are asked to turn in their requests before morning to Miss Gehan in her office in the Longmire building.

YWCA Will Sponsor Week-end at Camp

Sixty girls are expected to go to camp for Y weekend this year. They will meet on Landis green at 2:15 tomorrow and leave on a chartered bus.

Boating, an outdoor vesper service, wiener roast, group singing, and a goodnight circle around the campfire are the events planned for Saturday. Sunday will be ushered in by an early morning worship service. After breakfast a discussion of current issues is scheduled. The planned activities will end with Sunday dinner at camp.

Margaret Clayton, president of the YWCA, said that she would like to compliment the committees on their work of planning the weekend. The following girls ...

Lighting Difficulty Lends Atmosphere

Special Religious Service to Be Held

Tickets on Sale

Freshmen Weep for Junior Counselors

"Odd" Conveyance

British Attache To Lecture Here

THE MOST HONORED WATCH ON THE CAMPUS
Longines
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
Johnston O'Connor Research Foundation

GLAMOUR GIRL or sports maid ... we have the ... she wants most! Everything from sparkling glitter jackets to beloved sweaters ... separates ... sports ... Priced for gift budgets!
P. W. WILSON CO.

FSC Alumnae Hear Richards

Uses of Atomic Bomb Plants Is Address Topic

It is the duty of our government to use the present atomic bomb plants to develop practical peacetime uses for atomic energy," said Dr Ernest F Richards in an address he delivered as the Annual Banquet of the St Petersburg FSC Alumnae Association in Pennsylvania Hotel, Wednesday evening.

"We must maintain those plants in working order anyhow, for world security reasons, just as we must maintain a navy—and we might just as well get peacetime benefits out of them and a fine profit for the taxpayers who furnished the two billion dollars that the United States put into atomic development," Dr Richards said.

The speaker explained that the release of atomic energy has a long history. As only the practical engineering details are kept secret to-day, there is no use in outlawing merely one particular weapon. If world-wide essential for safety, Dr Richards maintains, is a world-wide free press, "secrecy breeds suspicion, and suspicion breeds hatred", he said.

Dr Richards made a plea for those who can see ahead to wake up and realize that if, for ten years, people worked as hard for the good of man as they have for win a war, we could practically remold the world.

He pointed out that we must not let our fears lead us into taking a worm's eye view of the possibilities which science has opened up for us. He believes that the cultural is to end war is to use science to the fullest possible extent to raise standards of living.

After giving a scientific review of the present status of energy being obtained from the fission of uranium, Dr Richards gave the audience facts in general terms by saying that the possibilities of practically unlimited power will be cheap energy stagger the imagination.

"The drudgery of manual toil can be practically eliminated," said the physics professor. "Whole cities can be cheaply heated by central plants; we can have cheap electricity in amounts vastly greater than those we now think are large. Practically, we are still living in a coal age, because coal still provides more energy in the U S than all other power sources (gasoline, oil, waterpower electricity) put together."

The conclusion of the talk was that now, as never before, we need mass production of every sector to match mass production of power and goods.

"Since the only safety in the long run is removal of the causes of war — starvation, religion, and a free press have the greatest job of all ahead of them," Dr Richards said.

Tallahassee Girls

Continued From Page One

Duval County armory honoring the visiting college crowd.

Last event of the big football weekend were heard in the buses bound for Lake Jackson country. Singing the familiar University songs, the girls reluctantly began the trek back to college, back to basketball and Odd-Even competition.

Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .

Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:15	1:30
3:30	5:00
6:30	8:45
8:00	9:00
8:45	8:45
8:30
11:00

Tampa

1:00	1:30
2:45	3:00
6:30	6:45
8:30	8:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

F Club Initiates 15 Goats at Camp

The initiation of 18 goats into F Club Saturday night at Camp Flastacowo climaxed a four-week goating period. Before going to camp the F Club members and the goats, who were dressed in various costumes which the members made them wear, met in back of Bryan Hall for a short business meeting. The prospective members had to walk the entire distance to camp with all their equipment in their possession on their shoulders, while trucks and cars carried the F Club members to the camp.

Declaring that turn about is fair play the new initiates met members in the traditional white skirt and sweater with their letters right side out for the first time, "goated" the old members Monday in front of the dining hall.

The new members of F Club are: Audrey Evans, Jeandelete Smith, Charlotte Bouland, Doris Hill, Lois Byrd, Mae Manning, Harriet Sue Fry, Nita Bowers, Joe Wells, Joy Little, Ann McInnis, Eileen Perry, Eugenia Booth, Thomas Myers, and Estelle Neil Goldman.

President of the goat class was Jean Bennett, who "did a fine job" as F Club president. Babe Evans, said.

Playnight Features Team Competition

Odd-Even modern dance teams will compete in interpreting a contemporary theme through a short technique routine by advanced students in modern dance tomorrow night at 9:00 p m in the Physical Education Building, it was announced by Wednesday's playnight chairman.

Judging and selecting on the basis of floor pattern, space pattern, costumes, skill of the dancers, and interpretation of the general theme will be Miss Margaret Lee Hutchinson, Mrs Fred Lewis, Mrs Robert Miller, and Mr Karl O Kuerstelner.

Miss Ann Widerquist will be Anne Widerquist, leader; Jo Guthrie, Ann Shull, Ann Avery, Betty Schwartz, Betty Gardner, Elnid Krouse, Audrey Evans, Joyce Coyce, Interpretive Dancers, Bewer and Doris DuBois.

Selected for the Odd-Even are Ellen Cain, leader; Harriet Kirk, Margie Holm, Ann Parker, Lorraine Bonnette, Ann Hendricks, Mary White, Pat Small, Bettie Lafun, Dorothy Martin, Violet Walters and Jane Levy.

Games Postponed

Due to Thanksgiving activities, the Sports Events Calendar for next week will start a week from Monday, Dorothy Martin, intramural sports manager, announced. Practice periods for points have been held during this week.

Girls who are playing in the intramural games may practice next week, Theresa said, but these practices will not count towards practice periods.

Theresa awarded the basketball trophy to Alpha Phi Omega in intramural basketball, and the volleyball plaque to the Kappa Delta, winners of intramural volleyball at convocation Tuesday night.

Dickson Will

Continued From Page One

which, he believes will sing "Nemico Della Patria" by Giordano.

After intermission, Dickson plans to sing "Hills of Orusia" by Medelsohn, "The Miller" by Old, and "The Goat" by Moussorgsky.

The concluding part of the program will be two selections by Lawrence Stevens, "You Are Not Small" and "Autumn," and two by Marlin Skiles, "Northbound" and "Don't Ask Me Lawd."

The singer, still in his early thirties, made his debut at the age of 28 as the youngest male singer in history. He has appeared on many network broadcasts, both as guest and as regular member, and has appeared with the Chicago Opera and with 12 of the nation's symphony orchestras.

Senate Hears

Continued From Page One

mitory social chairmen, one Day Students' representative, YWCA representative, chairmen of Playnight and the Longwire building, and the presidents of the four off-campus houses.

There was no discussion of the report.

Evaluation of CGA house meeting programs was discussed and Skits were presented last Tuesday evening in freshman halls, and talks were given in upperclass halls outlining the organization and duties of CGA in carrying out this program.

It was suggested that skits in the future have more preparation with counselors, and that speeches be longer and more detailed than in this initial program. It was agreed in the discussion that "CGA programs in house meetings are profitable and should be continued."

Three new members were introduced to Senate. They were: Peggy Kay and Corinne Johnson, senior representatives, and Betty Kennedy, sophomore representative.

Betty Kennedy was appointed publicity chairman for the next meeting scheduled for Wednesday at 5 p m.

Sports Events Fill Calendar

Odd-Even Teams Work Hard as Games Approach

As the Thanksgiving Odd-Even sports events approach, the sports calendar becomes increasingly heavy. Practicing has about drawn to a close and games have been played, and most of the teams have been picked. Extensive workouts will soon begin for those who made teams, in order to get teams working as a whole.

Two class games in each of the major sports, soccer and hockey, were played this week, hockey on Monday and Wednesday evenings, and soccer on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. In the first hockey game Monday night, De Evans successfully held the Odds to a scoreless tie until, in the final 10 minutes of play, Odd player Nancy Ward was sparked to the goal, and the Odds won the game by a 1-0 score standing at 1-0 in favor of the Odds. In the second game Wednesday evening, however, the evenly matched teams battled to a 1-1 finish.

The end of the first soccer game on Tuesday evening found the Evens standing at 2-0 in favor of the Evens, and the second game yesterday ended in another tie at 1-1 tied finish. The score for this game was 4-4 with the Even scores occurring in the first quarter and both Odd scores in the last quarter.

Participants in Odd-Even practices have voted on those who will make up the Odd and Even teams. They are as follows:

Evens—Hockey: Sandy Jones, Eloise Boyles, Alva Ray, Jeanie Booth, Catherine Barre, Maline Levinan, Evelyn Hall, Catherine Sullivan, Rosemarie Ferro, Anna Horne, Mary Hutchinson, Mary Evans, Conn, Babe Evans, Jean Keesy, Joy Little, Jean Bliess, and Betty LaBree.

Odds: Les Wells, Shirley Palmer, Jean Gaither, Claudy Jones, Betty Looby, Martha Jean Satterfield, Mary Calley, Jayne Culbreath, Betty Ann Wells, Elizabeth Ann, Pauline Tuttle, Virginia Palmer, Mary Hendricks, Catherine Bailey, Betty Schwartz, Betty Gardner, Twirp Barry, and Elaine Gavin.

Evens—Hockey: Sarah Bennett, Ann Widerquist, Ann Hendricks, Frankie Hall, Dot Tucker, Jane Lyles, Kit Land, Anna Geise, Evelyn Hall, Mary Ronald, Katherine Bessell, Marian Floyd, Jean Smith, Marti Rochelle, Carolyn Thurlbood, and Nancy Ward.

Archery teams have not yet been chosen, tournaments will be held on Wednesday and Friday of next week, Theresa said, but these practices will not count towards practice periods.

Theresa awarded the basketball trophy to Alpha Phi Omega in intramural basketball, and the volleyball plaque to the Kappa Delta, winners of intramural volleyball at convocation Tuesday night.

Evens Have Rally

The Evens showed their spirit Wednesday night when Esteren sponsored a pep rally in the hall behind Jennie Murphree Hall after dinner.

Cheers were led by Betty Jo McAteer, Ann Widerquist and Phillips, Odd cheerleaders, senior cheer leaders, and Jean Ann Ramsdell, "Dip" Evens and Norma Jean Ingram, sophomore cheerleaders. Following this, Frankie Hall spoke on the Even sales of war stamps and bonds. Then the Evens started the effigy of the Odds while all sang "Even Sticks Never Die." The burning of the Odd effigy in the Odd graveyard climaxed the rally.

"Fireside Chat"

Mortar Board had its first faculty-student "fireside chat" Sunday afternoon in the club room of the Longwire building.

The members gathered at this informal meeting to discuss the topic "Purposes and Aims of Higher Education." There were 20 present including Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental psychology, and Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science. Tea was served at the meeting.

WHAT'S IN STORE

Friday, November 16

Dr Campbell's birthday dinner	Landis Dining Hall	6:30
Sing night after dinner	Landis Green
Senior's party for Dr Campbell	Dr Campbell's House
Miss Virginia Holmes' recital	Music Annex	8:15

Saturday, November 17

Play Night	Gymnasium	6:10-30
Delta Zeta Tea	Delta Zeta House	5:30
Reynold's Soldier Dance	Auditorium	8:00

Monday, November 19

Donald Dickson	Auditorium	8:00

Tuesday, November 20

Even Demonstration	Auditorium	8:00

Wednesday, November 21

Faculty Senate		5:00
Odd Demonstration	Auditorium	8:00
Tarpon Demonstration	Gymnasium	6:30

Thursday, November 22

Thanksgiving Service	Auditorium	10:00
	Old Dining Hall	2:00
Thanksgiving Dinner	Landis, Oldchrist
	Mamtha's Dining Hall	2:30
	Broward Dining Hall	3:00
Even Demonstration	Auditorium	8:00
Tarpon Demonstration	Gymnasium	After Even Dem

Friday, November 23

Odd Demonstration	Auditorium	8:00
Tarpon Demonstration	Gymnasium	After Odd Dem

Saturday, November 24

Alumnae Gathering	Lounge, Longmire building	11:00
Odd-Even Soccer Game	Athletic Field	2:30
Band Drill and Concert	Athletic Field	2:30
Odd-Even Hockey Game	Athletic Field	4:00
Thanksgiving Dance	Gymnasium	8:00

Sunday, November 25

"Recuperation Day"	Entire Campus	All Day

Plans for Annual Weekend Told

The annual week-end at Camp Flastacowo held by the Physical Education association is to be December 1, according to Evelyn Stuckey, president. The traditional canoe races will be held between freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, the winners of the trip to Camp Flastacowo for the final award.

Ann Avery, program chairman, will work with Alice Taft, vice-president, on general plans for the week-end. Helping them will be Joyce Carman, Peggy Beckwell, Sara Broston, Margaret Shackford and Rose Marie Carver. Mae Manning and Anna Horne are in charge of arrangements for canoe races which will take place at 3 o'clock that Saturday afternoon.

Officers newly elected by the PEA meeting last Monday night are: Evelyn Stuckey, secretary; Rose Marie Perro, publicity chairman; and Roses Marcoux, social chairman.

Odds to Show

Continued From Page One

artists as Nancy Kulp and Mary McMichael, boasts Nell.

"Alas," continued Nell, "we have not one, but two soubrettes and both of them are really sensational."

Mary Jane Norwood, music director of the demonstration, has composed several original numbers which will be heard on the program.

Two other specialty numbers will be a symphonic arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue" by George Bragg, and a ballet dance by Pat Small.

The committees helping with the production of Odd demonstration this year are: Publicity—Jane Hardacre, chairman, Faith Adams, Martha Jane Lindsey, Ann Shumore, Betty Harris, Margaret Marshall.

Properties—Anne Hunter, chairman, Jane Hardacre, Rosemary McCoy, Mary Jane Norwood, Jo Allan, Betty Dickson, Pat Houlihan, Anita Friedman, Sara Corry, Betty Jane Nelson, Jane Hardacre, chairman, Faith Adams, Martha Jane Lindsey, Ann Shumore, Betty Harris, Margaret Marshall.

Properties—Anne Hunter, chairman, Jane Hardacre, Rosemary McCoy, Mary Jane Norwood, Jo Allan, Betty Dickson, Pat Houlihan, Anita Friedman, Sara Corry, Betty Jane Nelson, Jane Hardacre, chairman, Faith Adams, Martha Jane Lindsey, Ann Shumore, Betty Harris, Margaret Marshall.

Costumes — Geraldine Bushay, chairman, Ann Hunter, Elizabeth Heath, Jean Guill, Bettye Jean Phillips, Sara Broston, Margaret Marks, Mabel Ferguson, Renee Gross, Sara Ann Jones, Fran Harris, Gwen Clements, cheerleaders. Following this, Frankie Hall spoke on the Even sales of war stamps and bonds. Then the Evens started the effigy of the Odds while all sang "Even Sticks Never Die." The burning of the Odd effigy in the Odd graveyard climaxed the rally.

"Fireside Chat"

Mortar Board had its first faculty-student "fireside chat" Sunday afternoon in the club room of the Longwire building.

The members gathered at this informal meeting to discuss the topic "Purposes and Aims of Higher Education." There were 20 present including Dr C P Heinlein, professor of experimental psychology, and Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science. Tea was served at the meeting.

Even Talent

Continued From Page One

lingworth, Jean Oldfather, Peggy Moss, Mary Morris, Nancy Lee Hutchinson, Pauline Counell, Betty Kent, M L Vernon, Anna Horne, Beverly Hendon, Amelia Pavese, Betty Boiles, and Ida Lee Rents.

Those doing dancing parts are: Jo Guthrie, Betty Whalton, Doris DuBois, Ann Widerquist, Anne Avery, Patsy Gilliam, Lee Goodbread, Rosalie Lemon, Peggy Barber, Elizabeth Harper, Peggy Welch, Do Wynn, Ann Shull, Dora Dawn, Lillian Cain, Polly Cannon, Martha Carter, Dot Tucker, Rosalie Davis, Doris Ann Bennett, June McCurdy, Patsy Calahan, Drucilla Grann, Dot Dower, Ruth Lindsay, Betty Jo Marvin and Nancy Thomas.

The staging and properties committee consists of: Sarah Bennett, Betty Kennedy, Janet Robertson, Evelyn Hall, Candy Jones, Gloria Michilson, Ruth Young, Connie Savage, Barbara Chaffee, Roses Marcoux, Dot Butts, Betty Birch, Jane Gunn, Nancy Ann Bailey, Virginia Hatton, Inez Patterson, Lila Barrington, Jane Daniels, Mary Jo Whidden, Georgine Pihos, Margaret Barnett, Norge Carter, Carol Deiers, Bettie Lafun, Jane Mary Mary Robertson, Marion Cross, Georgia Mitchell, Ann Crawford, Bess Whitaker, Josephine Story, Bess Fulmer, Elizabeth Riegler, Jean Ann Ramsdell, Sonia Hatton, Jeanette Zetrower, Adeline Ynes, Nancy Dalton, Juanita Ault, Miriam Neidlinger, Joyce Pettyjohn, Claire Hill, Joyce Carce, Martha Carter, Fran Harris, Barbara Ann P Allen, Peggy Lansland, Florence Gardner, Sarah Daugherty, Norma Lewis, Patty Evans, Jean Douglas, and Virginia Budd.

The members of the script committee are: Sarah Bennett, Shirley Palmer, Betty Looby, Corrine Johnston, Anne Fielding, Rose Marie Perro, Catherine Sullivan and Kit Land.

The make up committee consists of Sarah Hunt, Margie Travers, Pat Pattiehall, Carolyn Abrams, Maurine Petty, and Barbara Ann.

Jane Lyles and Kit Land have the following committees: Ushers—the light committee: M L Vernon, Anna Horne, Beverly Hendon, Catherine Bessell, Marian Floyd, Ida Lee Rents, Barbara Tate, Peggy Sue Gray, Nolen Wynne, Jean Sharer and Anne Fielding.

Although the official performances of Even dem will be on Thursday night, there will be a dress rehearsal Wednesday night. Those who have been unable to get tickets for the regular performance will be admitted to the dress rehearsal.

Homecoming

Continued From Page One

will be at 2 o'clock in Magnolia at 2:30, and in Broward at 3 o'clock. Dr Cantrell has announced that "only students and faculty members who regularly dine at the college and only those students who obtain tickets in advance will be able to have Thanksgiving dinner in the college dining hall due to crowded conditions at the time."

Former students who have returned for Homecoming will meet in the lounge of the Longwire building Saturday morning at 11 o'clock for an alumnae gathering.

Bries, Natalina Rogolin, Mary Walker, Marion Looby, Joanne Schwartz, Betty Schwartz and Mae Gwynn.

Becker, Jacobs AA Speakers For Thanksgiving

Resource of Florida Is Topic for Discussion

Campaign to End December 1, Goal Is $1 Per Person

The development of the human and natural resources of Florida was the theme of talks by Mr Henry Becker, professor of geography at Florida State College, and Mr William Jacobs, assistant state forester, at the regular monthly meeting of the local branch of the American Association of University Women Thursday night.

Mr Becker gave a survey of the Florida Resources Education Project, of which he is chairman. Mr Jacobs spoke on "The Place of Timber in Florida Resources".

"The whole educational system in the United States has been based on the three R's—reading, writing, and arithmetic," said Mr Jacobs, "while we have been neglecting an important fourth R—resources."

Stating that the Florida Resources Education Project is a part of a worldwide educational movement, Mr Becker explained the Florida plan. It includes the preparation of a handbook on Florida Resources, and the education of the pupil use teacher education through a group of teachers studying community adult resources resources education for Negroes, and resources materials laboratories.

The getting and processing of natural resources is the basic source of wealth, Mr Jacobs said. "Florida's wealth is dependent on a sterilis of resources because nine out of ten people earn their living from what is produced somewhere. The tenth person, however, lives by what he sells with the money earned in this work.

"If you had taken wood out of the war, the war would have lasted ten days", the assistant state forester said. In the beginning of the war, there was a shortage of metals. The chemist found ways to make steel, and there would be stronger yes lighter and better than pre-war steel. Through a simple chemical process, wood became more fire resistant than steel. During the war, wood was used to build the factories which produced ammunition boats, in PT boats, in transporting bombs as bases for radar antennae, in the form of pre-fabricated aircraft carriers among many others. Much of Jacobs' talk dealt with the audience.

Florida has a great economic advantage in that its climate, sunshine and soil enables the state to produce trees quickly and cheaply. Since our one-fourth of the world's land area is in timber, this economic fact is a great demand, Mr Jacobs said.

Last year, we were wasting three-fourths of every tree cut by the forester said. With the new wood industries, we have put to use 75 to 90 per cent of each tree.

Florida has 16 per cent of all the timber in the U S, Mr Jacobs said. Out of 30,000 fires started in Florida, 90 per cent occur. One man was convicted.

The Florida Resources Education Project has received representatives from the State Department of Education, the University of Florida, FSC the State Planning Board, the FSC College, and various other state departments, according to Mr Becker. The project is administered by Dr M W Carothers, registrar at FSC.

Mr Becker was introduced by Miss Marjorie Judy, vice-president of AAUW. H introduced Mr Jacobs. Guests of the real educators of the state.

After the meeting, which was held in the auditorium of the Longmire building, punch was served in the club room.

Esteren Sponsors Even Stamp Booth

The Even's booth for sales of war stamps and bonds will be sponsored by Esteren, it was announced by Esteren will sponsor the booth, with Cornelia Johnson in charge and Sophomore Council assisting.

The theme of the Even's in this bond rally is "Put Even Stamps and Uncle Sam on High." Posters illustrating this theme are already up. Faculty members who buy bonds as well as students are urged to buy stamps and bonds to help carry out this theme.

The group who sells the most war stamps and bonds will determine whether the Evens or the Odds will get to entertain their celebrate the Queen of the Thanksgiving dance.

Pre-Medical Test

The medical aptitude test for pre-medical students will be given Friday, December 14, at 3 p m in 315 Westcott. A fee of two dollars is required to take the test. Students interested should make arrangements with the Personnel Office at once.

Tarpon Practices For Thanksgiving

This year's annual star performance of the Tarpon club will be presented on Thursday and Friday, November 22 and 23, following Even and Odd demonstrations, and again at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 25, in the gymnasium.

Various strokes will be used in exercises and surprise theme of Tarpon club in this year's demonstration. B J Singleton, president, said that, the swimming experts of Florida State College have won nation-wide fame by appearing in various moving picture shorts This year, B J said, the club has practiced patiently and is expecting to present an even better performance than in previous years to retain the reputation built up by the performances given in the past.

As contrary to the custom in years past, dress rehearsals will be closed to the public.

Tarpon Movie

Continued From Page One

kips, and graceful ballet legs added to the desires.

Duet surface and underwater swimming featuring Dorothy Singleton and Theresa Myers, was one of the high lights of the show.

Such events as a visit from Mary, the alligator in the midst of a swimming formation added to a very exciting wreck.

Swimming stars featured in the film were: Henrietta Trevant, Trigg Thompson, Margery Holmes, Nancy Mackey, Dorothy Martins, Mora Long, Maxine Wasserman, Anna Lou Rivers, Theresa Myers, and Betty Jane Singleton.

Several college and Tallahassee girls filled in scenes. Also seen when the larger formations were filmed in the natatorium were Myra Lou Phillis Brickland, Rosa Lee Davis, Tallahassee girls who swam were Jean Bell and Jean Thompson.

The chairman for the week was Dr K H Cramer, better known to the girls as "Miss Katie." This week's meeting will be the ones previously taken at Wakulla, according to the movie directors. Other soldiers have asked to use the film in swimming courses. They are considering using some from ideas presented in the short.

"This year's film shows a definite improvement over last year's," said Mrs Jane Singleton, newly elected president of Tarpon.

Tickets

Continued From Page One

office and have a ticket reserved as soon as possible.

Those who are working on the ticket committee with Anne are Rita Faser, Jinkie Airth, Annie Miner, Letah Glasscock, Barbara Wickham, Marjorie Austin, Eleanor Law, Marian Bowden, Catherine Nolan, Janice Richey, Miriam Horn, Jean Ramsdell, Winifred Anthony, Pat Conlin, Mary Ann Bambery, Ann Connelley, Janell Knight, and Anita Hebble.

Church Group Lay Thanksgiving Plans

Student Centers Will Have Coffees and Services

Preparations for Thanksgiving coffees and services for the various religious organizations on campus have already been planned.

The Methodist student house will hold its traditional Thanksgiving coffee during the time between the campus worship services and the regular Thanksgiving dinner in the dining hall. All of the arrangements are in the charge of the Recreation Committee which includes Rosa Young, chairman, Elene Reid, Mary Jane Kirst, Joyce Ann Betty La Bree, Betty Jo McKee, Anne McCollum and Olive Letion. Alumnae and guests will be entertained as well as the Methodist girls on the campus.

On Monday the Presbyterian group will hold a coffee in the clubroom of the Rowena Lee Burns building in charge of the Foreign Missions Cacoidates Secretary, Dr Richard Gillespie, the Rev Harry Fernandez, Council will be from 4 p m until 6 p m. Luther Kennedy and the newly appointed Freshmen Council are in charge of the arrangements for the coffee.

Plans for the annual after-dinner coffee for Baptist students will be held at Ruge Hall from 4 p m until 6 p m on Thanksgiving Day, Dorothy Smith, social chairman, is in charge of arrangements for the affair. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Baptist students will have "open house" and a coffee in the Baptist student house from 4:30 p m to 5:30 p m on Thanksgiving day. At 5:30 they will be in their Thanksgiving vesper services. The speaker will also be Dr Dickenson who will speak on "Thanks Be To God." Barbara Jean Holt will lead the hymns and have Thanksgiving prayers. There will be a duet and vocal prelude and postlude. The B S U octet will give the choral benediction. Ann Bonham will give a reading with violin accompaniment. There will also be a solo, but the soloist has not as yet been decided. The student house will be decorated with traditional Thanksgiving decorations and the refreshments, cranberry and candelabras.

WSSF Drive

Continued From Page One

foreign students have multiplied Jessie said.

Members of the WSSF committee at FSC, other than the president, are Jane Hardacre, Elaine Parramore for Jennie Murphree; Virginia Palmer, Jeandelete Smith, Lenore Bryan; Mary Broward; Martha Peacock, Gloria Christ; Beatrice Wyer, Lucille Rouse, Magnolia; Ann Hunter, the Village; Virginia Lindsey, Hardacre; Catherine Nolan, Janice Richey, Miriam Horn, Jean Ramsdell, Winifred Anthony, Pat Conlin, Mary Ann Bambery, Ann Connelley, Janell Knight, and Anita Hebble.

HALF-PRICE

Tussy Lipstick Sale

Here's great news for any gal! One-shot, half-price sale on all those smooth, creamy TUSSY lipsticks in assorted cases that are being discontinued. Smart vibrant shades to match your complexion and costume. Usual dollar lipsticks . . .

NOW ONLY 50¢ plus tax

BENNETT'S

COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
PHONE 800
MONROE ST. PHARMACY
PHONE 62

Alumnae Pass In

Z 106

The Florida Flambeau

Students Pass Out

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 7 | Tallahassee, Florida | NOVEMBER 24, 1945

Odd-Even Rivalry and Dance Climax Thanksgiving Frolic For Homecoming Weekend

Band to Drill Between Soccer and Hockey Games; Thanksgiving Queen To Be Crowned At Dance in Gymnasium Tonight

A week packed with fun and frolic will culminate this afternoon when the Odds and Evens will clash on the athletic field for the 1945 soccer and hockey championship. The soccer game, scheduled for 2:30, will be followed by the Band Drill and Concert on the field. The hockey game will be played immediately after the Band Concert.

This evening at 8:30 the Thanksgiving dance will be held at the Physical Educational building. At that time, the Queen of the Thanksgiving dance will be crowned. The queen will be the candidate of the group, either Odd or Even, who sold the most war stamps and bonds during the drive which ended last Wednesday night.

Red, white, purple and green and gold brought color to lower Westcott for the past two weeks as the two rivals pitched booths there for the purpose of selling war stamps and bonds. Odd caps and lanterns, and Even feathers. On one side of the hall the Odds erected a huge horn of plenty overflowing with red, white and purple caps, while opposite them the Evens built a Garden of Even, enclosed with a white picket fence. Inside the garden was a tree made of green feathers and outside the garden, a red, white, and purple "snake" that was not allowed to enter.

The early morning Color Rush on Thanksgiving brought swarms of cheering people out into the brisk air to watch the Odd and Even runners make a mad dash to pin their colors on the buildings. The fire of Dr Raymond Bellamy's gun was the signal to begin the final race to Westcott building, which was won by the Odd runner making a total of three winnings for the Odds. The Evens won a total of four races.

The Tarpon club's annual performance was presented to the theme of "Garnet and Gold" this season. The three performances, two of which followed the demonstrations of Thursday and

Continued on page two

Star Appears Monday Night

Capacity Audience Hears Donald Dickson Sing

Donald Dickson, star of radio and concert, sang to a capacity audience Monday night in the Westcott auditorium as the third artist series event.

The first part of the program included: "There Is a Lady" by Winifred Bury, "The Bailiff's Daughter" by Frederick Corder, "Has Sorrow Thy Young Days Shaded" by Herbert Hughes, and "Good Ale" by Peter Warlock. These selections were sixteenth and seventeenth century poems set to music.

Following this, Mr Dickson sang a number of German works including: "Du Mainacht" by Brahms, "Er ist'a" by Hugo Wolf, "Hat dich die Liebe beruchrt" by Marx, "Traum durch die Daemmerung" by Strauss, and "Es werde Licht" by Erich Wolff.

Completing the third part, Lawrence Stevens, Mr Dickson's piano-accompanist, played "Prelude" "Arabesque," Waltz, "La Plus Que Lent," and "Garden in the Rain," all by Debussy. He played "Claire de Lune," also by Debussy as an encore. After these, Mr Dickson sang "Nemico Della Patria" by Giordano and "The Vagabond King" for an encore.

After a brief intermission, Dickson sang "Hills of Gruzie" by Mednikoff "The Statue" by Cui, and "The Goat" by Moussorgsky.

The final part of the program included, "You are Not Small" and "Autumn" by Laurence Stevens, Dickson's accompanist, and "Northbound" and "Don't Ask Me Lawd" by Marlin Skiles.

Dickson was recalled three times by applause when he sang for encores 'Nuffin' Plus Nuffin'," "A Woman Is a Sometime Thing" from "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin, and "Old Man River" by Jerome Kern.

Dr Shores Speaks At Worship Service

History of Thanksgiving Is Subject of Address

A resume of the history of Thanksgiving was given by Dr Venila L Shores, professor of history, at the annual Thanksgiving worship service which was held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in Westcott auditorium.

Music on the program was furnished by the Florida State College Glee Club who sang the "Recessional" under the direction of Miss Etta Robertson with a soprano solo by Joyce Funke and accompaniment of Eleanor Braga.

The call to worship and the responsive reading were both led by Sarah Lewis, after which Dr Doak S Campbell gave the Thanksgiving prayer.

The speaker, Dr Shores, started with the first Thanksgiving of the Pilgrims who settled in Plymouth in 1620, and traced the practice of Thanksgiving up to the present day and President Truman's proclamation of November 12, 1945.

Dr Shores first mentioned that in 1621, Governor Bradford recommended a Day of Festival for Thanksgiving after the severe winter of 1620 had passed and easier times were forthcoming.

The earliest known formal proclamation, said Dr Shores, was issued by the Council of the town of Charleston, Mass, dated June 20, 1676, and appointed June 29 of that year as "a solemn day of thanksgiving and praise to God for his goodness and favor."

Before the end of the eighteenth

Continued on page two

Thanks to America Is Program Theme

With the theme "Thanks to America", FSC presented another in the series of Victory Bond radio programs last Tuesday afternoon. A trio composed of Daphne Rowe, Wilda Hayes, and Alice Gehan sang a group of favorite American songs which included: "Swannee River," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Home on the Range," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," and "Girl of My Dreams." The program was narrated by Sarah Norman.

This series of bond programs will end with the one to be presented this coming Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. According to Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director, plans are tentatively made to feature the FSC swing band.

Campbell Receives Book Ends as Gift

A pair of book-ends were presented to Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, at his birthday dinner in Landis dining hall last Friday night, which class officers, CGA officers, and members of Judiciary attended.

In charge of invitations, decorations, and place cards for the dinner were Doris Corry and Rebecca Routon. Frances Myers, junior class president, Connie Savage sophomore class president, and Audrey Perry, freshman advisor, were responsible for the selection and presentation of the gift.

As has been the custom in years past, students gathered in front of the dining hall after dinner to sing college songs, such as "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow!" When Dr Campbell appeared they wished him a happy birthday in song.

Members of the senior class went afterwards to his home and presented him with his birthday cake Martha Jane Brown, president of the senior class, and Gladys Lester, vice-president, poured punch.

Nuts To Be Sold

Peanuts will be sold this afternoon at the outdoor hockey and soccer games under the sponsorship of the members of Mortar Board. They were also sold at all four performances of the Odd and Even demonstrations.

Members of Mortar Board will also sell cold drinks at the games this afternoon and at the Thanksgiving dance tonight if enough drinks are available.

Nell Clark, chairman of Odd demonstration, presents take-off on "Pinocchio" entitled "Pinocchiodd."

Torch Night Is Scheduled

Sophomores Give Torches To Freshmen Thursday

The traditional Torch Night service which symbolizes the freshmen receiving the torch of knowledge from the hands of the sophomores will take place Thursday night at 7:30 p m.

Pat Pattishall, chairman of the ceremony, instructed all freshmen to wear white and meet on the sunken gardens in front of Jennie Murphree hall at 7 p m. She urged them to come early in order for all of them to get their individual torches and get their places in line.

The main program is in the form of a Greek pageant and is staged behind Westcott where the characters are on a raised platform so that they can be seen by all those present.

Before the freshmen start their line from the sunken gardens to Westcott, Ann Carolyn Allison, president of College Government Association, will explain the origin of the ceremony. It is based on the original Greek one honoring Prometheus the god of fire. The Greeks supposed that by receiving this fire from the torch of Prometheus they would acquire the opportunity of knowledge. They believed that it was the duty of each person to hold his torch high

Continued on page five

Students to Sign Forms for Rooms

Students will sign forms on Monday requesting room assignments for the winter quarter of school, January 2 to March 20, according to Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence.

No deposit will be necessary to reserve rooms for students already living on campus.

The form is to be distributed by the floor chairmen of all residence halls and off campus houses to every student, whether she plans to change her room or not.

These forms will be collected by the floor chairmen and will be turned into the residence halls offices and then to Miss McCollum's office.

"Notices of official room change from this office are expected to be finished by December 12," Miss McCollum said. "They will be posted in all dormitories."

The first moving day is Saturday, December 15, before Christ-

Continued on Page Three

Odds, Evens Present Annual Thanksgiving Demonstrations; Clark and Quinby in Charge

'Pinocchiodd,' 'Rome Was Never Like This' Are Themes of Presentations Given Admidst Cheers and Crackling Peanuts

Amid the rousing cheers of loyal teams, the crackling of peanuts, and the best wishes of alumnae through telegrams, the Odds and Evens presented their annual demonstrations for the 1945 Thanksgiving season Tuesday through Friday nights in the auditorium. In accordance with the drawing for presentation nights, the Evens gave their production under the leadership of Ella Mae Quinby Tuesday and Thursday. Odd Demonstration was presented on Wednesday and Friday with Nell Clark in charge.

"Pinnochiodd" and "Rome Was Never Like This" were the productions given by the Odds and Evens, respectively. Two performances of each demonstration were necessary this year because the increased enrollment made it impossible to seat everyone at one show.

"PINOCCHIO WANDERS THROUGH" ODD PRODUCTION

Pinocchio, the little wooden creation of Geppetto, who journeys with Jiminey Cricket through Ester Inn, the low-down den of conniving Evens, to the safety of FSC's campus where he becomes a real-live boy and is re-named Pinocchiodd was the version of the childhood story presented at Odd demonstration last Wednesday and Friday nights in the auditorium.

In Act I, just before New Year's of an Odd year in Geppetto's toy shop, Pinocchio, played by Kay Van Deurs, was being chisled, sawed and sand-papered by his foster father Geppetto, played by Louise Shonter. Jiminey Cricket, played by Nancy Wright and Figaro hte Cat, who was Patty McCollum, were interested bystanders. Suddenly, the block of wood came to life, and sat up. That night, in answer to the little wooden boy's fervent prayers that he might someday become an Odd, the purple fairy appeared with a chorus of fairy ballet dancers, and told him to journey to FSC, home of the Odds. "But can little boys go there, too?" asked Pinocchio. "Yes," said Jiminey Cricket, "last spring the legislature passed a bill making FSC Co-Odd."

In Act II, Seldom Honest John, Bookie McMichael, and Foulfeather, Terry Johnston, with "feathery words" lured the two into the den of Ester Inn. An Odd swing band had the "joint jumping with boogie woogie," and Laura Simpson, Hazel Clarkson, and Ruth Kennedy harmonized on a song

Continued on page three

"ROME WAS NEVER LIKE THIS" IS EVEN THEME

Rome, having a slightly modern Florida State College flavor, as was admitted in the title, "Rome Was Never Like This" or "Mark My Word, Mark," was the theme presented in Even demonstration Tuesday and Thursday nights in Westcott auditorium. First on the stage was the town crier, Jean Bates, proclaiming that Mark Anthony would address the populace of Rome that evening. As darkness began to fall a group of slaves effectively executed a modern dance and the crowd began to gather to hear the speech of the city's hero. With the fanfare of trumpets, the rumbling of drums, the clashing of cymbals and the singing of a trio, Mark Anthony (Bea Weaver) arrived to inspire the crowd to cheers and screams of adoration.

As Mark was leaving after his pep talk to the Evens, the most

Continued on page two

Students Are Urged To Submit Material

Students are being urged by Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff, to begin submitting material for the winter issue, the deadline of which is December 15.

Winifred said that the winter issue would stress short stories, familiar essays, and articles on any phase of the students' life. She said that a very few short stories were turned in for the fall issue, and she hopes that many more will be submitted for the next edition.

Printing has already begun on the fall Distaff, and Winifred said that this issue is expected to come out the first week in December.

Winner of Contest Revealed at Games

Odd-Even Rivalry In Sale Of Bonds Concluded

This afternoon with the presentation of the sponsor of the Thanksgiving games, Odds and Evens will learn which group bought the majority of bonds and stamps in the recent drive whose sales totaled $3,377.75.

This drive was sponsored by the Odd and Even honoraries, Spirogira and Esteren, in an effort to make bond buying on campus more effective.

The booth was put up by the Freshman Flunkies and was opened for business Wednesday, November 14.

The candidates for the honor were nominated at specially called Odd and Even meetings. Secret elections at the meetings have decided the one girl from each faction to be presented if their team is victorious.

Last year's sponsor, Marjorie Philyaw, an Odd, will be present at the games this year.

"This is the last victory bond drive" Robin Hill said "The proceeds for Uncle Sam show a vital interest in campus life."

Even bond selling was under the direction of Corrine Johnston, while the Odd activities were directed by Geneva Bettie.

Ella Mae Quinby directs Even production of "Rome Was Never Like This" or "Mark My Word, Mark!"

Play To Be Presented

'Time and the Conways' To Begin Thursday

"Time and the Conways," the first speech department production of the year, will be presented in the Augusta Conradi Little Theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Admission price is fifty cents. Reserved seats may be obtained at the box office in the History building between the hours of 4:30 and 6:00 and from 7:30 until 9:00 every afternoon and evening Monday through Wednesday.

Miss Mary Wood, assistant professor of speech, will direct J B Priestley's play. "Time and the Conways" is a play of mood and emotional relationship, a psychological study of ten people showing character development rather than plot development.

The setting is in Newlingham, London. Act I and Act III are set in the living room of Mrs Conway's home after World War I. The Conway brothers, Alan and Robin, have returned from war and the family is together once more. The highlight of Act I is the charades. This is a guessing game in which each syllable of a word is found in a representative tableau or action. Act II portrays Kay's twenty-first birthday, as do the other two, only 26 years later. Within the script itself, the cast is Americanizing the English idioms for the benefit of the audience.

Katherine Steed will portray

Continued on page two

DeWitt Is Appointed Residence Counselor

"This is my first job," explains Miss Delores DeWitt, newly appointed residence counselor in Jennie Murphree. A recent graduate of Purdue University, where she majored in home economics and minored in psychology, Miss DeWitt comes to Florida State College from Evansville, Indiana.

"Along with the rest of Jennie, I'm an Odd," Miss DeWitt remarked "I am," she added, "intrigued by the unique system of Odd-Even competition, which is in full swing in Jennie and across the campus. Moreover, I have especially noticed the unusual interest in sports shown by students at FSC."

The addition of Miss DeWitt increases to 15 the number of residence counselors now in the dormitories at FSC.

Odds and Evens Clash Today In Hockey and Soccer Games Climaxing '45 Homecoming

Thanksgiving Spirit Runs High With Competition Promising To Be Close; Games to Start At 2:30 on Hockey Field

Climaxing the height of Odd-Even rivalry, the Odd-Even soccer and hockey teams will clash today in the traditional Thanksgiving games. The soccer teams will battle for the winning score at 2:30 this afternoon, and the hockey game will follow at 4:00. For the first time in the history of Odd-Even competition, victory or defeat rests on the hockey and soccer teams, and the contest promises to be a close one.

Even feathers and Odd caps already been dusted off and aired out. Leading the cheers at the game will be the Odd cheerleaders: Alice Taff, Bookie McMichael, Henrietta Trezevant, Wylene Bender, Gloria Lance and Mary Alice Pitts; and the Even cheerleaders; Betty Jo McAteer, Ann Widerquist, Katherine Donohoe, Jean Ann Ramsdell, "Dip" Brown and Norma Schaeffner.

In the past three years the soccer games have been tied so that both teams will be out to win and put their side ahead. Last year the close-fought game ended with a 1-1 tie.

Evidence from last week's soccer class games shows the Evens slightly in the lead with one win and one tie. In the first game the Evens won by a score of 2-0, but the hard-fighting Odd team came from behind to even up the second to a 4-4 tie.

The Odds are confident of winning this time, according to Virginia Palmer, the Odd Soccer leader. Virginia says, "I would even bet my priceless Odd cap on the outcome of this game. We are ready to meet the Evens and I'm sure that we'll win." Miss Lois Ver Hoeven, Odd coach, affirmed that the Odd team is eager to play and has plenty of Odd pep.

Catherine Gallagher, the Even leader, is also confident of victory. "We have a good team that has proved itself in the class games so we aren't contemplating defeat," she said.

Members of the Odd team are: Lea Wells, Shirley Palmer, Joanne Schwartz, Helen Looby, Martha Jean Satterfield, Mary Calley, Bayne Culbreth, Sarah Lou Wells, Enid Sandler, Pauline Tuttle, Virginia Palmer, Rachel Chambers, Marian Looby, Betty Schwartz, Betty Gardiner and Twerp Barry.

Even team members are: Candy Jones, Eloise Boyles, Alva Ray, Jeanie Booth, Catherine Barrs, Elaine Gavigan, Evelyn Shea, Catherine Sullivan, Rosemarie Ferro, Anna Horne, Betty Kennedy, Mary Lois Conn, Babe Evans, Jean Koesy, Joy Little, Jean Fliess and Betty LaBree.

Both teams spent the week practicing techniques and devel-

Continued on page two

FSC Girl Is Chosen Official Sweetheart By G'Ville Sigma Chi

When red-haired Teddy Hamlin appeared at the Sigma Chi formal at Gainesville last week-end in a black jersey dress, the boys decided that the moonlight was beaming on the girl of their dreams.

A Life photographer was on hand to snap the pictures when Teddy received a bouquet and a crown of white roses, becoming the official sweetheart of the Sigma Chi's at the University of Florida. One of the members told her the pictures will appear in a series that Life is doing on Sigma Chi sweethearts all over the country.

Teddy lovingly eyed her memoirs of the week-end, a gold bracelet and a foot-high gold loving cup, saying that receiving these was fartherest from her thoughts when she left. It was her first week-end at Gainesville and she had a blind date.

One of the highlights of the dance was the photographs taken, according to Teddy. A little wo-

Continued on page two

Dodd to Give Talk Thursday in Annex

Musical Program by Majors Will Precede Address

Dr William G Dodd, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences, will be guest speaker at a program to be held next Thursday at 5 pm at Recital Hall in the Music Annex. Dr Dodd will speak on "Improvisation and Popular Music."

Beginning his study of music in 1897 with the Guilman Organ school in New York, Dean Dodd taught private lessons for a while. He has also served on the music staffs of two colleges, Tri-State college in Angola, Indiana, and Boxcobel college in Nashville, Tennessee, from which he came to Florida State College in 1910. Here he was made head of the School of Arts and Sciences until his retirement in May of last year.

Preceeding Dr Dodd's address will be a short musical program by seven majors of the department.

Emily Bridges will play "Sonata in A Major" by Scarlatti, Mozart's "Fantasia in D Minor" will be played by Helen Edmiston, Billie Marie Kacinski, accompanied by Mary Mcguiness will sing "Che Farro Senza Euridice?" by Gluck. Cortland Morper will play two of Schumann's compositions, "Warum?" and "Grillen." Wilda Hayes will play "Ballade in G Minor" by Brahms. "Polka" by Rachmaninoff is to be played by Eleanor Braga and Fawn Trawick will play Neiman's "The Silver Cascade."

Both faculty and students are invited to attend.

Lt Edith Manford Talks on Program

The regular Garnet and Gold radio program of Florida State College was presented Thursday by the Alumnae Association. Miss Louise Gehan alumnae secretary interviewed First Lt Edith Manford of the class of 1936, Army Dietetics Corps, who told of her experiences overseas. Lt Manford was a dietitian on the college staff before going into the service. Of her 30 months in the service 25 were spent in France and England.

Appearing on this week's edition of Garnet and Gold were Merdy Dewey flutist, and Lucille Wooten accompanist, who rendered "Intermezzo" from "Cavalleria Rusticana" by P Mascagni and "Reverie" by Claude Debussy.

Announcing the program was Miss Bertha Bloodworth, FSC publicity director.

Dr Eyman Attends Meeting at U of F

Dr R L Eyman, dean of the School of Education, attended a state conference of County Superintendents at the University of Florida Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week during which he participated in discussions concerning salaries for teachers and the need for teachers in Florida.

Housing facilities for the schools and the responsibility of the counties in regard to the scholarship and internship programs were also discussed during this conference, according to Dr Eyman. The meetings, which were conducted by the U of F as a portion of its program of training for county superintendents, was also concerned with the problem of certification of teachers and with the state supervisory program instituted at the last session of the state legislature.

Dr Eyman and also Mr Milton W Carothers, registrar, were present at a meeting of the Teachers' Educational Advisory Council held in Miami. While there they also attended the Youth Resources conference.

Honorary Elects

New officers for the year were elected at the first meeting of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, held last Monday afternoon. Helen Tarapani was elected president; Ruby Fant, vice-president; Joan Shanor, secretary; Emma Jean Hackle, treasurer; Mary Tinsley, historian; and Dr Dorothy Hoffman, sponsor.

The third Monday in every month was set aside as the date on which regular meetings will be held.

College Infirmary Proves To Be FSC Rest Home and Sick Bay, Equipped to Meet Emergencies as Well as Ordinary Accidents

By BARBARA FARRAR

The rhythmical beat of a swinging door . . . the soft echo of footsteps on a tile clad hallway . . . the metallic ringing of steel instruments in the distance. . . . These are the sounds that a newcomer to the college infirmary carries away with her.

Since 1920 the infirmary has given medical attention to the many minor ills and emergency treatment of the students. It wasn't the same modernly equipped building now on campus, however. The patients were inadequately housed by Reynolds Annex, while those with colds were given a bed on the "porch," the division which now connects the annex with the present infirmary. The normal accommodation of the building was 60 students. Four regular nurses, a doctor, and two scholarship nurses composed the entire staff.

This is quite a contrast compared to the new four story edifice which was erected five years ago. A staff of eight persons are now on duty including the college physician, Dr Dorothy Chayes; a head nurse, Mrs Maxwell Myers; and six assistant nurses, Mrs Marjorie Bean, Miss Jimmie Couch, Mrs Myrtice Conrad, Miss Flossie Riley, Miss Edith Moore and Miss Fay McCracken. Miss Margaret Maxwell serves as secretary to the infirmary. A group of six maids and one janitor, under the direction of Mrs W T Williams, sees that the numerous rooms are kept clean and cheerful for the patients.

Many students have never seen inside the infirmary farther than a hasty peek from the outside scales provided. There have been numerous tales told of the sadistic treatment the helpless victims receive therein. Even the slightest suggestion of a visit there brings forth a shriek of "What? Me go to that morgue?" or "They'll never get me in the "Inferno." However, a recent survey proves that anyone with a reasonably strong [illegible] there.

About the most frequented place is the room commonly known as the "spray chamber." Here sore throats and colds are treated by the use of an efficient spraying device. Here also cold tablets are distributed, bandages applied and the final verdict given as to whether you go "up" or "out."

Also on the first floor is the dispensary. In this room the nurses seem to turn into fearful demons as they beckon with bared hypodermic needles to trembling students. When it's all over everyone agrees that the suspense was the worst part of the ordeal. An electric refrigerator has been installed which keeps all the vaccines and serums at the proper temperature.

The X-ray room is one of which the staff is very proud for here is found a modern General Electric X-ray machine and fluroscope combined. A dark room is provided in which the pictures taken are developed. Mrs Myers, X-ray technician keeps all pictures on file for future reference.

There are always three things about the infirmary that every patient lives for—breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Although lunch and dinner are prepared in the dining hall, the infirmary has a large electrically equipped kitchen for the preparation of breakfast and also for nurses' meals. Large containers are installed where the dining hall trays are kept warm until delivered by the maids to the various rooms. No tears need be shed for the poor nurses slaving away over a dishpan for at their disposal is an electrical dishwasher.

Other than housing the patients, living quarters for six nurses occupy the north end of the second floor. It has the accommodations of a house in miniature with a living room, dining room, [illegible] rooms and the use of the [illegible] kitchen.

[illegible] to the upper [illegible] made possible by the use of a spacious automatic elevator [illegible] enough to carry a stretcher [illegible] second and third floors, each with 13 patient rooms, are much [illegible] When not on du[illegible] stay

Continued on page two

Alumnae Here For Weekend

200 Graduates Honored At Gala Celebration

Graduates of Florida State College came back to their Alma Mater in droves this Thanksgiving weekend tc revel in memories of the years they spent here and to compare notes as to what they have done since they left with their diplomas in hand. The Alumnac office expected nearly 200, which was about the same number as last year's "returnees," number as last year's "returnees." alumnae was planned by the Alumnae Association, Esteren, Spirogira and Mortar Board. An Alumnae coffee and doughnut party will be held this morning at 11 o'clock in the small lounge of the Longmire building, with Mrs Arthur West, formerly Jane MacGowan, '22, as chairman. Serving on her committee were Florence Tryon '26, Virginia Green '43 and Betty Harrison, '39. Esteren entertained at breakfast Thursday morning at the Rainbow Grill, and members of Mortar Board were hostesses Friday in the Soda Shop for a get-together. Spirogira held a breakfast Thursday morning in the Spic.

The class of '45 held a reunion immediately following the Alumnae coffee this morning. Plans were made to meet in the Spic to enjoy sandwiches and cokes.

About 16 members of the class of '45 will have a reunion in New York City this weekend, according to a letter from Betty Lewis, permanent class president.

Traditionally the dormitories and sorority house hold open house Thanksgiving afternoon, and these functions were attended by the Alumnae.

In addition to the list in the Flambeau last week of returning graduates were also on hand to cheer for the teams at the big games: Fenton Davis Avant '08, Iris Watson '14, Belva Floyd Sutton '17, Sarah Frances Jones '22, Vida Martin '26, Julia Martin '27, Alice Nicholson '27. Of the class of '42: Jeanette Thorpe Leslie, Sarah McIntosh, Sue Blanding; class of '43: Ruby Hutson, Octavia B Edwards, and Cleo Lochas. In the class of '44: Marjorie Morrison, Harriet Knarr, Margaret Spearman, Kathryn Watkins, Mildred Ford, Laurel Pierce, Octavia M Coker.

Among those returning in the '45 class were Irene Johnston, Betty Lou Boynton, Dorothy Caswell, Dorean Nicholson, Louise Terry, Mickey Fountain, Joyce Yongue, Doris Headley, Doris Wells, Mary L Ceighert, Margaret Fisher and Bonnie Kindig.

Also coming back to join in the festivities were: Susan Lee White, Eleanor Boyles, Sara Malcolm Krentzman, Mable Houser, Hope King Hines '41, Lillian Bowness, Marion Bowness, Pallie Marhis '34, Juleinia Martin, Mary Baker, Mattie Lou May, Alice Hayden, Winona Murphy, Elizabeth Leach, Florence Wagner, Aleyne Clayton Haines, Edith Manford, Betty Harrison, Dors Skiper, Anna M Sikes, Berrie Gramling, Eva Culley, Louise Atkinson, Dotte B McGahagin, Anita Mitchell and Alice McKenny Anderson.

Dr Shores

Continued from page one

century the custom of Thanksgiving became a firmly established local institution in New England, it was an annual family festival of great importance.

Dr Shores pointed out that Continental Congress was the first to issue a recommendation that worldly employment be set aside on that day.

After six years of having oo public observance, Thanksgiving was reenstated by George Washington in 1789 for the last Thursday of November, the speaker said.

The next president to set aside a special day for giving Thanks was John Adams on May 9, 1796.

President Thomas Jefferson would not issue any such proclamation; he expressed the belief that this savored too much of monarchial practice, Dr Shores explained.

Forty-seven years elapsed before President Lincoln proclaimed a national day of thanksgiving on April 13, 1862.

From 1870 to 1939, Dr Shores told that the President of the United States has appointed and proclaimed a Thanksgiving Dav For these 69 years it was consistently the last Thursday in November. President Roosevelt broke the tradition by proclaiming the fourth Thursday. In 1940 he designed the third Thursday. There was so much objection that in 1941 he returned to the former practice. Later in that year, a joint congressional resolution decreed the fourth Thursday as Thanksgiving day for all future years.

Doctor Shores concluded her address by reading a part of President Truman's message to the people of our country in calling us to this observance.

Odd Lanterns, Even Sheets Are Sign Of Annual Nights Out

Odds and Evens journeyed about the campus in the traditional snake dances that are features of the annual Odd night out and Even night out.

Following their snake dance Thanksgiving night, the Odds carrying multi-colored lanterns, gathered at Westcott steps where Miss Calliope Papatsos, instructor in physical education, and Dr Raymond Bellamy, professor of sociology, gave short pep talks to the Odds. Led by members of Spirogira and by the newly elected Odd cheerleaders, the Odds, who as the junior and freshman classes total 1,549 of the 2,446 members of the student body, joined in singing Odd songs which they hoped would "be heard by Evens in the farthest wing of Landis."

Even spirits soared high last night as the wearers of the green and gold celebrated their night out. Donning sheets, sophomores and seniors met in front of Westcott after which they did a snake dance about campus, ending up in the field behind Jennie Murphree dormitory. There, around a big campfire, the Even cheerleaders led the group in songs and yells and pep talks were given by two Even faculty members, Dr Harold F Richards, professor of physics, and Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education.

Meeting Attended

Dr Margie Burks, professor of Spanish, left Thursday night for Columbia, South Carolina, where she wil attend the Southeastern Modern Language Association meeting. Dr Burks is a member of the executive committee for this association.

When the meeting convenes this week-end it will be for the first time since the war began. Before the outbreak of war it was an annual affair.

Odd-Even Rivalry

Continued from page one

Friday nights, and one to be given at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, sketch school life at FSC. The various swimming strokes were in rhythm to the tunes representative of teams and clubs on campus.

"Turkey day" brought turkey a la king as the main dish of Thanksgiving dinner, plus an Even colored dish of gold corn and green lima beans; an Odd colored salad of purple cabbage and celery strips; sweet potatoes; and fruit cups of apricots and cherries which added a touch of garnet and gold. Centering each table was a bowl of various colored fruit. Ice cream, cookies and toasted pecans were served for dessert.

In many of the residence halls and sorority houses after dinner coffee was served. Also many of the denominational student houses had teas, coffees, and programs to bring out the spirit of Thanksgiving.

The rival spirit was put away Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for few minutes of solemn worship in Westcott auditorium. The service opened with the Call to Worship, followed by responsive reading, a prayer, and a song by the Glee club. Dr Venila L Shores gave an address on the history of Thanksgiving.

Even though classes were resumed yesterday after a day of celebration on Thursday, Homecoming activities continued last night when the Odds opened the curtain on their final demonstration, the first one having been given Wednesday night.

After the Odds and Evens drew straws for privilege of having Wednesday and Friday nights to give their Dem, it fell to the Evens to give theirs on Tuesday and Thursday nights. It was then that the Evens showed their talent in their production of "Rome Was Never Like This, or Mark My Word, Mark." The Odds then retaliated on their nights with their production of "Pinocchiod."

It was Thursday night at 11:30 when the Odds flocked around Westcott steps with their lanterns in hand to hear their pep talk. Last night the Evens, wrapped in their white sheets, surrounded the campfire on Jennie Murphree hill to hear their pep talk Aud?mpn

The committee in charge of the entire Thanksgiving program was Miss Bertha Bloodworth, Miss Margaret Clements, Miss Louise Gehan, Mrs Edith Gulick, Mrs Frances Luce, Miss Anna M Tracy, and Miss Edith McCollum, chairman.

Rome

Continued from page one

learned soothsayer of Rome, played by Margaret Baugh, hurried up to him with the ominous words, "Mr Anthony, you have a problem!" The soothsayer muttered in his long white beard that according to the oracle, Mark would have to live up to the highest Even ideals at all times if his reign was to be successful. His failure would cause himself and all the citizens of Rome to be banished to the Doddvil. These lines of the soothsayer proved to be the key to the ensuing plot, for besides the friendly Evens, three Odds, namely Brutod, Corinne Johnston, Shaky, Rose Marie Ferro, and Itchy, Catherine Sullivan, overheard the soothsayer's prophecy and began planning Mark Anthony's downfall. In their search for a plan of action "preferably low down," they decided to break down Mark's strength of character first, and opon failure of that they would test his honesty Even spirit, courage, wit, and last of all, if everything else failed, his valor. A bit of Odd atmosphere was brought into play here, as a huge Odd hat came in to confer with the intriguers.

The curtain for scene two rose on Mark Anthony's office, where Brutod put in a call to Egypt asking Cleopatra, or Cleod, played by Bonnie Hunt to fly to Rome and get to work helping him break down Mark's strength of character Mark unexpectedly came in and announced that he would be having an executive council meeting in a few minutes and asked why the Odds were found in his office. Brutod floundered around and finally excused himself by stating that he had come to invite Mark to a "little banquet" he was giving the next night at the Pantheon.

Appearing at the executive council meeting was "Proddy" Myers, Jeanette Hollister, in Spirogira dress, "simply effervescing with a stinko complaint," as it was put by Miss Longhand, Katherine Jackson Mark's secretary. Haughtily "Proddy" stated that there was not enough material for "our uniforms." The council was horrified that the "black shirts" were trying to organize again and she was forcibly ejected.

Dressed in short togas and evening skirts, the chorus sang "All the Things You Are" as the curtain went up on the banquet at the Pantheon. Nero, Kit Land, entertained with a classic violin solo while the soothsayer danced. Included in the scene were a slave dance by Patsy Gilliam a tap dance and a tumbling act. Calista Hatcher "brought down the house" singing "Egyptian Nella."

Cleod, wearing her "working clothes" arrived on a litter. She set about conquering Mark after one sultry glance at him. Ann Shull and a group of ballroom dancers entertained the banquet guests while the chorus sang "Even Opus 46," written by Anne Fifield.

Cleod did her best to win Mark but his strength of character was upheld as he decided that "All the wealth of Egypt cannot compare with an Even spirit."

In the next scene back in Anthony's office Itchy tried to juggle Anthony's books, thus to prove him dishonest.

Since everything else had failed, Brutod reluctantly decided to challenge Anthony to a duel.

After a vigorous battle, Corinne, in the character of Brutod remarking thet "that last touche was too much" for her, fell to the floor As Brutod was dying, the gods descended from heaven" and the soccer and hockey teams were introduced by Frankie Hall. The final curtain closed with the singing of "Evens Stand Together."

Entertaining between the acts were Anne Tucker, Calista Hatcher and the following trios: Doris Musselman Sara Lee Williams and Barbara Pennell; Madge Pilcher, Mari Price and Pat Harrison; Jeanne Booth, Pat Harrison and Martha Nell Booth. The Even cheerleaders led the audience in Even songs.

The entire Even demonstration was under the direction of Ella Mae Quinby chairman of the script committee assisted by Sarah Bennett, stage manager; Jackie Belcher and Calista Hatcher, music; Dot Tucker, choreography; Virginia Collins, costumes; Frankie Hall, publicity; Sarah Jane McKelvy business manager; Peggy Kay usher committee; Kit Land and Jane Lyles, lights; Jean Sharer programs; and Bonnie Hunt make-up.

Strange Rules of Bygone Days Revealed as Teachers Reminisce

Cokes, pickles, fried chicken, and ice cream blacklisted! Students at Florida State College about 1925 were not only forbidden to eat those particular delicacies at any time but were also restrained from eating between meals. This and many other strange tales of bygone days unfolded recently when several teachers began to reminisce about the days they spent as students at FSC.

One teacher said, "When the authorities ruled there would be no eating between meals, they meant it." She remembered that the chairman of the discipline committee used to stand just inside the door of Westcott and take the names of all the girls seen heading toward the "corner store" before mealtime.

"No one went hungry at breakfast, though," laughed another teacher. Breakfast was a must. A senior or a faculty member sat at the head of each table, and the roll was checked on a little pad that hung there. The girls were allowed a few cuts at breakfast, though, as well as at all other compulsory gatherings.

Among those things that were compulsory, added an instructor, were chapel services and church attendance. Chapel services were then held every day. The girls were, of course, allowed to pick their own church, but regardless of the strength of their religious inclinations they had to attend its services each Sunday.

"But don't think we didn't have fun, too," said one teacher. One of the favorite pranks of the girls about 1915 was making "gift candy." This candy was made with slightly ersatz material. Perfume was used for flavoring and cold cream for butter. "It smelled grand," she laughed, "but you should have seen the look on the faces of the recipients as they bit into a piece."

Another teacher remembered the plays given by the students as having been quite a bit of fun. "At that time," she said, "the girls were not allowed to wear slacks at all." All the plays were given behind a waist-high curtain, which was stretched across the entire width of the stage. This successfully hid the dresses of the "men," but couldn't do much about their long hair.

"But the most fun of all were the mock faculty meetings," said one instructor, surprisingly. The girls borrowed the teachers' clothes, copied their speech and their mannerisms. Only the most skillful performers among the students were chosen, and the imitations were so good that no one ever failed to recognize the teacher being mocked. "I guess they think we can't take it now," she added.

The teachers all agreed that, since the school had grown so large, the girls didn't seem to have the same spirit that they did some years ago. But one smiled and said, "The girls themselves haven't really changed. It's just that they do things a little differently now."

Honorary to Give Cup to Sophomore

Omicron Nu, home economics honorary, will present the scholarship cup to a sophomore at the Home Economics club meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Longmire building Wednesday at 7:45. Since 1926, this cup has been awarded annually, in recognition of scholarship, to the sophomore home economics major who maintained the highest average during her freshman year. Last year Esther Louise Dale was presented with this award.

Miss Mary E Keown, state home demonstration agent, will speak on "Achievement in Home Economics" at the meeting. A member of Omicron Nu will explain the aims and purposes of the Omicron Nu Honorary Society and the work of the Pi chapter of Florida State College. Carolyn Flewellen, president of the chapter, will present the scholarship cup.

Immediately following the meeting, a brief reception honoring the winner of the cup will be held in the Longmire clubroom. The Home Economics club invites all home economics students to attend.

Play To Be Presented

Continued from page one

Mrs Conway, a high-strung, flighty, high-society woman who loves her children and takes great pride in them. Warren Green, as Alan Conway, is an easy-going, optimistic member, who, with Kay, played by Anne Hunter, is the unifying force of the family. Ralph Donaldson as Robin Conway, the younger son, is one of a very romantic and "no count" nature. Sarah Lewis is Hazel Conway who is considered the most beautiful young lady of Newlingham. Claire St John takes the part of Joan, a friend of the family, very sweet and naive, with whom Robin falls in love. Madge Conway, enacted by Maureen Petty, who is even more of an idealist than Kay, believes in doing all she can to make the world a better place in which to live. Barbara Holt is Carol, the youngest Conway, a life-loving and fun-loving girl. Ernest Beevers, a shy, unconfident, self-made man who falls in love with Hazel much to her disgust, is portrayed by Owen Sellers, while Paul Johnson takes the part of Gerald, who is a capable and fun-loving young lawyer.

For the first time in several years, the speech department has selected a play with male characters. In real life Owen Sellers is associate professor of music at FSC. Mr Sellers had been on leave of absence of over two years in the army as Flight Instructor before returning to the campus this year. He has played in two comedies in the past: "He Who Acts Slapped" and "No Time for Comedy."

Ralph F Donaldson, associate professor of the industrial arts, has directed plays at the Demonstration school, and has played straight roles and character parts in "Wooden Slippers" and "Enter Madame."

Warren Green teaches English at Leon high school. While at Knox College, he took parts in "Pirates of Penzance" and "Winterset," and has also worked as a radio announcer.

Paul Johnson is now employed at the State Treasurer's office after serving more than two years in the Army Air Corps in the Pacific area. He matriculated at Sparks College and since then has done theatrical work with the Tallahassee Little Theater.

Interns to Return To Campus Monday

Seminars About Experiences In Teaching Scheduled

The 15 Florida State College students who are interning in state public schools this fall will return to campus next Monday, according to Mr Robert C Moon, director of intern teaching. These girls will then participate in a seminar, lasting the remainder of the quarter, during which they will discuss their experiences in the public schools and information obtained from their method course.

Approximately 50 students plan to do intern teaching next quarter and more than 35 the third quarter, bringing the number of students internees this year to 100. The program, therefore, includes more students than at any previous time since its inauguration more than four years ago and three times as many as last year.

In regard to future plans Mr Moon stated that all juniors who wish to intern next year should submit their applications as soon as they decide to do so. This is necessary, he said, because the director of internees must contact the county superintendent, the school principal and the directing teacher at each school where a girl plans to do intern teaching.

Those participating in the program this quarter include Ruth Bishop, who is teaching commercial subjects at the Palm Beach high school in West Palm Beach; Ruth Clark, who is teaching grade five in Greenwood elementary school; Martha Jane Brown, social studies at Leon high school in Tallahassee; Betty Jean DeVane, commercial subjects at the Plant City high school; Annette Eddy, grade four in the Alachua elementary school.

Betty Jo Fussell, grade two at South Ward school, Clearwater; Elizabeth Johnston, mathematics at Lakeland high school; Doris McIntosh, grade five at the Kirby Smith Elementary school in Gainesville; Mary Belle Riherd, grade three at the W J Bryan school in Tampa; Gladys Silverblatt, social studies at the Andrew Jackson high school in Miami.

Carolyn Fay Smith is teaching social studies at Landon high school in Jacksonville. Virginia Smith, grade three at Woodlawn Tarpon Springs elementary school; Ruth Spivak, the sixth grade at Mattie V Rutherford school in Jacksonville; and Ruth Sturrock, science at the Palm Beach high school in West Palm Beach.

Odd-Even Clash

Continued from page one

oping possible "surprise" plays for Saturday's games. The Odds, sparked by the addition of freshman players and backed by experienced juniors should offer some stiff competition to the sophomore and senior Evens. But Babe Evans' players will "try to keep things from becoming too un-Even!"

In the hockey games the Odds have held a slight edge over the Even team from the scores of scrimmage games. But they only gained a victory after a bitter struggle, with the hard fighting Evens close behind. When asked her opinion on the coming game, Evelyn Stucky, Even leader said, "Our Even hockey team is good and we know we are good but this knowledge does not make us over-confident, because we know at the same time that the Odds have managed to whip-up a team this year that's worth a wee-bit of observation. I know the Even team will be ready to play a good game tomorrow."

Nita Nord Odd leader said, "I am proud of the way the freshmen have learned hockey. The whole team is well coordinated and I'm expecting them to put up a fight against the Evens Saturday that will long be remembered."

Members of the Odd hockey team are: Nancy McEdwards, Mary Jackson, Virginia Anthony, Winifred Anthony, Nita Bowles, Nancy Gleaton, Mary Nell Goldman, Catherine Gallagher, Virginia Goodell, Lucy Harding, "Sis" Miller Nita Nord, Lucille Ossenkop Dottie Patrick, Maril Richardson, Claric, Trueblood and Nancy Ward.

On the Even hockey team are: Sarah Bennett, Shirley Duggan, Audrey Perry Frankie Hall, Dot Tucker Janes Lyles, Kit Land, Anna Geise Evelyr Stucky, Rosalie Davis, Katherine Beazell, Marian Floyd, Jean Bennett, Amarene Thompson, Charlotte Bouland, Ann MacInnes and Irma Lee Shepard

FSC Girl

Continued from page one

man in bright red slacks ran around taking pictures of the house, the members and their dates and miscellaneous scenes. Teddy found herself being pulled out, introduced to some boy and told to pose for a "romantic" picture One of the pictures, she remembers was taken under the rose bower, just after her date had presented her with the Sigma Chi bracelet.

"It was all such a surprise!" exclaimed Teddy, who is still stunned from the excitement. She said that Saturday afternoon, one of the pledges took all the dates for a tour of the campus. While they were gone, the members had a meeting and nominated three girls for sweetheart; the final votes were cast at the dance that night.

Teddy remembers that one of the members came up to her and said, "Congratulations." "I didn't know what he was talking about," she confided. Then she and the other two girls were taken upstairs and given their bouquets. The other girls (she doesn't remember their names) had bouquets of red roses.

Teddy is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority here at Florida State College.

College Infirmary

Continued from page one

on the second floor at the station. Communication between patient and nurses is carried on through a "buzzer" systems. Whenever a patient buzzes, the light above her door goes on and registers in the station. The nurse then knows which room needs attention.

Also on the second floor is the utility room where the girls with sprained muscles take their "daily dip" in the stationary tubs.

Basal metabolism and diathermy machines are two of the latest additions to the infirmary. They are contained in a single room accompanied by a bed so the patient can remain overnight and meet her date early the next morning.

Every medical institution must have a laboratory and the infirmary isn't lacking. Dr Viola Graham, professor of physiology, is assisted by two students, Trigg Thompson and Peggy Limroth, in all the laboratory work.

The third floor is a replica of the second except for the fact that the "untouchables" are kept here. Those poor unfortunate creatures with mumps, measles and other contagious diseases mope away their solitude on hall three.

No, those aren't barred windows on the fourth floor. . . . Wrong again, no padded cells either This is "doctors' delight," the operating room. Air conditioned and modernly equipped, the room serves for emergency operations. Dr J H Pound, assisted by Dr Chayes, perform all the surgery. Last year there were 12 appendectomies and one skull fracture, but the record is clear so far this year.

The infirmary is awaiting the arrival of a gas-oxygen anaethesia machine for minor operations. The machine operates by means of a little rubber ball placed in the patient's hand. Pressure on the ball releases nitrous oxide, putting her to sleep. As relaxation takes place there is a natural release of the ball. Whenever pain is felt she unconsciously clinches the ball again causing an influx of the anaesthetic. In this way it is impossible to fall into a deep sleep.

In addition to the operation room there are two epidemic wards normally accommodating 18 persons each. Cots can be added in emergencies.

Furniture will soon be arriving for the spacious sun deck. Convalescents can then enjoy the view as well as the sunshine.

So next time you whistle under that "certain" window and a morbid moan issues from within, it isn't your friend being crucified. Some poor nurse has just dropped her favorite thermometer.

Strickland's
Brownbilt
Shoe Store

SEARS

Sweater Siren

In gloriously colored June O'Day sweaters, you'll win his heart! They're designed to help you achieve brilliant results.

100% long sleeved wool pullover.

Sizes 34 to 40.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA. SEARS PHONE 2400

Smart Luggage . .

For a Gala Vacation

Be proud of your traveling bags with one of our new blue airplane-weight valises

11.46 14.55 20.00

Powers Model Hat Boxes

So chic and so handy for your make-up, and other small articles. A thousand and one uses. Sophisticated shades of black and red, blue and white or yellow and white

49c to 79c

Visit Our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

The Surprise Store

101-105 E. JEFFERSON PHONE 299

Evolution of Years Completed By Elimination of Cut System

The year the cut system which was, in some form, has been a part of Florida State College life for nearly a decade was eliminated. Attendance of classes is now left to the discretion of the individual student and adjustment for non-attendance is left to the discretion of the individual teacher.

At one time, back in the days when FSC was "a seminary for young ladies", the cut system reigned supreme. Infirmary excuses were issued in case of illness. Necessary absences could be arranged for in advance with the dean of students, and attendance was thoroughly checked.

Later on, in the early 1930's, prior to 1934, one quality point was deducted for the first unexcused absence and two quality points for the second; three for the third. This was true of all classes except physical education, where one-half a quality point was deducted for each unexcused absence and a grade in case of one or more unexcused absences just before or after a holiday.

The cut system appeared in 1934. The handbook for that year states that each student, except freshmen and transfers, will be allowed three cuts per week, not more than two being in any one class hour except Saturday when in any course carrying less than three hours credit. A student was allowed in addition to the three cuts, one-half as many cuts per quarter as she had quality points above a C average, provided the number of cuts in one class did not exceed the number of times that class met per week. If, after using her allowed number of cuts, the student should cut in that her average fell below C, she was placed on academic probation. Students on academic probation had no cuts. The dean of students could grant excuses in cases of extreme emergencies.

In 1936, these regulations were amended to allow transfers to have the full number of cuts their previous rank permitted. Also, all students who had received work under E, except first semester freshmen and students on academic probation, might have the privilege of cutting. Students having a B average or above might have three cuts per quarter. Students who accepted the privilege of cuts for one quarter was placed on academic probation if the student cut again, she was called before Executive Council, and, if she failed to offer satisfactorily, was asked to withdraw.

Unlimited cuts were granted to students making all A's. Trade passes for the semester immediately following the A had. In that year, it was ruled that summer students should not count towards academic probation, graduation, or cuts. Students with a B average were allowed two-thirds of a cut for the number of times a class met per week of any course carried. Students having a B average in one and not on academic probation were allowed one cut in each course per quarter. In physical education, two absences equaled one cut.

In 1944, unlimited cuts were given to students who made a 2.0 average in the preceding quarter's graduate students, and adult special students. One cut was given for each class hour in which undergraduate students made C or above, provided this number did not exceed the number of times that class met per week. Students making unsatisfactory in any class a quarter lost all further cuts in that class for the remainder of the semester.

Until the war emergency, a doctor's excuse was required of all day students who remained at home due to illness. Since then, a statement from a parent in the home has been accepted because of the shortage of doctors, a recent handbook says.

This year no infirmary excuses are given. A list of students who spent the night in the infirmary is posted on the faculty bulletin board each day for those who care to consult it. Under this new no-cut system, first quarter freshmen are required to attended classes. Second quarter freshmen making a B average make take the responsibility of attending or not attending classes. Third quarter freshmen are considered as upperclassmen in respect to cuts, according to this year's handbook.

From Me To Y'all

Our first letter looks interesting. It starts "We didn't know much about us sharp as a mashed potato sandwich." How did that get in here? I told my secretary to weed out fan letters such as that. She seems small and select: don't appreciate old Sharpie's advice. Well, let's get on.

"Cynical" writes us, "I'm sick of it. They keep commenting on how good the food is. I'll be the say the food is delicious, the rules are lax, life is a picnic, and the girls how fine they are but they college days are the happiest in one's life."

We know that "Cynical" can only be talking about one thing. Only Seminar, who vaguely remember good old FSC and who have nostalgic memories this time of year, might feel that way who have poor memories. They forget the long hours in the hall when Sharpie proves around hi mecom'ng time and we're glad it does. They have to how fine they are but they college days are the happiest in one's life."

We know that "Cynical" can only be talking about one thing. Only Seminar, who vaguely remember good old FSC and who have nostalgic memories this time of year, might feel that way who have poor memories. They forget the long hours in the hall when Sharpie proves around hi mecom'ng time and we're glad it does. They have spent many hours eagerly forcing over to see if they could turn the racket. Yes, the worst blow of all is when they tell us how much they love us, but that they can suggest for "Cynical" is to forget the past, live in the now for fer-scent alumns and explain that we may get pushed around a bit by the world but it's when we're happy and when we ain't. Here is a letter from a senior who asks, "In my entire four-year stay at FSC, I have never seen a picture of the Flam- if I sleep through it again this "Thanksgiving" I'll die of guilt." "Lethargic." Well, after pauling this one over, Sharpie would say that you have missed a great deal of your life regretting such an unwise decision. To make matters worse, we have a feeling you will hear people talking about it during the next few days. Ask someone from Bennington College they say to you, "We could start a new tradition." Sharpie feels that this point your mouth will fall open and you will be at a loss for words. However, you can say that you witnessed a historic thing in your college. That is that you saw two girls rise at 5:30 a.m. simultaneously and rush to see who could run the fastest and reach the front door of the dining hall first. This will no doubt impress your friends for a long time.

"Sensitive" writes, "Does everyone on campus hate to whistle a special tune whenever they want certain people to come running?" Sharpie is investigating this as far as she can gather, different whistles mean different things. Each organization seems to have one which calls together the members immediately. Robin Hood used to do. Then there are melodious whistles among friends which may mean that they want to go to the Sweet Shop, classes, or to get to be a bitch. I burned out the window the other night and whistled "How Dry I Am" to see if anyone would whistle in solution to my problem.

A freshman writes, "After the teams have spent so much time whooping up their games, and practicing so hard, I'm worried What if no one comes to the games?"

That will never happen. A large percentage of the freshman class will go, the men and the blonde women on campus will be there, so naturally it will look like a crowd anyway.

"We don't think Donald liked it very much" writes a girl who calls herself, "Disappointed." We know what you mean. At times like this we'd like to beat Sinatra. At least the Voice puts his heart into it.

"Discouraged" writes this touching note. We know that when it is time to study the powers that be, crocodile tears will roll down withered cheeks because they just don't realize what they do to us. Oh, the note. Well, she says, "Have you been hit in the face like I was by the sign in the Alum—(oops, sorry) and the maintenance building—which says 'Boys Without Dates Not Allowed-' I wouldn't mind if it said, 'Girls aren't allowed' because I don't know any men. Like the rest of the FSC girls I am forced by circumstances to date boys from junior high to dent age. If they were allowed to come down to the game room and bring their little chums, I might lure them into a game of marbles. Can something be done as I'm single and approaching the voting age?"

We are not sure of what this girl's problem really is. She is evidently an intellectual girl with high literary ideals. For this reason may we suggest that the reading matter on this sign be improved? Perhaps we owe an explanation to the little fellows such as this. "Boys Without Dates Proceed at your own risk—Girles Below", or "Warning—College not Responsible for Safety of Unescorted Youths", or they could grow up and just forbid entrance to "men" instead of "boys". That would be more hospitable seems to us. And so Sharpie solves one more mandom's problem.

23 Boys to Present Recital Next Week

A boys' musical recital will be presented Friday night, November 30, in the Music Annex, according to Miss Mary Reeder, instructor in piano and piano methods.

This musical group is composed of 23 boys who all play the piano or the violin. The boys themselves make up the entire program including the accompaniments which will be played by Ben Phipps, Larry West, and Bobby Leslie. The three violin players are individually instructed by Miss Olga Ritzer, associate professor of violin and theory, and Eleanor Brasg and Rachael Crotwell, both Florida State College music students. The pianists of the group are studying under Miss Reeder or Rebecca Rodenberg, also a Florida State College music student.

This group originated about ten years ago when it was discovered that there were eight boys studying music on the campus and since then it has grown to the present number. Miss Reeder stated, Dr Guy Maier, an ethusiastic supporter of musical work this boys' musical group in the Etude magazine as being outstanding among the nation.

At the conclusion of the program punch will be served by the girls' dorms, the only place that girls participate in the affair.

Drawings by Kirn Appear in Review

Drawings by Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art, recently appeared in the New York Book Review, children's book issue. They are examples of the drawings which she has done for Child Caboose, written by Miss Evelyn DeWitt, former student at Florida State College.

The illustrations accompany a short review of the book which reads: "Fine swooping lines catch all the exhilaration of transcontinental travel in the drawings of Callie the Caboose's last odyssey. Callie, the humpty-wheeled caboose of her years, is rejuvenated by an elderly couple and hitch-hikes her way across the tracks to California to settle there into a placid old age as a permanent boarder in her rescuers. The narrative doesn't live up to the dramatic pitch of the drawings, but these will rapture the eye and the imagination of the picture book age."

Undimmed Lights Enable Star, D Dickson, 'To Have Fun Too'

"I want to have fun too," smiled Donald Dickson, baritone, in explaining why the auditorium lights remained undimmed during the concert Monday night. Appearing Mr Dickson enjoyed looking over his audience as much as his audience enjoyed watching him.

This pleasure in his listeners hold a definite clue to the personality of the visiting Metropolitan Opera star. Whether putting reclassily across the stage or lounging lazily against the piano, Dickson managed to inspire something of his own whole-hearted enjoyment and pure love of singing in all who witnessed his 9 o'clock rehearsal Monday.

Quips were exchanged as a group of admiring girls crowded about the star, edging on his prompts concert in the form of his afternoon autographing. Although he previously appeared on campus in 1939 and again in 1941, Dickson revisited the auditorium that afternoon because, as his accompanist, Lawrence Stevens, expressed it, artists like to "get the feel" of a hall before their concert.

As the last notes of "Good Night" died away during rehearsal, a girl piped up, "But, Mr Dickson, we aren't allowed to drink at the college."

"I know," he retorted, "that's why I'm going to sing this song-" Turning to another selection Dickson jovially prodded his accompanist, "Let's see how fast we can go," he urged. As the crowd looked on in puzzled silence, he continued, "See, it gets very lively'; that means 'let's get going, bob'."

Casting about the auditorium, Dickson inquired where the classrooms are located. Upon being told that they are upstairs and upon observing girls in increasing numbers pop in to watch the show, Dickson shook his head and smiled. "Oh well, what difference do the classrooms make?" he remarked; "you'll never find the students there anyway"?

Regarding his screen debut in the Danny Kaye production "Up in Arms", Dickson emphatically stated that he is through with the movies. Remarking that he isn't compete with the cutting room, Dickson claimed Hollywood as a pleasant little town."

"Do you play boogie-woogie?" one piano student inquired incredulously of Lawrence Stevens.

While the latter was modestly, Dickson interposed. "Sure!" he exclaimed emphatically. They then defended boogie-woogie by explaining that though it is not of great worth, that type of music is clever and amusing and has a definite part of American musical expression.

When the girls turned to modest Lawrence Stevens who is a faculty member at the Institute of Music in Cleveland, they learned that his is the music and scores of concert tours with Donald Dickson.

When a student inquired about his favorite musical work, Stevens shook his head. "I have none," he said. "Music is too universal. Enjoying only one piece of music is like eating only raw carrots or only roast venison."

As the dorms' own compositions, still in manuscript form, were sung by Mr Dickson during the performance. Named, You Are Not Small and Autumn, they were composed on stem-wood, to be found in the Good Housekeeping magazine. Their composer believes the words of the poems should have equal credit and should be named on the program. (The audience, however, knows where the credit should go).

Many fans came to Tallahassee as part of a tour of the southeastern states. His last engagement was at Pensacola and he expected next to go to Daytona Beach.

Alpha Lambda Delta To Present Program

Alpha Lamba Delta, freshman scholastic honorary, will present the convocation program Thursday, November 29.

The theme of the program is to be centered around scholarship with an emphasis on learning how to fit the student for living in the world today.

Prior to a discussion period on a vital problem of the day and its relation to youth and education, a faculty member will speak on "The Importance of Higher Learning."

Members and sponsors of Alpha Lambda Delta will compose the group taking part in the discussion and being in charge of the devotional and special music.

Evolution of Pinocchio

Continued from page one

called "Tabby the Cat." Pinocchio learned some wonderful, but naughty stuff. "No, its root beer you're Tempting Pinocchio, I mean Evil," said Tabby, past-ing it by calling, "L S M P T." Jiminy explained to the puppet Pinocchio that he better stood off. "Loaded seniors mean Hell to Long Tall Sally," remarked Barnes Simpson, carried on a scientific conversation in the dialect of Dr Hasle, by Hasel, why of Hare, Hazel." Then he banged down on the counter and ordered the crowd, "That was my wife, Small" Throughout the Pinocchio was assisted by Evens. Jiminy Cricket protected the little-eyed Pinocchio from attempting females one of whom, is a young voice, said "So Wrong for Long."

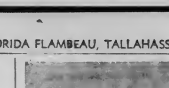
Three reluctant Even Spirits were in, and were discovered to be Sara Bonnett with an "F" and many stars on her sweater. She played by Rosemary Fleming evidently the purple fairy re-appeared and scolded Pinocchio for his waywardness. Taking Pinocchio by the hand, Jiminy Cricket led the Pinocchio from the lowden den.

Act II, III, the two tramped along through the months of June, July and August, and on the eve of Thanksgiving arrived at PSC. Identified as the home of "Prune-ella, the Animal Queen." A chorus of Odds greeted the pair who sang lovingly to Pinocchio. "You'd rather have you with us than anyone else." Pinocchio joined the covered red, purple, and white cap and was re-named Pinocchiodd.

Members of the Odd soccer and hockey teams were introduced in clever manner as the audience Hannah window cut in the background mirroring the red-brick walls of Byran.

As the curtain descended on the last act, the Odd chorus sang their closing song, "So Long for While."

The play was directed by Nell Clark and the plot idea was credited to Frances Byers and Lucy Ann Mary Lou Norwood was the music director. "Can-Can" dancers included Donia Clifton, Margaret Flynn, Jane Thomas, and Jesse Spruill. Ballet dancers were Bernie Loftus, Lorraine Smith, Kathryn Klein, and Virginia Wilson. Bebe Daniels and Ann Sothern Klein dancers performed a ballroom dance in a misty spot light.



Soloists were Betty Murray, Kay Groan, Dallas Stever, Nancy Sue, Joyce Stroberg, and Patsy Ann Brady. Piano boogie woogie was played by Syivia Meuch, Chris Pecanis.

The tables were decorated with a centerpiece consisting of oranges, apples, kumquats, and a pineapple, which was raffled off at most of the tables. The dinning hall girls were dressed in white frocks for the occasion.

The ten Even Thanksgiving tables were decorated by members of the Sophomore class. The tables were for the members of Esterou. Even honorary. The Even soccer archery and hockey and modern dance teams, the sophomore and senior class officers, and the Even members of the Executive council.

Centerpieces were rainbows of green and gold with EVENS written across the top, and the placecards rested on little pine cone turkeys.

The odd tables composed of three four teams, members of the odd honorary, Spirogirls. Junior class officers, and members of the Executive council, were decorated with placecards in the form of small books which contained the odd songs.

Florida State College Band will perform this afternoon by executive drills and playing a concert in between the ecaer and hacker games.

Now Forgotten Volumes of Fiastacowo Unfold Traditions of FSC for 35 Years

The story and traditions of Florida State College lie folded within the 32 volumes of the Fiastacowo. On a forgotten shelf in Landstrander's dusty memorials of their year, forsaken for the new annual, the one which will stand for all that is the present.

Filling the first space in this shelf is the year book of 1910. It is a little buckskin covered book with the word, "Fiastacowa," boldly imprinted on the front, which supposed to tell the little that there was something new under the Florida sun. Within its rather crude bindings are selected written material carefully gathered by its authors and a few pictures of the student body and the faculty arrayed in sailor shirts, long, ankle-length skirts, and upswept pompadours. It boasts of four sororities which were then on the campus and announces the beginnings of many of our present campus institutions and also some which now exist only in the memory. The Minerva and Thalian literary societies, the crescent and star basketball team, and the Talisman, which is now the Distaff, represent some of these early organizations.

In passing down the row, the discussion is broken when it is reached. The publication of the Fiastacowo was stopped then and not resumed until 1930 due to conditions created by World War I. Here is a gap of four years, therefore, which stands unbridged by the Fiastacowo.

Next the brilliant luster of the 1930 annual catches the eye because its cover is of a silver hue. This is the silver bubble numbers representing the 25th anniversary of the founding of the college.

Progressing from one book to the other, he sees the efforts of each succeeding one become more extensive and elaborate. The buckskin covers of the fore-runners give way to hard back covers with the 1922 edition. The 1932 book issues in another advance the change from the 8x11 book size to that of 9x12. This difference, the practical one, is not worried What if no one comes to the games?"

That will never happen. A large percentage of the freshman class will go, the men and the blonde women on campus will be there, so naturally it will look like a crowd anyway.

"We don't think Donald liked it very much" writes a girl who calls herself, "Disappointed." We know what you mean. At times like this we'd like to beat Sinatra. At least the Voice puts his heart into it.

"Discouraged" writes this touching note. We know that when it is time to study the powers that be, crocodile tears will roll down withered cheeks because they just don't realize what they do to us. Oh, the note. Well, she says, "Have you been hit in the face like I was by the sign in the Alum—(oops, sorry) and the maintenance building—which says 'Boys Without Dates Not Allowed-' I wouldn't mind if it said, 'Girls aren't allowed' because I don't know any men. Like the rest of the FSC girls I am forced by circumstances to date boys from junior high to dent age. If they were allowed to come down to the game room and bring their little chums, I might lure them into a game of marbles. Can something be done as I'm single and approaching the voting age?"

We are not sure of what this girl's problem really is. She is evidently an intellectual girl with high literary ideals. For this reason may we suggest that the reading matter on this sign be improved? Perhaps we owe an explanation to the little fellows such as this. "Boys Without Dates Proceed at your own risk—Girles Below", or "Warning—College not Responsible for Safety of Unescorted Youths", or they could grow up and just forbid entrance to "men" instead of "boys". That would be more hospitable seems to us. And so Sharpie solves one more mandom's problem.

Students to Sign

Continued from page one

mas vacation starts. Other dates have been listed by Miss McCollum as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 6; Sunday, January 6; Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; Sunday, January 13.

Girls living in their present rooms have first choice but that room Seniors' choices are next in effect, and after all changes of students on campus are made, the incoming girls are placed in the vacancies.

"Rooming is an important aspect of a college girl's life, and every effort is made to see that the girls are as happy as possible," Miss McCollum said.

LEARN too!

FLY with

TAC

Operators of the Original Civilian Pilot Training Program at F.S.C.W.

WE WILL BEGIN INSTRUCTING IN THE NEW TAYLORCRAFT SOON

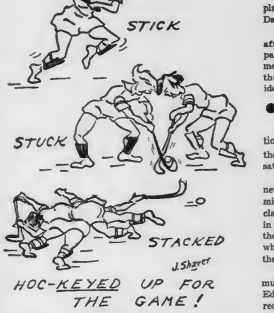
CARL HOFFMAN FRANK LEWIS
JEFF LEWIS IVAN MUNROE

All Licensed Pilots and Ex-Servicemen With a Total of 35 Years Flying Experience—Military and Civilian

TALLAHASSEE AIRCRAFT CORPORATION

Municipal Airport

exclusively . . .



Rose Laird

Young Skin

Beauty Preparations

THE COLLEGE SHOP

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

The climax of Thanksgiving festivities seems a poor time to do any rational thinking about anything. The whole college is wrapped up in a gala celebration spirit. Yet it seems as though it is quite apropos to pause a few minutes to visualize just what is going on to make us stay in a continual whirl around this time. Endless practicing for the perfection of Even and Odd demonstrations; working out strategic plays to use against one another in this highly rivaled sports season, soccer and hockey; polishing steps and better formations for Tarpon exhibition; careful planning for the Thanksgiving dance, and alumnae get-togethers along with countless other jobs which are not especially noticed but all of which are included in making Thanksgiving weekend a success—all of these things embody the spirit of this week.

This buzzing activity is not created or started overnight. Since the beginning of school many minds have been at work thinking about their part of Thanksgiving weekend. Every day a little more work and a few more plans were set in motion for the successful end to take place this week. Everything comes to a head starting Tuesday and ending Saturday night with a tired work-crew returning chairs, lights, records, and pop bottles to their owners after "curtain" is called on the Thanksgiving dance at 12 midnight. Cinderella is then once again herself. The extra bottles of athletic energy can again be put on the shelf for later use—much later.

The point is, without description this time, during the first quarter we have an overload of activities to carry, most of which terminate with Thanksgiving week. In September we, even seniors who know the ropes fairly well, orientate ourselves to college lives again—we discipline ourselves to get in at a certain hour, and we try desperately to get into the swing of studying after, to most cases, a non-academic summer. In addition to re-orientating ourselves at the beginning of the fall quarter, there is Investiture for seniors and sophomores, Artist Series events for everyone, Academic Procession, and YWCA recognition. Do not jump at the conclusion or suggestion that we deem it advisable to liquidate these functions. Reason for mentioning them is only to show that there are other activities boiling on the stove first quarter in addition to the emphasized Thanksgiving Homecoming celebration. Now take a look at the college calendar for second quarter—Youth Conference, Sophomore Hop and Freshmen Carnival.

Compared with first quarter's functions it is quite sparsely scattered with special activities which take time and energy of most of the students. As we are not robots or women, we, in finding out these last few facts that we do need at least six hours of sleep now and then, we do owe 100 pages of parallel Monday morning, we have neglected our daily assignments too often to pose as an intelligencia in class, that in general we are not becoming physical and mental wrecks for working so hard. The revised version of "Hail to the Caps and Gowns"—worn out bags, decrepit old hags—is not peculiar only to seniors! Those who say just being under the quarter system is hard enough are under even more of a strain with additional Homecoming and Thanksgiving activities.

In order to somewhat solve the problem it might be well to consider placing our Homecoming activities in the second quarter. Thanksgiving could then be more fully observed for the purpose for which it was started, a day of thanks. The Thanksgiving dance, Tarpon exhibition and the regular sports season could be retained on the weekend.

We have already seen that it makes no difference what games are played; those at Homecoming have much more student interest because of the fostered spirit aroused in every loyal Even and Odd. By second quarter most students will have had a quarter's work behind them. We would have a pretty good conception of just how our academic pursuances stack up, thus knowing generally how much we can bite off without finding ourselves caught in the whirl of activities. The demonstrations and second sports season could constitute the exclusive Homecoming weekend; it could easily be placed on the college calendar so that it would not encroach upon Freshmen Carnival, Sophomore Hop, and the Youth Conference—the last two which concern a minority group in comparison to the whole college personnel.

By having Homecoming in second quarter its activities could be exclusive; no Thanksgiving day, no Christmas plans already in the making and practicing stages, no intricate plans yet in working condition on Junior Minstrels or May Day festival.

This is a subject which we should think about for it affects us all directly or indirectly, if we are a true active part of FSC college life. It is hoped that students and faculty members will discuss this in their various groups and express their opinions (at the same time offering constructive ideas) through the letters to the editor column.

● GRIPES GET A HEARING

All is not well with the students of the School of Education at Miami University, in Oxford, Ohio; they feel that the type of schooling they are getting is not entirely satisfactory.

According to the Miami Student, the weekly student newspaper, "gripes and grievances" have been confined to midnight bull sessions, or conversational exchanges between classes for quite sometime. But having accomplished little in the way of improving what they consider existing evils, they then took action by electing a student-faculty board whose purpose is to investigate the problems presented in the training of future teachers.

The basic problems which they feel should be given much consideration are the rigidity of the curriculum which Education students are required to follow, the multiplicity of required professional courses often overlapping in content, and the fact that students who decide to make teaching their profession are more often likely to find that they have all but closed the door to satisfaction of any intellectual curiosity they may have outside of their chosen fields.

Required professional courses come in for what often seems to them a disproportionate amount of the student's college training, and that too rigid a curriculum sacrifices to much over-specialization the benefit of a wider college experience. They also feel that criticism to the effect that students are "taught how to teach, but not what to teach" is justified.

The newly elected board is to consider the aforementioned questions and it is hoped that it will study the prescribed programs for teachers which, in general, includes numerous courses in methods, plus further instruction in methods in connection with the student teaching, and the application of methods in his study of the principles of teaching.

The board consists of two faculty members and two students elected by the students from each division of the school of education: elementary, secondary and practical arts. The board is to hold monthly meetings which will be open to all students of the School of Education, and will act as "a co-ordinating group between faculty and students."

This plan originated with students who were concerned with the type of education to which they were being submitted. The faculty evidently was not opposed to students infringing upon what is commonly accepted as the right of professors to decide what shall constitute the program or study.

This, then, is a shining example of faculty-student cooperation which Miami University has set forth for itself and other colleges. Out of it should come advancement for better education with both a small "e" and a capital one.

● WE ARE THANKFUL

Someone has said that gratitude is health of the soul. Callous would be the student who could pass over this season without being grateful for being able to attend privileges which didn't exist not too many years ago.

This beloved campus of more than 2,400 souls, has been spared the ravages and horrors of the devastating outside world. The iron gates protect the school from the cold, cruel reality of life. It is a blessing that adults' problems do not seep into the innocent minds of the students.

The freedom that is enjoyed today at FSC is a costly possession. But former students who have fought for laxity of rules have not done so in vain. Their names are written in our minds as having fought that others might attend college in a less binding atmosphere.

Then, let us be thankful for these predecessors. We are indeed grateful for the results of their efforts. It is gratifying to know that all seniors are eligible for Senior Hall, even though those living off campus are not allowed the Senior Hall privileges.

We realize that our being allowed to dance with men is something that students of 15 years ago were not allowed to do. We appreciate this privilege, even though there are few men with whom to dance.

It is a comforting thought to know that we have elevators in the dormitories. And despite the fact that they all aren't for student use, we are thankful that we have up and down conveyances for our maids.

We are thankful for the mercies of the alumnae to whom we are indebted for the Longmire building. We enjoy the basement with its game room and soda shop and we are proud to show the upstairs lounges to our guests.

We revel in the freedom of smoking and don't mind the specific smoking areas. We have learned to control our desire for a cigarette while at study in our rooms.

We can't overlook the new ruling out of the cut system. A little responsibility is good for our self-confidence and we are thankful to feel that we are attending classes out of our own heartfelt desire to attend. We can, for that reason, put up with a few professors who, personally, do not believe in cutting.

We appreciate the dining halls, but we are indeed grateful for the repeal of the rule that enforced students to eat three meals per day in the dining hall. We are delighted in being allowed to go out to eat even if there are only a few places that we may go.

To our predecessors who have struggled for freedom, we are very thankful.

Let us be thankful also that it is our privilege to answer the call of this epochal period in history for women of sound minds and determined purpose, to join together in an effort to bring about a better campus order.

Emory Did Not Hold Its Peace

Student government at Emory University, Georgia, broke down this week as Emory U Va. president of the student body and chairman of the Student Council, recommended in a four page letter to President Goodrich White that the Council be dissolved for the rest of the quarter and the administration assume its function.

"The Council's record throughout the quarter," said the letter, "and especially its inability to obtain a quorum for the past three meetings is evidence enough that there is an impasse in the ineptitude of meeting the needs of a situation w ich is fast becoming urgent."

These two paragraphs appeared on the front page of the Wheel, newspaper of Emory University, and were backed by the following editorial.

"The Decline and Fall"

The Student Council has been dead all quarter.

It needed someone to close the last lid on it, and Emory Via, its president, did this Tuesday. Its passing is the greatest loss the University the he dissolve the Council. He asked the administration to dissolve the organization of the Council has neglected and has mean honor for a new student government in January.

The state of the Council was apathetic. It was without a quorum in almost a month. It has passed no legislation. It has not planned a dance for Freshman Day and had done nothing about December elections.

These circumstances justified Mr Via's action. Their explanation lay partly in the turnover on the Council, partly in the irresponsibility and indifference of its members.

Their record was bad, and the whole student body is to blame. For three years the Council has been ignored. The student body has held its representatives responsible for nothing. It has criticized faculty domination, but has permitted student government to become no more than a fiction among the little students as politicians at election time.

Student government offers definite advantages. It provides an opportunity for men of the University to develop responsibility and to gain experience that will be valuable after they leave college. It is believed, too, that the students, who know what activities they want conduct their Faculty control will not lead to a vital program and probably will result in misunderstandings between the student body and the administration.

The Wheel favors Mr Via's proposals because they are expedient and are the only solution to building a foundation for the next Council. It would be unfortunate, however, if the student body did not understand their significance and help the new students government on a firm basis in January.

The Emory Wheel

The Students Speak...

By JERRY CRUME

It has been suggested that because of the rush during the week of Thanksgiving that Homecoming be changed to another date, perhaps the second week-end when fewer events are scheduled. The question this week in view of these suggestions is, "What do you think of changing the date of Homecoming to some time later in the year, perhaps in March?" Changing only with Tarpon exhibitions and Odd-Even demonstrations, coming would be marked by the Odd-Even Demonstrations and Tarpon in the second week-end.

Pat Weedon, Senior — Since they've gone so many years with the tradition all in the fall of activities at one time, I think it would be a shame to split the two events to another time.

Leola Boland, Freshman—I think we should have Homecoming another quarter because it gives us a chance to get acquainted with the campus activities.

Emily Sheffall, Junior—It would certainly make things less complicated to change the date of Homecoming. But from now on, the alumnae can enjoy all the events and excitement of Thanksgiving there.

Myra Long, Sophomore—I can't see why it should be changed. I like it the way it is now.

Mary Torres, Senior—The games and Homecoming are exciting and I think they should be kept together whether in the Thanksgiving or otherwise. Thanksgiving is about the most opportune time for Home.

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHARINE NOLLMAN

Einstein And The Atomic Bomb

When the subject of atomic and atomic energy a freetuent subject of private conversation, public speeches, and national policy, it is important that we listen to the opinions of those who have some scientific understanding of its potential power as well as forming our own opinions. The following discussion is the opinion of Albert Einstein, world famous physicist, as he told it to Raymond Swing, whose article on it is published in the November issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

Mr Einstein says that the release of atomic energy has made more urgent the necessity of solving the world's existing problem. He believes that was is almost inevitable — or without the bomb, as long as rival sovereignties exist. Its advent has changed the destination of war, but not further states that he does not believe that the bombs with atomic bombs would wipe out civilization. Enough thinking men and books would be left to start over.

As far the secret of the bomb, Mr Einstein does not think that it should be given either to a United Nations organization or to Russia but to a World Government which should be established in the United States. the Soviet Union, and Great Britain. He believes that the first draft of a Constitution for the World Government should be made by Russia, thereby dispelling the distrust which the Russians already feel because the other two great powers know the atomic secret. Moreover, he thinks the Constitution should be negotiated by only three men who could, of course, have advisors After its adoption by the nations, the other nations should be invited to join the World Government. Then they should be entitled to propose changes

This World Government should have powers over all military matters and a right to intervene in any country where a minority group was oppressing a majority. "There must be an end to the concept of national sovereignty," to end it is part of keeping the peace."

Mr Einstein says that naturally he fears the tyranny of a World Government, but he fears even more the coming of another war. In working slowing toward the World Government, he says, those who do not have the secret of the bomb should think we are hastening the secret to intensify our own power not as a means of entering a war. Government. This creates fear and suspicion which generates tension between rival sovereignties. If we are to have peace we must act boldly. The choice is between energy by other countries requires the secret, and the decision to use them.

Mr Einstein says that he believed thenecessity in the release of atomic energy but did not believe it would come in his day. The release of atomic energy was discovered by Hahn in Berlin, correctly interpreted by Lise Meitner, and given to Niels Bohr after Meitner's escape from Germany.

At present atomic energy cannot be applied to constructive purposes. Sometime in the future

Continued on page seven

Emory Did Not Hold Its Peace

Student government at Emory University, Georgia, broke down this week as Emory U Va. president of the student body and chairman of the Student Council, recommended in a four page letter to President Goodrich White that the Council be dissolved for the rest of the quarter and the administration assume its function.

"The Council's record throughout the quarter," said the letter, "and especially its inability to obtain a quorum for the past three meetings is evidence enough that there is an impasse in the ineptitude of meeting the needs of a situation w ich is fast becoming urgent."

These two paragraphs appeared on the front page of the Wheel, newspaper of Emory University, and were backed by the following editorial.

"The Decline and Fall"

The Student Council has been dead all quarter.

It needed someone to close the last lid on it, and Emory Via, its president, did this Tuesday. Its passing is the greatest loss the University the he dissolve the Council. He asked the administration to dissolve the organization of the Council has neglected and has mean honor for a new student government in January.

The state of the Council was apathetic. It was without a quorum in almost a month. It has passed no legislation. It has not planned a dance for Freshman Day and had done nothing about December elections.

These circumstances justified Mr Via's action. Their explanation lay partly in the turnover on the Council, partly in the irresponsibility and indifference of its members.

Their record was bad, and the whole student body is to blame. For three years the Council has been ignored. The student body has held its representatives responsible for nothing. It has criticized faculty domination, but has permitted student government to become no more than a fiction among the little students as politicians at election time.

Student government offers definite advantages. It provides an opportunity for men of the University to develop responsibility and to gain experience that will be valuable after they leave college. It is believed, too, that the students, who know what activities they want conduct Faculty control will not lead to a vital program and probably will result in misunderstandings between the student body and the administration.

The Wheel favors Mr Via's proposals because they are expedient and are the only solution to building a foundation for the next Council. It would be unfortunate, however, if the student body did not understand their significance and help the new students government on a firm basis in January.

The Emory Wheel

In This Our Time

Atomic Control

In one of the most momentous decisions in history the three powers that possess the "industrial know how" of the atomic bomb announced from Washington what they intend to do about the atomic bomb.

This tri-formula implied an invitation to Russia to co-operate. However, the failure of Russia's response might determine the success or failure of the plan drawn at the five-day conference between President Truman, British Prime Minister Atlee and Canadian Prime Minister King for solution of the problem. These were the highlights of the plan:

The secret "know how" of atomic bomb manufacture to be kept for the present by the United States, Great Britain and Canada but to be shared on adequate International controls over atomic energy are effected.

A special commission to be set up under the United Nations Organization to establish controls, outlaw the bomb as a weapon, insure the use of atomic energy for "peaceful purposes" and having the right of inspection in all countries against "violations and evasions" of the agreement.

Approval by the United States, Great Britain and Canada of a free exchange of scientific knowledge and the building of an atmosphere of "reciprocal confidence" among the other nations of the world.

The three proposals reflected a number of compromises among the three leaders. The result, although perhaps only a beginning to the solution of the problem, brought hope because of its use of newly created international machinery for world peace.

Pearl Harbor Probe

With each succeeding Congressional investigation in charge of the Pearl Harbor probe at last go under way, but now without the handicap of what some observers termed strong political during. This nation's "greatest mystery" has been put in the hand of a commission composed of three Democrats and two Republicans from each chamber for solution. Republicans said only equal representation could make the inquiry full and non-partisan; Democrats insisted on the customary majority-minority make-up. After the committee was formed with Senate Majority Leader Barkley as Chairman, Republicans fought for the right to do their own individual investigating. They lost, however, on straight party votes. Democrats are accusing the Republicans of "political snooping."

Since the Pearl Harbor commanders were made what some persons believe to be the scapegoats for inefficiency in Washington even as high up as the White House, Tri-star-ed New York jewler, W D Mitchell, commission leader, has been given the right to do his own investigating of records, including the papers of

Continued on page seven

Tally Tales....

The visiting alumnae are probably sighing for their lost school days, while the memory of the dinner they've just devoured, in color rush, on that freezing Tuesday morning, of the demonstrations and the Tarpon exhibition are still fresh in their minds. But, alumnae, we, you, do you remember—

1. Saturday lunch?
2. Pop quizzes?
3. Waiting (usually in vain) for mail?
4. Parallel reading?
5. Conversations at 2?
6. Examinations?

A great American novelist-to-be describes a group of students as "gaunt-eyed-crouched as fakir professors spoke."

That doesn't happen here; after all the progress we've been able to yawn with our mouths shut.

It'll be rather nice to settle down Monday and have time to do "I come to the assembly." We suggest that two months out of the year be put aside for "extra curricular activities" and the rest of the time be devoted to going to classes, talking to the boys and then, and things of that sort. We also like to see the person who can prove that she is not involved — yes, we say involved in it. We'll make a change. We will in no way help prepare her for "the world in which she must soon take her place."

The very best bandshake to the exchange that describes the perfect new year's eve activity this the bull shoots the professor. How true, how true!

And speaking of shooting reminds us to give thanks that there wasn't any of it during the dormitory color-rushing Thursday. Pushing and shoving we can condone, but the prevalence of black eyes and sprained ankles about campus this morning is mute evidence of what happens when Odds and Evens live in the same room as this festive season of the year draws near.

To the uninitiated this campus must seem just one big parade or exhibition for individuals during the way we carry on our business. At one little table in Westcott building the student selling tags to help the Chinese "WHSP" and farther down the hall we see the Tarpon lantern being sold by the bakers' dozen. Well, that's not particularly entangling alliances. Remember the words of Washington, sir, things!

These people who insist upon asking the same ole questions year after year deserve just what they get in the line of answers. If it's hats off this time to the "I-used-to-be-somebody" person who answered the chestnut, "Why did you come to college?" with "I came to get a man, but ain't been yet." We wonder how far we'd get under the same perfect were optimistic enough to have such hopes. Even if they do they're probably worn down by now.

After all these years of being taught that a preposition is a bad word with which to end a sentence, somebody comes through with a triple threat: "Where do you take that book I was reading out for?"

Suppose by now hair is rolled in neatly enough for the dance (—belonging to the freshmen of course) in anticipation of the glamourous look tonight at the dance. It's nice that some girls are young enough to have dates. To these eligible girls plus a score few upperclassmen who have signed a man we offer our best wishes for a bir time tonight. I can just see the date book now. Line in, sign out, in and out. Ah ha

The Florida Flambeau

1945 1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor
ANNA CARUTHERS, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editor
LESLEY ..... News Editor
MARGARET ..... Managing Editor
KAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... Feature Editor

Copy Editor ..... Lois Rice
Copy Editor ..... Mary Nell McFaddin, Janet Cox
Proof Editor ..... Betty Jo Mullis
Proof Editor ..... Anne Holmes, Betty Jo Mullis
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Editor Bl
Society Editor ..... Mildred Cox
Assistant Society Editor ..... Betty Jo Mullis
Sports Editor ..... Margaret Cox
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Gloria Sea
Outside News Editor ..... Catherine Nollman
Literary Editor ..... Catherine Nollman
Opinion Editors ..... Jerry Crume, Barbara Bowden
Photographic Editor ..... Editor
Art Editor ..... Editor

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alicia Armstrong, Alverta Ash, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Berkman, Jean Bess, Priscilla Black, Virginia Budd, Lacye Cole, Marjorie Cash, Jean Douglas, Martha Jo Duncan, Barbara Fleetwood, Ruth Floris, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lilliecrop, Jo Ann Sherman, Marianne Shroder, Mary Tart, Tami Thomas, Frances Trosper, Kay Van Deusen

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager ..... Editor
Advertising Manager ..... Editor

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1925, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and prominence to anyone wishing to present a contrary opinion whenever opinions or controversial questions are voiced in the columns.

Spikes Talks To FSC Girls

British Attache Stresses Need for Trainers

Mrs Marjorie D Spikes, attache to the Women's Affairs of the British embassy in Washington, D C, told Florida State College students in a series of conferences on Wednesday, that government social work provide the greatest opportunity for women in England. She stressed the need for persons who could help at municipal centers in training young people for future leadership and those who could assist in improving living standards through a nation-wide housing program.

Mrs Spikes is the first attache for Women's Affairs ever to be appointed by the British government. She was formerly employed in the Ministry of Labor in London where she supervised the Women s Labor Supply and aided in the re-location of war-displaced persons.

In her final speech the attache said "Both teachers and nurses are so urgently needed in Britain today that special recruitment training programs are now being instituted in order to facilitate speedy training for suitable persons for these positions." Other opportunities for women that Mrs Spikes mentioned were Women's Voluntary Services, Women's Land Army and domestic workers.

In connection with the youth movement, which was the subject of Mrs Spikes' first address, she outlined the educational programs of the British schools that at the present time they are required to attend from the age of five to that an attempt is age of 14 but that an attempt is now being made to raise the age to 16 or 18 The Ministry of Government youth movement is to provide the young people wholesome recreation and training for intelligent leadership in the future. Both this movement and the newly instituted housing program were an effort to reestablish normal home life, Mrs Spikes added.

The most urgent housing problem in Britain at the present time is that of the thousands of homes Mrs Spikes stated in her address on "Housing Problems." The immediate need for living quarters before winter is being solved by the use of temporary prefabricated houses which can be constructed within 30 hours, she added.

Mrs Spikes stated that during the war many youths of the ages of 18 and 17 were mobilized for work This of course, disrupted home life all over the country, she said and the government now plans that all reconstruction projects involved in correcting this situation.

"The housing program, which is being supervised by the government, is primarily an effort to renew this disrupted home life," Mrs Spikes said. "For this reason," she continued, "the government has instituted the compulsory relocation of families into the new constructed houses."

During the discussion period which followed her address, Mrs Spikes stated that utilities and many steel industries are now being socialized in Britain. Factories returning to produce certain necessary articles are also being controlled by the government, which has the power to seize any plant in order to curb monopolies, she added

Concerning the British position on peacetime conscription Mrs Spikes said, "Although men are still being drafted in England, no peacetime national service act has as yet been discussed in the British parliament."

In reply to a query concerning nationalization she stated that because of the termination of lend lease financing in Britain will become much more stringent this winter than during the war years.

Torch Night

Continued from page one

is that the light of knowledge shall never be extinguished.

The speaking party for the initiates are Rosa Marcous, Alice Merrer, Iris Parsons, Vivian Harvey Evans, Artes; Marilyn Price Moores; and Candy Jones, Tradition

The sophomore council members who are serving as heads of the committees for the production are Martha Peacock, publicity; Barbara Ann Jackson, costumes; and Peggy Stanaland, properties

Airborne radio loudspeaker equipment, operating at a power more than 1,000 times that of an ordinary loudspeaker, was rushed to the Pacific in December to broadcast news of Japan's unconditional surrender from two miles in the air. This broadcasting was carried out by Army hiding out in Japan, and remote islands of Pacific s empire.

Inconspicuous Red Brick Building Furnishes Heat Necessary for FSC's Everyday Comforts

ALICIA ARMSTRONG

Against the western horizon the stationary form of a familiar red brick stack looms high into the air, and roughly its billowy clouds of gray smoke skyward. For 15 years, this stack has been constantly dutiful, as the guardian of life's comforts at Florida State College.

Comfortably heated rooms, warm water for showers, hot water for eating hall, freshly laundered clothes—these are the everyday necessities of college girls which flow from an inconspicuous small brick building that is set back and shut behind the college. For this is the heating plant, which in the language of the engineer of the hearth", Mr W E Norwood, gives life to all campus activities involving the use of heat—from the washing of clothes in dorms to the potato salad at the Wednesday afternoon socials.

Behind the engineer's control dials, crawling down a long 2300 foot tunnel, scampering up an ironman ladder to the roof top—these are the gymnastics performed by this responsible man—are the secrets of FSC's flaming inferno which furnishes the heat of life to our existence.

The long tunnel houses four main pipe lines and two return pipe lines. The six-inch circular low pressure line feeds the radiators in class rooms and dormitories, and the high pressure pipe lines furnishes the kitchen, the laboratory, and kitchen with heat. Besides these two lie the hot water and return pipes. The four main pipe line contains 100 pounds of pressure, and the low, 50 to 60 pounds of pressure. This high pressure, which sends the hot steam rushing to the low, is then reduced to a mere 3 pounds of pressure before it enters one of the radiators. Every few minutes numerous traps catch the surplus condensation from the pipes—this discharge the load into the return line which leads to the tank near a mixing tank. From there the water is sent through pipes to the three boilers which stand along this way once again through the hot water pipes.

The long tunnel becomes smaller and smaller as it nears its point of termination at Carnegie Children and Landis dining hall. Along this tunnel, it has been enclosed in rigid casing for insulation, branch out in the directions of the kindergarten, the laundry, the post office, and Landis hall. The tunnel reaches its end at the new gymnasium and New Hall, turns to the left and heads for Landis dining hall. Here it ends in a sharp right turn and travels along under the entrance to the hall. Three ventilators admit fresh air into this long underground passage-way, and at intervals along the way tempied this reporter to take the easy way out.

Following the guide, Mr Norwood, superintendent of the plant, has a difficult time. Mr Kinsey grew warmer by the minute as we went down the hot tunnel always side the four huge pipe lines. Whenever my spirits would sink low, down then in the neighborhood of Hastes, he would jovially call out "Is that a cool breeze" and tell me to freshen up with a "Canal." We went under the gymnasium and to the torturesome way back through the tunnel to the plant, when suddenly in mind's eye, appeared the terrifying ruler of the underground who in a solemn voice asked, "My dear girl is that a smoking area?" Shakily I voiced my thanks to Mr Norwood, but the capable superintendent couldn't answer that one.

After my ascension from the lower regions I gazed into the cavernous mouth of the three huge furnaces which devour on the average 30 tons of coal per day the year around. Streaks of red shot through the bright yellow fire of the burning coals. The roaring inferno maintains a high temperature of 500 degrees Fahrenheit measured by a thermometer directly under the hot bed of blazing coal.

On the main floor of the plant, there are two boilers which generate an average of 18,500 pounds of steam per hour. Two feed pumps for the boilers and two draft pumps are in operation. The large metallic heater in the plant is reached by a ladder which keeps the temperature from rushing above 180 degrees Fahrenheit. A large dial charting the progress of the forced draft, fan, which is operated by a belt and pass are just part of the complicated mechanism of the heating plant.

Great bags of salt are used to soften all except the driest of water. The softening process is accomplished in two 80,000 gallon tanks, and two smaller 40,000 gallon tanks. About 100 gallons of water is softened per minute.

Climbing the straight and narrow ladder toward a heavenly roof-top view, we stopped at the first iron gratiron floor where the mixing tank stands. This tank receives the return water and sends it out to be re-used after carefully removing all impurities. Continuing the upward climb, we soon reached the second iron-grate floor where the steam lines from each boiler are located. Here, after struggling atop a huge tank, we crawled through a narrow tunnel to the roof proper. I sighed with relief, looked up at the blue sky with a deep breath of clean air. But my moment of calm was suddenly swept away by a roaring rush of steam shot high into the air by the exhaust pipe Mr Norwood smiled sympathetically when I weakly muttered that that pipe and I had something in common.

Two flood lights, 10 ventilators, six fire-hooped valves, and a steam operated whistle are the agenda for this paradise roof-top which is screen with small pebbles.

"Well, now, are you ready to go down?" ask Mr Norwood. I shook my head, and asked if there was a safer route below. "Yes, unless you'd care to jump." said the genial host. So I decided that I consented to follow him on the long difficult downward climb. Half way between earth and blue heaven, he looked up worriedly and called, "Are you still with me nerve?" "No, sir", said I, "by now, I haven't any nerve left to lose."

High places for Mr Norwood are a natural habitat, for before coming to work at the plant in 1932, he was a steel construction welder. For four years now, he has been superintendent in charge of all colored workers who have a 56 hour work week and make $1.05 cents an hour. Mr Norwood makes a straight salary of $230 a month. He can be called to work any time of night or day, and often is. On the night of October 17, when, despite adverse weather reports, a cold wave came, Mr Norwood went to the plant at 10:30 p m and worked for 27 hours repairing a clogged up pipe line and turning on heat for the first time this school year.

"I like my job," explained Mr Norwood, "but there are times when the going is pretty tough, particularly when I am asked to suddenly turn the heat on in the middle of the night around the 15th. You can't dump a ton of coal down a pipe line and turning on heat for the first time this school year.

"I like my job," explained Mr Norwood, "but there are times when the going is pretty tough, particularly when I am asked to suddenly turn the heat on in the middle of the night around the 15th. You can't dump a ton of coal down a pipe line and turning on heat for the first time this school year.

Presently, Mr Norwood dials, crawling down a long 2300 foot tunnel, scampering up an ironman ladder to the roof top—these are the gymnastics performed by this responsible man—are the secrets of FSC's flaming inferno which furnishes the heat of life to our existence.

The long tunnel houses four main pipe lines and two return pipe lines. The six-inch circular low pressure line feeds the radiators in class rooms and dormitories, and the high pressure pipe lines furnishes the kitchen, the laboratory, and kitchen with heat. Besides these two lie the hot water and return pipes. The four main pipe line contains 100 pounds of pressure, and the low, 50 to 60 pounds of pressure. This high pressure, which sends the hot steam rushing to the low, is then reduced to a mere 3 pounds of pressure before it enters one of the radiators. Every few minutes numerous traps catch the surplus condensation from the pipes—this discharge the load into the return line which leads to the tank near a mixing tank. From there the water is sent through pipes to the three boilers which stand along this way once again through the hot water pipes.

The long tunnel becomes smaller and smaller as it nears its point of termination at Carnegie Children and Landis dining hall. Along this tunnel, it has been enclosed in rigid casing for insulation, branch out in the directions of the kindergarten, the laundry, the post office, and Landis hall. The tunnel reaches its end at the new gymnasium and New Hall, turns to the left and heads for Landis dining hall. Here it ends in a sharp right turn and travels along under the entrance to the hall. Three ventilators admit fresh air into this long underground passage-way, and at intervals along the way tempied this reporter to take the easy way out.

Following the guide, Mr Norwood, superintendent of the plant, has a difficult time. Mr Kinsey grew warmer by the minute as we went down the hot tunnel always side the four huge pipe lines. Whenever my spirits would sink low, down then in the neighborhood of Hastes, he would jovially call out "Is that a cool breeze" and tell me to freshen up with a "Canal." We went under the gymnasium and to the torturesome way back through the tunnel to the plant, when suddenly, in mind's eye, appeared the terrifying ruler of the underground who in a solemn voice asked, "My dear girl is that a smoking area?" Shakily I voiced my thanks to Mr Norwood, but the capable superintendent couldn't answer that one.

After my ascension from the lower regions I gazed into the cavernous mouth of the three huge furnaces which devour on the average 30 tons of coal per day the year around. Streaks of red shot through the bright yellow fire of the burning coals. The roaring inferno maintains a high temperature of 500 degrees Fahrenheit measured by a thermometer directly under the hot bed of blazing coal.

On the main floor of the plant, there are two boilers which generate an average of 18,500 pounds of steam per hour. Two feed pumps for the boilers and two draft pumps are in operation. The large metallic heater in the plant is reached by a ladder which keeps the temperature from rushing above 180 degrees Fahrenheit. A large dial charting the progress of the forced draft, fan, which is operated by a belt and pass are just part of the complicated mechanism of the heating plant.

Great bags of salt are used to soften all except the driest of water. The softening process is accomplished in two 80,000 gallon tanks, and two smaller 40,000 gallon tanks. About 100 gallons of water is softened per minute.

Climbing the straight and narrow ladder toward a heavenly roof-top view, we stopped at the first iron gratiron floor where the mixing tank stands. This tank receives the return water and sends it out to be re-used after carefully removing all impurities. Continuing the upward climb, we soon reached the second iron-

With Burning Toast and Scrambled Eggs Breakfast Is Served in FSC Dining Hall

The penetration odor of burnt-a-toast fills the air, a cup crashes to the floor, someone asks timidly "Is there anything to eat but the kind except marmalade?", and another breakfast is under way at third cottage dining hall.

There are three girls behind the counter—one buttering toast, pouring milk, replacing fruit juice, filling the fruit bowls, and dispose apple sauce. The next is serving eggs, serving toast and sometimes, cocoa to the tasting toast, going to the cabinet for plates, and replacing the silver. The last is helping campus with his sharp-pointed stick.

He doesn't need a calendar because he can tell when the holidays and the weekends by the nature of refuse. He knows school has begun because there has been corner and asks, "Toast or muffins?" The forthcoming answers are many and varied.

The first breakfaster grabs for a pajama leg that is slipping below her radiocast, and to the query "toast or muffins?" answers, "Both please."

The next, though, is a little more specific. When asked whether it's toast or muffins, she replies, "Uuuh, bread."

The line begins to get contented in the general vicinity of the cereal. The girls making toast, pour down to see what the trouble is and finds that everyone is satisfied with the cereal. Everyone to be put out. She puts some out, and she penetrating odor of burnt toast fills the air.

After running back to jump the low down then in the neighborhood of Hastes, he would jovially call out "Is that a cool breeze" and tell me to freshen up with a "Canal." We went under the gymnasium and to the torturesome way back through the tunnel to the plant, when suddenly, in mind's eye, appeared the terrifying ruler of the underground who in a solemn voice asked, "My dear girl is that a smoking area?" Shakily I voiced my thanks to Mr Norwood, but the capable superintendent couldn't answer that one.

After my ascension from the lower regions I gazed into the cavernous mouth of the three huge furnaces which devour on the average 30 tons of coal per day the year around. Streaks of red shot through the bright yellow fire of the burning coals. The roaring inferno maintains a high temperature of 500 degrees Fahrenheit measured by a thermometer directly under the hot bed of blazing coal.

On the main floor of the plant, there are two boilers which generate an average of 18,500 pounds of steam per hour. Two feed pumps for the boilers and two draft pumps are in operation. The large metallic heater in the plant is reached by a ladder which keeps the temperature from rushing above 180 degrees Fahrenheit. A large dial charting the progress of the forced draft, fan, which is operated by a belt and pass are just part of the complicated mechanism of the heating plant.

Great bags of salt are used to soften all except the driest of water. The softening process is accomplished in two 80,000 gallon tanks, and two smaller 40,000 gallon tanks. About 100 gallons of water is softened per minute.

Climbing the straight and narrow ladder toward a heavenly roof-top view, we stopped at the first iron gratiron floor where the mixing tank stands. This tank receives the return water and sends it out to be re-used after carefully removing all impurities. Continuing the upward climb, we soon reached the second iron-

Discarded Rubbish Is Index to Habits On Campus of FSC

Probably the man who has the best index of the habits of Florida State College students is Thomas Hamilton, who collects all the thrown-away candy paper, used cigarette packages, letters, gum wrappers, and other miscellaneous campus with his sharp-pointed stick.

He doesn't need a calendar because he can tell when the holidays and the weekends by the nature of refuse. He knows school has begun because there has been when he finds forgotten green freshman bulletins and sophomore date cards scattered between Westcott and the freshman dormitories.

More than lik ly the base of his existence is when stray bits of green and white, red, white and purple paper float over his territory. Closing the first quarter Mr Norwood draws a sigh of relief as he spears with his stick the last pine bough and silver tinsel.

Comes second quarter our little man again begins to work. The second campaign signs left over from freshman parties.

To end his major tribulations Graduation Day comes in and he ends the year by picking up discarded programs from the Union Building.

When distinguished guests have appeared in the Artlet Series he doesn't need the Flambeau to remind him. After the series, programs wait to and fro before his eyes.

Not only can Mr Norwood tell the activities of the students and distinguished guests in the Artlet Series but also the financial condition of the student body as a whole. At the beginning of the school year he says that the girls have much spending money because of the greater quantity of lavender soaps, than any other time of the year except after the Christmas holidays.

Furnus growth, feeding on celulose insulation and certain moulded parts, ruined radio sets employed by the armed forces in South Pacific battles areas until fungus-resistant varnish was perfected for the insulation.

Social Work Majors To Intern in Future

Moore Attends Conferences With Welfare Agencies

Students majoring in sociology and social work may be given the opportunity to intern for their major fields by 1946, stated Dr Doyle B Moore, professor of sociology at Florida State College.

Having just returned from conferences held in Jacksonville with members of the State Welfare Board and the children's Home Society of Florida, Dr Moore stated that "the various welfare agencies in the state have indicated a willingness to cooperate in making an internship program meaningful and efficient."

The plan of internship in sociology and social work will be similar to that of the teaching internship now in practice at FSC, said Dr Moore. Students will be placed in agencies such as the State Welfare Board, juvenile courts, the Children's Home Society of Florida, family welfare societies, and similar recreational charities where they will be under the supervision of coordinators from FSC who will visit several times during the course of the case work. Assignment of the student will be decided by conferences and discussions through which her particular interest in social work will be determined.

At the end of the internship period, which will last for seven weeks of the quarter, students will return to the campus for four hours of credit and a seminar for discussion and comparison of their case work. The internships will probably start with the third quarter.

Complete details of the internship plan have not yet been decided upon," said Dr Moore. A committee of five members, composed of Mrs Margaret C Pollard and Assistant Professor Blue, assistant professors of sociology, and representatives of the welfare organizations will take part in the internship program has been appointed to assist in the administration of the program of internship.

"It is the intention of all concerned," said Dr Moore, "to put this program into effect in the first quarter of 1946-47."

Collectors Happy as New Stamps Appear For Sale This Week

The estimated 15 avid stamp collectors and the piddlers on campus who make happy when two new stamps went on sale at the college post office for the first time on Friday, 9 May, in charge of the post office said that there are a number of large collections on campus, and, of course, these two new stamps which honor the Tallahassee today will be added in the albums.

The Navy commemorative stamp was first placed on sale Oct 27 at Annapolis, Maryland, the naval design depicts a smiling group of sailors. The blue three cent stamp will commemorate the achievements of the United States Navy in World War II.

The other special three cent stamps commemorate the place the United States Coast Guard played in the war. First placed on sale in New York City, on November 10, the green stamp depicts a picture of landing craft in action.

According to Mr May, the government has announced that another special stamp will be issued November 26 in honor of Admiral E Smith, former governor of New York. The central design will be a reproduction of a portrait of Governor Smith printed in purple. Mr May further said that the stamp will be at the college post office within two days after it is issued.

Religious Organizations Plan Activities for Week

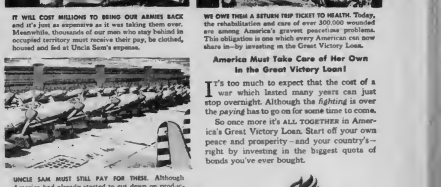
A panel discussion and a trip to camp, are among activities of the religious organizations planned for the coming week. A coffee, given by the Presbyterian group in honor of Dr Richard Gillespie, foreign missions candidates secretary, is also on the calendar of religious group events.

Dr Gillespie will speak on "The Need for Young People in Our Foreign Mission Field in the 5:30 p m in the clubroom of the Longmire Building." The Presbyterian freshman council will serve at this occasion which will follow a vesper service at 6:30 p m during which Dr Gillespie will talk informally with the Presbyterian councils.

A panel discussion of a book entitled "Bases of World Order" of which Rev Lawrence I Stell of Tallahassee is co-author will be held Sunday evening following a social hour at the Presbyterian church. Those participating in this discussion, which will follow a month's study of the book by Dr Lois Watkins, Perry Lt Thompson Lola Miller and Peggy Lou Thomas.

Other Presbyterian activities this week will include a meeting of the newly organized Freshman council Sunday evening. Stella Barrineau is in charge of this meeting which will be conducted last Sunday include: Catharine Carter Chairman of the council, Senior, secretary, and Margery Mallard, devotional chairman.

Preparations for a trip to camp this week were made at a meeting of the Canterbury club last evening at which time plans for "exam week" party and supper for Rure Hall were also discussed. A constitution for the local chapter of the Canterbury was also adopted during this meeting.



Harriet McCarter, who is president of the vesper hour, has arrangements for the week-end at camp which is being planned especially for freshmen members. The campers will leave for Lake Bradford Saturday morning after the Odd-Even games Saturday afternoon.

Rure Hall was host to Miss Dorothy West, an alumna and former president of the Y W C A this week Miss West, who is now director of religious education and with the vestry while visiting here.

The Episcopal Christmas tradition entitled "The Gifts" will be presentd at 4 p m Sunday, December 2 at the Baptist student house This program, which will also include music by Beethoven music is being arranged by Louise Illingsworth, president of the Young Women's Association.

Sure, we've won the War

BUT THE COST GOES ON!

IT WILL COST MILLIONS TO BRING OUR ARMIES BACK and it's just as expensive as it was taking them over. Meanwhile, thousands of our men who stay behind in occupied territory must receive their pay, be clothed, housed and fed at Uncle Sam's expense.

WE OWE THEM A RETURN TRIP TICKET TO HEALTH. Today, the rehabilitation and care of over 300,000 wounded are among America's gravest unpaid problems. This obligation is one which every American can now share in—by investing in the Victory Loan!

America Must Take Care of Her Own In the Great Victory Loan!

It's too much to expect that the cost of a war which lasted many years can just stop overnight. Although the fighting is over the paying has to go on for some time to come.

So once more it's ALL TOGETHER in America's Great Victory Loan. Start off your own peace with prosperity—and your country's—right by investing in the biggest spurts of bonds you've ever bought.

Need Your Shoes Fixed in a Jiffy?

ONE DAY SERVICE

Capital Shoe Fixry

118 E. JEFFERSON

Cold Waves—Hair Styling—Feather Cuts
RIGHT ACROSS FROM THE COLLEGE
THREE TORCHES BEAUTY SHOP
103 S. COPELAND ST. TEL. 888

The Finest Food In Tallahassee
STEAKS CHOPS CHICKEN
M & N CAFE
E. JEFFERSON ST.

They're a Great Dinner Time Team
Piping Hot Meals and Pyrex-ware !
Pie Dishes—Coffee Makers—Baking Pots
THE SOUTH'S MOST COMPLETE PYREX STOCK
Van Brunt & Von Hardware
218 S. ADAMS PHONE 18

and Sunday every day

UNCLE SAM MUST STILL PAY FOR THESE. Although America had already started to cut down on production of various kinds of war materials, the swift ending of the war left many plants, tanks, bottlenecks, guns, most at the last minute, still to be paid for.

FOR PEACE AND PROSPERITY
AMERICA'S GREAT VICTORY LOAN

Overworked Crews In Scavenger Hunt For Dem Properties

"What are we anyhow, college women or carpenters?" demanded one overworked girl as she trudged along on the stretch of her weary trek carrying a newly constructed step 20 feet in length. All I did was ask my name as an innocent-looking piece of paper," ended her grimy-faced partner at the other end of the planks.

No, some enterprising soul hasn't suddenly instituted a course in manual training as a sideline to the Home Economics department at FSC but week-end. These were stagehands, only one group of the hard-working but unseen clans of both Odds and Evens who perform all those little behind-the-scenes jobs that make the demonstrations "click."

Even Dr Harold P Richards (of "We Take the Odds" fame) contributed to the cause. With the assistance of Terry Hamilton, physics major, he constructed a weird-looking device whereby the stage lights could be partially dimmed during Even demonstrations.

Nursing bruised thumbs, thoroughly besplattered with paint, and slatherded with cobwebs and sawa last week-end, loaded and unloaded trucks and brandished mad-man-like hammers, Others tased their ingenuity and use of the Canterbury club as a wild scavenger hunt for weird objects, a broken piece of pipe, an old battery, stage scenery that vaguely resembled a telephone, or a canopy bed, as the case might be.

The speech department lent its stage scenery. Those familiar inscriptions which dot the campus, the paint, metal, carpenter, electricians' shops, contributed labor and materials. Al joined in the time-consuming task of "dressing up" the stage before the long-awaited "Curtain up!" was called.

Sideline Squints

By EVELYN SHEA

Now that color rush is over for another year, and runners on both sides have tucked away their bows until next Thanksgiving, plans to make color rush even better for the years to come should be in order. It is the firm belief of this writer, that to avoid any disputes which might occur over the results of future races, a tape should be used at the finish line. With the breaking of a tape by the runner, there are fewer chances to make mistakes in judging the results. Officials who have been judges in races of the past would naturally officiate at these too. The bows could be held approximately seven feet behind the tape and after breaking the tape, the runners would continue on and take the bows. With the verdict of the judges, the winner would then hang up her bow on that particular building.

Experiments have proved that it is almost impossible to tell EXACTLY who grabbed the ribbons first in a race which is practically neck and neck. To illustrate how the runners are at a disadvantage, in a race, one runner is barely six inches or less ahead of the other, and they both reach for bows with the runner who is behind, taking her bow at precisely the same or sooner than the girl who is actually ahead. The result of this race then must be a tie or perhaps a victory for the girl who was actually a step behind. In cases like these, the runner who is faster than the running ability takes precedence—in the end. After running 50 yards, it seems to me a person's reach shouldn't determine the winner.

All this adds up to a suggestion that improves color rush in general. Cases of close races and difficult decisions did not occur this year but they have arisen in the past and may again in the future. The failure of a tape to determine the winner of a race should not be undegrestimated, for all official racing contests everywhere in America and shroad employ this method in determining the winner, for an inch or so will become apparent when the tape is used.

Let's see WAA and F eluh take up this problem and do something about it, before another Thanksgiving rolls around.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

What is meant by Lady Paramount? If you've been out on the archery range watching the Odd-Even tourney which ended yesterday, that term probably has been spoken of quite often. Lady Paramount is the head official in the archery tournament, which is in the Odd-Even matches this year's Color Race Fox . . .

Miss Papatsos and Miss Greenberg will be the officials in the hockey game and Miss Fox and Miss Ver Hoeven will referee the soccer game.

IT SEEMS TO ME . . .

That with the bleachers furnished by WAA which will eersily seat 2,000 persons, every Odd and Even should attend today's games and cheer their respective teams on to victory. Students who complained in the past about not having enough seats to see Thanksgiving games would be interested in knowing that the reason for the change in the games played this year was for the specific purpose of giving everyone an opportunity to see the games . . .

Which brings up to the matter of the teams which will play today. As evidenced in the class games, both the hockey players showed surprising strength in dumping the Evens 4-0 in the first game and gaining tie in the second. This game will find both teams evenly matched and it is my guess that either team can win this contest but only by a one goal margin.

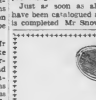
The soccer class games, as was expected came out very close. The seniors and sophomores won 2-0 in the first engagement and the juniors nd freshmen tied the upper classmen in the second 4-4. From this pre-Thanksgiving showing this event like the hockey game will be very close.

That's all for now, see you at the games this afternoon. Let's all cheer hard for her respective side and may the best teams win.

Snow Plans for Peruvian Map, Special Lighting for Incan Relics' Display

Even a layman will be able to understand and enjoy the art of ancient Peru when Sidney Snow has carried out plans for the displaying of the Incan relics, now located on the fourth floor of the Lowmnire Building.

Mr Snow plans to paint a map of Peru on the wall outside the display room. This map will show the various cultural regions of Peru, their dates, and typical examples of their art. This will enable visitors to more easily distinguish the culture to which each relic belongs.



The carrying out of ideas for displaying the relics individually and having special lighting effects will probably have to be put off until the new building is constructed. Mr Snow said that plans for the building are not even on paper yet, but that it will be "somewhere on the campus."

Even with limited facilities Mr Snow has already tried to make the display enjoyable and understandable to those who have had no previous experience with ancient art. He has photographs that show a mummy in various stages of being unwrapped. Te explained that the ancient Peruvians buried with their dead jewelry pottery and various things that it was thought the spirits might need in future life. The bodies were placed in a sitting position with their possessions in their laps, under their arms, and beneath their legs. They were then wrapped in material. Mr Snow said that as much as 100 yards of material had been taken from around one mummy.

All of which was woven by hand. are on display. Other items of special interest include delicately carved silver spoons for removing ear wax from the ears; quipus, which are government records kept by knots on string; the shrunken head of a young girl, a Colombian item of relatively recent date, and "Petro," a little silver man about two inches high.

Mr Snow's ingenuity and sense of humor is well portrayed by the manner in which he has displayed two of the pieces of pottery. One is a dog who has a very sad look on his face. The other is a ferocious looking cat. The two are sitting directly across from each other and the effect is laughprovoking.

Just as soon as all the relics have been catalogued and the map is completed Mr Snow expects to have the museum open at regular hours. Hr student assistant, Lois Watkins, will show the visitors around.

The Tennis Player's Delight!

Tennis Racquets Master Made by BENTLEY—WILSON. Real Sheep Gut

9.00—15.50

JOHNSON'S HARDWARE CO.

121 E. JEFFERSON PHONE 169

Catherine Gallagher, leader of the Even soccer team and Virginia Palmer, head of the Odd soccer team, are ready for the game this afternoon at 2:30 p m on the Athletic Field. Also pictured above are Nita Nord, Odd hockey leader, and Evelyn Stuckey, Even hockey leader, who expect great action from their respective teams at 3:30 this afternoon following the band concert and drill.

Tarpon Club Presents Dem

'Garnet and Gold' Is Swim Version of FSC Life

"Garnet and Gold," a swimming version of life at Florida State College, was presented by Tarpon Club Thursday and Friday nights. The program was dedicated to their sponsor, Miss Margaret Clements, who is leaving at the end of this quarter.

Figures of Odd and Even cheerleaders, an F Club member, a Tarpon member, swimmer cap and diploma, Cotillion top hat and green vest, Even feathers, and Odd caps decorated the walls of the pool Garnet and gold streamers were a part of the background. An American flag and a school flag were placed between the diving boards. Moira Long had charge of decorations.

Since Tarpon demonstration did not been until after Even demonstration Thursday night, the program ran past second half flash. Miss Clements asked Dr Doak Campbell for late permission for those girls who wanted to stay for the ending, and he gave his consent.

"They Lead to Cheer" was an exhibition given in diving. The girls wore red bathing suits with a white "O" on the front and green ones with a gold "E." Music was furnished by records.

Odd and Even swimming formations, "Here's To the Red and White and "Hail to the Green and Gold," brought out the traditional rivalry between these groups.

The Minnows, who are to become Tarpon members soon, swam in a formation, "Dancers of Cotillion, to the tune of "Stardust," Cotillion theme song.

While Kathleen Johnson played a medly of F Club songs on the accordion. 11 members, of Tarpon swam. In conclusion, the lights were turned out so that the white caps of the girls could be seen in a F formation.

A record of Champagne Waltz furnished the musical background for "Tarpon Tactics."

"Hail to the Caps and Gowns" paid tribute to the seniors of Tarpon. "Speed Circumnatator" was the record for this exhibition.

An accordion and star formation highlighted the finale, "To Our Alma Mater." Kathleen Johnson played a variety of colleg songs on her accordion during this number.

Betty Jean Singleton, president of Tarpon, wants to express appreciation to Miss Clements for her help and guidance throughout the past four years, and to the girls who have worked on this year's demonstration.

Marzery Holm, Barbara Lindsey, Anna Horne, Nancy MacEdwards, B J Singleton, and Carol Claus made up the formation committee Pat Millican was chairman of the proeram committee and Nancy MacEwards in charge of designing the cover.

Alaska Air lines, organized in 1930 to provide air mail connections between that U S outpost and the mother country, carried more than 2,000 pounds of cargo for each passenger that year.

Attention! Band

Members of the band who are planning to go to Camp Gordon Johnston for the Sunday program are to dish up their racks on the Westcott stage and meet, in uniform, in front of Westcott at 12:45.

Evens Take 4 In Color Rush

Odds Win 3 in Close Races For Campus Buildings

Red, white and purple streamers flooted over three of the main campus buildings, the new dining hall, Westcott, and the Longmire Building, as a result of Odd victories in color rush, Thursday morning. The Physical Education Building, the library, Bryan Hall, and the History Building were won by the Evens.

The first race for the gymnasium began at seven o'clock with the Evens running for the Evens and Virginia Goodell for the Odds. The victorious Evens then lost the new dining hall to Mickey Chambers, who raced for the Odds against Evelyn Shea.

Three races which were held behind Westcott ended in two triumphs for the Evens against one for the Odds Willa Jean Towell won the Longmire Building for the Odds, defeating Patsy Callahan of the Evens. Barbara Tait and Gracie Whidden placed Even colors on Bryan and the History Building while opposing them were B J Singleton and Bayne Culbreth Carol Johnston of the green and gold colors, raced Jean Barker and made the library and Even building.

The last and most exciting race was for Westcott, which a greatly decorated both sides. The credit for this year's Odd victory goes .: Marion Looby who raced against Rosalie Davis.

The Even color rush leader was Bopie Whitaker, while B J Singleton directed the Odds Officials for the races were Miss Grace Fox, instructor in physical education, and Dr Katherine Montgomery head of the physical education department, who acted as finish judges Dr Raymond Bellamy, head of the sociology department, was the starter for Westcott building.

Babe Evans, president of F Club was the starter for all buildings except Westcott. Color bearers were the following members ot F Club: J. Guthrie, dinner hall; Shirley Durrah, Longmire Building; Sarah Bennett, Bryan; Eloise Boyles, History Building; Dot Tucker, Library; and Babe Evans, Westcott.

The Odd team consisted of: Virginia Goodell, Mickey Chambers, Willa Jean Towell, B J Singleton, Bayne Culbreth, Jean Barker, Marion Looby, and Audrey Hunt.

Members of the Even team are: Rosa Lee Davis, Evelyn Shea, Ida Lee Rentz Babara Tait, Patsy Calahan Gracie Whidden, Carol Johnston Catherine Barrs, Nancy Lee Smith, and Dot Wynn.

Evens Win In Modern Dance

Winners Take 107 Points In Thanksgiving Theme

Evens won the day at Playnight last Saturday night when they competed against the Odds for the best interpretation of Thanksgiving in modern dance. The Evens raked in a total of 107 points out of a possible 1N against the Odds' score of 93 points.

The Odds presensed a dance of the suppressed people in fear and want after which freedom came in and showed the suppressed how to gain theh freedom. This ended in a dance of prayer and thanksgiving to God for letting them be free

The costumes of the "freedom dancers were red, white, and blue, while the "suppressed" wore gray and blue.

In carrying out the idea of Thanksgiving, th- Even dance group used the idea of work and toil followed by rejoicing and happiness when the work is over. The scrubbing and giving thanks concluded the dance.

The costumes of the girls were polkadots with straight skirts, all of varying colors; the boys wore wine leotards and blue jeans, and the priests wore black outfits.

The dance was judged on the basis of floor pattern, space pattern, costumes, skill of the dancers, and interpretation of the seneral theme The judges were Miss Margaret Stanion, Miss Calliope Papatsos Mrs Fred Lewis, Mrs Robert Miller, and Mr Karl O Kuersteiner.

Even team members were Anne Widerquist, leader; Jo Dunagan, Enid Krouse, Audrey Evans, Joyce Cayce, Rosse Marcoux, Marilyn Dewey and Doris DuBois.

Selected for the Odd team were Alice Taff, leader; Harriet Kirk Margie Hoole, Ann Parker, Lorraine Smith, Barbara Lindsey, Mary Nelle Pat Small, Bertie Lafrus, Dorothy Martin, Violet Walters and Jane Levy.

Badminton Begins

Badminton doubles will begin Monday at 5:10. For the first time in the intramural programs there will be a double elimination program which gives every team at least two chances.

The schedule for Monday is: Vilas vs Pi Phi vs Delta Zeta, court 1, Phi Mu vs Chi Omega, court 2, Alpha Chi Omega vs Delta Delta Delta, court 3, Pi Phi vs Delta Zeta, court 4, Bryan vs Gilchrist, court 5, Delta Phi Epsilon vs Zeta Tau Alpha, court 6. Kappa Alpha Theta vs Reynolds, court 7, Kappa Delta, a bye.

Theresa Munroe, intramural manager, asks that any girls who have their own badminton rackets to please bring them.

Faculty Will Have Creative Arts Show

Members of the faculty whose hobbies or interests include creative arts will have an opportunity to show their work in a creative arts exhibit to be held sometime after the Christmas holidays. All members of the faculty who are interested are urged to participate, said Ralph L. Donaldson, associated professor of industrial arts.

The exhibit will include examples of faculty work in drawing, painting, design, photography, sculpture, the graphic arts and crafts. It is hoped that the exhibit will be a permanent one, to the organization of a club for those who are interested in creative arts, whether professionally or as an avocation. Entry blanks will be sent to all faculty members by December 10.

Members of the committee in charge of the exhibit are Mr Donaldson, chairman; Miss Cynthia M Reeves, instructor in industrial arts; and Miss Ann Kirn, instructor in art.

Chemistry Honorary Is Working on File

Members of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, national chemistry honorary, are now working on a file which will include all students taking chemistry, except those taking general chemistry, according to Mary Jane Kirst, treasurer. Permanent records will be made to be used as references both by the faculty and Gamma Sigma.

Membership in Gamma Sigma is in recognition of outstanding work in the field of chemistry. In order to be invited to join a student must have had at least 24 quarter hours of chemistry, with a B average in chemistry, and a general averase of B.

Members of the organization on this campus are: Theo Brown, Mary Jane Kirst, Tris Thompson, Jean Ann White, Treey Langston, Carmen Gordon, Joyce Funke, and Ruth L'Engle.

Weekend Keeps Ban Continually Active

The Florida State College band has had and is still having a busy weekend. Their activities are highlighted by participation in color rush and the Thanksgiving games and a trip to Camp Gordon Johnston.

At the games the band will display their new drills and play the "Washington Post March," "The Honor March," and the "United States Field Artillery March."

Following their Thanksgiving activities, the band will go to Camp Gordon Johnston Sunday afternoon to entertain the men with a concert. The concert will consist of marches, semi-classical pieces, and popular works, according to Ann Richardson, band president.

Place Your Orders
For Personalized Xmas Gifts Now MATCHES
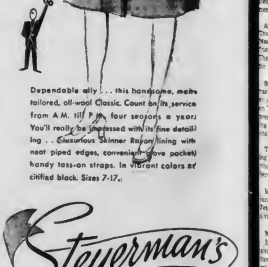
STATIONERY
NAPKINS
PASTES
THE BOOK CORNER
121 S. MONROE ST.

Welcome Alumnae!

Diamonds, Gifts, Silver, Watches

W. W. PUTNAM
Registered Jeweler
AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
308 S. Monroe St.



FORM A WARM FRIENDSHIP with

FLORIDA
PHONE 160
TODAY
"DUFFY'S TAVERN"
Sunday and Monday
"STATE FAIR"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"HOUSE ON 92nd STREET"
Thursday, Friday, Saturday
THOUSAND AND ONE NIGHT

STATE
PHONE 160
TODAY
"MAN FROM OKLAHOMA"
and
"TOWN WENT WILD"
Sunday and Monday
"EVE KNEW HER APPLES"
and
"BLONDE RANSOM"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"LADY ON THE TRAIN"
Thursday Only
"STORY OF G.I. JOE"
and
"GENTLE ANNIE"
Friday and Saturday
"PHANTOM OF PLAINS"
and
"PENTHOUSE RHYTHM"

RITZ
PHONE 819
TODAY
"NOTHING BUT TROUBLE"
and
"HEART OF THE WEST"
Sunday and Monday
"MURDER MY SWEET"
and
"DANCING IN MANHATTAN"
Tuesday, Wednesday Thursday
"TOGETHER AGAIN"
and
"UNWRITTEN CODE"
Friday and Saturday
"ORPHAN OF THE PECOS"
and
"KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY"

Dependable ally . . . this handsome, mahe tailored, all-wool Classic. Count on its service from A.M. till P.M. four seasons a year! You'll really be impressed with its fine detailing . . . Luxurious Skinner Rayon lining with neat piped edges, convenient glove pocket) handy loss-an straps. In vibrant colors at chiffed black. Sizes 7-17.

Steyerman's

For That Man Who Is So Hard to Please

We Have All Kinds of Gifts
Orloff Men's Sets
Lotions—Shaving Cream—Talcs
Seaforth Shaving Sets, too in Man-Wise Sizes

AND FOR YOURSELF—HAVE YOU TRIED THE NEW SHOULD I? DUSTING POWDER?
"IT'S OUT OF THIS WORLD"

"The World's Happiest Drug Store"
MARTIN & DALTON
210-212 S. ADAMS PHONE 133

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

The annual sorority Thanksgiving tea and after-dinner coffees are held Thursday afternoon when actives, guests, patrons, and patronesses. Skits presented by the pledges were by the group in the entertainment highlights. Tapers also heard original songs composed by the pledges.

• • •

The traditional open-house was the keynote of the Alpha Chi Sunday afternoon when alumnae, actives and pledges were present as guests of the chapter.

The social committee in charge of all arrangements consisted of Betty Hancock, Jonnie Lou Margaret Johnson, and Ruth Rouse.

• • •

Thursday evening found the pledges of Alpha Delta Pi entertaining their alumnae, faculty, patrons and guest guests at the annual Thanksgiving coffee. Mary Hedespeth, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

• • •

Alpha Gamma Delta actives served Thanksgiving breakfast for the Alpha Gam pledges at 6:30 Thursday to the Thursday afternoon coffee.

• • •

The Alpha Xi Deltas served tea to actives and their guests while the pledges presented their traditional pledge skit and song-fest tonight.

• • •

Members and their guests enjoyed an informal coffee at the Omega house Thursday afternoon at five o'clock, with Jane Hall in charge of all arrangements.

• • •

Delta Delta Delta observed their spring tea Thursday afternoon at the house all day Thanksgiving.

• • •

Riem Nurison was in charge of the informal coffee and open-house held at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house on Thursday afternoon. This open-house is given annually for the alumnae who are in this time of the year.

• • •

Pledges of Delta Zeta were in charge of the entertainment at the coffee held at five o'clock on Thursday afternoon, and Ann Shay directed the other arrangements.

• • •

Kappa Alpha Theta pledges entertained guests at the informal coffee Thursday afternoon. Margaret Brown planned the arrangements.

• • •

The Kappa Deltas gave an informal coffee Thursday afternoon at the home of their out-of-town guests and alumnae. The house was decorated according to the Thanksgiving theme, and the pledges had charge of arrangements.

• • •

An after-dinner coffee was held Thursday afternoon by the Phi Mus for out-of-town guests, alumni, members of the pledges and their goat sons and entertainments.

• • •

Sponsors patrons, and alumnae of Pi Beta Phi were guests at a coffee which was also held Thursday afternoon. Ann Hicks presented music during the evening and Olive Fleming was in charge of other arrangements.

• • •

The Sigma Kappa Thanksgiving coffee featured the pledges who entertained guests and members with their own music.

• • •

Marvin Smith headed the arrangement committee for the Phi Tau Kaps coffee Thanksgiving afternoon.

• • •

MISCELLANEOUS CHATTER

In addition to the Phi Delta Thetas activities, the sororities have a few other items of interest. At the Alpha Chi House this week are Jean Quinn (past president of the Beta Eta chapter) and Miss Rita Bradbury, two alumnae here for the festivities. . . Billie Kalmaki and Rose Ellen Sherrod took charge of the informal coffee roast which the Alpha Xi Delta's enjoyed in back of their home last Thursday week. . . The Delts celebrated their Founder's Day Wednesday with a breakfast at the Three Torches Tea Room. Saturday night they are planning an intermission party at the house, in conjunction with the annual Thanksgiving Dance. The gymnasium. . . Friday afternoon was highlighted by the Delta Phi Epsilon pledges, at which Myra Moscovitch took charge. . . After the Delta Zeta formal last Saturday night, members and guests gathered the following afternoon for a coffee at the house, with Alice Walton in charge of the arrangements and Mildred Turner in charge of the skits presented by the pledges for entertainment of the guests. . . Kappa Delta's have an intermission party planned for members and their dates attending the Thanksgiving Dance Saturday night. The party will be held at the house, with Katherine Nolen in charge of the arrangements. . . Phi Beta Phi's will entertain at breakfast Sunday morning for members, with Jackie Fondren social chairman, in charge. . . Guests at the Sigma Kappa house this week-end are Miss Pat Howard, Mrs. Mary Martha Donald, and Mrs Sarah Ralston, alumnae. . . Mary Ralston was in charge of the weiner roast held Saturday night at the Zeta Tau Alpha house for freshmen pledges.

Li Colonel and Mrs C A Fox gave a reception at the Alpha Gamma Delta house last Sunday afternoon in honor of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fox, and her husband, Lt. Leslie A Heinen, who pronounced their vows at 2:30 p m in the Presbyterian church.

The bride's sister, Mrs Harry Hunter, who graduated from Florida State College last year, and her husband were matron of honor and best man. Miss Sharon and Jean Marks were bridesmaids. Mary Mitchell sang "Because" at the wedding and played the piano during the reception. Punch and cookies were served by members of the sorority at the reception in the flower filled home.

In This Our Time

Continued from page four

the Joint Board of Staff and President Roosevelt.

After its first hearings, the committee moved to Europe where it discover just why the fleet was caught unaware at its largest base Pearl Harbor. It was active in cracking the Japanese code as well as Germany's. The White House papers will yield is not yet been commented upon.

China

In northern China Nationalists under the leadership of General Chiang Kai-shek are fighting and pulsing Red counterattacks, but the Communists threatened a civil war which would engulf the whole area recently surrendered by Japan.

The Communists claimed they would enter Changchun, the state capital, about December 1, but they were stopped by Russians to evacuate it.

A Communist spokesman announced that Nationalists were continuing conversation on Manchuria only because of pressure from other power" which he did not name. The Chinese Reds declared that "important diplomatic negotiations" on Manchuria would start soon, probably in Chungking.

Java

Meanwhile, Java this last week was still in the throes of a rebellion between the Japanese armed native troops in the center of the island and British forces attempting to carry out the Allied end of the Japanese surrender.

An Indonesian broadcast declared:

"This is the last night of peace. Tomorrow we shall start and either kill the British or drive them from Java."

France

France's constituent assembly in an atmosphere of armored cars and guns, asked General de Gaulle to continue as interim president, but the Government crisis is no nearer a solution. The assembly rejected the General's resignation by a vote of 400 to 163 and asked him to continue his efforts to form a coalition cabinet. De Gaulle accepted the new mandate, and it was announced that the general would confer with representatives of the three major parties: Communist, Socialist and Popular Republican Movement.

The Communists, whose demands for specific cabinet posts brought on the crisis voted solidly against the renewal of de Gaulle's mandate.

Strikes

Reconversion strikes continued when the nation's biggest union, the CIO United Automobile Workers, walked off their jobs after the General Motors Corporation refused the 30% wage increase demand. Three company counter-proposals were rejected.

In Washington, D C the White House announced that the Office of Defense Transportation had been instructed to take over the properties of the Capital Transit Company which operates the Washington system. The order came shortly after workers had shouted down a proposal that they return to work and arbitrate their wage dispute.

Montgomery Ward and Company was in the labor picture again after Samuel Wolchok president of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees of America, announced in New York that a nation-wide strike of Ward employees had been called for one week beginning this coming Monday.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Connor Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York, 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

Dance Tonight

Topping all Thanksgiving celebrations with the Thanksgiving Day dance to be held at 8:30 tonight in the gymnasium. The dance which will be a formal affair, is to be the "biggest ever sponsored by C C A," according to Committee Chairman Virginia Collins.

Tom College Swing band will provide music for the evening's entertainment, and refreshments will be served, consisting mainly of fruit punch and cakes.

Both the Villag; Vamps and Civilian Gals are in charge of decorations, with "Hap" Hazard, decorations chairman for Civilian Gals and Ysobel DuPree, for Village Vamps. During the dance, two organizations will tap new members for this coming year.

Committee chairmen in charge of the dance other than Miss Collins are Ysobel Du Pree, floor committee; Jo Ann Kramer, refreshments; and Mary McFerrin, tickets; and Chris Morrison, tickets secretary.

Nell McNeil, Sarah Jane Gallagher Catherine Webb, Shorty "Hap" Hazard, and Mary Lou Norwood have all assisted with Thanksgiving preparations for the dance.

Vespers and Coffees Are Held This Week

Religious Groups Observe Thanksgiving Holiday

As students joined in observing a peacetime Thanksgiving holiday activities of the Christian Student organizations centered about vespers and coffee conversations. Students, faculty members and alumnae were guests at the Baptist, Episcopal, Methodist and Student houses "Thursday for the traditional Thanksgiving coffees and openhouses.

White chrysanthemums, ferns, and candles were used to provide the setting for an open house at the Baptist students center Thursday evening with a medley of semi-classical pieces played during the time with Edith Smith at the piano.

In charge of arrangements was Mrs. Lucile Bolding. Guests on the occasion included: June Arnistead, Jean Baisden, Allen Boyett and Jean Bollinger.

"Thanks Be to God" was the topic of the sermon by Alfred J. Dickinson, supply pastor of the First Baptist church, at the Thanksgiving vesper service which followed. The musical portion of the service included "Prelude Perfect," sung by Jimmie Rogers; a choral benediction by the BSU choir and a violin prelude and postlude.

The litany and Thanksgiving prayers were lead by Barbara Jean Holt and Sara Norman gave a reading with musical accompaniment.

Mrs Margaret Blair and Dr. Anna Lidell served for the traditional coffee conversations at Rune Hall Thanksgiving afternoon. Carolyn Smith, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements for this event.

The Rev. and Mrs. Claud Haynes and visiting alumnae were guests of honor at a coffee given at the Methodist student house following the campus worship service Thursday morning. Fall flowers and berries and bowls of fruits and nuts decorated the student house for this occasion.

Gates and Fountain Assume Festive Air

The Even gates and Odd fountain once more achieved a festive air as the separate groups decorated their respective contributions to the campus for the annual Thanksgiving activities. "Pilgrim spirits lowly lie," the theme of the fountain decorations, found the grave of three Even spirits in the plot of ground around the fountain with an Odd playing ivory to stamp down on one of the graves.

A huge Odd cap sits atop the fountain.

Even gates doffed their usual vine-clad dignity for a gayer drapery to represent Even spirits suppor...ir green-clad cutouts of exuberant leaves, large gold feathers, and signs welcoming the alumnae were in order.

Mae Manning and Lena Hardin for the Odds, and Ida Lee Reintz for the Evens were in charge of the decorations Helping to carry out the idea for the Odd which was submitted by Clarice Strickland and Nancy MacEdwards were Mary Jackson, Dorothy Patrick, and Lucy Harding. Audrey Perry, Babe Evans, Jean Koontz and Ida Lee Reintz decorated the gates with the help of Marian Floyd, Ginger Hatton, Tot Carter, and Jackie McGee.

Survey Shows Great Variety in Themes Used for Production of Odd-Even Dems

Varied themes from the Naughty Nineties to the Gay Forties would have been featured in the Odd and Even demonstrations for the past 19 years.

This year's Odd dem presents "Pinnochiodd," a satire on the fascle, "Snow White and Odd." dem has as its title "Rome Was Never Like This," a take off on Word, Mark." This take-off on Mark Anthony takes place, naturally, in Rome.

The Odds went way back to 1620 to get the theme of their last years dem, "Plymouth Odd Arises, 1620—or Roosevelt's First Term." Slamming Hitler at the time with events" they proceeded to demonstrate the advantages of an American settled by Odds. The dem was retaliated with "Oddsuke and Old Lace, or You Can't Keep a Good Man Down," which was lifted, or shall we say borrowed, from a current Cary Grant picture.

The Evens found their way to fairyland in 1943 for their presentation of Alice in Wonderland, a clever adaptation of the old fairy tale. "It's the Devil, Alice, It?" summed up the Odds prediction for 1944. Evens would be refused at the entrance of Hell and Heaven.

Shakespeare inspired the Odds of 1942. "Odds You Like It" presented the Bard's immortal lines in several Shakespearean plays. A blessed event in the Even's family formed the plot for "Eventually—Why Not Now."

The Odds of 1941 held a theme of "Madame Luchonga's" thrilling rescue from a camp of Axis in the 1941 Even dem. Odds "Even Steven" tells the love story of the Even heroine and hero.

From "Hellzapoppin" to "Oddspoppin" was so jump at all for the Odds of 1940. The Even theme was transformed "Dr Jekyll and Mr Ed" in the Even version of "Dr Jeven and Mr Hood."

Courageous "King Ray" of the House of Even was instrumental in the rescue of the fair lady Evonne from the clutches of Baroness "Oddithur." This outstandnig event was the theme of "Oddkiller Wins the Day," the Odds' dem of 1939. A Land of Oz influence is shown in the adventures of "Little Oddy," the Odds' dem of 1938. The Woodman, and the Cowardly Lion in Oddz' production of "Even Wizard of Odds" which centered about the quest of the wonderful city of Odds.

1938's stirring Odd drama was "Birds Do Odd Things," while "Excuse Is Its Own Reward," in which Oddward Victory Noble, a heroic streetsweeper saved Wellington, the ambitious-to-be-lightrope - walker heroine. A fine upstanding mountain-feller, Jr. Even, Paul Bunyan by name, and his friends engaged in a mountain feud with Lazy Odd in the Evens' "Feud for Thought."

The tea trip of Mr Two, a parrot and a crew was the plot of the "Evenetia" of 1937. World-minded Odds made the world safe for democracy in "DemODDcracy."

Time marched and so did the 1936 Evens. Their theme centered around a march of time beginning

RECORDS—ALBUMS — SHEET MUSIC
Jenkins Music Co.
Formerly Tallahassee Music Co.
HAVE YOU HEARD
BEULAH'S BOOGIE
By Hampton—"Solid!"
WHERE MUSIC IS A BUSINESS—NOT A SIDELINE

Backstage Crews Struggle in Confusion On Eve of Odd Demonstration Production

Backstage of Even demonstration, which was given last Tuesday and Thursday nights was a variety of laughs and mayhem as unforseen difficulties presented themselves to the workers.

Dot Tucker, who portrayed the lead in the social dance had to appear on the stage in the midst disappear and re-enter at the opposite side within the time of music and new run backstage trying to make the opposite side by the scheduled time, only encountered two girls jumped over one, and landed squarely on the lap of the girl behind her, whose chair she scrambled to her feet, started on, then rushed back with hastily murmured apologies; and through all of this managed to appear on time. "I had horrible visions of my partner strangled on the stage and crying desperately to think of something to do,' she said.

Another difficulty arose when the dancers were forced to make during openings in the curtain through which they were entering. 'At times," stated one girl, "we felts like trying to end making our own opening."

The delay between the first and second acts was filled by the faculty in getting the curtain over the columns in front of the stage All of the stage crew and the cast assisted in this ordeal and success was finally obtained.

During the last act, in the duel between Brutod and Mark Antohny, the sword was knocked from Brutod's hand with a little too much enthusiasm. Instead of landing on the stage it was supposed to, it landed on the first row of the audience, much to the surprise of those claiming front row seats.

During Peter Gillam's dance, the snap on her skirt came off, causing the whole cast to "breathe a little faster." Like a true trouper, Patsy merely raised her hands above her head, let the skirt fall to the floor, and continued her dance in tights as though nothing had happened.

Trouble was had in finding a suitable skirt for Anne Shull as she took the woman's lead in the social dance. At the Tuesday night performance, she wore a long black skirt which ripped, causing a near accident as she went from back to front. For the Thursday night tights were made to suffice for Thursday night's performance.

Although all members of the cast of the "no backfeet crew admit they had fun working on the show, they also admit that they breathed a deep sigh of relief when it was over.

Fashion Flashes

By FRANCES TRAZLER

Someone misunderstood the title of this column—she thought instead of "fashion," it was "passion flashes." Gome to think of it one is s'posed to be a result of the other. Your columnist will attempt to describe some of the more exquisite means to the result from a stick of recent Yogurt. There are a couple of short dresses which must be dealt with before we turn to the exciting business of new evening dresses. Our favorite is a dolman-sleeved classic of gray wool jersey. With it are worn velvet gloves and beret of a color which is a cross between gray and golden, and three golden ropes at the high neck.

Another is black jersey suit, scarlet-stitched, worn with leopard fur gloves and a big tawny bow at the throat. For the same purpose as The Little Black Dress by Fashion Flashes, every girl has an extremely low round neck, and is worn with silk buttons, gold chain and black slippers, wrist length red gloves, and a gold chain with a dazzling coin pendant.

And here's a black rayon velvet party one, the neck cut low and the throat and wrthe fur mittens.

Now for the evening dresses. One of the most striking is one seen is all black: a clinging wool bi-cone-shirt with fishtail back, and a stiff rayon falls skirt. It is worn with a leopard fur belt, white gloves, and a fur muff to clinch.

The evening dress we're looking at now is a romantic one: a full skirt of black net with a wide ruffles at the bottom, a ruffle-bertha of the same, and a satin tatting, and a huge pink satin bow at the back, whose ends fall almost to the floor. Pink satin slippers.

This is to be worn with pearls, and a tailed bag helps the appearance infinitely.

The next evening dress is one of black velvet, with a full skirt has a velvet bodice (almost backless) with a back-tie effect. Rhinestones, and a full-gathered tulle skirt. It is worn with long white kid gloves.

The last evening dress—purple taffeta it is—sums up the trend. It's skirt is full, with a deep hemlet: a padded, sloped, sidetail. The bodice is cut low. About the throat one would wear a shiny gold rope, and one's hair arranged in a high and tight pompadolle arrangement at the back. If fairly serious, "Hips are back!" and we are gratified.

Magazine Jottings

Continued from page four

uranium, which is a small enough quantity to operate a car for a month. It has been said that which may someday be used are relatively scarce because of their lesser stability.

He concludes by saying that "since I do not consider that atomic energy is to be a great boon for a long time, I have to say that for the present it is a menace. . . It may intimidate the human race for a generation, but not for international affairs." In that way it might begin its services to mankind.

Phone your Trailways Agent first . . .
Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
12:35	1:20
1:30	3:20
3:45	5:00
5:00	6:00
6:45	8:45
8:30	9:00
11:00

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:30
6:45	5:00
8:30	9:00
11:00

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Beautiful New Bedroom Slippers

One-Day Shoe Repair Service

STEWART'S SHOE STORE
100 E. Jefferson St.

. . . smartest styles for now and later in expertly tailored : h e s terfields, reefers, tunic toppers. De-e-e signer details, brilliant colors . . . expert tailoring spotlights this distinguished group.

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH
Longines
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZE AWARDS
MEDALS AND DIPLOMAS
FOR ACCURACY AND PAST OTHER TIMEPIECE
THE MOST HONORED WATCH IN THE WORLD
CA MPBELL'S

P. W. WILSON

After-Dinner Coffees Thursday Fete Students, Guests of Residence Halls

As a part of Thanksgiving celebrations, students entertained their faculty sponsors and other guests at coffees in the residence halls. The holiday theme was carried out in decorations of autumn leaves and flowers and Thanksgiving music given by the students.

Bryan Hall gave a coffee drop-in from 11 to one o'clock Thanksgiving Day in the morning a group of students played classical music and sang Thanksgiving songs. Mary Monaco and Harriet Kirk poured at tables decorated with red and gold autumn leaves and colorful fall fruit. Miss Olivia M Dorman, dean of students, was the honored guest of the students at Bryan Hall

The annual Thanksgiving entertainment of Landis Hall was a coffee held Wednesday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock. The tables were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, and tapers burned during the reception. Madge Pilcher, Peggy Pearson, and Joyce Funke sang Finlandia, Come Ye Thankful People, Come and We Gather Together in the program. Following, Miss Kay Werren, assistant dean of students, Miss Dorman and other members of the faculty were the guests of the Landis students. Pre- Thanksgiving Dinner Pertlee Hunt and Ruth Young poured coffee.

Students of Reynolds Hall received their parents and guests at an after dinner coffee from 3:30 to 5 o'clock Thanksgiving day. Among the guests were Mrs Beverley Stevens, former residence halls counselor in Reynolds and Miss Helen Kate, assistant professor of home economics. The parlors of Reynolds Hall were decorated with asters, holly, and autumn leaves of evergreens and Spanish moss. During the afternoon, classical records were played by Miss Marie Donahue, residence counselor, poured coffee.

Among the guests at the Jessie Murphree after-dinner coffee were Mrs. Agnes Mathews Doyle, instructor in modern languages, and Miss Vela Cleveland, instructor in physiology, and Miss Mamie Andrews, Mrs Melanie Turner, Miss Eva M Bellinger and Mrs Zona Frick. Virginia Goodall played the piano, and Jeanne Heady gave a Thanksgiving reading. Tables were centered with white ginia.

Perkins Is Awarded Library Fellowship

Miss Isabelle Perkins, an alumnae of Florida State College, has been awarded a fellowship created by New Jersey State College, Rutgers University. According to a recent article in the Library Journal, the fellowship consists of a half-time library position for two years while completing the professional library course.

Miss Perkins received her masters degree from FSC in 1938 majoring in English. She taught in Southern high schools and elementary schools until the beginning of her work at New Jersey at the opening of the fall term. Her previous library experience includes work in the Orlando High School Library, the college library at Milford College in Tennessee, and at the headquarters of the Arlington County Library, Arlington, Virginia.

Dining Hall Girls Face Different Personalities, Mutual Cooperation Lessens Difficulties of Task

Even if she did drop that tray and take a leaf off the artificial flower you had in your hair, even if she did pour water on your darling Frank and give you the smallest dessert of them all, it was an accident. She didn't really mean it

Yes, you know the dining hall girl who has coffee on your table every morning when you finally drag in She' the same girl, perhaps, who sets more of that hard bread for you at lunch, or who brings out an extra dessert once in awhile.

There is usually a feeling of mutual cooperation between the dining hall girls and the other students It this give-and-take policy ceases to operate, conditions can become quite strained and irritating.

At difficult times when friction is present, the dining hall girl has various types o. people to contend with.

Miss Grumpy is one of them. She constantly complains about the watery gravy, the scarce amount of milk, or the dried-up grapes which happen to be at her table.

The dining hall girl's favorite customer is ref Miss Thoughtless. She always takes her books to dinner and leaves them right where the dining hall girl had planned to put the savory yellow squash. If Miss T does not put them on the table, she puts them on the floor as the dining hall girl can trip over them.

For some strange reason she doesn't like the gr.. Miss Speedy, who races through her meal like a long-nubbined greyhound. Miss S also considers it her duty to rush the whole table through. She wonders how any mortal could be so-o-o slow except maybe they chew their food.

Although Miss Baby seldom sits at the same table with Miss S she is a fitting contrast. Miss B enjoys playing in her food. If she isn't doing that, she's busy putting grape seeds in someone else's milk or mixing pickles and jelly together. The sweet young thing forgether she has the sole privilege of complaining about the food but since she rarely gets around to actually eating she has no grounds on which to base her dislikes

Well, who does the dining room girl like? Of course, she likes the eater who is neat, who comes to dinner presentably dressed, and who is not unduly loud and noisy. She likes a pleasant, efficient, business-like manner—but then who doesn't?

Oh ho, so you don't think the dining hall girls are exactly perfect either.

Take Miss Forgetful for instance. Any girl who can't rattle off the menu for the following 24 hours is useless, and why in the world a girl can't at least remember what desert is is just beyond me.

Ah, and you don't like Miss Green Jacket. She's the morning talker who won't let you save, or does one say 'reserve,' four extra places at breakfast. "My goodness," you think, "I'm sure they'll be right along. They always come to breakfast, and besides I just woke them up myself."

And Miss Lazy, or do you call her Miss Turtle, ought to have a wheel chair. She's always the last one to bring and serve the main dish. Of all the girls in the whole organization she's the last one to bring out deserts. "All she'd have to do is push and shove a little," you think to yourself.

And you don't relish the Charge of the Milk Brigade either, do you? The girls rush from the dining hall with their milk pitchers as if shot by jet force. And the way they run up and down the aisles sometimes—that's dangerous, so you say. There you have a point!

What has been proposed is a change where both parties instead of being so critical would trade positions for a period of time. A short period of time, please.

Or maybe, the dining hall should be renovated. Suppose tracks were laid and the food was sent in little carts from the dining hall. All the hostess would have to do is pull the 'stop' switch when the most desirable food glided by, unload, and send the little cart back for desert. Result—no dining hall girls.

Maybe, however, the students would rather be able to supervise the planning, preparing and serving of the meals. Things would run so much more smoothly, or at least that's what you think. Then prune whip would be done away with, mailed milk shakers would be installed at each table, and 'my-goodness-it's-good,' that new steak from the Gr-r-r Grill up town, would be served. Anyway —Result—no dietitians.

Perhaps, Sunday night supper might be changed wherein the buffet style be continued, but attendance would be formal and officials from town would be present.

The most probable change which can be suggested is that both groups accentuate a little more of the positive. That "Careless" attitude could be changed for the "Don't You Know I Care" feeling.

When that's done, there'll be a "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Irish Chosen For National Committee

Dr Marian Irish, professor of political science, has been appointed a member of the National Committee on Social Studies of the American Association of University Women.

This committee promotes and encourages study of and action on major economic and social problems within the United States. It sponsors arrangements to provide speakers and consultants in the field of social studies for branches and state divisions developing programs and projects and it keeps in touch with the various local committees undertaking research in social and economic problems. The committee also arranges for advisory and technical assistance in connection with the publication of materials in this field.

Dr Mabel Newcomer, professor of economics at Vassar, is chairman of the committee. Other members are Dean Blanding of the College of Home Economics at Cornell University; Dr Stevenson, professor of social administration at the University of Illinois; Dr Burns, writer and lecturer in social economy; Miss Martha Enochs, Jackson, Mississippi; Mrs D M Draper, Salt Lake City, Utah; and Miss Anne Mumford, Los Angeles, California.

The written constitution of Canada is the British North America act, an act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom adopted in 1867.

Wall Street in New York marks the path of the wall built by Peter Stuyvesant to protect the then northern limits of the Dutch settlement.

Haughton Will Give Illustrated Lecture

Guild to Hold Year's First Open Meeting Sunday

Miss Helen Haughton will give an illustrated lecture on French cathedrals at a meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Guild of Organists to be held tomorrow at 6 p m in the clubroom of the Longmire building.

Miss Haughton, who received her degrees from the University of Chicago in art history, is a lecturer on art in the humanities division of Florida State College. Everyone interested in her lecture is invited to attend said Mrs Ramona Cruikshank Beard, associate professor of organ and to attend the reception to be held after the meeting

This first open meeting of the year marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the American Guild of Organists, a professional organization for organists and choirmasters which aims to improve and encourage the highest achievement in organ and choral music. According to Mrs Beard, the guild plans to present a Christmas organ program and an ancient mystery play to be performed at Rugg Hall in January.

Officers of the Tallahassee Branch of the American Guild of Organists for this year are: Mrs Beard regent; Pawn Trawick, vice regent; Margaret McCain, secretary; Jane Gaertner, treasurer; Rebecca Rodenberg, registrar, and Mrs Ben Meginnis, auditor.

Unforseen Difficulties Arising Backstage Are Cause of Even Breathless Moments

Backstage of Odd Demonstration Wednesday and Friday nights was a scene of disorder and near chaos as last minute complications arose to confront the already overworked stage crew.

At the last minute, the discovery that no make-up had been provided for Pinocchiold, the main character, sent the make-up committee into furious consultation. After a great deal of "tearing of the hair," some cocoa a can of lard and some lipstick were obtained and made to suffice.

Nell Clark, chairman of the demonstration, found difficulty in trying to restrain the cast from too much ad-libing. It seems that the freshmen especially were too "eager" to add their own anecdotes toward the success of the "Dem." Key Van Deurs as Pinocchiold, despite much pleading from Nell lept off the stage in the middle of the second act to the amusement of both the cast and the audience.

A new touch was added, when someone decided it would be clever for Pinocchiold to present his favorite teacher, which turned out to be Mr Vance, with an apple. This idea was shared of until the middle of the first act when excess stage hands were sent scurrying forth in search of a big red apple which would serve the purpose. Bebe Daniel, who portrayed the boy in the silhouette dance, found herself without a tuxedo at the last minute. Almost to the point of desperation, she discovered a friend in need who presented her with a suit no less than fifty years old. Thankful for anything, Bebe did some furious last minute sewing and tucking and managed to obtain the desired effect in time for her dance. "A moth hole in my sleeve was so big," she said, "I was afraid I'd get my foot caught in it and fall flat on my face." She added that she half expected to see something resembling a bat fly forth every time her coat flapped open.

A delay was caused between the second and third acts when the backdrop of Westcott refused to go up. Disaster seemed certain, but after much scrambling about and many well-intended suggestions from interested bystanders, the untimely situation was conquered and the play proceeded without difficulty.

Despite these few mishaps which after all merely added zest to the performance, the demonstration proved a success, and the fun derived from it by both the cast and the members of the backstage crew was worth the few headaches that intervened.

For years Mark Twain has been credited with authorship of the statement "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it." The actual author was Charles Dudley Warner, author of "My Summer in the Garden" and collaborator with Twain on the novel "The Gilded Age."

Stagecraft Classes to Construct Sets For Production of "Time and Conways"

Sounds of hammering and strong aromas of stage paint have begun to issue from the speech department as a workshop in the newly constructed part of the History building. The first performance of J B Priestly's "Time and the Conways" will be given November 29. Miss Mary Elizabeth Moody's stagecraft classes have prepared the play's set in the workshop.

The new workshop is a vast improvement over last year's, say all who have seen it. Those Florida State College students who walked down the sidewalks beside the Little Theatre but before plays were given last year, may remember seeing girls dragging flats out of the theatre's east door, painting them on the grass, and hoisting them in again. Below the stage were the "catacombs" (dressing rooms), where paint was mixed and cooked, and tools were kept in a three foot wide closet.

The actual construction of the new wing has occasioned some hardship to stagecraft class members, however. The cast and stage crew of "The Yellow Jacket" were obliged to climb down a ladder into a ten foot pit if they wished to leave through the east door of the theatre during the week of nightly performances last March. This door now opens onto a big concrete-floored room with a ceiling which is two stories high. Downstairs there are new dressing rooms, and cabins for stage materials have been installed.

According to the stagecraft classes there is nothing quite like a play night. The stage manager is constantly harassed, while the girls operating lights, the curtain, and the fly rail are busy and idle by turns. The fly rail is said to be the most desirable post, being a ladder-reached, rope - littered balcony, far from the steaming, cigarette-smoking back-stage crowd below. Last year the girls who were in there expressed extreme gratification for their leisure, except when they were shaking a lamp during the air raids in "Cry Havoc," and hauling a palm tree up and down in "Little Black Sambo," and a tableau curtain in "A Chinese Fantasy."

Several girls have said that performance nights of "Time and the Conways" promise to outdo last year's, because Mr O F Sellers, associate professor of orchestra instruments at F S C; Mr Ralph Donaldson, associate professor of industrial arts at F S C; Mr Warren Green, civics teacher at Leon High school; and Mr Paul Johnson of the treasury department, are in the cast. For the first time since "The Elves and the Shoemaker" was selected in 1942, the speech department has chosen a play with male parts.

FSC Students Meet National Pin-up Boy In Atlanta Office

Two feminine hearts of Florida State College campus received, if not the thrill of a lifetime, at least the thrill of November 2 when they met in person the one and only Van "The Girls" Johnson.

Gracie Whidden and Lea Goodman, while spending the weekend in Atlanta with Lea's aunt, had this singular honor bestowed upon them in the Atlanta Journal office.

They strolled innocently in the office prepared to meet only unexciting newspapers and newspaperment and encountered, instead, the dazzling slow grin belonging to Van Johnson—the number 1 pin-up boy.

Lea relates that as they both grasped one veiled VA-A-A-N, the other JOHNSON, and fell screaming to the floor. She also said more seriously that he seemed to be a very friendly and unassuming young man. Imagine having a private interview with Van Johnson, and his bodyguards.

"Yes, girls, they declared, "he's all the tall, broad-shouldered, freckled he-scarred, ruzzed gentleman that you've swooned over from the Tallahassee theatre balconies AND MORE!"

As a more tangible proof of this interview Gracie and Lea proudly share a picture autographed in these words: "My love, Van."

He was enroute to a bond tour and had stopped in at the Journal office to make arrangements. How Gracie and Lea, an' Van happened to be in the Atlanta Journal publicity office on Westview in downtown Atlanta, Georgia, on November 2 at 12:30 no one will ever know it could only have been fate!

In the Ice Age, the musk ox ranged south to Tennessee.

Girl Scout Advisor To Address Series

Mrs Dorothy Ann Haley, advisor on professional work of the Girl Scout National Staff, will be on the Florida State College campus next Thursday and Friday as one of the talks on the vocational guidance series, she will speak on girl scouting to all interested students on Thursday at 6 p m in the Longmire auditorium. On Friday she will interview all seniors interested in professional Girl Scouting.

Mrs Haley is a graduate of Simmons College, Boston, with a major in social work. Before her work on the National Staff she was district secretary of Girl Scouts in Rochester She has also served as a day camp director and as an assistant camp director in an established camp. Her experience in fields other than Girl Scouting includes work as a playground instructor and as a hospital social worker.

While in Tallahassee Mrs Haley will visit the local girl scout association as well as the college

Any senior interested in an interview with Mrs Haley should make arrangements in the Personnel Office.

Flight Course Is Given by Munroe

Prior to the war a flying course was given at the Tallahassee airport by the Civil Aeronautics association under the supervision of Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel. The flight training was given by Mr Ivan Munroe of the Tallahassee airport and the ground course was given by the Royal Mattice of the Department of Economics. During the course training of the two groups of students there was not a single accident.

Mr Munroe has now formed a company with three other Tallahasseans. Mr Jeff Lewis, Mr Curt Hoffman and Mr Frank Lewis, for flight training.

Some of the former flight students were very active during the war. Irene Prevatt and Lucy Prine were in the Women's Auxiliary Service Patrol. Irene took a course in Portuguese at Miami and is now teaching at the Brazilian Army Cadet Ground School in Brazil. Another of the group, Frances Rogers, is also teaching in the ground school. Sara Woodruff of the group holds the position of chief transportation agent of Eastern Air Lines at La Guardia Field in New York.

THE FLAMBEAU TAKES THIS OPPORTUNITY TO CONGRATULATE WINNERS OF THE ODD-EVEN GAMES

* * * *

And Both the Red, White and Purple And the Green and Gold for Fine Demonstrations

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

VOL. XXXIII, No. 8 | Tallahassee, Florida | NOVEMBER 30, 1945

In This Our Time

Z 104

Will the Lights Go On Again?

By GLORIA REED
Atomic Control

In an address before the House of Commons, British Prime Minister Attlee warned that the atomic bomb may be succeeded by other engines of mass destruction and said that if Great Britain shares the secret of atomic energy she must have the assurance that she will be given information on any other new weapons. Along with his plan for "reciprocity" Attlee agreed with Secretary Foreign Secretary Eden, now acting leader of the Conservative opposition, that the United Nations Organization will be of little avail unless nations resolve to lay aside any threat of war as an instrument of policy. Mr. Eden, also on this theme, appealed to Russia to permit foreign correspondents to accompany the control as a means of strengthening international relations. Senator Taft (Rep. Ohio) proposed that the Congress instruct the United States representative to the United Nations security council to use immediate action as to limiting the use of such weapons as the atomic bomb, rockets and gas.

Language

Post war uprisings still rage throughout the Orient. The latest fighting between the British and the Indonesians continues on Java. The Nationalist leader of the unrecognized Indonesian government and the British have met and heard Premier Sutan Sjahrir council patience among the people. Sjahrir declared they could not be forced to follow a road they do not wish to take. Forces of the Japanese army, navy and air were recently prepared to be sent to Java. Reinforcements, both with the British and the Dutch forces, are on the way. It is stated the statement that the Japanese made good soldiers. During the war the Japanese made good use of bombs and fire to wipe out rebel radio stations and a large number of Indonesian headquarters after finding the mutilated bodies of several British.

In Calcutta, a rioting Indian mob set fire to the supply of an American General hospital and injured and killed several Americans in the riots.

In Italy, Premier Parri resigned after being confronted with a rebellion within his six-party coalition cabinet. Orlando, Nitte Quirino and Premier Ivanoe Bard, although the World War I premier may find a strong Parri support.

The Communist controlled Turkish party of the National Congress of Iran demanded autonomy for Azerbaijan Province of Iran demanded autonomy for Azerbaijan Province in Iran. Premier Ahmed Ghavam, in Government with its regional parliament but without the change of sovereignty. Russia and the United States Department has questioned Russia's interference in the policy of favoring independence in Iran. Oil sets since the Big Three issued a declaration favoring the full independence.

In Jerusalem British troops are combatting Jewish forces in an attempt to prevent the Jews of their weapons which they have held in several recent riots with the Arabs.

In China the Reds claimed that the Chinese Communists captured Manchurian cities until the Nationalists can enter them, but the Nationalists and the United States are making great demands for this concession.

Pearl Harbor Probe

The Congressional committee's investigation of Pearl Harbor (controlled by Democrats) has been underway with proof that official Washington knew Japanese intentions as early as July, 1941, three months ahead of the Japanese code. Former Under-Secretary of State Welles said that the Japanese proposals of November, 1941, amounted to an "ultimatum" even when they were suing for peace.

Labor

The nation remains in the midst of reconversion strikes. To many observers, a major hindrance is the United Automobile Workers strike in Detroit which affects 225,000, one of the largest in the country. Is demanding a 30 per cent wage increase. However, in a letter to the union, Mr Ford stated that a wage increase cannot be determined until after reconversion is completed and volume production is reached.

In Chicago, Montgomery Ward and labor are still pressing for further union recognition and wage increases, but no immediate outcome in sight.

Philippines

The Administration, viewing what it believes to be the deplorable economic conditions of the Philippines, made up its mind to grant the islands free trade with the United States for eight years and tariffs which would rise gently for 25 years. It was also decided to clamp down on black marketers who straighten out the currency. President Truman sent Paul McNutt, one time American ruler of

Continued on Page Three

English Play Is Presented On Campus

"Time and the Conways" Has Three-day Run in Little Theater

The speech department's first production of the year, "Time and the Conways," was played to a capacity audience in the August Conradi Little Theater last night at 8:30, and will be presented again tonight and tomorrow night.

J B Priestley's English play, directed by Miss Mary Wood, professor of speech, assisted by Joy Fleming, has a cast of four men and six women whose personalities vary widely. The three-act drama is the story of the development of the ten characters over the 20-year period since 1919. Priestly raised a universal issue in this play which is that time is all a part of a single fabric until the wisest sometimes have brief opportunities to see it as a whole. This issue, within the play's pattern of realism, is responsible for holding the play together.

A party is in progress in the sitting room of the Conway's home at Wevilsmere, Enfield when the play begins. Gradually the stage fills with people, and the Conway family is complete when RAF pilot Robin Conway makes a surprise visit. Kay Conway sits dreaming of the future and Robin's return, when suddenly sees into the future as it will look on her 47th birthday. The setting and the lives of Kay's home is again the scene in the second act, but the post-war modernization is an indication of the passing of time in many ways. Instead of experiencing the looked-for love and happiness. Kay's daughter, Carol, and her

Continued on Page Three

Next Quarter Sees New Staff Additions

Two Former Faculty Members To Resume Positions

Coming from North Africa and the United States, two former member members of the faculty are returning next quarter to resume their teaching positions on the There will also be three new additions to the staff of Florida State College.

Miss Madeline Pontafy of modern languages, a graduate who left here in 1940 on leave of absence with a year's return in her native France, has already made plans for a visit, and will resume her former position upon her return. When France fell into the hands of the German in 1940, Miss Pontafy took refuge in North Africa. She sailed from Casablanca last week and this is her first return to the United States since she left five years ago.

Commander Hugh Allen Carson has just returned to FSC on terminal leave from the Navy and will begin teaching in the college of education at the beginning of the second quarter.

Carson graduated at Dallas, Texas, Cmdr Cason taught air navigation, which includes celestial, dead reckoning, celestial and radio navigation. He left FSC three years ago to enter the Navy, and stated "I'm very glad to be back here, and am looking forward to again teaching here in 1939.

Miss Ernestine Tremmel who will come to FSC as associate professor of physical education, last taught at Southwest Missouri State College, West Virginia.

The new cataloguer in the library will be Miss Mary B Van Spoy from Oregon State College.

Instructing in education and commerce will be Miss Mary McKinnon from Wesleyan Conservatory.

Distaff to Include Freshmen Entries

The 1946 fall issue of the Distaff, marking the twentieth anniversary of the magazine, a critical literary publication published by the students of Florida State College, will include the prize winning poetry, prose, freshman writing contest and a symposium entitled "Peace Techniques", announced Winifred Meldrim, editor.

Although printing of the Distaff has been delayed, this edition probably will not be circulated before the Christmas holidays. Meldrim has requested that students begin submitting material for the second issue of the Distaff, to be published during the winter, appealing especially for short stories and familiar essays. The deadline for the winter issue has been set for December 15.

Dance Organization Function on Campus For Past 35 Years

Back in the days when fox trotting and long skirts were the vogue, and jitterbugging and sadie shoes were things in the far distant future, the Cotillion Club and the Village Vamps were founded on this campus. It was the year 1910. The smooth waltzers and two-step-lovers of yesteryear's FSC decided to form a dancing club. The Cotillions represented the "boys" and the Village Vamps were their coy partners.

The demure and slow dances soon gave way to the fast and peppy ones that became popular during and after the First World War. Irene and Vernon Castle did much to revolutionize the waltz, and college girls were ordered to adopt the new and more novel method of dancing.

Dr W G Dodd, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences, who used to be known as Big Bill said, "When I first arrived on this campus the waltz was the vogue, a slow music, but since then it seems to me that they are dancing faster and faster. Dr. Dodd said that he has been chaperone at many school dances and has been entertained and interesting to see the changes in the way that the girls dance."

Today the Village Vampe is an organization composed of girls who "rushed" last year.

Continued on Page Three

AGO to Hear Pieces In Sunday Meeting

Lecture on Gothic Cathedrals Was Heard Last Week

Members of the American Guild of Organists will hold a business meeting of the year in the Tower Room of Westcott on Sunday, December 2 at 4:30 p. m. This meeting is a follow up of last week's lecture, when Mrs. Ruth Miss Helen K Haughton gave an illustrated lecture on Gothic Cathedrals.

Sunday's program will be presented by the Tallahassee Chapter of AGO assisted by the Junior Choir of Trinity Methodist Church. The program to be offered will be "A Choral Prelude" by Bach, Brahms, G D Beautious Light," played by Pawn Trawick; "Christmas in Setting Virtue" by Wm. Billings sung at popular melody played by Ruth Ann Hamilton; "Hark the Herald" "Sleep, O Child Divine" played by Emma Lou Carney; "Holy Holy Jubilo" by Bach; "Good Christian Men Rejoice," played by Eugenia Ann Kinnie; "Carol of the Bells" ed by Pat Fabricius; "The Shepherds Farewell" by Berlioz, sung by Nell Duncan; "On This Day Earth Shall Ring" arranged by Thomas Scott; "Away Our Fat it to Bethlehem!" played by Geoffrey Shaw; "Hark! the Herald Angels" arranged by Morten Luvaas; "Gloria Tril it on the Mountains" arranged by Wilhousky; "Hallelujah Symphony from "The Messiah," by Handel, played by Eleanor Calcwell; "The March of the Magi" by Dubois: "A Lovely Rose Has Sprung" by Wm. Billings sung by Sally Slater; "Gesu Bambino" by Yon, played by Evelyn Ann Dorle: Two Variations on "Puer Nobis" by Gullmant, player by Rebecca Hutchinson.

Continued on page two

Sweet Shop Grows From Small Grocery To Present Thriving Campus Institution

Probably there is not a college or a university in America that does not claim some sort of coffee-and-hamburger manufacturing institution where students go between classes, after exams, and when they should be studying. Some of them are sophisticated and modern—the "Chuck Wagon", walls are embellished with the brands of all the cattle and the brands of all the ranchers that made Texas the Wild and Wooly West—and some are just little holes-in-the-wall, like the Gamecock Grill, at the University of South Carolina, which serves grits and hash of a cold morning and has a barber shop in the basement.

The Sweet Shop, a small, white wooden building which has evolved from a grocery store with one table to a campus hang-out for 2400 girls, represents the Florida State College variety.

The Sweet Shop was born in 1933, when one table was placed in the unused right hand side of a small grocery store on West Jefferson street behind the Library. Then there was no soda fountain. The wooden floor, the walls, no juke, and the porch was not available for the romantic atmosphere presented by Wistaria and a few magnolias. It has certainly metamorphosed from the one table to the present two-room, 33 table tearoom where sometimes as many as 2,300 FSC students go in one day.

Tired campers, bookworms who have reached the saturation point, and procrastinators manage to consume an average 27 gallons of Coca-cola, and 25 to 30 gallons of ice-cream per day. In a week-end rush, one has consumed of 900 hamburgers.

"Florida Flambeau," said Mr L. O Blount, co-owner of the Sweet, "the only thing that kept us in business was the kind of people

Continued on page four

Carothers Announce Registration Plans

Day Set Aside to Enroll For Second Quarter

The second quarter registration of Florida State College will last only one day for regular students. This is the first time in many years that registration has been scheduled for more than one day, according to Dr M W Carothers, registrar, under the quarter system that is all the students can be allowed for registration.

All students must register the afternoon of January 2, 1946, and the regular students the entire day of January 3. There will be no alphabetical order; upperclassmen in the morning and freshmen in the afternoon.

Since such a short time is being allowed for registration, it is most important that students register at the time assigned according to Dr Carothers. Students who want to remain in the same classes that they were previously enrolled in first quarter, will have a greater chance of doing so if registering at the stated time, he further instructed.

'Garnet and Gold' Features Vocalists

Sarah Ann Bramlette and Betty Carter will be featured vocalists on the regular college dance program, when "Garnet and Gold," last night at 7:30 over WTAL.

If I Could Tell You by Fire-stone and My Johann by Gries were the selections sung by Sarah Ann. Betty Carter played her piece, Curo Mio Ben by Giordano.

The general announcing was done by Bertha Bloodworth, co-ordinator of the broadcast, who also gave the weekly news report.

Haley Speaks On Scouting

Advisor Here to Recruit Applicants for Work

"Majors in social studies and education are the most preferable professions for girls interested in Girl Scout work. She is here to recruit applicants for local and specialized training for the Girl Scout organization "We place all applicants in Georgia, Florida and Texas to some extent choose their own locality" she said. Any senior who is interested in this work may interview should contact the personnel office.

A graduate of Simmons College,

Continued on page four

Sale of TB Seals Begins Wednesday

Christmas seals will be sold at Florida State College Monday through Wednesday under the direction of Miss Frances Bond and her health education class, from a booth in the Union building, it was announced today.

This annual drive is to raise money for the campaign against tuberculosis.

Eighty-six per cent of the student contribution to the Christmas seal saving through the X-ray program made possible by sale of Christmas seals. Miss Shaw brought out the fact that TB kills more women between the ages of 20 than any other age group.

Statistics show that on a Day, the average rate of deaths due to the war was one person every seven and a half minutes. During the same period of time, the average rate of deaths due to TB was one person every eight minutes according to figures from Miss Shaw.

"The war is over", she reminds us, "and the guns are silenced, but TB is still killing. Buy Christmas Seals".

Parker Speaks To Students On Education

Convo Program Planned by Alpha Lambda Delta Discouraged

Council Advises Against Conscription Debate

Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science, in addressing the student body in the Alpha Lambda Delta convocation last Tuesday night, declared that "the oldest, most used and most misleading term label it progressive, liberal, or vocational, must be the same one the promotion of human welfare and the enhancement of the value and satisfactions of life."

A scheduled debate on compulsory military conscription," which was to have been given by members of Alpha Lambda Delta following Miss Parker's address was withdrawn on the advice of Executive Council.

In advising against the debate,

Continued on page four

Forums Are Planned By FSC Press Club

Discussions to Concern Two Surveys of Education

The recently reorganized Press Club of Florida State College formulated plans for a forum at the first meeting to present a series of open forums for discussion of the results of two surveys of higher education, to center around the ideas presented in The Experimental College and The Harvard Report on Education in a Democracy.

The Experimental College, edited by Alvin Eurich, executive secretary president of Amherst College, is a record of the plan formulated and carried out by the University of Wisconsin to foster a new experiment in liberal education, but which has failed to receive nationwide recognition, in educational circles during its formation this year. Both books represent analyses of actual and theoretical problems in modern education and they will serve as the basis for the forum, which will be held regularly during the next quarter, will be composed of students and faculty members of FSC and some outside speakers, probably from the faculties of the Florida State College also plans to sponsor speakers on current journalistic questions and allied fields in talks open to all who are interested.

Officers of the club for the coming year were elected at the first meeting in March. They are Dowd, president; Alice Armstrong, secretary, and Jane Hardacre, publicity director. The organization of forums will be under the direction of a committee of members composed of Kay van Deurs, chairman; Peggy Li Thomson, Frances Trawler and Janet Rogers.

The Press Club, not an association of journalism students, invites, is open to all students interested in the activities and discussions. Meetings are held in the Flambeau office, in the basement of the Administration building every Monday at 5 o'clock.

Recommendation Advocating Unlimited Light Privileges Passes in Senate Wednesday

Kay Elected Chairman of Legislative Committee; Judiciary Representatives Nominated; Ashton Gives Resignation

A recommendation to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs that all students be allowed to use their lights at their own discretion was passed by a vote of thirty-five to three in Student Senate Wednesday. Senate also accepted the resignation of Dink Ashton, elected Peggy Kay chairman of the legislative committee, and nominated for senior representative to Judiciary, Margaret Winton, Virginia Collins, Jessie McCalla, and Betty Ann Shiver.

The recommendation will be submitted to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs because that committee reserves for itself jurisdiction over extension of light privileges for students on the grounds that this is a matter pertaining to the public health of the students.

Senate changed the original proposal for a recommendation that approximate 4:goals be allowed to use their own discretion on the matter, to the recommendation extending the privilege to all students, including freshmen. The motion for this modification was presented to Senate by Anita Pitt from the executive Council of COA.

Winifred Meldrim gave two reasons for passing the recommendation: first, she stated that "Student Senate does not have the confidence of the student; and not its leader. Student popular opinion is overwhelmingly in favor of extending individual discretion in the matter of light usage. The other reason is purely one of relative values. I think it is more important for me and Miss Wood to concentrate on making our own decisions and assuming responsibility than it is to preserve order, uniformity, and conformity. I would like to believe would be destroyed anywhk."

Winifred said she thought that the recommendation was important because in a way, the campus is a training for democracy. She agreed with Thomas Jefferson that the "least government is the best government." The fact that privilege should be extended to freshmen because there is no development without the opportunity for development. It seems

Continued on Page Two

Recital to Feature Talk About Sibelius

Katherine Gremill, student body president of the School of Music, will have charge composer Jan Sibelius in a talk entitled Sibelius, the Man," which will be the featured finale at the Student Recital to be held next Thursday evening, according to Dean Karl O Kuerstener, acting dean of the School of Music.

The recital, which will be the last of a series presented at the first of each month, will be held in Westcott Auditorium at five o'clock. It will be featured by piano, organ, consisting mainly of alternating piano, organ, and violin solos.

Pawn trawick will play Franck's "Piece Heroique" on the organ, followed by a "Folk Song" featuring Beulah Mitchell, violinist, and Ruby Duntan, accompanist. Grieg's "Nocturne" will be played by Arla Fuller, college pianist. Jane Gaertner will play "Bell Through the Trees" by Harpe, and Ann Wiggins will give a piano solo of Chopin's "Waltz in E Minor." "Prelude and Impromptu" also by Chopin will be played by Marilyn Morgan.

Marna Smith, accompanied by Helen Edmiston, will play Ethel Barnes's, "Crepuscule" and a "Finale from Sonata in D Minor" by Guilmant will be played by Margaret McCain, organist.

The Public School Chorus will close the program with the singing of "Finlandia." with Radcliffe Board accompanied at the organ and Zodie Phipps directing.

Ceremony Held For Freshmen

Allison Gives Address at Torch Night Service

The sophomore class symbolized by the lighting of torches, led to the freshman class last night in the annual Torch Night ceremony, which was held among the pines in back of Westcott. Dressed in white, the freshmen met in the sunken garden in front of Jennie Murphree, where they were told the significance of Torch Night by Ann Carolyn Allison, president of College Government association.

Individual torches were distributed to the freshmen candidates, and the freshmen were led in lines to the back balcony of Westcott to the singing Alumnae of the return of Alma Mater and her three daughters, Vires, Artes and Mores.

Originating at FSC in 1927, the ceremony is the traditional service of the Greek celebration of the gift of fire to man in which flame symbolizes knowledge and the runner to another. In receiving the torch, the freshmen believed

Continued on Page Two

Forums Are Planned By FSC Press Club

Discussions to Concern Two Surveys of Education

The recently reorganized Press Club of Florida State College formulated plans for a forum at the first meeting to present a series of open forums for discussion of the results of two surveys of higher education, to center around the ideas presented in The Experimental College and The Harvard Report on Education in a Democracy.

The Experimental College, edited by Alvin Eurich, executive secretary president of Amherst College, is a record of the plan formulated and carried out by the University of Wisconsin to foster a new experiment in liberal education, but which has failed to receive nationwide recognition, in educational circles during its formation this year. Both books represent analyses of actual and theoretical problems in modern education and they will serve as the basis for the forum, which will be held regularly during the next quarter, will be composed of students and faculty members of FSC and some outside speakers, probably from the faculties of the Florida State College also plans to sponsor speakers on current journalistic questions and allied fields in talks open to all who are interested.

Officers of the club for the coming year were elected at the first meeting in March. They are Dowd, president; Alice Armstrong, secretary, and Jane Hardacre, publicity director. The organization of forums will be under the direction of a committee of members composed of Kay van Deurs, chairman; Peggy Li Thomson, Frances Trawler and Janet Rogers.

The Press Club, not an association of journalism students, invites, is open to all students interested in the activities and discussions. Meetings are held in the Flambeau office, in the basement of the Administration building every Monday at 5 o'clock.

Fossils, Pottery, Mineral Specimens, Contemporary Wild Life Arouse Interest of Visitors to Geological Survey on Campus

La Verne Quinn

Signs around the campus pointing to the Florida Geological Survey will be noticed by many visitors only this year among the freshmen as they have in years past. Even though the survey is not new, curiosity turns into interest, for inside the Florida Geological Survey there are many things to interest and to study.

Housed in the basement of the old dining hall since 1940, with its present location on Indian drive, the survey contains the offices of the state geologists who are conducting investigating Florida's mineral, water and petroleum resources. As the survey is primarily one of research, a museum has been built up of preliminary Indian mounds and modern pottery, mineral specimens and contemporary wild life of the state. Maps showing the locations of the state's peat deposits and the amount of supply are being conducted at present.

The discovery of oil in Florida two years ago was no real surprise to Dr Herman Gunter, state geologist, who says that Florida has a good chance of becoming a great oil producing state. During 38 years, she state's scholarly geologist carefully preserved the cuttings and cores from Florida's deep wells for future reference, since experience has shown that one can tell the exact formation of the earth's interior at a much greater depth in these cores. Because of his foresight, Tallahassee has been made headquarters for geologists with more than fifty oil companies drilling in Florida who are spending millions of dollars searching for underground lakes of oil in underground hills of rock. Most of these cuttings are stored on campus.

During the war the Survey was active in aiding war industries and in assisting in the exploration for oil and its development, besides doing routine investigations in geology and allied phases of science, the keeping of records and materials and the issuing of publications. Some of the improvements and developments in mechanical industries which were advised by the Survey are still put into practical use at present.

The museum is very convenient for a number of departments in the college, as it is used often for demonstration purposes. Although the specimens in the engrossing collection have come from a wide variety of sources, the phosphate mining industry has opened particularly valuable findlines to the scientists with its exposures of fossil bones and vertebrates.

One of the most impressive and interesting exhibits is the reconstructed mastodon, which was found about 11 years ago in Wakulla county, Florida, by a crew of men from Tallahassee. According to Dr Gunter, some fragments and tusks were found near the sprites and brought to the conservation office in Tallahassee. In 1940 when the Geological Survey was organized, ownership of the fossils was transferred. While clearing the land Wakulla Springs to transform it into a showplace and resort years later, a jaw and another tusk were found. The Geological Survey was called to investigate and subsequently found a skeleton 15 or 20 feet under the water, which was responsible for considerable difficulty.

Under a set of large tonas which opened and closed by means of a cord was used, but the method of dredging proved destructive in that it damaged the bones. Because the skeleton was covered with underwater plant growth, it couldn't be seen clearly enough to drop the tongs into the right vicinity to the skeleton. The mud was pumped away and with the aid of a water glare the skeleton could be seen distinctly. The skeleton now has a diving helmet which gives the effect of swimming in another opportunity arises.

A few of the ribs and a part of a tusk were found in addition to Dr Gunter's request, the American Museum of Natural History in Washington, D C, sent plaster casts of the missing members. Dr Gunter has sent several specimens to this institution and to the Smithsonian, which has also sent him duplicate material and type specimens. This room is found to exhibit them.

Of still more scientific interest have not been found as yet are those of mastodon found in Florida a few years ago by some girls individually in the dormitories." said Jessie.

This funds furnishes relief, rehabilitation, and reconstruction for students" around the world. Since the needs have multiplied with the ending of war, students are asked to donate more money. The goal set up here was a dollar from each student, budgeted over the entire month of November.

"It will be muc' less work if all girls will pay their pledges in Westcott by Saturday noon," advises Jessie.

Alumnae Flock Here For Homecoming Fun

Many more than the expected 200 alumnae flocked in to Florida State for the annual alumnae homecoming season last week. According to Miss Dorothy Dehlia, alumnae secretary, it was impossible to estimate just how many came because many did not register in her office as alumnae.

Many came for Thanksgiving day only; therefore, they were not present at the tea given in their honor on Saturday afternoon in the Union. Dehlia "but many of them did not register."

There is just no possible way to really estimate how many did get here for the festivities," she concluded.

IRC Makes Plans

The International Relations Club made plans for speakers and forums to be presented next quarter at their business meeting Thursday night, according to Jessie McCall, president of IRC.

The club wia continue studying the United Nations' Charter and will try to secure a speaker from off the campus to present views on the subject, said Jessie.

Tickets Given Out Next Week for Play

Arrangements for distribution of tickets for the "Romeo and Juliet" production, which will be held in the college auditorium on January 5 and 6, were announced today said Dean K O Kurstetner, dean of School of Music.

Tickets will be given out next week to student body members according to their classification, and the remaining tickets will be distributed.

The nationally famous, "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented here by the National Classic Theater of Washington, D C, under the direction of Clare Tree Major.

The drama will be enacted in four acts with each having three to five scenes.

Campus Sings Favorite Parodies In Jam Sessions on or Busses

Darn it, I'm cold, and may I- ver warmer be,
As in days of old, when I was young and free.

Whichever a bunch of Tally ites get together on a bus, time would are almost certain to ...ake their Alma Mater. To ure sure, the back of the handbook is filled with songs which uphold the ivy-clad traditions of the college, but the songs that give the longest and travel the farthest are the parodies and the livelier tunes.

Familiar melodies sway throughout the bus, but the words are often unrecognizable except up the initiates. During these jam sessions, the Notre Dame Victory Song is sung as "Beer, beer, for dear old beer."

"Give a cheer, give a cheer, For the lads who drew the beer."

In the cellars of old FSC," replaces the customary words to the "Chimes Song." One of the favorites of these gatherings starts piously, "I'm a sun, sunburn, from FSC." We won't gabble how it ends, though.

Sometime during the trip, one of the girls is sure to start, "We Are the Girls From Old Florida," Lately, the chorus has been subtitute for "Where the boys are the girls are," "where the boys are the rarest of any old state down south."

The subject of food is one that pops up on every trip. This usually calls for a Barber-shop rendition of, "When the dogs die, the fleas have to eat cats die, we have catnip tea," from some of the more suspicious girls. It takes somebody with a disinspecting nature to realize that the tune is the familiar, "Darling, I am growing older."

There are some old songs that creep in as members from high school days. Among these are, "I'll take you home again, Kathleen," "Pound a pound," "Show me the way to go home," and its companion, "Notice the road to my abode."

The fact that they are on their way home is expressed musically, too, in such songs as, "I've got train bells and whistles on my mind" and "I wanna go back to where I come from."

Creative genius have taken several old timers and dressed them up in new clothes by combining several songs, as in "I've Been Working on the Railroad." This one seems to go on and on without end, then stop when you least expect it.

Oral sound effects have been added to the numbers as "She'll be coming 'round the mountains," and the words have been slightly rearranged to fit some of these inforcements.

On the trip home or to Gainesville, as the case may be, the girls, after dateless weeks, often mourn, "I Wish I was in Love Again, Hell." However, if they sing "We may be Right Maybe Wrong, but what do we care," on the return trip, it's a sure sign of an interest- ing and exciting visit.

Black shirts, they never get dirty.

The lonser you wear them, the stronger they get."

gives the proper view of the laundry situation with the lazy solution in the problem. To the same melody, disheartened girls often chant, "Straight hair, it never curls at all."

Occasionally, songs that are a little too much in need of laundering themselves to be quoted, slip in, "My Father's a Poor Missionary Man and a Puritan Kid" are two of the more oft-sung alons this line.

Gainesville fraternity songs are fast replacing the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps ditties that used to be a main part of every bus ride. One of the latest favorites as a favorite is "Old King Cole," "Male-leo," as a comment on the lack of men, remains popular.

"Anna May—Glue" and "When It's Darn and Everything Is Still" almost always come into the sing, as do "Only an Old Beer Bottle and "How Dry I am."

Two other songs involving girls' names are "Caledna, Magdalena," etc. and "Lulu." "Down By the Old Mill Stream" and "In the Ebenzi By the Moonlight" are ever-popular because of their adaptability to both slow and with fast tempos

If the trip is long, and all these songs have been sung, the girls sometimes begin on Hit Parade favorites of the past few years.

Just before the end of the journey, the girls think about the school they left behind, and vi this point burst forth with one

BLACK MAGIC IN A SLING PUMP . . .
...tyles with a holiday flare in patent, suede, calf, fabardine and Fabrics.
Butler's, Inc.
224 E. Monroe Phone 1318

of two ivy-songs, "Tell Me Why" or "Old Cave Inn" the Men Their Wisdom."

And as a wind-up, students still sasah, lustily, if not melodiously, the parody on "Garnet and Gold" as the bus pulls into the station, the last words ring clear.

"Femina perfectum—that's what they us to say to me.

Now you can see what FSC has ther used to say to me.

Geological Survey

Continued from page one

prehistoric wolves, mastiff, and even insects and spiders. Bones have been found near Vero Beach of camels, rhinoceros and bison, where they are believed to have lived long after their northern cousins became extinct. Animal bones are on display which are believed to be 25,000 and 1,025,000 years old. One of the main specimens is a complete human skull and other bones found at Vero Beach. This is the famous Vero Beach skull over which much has been much controversy. This skull is believed to be from the truly prehistoric and at least 10,000 or 20,000 years old.

Fossil and petrified pottery are displayed along with such artifacts as the Calusa Indians used, stone mirrors, necklaces, shell spoons, and ornaments made with iron which contribute to the historical records that we have of the Indians, not only Florida but even but from the southwest also.

Geological specimens from Tampa Bluff Spirines and Pensacola is displayed along with that from the Florida is important in the pottered world of today.

The skull of a tapir, the skeleton of a whale, and the tooth of the ferocious sabre-toothed tiger are but a few of the many curious specimens of petrified wood and fossil remains. There are specimens of much of Florida's flora and fauna. Some of the multi-colored snails which live on trees in the southern part of the state.

A great deal of the material which is displayed in the museum has been sent to other museums and stored because of lack of space in the present building.

The Survey is a place well worth knowing and visiting. Too well sample laboratory will be of special interest to the girls who are interested in the fascinating study of microscopic paleontology, the science of rock formations.

Dance Organization

Continued from page one

who are pledged to membership of Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta and Alpha Delta Pi sororities. Also, the girls must have the ability to dance and for qualities that they possess which makes them all-around college girls.

Isobel DuPree, president of the club, said that she hoped that one of the charitable projects sponsored by them several years ago was that of owning a cow. Yes, a cow! The milk from this cow would be distributed among real poor families here in Tallahassee with milk which they otherwise could not afford to buy. The cow died and this service has been discontinued. However, Yisbel said, "With the new girls that we tapped last Saturday night we are going to work together on some new charity undertaking."

The Cotillion girls, dressed in their white skirts and green shirts and ties, have had the right to kid students who go dancing in the basement of the Lonsmire building, but we are sure members of both the best dancers in the school. The members are not confined to any particular sorority and are chosen only on their ability to dance. The Cotillions and Villars Vamps are hostesses to all CCA dances, and the Thanksgiving dance is their biggest annual affair. One side of the gym is decorated by the Cotillions and the other by the Villars Vamps.

Hap Hazard, president of Cotillion, announced that at the beginning of the second quarter they are going to sponsor dancing classes once a week in one of the recreation rooms in the dormitories. Every person who wishes to learn how to dance or improve their dancing is invited to attend. "I just hope that lots of girls will come dance with us," said Hap.

The Cotillions and Villars Vamps and Cotillion comprise a large number of girls who are capable and gracious hostesses at all our school dances.

Scholarship Cup Is Awarded to Herring

Mary Anne Herring was awarded the Omicron Nu scholarship cup at the meeting of the Home Economics Club Wednesday evening in the Longmire auditorium. This cup is awarded annually to the sophomore home economics major ranking highest in school of Home Economics who maintained the highest average during her freshman year. Doris Dubois and Josephine Winter received honorable mention for maintaining honor averages during their freshman year.

The guest speaker, Mary B Keown, state home demonstration agent, spoke on "Achievement in Home Economics." She contrasted recent advances in the field of home economics with earlier ideas found in papers written by Miss Keown during our the promising fields open to home economics students, she told of the efforts of women in charge of state of Florida State College.

Following presentation of the cup, an informal reception was held in the club room in honor of the awarding. Hostesses for the new members of Omicron Nu, Carolyn Flewellen, president of Omicron Nu, Virginia Sanders, dean of the School of Home Economics; Ruth Perryman, faculty adviser of Omicron Nu; Miss Keown; and Mary Anne were in the receiving line.

Parker Speaks

Continued from page one

Ann Carolyn Allison, president of CCA said, "We feel that Mr. Parker is not an military conscription does not fit into a program on scholarship and the latter is necessary for purpose in having the program." She said also that the effort might be "if you try to do too many things at once."

Sandra Baker, veteran chairman of the freshman scholastic honorary said, "If scholarship remains at the present level the grades on a slip of paper, then we agree that a discussion of military conscription would not be pertinent to a program on scholarship." She said, however, that the true essence of scholarship is to learn how to live intelligently." Sandra stated she believed that a true scholar would be vitally interested in world problems, and that the subject of military conscription was pertinent to a program on scholarship since it was one of the most vital problems of the day.

In her address Miss Parker declared that if she were in charge of the college curriculum, she would have students read the Bible as a text book and as the original. This would, she said, give students a better understanding of the heritage of the past."

However, in regard to the present day Miss Parker stated that "we must learn to live with our fellowman peacefully." She said that all nations of the United States should acquaint themselves as at least the bare essentials of American history and United States geography in order to understand properly the problems of today."

Miss Parker's closing quotation was one of Thomas Jefferson's: "The people of every country are the only safe guardians of their own rights and are the only intelligent judges of their own best their destruction. Educate and inform the mass of people, enlighten the people generally, and tyranny and oppression of the body and mind will vanish like evil spirits at the dawn of day."

The devotional, which opened the program was conducted by Bea Weaver, former Alpha Delta Pi, Delta member. Eleanor Brass also a former member, played a piano solo, "Dance of the Imps."

Faculty sponsors Dr Venita L. Graves professor of history, and Olivia N Dorman, dean of students were on stage during the program.

The originally planned debate on military conscription was held immediately following the last convocation in 303 Westcott.

Irish's Class Has Lecturing Visitors

Two lecturing visitors were scheduled this week for Dr Marian D Irish's class in public administration.

Yesterday, Mr A C Stubbs, redjustment allowance agent for the Veteran's Administration, spoke before the class. He gave a general summary of the provisions for unemployment under the 8 Bill of Rights, and spoke of the increasing problem of unemployed veterans in Florida who are being supported by his agency during the present re-adjustment period.

Tomorrow, the class in public administration will hear Robert Jenkins, director of personnel of the Florida Industrial Commission, who is going to discuss the problems of administering the state merit system.

AGO Program

Continued from Pope One

program there will be a Christmas carol by which all guests are invited.

The meeting, held last Sunday evening, consisted of a program of Mia Hauslohn's discussion on the interior and exterior plans of Gothic Cathedrals and their construction and decoration.

Although the Tallahassee Chapter of the A G O has been active on campus in the past years, this will be the first time that a college branch of the organization has been formed. First students are required of a college in order to make it eligible and form such a chapter, and since F S C has one of the largest organizations with musical associates, the A G O is striving to have the college represented in this national organization.

Membership to this organization is by various examinations whereas who are professional organists or choirmasters; college organists are students who are all those interested in organ and church music; fellows and associates who are academic members and honoraries who have contributed in a specific way to the study of organ.

A community choral Vesper program will be presented in March by the choirmaster division which is now being formed by the AGO. This division will be comprised of the choirmasters of Tallahassee churches and large students choir and those of neighboring towns.

Freshman Venturing to Seek Recreation Find Evening Filled With Excitement

By SALLY WATSON

Armed with her passport, citizenship papers, and a map of Tallahassee the heroine of this epic-saga ventures into town to spend a few quiet hours in wholesome pursuit of recreation. Oooga! she forgot to sign out so she ventures back and after an hour she is ready to visit mystery may.

Finding FSC's lite Stork Club for juvenile delinquents filled to the brim, and of course we mean the Sweet Shop, she points her dug nose dead ahead and sims for the Spick. This is patronized by a more sophisticated clientele, namely upperclassmen, and since our gal is only a wistful freshgirl she feels she should seek more congenial company.

At last! Sad company is found on the balcony of a local theatre featuring Chapter 4 of "Blacks Jesse of the Badlands." Hubba hubba, what a mau. Two-fisted, rootin' tootin' man if there ever was one, when are men and,—well, where men are men. Ain't that enough? All this and pop-corn, too.

Leaving the Theatre we go our separate ways to the fraternity houses in the hopes that we can get invited to the Tallahassee version of Duffy's Tavern, Bernard Shaw's Hello Broadway or Ripley's Believe It or Little, it's all the same—just Jam-packed with fun and excitement. As Johnson. "I must stop chewing this bed rail."

Lingering until quarter of eleven four heroine likes to live dangerously we find he feeling like a sad version of cinderella leaping to catch the last pumpkin for FSC. The resemblance does not end there. Her feeties hurt, dnst these roommates with little shoes anyhow.

Like the Persian kittens her face wears a smile of content. Virtue is its own reward, but it does not frequent a single pool parlor or dance hall. Don't she didn't do a darn thing she wasn't supposed to do. Probably lack of imagination due to retarded development.)

What an evening. What a college.' "What's a house council?" asks our girl as she traipses in (ooch, horrible though) five minutes late.

And so she writes in her diary on some long winter evenings Just made for study (?), also campus-ites.

"I haven't missed dating at all. Much. I'm having a marvelous time. I want swimming today. But there was no life-guard, so I didn't go. I went dancing last night. My roommate leads so well. Am doing well in literature. Have to Chapter 5 of Forever Amber. Getting lots of mail lately — my INTAND Bill comes every day. Don't miss men anymore. Much. But what, oh what, oh I've got to know is what ever is the fate of the Badlands?"

She's signing next week so we leave you until then when this vicious circle shall begin again.

Freshman Ceremony

Continued from Pag: One

they would acquire the opportunity of gaining knowledge, and that opportunity, symbolized by fire, should never be extinguished. In keeping with Baker's quotations, her three daughters told what they gained by the gifts from the fairies. Which manner of boise health, knowledge, and the fine arts.

After telling of their gifts, the three daughters were told to pass their torches on to the freshmen, while the girl representing Tradition recited a poem.

Assisting was Pat Pattishall, and speaking parts were taken by Rosemary Marcoux, Alma Miser; Ina Bess Vires; Jimmy Rogers, Artes; Marilyn Dewey, Mores; and Candy Jones, Tradition.

Freshman heads were sophomore council members: Martha Peacock, publicity; Marshall Cat Vernon, costumes; and Peg Stanland, properties.

Students to Go On Observation Tour

Next Thursday, psychology and sociology majors will journey by bus to Chattahoochee and Marianna for a first-hand observation of existing conditions at Florida's state insane asylum and reform school.

Faculty members in charge of the trip are Dr H L Watkon, professor of psychology, Dr Paul W Shankwiler, Miss Caroline Blue, and Mrs Margaret C Bristol, associate professors of sociology.

Juniors and senior psychology or sociology majors who plan to go on this trip are requested to leave the required $2.50 with Secretary Wilson, student assistant of the department of sociology by tomorrow morning.

Columnists Appear On January Series

Dorothy Thompson and Jerome Davis, two widely known columnists and news commentators, are expected to come to Florida State College in January, announced Dean Karl O Kuerstener, acting dean of School of Music and Artis Series director.

The two columnists will lecture here at the college as part of the annual Artist Series presentation.

Dorothy Thompson, who will lecture on "These Crucial Days," has gained much popularity during this decade by her writings and lectures on current news of the day.

Jerome Davis, a leading war correspondent, will speak on "Japan During the War and After."

Sweet Shop

Continued from page one

we fed. But getting the food was another matter. The ordered supplies from the four corners of the country, and other shipments were too small when they came.

The Western steaks they so optimistically advertised in big black letters all during the war weren't always forthcoming, but there were times when boxed sandwiches could be had when some people had the ordered supplies about the pib but its squeal. Now the supplies are coming and the ners are served at the Sweet Shop from 9 o'clock in the morning until after dinner.

"The shop is empty only for the hour between 2 and the afternoon," said Mr Blount.

Usually it is filled and overflowing — mainly with students who undeniably have claims to squatters' rights, and here and there a faculty member. Ordered Leon Huh and an occasional unfortunate townsman. The last never stops playing, even in the morning, and the special jargon of the jive fan and swing-maestro makes cryptic demands for coffee and two fried eggs which murmurs seriously appears as a coke and French fries.

In addition to food and drink, the Sweet Shop carries a line of essentials — soap, toothpaste, shampoo, stationery, candies, magazines which can be seen—through smoke and heavy hordes of students arranged, in slacks and sweaters, around tables, milkshakes, and the like—shelved on the left wall. In the back of the shop is a tiny sanctum-sanctorum of coffee and hot water, with cups and cream and sugar, where yourself style. Behind the soda fountain in the right hand room of the shop, Mrs Mary Wright, Blount's sister is at the aromatic promise of food.

"Since we bought the Sweet Shop (it changed hands in December of 1943) the business has increased by one-third, and our greatest problem—one of the many of things as quickly as we'd like However, we have 25 employees who help to make up for the lack of equipment," said Mr Blount. Mrs Wright said that business will crease. She Blounts have expanded the size of the Sweet Shop by 1/3 by adding the basement the kitchen behind the soda fountain to fill the empty space left with more tables.

When Addison and Steele issued their first publication, "The Spectator," they set a precedent for scholarly coffee-house discussion. These periodicals have themeforth differently endeavored to keep alive. Tally Hoists are doing their share, provided by the phenomenal growth of the Flower Shop and the record number of customers that it serves.

Haley Speaks

Continued from Page One

fascistic otherwise, Winifred reasoned.

Audrey Perry, freshman advisor, said that the 11:30 p m restriction is not strict for freshmen who have activities than upper classmen, that every one needs eight hours of sleep each night and freshmen need orientation in discretion to realize that the 11:30 restriction privilege was granted in the past, the infirmary was overcrowded.

Jean Cole said that since the freshmen are so conscientious and have not fully developed their own values giving them the privilege might prove detrimental to their health.

Mary White, a junior counselor, asserted repeatedly that the restriction is not a matter of the upper classmen of assuming the responsibility of the freshmen can universities and colleges.

Dr Haley will return to Tallahassee Monday morning.

Although this substitute for a poem is eight years old, it is still apropos—and it's by Ogden Nash!

In leisure times I oft repent
The many hours that I have spent
In leisure time—
Repenting

Records That Are Reet!
OFFERING BOOGIE-WOOGIE
By Freddie Slack
T. Dorsey and L. Hampton
Cully's Boogie Headquarters!
Jenkins Music Co.
123 S. Monroe Ph. 1203

Dr Moore to Attend Meeting in Chicago

FSC Has Largest Enrollment Of Social Work Girls

Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology and director of social work, is flying to Chicago, Illinois, this morning to attend a joint committee meeting on education and training for social work.

Dr Moore, a member of the National Association of Schools of Social Administration, is one of eight sociology educators who will attend the meeting. These men and women will attempt to formulate policies, principles, and programs of training for social work that will be sound from the point of view of education in theory and practice, and to meet regional needs, according to Dr Moore. This joint committee, composed of representatives from both the American Association of Schools of Social Work and the National Association of Schools of Social Administration, was formed in December of last January. Dr Moore said that at his last meeting the committee devoted a great deal of time to a discussion of training for social work in the undergraduate field, and added that F S C has the largest enrollment of undergraduate students in social work in the entire country.

Dr Ester Lastie Brown of the Russells Sage Foundation of New York City is chairman. Charles Prixley, president of Iowa State College, will represent the joint committee on accredited institution universities and colleges.

Dr Moore will return to Tallahassee Monday morning.

FLORIDA
TODAY AND TOMORROW
"A Thousand and One Nights"
SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"Fallen Angel"
TUESDAY
"Tomorrow the World"
WEDNESDAY ONLY
BOND FILM FESTIVAL SHOWING
"Weekend at the Waldorf"
THURSDAY THROUGH SAT.
"Anchors Aweigh"
STATE
TODAY AND TOMORROW
'Phantom of the Plains"
AND
"Penthouse Rhythm"
SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"Jealousy"
"Barbary Coast"
TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY
"Out of This World"
THURSDAY
"You Came Along"
AND
"Escape in the Desert"
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
"Bandits of Badlands"
AND
"Steppin' in Society"
RITZ
TODAY AND TOMORROW
Keep Your Powder Dry"
AND
'Orphan of the Pecos'
SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"Tall in the Saddle"
"My Pal Wolf"
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
'Shine on Harvest Moon'
AND
"That's My Baby"
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
"This Man's Navy"
AND
"Rustler's Hideout"

PLANT A TREE
Grow a Forest
Support the National Conservation and Reforestation Movement. Help Build Up America's Timber Supply.

Seek it First at
VAN BRUNT & VON'S
HARDWARE
218 S. Adams Phone 18

Artists' Supplies
CHRISTMAS HEADQUARTERS
for
Devoe Oil Color Sets, Pastel Crayons, Water Colors, Paints, Enamels and Brushes
★ YOU ARE ALWAYS WELCOME ★
Courteous Salespeople
P. S. SEE'OUR GLASS DEPT. FOR MIRRORS, DESK TOPS AND PICTURE FRAMES
Ward's Glass & Paint Co.
204 S. ADAMS ST. OLIN BUTTO, Mgr.

Plan Ahead
Jacksonville
A. M. P. M.
1:30
2:30 3:00
3:45 5:00
5:15 6:45
6:45 8:45
11:00 11:59
Tampa
A. M. P. M.
1:15 1:30
6:45 5:00
9:00 6:45
11:00 8:30
ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN. PHONE 701
NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Athlete's Feats

By EVELYN SHEA

Newly elected sports leaders for next year were chosen at WAA meeting Wednesday night. Thinking that you all might be interested in knowing something about these girls, our reporter is taking time to give you a thumb-nail sketch of these girls who will lead sports next Thanksgiving.

First is ELAINE GAVIGAN . . . Even soccer leader . . . "Gavy," as she is known, succeeds Catherine Gallagher . . . a sophomore now, she will be first quarter junior next September . . . Member of F club and Sophomore council . . . served under on the Even soccer team the past two years . . . scored tying goal in last week's games and scored the last goal which gave Evens comfortable lead . . . Three word description of "Gavy" . . . Quiet . . . Short . . . Swell . . . She is a responsible girl and should make the Evens capable leader.

Next is VIRGINIA PALMER . . . Odd Soccer leader . . . She was soccer leader last year . . . did a good job with the freshmen this year . . . Member of F club, Spirogira, and she is a junior counselor . . . hails from Tampa . . . has played long on soccer team for three years . . . steady . . . reliable . . . loyal Odd.

Third is PEGGY STANALAND . . . Even archery leader . . . known as "Peg" . . . succeeds Evelyn Bourland . . . Member of Even team this year . . . high scorer for both the Odds and Evens in tournament just ended . . . is from Quincy . . . capable girl . . .

Next is PRISCILLA CLARK . . . Odd archery leader . . . known as "Pris" . . . re-elected leader . . . she's from St. Petersburg . . . Odds to victory two years in a row . . . Member of F club . . . winning personality . . .

Fifth is MARION FLOYD . . . Even hockey leader . . . succeeds Evelyn Stuckey . . . has played on Even team for two years . . . will be a junior next September . . . member of club and Sophomore council . . . plays fullback . . . comes from Winter Park . . . quiet . . . good leader . . .

NITA WILSON . . . Odd hockey leader . . . plays wing . . . was re-elected leader . . . called "Squat-drop" . . . thanks to some F club gests . . . Member of F club and is junior counselor . . . proved to be outstanding leader . . . led Odds to victory over Evens this year . . . hails from Miami . . . loved by her freshmen . . .

Seventh is ANNE SHULL . . . Even modern dance . . . succeeds Jane Widergquist . . . member of this year's modern dram . . . agile . . . will be junior next September . . . Melbourne is her home . . . should be good leader . . . has many ideas about modern dance . . .

ALICE TAFF . . . Odd modern dance leader . . . re-elected leader this year . . . Tallahassee is her home . . . member of F club . . . cute . . . will be senior next year . . . excellent modern dancer . . . loves it too . . .

THERE'VE BEEN SOME CHANGES MADE . . .

Because Babe Evans will be interning second quarter, the WAA board elected Martha Wilson as the girl who will lead the Even basketball team this year. Mart was a member of the team last year, playing forward.

Carol Claus, sophomore, a member of last year's swimming team, was chosen to lead the Even swimming team this year because Skooks Lester will also be interning. This is the first time that a sophomore will be leading a team . . . SOOR PREDICTIONS . . .

In last week's column, I said that the games would be close and that the winner would not win by more than one goal. Well, the Even soccer team tripped the Odds 6-2, winning by a safe two-goal margin. The Odds successfully smothered the Evens in the hockey game, winning 4-0, which is a four-goal margin. Guess I can join the ranks of other prognosticators now . . .

English Play

Continued from Page One

da gets worse and worse." Alan Bray accepts Kay at the end of the second act by stating his theory of time. The third act begins on the first left off, in the middle of the party, and Dr. Gow explains the theory of what happened in the second act.

The cast includes: Catherine Byrd as Kay Gow, the proud fiancee; Ann Hunter as Kay Gow, the dreamy, writer type; Jane Wells as Hazel, the beauty of the Conway girls; Barbara Petty as Madge Conway, the sensitive would-be radical; Marion Holt as Carol, the young and loveliest of the Conways; Claire St John as Joan, the neighbor, and later, relative of the Conways; Warren Green as Alan, the philosopher, the only Conway who "takes the long view"; Ralph Donaldson as Robin Conway, the bored of his mother; Owen Bellas Ernest Beevers, the self-made man who is distasteful to the Conways; and Paul Johnson as Gerald, the friend and lawyer of the Conways.

The two sets for "Time and the Conways" were designed by Nelson Trexler and Mary Elizabeth Knight. Miss Mary Moody, art instructor at FSC, and Prentiss and Mary Elizabeth, directed the stagecraft classes in building and painting the sets.

The period gowns were adapted from real dresses of 1918. Miss Wood Elaine Parramore, Kay Moore Cornelia Springs, Louise Hargreaves, and Laura Cason have done all the dressmaking. Betty Wells did research for the hair stylings.

The stage crew for "Time and the Conways" is as follows: Cora Lee Wells, Ina Jo Wrench, Phillip Richburg, Catherine Clark, Betty Bragg, Lillian Pugsh, Harriet Dews, Sarah Daugherty, and Marian Cross

After the performance tonight, members of Zeta Phi Eta, speech honorary will entertain the cast and crew of the play with an informal stage party.

New English Course Offered Freshmen

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9 o'clock a group of 25 freshmen met with Miss Mildred Henry for their elective course in literature 105. "An Approach to literature" the new course being offered for the first time this quarter is the study of poetry, one-act plays, short stories, and informal essays. The purpose of the course is according to Miss Henry "to give students an appreciation of literature through the study of certain fundamentals common to all good literature."

The study is planned as a reading course but students may write if they wish. Miss Henry said that she would allow the girls to write short stories or one-act plays in place of the regular final examination if they wished. One member of the class recently won the short story contest sponsored by the Distaff.

No regular textbook is used. The instructor is compiling a book of literature entitled "Book of Living Verse" and use a syllabus which Miss Henry worked out for the course.

The freshmen seem to be enjoying the new course very much. "Several sophomores signed up for it, but I had to tell them that this is primarily a freshman elective." Miss Henry said. Since many freshmen did not know about the course this quarter, Miss Henry announces that it will be offered srain third quarter.

12 Spirogira Goats Become Members

Odds Entertain Alumnae And Hockey, Soccer Teams

Recent Spirogira activities include initiation of goats tapped last term, entertainment of alumnae, and honoring of hockey and soccer teams.

Spirogira goats were initiated last weekend. The new members are Ann Colvin, Clarice Trueblood, Nancy Ward, Barbara Irving, Betty Jane Singleton, Kay Van Deurs, Robin Hill, Rosetta Carver, Peggy Lu Thomson, Dr. Milton W. Carothers, registrar, Miss Calliope Paterson, instructor in physical education, and Miss Henrietta Greenberg, part-time instructor in physical education.

The new members were given a breakfast in their honor last Sunday morning at 8:30 in the Sweet Shop. Mary Lupine White, Sarah Lewis and Jean Cole were in charge of the arrangements.

The announcement of the arrival of a new daughter to M. H. Spirogira" was the theme of the breakfast. This theme was carried out by a huge stork as the centerpiece. Favors for the girls were babies wearing black diapers and lying in baby cribs decorated with white cotton goats. The favors were attached to black and white pacifiers. Alumnae present at the breakfast were: Marjorie Philyaw, Margie Loomis, Martha Ellen Lucille Babb, Mary Lou King, Virginia Greene, Jean Hitchcock Scroggin, Edith Parker Shop for breakfast. The favors were miniature baby carriages made of cardboard. While at the breakfast the members were entertained by the goats who sang goat songs.

Friday night Esteren members were the guests of Spirogira at the Odd Demonstration, where Spirogira goats gave out the Esteren guests candy in a big pot with B N on the outside.

Spirogira gave a party for the Odd hockey and soccer teams at the Sigma Nu house Friday night before the Odd Demonstration. The placecards were of white cardboard to which a tiny toy sirplane with red, white and purple ribbons was attached with the inscription "Let's fly high with the Odd team".

Gator Talk

By JOHNNY WALKER and TOM HENDERSON

EDITOR'S NOTE: After an absence of two years, 'tis with pleasure that the Flambeau again offers its readers the gleanings from the pens of "the other half" some 150 miles away. Weekly we trust!, "Gator Talk" will make its appearance.

We don't mean to imply excessive egotism, but after a lengthy consultation and 10 beers, we decided to heed the frantic pleadings from Tallahassee to save the Flambeau from the dull Freddy McGuirk, and dispatch a column to said publication.

In writing this column we must comply with certain provisos, namely:

(1) submission of all copy to the upper staff for approval;

(2) to make room, "exquisite clever" (like we used to write?)

For the benefit of new readers, approximately a year and a half ago (in order to extricate ourselves from this morass of smoyfooling we've become entangled in) we drove right out of our Pensacola Flambeau. At that time we had been one of the few characters from "True Confessions" and subsequently enjoyed the same social success in Tallahassee that Jack the Ripper did in Whitechapel.

While we didn't come right out with "Why did the chicken cross the road?" we did revive back issues of the Sharpy Dog Era for sems like this:

He: "May I call you a taxi?"
She: "Yes."
He: "You're a taxi."

after that it must be admitted that anything will be an improvement.

Newsworthy occurrences of recent interest on the campus con-

Odds Triumph In Hockey, 4-0

Evens Win Choice of Side In Saturday Game

Amid cheers and shouts of loyal Odds and Evens the red, white and purple hockey team was victorious over the green and gold last Saturday afternoon, winning 4-0.

A coin flipped by Miss Henrietta Greenberg, umpire, gave the Evens the initial choice of sides. The game was started by a center bully between Evelyn Stuckey and Nancy Ward, which resulted with the Odds getting the bully and making a quick sweep down the field only to be reversed by the Even team. The ball continued being dribbled from one end of the field to the other until Virginia Goodell, Odd forward, dribbled to Winifred Anthony, forward, and then on to Nancy Ward, forward, who placed the ball between the Even goal posts making the score 1-0 in favor of the Odds.

The game continued with the Odds winning the first three halves and, though having to put up a hard fight, raised the score to 2-0 when Nita Anderson, Odd forward, dribbled to Goodell who in turn made goal.

The Odds increased their lead in getting a third center bully and the 20 minute half ended with Ward making another goal for the Odds increasing the score 3-0.

Between the halves the Odd team lined up with their sticks across their shoulders and marched diagonally across the field to present the Odd goalie with a large box of green and yellow suckers.

The game was resumed in the second half with the Evens winning the center bully starting the ball. Odd, Winifred Anthony, made the only score in the half.

An exciting moment was experienced by the Evens when Anna Geise, forward, dribbled all the all the way from the Odds goal to the Evens' although no goal was made.

The whistle blew ending the game with the Even team in possession of the ball on the 25 yard line of the Odd goal. The official score at the end of the game was 4-0 in favor of the Odds.

The Even team's starting lineup was: Evelyn Stuckey, captain and Anna Geise, Rosa Lee Davis, Sarah Jane Hancock, Ann Shull, Amanda Thompson, Shirley Duggan, Audrey Perry, Jane Lyles, Marian Floyd and Elaine Shepherd. Substitutes were: Anne McInnis, Kathryn Bezanell, Charlotte Boulland, Ann Bennett and Frankie Hall.

Starting line-up for the Odd team was: Nita Nord, captain, Lucille Ousenkop, Nancy Ward, Winifred Anthony, Virginia Goodell, Clarice Trueblood, Mary Nell Goldman, Jeanette Parrish, Virginia Anthony and Catherine Gallagher, Substitutes were: Mary Jackson, Nancy Mackenzie, Jo Ann Bowles, Marli Richardson, Lizzy Harding and Jane Widergquist.

The officials in the hockey game were Miss Henrietta Greenberg and Miss Calliope Paterson. The scorekeepers were Marian Welch and Georgia Hudson, and the timekeepers, Jo Guthrie and Grace Bradley.

Served principally around the late lamented Fall Frolics festivities which saw so many lovely argonauts (or coeds) on campus during our campus. The highlight of the organized shadiness was the Interfraternity Ball held Saturday night at the New Gym (so called since the Pensacola Lydia Pinkham). The gentle and virile strains of the Dixie Four was accompanied this year by a real orchestra (George Auld), rather than the usual ludicrous strains of a neurotic clarinet backed by three bootleg records played over on a drum, which was so prevalent during the war years.

And in case the weekend complete, Florida shot out a 41 to 6 over a fine Georgia Interbyterian team composed of two subjects and a box of wheaties.

A confusion as astronomical proportions swept through hall of Gainesville Saturday afternoon. Sunday afternoon wiping out one block and severely singeing the other.

Due to the unbounded generosity of President John J. Tigert, familiarly known to your correspondents as "J J", the student body received a three day Thanksgiving holiday. Most of the boys, except those who had given themselves away from the intellectual delights of Dave's Beer and Billiard Hall, fled the campus.

Odds Triumph In Hockey, 4-0

Evens Win Choice of Side In Saturday Game

Amid cheers and shouts of loyal Odds and Evens the red, white and purple hockey team was victorious over the green and gold last Saturday afternoon, winning 4-0.

A coin flipped by Miss Henrietta Greenberg, umpire, gave the Evens the initial choice of sides. The game was started by a center bully between Evelyn Stuckey and Nancy Ward, which resulted with the Odds getting the bully and making a quick sweep down the field only to be reversed by the Even team. The ball continued being dribbled from one end of the field to the other until Virginia Goodell, Odd forward, dribbled to Winifred Anthony, forward, and then on to Nancy Ward, forward, who placed the ball between the Even goal posts making the score 1-0 in favor of the Odds.

The game continued with the Odds winning the first three halves and, though having to put up a hard fight, raised the score to 2-0 when Nita Anderson, Odd forward, dribbled to Goodell who in turn made goal.

The Odds increased their lead in getting a third center bully and the 20 minute half ended with Ward making another goal for the Odds increasing the score 3-0.

Between the halves the Odd team lined up with their sticks across their shoulders and marched diagonally across the field to present the Odd goalie with a large box of green and yellow suckers.

The game was resumed in the second half with the Evens winning the center bully starting the ball. Odd, Winifred Anthony, made the only score in the half.

An exciting moment was experienced by the Evens when Anna Geise, forward, dribbled all the all the way from the Odds goal to the Evens' although no goal was made.

The whistle blew ending the game with the Even team in possession of the ball on the 25 yard line of the Odd goal. The official score at the end of the game was 4-0 in favor of the Odds.

The Even team's starting lineup was: Evelyn Stuckey, captain and Anna Geise, Rosa Lee Davis, Sarah Jane Hancock, Ann Shull, Amanda Thompson, Shirley Duggan, Audrey Perry, Jane Lyles, Marian Floyd and Elaine Shepherd. Substitutes were: Anne McInnis, Kathryn Bezanell, Charlotte Boulland, Ann Bennett and Frankie Hall.

Starting line-up for the Odd team was: Nita Nord, captain, Lucille Ousenkop, Nancy Ward, Winifred Anthony, Virginia Goodell, Clarice Trueblood, Mary Nell Goldman, Jeanette Parrish, Virginia Anthony and Catherine Gallagher, Substitutes were: Mary Jackson, Nancy Mackenzie, Jo Ann Bowles, Marli Richardson, Lizzy Harding and Jane Widergquist.

The officials in the hockey game were Miss Henrietta Greenberg and Miss Calliope Paterson. The scorekeepers were Marian Welch and Georgia Hudson, and the timekeepers, Jo Guthrie and Grace Bradley.

Badminton Begins

Intramural badminton began yesterday afternoon when the Phi Mu's won over Bryan Hall: the Chi Omega's beat Gilchrist Hall; and the Delta Delta Delta's beat Pi Beta Phi's.

This afternoon the games will be resumed when the Phi Mu's will play the Chi Omega's, the Kappa Delta's will play Reynolds Hall, and the Delta Delta Delta's will play the Alpha Chi Omega's. The three winners of this afternoon's games will draw to determine which one of the three will not play. That team will then play the winner of the teams that do play.

If the finals can not be finished this afternoon, they will be played tomorrow morning to avoid playing them during dead week.

PEA Camp Session To Be This Weekend

A big weekend at camp including initiation, faces, campfires, and a varied program of sports and entertainment is in store for the Physical Education Association this week.

An outdoor supper will start the activities followed by a campfire. On this campfire the ideals and standards of the National Association of Physical Education as application to the students on this campus will be discussed. A discussion group of a member from each class and one faculty member will assist Skooks Lester, president of this group. The committee includes Evelyn Bourland, Nancy Mackenzie, Elaine Gavigan, Pegy Becknell, and Miss Henrietta Greenberg, instructor in physical education.

On Sunday morning canoe trips, overnight campouts, sunrise services and seniors are scheduled with Mae Manning and Anna Horne in charge.

Beside these scheduled events, other entertainment which is traditional with the P E A camp sessions will be held, according to Evelyn Stuckey, president of P E A.

In This Our Time

Continued From Page One

the starting lineup: Harry Truman as Him Commissioner. Meanwhile, in the interior of Luson there is the Japanese army under Hukz who fought against the Japanese during the occupation and who, now organized, are heading toward what time calls Communism.

Rating: Hurley Resigns

President Truman has appointed General George C Marshall as his special envoy to China after Ambassador Patrick J Hurley resigned with a strong charge that professional diplomats in the State Department are sabotaging the President's foreign policies.

Marshall's recent appointment came in less than a week after his resignation as Army Chief of Staff, the post which he had held during two of the nation's wars. General Marshall's appointment as ambassador to China will be only temporary and he will retain his rank as General of the Army.

Hurley, in his sudden public statement, charged that the principles of United States foreign policy as enunciated "at high levels," by him, were being sabotaged by career diplomats in the Far East is a failure, he said, is because officials in the lower levels refuse to carry out those principles. His resignation as Ambassador policy could lead to a third world war.

The State Department immediately issued a formal statement asserting that Byrnes was "surprised" by Hurley's resignation. It said that Hurley said some six weeks ago that he wished to resign because of health but that Byrnes had persuaded him not to. As recently as Monday afternoon, the statement said, Hurley agreed to returned to China and was planning to do so the latter part of this week.

Evens Defeat Soccer Rivals

Cheering Crowds See Odds Lose by Four Points

Shout s of "Yea, Evens," and Evens madly tossing green feathers marked the close of the Odd-Even soccer game which ended in a 6-2 Even victory last Saturday afternoon.

A crowd that filled the bleachers decorated in Odd and Even colors watched the Odd team take to the offensive as they won the first kickoff. Even supporters saw their goal threatened by the first few minutes of play as Odds Mickey Chambers and Enid Sandler carried the ball far down into Even territory. The action shifted back and forth across the center line, both teams almost scoring, but the quarter ended with a 0-0 tie.

The Evens began the second quarter with a kickoff by center forward Peggy Stanaland, and met stiff resistance from the Odds now on the defensive. During this quarter the brilliant offensive and defensive kicks were displayed on both sides. Outstanding in this were Catherine Byrne, Evens halfback, Babe Evans, Even wing; Mickey Chambers, Odd center forward; M J Satterfield, Odd halfback and Betty Gardiner, Odd halfback.

An Odd forward pass intended Mickey Chambers with the opportunity to tally the Odds' first goal and made the score 2-0 in the beginning of the third quarter. The Evens were still unable to overcome the Odd defense, though nearing the goal, and the quarter ended with the score 2-0.

Fourth quarter proved to be the most exciting part of the entire game. When the Odds kick by an Even player soared over the heads of the Even goal keeper Catherine Egan, Even inner, recovered the ball and eluded the Odd halfbacks to score the first Even goal and tie the score. Babe Evans, Even captain, then dribbled the ball down the inner field to the Odd goal where a corner kick from Babe Evans put the ball close to the Odd goal. The Odd forward line tried to score in the remaining time, but Even defense proved too strong and the game ended with the Evens ahead. 6-2.

The Even starting line-up was: Babe Evans, Betty Gardiner, Evelyn Shea, Candy Jones, Catherine Sullivan, Jeanne Koesy, Catherine Byrne, Elodie Bayless, Elaine Gavigan, Jean Fliess, and Anna Horne.

Rose Marie Perro, Betty LaBree, Jo Hay, Mary Jones, Jeanie Jeanie Booth, and Joy Little were substitutes.

The Odd starting line-up was: Virginia Palmer, Pauline Tuttle, M J Satterfield, Mickey Chambers, Betty Schwartz, Marion Tooby, Lee Wells, Mickey Chambers, Shirley Palmer, Joanne Schwartz and Elaine Brown.

Substitutes were Sara Lou Wells, Helen Looby, Bayne Culbreth, Mary Hardaman, Mary Calley and Twerp Barry.

Officials for the game were Miss Mary Jane Smith and Miss Lee Hooven, instructors in physical education. Scorers were Marian Bash, Even, and Eileen Perry, Odd. Timekeepers were Peggy Becknell, Odd, and Alberta Bass, Even.

Members of the U S Marine Corps received more than 1,600 decorations for bravery during World War I.

"You Mess 'Em Up—We'll Press 'Em Up!"
SEE US FOR SUPERIOR SERVICE
When Calling Please Mention
The TALLAHASSEE
DRY CLEANERS
414 E. Gaines Ph. 1715

The Spirit of the Old South Recaptured
in the
Haunting Fragrances of COTTON BLOSSOM
and
WOODLAND SPICE
Old South Cotton Blossom Sun Dial Gift Box—Cologne, Sachet and Dusting Powder $3.50 plus tax
Woodland Spice "Quilt Box", $1.75 plus tax
MARTIN & DALTON DRUGGISTS
210 S. Adams Phone 123

THE GIFT THAT ONLY YOU CAN GIVE—YOUR PHOTOGRAPH
CAMPUS STUDIO
701 W. Pensacola St. Phone 1728

Evens Defeat Soccer Rivals

Cheering Crowds See Odds Lose by Four Points

Shout s of "Yea, Evens," and Evens madly tossing green feathers marked the close of the Odd-Even soccer game which ended in a 6-2 Even victory last Saturday afternoon.

A crowd that filled the bleachers decorated in Odd and Even colors watched the Odd team take to the offensive as they won the first kickoff. Even supporters saw their goal threatened by the first few minutes of play as Odds Mickey Chambers and Enid Sandler carried the ball far down into Even territory. The action shifted back and forth across the center line, both teams almost scoring, but the quarter ended with a 0-0 tie.

The Evens began the second quarter with a kickoff by center forward Peggy Stanaland, and met stiff resistance from the Odds now on the defensive. During this quarter the brilliant offensive and defensive kicks were displayed on both sides. Outstanding in this were Catherine Byrne, Evens halfback, Babe Evans, Even wing; Mickey Chambers, Odd center forward; M J Satterfield, Odd halfback and Betty Gardiner, Odd halfback.

An Odd forward pass intended Mickey Chambers with the opportunity to tally the Odds' first goal and made the score 2-0 in the beginning of the third quarter. The Evens were still unable to overcome the Odd defense, though nearing the goal, and the quarter ended with the score 2-0.

Fourth quarter proved to be the most exciting part of the entire game. When the Odds kick by an Even player soared over the heads of the Even goal keeper Catherine Egan, Even inner, recovered the ball and eluded the Odd halfbacks to score the first Even goal and tie the score. Babe Evans, Even captain, then dribbled the ball down the inner field to the Odd goal where a corner kick from Babe Evans put the ball close to the Odd goal. The Odd forward line tried to score in the remaining time, but Even defense proved too strong and the game ended with the Evens ahead. 6-2.

The Even starting line-up was: Babe Evans, Betty Gardiner, Evelyn Shea, Candy Jones, Catherine Sullivan, Jeanne Koesy, Catherine Byrne, Elodie Bayless, Elaine Gavigan, Jean Fliess, and Anna Horne.

Rose Marie Perro, Betty LaBree, Jo Hay, Mary Jones, Jeanie Jeanie Booth, and Joy Little were substitutes.

The Odd starting line-up was: Virginia Palmer, Pauline Tuttle, M J Satterfield, Mickey Chambers, Betty Schwartz, Marion Tooby, Lee Wells, Mickey Chambers, Shirley Palmer, Joanne Schwartz and Elaine Brown.

Substitutes were Sara Lou Wells, Helen Looby, Bayne Culbreth, Mary Hardaman, Mary Calley and Twerp Barry.

Officials for the game were Miss Mary Jane Smith and Miss Lee Hooven, instructors in physical education. Scorers were Marian Bash, Even, and Eileen Perry, Odd. Timekeepers were Peggy Becknell, Odd, and Alberta Bass, Even.

Members of the U S Marine Corps received more than 1,600 decorations for bravery during World War I.

Odd Archers Defeat Evens by 22 Points

Columbia Round Regulations Used in Tournament

By a margin of 22 points, the Odd archery team defeated the Even archers in a two-part battle on Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The 176-148 score was averaged on the percentage basis, since the Evens had only seven of a regulation 8 member team against the Odd octette. Half of each team competed on Wednesday, the other half on Friday.

The four Odds who shot on Wednesday afternoon were: Coral Charles, Art Skwarka, Pat Hourican and Ann Seaward; on Friday: Faith Adams, Kit Johnson, Martha McCormack and Carolyn Bragg. The Evens who shot on Wednesday were: Babe McCarthy, Lu Ann Batman, Doris Hill and Emily Chaney; on Friday: Betty Burch, Amelia Pavese, and Peggy Staniland. Peggy Staniland individually held the high score for both Evens and Odds for this tournament.

The tournament was conducted according to the Columbia Round, with 24 arrows shot at 50 feet, 24 at 40 feet, and 24 at 30 feet. Miss Grace Fox, physical education instructor, officiated as Lady Paramount.

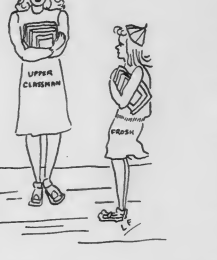
Even archery leader this year was Carolyn Bourland and Odd captain of the Odds was Priscilla Clark, who was re-elected for next year. Next year's Even leader will be Peggy Staniland. Sponsors for Odds and Evens are respectively, Miss Henrietta Greenburg, physical education instructor, and Miss Mary Jane Smith, FSC graduate and physical education instructor.

Miss Medlin entertained the Even team at an informal get-together at her residence on Saturday afternoon at 3:30. Hot chocolate, marshmallows, cookies and candy were served.

Clinic Is Held

Florida State College will be sponsored at the Thanksgiveers Florida Music Clinic by Mr Owen P Seiters, associate professor of cello and orchestra and director of the FSC band.

The music clinic, to be held Monday and Tuesday in Bonifay, will include a music festival and a convention of glee clubs, orchestras and bands composed of students from the various high schools of the state.



THE SHORTIE COAT IS TOPS

This is the coat that gets rave notices from College Girls and the admirers in their crowd. What's wonderful about it is that it's as dressed up as it is casual . . . so a girl can wear it anywhere! Colors, solids, two-tones. Your size, too!

The College Shop

Begin Today!
IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO START A Sterling Service . . .
FOR YOUR FAMILY!
SEVEN FAMOUS GORHAM PATTERNS PICTURED ARE ☆ All-Time Favorites ☆
YET A SIX-PIECE PLACE-SETTING COSTS ONLY ABOUT $23.00
(20% Federal Tax Included)
REGISTERED JEWELER AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
Moon's

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● OUR LAST APPEAL

In order to aquire working relationships and world wide understanding it is necessary that we do not limit the furthering of education to the United States. The World Student Service Fund is created for the purpose of helping students of other countries to get an education; and in turn enabling them to be equiped for meeting and solving major problems, with us and other countries, which are already coming to a boil.

As everyone knows the WSSF drive has been in operation throughout the month of November. Today is the 30th of the month with still many pledges not fulfilled. A table is in lower Westcott hall for last minute contributions and will remain there through Saturday noon.

It isn't necessary to explain why we should contribute, for that has been explained in convocation, news stories, house meetings, and editorials, but for those who still do not realize the serious significance of such contributions, students may get information from persons at the WSSF table these last two days.

An appeal is thrown out especially for those girls who have pledged to contribute a certain amount, to live up to your obligation—give to the WSSF drive today and tomorrow so that deserving students may have a chance for an education and Florida State College can proudly say we reached our quota or better still that we topped it.

● IS TRUMAN'S PLAN THE WAY?

As one of the editorial writers of the New York Times said recently, President Truman has submitted an ambitious program for preventative and curative medical aid for the entire nation. Perhaps it is too ambitious.

In a five-point plan Truman argues for better distribution of medical care and reduction of its cost. He made it a special point to emphasize that his proposal should not be called "socialized medicine." His program includes a compulsory health insurance system, increase of benefits to replace at least part of the earnings lost because of illness, broadening of the present program of federal grants to aid the states in construction of hospitals and related facilities, expansion of public health, maternal and child health services, and a plan for strengthening professional education and medical research.

All this sounds very good and it must be admitted that the United States today stands far behind other progressive nations with respect to national health insurance, but is Truman's plan the solution?

Louis S Reed of the University of Texas has said, "It is a great mistake to regard compulsory health insurance and socialized or state medicine as two distinct and different things. They are essentially identical. Compulsory health insurance as it exists in England, Germany and other European nations is state medicine with the funds derived by a particular and unique method of taxation."

Is there any other way that health insurance can be extended to the public other than through a government-controlled organization? There are in existence quite a few privately owned firms which provide low cost insurance against hospital, medical and surgical expense. Everyone pays the same no matter what his income and receives in turn hospitalization and medical aid in case of illness, the amount depending on the illness. He can choose his doctor and hospital and if he wants to pay more, it is his prerogative.

John Temple Graves, discussing the subject in his column "This Morning," says that the great thing about a private plan such as the Blue Cross plan, which is being extended into his state and is already known in many others, is that for a sum which anyone can pay—seventy-five cents a month for medical and surgical care, and ninety cents for hospital—you are guaranteed decent, competent attention.

Under President Truman's plan, the amount to be paid would vary with the amount of income and would be deducted each pay day in the same manner as social security. Under the private plan everyone pays the same price and is provided with a minimum of attention in case of illness, while those who can afford to pay more do so.

Too, with the president's proposal, the government will have to supplement the funds gathered from payments. With the private plan, the operation pays for itself.

The main argument against Truman's proposal comes in that the government would be so heavily and intimately involved in the medical profession that politics could not help but play an important part and politicians attempt to dictate and interfere. There would be no such defect in the private plan.

My suggestion would be the formation of another alphabet agency, but with no political appointees. Instead, have each private hospital insurance firm select a representative for its organization and these representatives comprise the government agency. Perhaps they could call it the National Health Program Administration, or some such title.

In this way, there would be no political pressure exerted upon the president for appointments to the agency and each section of the country would not be fillibustering for its region. The government could cooperate with the agency in building new and better hospitals and setting up extensive research departments in collaboration with the agency.

This would be more conducive to the good will of the people—for who would like to have more money deducted from his check each week—and to the health of the nation.

● OUT OF DARKNESS

Last Wednesday Student Senate passed a resolution to recommend to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs that all students be granted the right to use their lights at their own discretion.

All members of the body of student representatives voting except three were in favor of the resolution. They believed that the student body was capable of deciding how much extra light was needed. They were also of the opinion that the students had enough common sense to realize when they should sleep and would not therefore regard the abolition of a restriction as license to burn the midnight oil night after night and wind up in the infirmary as fatigue cases through their own stupidity.

However, this resolution must now be referred to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs for consideration. It is merely a resolution not a law, since, by virtue of its affecting the health of the students, it must gain the sanction of the "authorities of the college." In Section II of the Constitution of CCA that the authorities of the college reserve for themselves the regulation of "all matters pertaining to the public health and public safety of the student body." In Section III it states that the authorities of the college to which such recommendations are to be referred is the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

Surely this committee will give due consideration to the stated wishes of the student body and will realize that the students in turn have given much deliberation to that for which they ask. Weekly meetings and many hours of debate are not farcical displays of children at play in the eyes of the students, and they do not wish that they be regarded as such simply because they are not "all-wise and knowing" by virtue of many years experience.

The proposed changes at this time and similar suggestions for the improvement in the past have not been displays of "snomping at the bit" or action of students seeking excitement for the sake of excitement.

Simply, the changes suggested are those for which they feel a very definite need. In dealing with this matter the students would like to have the faculty feel that they are college professors, not elementary school teachers.

● ANTITHESIS

More than any other form of government, a democracy places the obligation and responsibility on the individual. It requires for its very existence free choice and the ability to make personal decisions without losing sight of the whole, neither blinded by prejudice nor subjugated by fear. It has been said that "so far as the individuals are concerned the art of democracy is the art of thinking independent together."

It is essential, then, that members of a democracy think clearly and accurately, that they avoid being derailed by words and formulas often used by propagandists to make them approve or condemn an idea without examining the evidence. They must not be led into unwise action by such words as "freedom," "heresy," or "Jew," which can be variously interpreted, but must approach problems with the analytical mind which seeks to examine the true meaning, to avoid the absolute categories of thinking which are the antithesis of the democratic way of life.

Yet last fall Dr Homer P Rainey was fired from the presidency of the University of Texas. Immediately, supporters of the dismissal invoked mass prejudices and mass fear, concealing true values beneath emotion-arousing generalities. According to an article by Bernard De Voto in the November Harper's Magazine, accusations of communism and homosexuality arose as sheer mob incitation, leading the people into mass protest of Rainey's administration and blind acceptance of the regent action in dismissing him.

"When men attack academic freedom," said Mr De Voto, "no weapon is too vicious, too dishonorable, or too dishonest." Dr Rainey's interest in an improved education for negroes was twisted into a violation of white supremacy, invoking the deepest terror of the south against the "nigger lover."

So it is that within the democracy itself the mob instinct prevails. Heads are turned by words which arouse emotions but go no deeper. The mass of the people glance at the situation at hand, make reflex decisions from the information afforded them by propagandists, and neglect to examine the factual evidence. At the cry of "communist" or "nigger lover" they raise the banner in protest, never stopping to investigate whether the action behind the words is really communistic or whether the interest in the persecuted minority groups exceeds the bounds of an interest in the betterment of humanity.

Conscription: Pro and Con

Military conscription was the topic of the debate which two students, Winifred Lane and Elaina Segal, both of whom are members of Alpha Lambda Delta, had planned to present in that honorary's convocation last Tuesday night. However, since Executive Council advised against presenting the debate during convocation, it was postponed until after convocation and given in room 303 Westcott at 4:30.

Since, according to the 10 students who came to the debate, the statements made were among the most cogent and lucid concerning the subject that have been heard on this campus, it is thought desirable to run in the Flambeau the slightly condensed texts of the student talks on military conscription.

Pro

The problem that lies before the American people now — whether or not we shall have peacetime military conscription—perhaps best lies in the solution the possibility of the United States fighting a third war. The making of the war just past were in the hands of our parents, and was our generation for the most part that fought. If there is a next war, it will be our children who will fight and die in it.

The peacetime military conscription program for which I argue consists of a program by which men are given military training for a specified period, probably one year, after which they are released on the condition that they be called upon again only in the eventuality of a national crisis. However, there is clearly a need for self-preservification here; such a plan, poorly executed, could do more harm than good. On the other hand, I am confident that a completely workable, democratic and economical plan may be made.

The objective of conscription must be done on a careful, planned basis. Each man must serve at a period that will least upset his civilian worthfulness. It has been estimated that the age of training be divided into three month periods, which in which college student may serve during his summer vacations.

The program must be carefully planned to teach men specialised skills. The number of men trained in each of the various branches would be kept in strict balance, so that in the eventuality of war they may be fitted into the army or navy as specified parts of a complete unit.

Keynote Is Planning

It becomes at this point that the whole keynote of success lies in careful planning. We cannot look to haphazard program, poorly administered. But, given time, a flexible, economically workable program may be formulated, and I favor the adoption of such a plan.

We cannot deny the possibility of a third World War. We are confronted with that possibility we have two problems:

(1) How can we stay out of World War III?

(2) If becomes into World War III, how can we win it quickly and efficiently with the least possible loss of life?

I advocate military conscription for the first by way of preparation and for the second by way of preparation.

As for preventing war with aggressive powers, it is quite obvious that military strength is very anxious to avoid conflict with it if we have sufficient military power than they. It is also apparent that hesitancy on the part of the aggressor to make war on us can be very beneficial in the prevention of war. It is the sacred duty of the United States to be strong in order to fulfill its responsibility in enforcing world order and only by supplementing our regular army and navy with trained civilian reserves can we reach our maximum strength without disturbing unduly our peacetime pursuits.

Without adequate army and navy might be able to squelch minor aggressions, but we must prepare for the major military war between major powers. The future is too hazy, too liable to change to predict who will fight or why or how. We must have ample power in back up our initial action against a threat to peace, which, if it fails, would fail. Let us not deny the possibility that our small lightly trained professional army might be shattered in the first week of a future war. A reasonable amount of manpower is needed to supply far flung bases and to hold territory, the best-developed weapon the air world are utterly useless when they are not manned.

Atomic War?

But, you say, why worry about conscripting manpower, or armies, or of navies when the next war will be an atomic war? Perhaps in the next war all we'll have to do to destroy a nation is to push a button, perhaps. On the other hand, perhaps atomic bombs will remain limited and a recognition that atomic warfare means world-destruction, national will prevail. There is no difference by more logical means than by war. But it is the third eventuality we are considering at the present, that mutual fear on the part of all nations in regard to the atomic bomb may impose a self regulation of its use, such as that imposed upon poison gas during this war. For these reasons we must not ever consider the atomic energy in this discussion.

Continued on page Five

Con

It is hard for anyone who realizes the tragic significance of the atomic bomb to dismiss it in any consideration of military preparation. One of the most immediate dangers we face is that of loss of faith in the effectiveness of international cooperation. To count on nothing more than mutual fear to prevent the use of atomic bombs means only that a new sort of nationalism is being built. When our South American neighbor Argentina enacted laws conscripting boys beginning with the 12-year-olds, one of its highest diplomatic agents publicly stated that this move should be no surprise to or concern of the United States, which itself was already planning the drastic change in policy involved in peacetime youth conscription.

But even passing over the effect of that type of thinking and discussing the issue in pre-atomic terms, military strength is not based on manpower. The new Encyclopedia Britannica comes the following statement:

"The theory of conscription has run its course; and is today growing less and less. For many years hence no conscript army will be able to face an organized attack with success, such as that of the tanks and kindred weapons. . . . The fighting armies of the future will be voluntary, high professional and highly paid, consequently comparatively small, as is the whole tendency of present day military evolution."

Next War Will Be Defensive

As for the use of larger numbers of troops to hold occupied lands, any future war into which the United States is being projected is nowadays is not going to be offensive war, and great numbers of semi-trained troops would not likely be used to garrison and occupy far distant territories. Those who are in favor of peacetime military youth conscription on the ground that the post-war army must consist of the small professional army with citizen reserves, also fail to say that for at least 10 years after peace is declared, the nation automatically and by law already existing has millions of reserves, many of whom will be battle-experienced veterans. Only making military service life more attractive in such matters as salary, housing, and allotments should fill the requirements for the necessary navy, air force, and professional army. There is something of an answer to the proponents of universal military training in the fact that America's five major foreign wars have been undertaken with a small army and against, usually, nations prepared by years of the most exacting peacetime military training.

This war industrial power proved once more to be the foundation of military strength. Industrially Germany was ahead of the strength of Germany when the war began. It is why the USA and Russia could be the most powerful nations in the world today. It is why it was able to begin winning the war, and our army was ready before the tanks for fighting were ready. Most proposals for universal training of conscription to obviate the dangerous period of waiting for military power to develop after we are attacked, if attack should come again, they say, there would be no time under conditions of modern war to develop that latent strength into the necessary fighting forces. It is apparent that what took so long back in the days of Stalingrad, Bataan, and Guadalcanal would be done much the training of an army, but training of workers and the development of industry to turn out the modern tools of war.

Manpower Not Dangerous

It should be recalled how manpower and many strategic materials jeopardized American defense at the beginning of this war: too much emphasis was put more aluminum than powerful America was accustomed to relying on a single company's monopoly; how our rubber supply was extremely limited because we had let carteis rob us of the knowhow to make synthetic rubber; how critical materials were scarce because of our monopoly restrictions, and our industrial economy was based on high prices and low production. It should also be remembered that our final military might depended upon industrial might, which in turn depended upon a continued quotas are voiced in its columns.

From Me To Y'all

By SHARPIE

PSC makes us realize that "Life Can Be Beautiful." We are so well protected from the evils of the outside world and our lives are so well regulated for us that we have nothing to worry about, and for that reason no one on campus seems to have any troubles this week.

However, we have a letter here from an old, old graduate who is worried for fear that her two children will never be scholars. She asked Jane, aged 6, and John, aged 8, what they liked best in school. It was their answer that startled her. Jane's worry recess best and would like to have nothing else all day long while John says she prefers lunch. The anxious mother is worried. If their interests don't change how can they go to college?

This is the most difficult problem Sharpie has had. However, we've decided that when Jane and John grow up, even if their tastes in studies remain the same, they will have no trouble in carrying out their childhood dreams if mother sends them to PSC.

We are ignoring the freshman who thought Torch Night was when you stay out late with the man you're "running the torch" for. Anyway where did she find a flame around here? Oh, smoking area.

We'd hate to swipe anything from Carl Rowan but we like Flambeau but this is good advice whether you want it or not. Do write to your parents:

"While exams sneak up on us With feet like little cats" We hasten to remind you To disregard unsnats."

We saw an alumnus who had a problem though we weren't asked to solve it. It seems that she fainted after the big homecoming weekend. Well, the infirmary can always be grateful that none of the inmates will ever faint from a heap big good time.

Ah ha. In the last mail we got a letter from "Confused-as-to-who-isn't." She says, "I would like to know the story of what happened to the music through 11-7 rule." She should know as every member of CAA will say. Therefore, we suggest that Confused ask the officers of that organization for a full report. As others may also want to know why some are being punished for coming in between hours while others coming in at the same time seem to be shown partiality, perhaps a public hearing on this rule should be held. Or are we talking too loudly?

We love the boy from Quincy who, after listening to Jane and Sharpie playing some duets and say what she means. Sharpie always says exactly what she means after much deliberation and with rare insight and intelligence. However, why we can't understand why people sing about "Dear old So-and-So" in front of the dining hall with never a note for Sharpie.

Some other else asked, "Why don't you make your column longer?" To answer this post we borrow the immortal quote, "What care we how droll it be, if he not droll us me?"

Tally Tales

Oh lob, it was threasme climbing up the ladder to scoot down the long, fast slide of activities at the end, but it is twice as difficult to settle down for a quiet session with books after the week's end. The poor freshmen were hit harder than ever during J Hilvers-the super activities and heavy dates were wonderful but, have you seen their straight A record campus this week? Funny how even though upperclassmen have witnessed this performance time and ad before, it throws them in a slump.

But never you mind, dear colleagues, there will be many little activities to attend. No, friends, life still buzzes around here, so buy some extra midnight oil to have on hand after all.

And there is another angle—to which we offer this bit of philosophy: "It's a great life if you don't weaken," and a heck of a Monday if you do."

I see or rather hear that there is an abundance of cases of sore throats clickin' sounds and lack of vocal ability this week My, my, those "colds" who insist on coming to pep up their respective teams single-violently (if there is such a word—if not Webster has nothing on me.)

It does not take long for lassies around here to jump to the next heartfelt anticipation. Thanksgiving festivities are again placed on the Future's Shelf with padded decorated calendars indicating so many days of Christmas until the place of green and gold, and red, white and purple crepe paper bows, and bleached wreaths on doors, and in spirited groups all over the campus.

At last we have come across a poet with discriminating taste.

Most modern poets
Resilne
That the average person who reads
Poetry
Doesn't really want to read
Poetry
And so they write
It
Like this
Which is easy on the eyes
And the mind
Of the typesetter.
—Exchange

(The Chauncey and America Literary students are probably wishing that some people had realized this fact sooner.)

As a general rule, Flambeau reporters are usually pretty sure about securing information for their stories, but we feel that we have a right to question to why a little black notebook for each character she takes down important bit of news on her girl and then sent the whole thing to the laundry? No, only two grey hairs that time.

Next time you see one of the men in blue uniforms, ignore him and watch whether they refuse to perform and students should not distract them with their pleasant conversation. See?

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Associate Editor
LOIS BYRD ..... Assistant Editor
SHIRLEY RODGERS ..... Business Manager
MAY ALEXANDER PEGGY LU THOMSON ..... Assistant Business Manager

Sports Editor ..... Lois Byrd
Copy Staff ..... Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Hilyer
Feature Editor ..... Jeanne Hilyer
Columnists ..... Anne Horton, Bobbie Sue
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Bobbie Sue
Society Editor ..... Marjorie Floyd
Assistant Society Editor ..... Mary Nell McFadden
Sports Staff ..... Evelyn Sue
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Evelyn Sue
Society News Editor ..... Jeanne Hilyer
Journalism Editor ..... Catherine Hall
Feature Writers ..... Jerry Crume, Barbara Wicker, Dee Dee Smith
Art Editor ..... Lucy Peel

REPORTERS: Eugenia Albers, Alicia Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Burr, Betty Jo Cannon, Jean Chapman, Mary Ann Dodd, Laura Lee Burke, Marlene Dial, Jean Dungan, Nicola Jo Hooper, Barbara Harmer, Jeanne Fouts, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Betty Lilycrop, Jo Mingus, Jacqueline Myers, Mary Ann Perry, Betty Rhodes, Mary Ann Rowland, Jean Snyder, Mary Tett, Tissi Thomas, Frances Trainor, Kay Van Deurs.

BUSINESS STAFF

Helen Tarpaun ..... Business Manager
Eileen Davis ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla., under the act of Congress of March 4, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and prominence to anyone wishing to present in contrary opinion, whatever opinions or controversial questions are voiced in its columns.

...lison Emphasizes ...ond Drive on Radio

...llege Swing Band Plays, ...Stever Sings on Program

...e second in a series of vic... ...ond radio programs heard ...ednesday afternoon at 5:30 over ...AL and sponsored by Florida ...ollege, Carolyn Allison, president of College Government Association, spoke on the ...ssues of buying bonds now ...the military phase of the ...e over. The College Swing ...and played two selections ...n Carolyn said that it would ...e hard to put a bond ...over since the powerful ...ses of war is not behind it, ...ith the cessation of hos... our obligations did not ...ecessarily diminish in ...portance and significance." ...on stressed the importance of ...ses down inflation so that ...ng men and women of the arm... may be retained at a ...ce wherein each of their dol... is worth a dollar, wherein the ...ver have to pay still ...e issuance of faith in their ab...

...e fact that the recent drive ...e campus totaled $3,377.75 ...ounced at the broadcast ...speech and she concluded ...thus into a reality a ...ch if we are limited in our ...ncial ability by the mere fact ...ve cannot buy we can ap... ...ciate you—the housewives, the ...ess men, the returned vet... and all the other workers ...y more bonds—to buy un... ...ds is good, but to realize ...ur task has just begun.

...fter the speech, Sara Norman, ...ident of the local USO, ...ced Song of India and ...ey Wood's Bo Selected Thet. Dallas Stever, sang the ...r number.

...ld FSC Tradition Of Team Entrance ...evived This Year

...ristmas Frannie Myers and ...na Palmer pored over a ...ge catalogue, ...ently they appeared be... ...mas and had a tradition ...ady for resurrection.

...Meanwhile, far away in the ...y camp, Even Jane Lyles ...ed on weird ideas for the ...p-year drive and secured an ...ce command car for gathering ...ds, but her heart was not ...ng for war had an unfulfilled ...ambition. It was then that the ...ad the banter of her ...s a long six months before ...ssaging ...onnie and Virginia went to ...ity to see the Chief. He ...ained that he would send the ...lieutenant if it weren't too ...t that day; he would tele... ...e Odds 15 minutes after ...e. Not even the teams would ...

...ave frantically watched the ...Even competitive Victory ...Loan Drive until the Evens ...ought the most war stamps ...ds per person and as a ...Corinne Johnston was ...ed the Sponsor of Thanks... ...Now-Time called Mrs Yates. ...Cross lady in charge of ...ower drives. Everything was ...

...0 these long guarded secrets ...ved last Saturday when the ...ed fire engine in Talla... ...dashed to the scene of the ...d field to bring siren, bells, ...h Odd team members to the ...ow command car, tastefully ...corned with green and yel... ...crepe paper, twice around ...ad the field to deliver the ...teams, and finally Jane ...on her wish.

...drove a green and yellow ...around and around "on one ...he said until she brought ...beloved passenger, Corinne ...on to the feet of Ann Rich... There Corinne was award... ...n green and gold chrysanthe... ...corsage.

...te Club Presents Christmas Vespers

...e College Glee Club will pre... ...ts annual Christmas Ves... ...on Sunday afternoon, Decem... at 5 30 in the college audi... The 103 voices to be heard ...e assisted by Mary Reeder, ...e Rachel Croswell, violin... ...Pawn Trawick, organist, ...Mrs Rita Robertson, direc... ...e College Glee Club. Two ...Schmitz will be Eleanor ...at the piano and Pawn Tra... ...organist.

...rogram for the Vespers will ...ude "While by My Sheep," ...ristmas hymn "Good King ...enlas," an old English carol ...Bethlehem" by Gena ...Yon, which will be sung ...Nelle Daniel, "The Shepherd's ...ay" by Clarence Dickinson to ...by Paula Teagarden and ...Jane Club.

...Carols which will also be ...d are, "The First Noel," ...Is a Rose Ever Blooming," ...Holly and the Ivy" and ...Virgin's playtime, "Angels ...e From Ah Around Us."

...Reuter, harpist, will play

Pro

Continued from page four

Of course, however, a carefully administered program such as I have previously described need in no way interfere with our scientific development of atomic energy.

I should now like to reject several oft - repeated arguments against peacetime military conscription. Others are often heard that peacetime military conscription is not the way to military victory. I simply cannot believe this. The argument goes on to cite that Germany and France had such conscription and have, been defeated. But the United States has never had peacetime conscription and has never been defeated. Could we compare the fall 1941 until 1941 with conscription to the US 1918 until 1941 without conscription, we might have a fair comparison, but otherwise we cannot. Moreover, we admit have ended the past war months sooner had we possessed the additional advantage of a quickly mobilized trained reserve.

Skill oDesn't Become Obsolete

Still others argue that young men trained during the early portion of the conscription will be of little use by the time far came, for they would be too old and the knowledge which they gained will be obsolete. These older men, it is said, will have lost their skill behind the lines, where right men are required to keep their weapons in trim. But as weapons growing obsolete, we must remember that the fundamentals are unchanging. Learning the use of a simple machine is a logical step in learning to use a more complex machine, as logical a step as learning to walk before attempting a college career.

Perhaps the most dangerous theory advanced against peacetime military conscription is, and I quote from a newspaper article, "the surest way to avoid war is to remain comparatively unarmed." I say dangerous because this absurd philosophy represents the worst kind of hangover from post-World War I days. Remember how we failed, how miserably we failed. We were the scene to be an aggressor. We must be strong to fulfill our responsibility in enforcing world order.

Magnolia Hall Has Mystery of Odors

The villain stole into the room on wings of air. The two girls looked up from their studying and wrinkled their noses. It was the arch demon. Whiskey.

"Where can it be coming from?" the girls wondered. "Who is outside our window," whispered the other.

"I don't know but I'm scared," quivered the other. "Do you think he's smashing dishes?"

"Let's go ask the girl next door."

The roommates crept next door and woke the occupants. Then, mysteriously saying nothing, they drew the unsuspecting girls to the room where the villain waited.

"Where is that smell of whiskey coming from." demanded the newcomer in sepulchral tones.

"Then we didn't imagine it," the roommates exclaimed fearfully "but what shall we do about it?"

After a brief consultation, the girls decided to take their counselor The good woman came down stairs and she, too, detected the foul fiend.

"The only thing to do," she decided "is to call Bryan office and get the policemen."

This they did. Three policemen, marched determinedly out to Magnolia Hall early Thursday morning. They looked all over the grounds, they looked in the basement but the headquarters they got to be found. The villain absconded when the heroes appeared but about 20 minutes later he was back to hurl horror at the inhabitants of the unit floor causing a true Magnolia Hall Mystery.

Noel Tournier," followed by a harp and violin combination by Mary Reeder and Rachel Croswell playing "Pastorals" by Sibelius.

Handel's "He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd" will be sung by Phyllis DeKalb, contralto, and Doris O'Neill, soprano, will sing "Come Unto Him." also by Handel.

The Vespers will end with the Glee Club singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" and Corinne's world famous Christmas carol, "Silent Night."

He had Tarzan eyes — they swung from limb to limb.
—The Creighlonian.

CAKES—PIES
Pastry—Bread—Rolls

Birthday and Party Cakes

FEDERAL BAKE SHOP
310 S. Monroe Phone 129

Con

Continued From Page Four

duction rather than restricted production.

So then one of the best pleas for national defense is that calling for the maintenance of industrial might in readiness. In the war, if there is to be one, the outcome of the story will very probably hang even more on industrial power than in the past war. The perfectly or imperfectly trained soldiers just will not matter nearly so much as the planes, the robot and atomic bombs, and all the other complex and terrible weapons that the world is so rapidly developing. The nation that has these things or the power to turn them out "mostest and fastest" will win.

In reacting to message of President Truman to Congress on universal training, it is interesting to note how beautifully his words fit in with the maintenance of industrial might rather than the need to maintain a citizen army as was the case in the past. Even as our army was in the early days of the World War I.

"Never again," he warns, "can we count on the luxury of time with which to arm ourselves. In any future war, the heart of the battlefield shall be the home front's first target. The surest guaranty that no nation will ever attack us again is to remain strong in the only kind of strength it will respect—that can understand—military power."

It is undoubtedly true that an aggressor nation will not begin a war unless it believes it can defeat its opponent. But what is the best way to ward off a potential aggressor, a nation of semi-trained men, or a nation armed with industrial might to protect those trained men and armed them and to produce everything that man knows how to produce in mass quantities? Which is the best machine tools to turn them out? I wonder if the next Hitler is going to hold his atomic bombs away from our country because we have a lot of trained men scattered around the country who know how to fly and how to fly airplanes? Will e not be much more likely to hesitate if he knows our industrial might is so great and so widespread that he can't destroy it overnight and that there are so many trained workers to make those weapons that he can't kill them all?

Life-time Training Necessary

Now it takes many months for men to become skilled in electronics, aeronautics, ballistics, meteorology, and all the various sciences of modern war. If another national emergency should come it is true that there would be no time for its complicated training, but are we afraid to train men in these sciences during a year's time, or do we develop them through using them day in and day out during peacetime making the goods and services needed by a nation in peace-time? They can only be developed in the numbers we will require through special appropriations for training them and using them for life, as proposed in the Kilgore science bill, and also keeping an agency of them a possible buoy in our industries during peacetime.

There seems little need to discuss at length the so-called advantages of compulsory military training to the individual, for our forthright Secretary of the Navy Forrestal wo was one of te strongest advocates of conscription, assures us tat training for anything except "actual military service" is purely a "collateral" and unimportant matter. Consequently down go the selling arguments of compulsory military training — civic, mental, moral, and physical well-being.

Probably most of us are familiar with the ideological objections to peacetime conscription, such as the fact that young people would be kept from industry, the research laboratories, and the universities at the most formative period of their lives, with the possibility of curbing their ambition, dampening their enthusiasm as they begin molding their futures, and subjecting them to discipline as military training barracks were it is "noble to obey, rebellious to think."

I have tried to present the case against peacetime military conscription as primarily a case against an unnecessary and potentially dangerous measure.

* In campus slang, brain means intellectual person.
—The Kentucky Kernel.

Esteren Initiates 13 On Thanksgiving

Alumnae Here for Activities; Goats Entertain Members

Initiation of thirteen Esteren goats took place after the Thanksgiving religious services Thursday climaxing a weekend of activities in which a large group of Esteren alumnae participated.

Esteren activities began early Thanksgiving morning when the goats gave the members and alumnae breakfast at the Rainbow Inn. The goats entertained the members with a skit. Faovrs for the breakfast were little Esteren girls made out of pipe cleaners. The alumnae included: Paulitta Nolan '42, Peaches McKay '42, Dottie B McGehagh '44, Jeanne Evans Smith '44, Martha Lambert '44, Martha Twitty '44, Mary Lippitt '44, Peggy Barfield '44, Barbara Heleu Wiginis '46, Miss Florence Tryon, Miss Mary Jane Medlin, Miss Alice Ann Bell, Jeanne Gehan, Mrs Lowry, Miss Frances Lewis and Mattie Lou Love.

The new Esteren members are: Anne Widerquist, Jennie Kosey, Betty Sikes, Melissa King, Mary Evans, Jo Guthrie, Audrey Perry, Jane Yates, Ida Lee Rentz, Margaret baugh Ida Lee Rentz, Jimmie Reyers and Dr Coyle B Moore sponsor of sociology and director of social work. The new goats were given Esteren dolls as favors after the initiation.

At the Even Demonstration on Thursday night Esteren and members of Spirogira, who were guests of Esteren, candy in paper bags. Esteren also presented Kit Mac Quinby with gift for her work as the chairman of the Even Demonstration. After the Demonstration Esteren entertained the teams and the alumnae at an informal party at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Hot chocolate and doughnuts were served. Charms were given to each member.

At the Even night-out Dr Richards, professor of physics, and Mrs Richards, instructor in physical education, "spurred the Even spirits on" with pep talk. Rune flaming letters spelling out "Evens" cast a glow over the crowd.

Esteren had its first meeting with the new members Sunday night in the Landmark Studio. The main business was the exchanging of Esteren's everyone in helping to make it a very successful Thanksgiving.

Mural Paniting

The Art Education class is painting a mural on campus life here at Florida State College. The mural is divided into two sections. The first section deals with recreational activities and the second section deals with academic activities.

The mural is nearing completion and will soon be hung in the classroom in the education building. All students are invited to see the work upon its completion.

YOUR LIPS SING WITH COLOR

Clarion

LIPSTICK BY De Buzy

At last . . . a true red . . . !
bold and bright and ringing with challenge! Packaged with a week's supply of Clarion Face Powder . . . tawny-pink to give your face a life!

Clarion Lipstick and Sample Face Powder . . . 1.00 plus tax

BENNETT'S

COLLEGE INN PHARMACY
PHONE 800
MONROE ST. PHARMACY
PHONE 93

Professor Professes

By BARBARA WICKHAM

This week different members of the faculty were asked their opinion of the question of having Thanksgiving and homecoming separately. All of the ones we talked to were in favor of changing it for various reasons.

Dr Carmen Rogers did not have time to make a formal statement but she said that she thought that because the homecoming and Thanksgiving activities combined took so much time especially in the crowded first quarter that something should be done. She suggested that perhaps a week could be set aside between the last two quarters for all of the festivities such as is done at Cornell and other schools. Or she suggested that perhaps the Alumnae Week that was held in the spring of the real before the war could be revived. There were lectures and other such entertainment planned at this time. Dr Rogers also suggested that the homecoming might be held during the time of the year when the creative arts concert is held. The final decision should be left to the Alumnae association itself was her final comment.

Mr Henry P Becker, professor of geography, said that he thought that perhaps if we could get declarations instead of a combined Thanksgiving and homecoming he might feel that either the students should be allowed to go home for the holiday or they should be no day taken off at all. He does not like the idea of the break caused by the one day vacation in the week. Mr Becker thinks that perhaps we could come on a week-end instead of the middle of a week.

Mrs Lois Miller, English teacher said, "I think it would be a good idea to change both of the homecoming to some week-end other than Thanksgiving Such a change would relieve the Sunday situation and make it possible for more alumnae to be accommodated with greater facility."

Dr Raymond Bellamy, of the Sociology department, said, "It is natural that anyone who has been a part of this campus life since the days of World War I would regret deply the advent of any change in our traditional Thanksgiving program, however much we may feel there is no intelligence in the reasons which have become necessary or are demanded by the sentiments of the present time. And it is plainly obvious that our Thanksgiving program is not in harmony with the desires of many of our students, apparently most of them.

Since change is inevitable, I would suggest that we make a sweeping change. Students are demanding the privilege of going home on Thanksgiving and we might as well let them go. But we might attempt in moving the entire program-games, demonstrations, homecoming and all—to some other date. It seems to me as if Valentine's Day would be a good time for this. The football season would be over, there would be relatively little in the way of other activities to interfere, and the date would allow ample time to make preparations for our festivities."

Teaching Heads Positions Held by Graduates of '45

Florida State College graduates of the class of '45 have taken positions all over the United States, according to a recently compiled report of the Personnel office.

Teaching again heads the list of placements as the Personnel Office achieved a record of 100% placement in the field of teaching, having placed a total of 111 girls. The record was 92% in all other fields. In 1945 there were 799 requests for teachers as compared with 632 requests in 1944. Three hundred and ninety seven requests were received this year for graduates in other fields. Out of the total of 388 graduates, the Personnel office placed 354.

The professions ranking second in number and following teaching in popularity, are secretarial work and dietetics. Forty-eight girls are completing courses in further study in their major field at universities. Two members of the class, Ruby Ebert and Evelyn M Berry are representing FSC in the armed services as WAVES.

A number of graduates have entered government service. Among these are Priscilla Gillette, Gertrude Noxtine, Janet Pancoast, and Diana Lee Washburn. Priscilla is employed by the Inter-American Statistical Institute, Census Bureau, Washington, D C, while both Janet and Diana are at the National Institute of Public Affairs, also in Washington. Gertrude is employed by the Army Map service in Washington.

Journalism majors have taken positions mainly in their home state of Florida. A feature writer on the Tampa Tribune is Cordelia Barclay, former editor of the Flambeau. Also in Tampa is Rachael Ball, now reporter on the Tampa Times. Lee Malakoff is doing research for the Young-Rubicon Advertising Agency New York, and Elizabeth McPartland, last year's Distaff editor, is a poetry editor and contributor to some other date. It seems to me as if Valentine's Day would be a good time for this. The football season would be over, there would be relatively little in the way of other activities to interfere, and the date would allow ample time to make preparations for our festivities."

Journalism majors have taken positions mainly in their home state of Florida. A feature writer on the Tampa Tribune is Cordelia Barclay, former editor of the Flambeau. Also in Tampa is Rachael Ball, now reporter on the Tampa Times. Lee Malakoff is doing research for the Young-Rubicon Advertising Agency New York, and Elizabeth McPartland, last year's Distaff editor, is a poetry editor and contributor to

Students graduating in the class of 1945 are now employed in 29 States proper. Joselina is working as a home demonstration agent in Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, and Rosemary is a student personnel assistant in the Panama Canal Zone.

Reports have been received concerning the 18 science majors who were placed by the Personnel office. Peggy Pemble has a fellowship as a laboratory assistant in St Vincent's Hospital, Jacksonville, Florida. The Humble Oil Company of Baytown, Texas, has hired Alnes Trieste as a junior laboratory assistant. Adele Shlenker carries the title of physicist of the ballistic laboratory of the Indiana Ordinance Works, Louisville, Kentucky. Betty Jane Pot is an instructor at Mercer University, Macon, Georgia.

The graduates who are continuing their study are located in universities from north to south. Mary Ann Woodhall is studying the modern languages at Columbia University, along with Frances Jean Blackburn who is studying music. Isabel Rogers has a political science fellowship at the University of Virginia and Della Perez has a fellowship at the New York School of Social Work.

Instructors in physical education are Elizabeth Kimball, Elida Fields, Caroline Forehand, Mickey Fountain and Marian Welch. Most are teaching in south Florida with the exception of Carolyn Forehand who is teaching at Cherry Chase Junior College in Washington, D C Betty R Aughenbaugh is teaching in Harbor Creek, Pennsylvania, and Mary B McCormack is doing she club and dining room at Leon High School in Tallahassee for the Scholastic Magazine.

Three flight stewardess employed by Pan American Airways of Miami are Frances McCarty, Marjorie M Morris, and Bernice V Scott.

Rosemary Rubbell and Joselina Irizarry are the only graduates who are outside of the United

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:
TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE
Johnston O'Conner Research Foundation
11 E. 62nd St., New York. 21
N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

Gilchrist Girls Find Chivalry Returned

Girls returning from supper last night to Gilchrist third floor saw the unbelievable sight of a man's legs sticking out from the overhead transom in the door to Mrs Malane S Turner, assistant residence counselor's room.

The Yale lock on Mrs Turner's door was locked, and she was without a key. A ladder was hauled up to the third floor and a girl was going to climb through the transom to remedy the unfortunate situation, when Mrs Turner, worried about the girl's calculations that would necessarily be involved in dropping to the floor on the other side of the door went down to the parlor to enlist a man's help if one could be found. Bryn Mawr, who was visiting Renee Hedgecoth, was prevailed upon to remove upstairs to attest to the safety of the maneuver. When he saw the situation Bryan volunteered to execute the deed himself. Therefore when the girls came back from their cabbage supper to pot in a hard night of study, they were shocked out of that inclination 'it doesn't take much to disconcert me study) by the sight of a man, a young, white man disappearing through a transom. When the door was opened, Mrs Turner was heard to say, "It certainly is nice to have a man around."

See Two English majors, Marjorie Em Lay and Sanna Jane Taylor are teaching in Jacksonville high schools

JUST RIGHT ON A COLD NIGHT
OUR SAVORY SPAGHETTI AND MEAT BALLS served with hot rolls and coffee
SIMPLY DELISH !
M & N Cafe
E. Jefferson St. Ph. 1864

EVERY LADY ON YOUR LIST WELCOMES GAY

Gift Scarfs

Shop at SEARS for your entire Christmas list

Phone 2400 Tallahassee, Fla.

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Things have been quite calm in the sorority front during this week preceding "Dead Week." but here's some of this week's chatter:

Alpha Chi Omegas were visited by three alumnae during the Thanksgiving weekend. They were Miss Dorothy Wells, of West Palm Beach; Mrs Aileen Haines, of Tampa, and Mrs Bob Stevens, formerly resident counselor at Reynolds Hall, from Atlanta, Georgia.

• • •

The Alpha Delta Pi pledge party will be held this afternoon at five o'clock. Around the theme, "Having a date on campus," Sara Corry and Flo Lyles wrote a skit which will be presented by Carrie Kate Bryson and Sarah Routon. A D Pi pledges plan to decorate their dining room as a soda fountain, from which they will serve cokes and potato chips.

• • •

Guests of Alpha Xi Delta during the past holiday were Mr and Mrs J G Younkman of Sarasota, and Miss Avis Thomas, a Gainesville alumna. Mrs Younkman, assisted by her daughter, Charlotte, entertained the chapter Friday evening with a buffet supper.

• • •

Guests at the Delta Delta Delta house for the Thanksgiving weekend included Mary Jordan Pallaw, Sarah Philyaw, Margery Loomis, Ann Smith, Jean Hitchcock, Scroggin, Mildred Johnston, Edith Hawkins, Martha Hackl Babb, Durby Young, and Elizabeth Wigham.

• • •

Delta Phi Epsilon actives honored their house mother, Mrs Mary W Murr, with an after-dinner coffee in honor of the anniversary of her sixth year at their house. Among the guests were Mrs Murr's Dox8 S Campbell, the patronesses of each of the campus sororities, Mrs Lucile Wagner, assistant professor of piano, who is their sorority adviser, and Miss Bernice Moskowitz, instructor in Sociology.

Refreshments were novel, with colored bread being used as a basis for various kinds of spreads, with salted nuts and brownies also served.

Open house will be held during next week since some of the members are expecting visitors from Gainesville.

Thursday night Delta Phi Epsilon members are giving an informal dance at the house. Eileen Mountain, social chairman, is in charge of the affair.

• • •

Last night the Delta Zeta members who live at the house gave a surprise birthday party for three of their members, Saran Griffin, Celia Llamas, and Betty Johnston, and their house mother, Mrs T B Crovatt. Ann Brady was in charge of general arrangements. Pop-corn balls and coffee were served as refreshments.

Tomorrow night all Delta Zeta actives will move into rooms on the campus and pledges will have the "run of the house." Sunday morning the actives will serve breakfast for the pledges at the house.

Alumnae of Delta Zeta who were here for Thanksgiving festivities were Ina Dyan Watkins, and Lorean Nickolson, Wildwood; Cecelia McColpin, St Augustine; Margaret Spearman, New Smyrna; and Gwen Martin, Jacksonville.

• • •

Wednesday Kappa Alpha Theta pledges gave their annual party for the pledges of the other sororities with an unusual theme. The house was decorated like a Harlem night club, complete with tables covered in red and white checked gingham and bottles holding candles. The pledges giving the party were blacked up to represent bootblacks, bartender, cigarette girl, waitresses, musicians, and singers. A colored maid opened the door which had been devined of cardboard to imitate the bar of speak-easies and each guest was required to identify herself before admittance. The main room was decorated with bars hung on strings across the ceiling. The cigarette girl passed around cigarettes, peanuts, and chocolate milk.

Mary Helen Booth, an alumna from Chicago, visited the house yesterday. Betty Ames from Leesburg, and Renee Brown, from West Palm Beach, two alumnae, are expected to be guests at the house this weekend.

• • •

Kappa Deltas have had several visiting alumnae this week among whom were: Mary Lilla Gazey, Bradenton; Mary Shelley Carr, Monticello; Tedy Parker, Pensacola; and Ariel Pitts, Tallahassee alumna who has been away.

• • •

Pi Phis are planning a "cocoa party" for this Saturday night at 10:30. All of the pledges are invited as well as members and friends.

• • •

Mary Monahan, Phi Mu alumna from Jacksonville who graduated in 1943, visited the Phi Mu house this week.

• • •

Wilda Hayes, Sigma Kappa who is giving her certificate piano recital in Westcott auditorium at 8:15 tomorrow night, will be honored at the Sigma Kappa house after the recital. Faculty members, pledges, members, and friends have been invited.

Pi Beta Phi Holds Forum on Education

Pi Beta Phi members held a forum last Sunday afternoon to discuss general plans for proposed changes in the present educational system. Earl L Vance, associate professor of English and Journalism; Dr C P Hetzler, professor of experimental psychology; Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science; Henry P Becker, geography professor; and Miss Sadie G Young, associate professor of economics, led the discussion.

The main arguments presented were taken from opinions of Robert Hutchins, president of University of Chicago, John Rice, of Black Mountain college in North Carolina, and Stringfellow Barr of St John's college in Annapolis; and from opinions of leaders in modern educational systems for ten years. The latter advocate "General Education in a Free Society."

The purpose of the forum was to find methods of improving present systems where necessary for complete understanding of what constitutes a basic general education.

All Pi Phi members and pledges, and faculty members, and Mothers' Board members were invited.

The United States will ship to Europe 90,000,000 pounds of peas and beans before the end of 1945.

Tarpon Minnows Make First Appearance To Public in Thanksgiving Performance

"An' we'll break our fool necks in attempts to be mermaids" so the Tarpon song goes, and so the girls trying out at the first of the year thought, as 20 of them tried to perfect their strokes and learn the intricate back, side, front, surface dives and barrel rolls. Of this large number, only 12, all were eliminated but 16, who swam before the members and were graded on their strokes. In the final tryout these minnows were selected and the following night they were initiated to become minnows of Tarpon Club when the members came to their rooms and frolicked them in their song. "We are the Tarpon girls."

Behind the demonstrations given last week, there were many practices and near cases of nervous prostration on the part of these new minnows. Their first time swimming together came at their first meeting on the customary Thursday afternoon minnow practice. At their second meeting they started working out the pattern for their part in the Tarpon demonstration, "Dancers of Coquilles," as was decided by the formation committee.

"Barrel rolls were difficult," said one minnow "We didn't have too much trouble learning the formations, but we always had the horror of forgetting them." Before the Thanksgiving performances they walked through the formation on dry land in the lower gym, so they wouldn't forget what to do.

Below fourth on the program, the minnows were admittedly nervous, and were gratified to hear the clapping of the audience after they had finished their formation. Before their number, one of the minnows, who was diving on the first part of the program, slipped on the board and was injured rather badly, but she went on with the show.

Clad in the traditional minnow blue bathing suits, the minnows walked out to the pool four on a side and dived in together at the end between the divided boards to begin their first public performance. After coming up together at the end, they executed maneuvers which included front crawls, back crawls, sculling, back rolls ending in comin to the surface in tight and loose circles, kicking a frothy fountain as they backed up in a circle, Kips, coming up in two straight lines, surface dives and the barrel roll crawl.

As they went out of the pool after their number, the minnows eagerly listened for remarks made by the Tarpon members telling them how they liked or disliked their exhibition. The Rollins Col-

Gifts ★ Books ★ Cards and plenty of WELCOME
★ ★ ★
We'd love to have "you-all" come in and browse around. PLEASE DO
WEE GIFT SHOP
113 E. College Ave.

'Cotillion Taps 21 'Vamps' Choose 16 At Annual Dance

Twenty-one girls were tapped for membership in Cotillion and 16 were chosen for the Villare Vamps during the annual Thanksgiving dance last Saturday night.

Cotillion taps were honored at an intermission party at the home of Mary Lou Norwood Saturday evening. The Cotillion color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations for the party.

Villare Vamp members entertained with a breakfast honoring the new girls Sunday morning at the Kappa Delta house. As part of the entertainment, Dr Coyle Moore read a poem about each of the 16 taps. Yoshel Dupree, club president, and Jo Ann Cramer, secretary, took charge of arrangements for the breakfast.

New Cotillion taps, who held their first meeting Thursday at 5:00 in the Delta Omega house, include Elsie Burdin, Jeanne Hutchinson, Rose La Davis, Sylvia Meiah Bobbye Bradley, Joyce Sizebery, Dallas Stevens, Pat Hall, Sarah Shull, Pat Harris, Polly Case, Jean Ann Daly, Jane Ann Hutchinson, Nellie Rose Mathews, Margaret Flynn, Lois Meriwether Hamilton, Mary Ann Dunning, Joyce Pepper, Ann Avery, and Betty Loy.

Those selected for membership in Villare Vamps include Patsy Ann Bates, Jane Bates, Mary Nell Thrower, Bobbie Lee Rice, Betty Patterson, Louise Burrell, Teddy Hamlin, Jane Streater, Mary Kathryn Klntz, Gloria Mims McCarty, Estelle Jones, Patsy Crosby, Patty Carlson, Patty Folsom and Carrie Boynton.

Thanksgiving Dance

Last Saturday night's big Thanksgiving Day dance, which was sponsored by College Government Association, brought to a successful end all Turkey Week celebrations for this year. Virginia Collins was committee chairman for the dance.

During the dance, which was formal, Cotillion and Villare Vamps tapped new members for the coming year, with 21 girls selected for Cotillion and 16 for VVs.

The hall was decorated by the Cotillion and Villare Vamps, and centering the decoration motifwere Cotillion's green and white high top hat, on one end of the room and Villare Vamps' black and white heart, directly facing the hat, on the other end.

Committee chairmen for the dance were Yoshel DuPree, Jo Ann Cramer, Mary McEwen, Chris Morrison, Nell McNiel, Sarah Jane Gallagher, Catherine Welch Shores, "Hap" Hazard, and Mary Lou Norwood.

Fashion Flashes

By MARJORIE CLARK

Fashions on campus last week seemed to be centered around the red, white and purple caps, and the green feathers worn by the Odds and Evens.

The brightly colored green and gold jackets with matching green skirts of the Evens competed with the snow white sweaters and deep-hued purple skirts worn by the Odds.

For recreational purposes, dungarees and slacks with loud plaid or checked skirts and windbreaker jackets are still an important part of every girl's wardrobe. Bright colored Indian jackets covered with intricate designs and stitched around the edges are suddenly becoming popular, with Army and Navy sweaters and shirts appearing now that boys are being discharged. Also, much the fad, are the new reindeer and snowbird sweaters in two-toned color combinations.

For dressier wear, straight skirts with box jackets and tight fitting narrow skirts are the order of the day.

Slurry black, as always the predominate color, is favored for the night "dating." Sleek black strap sandals with plastic bars edged in black velvet and a mannish styled hat make up the perfect accessories.

Draped skirts, low rounded necklines, and capped sleeves are becoming more noticeable on campus. These styles are especially popular in pastel-colored wool jersey.

One Chesterfield coat is partorally a "must" in every miss's clothes closet. These coats in grey, black, or navy blue with dark velvet collars can be worn on nearly any occasion. Especially popular with the coats are the new black or brown suede loafers worn for semi-dress.

And so the students of FSC seem to be keeping abreast with the latest college women.

Dean in Miami

Dean Karl G Kuersteiner, acting dean of School of Music, left Thursday for Miami, upon an invitation by the Miami Music Teachers Association, to attend a meeting of the Association.

Dean Kuersteiner will study a new projective improvement in teaching public school music in elementary schools. While in Miami he will also visit Daytona Beach and West Palm Beach schools.

Dr T P Giddings, of Minneapolis, Minnesota will also be at the meeting with Dean Kuersteiner, Dr Giddings was supervisor of School of Music in Minneapolis for 32 years.

Ilsley Called Home

Dr Lucretia Ilsley, associate professor of political science, was called home Monday by the sudden death of her father in Newburyport, Mass, according to Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science.

BSU to Hold Student Night, December 12

Students Will Take Charge Of Music and Talks

Student Night at Christmas, presented annually by the Baptist Student Union, will be held Sunday night, December 12 in the church auditorium, under the direction of Barbara Holt, president.

The program is presented each year by the students on the last Sunday night before they go home for the holidays. They carry on a similar program at the Baptist church in their home towns at Christmas.

Preceding the service, there will be a 15-minute medley of Christmas carols played on the organ. "All Hail the Power of Jesus" will be the opening hymn, followed by a scripture reading by Eugenia Avant. There will be a musical interlude preceding the congregational hymn. "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee." "The God So Loved the World" will be sung by the BSU choir.

There talks under the heading, "Student Opportunities for Christian Living" will be given by Betty Speer, Mary Jane Inabnet, and Louise Illingworth. These will be followed by the BSU quartet singing, "Spirit of the Issue."

The program will close with the benediction, the choral response, and the organ postlude.

The church auditorium on this night will be decorated with white candelabra tapers, Th: pulpit will be banked with ferns, cones, and fall flowers.

The committee heads in charge of the program are as follows: publicity, Margaret Furnas, decorations, Doris Hill and Amarene Thompson, ushering, Christine Zeigler, programs, Mary Jane Inabnet and music, Pat Milligan.

Articles Lost?

Mrs Edith Gulick, in charge of lost and found, urges all students to pick up their lost articles at the office of the Longmire building.

Several pairs of glasses and cases are in the office as well as a great number of fountain pens and pencils, umbrellas. Also, Mrs Gulick said there were three or four raincoats and some sweaters. Two full-length winter coats are also in the files.

Thanksgiving Games Traditional Pay-Off Made by Odd Losers

Tarpon has reached a new low — Odds have reached a new high—as evidenced by the variety of swimming strokes displayed in the Odd team's exhibition Saturday of Thanksgiving week. As the result of bets laid on the Odds-Evens games, several Odds slid grimly into the icy fountain immediately after the games, and soon turned a chilly purple hue to help carry out the color scheme of the fountain.

The hilarious winners escorted the unenthusiastic losers to the brink of the pool in front of Westcott, and a large crowd soon collected to witness this traditional pay-off. Draped with towels, raincoats, and warm galoshes, Odd losers quiveringly doled a ice into the near-freezing water, and Even winners toted cameras to commemorate the occasion. The confining proportions of the fountain offered little opportunity for the swimmers to do much actual swimming, but all did their best as good sports.

The first to "break the ice" (almost literally) was Bill Sheffield, who came direct from the soccer field in her Odd uniform. She was the first Odd member to be dunked of the quartet who participated, sousing hair, uniform, and all, and progressed by means of a crawl stroke around the fountain. Next to enter the water were Bayne Crawford, and B J Singleton, who shiveringly assisted each other to the center of the fountain, from there to make their way around as best they could. Bayne wore the shorts she used in the soccer game, and B J wisely changed into a bathing suit. Mac Mundell, who was sired to hit the water in her Odd uniform. Even Frankie Hall and Odd Christner Joyce, having lost bets to each other on the games, appeared prepared for the dunking, but it was decided that since they were sisters and on opposing teams, each cancelled out the other's bet.

As each payee dripped out of the fountain, she was sired to thoroughly as possible, bundled in sweaters, followed by a sojourn at the Sweet Shop or Soda Shop indulging in refreshments as a climax to a big day.

Palm oil is used by both the soap and candle industries, and the latter using it to make tin plate.

Thanksgiving Games Plus a Special Coffee and Reception

A formal dinner will be given at 6:15 tonight in the Landis dining hall, to be followed by a reception from 8:30 to 10 in the parlor of Landis Hall. This reception will be in honor of Mrs Cary B Landis, for whose husband former Justice of the state supreme Court, Landis Hall was named. Those present will include members of the faculty and students living in Landis.

There will be ten special guests at the formal dinner, including Mrs Leadis: Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College; Mrs Campbell; Dr Olivia N Dorman dean of students; Miss Katherine Warren, assistant dean of students; Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence; Dr Claude R Perry professor of English; Miss Mildred Finnegan, assistant professor of English; Miss Anne S Arnold, dietitian; Miss Ruth A Pyche, Landis counselor and assistant professor of biology; and Miss Sallie Williams, assistant professor of secretarial arts.

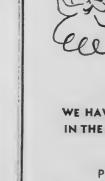
Irene Mendoza, house president of Landis, and Louise Sikes, president of Landis Hall will serve as hostesses for two tables. Other hostesses will be members of the Social Committee in Landis Elizabeth Ardd chairman, Marianne Kemp Betty Bellamy, Mary Asher, Alice Neef, Mildred Turner, Carolyn Fewkes, Harriette McCarter, Margaret Wooten, Sara Corry, Jane Norten, and all members of House Council. Each hostess will prepare and speak, place cards at those dining at her table.

After-Dinner Coffee

There will be an after-dinner coffee in the music room of Landis Hall for the special dinner guests. Coffee will be served by Audrey Perry Peggy Lou Tinsley, Claiborne Bates, and members of Landis House Council. Following the coffee, there will be a reception for students. There are approximately 168 faculty members on the reception guest list, which was prepared by the students of Landis.

In the receiving line will be Elizabeth Ardd Miss Williams, Mrs Landis Dr and Mrs Cary Landis, Miss Dorman, Dr Perry, Miss Bell, Miss Dorman, Dr Doak Campbell, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Miss Finnegan, and Miss Pyche. Pouring coffee during the first hour will be Irene Mendoza, president of Landis, and Miss McCollum for the second hour.

Background music will be supplied by Carolyn Klintz, Claudia Lucille Wooten, and Rachel Bell.



The Social Committee and members of the House Council assisted by Miss Arnold, will serve in the dining room at homes throughout the evening.

Photography Class To Stage Exhibit

There will be an exhibition of mounted enlargements done in the photography classes taught by Miss Elisabeth Lynn, associate professor of physics, during the week preceding the Christmas holidays, from January 3 to January 13, in the club room of the Lonemire Building.

These pieces of photographic work were selected by students in spite of the handicap of a shortage of materials, according to Miss Lynn. Classes have been ended since the beginning of the course in photography on this campaign, and when it is relieved the system of 'trial and error' photography can again be introduced with a better chance for more artistic pictures.

There has been considerable difficulty getting film for this quarter as in past years, but Miss Lynn was successful in obtaining the necessary quantity.

Hand Sewn Moccasin
You've never known barefoot freedom and ease of action unless you've worn true hand-sewn moccasins. And when they're Sportsters, they're tops
In Mink Brown Saddle Leather
5.95
Exclusive With MILLER'S Cootery
College Ave.

THE MOST HONORED WATCH ON THE CAMPUS
Longines
THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH

WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES, 28 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE

December Style
Drama Starring ROBES
Glorious Chenille
in a galaxy of colors
Flamboyant Hues and Soft Pastels
End those early morning shivers . . .
pop into a warm robe
$5.95 up
Sizes 12-20
Santa Says:
"Take a tip from me and give a luxurious quilted robe."
Quilted Robe
WE HAVE THEM IN SMART TAILORED STYLES AND IN THE FRILLED FEMININE MOTIF $9.95 up
P. S. A word to the wise—Hurry while they last!
The Surprise Store
101-05 E. Jefferson
Phone 299

8 Days
'Til Vacation !

Z 300

The Florida Flambeau

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

Back to Civilization !

VOL. XXXIII, No. 9

DECEMBER 7, 1945

Glee Club to Sing Yuletide Vesper Music

03 Voices to Blend in Christmas Program In Westcott

ss Robertson Will Direct Sunday's Service

One hundred and three voices ed and Christmas music at the ngel College Glee Club Christ- Vespers Miss Etta Robertson, ic director announced Mary der harpist; Rachel Crotwell, ganist, and Fawn Trawick, so- ano will assist the club Sunday, at 5:30 p. m. in West- auditorium.

The program will include: ple by Mly Sheep', a seven- enth century hymn, arranged by ance; a capella: "Good Kings monials"; a traditional English ol; arranged by LaBerge, a Gesu Bambino", by Pie- Yon, as also solo by Anne ge; and "The Shepherd's Story". Clarence Dickinson, song by Ita Tresadern, soprano, and ng-fire club "O Holy Night", by ssa soprano solo by Alice ueter.

Fawn Trawick will play these ree numbs: "Prelude" from ualio traditional; "Lo, Love a Star Blooming"; "Presented ly Finally and In Ivy"; English, ditional; Angels Chanting All ound Us"; French.

ste Tournier for Harp" will played by Mary Reeder before Robert Westcott, and Alice eider "Pastorale", a violin and ano selection.

Resistive air Aria will be: "He ill Feed His Flock", Messiah, Handel; Pastoral Symphony, om "Come Unto Him" Messiah, Handel, Doris O'Neil, soprano;

Continued on Page Five

Graduates of FSC Write From Aboard

m France and India come letters from two Florida State ege students, one an officer in the Women's Army Corps, the r a member of the Red Cross India.

Former FSC student Caroline ter, now Captain C Varn in the WAC, is stationed in Ver- s an assistant staff officer the education division of the SC. She was awarded the Or- Star for her work before D Day.

Captain Varn's duties include upervision of education for army ation in France, and, in addi- to her activities in education ther, she has had opportunities ake numerous trips into Ger- ny and Belgium.

In Versailles, Capt. Varn lives four other WACs in a French e, where she has a maid who hosts of private lessons in and public lessons.

An old Frenchwoman ches house for them, and they to be there when she comes ning.

According to her letter, Cap- Varn plans to return to civil- life after her discharge from the Miss Hazel L. Bowman, FSC duma and former editor of the demeia, recently wrote several moments upon her experiences India in a letter to a faculty mber here.

From her firsthand observation several disturbances in that vi- ity, she says, "Britons and Yan- s are different; few of them agree on imperialism anymore. I only we could work out peace by the will of ordinary folks rather than politicians."

Miss Bowman was graduated the FSC seven years ago, and ward did graduate work at University of Florida, where had the distinction of being only girl member of the band. It is now serving with the Red ss in India.

'Gornet and Gold' Features Pianists

The weekly broadcast of "Gor- and Gold," Florida State Col- radio newspaper, featured piano duos played by Annabelle ivine and Margaret Harley Tuesday night.

Annabelle played Sibelius' Ro- ance, and Margaret played Rio's A Fair by Boat. The ram was edited by Pat Pattishall. this week's announcer was Sarah Norman.

A program is presented from the dio in the Longmire building each Thursday night at 7:30 over tion WTAL. Programs are ar- ged by Bertha Blood- orth, publicity director of FSC, and are edited by students.

TCMA to Open Monday Night With Concert

Richard Dyer Bennet Will Entertain Members At Leon High

Membership Cards Available At the Bookstore

The Tallahassee Civic Music Association opens its 1945-46 season Monday night at 8:15 with the presentation of Richard Dyer-Bennet, troubadour, at the Leon High school.

Members of the faculty and students of FSC were told here last spring can obtain membership cards at the college bookstore before the concert with Miss Pat Thompson, or at Leon High just before the concert Monday night. At that time, membership is closed until the spring, and tickets for non-members cannot be obtained. Membership cards, including tax, are $3 for students and $6 for adults, according to Miss Isabel McKinnell.

"Richard Dyer-Bennet," it was written in Newsweek in March, 1944, "is a minstrel without a court to sing for. He is the true

Continued on Page Four

Student's Religions Are Filed in Office

Methodists Lead With 667; Baptists Follow Close

The Registrar's office has just completed a survey of the student religious preferences and home towns of all the students registered here, Miss Ina Mae Haddock, registrar announced.

Methodists head the list with 667 girls claiming that denomination, Miss Haddock said. Baptists are the second, having 607 students. Next in the preference list are Episcopal churches, having 344 and 338 students registered, respectively.

There are 176 Catholic girls at Florida State College, according to this list. Seventy-two of the students are Jewish.

Fifty-four girls expressed a preference for the Christian church, with two more number indicating no preference. There are 44 Christian Scientists here. The Presbyterian, Lutheran, and Congregational come next in numbers with 24, 16 and 14 students in each respectively.

The Greek Orthodox church claims nine FSC girls.

Six girls are members of the Reformed church and four of the Brethern. The Assembly of God, Nazarene, Church of the Nazarene, and the Synagogue have three students each preferring their denominations.

Two girls each belongs to the First Church of God, the Naz-renes and the Unitarians.

The Christadelphians, the Church of the Latter Day Saints, the Community church, the Evangelical church, the Free Holiness church, the Unity church, and the Seventh Day Adventists each have one member on campus.

Inquiry Proves No Similarity Between Federal Jail and FSC

By JO D'AGAN

I was astonished a few days ago when I received two letters and found two letters. Not only was I astonished to receive two, but to get two letters at once, but these letters were astonishing. One was "Not at Federal Jail, Tallahassee, Florida," was stamped in purple letters across the front of each envelope.

From years of experience with innocent mail, I realized that a postal clerk had accidentally sent my letters to the jail and that the mistake there had stamped the mistake there and returned them. But how on earth, I thought, could anyone have confused Florida State College, which was plainly written on the front of each envelope, with the Federal jail.

After brief several other people speak of receiving letters stamped the same way, I decided to find out what points of similarity exist between the two institutions that would confuse the clerk to make such mistake. A friend of mine, who is employed by the jail, consented to help me with the problem.

"I don't believe that the appearance of the two places is a point of confusion," said my friend. He said that at the present time the physical aspect of the jail was much like correspondence to that of the jail, but he added that perhaps when the job has been under construction at FSC's front campus and the beautification plan is carried out the resemblance might be greater.

My friends also told me that the inmates of the jail are not classified as the residents of FSC. They wear striped suits and a striped yellow sqaush at the jail. He said that although sometimes there is a mixed crowd, he was sure it could not be compared to that of FSC.

Student workers who have worked on the various committees are Harriet McCarter, Helen Tarapani, Bettie Bevile, Edna Crain.

Schedule Announced For Freshman Exams

The freshman English examinations will be held in the college auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, December 11, 1945, at 2:30, announced Dr. Sarah Herndon, associate professor of English.

The 905 En[illegible] exam will be held in room 32[illegible] at the same time.

Freshmen are asked to bring only pencils to the Freshman English exams.

The time and place schedule for the Humanities exam[illegible]

[illegible] will be made, [illegible] Herndon.

Animated Newspaper Style Carried Out In Garnet and Gold Broadcasts on WTAL

By WINNIE LANE

An animated edition of a newspaper is presented each Thursday night on the Garnet and Gold program broadcast directly over WTAL from the Florida State College campus studio, Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity chairman and coordinator of radio, includes in the 15-minute program a news section, then a feature and music section, or sports equivalent thereto, with the types of discussions ranging over the college that would be interesting to the general public.

The history of radio broadcasts at FSC traces a pattern of rapid progress. Those who broadcast the first program used as their studio the publicity office reception room in the Longmire building. On September 27, 1940, the first of these programs was sent directly from the campus. The editor of the Flambeau gave a 15-minute summary of campus news and comment. During 1940 there were also two other FSC features, one called the "FSCW Forum" conducted by CGA officers, and a bimonthly program of book reviews.

The next spring on March 5, 1941, the first Radio Guild of college history radio management was formed. The Guild was taken over by the students for a day. Writing script, selling ads, selecting music and working commercials made up the day of radio management. The Guild at that time had about 20 exhausted and weak-voiced students admitted it had been a strenuous undertaking.

Then last year, on October 28, 1944, the new studio in the Longmire building was dedicated to Miss B'oodworth, in her new office as publicity director. "Here's a chance so try her hand at announcing, script writing, working with sound effects."

Tryouts and auditions will be open to all students interested later. The workshop will have as its nucleus the radio speech class. Miss Frankie Hall, Miss Mary Ann Widergust, Ida Lee Rentz, and Mary Lou Norwood, all with an MA degree in Dramatic Art at the University of North Carolina, have worked in radio and wrote several one-act plays which were produced there. She directed both one and three-act plays at the University of North Carolina, and taught English and dramatics in high school for two years.

Miss Colones said that the faculty radio committee has approved all of the workshop's plans. The committee is as follows: Dr Herman Kurz, professor of botany; Dr Karl D. Swenson, dean of men; Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director; Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary; Dr R L Goulding, superintendent of the demonstration school; Miss Helen Cate, associate professor of music; Mr H Dorsey Hollister, student engineer; Miss Sara Graham, assistant periodicals librarian, and Miss Colones. Each radio script will be subject to Dr Doak S Campbell's approval.

Dem School Pupils To Present Pageant

"The Light Shineth in Darkness," a Christmas pageant, will be presented by the Demonstration school on December 13, in the Augusta Conradi theater, Admission will be free to the public.

Approximately 200 children[illegible] will take part in the pageant which is under the direction of Miss Ruth Hamilton, fifth grade instructor. Miss Smith said that the pageant would be a dramatization of the traditional Christmas story with Christian carols sung by the junior high and glee club as well as the other pupils. The program will present Mary and Joseph and Mary in narrative form with Christmas carols by the Scriptures to be read by two readers who will be played by Mary Crespo and Douglas Gribler has the part of Joseph.

Student directors who have worked on the various committees are Harriet McCarter, Helen Tarapani, Bettie Bevile, Edna Crain.

Colones Plans New Workshop

Radio Group Will Present Programs Over WTAL

Plans for a radio workshop which will present weekly half-hour programs over station WTAL beginning with the second quarter and lasting through June 1, have been revealed by Miss Mary Thom Colones, speech instructor and director of the workshop at Florida State College.

At the first radio workshop meeting on November 26, it was decided to present a different series of programs each month. The January program will have as its basic subject the collection of Inca relics in the Longmire building.

Plans are also underway for the 3500 FSC students who can't be in one of the three major speech groups organizations to participate in a dramatic activity."

Miss Colones said, "Here is a chance so try her hand at announcing, script writing, working with sound effects."

Tryouts and auditions will be open to all students interested later. The workshop will have as its nucleus the radio speech class. Miss Frankie Hall, Miss Mary Ann Widergust, Ida Lee Rentz, and Mary Lou Norwood, all with an MA degree in Dramatic Art at the University of North Carolina, have worked in radio and wrote several one-act plays which were produced there. She directed both one and three-act plays at the University of North Carolina, and taught English and dramatics in high school for two years.

Miss Colones said that the faculty radio committee has approved all of the workshop's plans. The committee is as follows: Dr Herman Kurz, professor of botany; Dr Karl D. Swenson, dean of men; Miss Bertha Bloodworth, publicity director; Miss Louise Gehan, alumnae secretary; Dr R L Goulding, superintendent of the demonstration school; Miss Helen Cate, associate professor of music; Mr H Dorsey Hollister, student engineer; Miss Sara Graham, assistant periodicals librarian, and Miss Colones. Each radio script will be subject to Dr Doak S Campbell's approval.

Faculty Members Go To Annual Meeting

Six Delegates From College Speak in St Augustine

The tenth annual meeting of the Florida Academy of Science[illegible] in conjunction with the Florida Historical Society and the Florida Anthropological Society held today and tomorrow at St Augustine.

Dr Raymond Bellamy of the department of sociology is in charge of arrangements for the delegates from Florida State College. Dr Bellamy will give a 30-minute speech on "Art and Literature as Forms of Social Control."

Other members of the college faculty who are scheduled to speak are Dr Paul Pinner, whose subject is "Social Factors in Education," and Miss Mary Parker, "The Inauguration of the First Governor of Florida." Dr Mark Devitney and Franseita Vinson, "Preliminary Report on the Snails of Lake Jackson and Lake Iamonia With Their Trematode Parasites"; Dr Mary Edna Price, Pleurocera corpulentum, Trypanosoma brucei and Trypanosoma hippicum, Infections in Domestic Animals; Chick Embryos and Chickens."

Dr John Pandolfi, head of the Florida Geological Survey will speak on "Some Geological Sites in Florida," and Dr Karl Bickel, "Seminoles."

Other faculty members who will attend are Miss Carolyn Trump, instructor in zoology; Miss Sadie Hall, instructor in economics; Miss Betty Linthicum in the education division; Herman Kurz, professor of botany, and Dr R L Goulding superintendent of the Florida State school and professor of education.

Additional Courses Given Next Quarter

Several new courses will be offered during the winter quarter, two by the history department and one by the department of philosophy, Dr Ann Pepper, professor of philosophy, announces that she will teach a course in ethics and education (Religion 325) in the second quarter. Miss Anne Kinney, instructor in Animal Husbandry, will teach a course in aesthetics (Philosophy 326).

Dr Annie M Popper, associate professor of history, announces that she will offer two courses in the fall quarter schedule of classes, two entirely different courses were listed as being identical under the title of "Aria".

One is a course in far eastern history and will be offered as history 452 in the second quarter. It will deal primarily with the[illegible] of Japan and the[illegible] of far east.

[illegible] upon the student who has had[illegible] in the[illegible] Civilization.

[illegible] will be offered as history 309 in the third quarter.

Grades!

Grades will be sent to the homes of the students during the Christmas holidays, according to Miss Mary Acrivos, assistant registrar. Students should notify the registrar's office in case of a change in address since the beginning of school.

Grades will be withheld until all fees are paid, as is the rule of the school.

Seniors Plan Annual Party

Girls to Don Caps, Gowns With Formal Collars

All seniors who plan to go to the traditional senior Christmas party at the University Club are asked to sign on the senior class bulletin board in lower Westcott before Monday.

Martha Jane Brown, class president, announced that the party will begin according to custom with the seniors meeting together in Landis dinner hall at 6:30. She asked that they wear caps and gowns with formal collars, meet at the dining hall, and march in academic order to the tune of the processing Christmas carols. Special guests eating with them this year will be Dean and Mrs. Doak Campbell, Dr and Mrs Coyle E Moore, Miss Mary Parker, Miss Mary Wayne, Miss Edith McCollum, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Miss Daisy Parker, Miss Mary Wheeler, and Miss Ruth Pyche.

After supper the seniors will divide into groups and sing carols around the faculty homes until 10:30, at which time they will return to Landis parlor for the Christmas party. Hostesses for the[illegible] halls committee with Miss Edith McCollum in charge.

Martha Jane said, "It will be

Continued on Page Three

Chain of Missions Director Visits FSC

Woodford Here to Make Plans For Youth Conference

Miss Louise Woodford, state director of the Florida Chain of Missions, visited Florida State College last Saturday to meet with representatives from the various offices of the department still under construction when notice was sent to the workers. Where shades are expected to be, one finds large pieces of most attractive brown paper tacked over portions of the windows.

Snapshot Contest

"Bring your cameras back from the Thanksgiving holidays," says Jane Lyles, editor of the Flambeau yearbook, "and enter the snapshot contest. You've always wanted to see your fav'rite beamin in the annual, and here is your chance."

The contest, which will run through January is limited to pictures of campus activities. They should be sent to the Flambeau box, and the winning contestants will receive prizes.

AAUW Creative Arts Contests Encourage Student Competition

By ELEANOR BAYER

For the past three years the American Association of University Women has sponsored a creative arts contest on campus with awards in[illegible] and academic talented in the arts. The[illegible] are in the fields of music, poetry writers, but last year under the direction of Dr Carmen Sevilla, associate professor of English, it was expanded to include all the major creative arts. Competition afforded in all types of writing, in the dance, in instrumental and vocal music, and in a wide range of the fine arts and crafts. Prizes are awarded in each[illegible] division.

The enthusiastic student response to the program has proved its value not only as a recreation but as a real aid in encouraging students of high potential skill in the arts. One instance of this is last year's graduate, Elizabeth McFarland, three times winner of the poetry award, who is now poetry editor of the Scholastic Magazine in New York City. Robert P Tristram Coffin, [illegible] poet who visited the campus last year, proph[illegible] that Elizabeth would be one of our good American poets.

Another outstanding composer for the contest last year was Anna Watkins, 1945 graduate who won top prize in piano composition with a three movement sonata. Another winner is sculpture. Mildred Zindler, is now studying in New York under Wm. Zorach. Among last year's winners still in the campus are Mary Majors Shew, Anne Hunter, Marrery Holm, Winifred Meldrim, present editor of the Distaff, Mabel Peek, Penny Lu Thomson, Frances Traxler, Daphne Rowe, Jacqueline Magee, Nancy Mackenzie, Elizabeth Zurveille, Mrs Marion Thompson, Betty Hinman, Joycelyn Lloyd, and Priscilla Clark.

One invaluable aspect of the program and the exhibitions was the opportunity given those interested in writing to confer with Mr Coffin and those interested in music com-[illegible] Mary Lou Norwood, famous pianist and composer, who was on the campus for Music Week. It is hoped that the prestige of being counseled by notable artists will be available each year on our campus.

The contest has not yet been announced this year. When Dr Rogers was approached recently for news of the year's plans, she said that a few changes in

Continued on Page Two

Twenty-One to Be Graduated At Quarterly Commencement In Augusta Conradi Theater

Exercises Will Be Held on Saturday, December 14; Olga Eitner to Provide Special Music; Beard Will Play Marches

Quarterly commencement exercises for 21 graduates will be held Saturday afternoon, December 15, at 3 o'clock in the Augusta Conradi theater. The speaker for this occasion has not as yet been selected.

Classes on Inside, Builders Outside; Confusion Results

The vicissitudes of teaching and learning in a building still under construction have been made quite apparent in recent weeks to those obliged to occupy the new wing to the History building. The whole left wing is part of the inconveniences caused by war, but numerous events amounting to near catastrophes have taken place in the past few weeks.

First several classrooms of the modern language department were "flooded out" when a water main broke. The workmen were to rose, but there was no escaping by way of the windows, because they happen to have bars on them. Victims were forced to escape by wading through.

Two days later came what seemed to be an attempt at wholesale[illegible] Workmen with a more peculiar odor poured through the windows into the classrooms and brought about a great slamming and banging of all openings to[illegible] the[illegible] of the[illegible] department had decided to rid itself of its[illegible] fine French property manufacture by burning it in the incinerator on that side of the building.

Then there is the "straw that broke the camel's back" among the students' beaks." Recently a large sign reading "Closed" was placed over the customary entrance to the wing. Wandering students had to go around to the other side, climb over a couple of bricks piles and look for[illegible] before finally arriving at the other door through which the classrooms and offices might be reached. . . all in the few minutes period between classes.

Another most interesting circumstance is observed within the offices of the department still under construction when notice was sent to the workers. Where shades are expected to be, one finds large pieces of most attractive brown paper tacked over portions of the windows.

Schubert - Wilhelm's "By the Sea," a violin solo, will be played at the ceremony by Miss Olga Eitner, associate professor of violin and theory, accompanied by Miss Mary Esther Winslow, assistant professor of piano. The processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," will be played by Mrs Ramona Beard, associate professor of organ, who will also play the traditional "War March of the Priests" as the recessional.

Among social events feting the graduates will be a luncheon in their honor given by Mrs Doak S Campbell at 12:30 p m Saturday, December 15.

In the School of Arts and Sciences Virginia Ogle Herndon, Lena Maxine Sparkman and Dorothy Roberts will receive degrees in Bachelor of Science in Commerce. Receiving degrees as Bachelor of Arts in Education are Hazel Chanal, Shirley Anne De-Ginther, Carolyn Hall, Clara Ruth Jones, Dorothy Hamilton Mayhew, Helen Virginia Miller and Mabel Elizabeth Rust.

In the School of Education Anne Powell Arrington, Doris Elizabeth Dodd, Meredith Beth Mathis, Carolyn Fay Smith, Gloria St Clair Smith, Lottie May Dykes, Dorothy Addy and Frances Brown Lunsford will receive degrees as Bachelor of Arts in Education.

In the School of Home Economics degrees of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics will be conferred upon Marianna Pope Mosely, Mamie Kennedy Levy and Sarah Merrill Cross Lee. Elsie Levy will graduate cum laude.

Graduating in the School of Music will be Wilda Ina Bass, who will receive her degree as Bachelor of Music and also her certificate in piano.

Dr. Carothers Gives Plan for Registering

A new registration plan will be instituted in the winter quarter registration of students, according to Dr Milton Carothers, registrar.

Since it is imperative that registration be carried out on one day, Dr Carothers has asked that students enter the auditorium in Westcott through the front doors and seat themselves from the back. Students will enter the auditorium row by row to begin registering as their row or rows are able to take care of them. An alphabetical arrangement will be made, and announced in the annual schedule according to their time of arrival.

The student body will meet Wednesday afternoon, January 3. Former students will begin registering at 6:30 that evening, beginning, January 3, and continus throughout the day. At this time upperclassmen will be asked to preference in the morning since Dr Carothers feels that their schedules are as a rule of more concern than those of freshmen.

Dr Carothers said he believes that all students can be registered on one day if each plac receive student cooperation.

Honorary Taps

Five girls were tapped for Gamma Sigma Epsilon, chemistry honorary, at a meeting last night.

They were Josephine Dewhirst, Mary Elizabeth Hendrix, Sara Gardner, Juanita Nord and Anne McDonald.

These girls will remain "neophytes" as they are referred to, until the initiation which will take place sometime during the second quarter.

During initiation period, pledges are required to wear test tubes suspended around their neck by blue and white ribbons, the honorary's colors.

Officers of Gamma Sigma Epsilon are Theo Brown, president; Trixi Thompson, secretary, and Mary Lou Norwood, censor.

Distaff of Press

The issue of the Distaff which has now gone to press will be distributed to students on the day that they return from Christmas Holidays, announced Winifred Meldrim, editor of the Distaff.

The deadline for any material to be incorporated in the forthcoming issue of the Distaff has been advanced to January 2, 1946

Student Recalls Life in Orient Tells of Ten Years in Korea

"It's a shame that America can't be of more help to Korea—a country so devious of becoming democratic," Virginia Swicord, a freshman at Florida State College who has lived in Korea for ten years, said.

"Korea, since the Japanese occupation, has looked for freedom and will accept a form of either democracy or communism." But since their leanings are toward democracy and the American way of life, this nation should take advantage of an opportunity to set another nation on her feet politically," Virginia said.

Virginia's father is a missionary, and she has had the advantage of living in Korea while he worked there.

Mr Swicord worked in Chun Je, a province in Southern Korea. Missionaries are sent to foreign nations where they work for a period of seven years. At the end of this time a year's vacation is granted each worker.

Virginia began her travels at the age of eight months. When she was three years old she returned with her family to this country for a year. They returned in 1936 and stayed until 1940, when they were forced to return.

The American State department first advised Americans on foreign soil to return; the United States consul took up the request, and when the mission board in Nashville, Tennessee, sent word, the Swicords boarded the USS Monterey at Yokohama, and began the 40 trip back to this country. The ship was assigned to pick all Americans then living in foreign countries. Thus, Virginia got to see more of the Orient—Shanghai, Manila, New Zealand, Manilla and the Fiji and Samoan Islands.

"People in this country can't realize the great power Christianity has on a people who have never seen the Bible nor heard of Jesus," Virginia said

Christianity gives the people such a peace of mind that they have never known before. It gives them hope for they have been taught of evil spirits which are supposed to torment and haunt them. The fear of no life after death is another basis of their unrest, said Virginia.

"The call is exceptionally urgent for all workers," she said. "The Koreans are receptive, and a missionary can't work hard enough to take in all the Koreans in his strip of land who want Christianity. Mr Swicord was able to establish 18 churches in the period of service. When he left there were 46 churches.

The region is densely populated by an impoverished people according to Virginia. Most are peasants, although there are a higher class of scholars and wealthy land owners, and a class of merchants and village headmen.

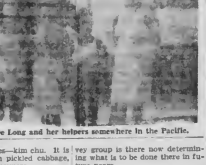
"The peasant class live in homes of mud with straw roofs, and they manage the barest sort of existence." Virginia went on to say. Their homes usually consist of two small rooms, with a shed for a kitchen. There the patriarchial family, of as much as eighteen on the average, work day in and day out to keep body and soul together. The women are practically slaves in that their husbands work as he's, and children are under as strict surveillance."

"The climate is comparable to that in the state of Virginia, with extremes of hot and cold," Virginia also said. The main source of food is rice, which they grow on the strips of land allotted them. They usually try to grow cabbage so they can make one of their main dishes—kim chu. It is a hot dish with pickled cabbage, garlic and red peppers.

The Japanese on arrival in 1910 tried to completely de-nationalize Korea, Virginia said. They tried to take away their church, language and customs. Japan started closing up the Christian churches when they feared the power which Christianity would establish in Korea. The natives who professed to be Christians suffered much cruel torture.

Despite their evil intents, the Japanese have helped Korea internally, she observed. Virginia said that they set up telegraph and electric companies, railroads, joined principle cities, and postal service was available to most parts of the country.

"The Japanese made education, compulsory," Korean children from 6 to 10 attended a public school. English and Japanese were required languages. The high schools were segregated with boys and girls both attending separate schools," Virginia further stated.



She, however, received her schooling while there from private sources. In 1940 on her return to the United States, she attended high schools in South Carolina and Virginia.

One of the customs Virginia mentioned was the funeral service for the father at his death. Red coffins were used, and the superstitious, that is, richer the occupant. Every one that entered for funeral service had to be fed—and can you imagine how tell the occasion by the crowds of peasants at the door. Sometimes a family will spend the rest of their lives paying the huge debt resulting from this funeral.

The mission was just outside the city, and had there a hospital, schools, and residence homes. "Everything there is intact; nothing has been damaged by the war," Virginia said that she had just heard.

Mr Swicord hopes to return to Korea as soon as possible. A survey group is there now determining what is to be done there in future years.

Virginia, however, intends to continue her college work at FSC.

Mrs Jean De Long and her helpers somewhere in the Pacific.

Glee Club

Continued from Page One

"Hallelujah Chorus", Messiah, by Handel; "Silent Night", by Bruber.

Participants in the annual Christmas Vespers are the glee club members: Dorothy Taylor, Ann Chatelain, Margie Fusch, Virginia Calhemore, Anna Wiggins, Anne Stinchfield, Mary McClelland Marna Smith, Emmaline Worn, Myra Russell, Virginia Thompson, Calista Hatcher, Jacquie Eichler, Phyllis DeKalb, Marion Wallace, Bowe Bauman, O'Neill Margaret Wooten, Johnnie Mires, Constance Bradley, Hazel Houlihan, Laura Simpson, Anne Mustaine, Mildred Crawford Jacquette Posdick, Dorothy Hewitt, Wilda Hayes, Cynthia Merrin Sarah Brown, Hilda Dodson, Sarah Brinkley, Clarice Hedgecoth, Peggy Pearson, Peggy Lou Wallace, Jeannelyn Brown, Lee Wheeler Martha McCormick, Ann Townsend, Evelyn Johnson, Betty Houlihan, Mary Ruth King, Virginia DeGarry, Doris Lamb, Mary Nichols, Dixie Pitt Kennedy Anne Daniel, Ethel Chua, Billie Bosley.

Billie Armistead, Sylvia Snell, Mary Jane Kirst, Ethel Smith, Clara Cole Kirst, Ruth Kirst, Alice Wheeler, Paula Teagarden, Artie Flanders, Daphne Rows, Pawn Trawick, Ruth Erwin, Jeanette Chapman, Helen McCann, Mary Davis Emily Bridges.

Mary Louise Morris, Doris Musselman Sara Lee Williams, Barbara Pennell Muri Price, Patricia Thomas, Betty Owen, Eleanor Brace, Melba Bellamy, Shirley Glover Annie Bailey, Helen Edmiston, Joyce Purdy, Mildred Mann Lois Ann Artis, Barbara Vaughn, Madge Phinney, Mary Hart.

Organ and piano accompanists are Pawn Trawick and Eleanor Brace.

AAUW Contest

Continued from Page One

the contest this year. She stated that she received a chairman last spring because she felt that the pleasure of supervising the program should be shared with other faculty members. But because of busy teaching schedules in from the influx of so many new students, no one has yet been found to assume the chairmanship.

Dr Rogers said, "I am distressed at the delay in getting the program started. It would be unfortunate to have it lapse. I hope during the present delay that students will not lose interest and will keep working on the drive. In the meantime, I hope this can be remedied in the future."

Valuable Collection Of Bancroft's Work Now in FSC Library

"A volume of Hubert Howe Bancroft's Works, a rare and valuable set of 39 books is now available for student use in the library. The collection was purchased this summer from the Arthur Clark Company in Glendale, California, and will be beneficial to all who are Latin America or history majors," said Dr Venila L Shores, professor of history.

Among the 39 volumes, several are devoted separately to Central America, Mexico, California, Oregon and Alaska. According to a story in the American Historical Review, they are one of the most complete histories of that section of the world.

In the Bancroft library owned by the University of California there are 40,000 volumes, and this set which Florida State College now possesses is considered one of the best found in the original collection.

In the Spring issue of the American Historical Review there is an article about H H Bancroft, which reads:

In the historiography of western America no name is written larger than Hubert Howe Bancroft. He was the first determined collector of the materials on this half continent and the first to undertake to chronicle its history comprehensively and exhaustively. The library that he established is the chief depository of such materials and for a generation has been the area's fountain head of historical research. Similarly the 39 large volumes of his works stand today, a full half century after they published, as the fundamental reference on this vast subject matter and the best reference for a great fraction of the topics which comprise it.

Charles K Chapman, well-known author of Bancroft's Works constitute the greatest single achievement in the history of American Historiography.

Mrs W B Williamson of Los Angeles, California, formerly owned the collection of Bancroft's Works, and an anushal printed note found on the fly sheet of the last volume written by Mrs Williamson says:

"This volume is a curious mixture of little value to history. If I might judge from this book the writer is an odd compound of cast-like aristocrat and hard-headed business sagacity with more than ordinary self esteem. The latter quality is more found on the fly sheet of the last volume written by Mrs Williamson says:

"This volume is not quite disillusioned you, though," said Miss Louise Richardson, librarian and professor of library science, "because the 39 remaining books are well-written and highly informative. I believe that this set is a great addition to our already fine library."

Drive Falls

Continued from Page One

of the table in lower Westcott at which students paid their contributions. About 50 girls volunteered their services in collecting funds for the WSSF.

Speaking of a letter received from the Southeastern Regional Student Secretary, Elizabeth Virginia, requesting that funds raised at FSC be sent in as soon as possible, Jessie McCalla said, "It will be very disappointing not to be able to send in the full amount of pledge money at this time. I hope those girls who have not paid will be ready to make their contributions after the Christmas holidays."

Jessie McCalla also received a letter from Dr J Hunsley Dupree, executive secretary of the WSSF who spoke at convocations here on campus before the beginning of the drive, in which he expressed his gratitude for the kind reception paid him, and thanked students of FSC for contributions to the organization.

Education Honorary Admits 4 Initiates

Four new members of Kappa Delta Pi, the education honorary, were initiated at the last meeting which was held in the Board of Control room last Wednesday evening. The initiates were Hilda Dolores Vera Beach, Geraldine Hansen Jacksonville, Erin Poythress, Macclenny, and Mildred Pinner of Lake Wales.

Following the meeting, Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, spoke to the group on "The Value of Records." Dr Campbell said that records can be of great value, but this is left entirely to the discretion of the individual. Dr Campbell concluded by saying that he hoped that in the future we would have records which are less cumbersome and longer lasting.

TCMA

Continued from Page One

troubadour, singer, composer, singer and instrumentalist in one, and of noble birth Burl's pedigree lists him as cousin of Sir John Ludovick Swinnerton Dyer, thirteenth baronet, Knight of the medieval bards, Dyer-Bennet has no royal patron. But if his Town Hall debut in New York last week is any indication, he has found a substitute in the concert-going public."

Other TCMA concerts of the season will be: the Lefko-Fostel-Schulz Trio, composed of Rene Lefkor Pettet, Bidnon Fostel, pianist-conductor, on April 26.

Miss McKinnell asks that students who cannot attend Monday night give their cards to someone else to use; cards are transferable and should be returned unsigned when the owner cannot attend.

Field Trip Is Made To Mental Hospital

More than 85 students in sociology and clinical psychology classes journeyed to Chattahoochee and Marianna yesterday for first-hand observation of Florida's state mental hospital and reform school for boys. This field trip, which was the first of its kind undertaken since before the war, participation in which is being done by students in these classes.

Dr Coyle E Moore, professor of sociology, and Dr H L Washburn, professor of psychology were in charge of arrangements for the trip. Other faculty members who also participated included Dr Ray W Shankweiler, associate professor of sociology; Miss Caroline Blue and Mrs Margaret Bristol, assistant professors of sociology

Inquiry Proves

Continued from Page One

and the jail. But, alas, even that was denied me. My friend went on to say that although the jail was not used, it was inhabited solely by men.

Holding my breath, I asked my last question. If this one didn't pan out I'd never find the answer I was seeking. "What time is the jail residents have to turn out their lights?" I asked. When he answered "ten-thirty" I was disappointed. I hadn't found a single reason for the mail clerk's not contacting FSC with the jail. I wasn't sorry, though, that I had asked that last question. At least I had found one thing for which FSC residents may be grateful.

Education Students Experience Long Waiting Period While Using Overworked Landis Elevator

Plaintive wails, such as "Come to one, pie-e-e-ase!", have been heard often of late going up the hollow shaft of the 'self-operating' elevator in east Landis.

One girl stood at the fore of the little knot of students gathered to Landis first floor, and concentrated superhumanly on the 'in use' light. There was a study in reaction time for any ambitious experimental psychologist. Suddenly after a preparedness period of more than the desirable four seconds, a person's reaction time will be even greater than it would have been if completely spontaneous with no time at all to "get-ready" for action. Now who ever heard of having to wait less than four seconds for the elevator in Landis Hall? Engineering school there, fiancer on the little button, in anxious anticipation of what flashing sign.

Ah, the light was off! In the time required to push the button halfway down, the evil light again shown forth. Someone had beaten her to the draw and the car rumbled on its old beaten path from third to fifth. That family is probably still there in majority.

From the various facial and verbal expressions demonstrated in that little crowd, those students in the know, or those living in a London bomb shelter or a Philippine fox-hole. Such was the situation that confronted me in a cycle of hope and disappointment when the elevator could be heard to come so close to them, then ascend laboriously to the fifth floor without opportunity as far as the Pearly Gates!! at the command of its all-powerful occupants.

Between classes, during classes, before and after, the planes. The story is the same. From one floor to the next, the call is relayed to others to be generous with the transportation. "Come down here" "Please stop here . . . or "Wait for us!"

Students Experience Long Waiting Period While Using Overworked Landis Elevator

Before light flash, after light flash the contention goes on. Some students have had the new experience of being caught between floors when the main line switch is flicked. The poor mechanical contrivance hesitates, stops, and sometimes opens its doors, whether or not on its correct leve. The inner views of Landis Hall have a peculiar aspect from that various point of view.

It should be mentioned that special equipment was long ago procured, an out-of-order placard with accompanying chain, for the innumerable occasions when such a condition must be declared. But such a solution would be a post a schedule of tabulated results from a detailed study of the hour or minutes when the elevator is least in use. Maybe it would be well to have everyone develop tendencies toward claustrophobia in order to bring about the desired dinuse of the labor saving device. Or propagandize the merits and virtues of these Christians who climb the ninety-five steps from bottom to top.

Animated Paper

Continued from Page One

were informed that the air had been dead!" It is something out of the ordinary even at the reading of radio to have an audience both unseen and non-existent. The difficulty had been caused by storm clouds over the Caribbean.

Miss Bloodworth said that there has been no break in the broadcasting of the weekly Current and Gold program since the fall of 1944 except for three weeks immediately following the hurricane of that year when the station was given to the San Francisco Conference.

The Radio Committee is headed by Dr Hermon Dunlap Smith and botany and has representatives from other divisions of the college. Anna Norman, student assistant, is doing the greater part of the organizational this year. Various campus organizations are to be responsible for special programs throughout the year, which are presented in addition to Current and Gold. Last year these student-sponsored programs were supervised by Ann Widerquist, student chairman.

The Spanish lessons broadcast in a series last year are examples of the kind of special programs discussed heretofore. Some of the "artistes" featured on Current and Gold have been interviews with campus personalities such as deans of the various schools, a WAC alumna, and a student who owned a prize bull.

Phone for travel information

Jacksonville

A. M.	P. M.
2:30	3:00
3:45	5:00
5:15	6:45
7:45	8:45
8:30	11:30
11:59

Tampa

A. M.	P. M.
1:00	1:35
6:45	5:06
8:30	6:45
11:00	8:30

ALL BUSES LEAVE UNION BUS STATION COR. ADAMS & TENN AVENUE 701

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Sure, we've won the War

BUT THE COST GOES ON!

IT WILL COST MILLIONS TO BRING OUR ARMIES BACK and it's just as expensive as it was back there at war. Meanwhile, thousands of our men who stay behind in occupied territory must receive their pay, be clothed, housed and fed at Uncle Sam's expense.

WE OWE THEM A RETURN TRIP TICKET TO HEALTH. Today, the rehabilitation and care of over 100,000 wounded are among America's gravest peacetime problems. This obligation is one which every American can now share in—by investing in this Great Victory Loan.

America Must Take Care of Her Own In the Great Victory Loan!

UNCLE SAM MUST STILL PAY FOR THESE. Although America had already started to cut down on production of various kinds of war materials, the swift ending of the war left many planes, tanks, battleships, guns, made at the last minute, still to be paid for.

It's too much to expect that the cost of a war which lasted many years can just stop overnight. Although the fighting is over the paying has to go on for some time to come.

So once more it's ALL TOGETHER in America's Great Victory Loan. Start off your own peace and prosperity—and your country's right by investing in the biggest quota of bonds you've ever bought.

FOR PEACE AND PROSPERITY

AMERICA'S GREAT VICTORY LOAN

VICTORY LOAN

★ This is an official U. S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under auspices of Treasury Department and War Advertising Council ★

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS

Give Gifts This Year That Are Distinctive—Give Fine Jewelry

W. W. PUTNAM

Registered Jeweler

AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

308 S. Monroe St.

FLORIDA

Today & Tomorrow "ANCHORS AWEIGH"

Sunday & Monday "OUR VINES HAVE TENDER GRAPES"

Tuesday & Wednesday "AND TEEN THERE WERE NINE"

Thursday, Friday & Saturday "WEEKEND AT THE WALDORF"

Sunday & Monday "MILDRED PIERCE"

STATE

Today & Tomorrow "RANGERS OF THE BAD LANDS"

"STEPPIN' SOCIETY

Sunday & Monday "MOLLY AND ME" "ARROWSMITH"

Tuesday & Wednesday "THRILL OF A ROMANCE"

Thursday "CORN IS GREEN" "COWBOY AND THE LADY"

Friday & Saturday "UNDER FIESTA STARS" "COME OUT FIGHTING"

Sunday & Monday "RAGGED ANGELS" "LOVE, HONOR & GOODBYE"

RITZ

Today & Tomorrow "THIS MAN'S NAVY" "RUSTLER'S HIDEOUT"

Sunday & Monday "EXPERIMENT PERILOUS" "CALL OF THE SOUTH SEAS"

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday "TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN"

Friday & Saturday "KNIGHT OF THE PLAINS" "AMERICAN ROMANCE"

Sunday & Monday "STORM OVER LISBON" "THUNDERHEAD"

TAC

Suggests A Xmas Gift Special

A Few Hours of Flight Instruction

It's Reasonable and Easy to Arrange

Cut Out This Ad and Send It to "Santa"

Gift Certificates for Time Bought Are Available

FLIGHT INSTRUCTION per hour $9.00

10-HOUR COURSE $80.00

OUR STAFF REPRESENTS OVER 25 YEARS TOTAL FLYING EXPERIENCE—BOTH MILITARY AND CIVILIAN

YOU'LL LEARN TO "PRIVATE" THE NEW TRAILORCRAFT —A 2-PLACE SIDE BY SIDE TRAINER

TALLAHASSEE AIRCRAFT CORPORATION

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT PHONE 2565

War Experience of Former FSC Student Told in Letters to Alumnae Director

By JOYCE PETTY

Among the Florida State College alumnae who have been with the various war auxiliary forces and the recent world conflict Mrs Jean Story De Long of the class of 1939 has joined the American Red Cross for overseas service soon after her husband was captured by the forces of Bataan. Her last objective in joining was to go to the Philippines and find news of her husband.

In her letter last June to Miss Annie Gehan, alumnae director of Florida State College, Jean told of securing the desired news and of many other incidents that happened to her during her service in the Pacific.

"I was operating a canteen on Guadalcanal when I first got news of my husband," she wrote. "One day a bunch of soldiers walked in for a snack and one was Jean Long." I answered, 'Yes' and they said, 'Your husband was in the same prison camp that we were and the Japs took all his letters and pictures away from us but the captain smuggled your pictures in. Your pictures, all of us have looked at for three years. Yours were the only ones that came!' Although at the time that letter was written the censorship prevented her from telling her exact location she tells of her observations and experiences "somewhere in the Philippines."

She says of the first days, "We were not overstuffed papers, lavish furnishings, so we have nothing but what we have on our backs. Personally the children are not at the home when a bomb is in it. Then the nurses unravel to burn houses and make us sun people; in the meantime we take the risk of being burned or killed by bullets. For our daily fare we were running from house to house carrying with us a bundle of documents, a safety shelter wherever they found or trying to cross no man's land with no water or food."

After all the Japanese were finally eliminated the Red Cross swung into the Philippines headquarters in ——. Jean said that the girls had been "razed" and that Jane had committed "all the atrocities in the book."

"Conditions are from one extreme to the other," the letter continued. As we drive to chow on our barren house with one corner gone intact, we go by burned out places, bombed places, roofed places . . . then drive into a beautiful yard and go in a little beautifully furnished even to carnival and gold plate if I am at present on t to Civilian War Ai with all Allied and Filipinos, also all other Allied civilians. We refer them to the correct agency or branch of duty that they need to see for their needs."

The post office is our biggest problem. In October and November people at home were advised to write messages to people in the Philippines and send them in care of the American Red Cross. They did. These messages were brought here within 36 hours of destination and distributed. This mail was fresh so to speak. First news from home that many people had received in over three years. It was really heart rending. The line for mail had 3,000 men in it. They would get to the desk, ask if there was any mail for them, and then audibly hold their breath while you looked. Hand them their mail and men and women alike would stand there with tears streaming down their faces. To most heartbreaking one's was looking up and with a lump in your throat, having to say, Sorry, there is no mail for you.' Our locator files are terrific. We have lists of all recovered persons on it. Then as people wander in they tell us of the location of others. Our files are worn thin from people coming in and leafing through them to find friends and families. The reunions here in camp have given us such a glow inside, particularly if we have helped in the uniting. . . . One navy lieutenant turned white as a sheet while waiting for his family to come and for the camp to meet him . . . the suspense while waiting was too much. He knowing how he would find them. They were okay, thank goodness.

"The place we have our information desk is in the lobby of the officers' mess and is larger than Grand Central Station everthought of being. . . . You hear, in the general hubbub, the language in the world.

"We had one lady check in who had been an Army nurse up to six months before the war. She then got married. At the outbreak of the war, she escaped to the hills and has been working with the guerillas ever since. Her sixteen months old child had never seen a house under a roof until here. The mother said it must have been the first time it had ever had a bath."

The ——— Harbor took some 400 odd civilians back to the state. At 0700 (07) she aroused the guards, distributed boxes of candies, cookies and cigarettes to the Star Spangled Banner. Everyone popped to attention and it wasn't hard to find faces with tears trickling down. Against the ruins of the razed city of ——— stood the Liberty ship with Old Glory and our song being sung as the ship put way to sea on an outgoing sun."

Miss Gehan added that since she received this letter, Jean's husband had been reported "out of danger." He was on one of the Japanese prisoner of war ships which evacuated the American prisoners when the Allies recaptured the Philippines. Because the Japanese failed to identify his vessel as carrying prisoners, an American submarine fired at and sank it. Captain De Long was one of the crew members who was not rescued from the wreckage.

Seniors Plan

Continued from Page One

a ceremonial party at which eight seniors, the names of whom will be kept in secret until the party, will tell of the intangible gifts they have received from the college. The class will then present their Christmas present to Dr Campbell.

Edna Yearty and Lois Miller will serve as chairmen of the Christmas dinner committee while Anne Widerquist and Betty Bell will head the caroling committee.

College Directors Hold Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the administrators of Florida State College and the University of Florida was held in Gainesville yesterday.

Dr Doak S Campbell, president; Dr Milton W Carothers, registrar; Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel and placement bureau; Dr R L Eyman, Dean of the Education Department; Dr G L Diffenbaugh, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences; Mr Karl O Kuersteiner, Dean of the School of Music, and Dr Margaret R Sanders, Dean of the School of Home Economics represented FSC at the meeting.

At the periodical conference the representatives of both colleges discussed problems concerning the University and FSC.

Similar meetings of this kind are held twice a year in Gainesville and Tallahassee alternately.

The frigate Constitution got her nickname during her victorious battle with the British frigate Guerriere in the War of 1812. American sailors seeing shot bounding off her solid oak sides dubbed her "old Ironsides."

Library Displays

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week there was displayed in the lobby of the library a group of orchid paintings done by Mrs Olivia Embry Lay, a graduate of Florida State College in the class of 1936. Mrs Lay was formerly a scientific illustrator at the University of Michigan.

The paintings on display were loaned to Dr Ruth O Scharnhorst, professor of botany.

Freshmen Learning College Traditions, Find Them Baffling

By LAVRA LEE BUTLER

"Why it's traditional," explained a weary junior counselor for the nth time to an inquisitive freshman on the first day of school. And, of course, she meant Torch night.

But she might have referred to any one of a number of times honored, otherwise honored college events. Perhaps she also boasted with justifiable pride that, "Maybe FSC doesn't have coeducation—but perhaps a few other things—but at least we surpass other schools in having the most complete, list of symbolic, impressive college traditions."

Besides Torch night our freshman heroine discovered another well-known college tradition during her first encounter with college. As she stepped proudly through the gates of FSC, an all-knowing gentleman hailed her, and she was swiftly informed of the time-honored custom which decrees that all who walk beneath the college gates are destined to "flunk out" of school.

As she inspected the gates, a faint glimmer of recognition shone in our heroine's big, innocent eyes. "What is that quotation?" she mused. Something, something, all ye who enter here." It was the same sign she couldn't recall those first two words.

Her next encounter with these sacred things called traditions was at academic procession, "That is, unless you count Freshman week—) At any rate, she was duly impressed with the faculty members, or the academic robes, or, anyway, she was duly impressed.

I'm carrying a torch for Jim," hummed our heroine as she eagerly awaited FSC's version of a Greek fire ceremony. (She has been "going steady with that boy friend overseas" ever since she came to Tally.)

At last the lone-heralded night finally arrived, and she received the torch of knowledge, which gave her a great thirst for learning. Of course, it also gave her a few minor burns, but she didn't mind that.

Then having industriously laundered and starched her white eyelet dress after Torch night, our heroine began to take stock. Of course, however, she didn't really object to those kerosene spots down the front of her only white frock.

A few weeks after this she began to hear rumors of college Honor's day, which, she understood, is a "new tradition." But, new or old, our heroine once more donned her worn white dress and proudly escorted the honored ones into the auditorium, pondering meanwhile the rewards that accompany those nebulous things called good grades.

And then, having surveyed FSC's list of tried customs—perhaps she missed a few—our heroine pondered the rewards that accompany all these symbolic, impressive traditions

Chain of Missions

Continued from Page One

riet McCarter and Ava Janes, entertainment; Sarah Lewis, drama; Joyce Petty, publicity; Charlotte McGeachy, housing; Joyce Carlton, registration. Miss Alabaverna Leeper, Methodist student secretary, is the general co-ordinator for the conference. Dale Plumber, state elevator would be sorta nice."

"Black earrings and a set of golf clubs," said a low voice. Then it explained, "Remember me, I'm your roommate." Oh, wrong room.

Stray sophomores beware to stray by my line of vision so I followed them to the Sweet Shop. They were full of imaginative wants like, "I'm getting a grey car but I'd love a black horse," and "If my brother could just come back from overseas. I'd be perfectly happy." Sadly I turned again toward Freshmania. How could I tell the breathlessly waiting world of our innermost desires here at FSC? Freshmen, the white hopes!

Peering around a partially opened door, I leered at a cute little redhead. "What do you want for Christmas?" I said in a sugary voice. "I want to get married and I'm going to," she gurgled back.

No one could give her anything more for Christmas anyway. I figured as I trudged back to my lonely radiator.

Richard-Dyer-Bennet, troubadour, will appear in Tallahassee Monday night. He is sponsored by the local Civic Music Association and will perform at the Leon High School.

St Nicholas Discovers FSC Students Have Strange Requests This Christmas

By JACKIE NEVERS

With the mercury falling and my temperature rising, I set out with a sprig of holly in hand to discover just what is in store for St Nick this year.

Clopping along the noiseless halls of Jennie Murphree I came upon an absolutely blank door. No Odd colors, no jingle bells, not even a sign saying "15, 16, 17 days 'til Christmas" all checked off. This, I thought, is unique, and knocked briskly. "What do you want for Christmas?" I asked the pale girl within. Pushing back her straggly locks, she blinked sleepily at me over a pair of bifocals as she considered the question seriously. "To climb a tree, I would like that," she said destroying the long silence. "Out in the country where I live there are loads of trees to climb. You can't climb trees here," she added wistfully.

Ignoring a study sign, I barged blithely into another room. "What do you want for Christmas?"

"Anything the mumps!" said a person as the door slammed d

My faith anity had suffered many a kicks, but remembering my duty I forged ahead with new uncertain steps.

Aha, is this a junior counselor's door that I see before me? Timidly I entered. "What do you want ."

"A yellow convertible, a fur coat, a victoria with a radio combined, at least ten new formals, and —" she paused for breath.

"Just make mine a personal secretary to address Christmas cards and do little things like my book reports," added her roommate.

By this time my head must have been growing longer and I was unfortunately wearing a red sweater. Promising to do my best about the secretary, I retreated, company those nebulous things called good grades.

Senior hall next fell before my advancing loafers. In these industriously delving into Spanish and phychology, I addressed my query. No one would answer. Evidently seniors have everything. Only one female said, timidly, "Home is the place where there are no term papers, and life starts at noon." She did hint that "a petti-

Bob Wheeler, Pat Cleveland and Glenn Jones were present from the University of Florida.

After the meeting, the group adjourned to the Methodist student house for a luncheon.

Press Club Plans Education Forums

Further discussion on the forums to be sponsored by the Press Club took place in the club's meeting Monday afternoon in the Flambeau office. Kay Van Deurs, committee chairman, and Peggy Lu Thompson and the forum would take the form of informal discussions by students and faculty members on such topics as the analysis of actual and theoretical forms of American education.

According to Kay, the discussions being planned for coming months will include many and varied topics, and are to allow individual deviations from the stated topic by both students and faculty member participating. The central ideas are intended to be pressed in The Harvard Report on Education in a Free Society, which has received nationwide recognition in circles since its publication this year.

IRC Appoints New Chairmen to Serve

Delores Gardiner was appointed program chairman and Dorothea McCree publicity chairman of the International Relations Club at a meeting held on November 29 in the club room of the Longmire building.

It was announced that Doris Hill will preside during the next quarter to replace Jessie McCalla who will be interning.

Three new books for World Peace, gifts of the Carnegie Endowment Fund, have been placed in the library of the International Relations club on the fourth floor of the Longmire building. They are The Future of Japan by William C Johnstone, Food for the World by Theodore W Schultz, and European Manifesto by Pierre de Lanux.

The club has also received an official Department of State publication The Report to the President on Results of San Francisco Conference by the chairman of the U S delegation, the secretary of state Edward R Stettinius, Jr.

At the next meeting of the club, on January 10, there will be a discussion concerning Dorothy Thompson's visit to FSC on January 17

In the British steel industry there are stupendously large number of rolling mills, but adoption of the high-speed continuous strip mill has been slower than in the USA.

FSC Students Will Attend Conference in Illinois

At least seven Methodist students from Florida State College will cut their Christmas vacation short this year to attend the third national Methodist student conference at the University of Illinois Urbana, Illinois.

From December 28 to January 1, those students, along with the other 800 persons representing colleges and universities all over the United States, will participate in seminars and informal discussions led by some of the best-known thinkers in the Methodist church as well as international notaries

Joyce Carlton, Wilma Humphrey, Margaret Clayton, Betty Ruth Goode. "Pus" McLean, Jeanne Newman and Ann Carolyn Allinor are the tentative representatives for the FSC Methodist Student Alabaverna Leeper, student secretary, and Miss Cleveland, faculty member, also plan to attend the conference.

Dr W A Smart, professor of theology at Emory University, who visited the FSC campus last spring, will be one of the major speakers at the meeting and will deliver the final address summarizing the value and points of the assembly.

According to publicity material, those in charge of the conference this year are quite convinced that there will be quite a bit of valuable information gleaned and gotten from the speakers this year who will elaborate on the theme "Christianity Meeting the Crisis of Our Time". The last such conference was held in 1941 just after the Pear. Harbor incident, and it is felt that this one, coming only a short time after the end of the insuing conflict, will be just as beneficial to Pierre attending.

Among the speakers at Urbana this year is B Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches He will analyze the theme in the opening speech of the U S delegation. Other speakers are: Walter Muelder and Harvey Brancomeb, deans of theological schools Georgia Harkness, professor, and Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College, who will speak as a member of a minority group adjusting to the world and religion of today.

One of the authorities on community psychology, Dr Roy Burkhart, will lead all discussions on the church in community service and Bishop Ralph S Cushman will take the aspect of the church in personal living.

Activities and influences of churches in foreign countries will be the emphasis on Monday evening when Richard T Baker, assistant editor of World Outlook recently returned from China, and Don Holzer, professor in a Manila college, who has been in a Japanese prison camp for the last three years.

No speeches are scheduled in the afternoon hours because the time is allotted for the students to see privately any of the visiting speakers and ask any questions about which they particularly wish to learn.

Also during this time recreation will be provided in the form of skating, swimming, folk dancing, and music. One night an American affair will present a program in his particular field, but the name of the artist has not been received.

The potential energy in a pound of matter, if it could be completely released, would do about one billion kilowatt hours of work, equivalent to the total electric power output of the nation for a month.

For the Ideal Christmas Gift

See Our Other Add in This Edition

SEASON'S GREETINGS From the
CAMPUS STUDIO
701 W. Pensacola St. Phone 1728

Wishing for All
at Florida State College

A Very Merry Christmas
and
A Happy New Year!

The Lewis State Bank
Florida's Oldest Bank

THE PERFECT GIFT
An Album From Jenkins Music Co.
"Music Headquarters"
123 S. Monroe

Food For Christmas Thought!
Holiday Menus That Are Simply Delicious
M & N CAFE
E. Jefferson St. Phone 1054

Season's Greetings
Just Follow the Crowd and You Will Wind Up At BENSON'S JEWELERS

WHY?
Because we have been serving the people of Tallahassee and neighboring towns with the finest in good jewelry for over 20 years.
ARTISTIC ENGRAVING
MAKES ANY GIFT A MORE PERSONAL GIFT AND WE SPECIALIZE IN PRETTY ENGRAVING.
BUY IT AT BENSON'S
AND YOU BUY THE FINEST

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

All We Wish for You - - -

GOOD GRADES

To Make A

MERRY CHRISTMAS

And Start Off A

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

● PEARL HARBOR, SOUTHERN STYLE

Four years ago to the day Americans heard with horror that Japan, in what was perhaps the most treacherous surprise attack in the history of warfare, had struck with all her military strategy and might at Pearl Harbor. On that Sunday, December 7, golf clubs stood neglected in hall closets and comic sheets lay forgotten on the floor as the men and women, boys and girls of America scanned "extras" and sat by radios from which poured a constant stream of news broadcasts in the staccato, excited voices of commentators caught with their scripts down.

Throughout the day and into the night, news of damaged and sunk ships, of blasted and destroyed buildings, of wounded and dead American men kept coming in from Pearl Harbor. Even now after four years the people of the United States remember the day with motion, and they are determined that never again shall a like catastrophe occur. Whether they are for compulsory military conscription or against it, and whether they believe the United Nations Charter to be a failure or the chief hope of the world, Americans are united in the common determination that there shall never again be another "Pearl Harbor."

So the disaster, bloody as it was, served at least to alert America against future acts of warfare by belligerent nations. But that unspeakable crime will it take to shock Americans into observing and arming against the perils that are ever present here within the country itself, dangers which are always seeking opportunity to strike at America where it will hurt most—in her freedom?

When Hitler closed the universities of Germany and burned the books which he considered dangerous to his cause, Americans were shocked. Here was something frightful catastrophic; here was a treacherous blow to freedom of expression. Yet during the past few years three state universities were victims of interference, political or otherwise, with their teaching and administration, interference which the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States thought so undesirable that it summarily put two of the universities, Mississippi and Georgia, on the non-approved list and the third, Texas, on probation. And all of this seems to ruffle the complacency of the American mind little if at all.

Nor are these isolated instances of interference with freedom within the country. Like cases appear with alarming regularity.

It took but one "Pearl Harbor" to convince the American people that war with the aggressor nation, Japan, was upon them. How much longer will it be before the American right to freedom, blasted again and again by forces from within America itself, begins to telegraph the news of attack to the unperturbed American mind.

● TO SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa Claus:

We know that reconversion isn't fully underway yet, and that you're having difficulty getting materials to make all your toys. We know, too, that you're busy as can be with lots of letters asking you for big things like world peace, unity, good will toward all men, higher wages, and advice on what to do with the atomic bomb but, in addition, we would like to ask you for some other things, too. Maybe you won't be able to bring us all of them but if you could it surely would be very nice.

First of all, Santa, we'd like a new constitution for our school government. The one we have is rather frayed and worn out. It started out as an experiment, you know, to see how it would work, but now it's become an antique and we realize antiques are to be prized highly. Good, goodness. Santa, antiques can't serve any purpose, else what would happen to the progress that everyone praises and works for?

Then, Santa dear, if you could possibly see your way clear, we'd like to have our old semester system back . . . the one we changed for the new quarter system. If you don't happen to have any semester systems in stock, we'd be happy to have an improved quarter system. One that's worked out a little better, and isn't so hard to understand and live under. It's been kinda hard this year, Santa. We think we know now how a cuckoo feels when a little boy keeps setting the clock back to the chiming hour and he has to keep popping out.

And, Santa, do you think you could maybe wrap up a package containing student representation on the curriculum committee and put it in the toe of our stocking? It doesn't seem like this would be too much trouble, and it would serve a very worthwhile purpose in this day when practical gifts are the best gifts.

Now, Santa, some of us got this gift we're about to ask for a little while ago and we prize it very highly. We like it so much that we use it almost every day, but we want all our little friends to have it, too. It's just a little questioning mind. Some people have a product they call scientific thinking. They call it research please don't get it out of the wrong box, because we want one that that be used every day in every way. Oh, Santa . . . in case you're wondering, it won't be a dangerous toy for us to have. Everybody tells us that good things can stand scrutiny. That's a big word for little girls like us, isn't it?

Then, Santa, when you're passing out other nice things would you mind leaving us some new ideas? We're sure you must have quite a few stored in your little bouse 'way up there, so please, if you can sprinkle them generously in all the classrooms. We want them everywhere.

We know your job is to give things to people at Christmas time, but we want to share in the Yuletide spirit, too. We've got just lots of maternalism that has been given to us here on campus. It's not that we don't appreciate the spirit in which it was given, but we feel that we've outgrown it just a wee bit, so maybe it would be just right for our little high school friends. It's been used a lot, but if you think you know of some one who would like it, just let us know.

This is getting to be a pretty long list of things to ask for, but there's one more thing we really want. You've had requests for it, too, but I guess you couldn't find room to pack it in your sleigh when you came down this way. You would make an awful lot of people happy, though, if you could bring it soon. It's co-education, Santa. You already know all the reasons why we want and need it, and you wouldn't have to carry it very far—just down to Florida. Please.

We've all been very good little girls this year, Santa dear. We've been considerate, we've been sweet, kind, and gentle, and we haven't caused anybody any trouble by being thoughtless, rude and radical. So please, Santa, don't bring us a bundle of switches.

Lotsa love,

The Girls at FSC.

P. S. Santa, if you are hungry when you get here, Miss Tracy will leave you a snack. It may not be what you're used to, but of course you understand the "food problem" these days.

(Signed)
MAMIE HEDGEPATH.

● ARE RESOLUTIONS FULFILLED?

At this time last year our country was at war, fighting to remain a democratic government. All the letters to Santa Claus were full of requests to bring our boys home from the battlefields. At the first of New Year's resolutions included promises that we would be better citizens if the war would end, leaving us free American democrats.

Now that the war is over, our letters to Santa Claus should be full of requests to send our discharged boys to school. Our New Year's resolutions should include promises to fulfill our last year's resolutions by being better citizens.

But, with no war to worry over, the average American becomes less conscientious in his duties as a citizen. Just so, with no immediate danger, the average person becomes less conscientious in his duties as a Christian. When frightened, one is apt to think more of God and make rash promises that are forgotten when the fear passes.

We, as members of the potential America, can play a big part in preserving the peace that has come to our country. To do this, we need educated leaders. Our boys must go back to school and it is left to us to uphold the ideals of democracy so that these boys will know they did not fight in vain.

What we need first of all is to learn that democracy is not just a form of government but is a way of life. John Dewey has said that "What a democracy is most in need of being intelligent about is its own meaning."

"A democratic citizen," said James Mursell of Columbia University, "is the kind of person who recognizes his responsibility for the affairs of society, and is fitted by disposition, knowledge, skill, and insight to discharge it judiciously and actively; whose concern for the well-being of his fellows, and whose respect for them as persons, is not limited to conventional actions; who is willing to act on sides, but who maintains his own opinions; who knows how to work and how to play, and who applies the principles of democracy in his family life and his personal relationships."

Since we are democratic citizens, it is our duty to act accordingly and to be ready to recognize the tiny but delicate, yet feel that they are short-changed. Alpha Lambda Delta is one cause for complaint. Alpha Lambda Delta is an honorary scholastic organization that recognizes the ability for a scholarship program.

It was unfortunate that a change was made at the last moment, but since the only ones inconvenienced were the little girls who had spent so much time and money preparing themselves for initiate, we feel that they and their

Many students have already begun to make queries as to whether and when the contest will be held this year. These many students hope that definite information will soon be available.

In the meantime, the Christmas holidays might be a good time for students to begin to think about prospective profects. Last year, the divisions of the contests were in the fields of writing, dancing, music, and the fine arts and crafts.

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Dear Editor.

One of the most remarkable instances of a return to the dark ages is apparently exemplified by a student at FSCW. Today, in a nation supposedly democratic and free, a student, indubitably is being forced to attend a college she abhors and dislikes because of parental monarchy or some equally medieval social practice.

I am speaking, of course, of the Flambeau reporter known simply as "Sharpie" who contributes to the Flambeau for its generosity in letting this character air her grievances on FSCW in such a column, but I wonder when she will begin writing those disparaging remarks toward her fellow reporters—since she has already included "Big Women on Campus," and campus government association, officers and even the high school spirit in her spite campaign.

Occasionally I am prone to question the "Sharpie" who has organize a club of her own since she objects so strenuously to the clubs we have already now on the campus She seems to persist in hammering on the same campaign toward one group in particular. Perhaps the main contribution to campus life, according to her columns, is that it acts as a reminder to her of the fact that she is not intellectually inclined myself, or I would have said club. I can look at its functions objectively, but in an unprejudiced light, and I see nothing that might indicate in the cause of it continually having to bear the brunt of ridicule in the Flambeau columns of "Sharpie" is envious of the intellectual ability to climb down from her ivory tower and try out for a couple of teams. Or perhaps she is fearful of the consequences of the period of cooling thereafter for social ers, cockroaches and rats, she declined to crawl under them and retrieve it. Her three friends, always there in an hour of need, sympathized with her and promised to get her another cap for her tootsiepop.

True to their word, they all marched down to the washroom that night, lanterns and toothpaste in tow. Greeting their comrades, they set to work—hammer enough, for who could have guessed their plan?

Suddenly, as the girl at the next wash basin turned her back, the four of them descended on one and snatched the cap off of the toothpaste. Thus the evil deed was done.

But crime does not pay as they soon found out, and here they were to pay their debt to society.

The secretary of "Louse" Council called them in. "We understand you are ready for you," she said in the sternest tone she could muster, and snapped them rudely back to reality.

One by one they rose and filed silently into a room filled with seven people and took a semicircle at the far end. "Be seated," said the "Mighty One" who seemed at the center over "Louse" Council. Awkwardly they took their places and the trial began. "Cries fight, feet toeether, head up, 'tention!", shouted them any minute.

The "Mighty One" then proceeded to read the charges and the productions being one of the social priorities observed by "Louse" Council. They then asked if witnesses should be granted the privilege of meeting "Louse" Council members.

Despit their plight, the four made their presence known by throwing their heads back in a debonair manner and by smiling flantly at the members. This was where they made their big mistake. "Louse" Council members not tolerate the wrong attitude, and so they were condemned women" before they started.

"Tell us the whole story," said the "Mighty One," with entirely too much emphasis on the "the."

The bravest of the four, took a deep breath, swallowed hard, and took the plunge. She told what hurried monotone, and with her eyes cast downward, she related the story. Finishing, she looked up and almost on the verge of tears said in a trembly voice, "that's all." One minute of silence, broken only by the inhaling and exhaling of air, followed.

Clearing her throat, the "Mighty One" gestured dramatically and asked, "Are there any questions?" Another minute of silence. Then "Will the rest of the members, "did you read page 30, section 3, article 1, line 6, entitled 'Meeting' in the constitution of your "Soul" book? "I did," in a very low, tremulous voice. "And," continued the chairman, in a voice that was terrible to hear, "did you know that what you were doing was wrong?" "Roger!" cried the four. "Then you admit it," cried the incredulous member. "Good Heavens! what makes you so smart?" said the girl admiringly. "Ah-haa!", cried the triumphant member. "Ah-haaa," echoed all of "Louse" council. "Silence!", shouted the "Mighty One," and then there was silence.

"The four of you please leave

Continued on page seven

In This Our Time

By GLORIA REED

Chinese Nationalist forces advancing to Manchuria were reported within 30 miles of the important city of Mukden and their commander is quoted as having said, "We expect to be in Harbin in a month or so."

According to present plans the Russian forces have agreed to remain in Manchuria until January 3, so that the Nationalists can consolidate in it at valuable territory General Chiang Tu, who fought with the Americans against the Japanese in Burma and who is now in command of the Nationalist forces, say that his present operations would eventually boil down to a matter of guarding against guerrilla hit and run raids and protection of communication lines.

Meanwhile, Vice Admiral D E Barbey 7th Flee, Commander, announced that United States Naval personnel on December 10 would begin training Chinese crews to operate amphibious vessels. The school will be for the purpose of providing Chinese crews for ships transferred to the United States and permit their demobilization.

Chiang Chung-kuo, elder son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, left for the American capital today and accompanying him was Chang Kan-gau, chairman of the board of directors of the Chinese Central Bank, which under the Soong family controls China's wealth. He will be joining owned and operated.

In Chungking it was reported that the peace talks between Communists and the Nationalists would be resumed on December 10. It was also rumored in Washington that when the new United States ambassador to China, Dr. George C Marshall, arrives in China he will be given a full report on fratricidal troubles by the Nationalists in Chungking. Meantime he will confer with Mao Tse-tung, Communist leader and his commander in chief, General Chu Teh.

In Japan General MacArthur ordered the arrest of 59 prominent Japanese reactionaries for the first time into the Imperial household and the ranks of Japan's industrial-financial hierarcy, the Zaibatsu. MacArthur's abolition of the National Financial Control Association and completion of a detaild inventory of Japanese assets is design to form the basis of what ever reparations Japan may be required to pay, were other steps in the direction of demilitarizing Japan.

Flooding still rages in Java as Indonesian extremists insist on complete independence from both Dutch and British control. In a speech to her native subjects Queen Wilhelmina said that she was deeply concerned about the loss of life among the men, women and children of Java. For the second time, she promised the Indonesians partnership in a Netherlands Commonwealth. British troops accusing the Indonesians of atrocities have threatened the use of Japanese troops as a "defensive" measure. Meanwhile, moderate socialistic Prime Minister Sjahrir had to face a plenary session of his governmental mission in Batavia. The Indonesian nationalist Committee" over his contention that it was still not within the power of the Dutch for self-government under the Indonesian Republic with guaranteed independence to follow later. Even if Sjahrir could win over his committee, some observers believe that the Dutch would not be likely to agree to such a plan.

The resignation of Premier Mahmud Riaz in favor of a pro-Russian leader was rumored as the government broke after the Rus-

Continued on page five

From Me To Y'all

By SHARPIE

Letters, letters, and everybody is either writing one to this helpful department or wearing one. The many of the letters are sad, and who Sharpie is that we've decided to let the story of her fascinating life.

Sharpie was born on the island of Bimo Bango (that's Spanish for when she was a little baby, the natives used to wear how many rings to wear in their noses and she would tell them. She was always a clever child and when only three years old had already chosen the colors she wanted to school. Yes, it was that long ago. She still remembers when she lisped "Scarlet and Garnet" and her daddy handed her a box of Hershey bars and Whoppers. And so she came to FSC and soon forgot her native customs because she learned so many new quaint ones here. If this had happened to anyone but herself, Sharpie might have got mad and set to devote her life to helping others, as y'all know she did.

If there breathes a man with soul so dead who thinks that people don't take over-sized people and spending many hours in sure intelligent conversation, we could be floundering in the Odd fountain. And what Japanese would ever dream of using cosmetic our reforms but there are such folks. Letters come pouring every day from people who are grateful for what we've done for them. Among many this week is one from a girl named Bessie who could never keep secrets and We told her to start looking where she is now, Look! Get it? Ha. ha, ha, ha, ha.

The Florida Flambeau

1943-1944 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor
MARY CARL PERRY, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editor
..... Associate Editor
SHIRLEY HODGES ..... News Editor
ALY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LE THOMSON

Jeep Editor ..... Lela Rue
Feature Editor ..... Mary Nell McFadden, Jeanne Tatum
..... Mary Dru Cleveland
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Betty Lou Bolton
Assistant Secretary ..... Lela Rue
Assistant Society Editor ..... Mary Nell McFadden
Society Editor ..... Margie Pinter
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Evelyn Sims
Jukebox News Editor ..... Evelyn Sims
Exchange Editor ..... Catherine Bullivan
Opinion Editors ..... Catherine Bullivan
Copy Editor ..... Jerry Crume, Barbara Workman
Art Editor ..... Lucy Fenno

REPORTERS: Eugenia Akers, Alyce Armstrong, Alvera Ashe, Eleanor Boyer, Barbara Brennan, Joan Bew, Paulette Blank, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Bond, Dorothy Clark, Jean Cannon, Martha Cannon, Betty Lou Cleveland, Mary Cleveland, Mary Ann Cleveland, Lotte Barbara Lanford, Betty Littercap, Jo Mangini, Jacqueline Mangini, Mary Ann Mangini, Fern Owen, Mary Sue Barnes, Marian Mercer, Mary Tart, Tony Thomas, Frances Frazier, Kay Van Deurs.

Photographers ..... Mary Ann Cleveland
Secretary ..... Mary Ann Cleveland

BUSINESS STAFF

Manager ..... Business Manager
Assistant ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter January 30, 1915, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and consideration to anyone wishing to present a controversial opinion whenever opinions or controversial questions are voiced in the columns.

● WHERE ARE THE CREATIVE ARTS?

One of the finest additions in many years to the Institutions of this campus originated here last year. Upperclassmen will remember the Creative Arts Contests sponsored by the Association of American University Women which culminated in an extended spring arts program of great interest and value.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Ann Sterling
Juanita Krentzman
Mary Louise Van Natta
Connie Savage
Babs McCarthy
Irma Lee Shepherd
Audrey Carr Evans
Mary Maud Trowbridge
Adeline Yves
Anne Fielding
Catherine Sullivan
Josephine Story
Betty Sue Gray
Margaret Stringfellow

PEA Takes Weekend At Camp Flastacowo

Games, Canoe Races, Dancing, Talks Are Fun Features

Games, square dancing, talks around a campfire circle, and canoe races highlighted the Physical Education Association's program at Camp Flastacowo last week-end, according to Rose Marie Horne, publicity chairman.

The canoe races, which were held Sunday morning, were won by the freshman team. Members of the team were Virginia Lanier, sailing, travel, and pass in show and Rose Marie Horne, who then separated into groups according to their class and competed with skits around the title of a book.

Other girls taking part in the canoe races were freshmen, Ella Mae and Lucille Osseenkopp; junior, Alice Taft and Virginia Lanier; and seniors, Evelyn Hackney and Skoots Lester.

Faculty members in the physical education department were on hand for the week-end were Miss Harriette Cooper, Dr. Kathryn Morrisette Montgomery and Miss Matilda Gilliland.

Tally Tales....

By PEAK

The Chamber of Commerce is having a terrible time trying to convince Northerners that Florida is the place to go during the cold, long, dreary winter months, if their own knees and teeth are chattering at break-neck speed. On campus there have been glorious reports about the weather being soooooo cold, and so it doesn't snow. Little do the people know that it is entirely too wet in Tallahassee for this snow storm. Before someone writes to this "excuse for her" column for a correction slip, it be known that we did hear an inch snow actually fell the other night — but because we are Southerners and have to have facts before our noses, we do not consider registration of our heavy dew. 15 cm in the air (snow," according to Webster's definition of the word.

These are the days when one can be leary of the fond roommate's lure to town to do a bit of show shopping. If she invites you down town to cast your bile eyes on the cutest pair of mittens you ever did see, friendly advice is to relay to her the sad words of your sore feet or that old headache just won't permit it to go to town this afternoon. Then make a mad dash for your parade bed, hold tight to your teddy bear and dare her to pull you out of bed!

It is sad that not every one is lucky enough to see noble seniors from whose abode is Senior Hall in action before the much dreaded exams begin—'tis a sight, believe me, to raze upon a haggard bit of humanity in every possible nook and cranny parlor during the wee hours of this morning — racing frantically against time and the deadline of term papers which were assigned months before. After the first couple of hours hair begins to look like it was pushed in out of a tornado, shoes are kicked off, pencils drip from behind ears and between anemically pale lips. Conversation turns from the how to the insane sporadic hilarious laughter is heard; typewriters get more rest in between thoughts, especially when the tiredbodies feel necessitated to puff a cigarette.

These characters exist for hours and until the concluding paragraph is typed, and retyped, on 20th page of bond paper; then after picking up all those scored sheets of paper off the floor, replacing coffee tables and chairs of every description, and locating the unlucky3 ones a "good nothing" they drag their tired bodies back up to the second and third floors of Landis where they hope to get to sleep when (so it seems to them) the screaming Yankbrates madly on the bed-side table. But, you sstatis ask, is worth it? Why, but natch—you have one more thought in mind, that of graduating, anything is confusion for that ultimate goal. Presh, but had be building up your red and white corpuscles so you can take this ruff life when it comes. Try heaps of fun though.

By the way, my stomach which is craving for something sweet reminds me et warn you to go ty and get your ration book from Mr. Shaw in the basement of the —that is, of course, if you want Mom to make a cake or some cookies for you during the Christmas holidays. And possibly you best had get it for your family's sake, if you are having the same trouble as have my sweet-toothed parents.

Someone got poetry in her soul a week or so before Christmas a few years ago and submitted the following bit of poetry:

Lift up your chin
And take your cheer
One week from now
We won't be here.
We'll dance and smile.
And we'll drink beer
We'll smile when someone
Calls us dear.
And when it's over
We'll shed a tear
'Cause Christmas comes
But once a year.

It seems that Miss Papazoni has a new brainstorm . . . the weather spurred her on to bigger and better physical education activities for our campus. The suggestion is out for discussion to install Odd-Even skiing games to be started over on the 500 road and ending up (in an inverted position most likely) on the hockey field. Then, too, dynamite plans are suggested to flood the tennis courts and turn them into neat ice skating rinks. To top all of these plans we catch wind that the Artist Series committee is trying to get Sonja Henie to attend our newest installed sports season.

Before this column gets beyond repair and apologies, we'll chalk up a big—20—which is ours and the Gator Talk's way of saying Revoir . . . But before this terminates let it be known that this column was "writ" at 2:45 in the morning and it doesn't pretend to live up to the slogan of the Chicago Sun, "We Print the Truth" (or something similar).

GALS JUST ADORE
RUBBER BOOTS
AND WE HAVE THEM !
Limited Supply—So Hurry !
SAM ROBBINS DEPT. STORE
115 E. Jefferson Ph. 1067

Pre-Medical Test

A medical aptitude test for pre-medical students will be given next Friday at 3 p m in 115 Westcott under sponsorship of the personnel office.

All students planning to enter medical school in 1946 should take the examination at this time. A fee of $2 will be charged for this test.

Alpha Chi Wins in Badminton Finals

Alpha Chi Omega won the final victory in intramural badminton games Saturday afternoon by defeating the Phi Mu girls 15 to 10 and 15 to 8. This match followed hard-fought contests Friday afternoon when the Phi Mu players triumphed over Reynolds hall and the Alpha Chi's challenged and defeated the Tri-Delts.

The team of Alpha Chi players, Jean and Joyce Carter, consistently assisted Ann Seaver and Jane Lee Stanley of Phi Mu sorority. Sports leaders for badminton were Mary Bell Goldman and Georgene Pilos.

Intramural bridge will open the sports season for the second quarter, according to Theresa Munroe, intramurals manager.

Seven to Intern In Physical Education

Seven students majoring in physical education will intern throughout the state during the next quarter.

According to Dr Robert C Moon, associate professor of education, they are Dorothy Turner, who is to intern in Pahokee; Eloise Boyles, at Robert E Lee High School in Jacksonville; Lura Elizabeth Evans, Gainesville; Cynthia Avery, Pinellas county; Anne Widerquist, Fort Myers; Betsy Jo Guthrie, Ft Pierce; and Mary Frances Hall, Mainland High School in Daytona Beach.

In This Our Time

Continued From Page Four

plans had begun a surprise evacuation of Teheran. These reports said Hakimi would resign within a week and probably would be replaced by Ali-Soheli. Ghavam Saltaneh, former Iranian premier.

In London the Iranian ambassador said he had not heard of the resignation report, but he did not appear surprised. Of Saltaneh he said, "The Russians always have a finger in office."

On Sunday the Iranian governor of Maragheh in revolt-torn Azerbaijan Province was assassinated by rebels and the United States Embassy disclosed that 3,000 American troops had arrived from the United States to bring the American garrison in Iran to required strength. The rebels opposed the plan of the Democratic Party formerly the Communist-controlled Tudeh Party, which favors the independence of Azerbaijan so that Russia might take advantage of the oil concession there. The Iranian Government charges that the rebellion is aided by the Russians, were gathering arms and forming groups to stage a rebellion in the Kurdistan area near Azerbaijan. However, American State Department sources say that evacuation of all American troops which were sent to Iran in 1942 to speed the flow of lend-lease supplies through Iran to Russia was scheduled for January 1, regardless of Iran's internal situation. Recently Iranian Ambassador to the United States Ala, pleaded with Secretary of State Byrnes for immediate American action to protect Iran's sovereignty.

Another report has asked the Congress this week for legislation to curb the power of labor unions with fact-finding boards and compulsory cooling off periods which opponents would be barred for 30 days. Without waiting for the Capitol Hill reaction, however, Mr. Truman announced creation of fact-finding boards for the 5,000 state Geners Motors strike for a vast approaching threat and also appealed to 200,000 striking CIO auto workers to return to work at General Motors and asked some 700,000 restive CIO steel workers to stay on the job while three-party labor commissions explore each of the wage disputes and make recommendations for settlement.

At Detroit leaders of the auto strikers announced that they would call a conference of G M and Chrysler officials to decide what is to be done about the President's request.

The UAW strike has been called by red-haired Walter Reuther, vice-president of the nation's largest union. This reconversion strike is what Fine calls a new kind of strike in that it based its arguments on the sweeping effect the pattern set up in the vast motor industry would have on the economy of the country; Reuther said that better pay in the auto industry would step up wages everywhere, since the nation's largest production and abundance. "The initial Reuther strategy was to pick off each of the three big motor-makers, one at a time, and play them off against each other. As of this week, that strategy appears to have failed. A few weeks ago the UAW had high hopes that it could sign young Henry Ford to a contract with a substantial wage increase (about 25%) and use it as a club to beat G M and Chrysler. But that hope faded with Henry Ford's blast at UAW."

From the country's standpoint the strike may have disastrous results in that a long shutdown at G M might shut down the entire auto industry, because G M supplies parts to everybody. Reuther laughed at this idea and meanwhile he has asked UAW workers at Ford and Chrysler to produce as many cars as possible, "despite all company abuse."

For the first time since Pearl Harbor, the United States Government has taken no decisive part in a major strike. Just how long the big tie-up between management and labor can stay away from government intervention is not known. However, it is thought by some observers that if Reuther can win out in victory in the GM strike he is certain to press on President Thomas, who wanted the strike postponed, for the presidency at UAW's convention next March.

The first public postage stamp in the United States was put on sale in New York in 1845. It was not a U S stamp, but one printed by a local experiment by the city postmaster.

Avoid Yule Mental Anguish Through Systematic Planning

With Christmas approaching apace, much mental anguish can be eliminated by systematic preparation.

Most important basis of a sound Christmas system is a fairly early start, according to an article in the December issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, which states in part:

"Make your gift list and complete your shopping as early as possible. Bozes of fruit that have to be shipped across the country need earliest attention. So do monogrammed gifts.

"Buy Christmas cards. Personalized cards usually; require weeks. Even if you choose ready-made cards, you'll get a better choice if you buy early. Bring your address list up to date so there'll be no delays of cards and gifts. Mail everything early and save hours of standing in line.

"Early preparation is also advisable for intervention of Christmas in your home, according to the article, which suggests that you decide early whether you'll have turkey, goose or duck for Christmas dinner.

"Get out tablecloth or mats and napkins for laundering or pressing. Sort out the silver you expect to use and, if you need to borrow, arrange for that now. Clean and polish the silver, including bonbon dishes, candlesticks, etc. Wrap all in silver-wrapping cloth or antitarnish paper. Lacking these you can get by until Christmas with ordinary waxed paper; but keep paper from tearing and wrap tightly.

"Plan your tabl; decorations—centerpiece, favors and place cards if you want to use them. Don't forget candles, not only for table use but for decorating mantel or buffet.

"After you've attended to these and myriad other details, plan your Christmas tree, order holiday plants and flowers for delivery in time for Christmas eve and then re-check your estire list to make certain nothing has been omitted.

College Comments . . .

By ALICIA ARMSTRONG

To the clatter of silver and the tinkle of glasses, slightly hoarse voices join in singing the familiar Christmas songs at every meal in every dining hall after the usual medley of Yuletide tunes last Wednesday night, when the desserts were being brought into Gilchrist dining hall, an unexpected "Merry Christmas from the Hornets" was the jovial appreciation voiced for the delicious turkey, goose or duck for Christmas dinner.

Influenza th plague of FSC stalks the long corridors and clutching his victims with fiery fingers leads them reluctantly to the doors of the infirmary. Last week, we heard the sufferers' ranks were numbered around 100 within the Tallahassee city limits.

An editorial writer at Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Virginia, loudly laments the fact that picture "appearing in every week-by magazine and paper" show Gi Joe with his arm around some siren across the seas. To help solve the situation, she advises letting wives of occupation troops join their husbands overseas, but warns "It won't be a second honeymoon." No, indeed!

We wonder how many of FSC's foreign language teachers could peef'orm the feat accomplished by Dr Aloys A Klammer, director of the department of foreign languages at the Creighton University School of Journalism in Omaha, Nebraska. He says that to speak in four languages he must think in these languages also. He uses English for everyday thoughts; thinks in French, German, and Spanish while teaching these languages, and thinks about his home and family in Polish, his mother tongue. We hope that this departmental minded professor will be able to continue to keep his thoughts and speech divisions safely intact.

Again from the columns of the Creightonian we have a story about a man (behind the times) who walked up to the first counter in a bookstore.

"Do you have a book entitled 'Man, the Master of Women?' he asked the girl at the counter.

"The first department is right down the aisle," was her reply.

Students at dear old FSC are telling tales of animals from "A" to "Z." Yes, indeed, this is the brain-racking task the girls who really "let themselves in for it" when enrolling in the lettering class. For who, on God's green earth, can think of an animal who would rightly come a cropHer when you called a name beginning with "X" or "Y"? Yet the creature must be found (dead or alive) for each girl in the class is required to take a different letter in the alphabet, find an animal whose name begins with that letter, sketch him, and write his life history. Child-book illustrations and stories will be the result. In the meantime, we sincerely hope the unlucky girls assigned the "Q" and Mr "X" can find their missing mammals.

A rhyme of the sad situation of soldiers overseas appeared in the Kernel of the University of Kentucky. It goes like this:

I'll be overseas—always Wearing these OD's always
When the things I've planned
Need a helping hand
I'll be in Japan—always, always.
When they count my score—always
I'll still need two more, always
Not for the duration
Then, these conditions
But for occupation—always.

From the Golden State of California comes the news via the Los Angeles Collegian that a newly developed fabric which is impervious to damage by moths, dirt, water and is non-combustible, will be manufactured into dresses for the female population of America soon. What with giant sized infantile Hoods and frequent forest fires, we are hoping it proves successful for Florida femmes.

The weather was cold, so cold, and cloudy, low hanging clouds

Gala
Assortment of Artists' Supplies
CHRISTMAS HEADQUARTERS
for
Devoe Oil Color Sets, Pastel Crayons, Water Colors, Paints, Enamels and Brushes
★ YOU ARE ALWAYS WELCOME ★
Courteous Salespeople
P. S. SEE OOUR GLASS DEPT. FOR MIRRORS, DESK TOPS AND PICTURE FRAMES
Ward's Glass & Paint Co.
204 S. ADAMS ST. OLIN HUTTO, Mgr.

3 Girls Make College Board

Students Try for Places On Mademoiselle

Three students, Kitty Chaires, Betsy Talbert, and Peggy Lee Thomson have recently been selected to represent campus ideas and activities on the College Board of Mademoiselle. These girls will compete for positions as guest editors for the August college issue of the magazine, according to Dr Elizabeth G Andrews, director of personnel, who announced the contest on campus.

Although only upperclassmen are usually recommended by college officials for this board, Kitty Chaires freshman, was also selected to compete this year, Dr Andrews stated that this exception was made because Kitty has had orevious experience in newspaper writing and advertising work.

Those College Board members are required to complete promptly and accurately four assignments, which will consist of articles and snapshots for publication. Last year's spring Mademoiselle will choose the 14 guest editors on the basis of this work submitted by the students.

The girls selected for the College Board were required to maintain good scholastic standing and participate in extracurricular activities. They were also recommended by college officials and representative of their school.

Those recommended were then required to submit a trial assignment consisting of a report on anything new, worthy or interesting on campus, and also personal data on their extra-curricular activities. Those students throughout the country who submit the best reports are accepted as College Board members.

The kind of weather which brings snow might even fall on the campus of FSC Over-active imaginations brought shouts of "I'll be dreaming, SNOWING!" from a few girls scattered over the campus in lookout posts challenging the local weather bureau. Even the comment is "Cold weather affects some people that way."

Giovanni Pierluigi de Palestrina, the composer, took his name from the town of Palestrina, where he was organist in the church of San Agapito.

Annual Pictures

"All students who have not made appointments to have their 1945-46 Flastacowo pictures made, and those who want re-appointments, will have an opportunity to do so from January 3 to 8" announces Margaret Baugh, editor of the annual.

A desk will be provided in lower Westcott and a student there will take names and give appointments any hour during these days.

Twenty-four Finish Life Saving Course

Twenty-four girls completed a course given by the Life Saving Corps last month and were given examinations last Wednesday, Saturday and Monday.

Gladys Lester, president of the Life Saving Corps, said that a party for those who passed their examinations will be given in the Sweet Shop as soon as the results are known. The girls who passed the examinations successfully will become members of the corps.

Next quarter, Anne Horne will act as president of the Life Saving Corps, replacing Gladys Lester who plans to intern.

Copley Myron Studios
No Appointment Necessary
120 E. COLLEGE AVE.

WANTED
College Girls for Dining Room Work
At
THE DUTCH KITCHEN
PLEASE APPLY IN PERSON

Tarpon Has Banquet To Honor Clements

Tarpon Club held a banquet at the Three Torches on Friday at 6 p m in honor of Miss Margie LaRue Clements, instructor in physical education. Miss Clements has been the sponsor of the Tarpon Club for the past four years.

Dr Katherine Montgomery, director of physical education, spoke about the history of Tarpon Club.

Marjery Holm, vice-president of the Tarpon Club, was toastmistress in the absence of Betty Jane Singleton, president of the Tarpon Club.

Miss Clements was presented with a gift by the club, and the club sang Tarpon Club songs.

The tables were decorated in blue and white with place-cards in the shape of Tarpons.

For the Ideal Christmas Gift
See Our Other Add in This Edition

ATTENTION GIRLS...ORDER YOUR GIFTS FROM OUR CATALOGUE ORDER DESK BEFORE DEC. 15 — HAVE YOUR PACKAGES SENT TO YOUR HOME ADDRESS!
Here's BIG NEWS from Santa!
Gifts for a Merry Christmas
1945 SEARS ROEBUCK AND CO.
Sears New Christmas Catalog
Much Larger
★ More and Larger Pages—More Gifts for All
This year, our CHRISTMAS CATALOG offers many more gift suggestions than any previous issue. With its larger pages, some also on our general catalog, and many pages, many new and improved items have been added. Numerous popular wanted articles are back again.
If we need quality gifts for loved ones . . . savings, too. You get both when you purchase gifts for all, from our new, larger, 1946 CHRISTMAS CATALOG.
See it soon at our Catalog Sales Dept.
Easy Terms
NO PURCHASES TOTALING 10$ OR MORE
YOUR ONE-STOP SHOPPING CENTER SEARS CATALOG SALES DEPT.
PHONE 2400 TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

Dem School Practice Teaching Gives FSC Students Experience

During the past few weeks many of the students at Florida State College have experienced the personal dread of the first performance in practice teaching at the Demonstration School.

Don't let them bite!" earnestly prayed one college junior as she stood on the threshold of the schoolroom filled with her first eager pupils-to-be. Her knees turned to synthetic rubber, her heart was beating wildly, and the fog in her brain resembled the aftermath of an atomic explosion. It took Herculean strength to summon the courage for entrance. Though that first teaching period was preceded by ten days of observation, there was still an adjustment to be made. "During the preliminary period a student teacher is given opportunity to observe and constructively criticize," said Miss Florine Mariah, instructor in public school music at the Demonstration School, who supervises student teacher practice teaching in her department. The "good" and "bad" elements usually are apparent at this time.

Before actually taking the stand before the class for the first time, the teacher-to-be is introduced to the children as one who is to receive the respect accorded a teacher with full responsibility. This supposedly makes for better discipline and eliminates somewhat the tendency on the part of pupils to take advantage of youth and inexperience. "Still," said Miss Mariah, "the little children doubtless are aware of the uncertainty and vulnerability of that transparent mask of power the teacher's face." With the overcoming of that first lack of poise and a gain in self-confidence on the part of the newcomer, the problem of discipline is greatly simplified.

A little hand was raised, and the youthful teacher thought, "Ah, now I can exhibit my great fund of knowledge." Theories and distinct methods are born. Instead of the expected interrogation on how to spell "cat," there arises a discipline little query. "Please, may I be excused?" The student teacher self that such a great fear of being too big did she let him go, and then prepossessed to consider my horrible visions of what would happen if the children got out of hand. She saw can be a decisive influence in them sitting down on the floor, perhaps some of them molding stature.

dachshunds out of mud and wiping their hands on their hair, some carving figures of a goat out of paste-board, some singing, some reciting, a few dancing, and one lad pulling another lad's hair. On page 56 of the book on progressive education it had said that the child whose hair was being pulled would be learning patience, and the child pulling the hair would be learning the futility of human endeavor. The practical application of principles might have to be made.

Although the task of making discipline play a small part in classroom life, it does play a large part in the lives of pedagogues, and there are still more important techniques they must acquire. They are required to make out lesson plans, write examinations in some subjects, grade papers and use judgment in the weighing of grades. Eventually they must take complete charge of a class-room for a certain number of weeks before they are considered experienced enough to hold a first year teaching job.

"One of the most difficult of the hurdles the teacher-to-be must make," said Miss Mariah, "is adjustment to the vast difference between those teaching methods in college and those to which a child will respond." The young, fer emeration would not be receptive to a lecture on, for instance, how to skip and run. They must be shown. There is a recurring linguaus barrier, as illustrated when a class of youthful musicians refused to learn a certain lovely little number because they simply could not comprehend the words "Thy mother shakes the Dreamland tree." Their reaction was probably comparable to that of a college freshman humanities student on first hearing "Oh, cod-fish, shalt the wrath of Peleus son. . . ."

Many things must be considered by the person taken on the job of training children. Two problems of the child, taking precedence over any conception of naturalness and uniformity. The treatment which the pupil encounters in school, especially the lower grades, is not a democratic one. Molding his future psychological

Students Invited

The entire college is invited to attend an open class hour devoted to the Christmas theme by the story telling class, December 13, from 4 to 5 p. m. in room 404 History building, announced Miss Margaret Wyly, instructor in speech.

McCollum to Issue Changes in Rooms

Notices of room changes should be out before Christmas holidays begin, was learned from Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence. All notices will be sent from the residence halls office by December 10 or shortly thereafter.

The first moving days has been set for Saturday, December 15 Other dates have been listed as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 5; Sunday, January 6 Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; and Sunday, January 13.

Girls living in their present rooms are first priority on the room. Seniors will be given next preference, and after all change of preference have been listed as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 5; Sunday, January 6 Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; and Sunday, January 13.

Girls living in their present rooms are first priority on the room. Seniors will be given next preference, and after all change of preference have been listed as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 5; Sunday, January 6 Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; and Sunday, January 13.

very pleasant and interesting task. Few difficulties according to the Adams are encountered except on occasions when the students come for their pictures in sweaters which were worn for the pictures last year or when they break their appointments or just don't make any or forget their tickets and have to go back home for them or when they come in with their proofs completely bik-k and have to have their pictures taken over again. The upperclassmen are just so bad if not worse, as the freshmen in forgetting these little but tiresome things, the Adamses say.

The students seem to prefer pictures of themselves when they are smiling, yet they are afraid to pose with a smile, says Mr Adams If the student holds herself back the smile is stilled, and the picture is not natural. The photographer tries to catch a natural smile and therefore "get" the natural person.

The photographer says that it is remarkable how poised the students are Usually the photographer's biggest problem is trying to put the subject at her ease but there is no such problem in photographing the students of FSC. "They are surprisingly mature for their age."

The seniors get a new thrill, not shared by an of the other classes when their pictures are taken in their caps and gowns. For just a few minutes they can pretend they have come to the left side of their cap to show in their photograph that they are seniors.

The Adams family agree that the FSC girls are all fine to work with, and that it is a pleasure to work with them.

Caution

Liberal institutions straightway cease from being liberal the moment they are soundly established: Once this is attained no more grievous and more thorough enemies of freedom exist than liberal institutions.

Friedrich Nietzsche.

The Students Speak...

There has been enough of serious things asked in this column for this quarter. This week the question was one that was easy for study-wears students. As many of you no doubt noticed there has been an addition to the Flambeau in the way of "Gator Talk," a column from Gainesville written by Johnny Walker who is editor of the Alligator (U of Fla paper) and Tom Henderson who has just returned to the university from the service. We wanted to know the student reaction to this.

There were the usual various and sundry answers to our query but the general concensus of opinion was that it is very clever and should by all means be continued.

Polly Connell, senior

"The column is cute but the jokes are pretty corny. There are some good cracks."

Ben Ann Graham, junior –

"I thought the column was very amusing and chatty and I liked it very much."

Connie Baker, sophomore

"I like the idea of a column from Gainesville. It gives us the boys' point of view which we need in a stra' school."

Virginia Grogan, sophomore

"Gator Talk" was right clever. There was good wit in it. They can get away with it since they are from Gainesville."

Expo Demetrelis, sophomore

"They ought to keep it up. More boys should contribute. I had never heard of it before but I like it."

Ruth Cuevas, senior

"It's not literary but it is cute. I enjoyed it very much."

Robin Whitfield, sophomore

"I liked 'Gator Talk' a lot. I certainly do hope they get it up here any week."

Marie Dozier, sophomore

"I think it's grand. Glad they are getting it up here again. I like the idea of an exchange column."

Ed Blair, "Blair's a column written for the Florida Alligator from Tallahassee called TallyGrams!.

Amanda Semmes, freshman

"I liked the First column very much as an introduction. But I do think the next ones will be even better."

Jack Marani, senior

"I thought it was cute and witty. The Flambeau needed a column from Gainesville."

Doro Golden, senior

"Frankly it left me cold."

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Continued From Page Four

for fifteen minutes," continued the "Mighty One," in a voice stirring for dignity. "After that time you will report back to receive your sentence."

With that, the four rose obediently and left the room. Were they scared? Yes, even more than before. Scared? Why they were petrified. Nervous? They could hardly talk their eloquent But they must remain calm. They could not let "Louse" Counsell see them in such a disgraceful plight. They could not let "Louse" Counsell see them in such a disgraceful plight. They could not let "Louse" Counsell see them in such a disgraceful plight.

Eventually their fifteen minutes were up. The secretary of "Louse" Council appeared once more and bade them enter the room As he descended, he would see. They rose, and followed her into the room. The atmosphere of the room was electric with tension. The silence was almost deafening. "Chairing the Council," the "Mighty One" spoke. "After giving your case the most serious consideration, deliberation, and mind you, consideration, we have decided upon a just penalty to impress upon you the fact that crime does not pay! Since you know that what you were doing was wrong and you did it anyway, and since your attitude has not been at all well, cooperative, we are placing you upon full restrictions for three weeks. Mighty I remind you," she added, "that you are on your honor not to break these restrictions."

"Are there any questions as to why you have received this punishment, or any complaints against it," she continued rubbing her hands together. There were no questions. "Then you may go," said she, in a voice equal to Jimmy.

The four rose solemnly and left. Outside they held another conference. "How unfair," they cried. "How undemocratic," said one. "It's pure communism," added another. They were bitter. But they had learned their lesson. They would not make that mistake again. Never! Next time they would make sure there were no witnesses!

Sincerely,
Marjorie Clark.

So Others Say

Summing Up

The main of life is composed of small incidents and petty occurrances; of wisps—objects not remote, and grief for disappointments of no fatal consequence; of small annoyances which sting us and fly away, impertinences which bum a while about us and are dissipated; of compliments which glide off the soul like other waters and are forgotten by him that save and him that received them.

Samuel Johnson.

Be Consoled

There is more wisdom in public opinion than is to be found in Napoleon, Voltaire, or all the ministers of state, present or to come.

C M Tallegrand.

Think Twice

We must beware of tryes to build a society in which nobody counts for anything except the politician or the official—a society where enterprise gains no reward and thrift no privileges. Winston Churchill.

Amazing Reality

It seems incredible—35,000,000 laws and no improvement on the Ten Commandments!

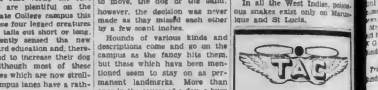
Banking (London).

Members of Canine Race Stroll Campus Lanes and Increase Their Dog-Sense

By Paulette Blank

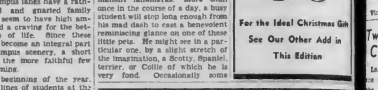
The patter of little paws and resounding yelps of members of the canine race verify the fact that dogs are plentiful on the Florida State College campus this year. These four legged creatures with their tails out short or long, are evidently amused the new trend toward education and, therefore, intend to increase their dog sense. Although most of these little fellows which are now strolling the campus lanes have a rather twisted and snarled family tree, they seem to have high ambitions and a craving for the better things of life. Since these dogs have become an integral part of the campus scenery, a short review of the more faithful few is forthcoming.

At the beginning of the year, when the lines of students at the bookstore were long and interminable, a very determined little mongrel stoically held his place about a quarter of the way from the end. He seemed quite overwhelmed by the fatigue and was having the "dogsondest" time trying to stay awake. From time to time he would rise and beg of fall over but some kind hearted student, with a sympathetic understanding of a dog's life, always set him on his feet again. No doubt this little dog with all his fortitude finally accomplished the objective, whatever it might have been.



Almost any time you see a long, lanky terrier of an unkown variety can be seen feasting for Westcott from Dilchtel hall. An absolutely pads along while his even more listless tail follows close behind. The only time his tail moves at all is when it vibrates from his jolting gait. He is never seen starting out or arriving at his destination, but obviously he must do both at his convenience.

Another dog, a variegated animal with black preponderating, has chosen the Longmire building for his residing place. He has evidently set himself up as keeper of the door, for he constantly lies stretched out in the door leading to the steps. How really conscientious he is is doubtful, since he remains in this position most of sleep the majority of the time. Perhaps if he had "welcome" written across his stomach he'd would make a better doorman.



Landis Green, too, has his patron in the figure of a black cur with one brown ear and amiable brown eyes. This particular pup delights in stretching out his back legs and pulling himself across the field with his two front paws while grunting with huge satisfaction. On one occasion when the notion hit him to indulge in this favorite sport, he ran into competition with the advisaina band. The question immediately arose who was to move, the dog or the band; however, the decision was never made as they mindfi eash other by a few scant inches.

Hounds of various kinds and descriptions come and go on the campus as the fancy hits them, but these which have been mentioned seem to stay on as permanent landmarks. More than once in the course of a day, a busy student will stop long enough from his mad dash to cast a benevolent reminiscing glance on one of these little pets. He might see in a particular one, by a slight stretch of the imagination, a Scotty, Spaniel, terrier, or Collie of which he is very fond. Occasionally some student might even stop and pat a sheary head and look into a pair of serene brown eyes. It is time like this that a student begins a really wonder if being treated in a dog or, in fact, leading a dog's life can actually be so bad.

In all the West Indies, poisonous snakes exist only on Martinique and St Lucia.

For the Ideal Christmas Gift
See Our Other Add in This Edition

Get Your Christmas Bonnet Now
Striking New Style
MARIAN'S HAT SHOP

Students Invited

The entire college is invited to attend an open class hour devoted to the Christmas theme by the story telling class, December 13, from 4 to 5 p. m. in room 404 History building, announced Miss Margaret Wyly, instructor in speech.

McCollum to Issue Changes in Rooms

Notices of room changes should be out before Christmas holidays begin, was learned from Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence. All notices will be sent from the residence halls office by December 10 or shortly thereafter.

The first moving days has been set for Saturday, December 15 Other dates have been listed as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 5; Sunday, January 6 Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; and Sunday, January 13.

Girls living in their present rooms are first priority on the room. Seniors will be given next preference, and after all change of preference have been listed as follows: Wednesday, January 2; Saturday, January 5; Sunday, January 6 Wednesday, January 9; Saturday, January 12; and Sunday, January 13.

Campus Studio Takes Annual Pictures; Specializes in College Photographs

By EILEEN PERRY

"Oh, I was born to be my picture taker." With this statement, another Florida State College senior has her annual picture taken. The reason for this feeling is the fact that there are self-conscious says the photographer at the Campus Studios.

The Adams Studios has been at its present location since 1943. It was formerly the Adams Studios in town, but they moved the studio out to their home on 701 West Pensacola street. The new Campus Studios was christened in 1943 by Mary Jane Dews, the 1942-43 editor of the Flastacowo, and her staff. This is the student's own studio Although the studio does some outside work, their main business is the Flastacowo, the FSC annual, and student photographs.

The Campus Studios is a family affair For 18 years the Adams family has been catering to the photographing needs of FSC students. The father, D C Adams, does the finest pictures for the feature section of the annual; the mother Mrs D C Adams, takes charge of the business end of the work, and the son, known as "Sam" to all of the girls, does the group pictures. They do all of their own work and work under all sorts of conditions.

Sam says that it is interesting to work with the staff of the Flastacowo because they have a certain new idea on how the annual should look each year. The girls themselves do not have any particular idea in mind until work for the book has been going on for several months. Each year the book is based on a brand new idea. The studio never knows what to expect, and it is always very interesting to find out what the students have finally decided they are going to do.

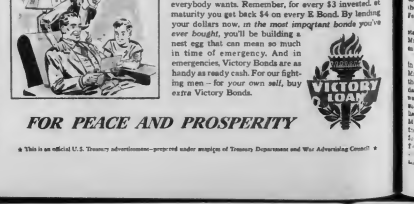
It takes a great deal of time, work and ingenuity to work out the themes and ideas on some of the annuals it was discovered. In the 1940 edition of the annual they took actual snapshots of footprints that had been made in the sand and used them for the cover of the annual. These photographs carried out the "sands of time" theme. Sometimes mistakes are made, as in the 1942 issue On the page of the Memorium to Virginia S Jones, there was a picture of blossoms and pine tree branches. The picture as olaced in the annual was upside down, but apparently no one noticed it. The dedication page of the .943 annual was a different and prolonged job. The guns and helmets had to be borrowed from the army and then carried out in the desired location and placed all over the field.

The taking of the individual student's annual picture is a

The Perfect Yuletide Gift
Lingerie ! Luxurious Slips in beautiful rayon satin
At a Price You'll Like
Nighties? Yes Ma'am
Softly Feminine in the 1946 Manner

The SURPRISE STORE
"Your Christmas Headquarters"
101-105 E. Jefferson Phone 299

HOLIDAY HAIRDOS
. . . the round of parties, dinners, dances that make Christmas vacation glorious, call for a new permanent with that holiday glamour . . . see about yours now
Cold Waves ● Machineless
Basic Curls
$10 TO $15
MARTIN & DALTON BEAUTY SHOP
210-212 S. Adams Phone 1848



Let's take care of Our Own in America's Great Victory Loan . . .

THEY DESERVE THE BEST. Our fighting men are coming home. Let's not forget that they were willing to give the best for us. Let's go all out for them in America's Great Victory Loan.

OVER 300,000 WOUNDED need our help today. The cost is high for hospital ships, hospital planes, the best of medical care. See that they get it by backing America's Great Victory Loan.

REMEMBER, YOU TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOURSELF, TOO!

IT'S MORE THAN PATRIOTISM . . . this chance you have to help our fighting men. It's a chance to build future security for yourself — to have that valuable backlog of savings. Remember, for every $3 invested, at maturity you get back $4 on every E Bond. By lending your dollars now, in the most important bonds you've ever bought, you'll be building a nest egg that can mean so much in time of emergency. And in emergencies, Victory Bonds are as handy as ready cash. For our fighting men – for your own self, buy extra Victory Bonds.

FOR PEACE AND PROSPERITY

● This is an official U. S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under auspices of Treasury Department and War Advertising Council ●

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Sorority "chit-chat" material has taken a bow out of the spotlight this week, as there seems to be little to report on the activities of sororities.

Members of Delta Phi Epsilon will honor their housemother, Mrs. O'Murr, at after-dinner coffee hour afternoon at their house.

• • •

Pi Beta Phi Friday night at 5 o'clock.

• • •

The Chi Omegas honored Carol Bradford, one of their members, with a pre-nuptial coffee last Sunday night at the sorority house. Luring the coffee the bride-elect was presented with a gift from the chapter. She will be married to Capt John Stephens tomorrow night, at 8:30 in the Tallahassee Episcopal Church.

Virginia Nelson we pledged to

Two Parties Honor Cast of Speech Play

Last Friday and Saturday night the cast and crew of Time and the Conways, the play given by the speech department, gathered for the speech office for parties given in their honor. They were dressed in their various costumes representing the formal attire of the players in the days and years of the play.

After the performance Friday night, Zetz Phi Eta, speech fraternity, entertained in the speech office which was decorated with Christmas greenery. A one table counselor in Landis, "and all banquet was served. After the reception had ended, according to Miss Williams, there was a short business gathering of participating committees in one of the small rooms in the building. Mrs. Carter and Peggy Lou Thomas were responsible for procuring the refreshments. Sandwiches and hamburgers-all-the-way". Miss Williams and Miss Ruth A. Peyton, Landis counselors, were present with copies of the book Best Loved Poems of the American People.

The cast was present, visiting families, friends, and special faculty guests were invited.

Dormitory Christmas Party

Red candles and birch logs will accent the holiday decorations in Landis parlor for the annual Christmas coffee which will be held on Wednesday, December 12, from five to six. Miss Margaret Dunn will present several piano selections and then will accompany the girls in singing Christmas carols. Special hostesses for the occasion are the following girls who have been interning this past quarter: Melba Smith, Martha Jane Brown, Betty De-Vane Doris McIntosh, Carolyn Faye Smith, Ruth Clark, Ines Smith, Kathleen Craig, Betty Jo Barry, and Annette Eddy. Harriet McCarter is in charge of arrangements.

• • •

The Gilchrist Christmas tea will occur around a special Christmas program, according to Miss Ruth Peyton, counselor. Several girls will take the parts of Christmas spirits and figures from traditional Christmas story. The singing of Christmas carols will close the program. The following girls will take part in the program: Juanita Hutchinson, Doris Brock, Jane Shiell, and Martha Peacock. The tea will be held Wednesday from five to six.

• • •

Featured in Magnolia's Christmas coffee on Monday night will be Mary Lou Norwood. Anne will sing a solo and Mary Lou will play a piano solo. Both girls appeared in Odd demonstration. Magnolia parlor will be decorated with greenery to lend a holiday atmosphere for the singing refreshments. The coffee hour will be held from two-thirty until four Sunday afternoon. According to Jane Whitfield, the social chairman, who is in charge of all arrangements.

• • •

Reynolds, Tupelo, Murphree, and The Village will have their Christmas parties at the time of their regular Wednesday afternoon tea. Katherine Moore and her social committee have planned a coffee for the Village and they will present a special Christmas program.

Reynolds social chairman, Louise Illingworth, has also planned a coffee with a Christmas theme. Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Dorothy Murphree is under the direction of Margery Holmes, social chairman.

★ Fashions ★

Double ruffles, outlined in color, shows above as pictured in the November issue of Good Housekeeping magazine accentuate the all-important waistline, and broaden the shoulders. The purple colorful is becoming. A dress to wear for special dates, dinners, parties and luncheons.

Fashion Flashes

This smart age (featured in the above picture) knows that only if days are in'l 'til Santa Claus' big day. She knows, too, that along with Santa Claus will come a round of Christmas parties, teas, and gala formals . . . and she intends to be ready for the holiday fashion line-light.

Yuletide social functions demand smart, versatile clothes for all the festivities. For special dates, luncheons, and dinners a dress similar to the one displayed above) is guaranteed to carry off the honors. The long crepes and occasional velvetenas in black, atomic blue, fuschia (or any of the year around colors) make your holiday season an easy one, because you'll always be sure of something smart to wear for your numerous invitations.

For "Open Houses" on Xmas and New Year's Day (and may there be many!) even dressier clothes are recommended. A short dinner dress of black crepe would be a knock-out, when adorned with scores of glittering sequins, would be simply "out of this world". Black still seems to be the number one color for smartness and sophistication, but three or more pretty close runners-up. Not only for "Open Houses" will you need dressier social attire, but also for the many holiday weddings and receptions.

If you like formal dances, you'll be floating on a cloud during your two-week vacation for this invitation is higher larnin'. From all reports, there'll be a whirl of fraternity and sorority formals, plus a gala Pan-Hellenic formal . . . and many others, besides. As to what to wear, our advice will this: the more formal your dress, the better. If you're dreaming of a "white Christmas", carry out the theme and be a vision of loveliness in a sweeping net formal. Or perhaps you would prefer a sleek, smooth taffeta, trimmed sometimes with a contrasting color or a dash of plaid taffetta. You'll love the way a dress like this will accent your appearance and help see you through the formal holiday functions.

In addition to your supply of formals, a "must" for your holiday fun is a good-looking dinner dress. Don't forget the many occasions (both teas and informations' that will demand something slightly less revealing than the current-styled "formals". A dinner dress, with smart simplicity would be your best bet, and black a splendid color.

To top your holiday ensembles off, a fur coat is perfect. If you "no can do" on that score, try a wool dress coat with a fur collar. Over your formal evening clothes, any one of this winter's smart capes and evening wraps would be

WELDON
California Hair Stylists'
ONE WEEK ONLY
A Styled Permanent Wave
"By WELDON"
Gives You the Glamour of Beautiful Hair
No Cutting Necessary
WAVY LOX BEAUTY SHOP
107 W. COLLEGE AVE. PHONE 787

Church, Veterans, Labor Criticize Training Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for church, veterans and labor organizations fired a verbal broadside today at proposals for universal military training.

Testifying before the house military committee, they urged that before the United States resorts to peacetime conscription it seek to outlaw universal training throughout the world and throw its full weights behind efforts for international peace.

Yule Activities

With exams dangerously near, many Tally inmates are going to have their final fling before the tragic time arrives. Here are some of the latest plans for Yuletide sorority festivities.

• • •

Alpha Chi Omega has planned Christmas supper with "all the trimmings" for Saturday night at 6 pm. The arrival of Old Saint Nick himself (Marilyn Pollock to you) will highlight the evening.

Betty Hancock will be in charge of the tree decorations; Jessie Calia and Barbara Wickham we prepared the menus, and Miss Sims will bedeck the house in appropriate boughs and berries.

• • •

Pi o'clock Sunday evening the Alpha Delta Pi's will celebrate with an after-dinner coffee. Santa Claus will make an appearance in the person of Judge Elwyn Thomas, father of one of the members.

Ann Fielding, Pat Harrison, and Janet Boyd are in charge of arrangements.

• • •

Santa Claus will be at his helper, in the form of two graduating seniors, Ann Arrington and Helen Miller, when the Chi Omega Theta Delta Xmas party tomorrow night. Helen Miller, social chairman in charge of the party, revelled that a part of the program will be the reading of "Twas the Night Before Christmas" by Bonnie Hunt. Dr C P Spruce, one of the members of Alpha Gamma Delta, will provide background music for the poem's reading, in addition to playing several selections. Gifts will be exchanged at the party. Members and guests gather around the Christmas tree.

• • •

Alpha Xi Delta will hold their Christmas get-together this year at 6:30 pm, at which time there will be an exchange of gifts and the singing of carols.

• • •

Santa Claus in the person of Dr Harold Richards will visit the Chi Omega house Sunday night at 7 o'clock to distribute the gifts to the members of the sorority. The sorority will then send these presents to the orphans' home. Katherine Steed, Sara Norman, and Marilyn Cook are in charge of the party and program, which will include the singing of the pledge songs to the active members.

• • •

The mother - daughter atmosphere was predominant when the Tri Delts assembled last night at the house for a Xmas party. Mothers and daughters were seated as mothers, while the pledges were the "youngin's". Everyone who entertained the group with various musical offerings. Members trimmed the tree yesterday afternoon before the party. Gifts were exchanged.

• • •

Anyone looking in on the Delts Xmas Saturday night may see dots before their eyes and their ears may be useless, too. By 8 o'clock their Christmas pajama party will be in full swing. Gifts will be exchanged and carols sung. Pledges are to be in full charge of the party.

Faculty members, students and

And with that, you're all set for a very, very merry holiday season. Now your clothes express your holiday mood and may you have a very merry Christmas. Followed by a happy 1946!!!!

A Gift From Turners is sure to please
SHOP EARLY FOR BETTER SELECTIONS
Turner's
Doorway to Fashions

Collegiate Comebacks

Proving that we have caught up on our history lesson for the week, we recall that historians say women were using cosmetics in the Middle Ages. Well, women in their middle ages are still using them.

—The Creightonian.

A group of women decided that their slub would have a While Elephant Party, bringing things that were of no value to them but that were too good to throw away. The party was a success except for the fact that eleven of the nineteen women brought their husbands.

—The Spectator.

A man entered a book store and walked up to the first counter. "Do you have a book entitled 'Man, The Master of Women'?" he asked the girl at the counter.

"The fiction department is right down the aisle," was her reply.

—The Creightonian

IF
(With apologies to Kipling)
If you can keep your pert without his knowing
That you are shooting him s line of bull,
And, while the bull from you is freely flowing,
Hy decrees you get with him a pull;
If you can force yourself by mighty effort
To laugh when he dispenses his stale jokes
And, when all your fellow students snort of beats,
You read the answer from your notes;
If you can fill the unforgiven hour
With sixty minutes worth of spooling done,
Yours is the course, and three hours credit with it,
And, what is more, you'll make an 'A', my son.

—The Cue.

"Does yo' take this woman for thy lawful wedded wife?" asked the colored parson, planning at the diminutive, watery-eyed, bowlegged bridegroom, who stood beside the two hundred and ten pounds of feminine assurance.

"Ah takes nothing," gloomily answered the groom. "Ah's being looked."

—The Spectator.

The little daughter of a clergyman stubbed her toe and said, "Darn."

"I'll give you ten cents", said the father, "if you'll never say that word again."

A few days later she came to him and said, "Papa, I've got a word worth half a dollar."

—The Spectator.

THE BRAIN?
She must wear big horn rims.
Knew literary rims.
Each day sarry
In a good library.
Each night write
By candle light.
And know all; not in part.
But by heart.
Then she'll have the qualification
To own my marriage inclination.

Prudence knew the constitution,
But couldn't explain evolution.
I read Superman;
But her Assyrian was weak.
So I dropped those two—
For someone new.

Then along came Dinah
With figure finer.
I would date and date
All the books could wait.
Now my life span.
Is read Superman;
I was above it.
Now I love it.
I prefer a blond to a book myself,
For you'll never find love on a library shelf.

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

Our Pacific Bases: Think Twice

In the November issue of Harper's, Frederick Palmer, who has recently completed four months of Pacific bases, expresses his opinion as to what the United States should do about keeping defensive bases in the Pacific.

Our people has astonished 19 Pacific and Atlantic bases which it regards as vital to the future security of this country. A subcommittee of the House Naval Affairs committee has compiled a similar but more extensive list of Pacific bases. Both include places whose retention under the American flag or under American control is questionable, including especially Okinawa." Before deciding to retain these beyond the line of the Marshall and Caroline Islands and Guam, Mr Palmer says that the American people, their Congress and President should consider:

a) The defensibility of such bases against atomic bomb attacks.

b) The relation of such commitments in the Pacific to the whole complex problem of our military, naval and air defenses . . . (c) the relation of these and other commitments to our foreign policy.

(d) our responsibilities as a member of the United Nations and a trustee of the future peace of the world."

Mr Palmer says that in making a recent tour of the Central Pacific he talked with men of all ranks. Top-ranking officers and reserve officers who had become nationally professional in the school of battle agreed unanimously that our future national safety depended on our ability to strike instantly from fortified outposts away from our continental shores. They did not agree, however, as to which bases should be the key outposts. Limited acquiescence does not recommend that Okinawa be included, but the subcommittee of the House Naval Affairs committee not only desires "dominant anchorage and airfields, but the internationalization of Truk. In the Southwest Pacific we should hold no bases without the willing consent of our Allies. As for Okinawa we should remain only "as one of the trustees which hold it as a base for an international police force of the United Nations."

He concludes by saying that at present we have lessure in which to consider the problem and should take the whole issue of military strength and study it in the light of a far-seeing foreign policy before making any judgement which might be interpreted as a drift from isolationism to a truculent imperialism.

Mr Palmer attempts to answer each of these arguments.

(a) The loss of American lives in taking these bases—" to which Mr Palmer says that in keeping the bases we must consider the danger of another humanity costly war." (b) The expenditure of wast sums of American money in establishing and equipping these bases" Mr Palmer says that they ever-look the "other box of grapes on which for permanent use. "A permanent force means more than an annual budget. Then there would be the question of Zones and Army

Air Force maintenance plus the maintenance of bases at the Panama Canal, Newfoundland, and the Atlantic side. A new draft of seamen return they may conclude, as Washington did, that they prefer not to pay for permanent bases on such an ambitious scale." The great dependence of the world upon the United States for maintaining peace in the United and the world." Here Mr Palmer asks, "Against what potential enemy are we to maintain such a formidable array of bases, ranging from Okinawa to the Southwest Pacific?"

As for Japan, he says that we have now completed the job at hand if we leave Japan to be any serious threat to us again. Manifestly we have no intention of dictating to China by overwhelming force, that will be achieved indirected by China' we may well appear to have such an intention." Such a view would affect our international reputation. To arm against China would lead to an armament race between the two countries, according to Mr Palmer, both countries wish to avoid. There is already an unofficial truce between the American-held Alaska and the Russian-held Siberia. But the holding of Okinawa, from which "supersonic, pilotless, jet-propelled planes bearing atomic bombs" could easily reach Port Arthur and Vladivostok, Russia may well be suspicious and start building her line of defense.

The subcommittee s fourth point is "The apparent preference of the natives of these islands for the United States Governments." Mr Palmer says, "... . . reassuring but of doubtful importance if there are compelling reasons for withdrawal."

It seems to the author for wise for us to content ourselves with Adak in the Aleutians, Kodiak on the Alaskan coast, Guam, including secondary bases of protected anchorage and airfields, and the internationalization of Truk. In the Southwest Pacific we should hold no bases without the willing consent of our Allies. As for Okinawa we should remain only "as one of the trustees which hold it as a base for an international police force of the United Nations."

He concludes by saying that at present we have lessure in which to consider the problem and should take the whole issue of military strength and study it in the light of a far-seeing foreign policy before making any judgement which might be interpreted as a drift from isolationism to a truculent imperialism.

Tri Delts Present Annual Style Show

Last Saturday afternoon the pledges of Tri Delt presented their annual fashion show at the house. There were six models, who were: Martha Bennett, Faith Adams, Barbara Mitchell, Beaufie Robson, Sylvia Reed, and Virginia Allen.

The narrative for the style show was written and presented by Martha Norris. The show was furnished the clothes which were modeled by the pledges.

Coffee and Christmas cookies were served to the guests and members assisting in the serving.

Zeta Phi Eta Enjoys A Pre-Holiday Party

The Christmas meeting of Zeta Phi Eta, speech honorary, was held Monday night in the speech department office.

According to Barbara Holt, president, the meeting was primarily for the purpose of having a Christmas party, but plans were also discussed for the club project for the second quarter.

The room was decorated with red and green holly sprigs, red candles, and a small Christmas tree. Miss Elizabeth Thomson, sponsor, presented each of the members with tiny calendars for the new year and gifts were presented to both Miss Thomson and Miss Merryann Wyrp, who is a member of the speech faculty and on honorary member of the Zeta Phi Eta.

Refreshments were served by Maureen Petty and Bobbie Usher, hostesses, and everyone joined in singing Christmas carols.

Tech Elects Pi Phi Homecoming Queen

Homecoming Queen at Georgia Tech, last week-end was Sarah Ann Davis, junior at Florida State College.

Sarah Ann, a member of Pi Beta Phi, was a sponsor at the Georgia Tech-University of Georgia football game Saturday. At the dance that night, she was crowned queen of the week-end festivities.

Why, pack my bag and call me Santa, if Christmas isn't right around the corner. That means something nasty for you-legs girls. Something exciting to make you the prettiest girl under the mistletoe!

Cau's influence Over Women Is Puzzling Social Problem

Why women fall in love with heels is a question that has baffled us all at times as we see the innocuous philanderer casually winding the object of his momentary affections around his well-manicured little finger.

And all of us know what the outcome will be, whether the victim is mouse-like little Amy or the glamorous and ultra-sophisticated Yvonne—because they are the Colonel's Lady and Judy O'Grady all over again where the heel is concerned.

> Big edge in favor of the heel over the mere proual. type of male is his utter lack of ethos or responsibility, which permits him to concentrate on charm, according to so artics in the November issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.
>
> "A heel's work consists mainly of making life pleasant for himself," the writer states. "He wants to be happy. A heel's haven, here on earth, is a kind of a hollow space in which he operates with charm, untroubled by responsibilities or money care, and if any unpleasantness invades his domain, he doesn't fight it—he simply vanishes. One minute he's there. Come trouble, he's gone.
>
> "This is one reason for the eternal youthfulness of heels; no frown of worry ever mars their unlined brows, or the lumpy distortion the set of their corsets waistcoats."

Unfettered by responsibilities and concomitant mondane worries, the heel has infinitely more time to concentrate on his prey. Where the ardent avaic of the non-heel type rushes into a florist and orders flowers for his beloved in much the same fashion as he'd order a crate of merchandise, the heel makes a production of the gift.

Not for him the commonplace box of American beauties or the good old squat azalea plant, but a single camellia, lacquer-red and floated with dew, or a single spray of tiny green orchids.

And as far as ladies themselves are concerned, there is this to be said for the heel: when the whimsy of his charm has been dispelled by concrete evidence of his crassfulness, there will still remain vagrant tender memories of how he hung on your every word, of the spray of tiny green orchids he sent to send you, of the melting look that suffused his face when you entered thin room—for of such things as these is the genus heel fashioned.

College News-Bits

It's school days again for persons, both young and old. The general trend of enrollment seems to be increasing steadily now that our boys are once again returning to normal American life.

The University of Oklahoma has more than 500 veterans attending classes with intimations that several hundred more will enrol for the second semester, according to a study of the registration figures. The former service men range in age from 19 to 50, some of the older ones having served in both World Warn. Approximately one-third of the veterans are married, the survey showed.

University of Kentucky is also witnessing record enrollment with a total of 2,608 students, the largest number since 1942. This figure includes the largest group of women students in the school's history, with 1,624 registrations. Nearly 300 veterans have returned to classes to bring the enrollment of men to 977, the greatest in recent years.

Coming closer home, we learn that 50 per cent more students have enrolled for the fall term at Georgia Tech than were registered for the summer term. The roll of more than 1,900 students includes young men from practically every county in Georgia, approximately 500 veterans from theaters of operation in all parts of the world, and 724 naval trainees.

Brown is keeping up with the best of universities too with its undergraduate enrollment for the fall semester reaching an all-time high in the institutions' 181 years history, with 1,977 students registered. This figure tops that of 1941-42 when 1,923 students applied for and were granted permission to Brown and Pembroke. At present, the Naval V-12 unit at Brown consists of 683 men, while civilians total 543. Of these, 254 are discharged veterans. Pembroke College students number 711, which is a record enrollment for that college.

During our orientation program for the freshmen we schedule a tour of the library for their benefit: at Delta Teacher's College in Mississippi, they go a step further in getting the purpose of the library "across" to their newest arrivals. The average freshman's difficulty in finding his way around in a college library is alleviated by a device of the College's English department. Each year a treasure hunt, or series of stimulating questions, is compiled by which students are sent for definite information and by which they learn the use of reference books. The queries are varied enough to be challenging to their curiosity. Some are human interest questions on literary figures, such as: How old was Elisabeth Barrett when she eloped? How tall was Gibbon? What is Shelley's epitaph?

The Administration of Marshall College, in Huntington, West Virginia, is taking a progressive foot forward, it seems to us. They are sponsoring a new program of forum discussions with the belief that an understanding of other peoples and societies is vital to world citizenship. Speakers will include persons prominent in international politics, outstanding radio commentators and editors of weekly and monthly magazines.

War traces have left an influence on Russell Sage College. Because of interest aroused as a result of the war, this college is offering a series of lectures entitled "Our Pacific Island Neighbors." The series, part of the college's adult education, is designed to acquaint families of returning service men and women with the physical and cultural background of places mentioned in letters and military dispatches. The Aleuts, Polynesians, Micronesians, Melanesians, Malays, Moros, Filipinos and Izoreis are among the peoples to be studied.

Students at Williams College have voted to reinstate their honor system, which was dropped during the war period. Ratification by the faculty must be secured before it can become operative. Next March will round out the first half century of its institution at Williamstown. The class of 1896 persuaded the college body to accept the principle of the honor system and it was officially adopted at a meeting of the faculty on March 18 of that year.

New York Times

Campbell Addresses Jacksonville Clubs

Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, left for Jacksonville Sunday night to fulfill several speaking engagements and attend meetings being held there this week.

Dr Campbell's major address will be delivered to the Jacksonville Woman's Club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday. He will speak on "Education in the International Scene" in connection with the program planned by the international relations group of that organization.

In addition to several committee meetings Dr Campbell will address the empioyees of the Baptist State Convention who are meeting in Jacksonville this week, attend the meeting of the Florida Chamber of Commerce and that of the local Rotary Club.

SHEER LOVELINESS!

Hosiery by Famous Stylists All Sizes

BUTLER'S, INC.

224 S. MONROE

Conference Is Cancelled

Meeting Scheduled Next Quarter in G'ville

The Southeast Province Conference of Newman Clubs has been cancelled, and the last meeting of the year has been by the Newman club of the Florida State College.

The Southeast Province Conference of Newman Clubs, which was to be held this week-end, December 7, 8, and 9, with the University of Florida as host, has been cancelled.

Reverend Jeremiah P O'Mahoney, diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, said that the conference had been cancelled because only a few of the Florida State College students would be able to attend since the conference was to be held the week-end before their final examinations. Reverend O'Mahoney announced the cancelling of the conference until next quarter that a large representation of PSC girls will be present for the conference in Gainesville.

The exact date of the conference has not yet been set, but it will be held next quarter.

The Newman Club held its last meeting of the year Sunday night in the Lonunire building. Announcements were made in regard to the cancellation of the Conference and the purchase of club pins. The program was then turned over to Catherine Sullivan, recording secretary. Amelia Pavese, parliimentarian, and Ann Parker, corresponding secretary, who led the group in Christmas games. Prizes were awarded to the winners. After the games a coffee was served with doughnuts and Christmas candy. Mary Cooney, chairman of the social committee, was in charge of the coffee. Christmas carols were sung by the entire group.

Snoring in Backyard of Off-Campus House Brings Searching Campus Police

By LA FERNE QUINN

Late one night an urgent call came to Bryan Hall office. A feminine voice frantically asked to have a policeman sent out. because there was someone snoring in the back yard of one of the off-campus houses. In less than five minutes a policeman was on his way to investigate and to take away forcibly a sleepy student or a collapsed drunk.

Caught up the policeman searched the dark back yard to find who was snoring. Over in a corner by a big bush was a little dog, fast asleep, all unaware of the disturbance he had caused.

The college has its own police force for just such emergencies. This force is composed of three men who are deputized by the county sheriff. The three officers are here on the campus to protect and to guard the college property. They can enforce any laws, but according to Miss McCollum, director of residence halls, they are not here to arrest, but to prevent. She remembers no real arrests, but several times MP's have been called to control some unruly soldiers.

The policemen come on duty late in the afternoon at staggered hours and leave early in the morning by the same method. Each hall is equipped with a buzzer system and several call stations for the policemen, which enables them to be at any point on the campus within five minutes. In all there are about a dozen call stations distributed over the campus. Several new call systems have been tested recently, in attempts to find a simpler method of contact, and a new system is hoped to be put into effect this year, according to the residence halls director.

Years ago the front gates of the college were closed at night and a policeman was on guard. Every incoming car was stopped and the occupants were asked to identify themselves as to the state their reason for coming to the college ofter dark. In those days, the officers were called night watchmen, but now they are more than that.

One of their duties is to escort students to any of the unattached residences and off-campus houses when they return to the college after light flash.

It has been rumored that the policemen check lights in the rooms, but the policemen themselves are on their honor to turn off their lights, there is no check of this kind. If lights are on far into the night, however, one of the night directors is likely to investiate to see if anything is wrong.

Calls for policemen are put through to Bryan Hall office, where there are two night directors, one of which is on duty all night. Many false alarms are sent in, but as the policemen themselves state, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

'Y' Girls Carol

Seventy members of the Young Women's Christian Association went Christmas caroling last night, said Doris Hill, in charge of planning the outing.

"We had no set places to go, but caroled wherever the spirit moved us," said Doris. The outing was concluded with an informal gathering in Broward Hall, where hot chocolate was served.

MERRY CHRISTMAS GALS!

Have a Grand Vacation

And in the NEW YEAR Be Sure to Come to Your Hangout Again—

THE SWEET SHOP

"The World's Best Coffee"

Club Makes Hike

Members of the Home Economics club attended an annual club breakfast last Sunday at the "old ravine."

The club was divided into two groups for the hike. According to Elizabeth Harper, publicity chairman, the club "certainly had a scare" when the second group got lost in locating the breakfast to be delayed for almost an hour.

Elizabeth also reports that the club enjoyed a breakfast of hot dogs, cinnamon rolls, fruit juice, and coffee.

Pledges Initiated

The initiation of three new pledges and an address by Dr Doak S Campbell, president of Florida State College, highlighted the monthly meeting of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary, Wednesday week at 4:30.

Pledges who were initiated were Mildred Tugan, Erin Poythress, and Hilda Dodson.

Dr Campbell spoke on "The Value of Records." He stated that the value of any teacher's record rests with the teacher's individual discretion. He expressed a hope that less cumberson and more effective records will be characteristic of future records.

Dr Thelin Dies

Word concerning the death, early in November, of Dr Ernest Thelin, former associate professor of psychology at Florida State College has recently been received by Dr Paul F Pinner, professor of psychology.

After leaving FSC, Dr Thelin became head of the psychology department and director of the laboratory at Syracuse University in New York.

Is It Not So?

He that wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skills.

Edmund Burke.

Holiday Activities Feature Christmas Pageants, Parties

As the holiday season approaches, activities of the campus religious organizations this week center about the traditional pageants and Christmas parties.

A play entitled The Coming of Light and Peace will feature Christmas services at the Methodist student house Sunday evening at 7 p m. A Christmas party will follow during which the girls will present gifts to the student house.

Those taking part in the play include Joyce Carlton, Frances McLamore, Jackie Pondick and Grace DeWolf. Ruth Young is in charge of planning the party and other members of the committee include Betty LaBree, Joyce Cayce, Betty Jo McBride, Mary Jane Kirst, Annette McClellan and Cilinia Letton.

Observance of Christmastime at Rose Hall will center about a pageant to be presented at 7:30 Sunday evening. A Christmas tree will decorate the chapel for this occasion at which time the girls will also present gifts for the student house.

Jo Dawkins has charge of planning the pageant. Supper at Rose Hall Sunday evening will be held at 6:30 rather than at the regular hour in order that students may attend Glee Club vespers.

Other activities at the Episcopalian student house this week will include exam teas, which will be held Monday through Friday from 5 until 6 p m. All students are invited to attend.

A cantata entitled "Chimes of the Holy Night" by Fred Holton will be presented by the Presbyterian church. A white gift service for Thornwell, a Presbyterian orphanage at Clinton, S C, will be held following the musical program.

"Christmas Bells are Ringing" will open the cantata followed by "How Beautiful Upon the Waters" with Martha McCormack, soloist. Marjory Maxwell will sing the solo parts of "But Thou Bethlehem" and "Jesus Our Lord."

The choir will also sing "This Star in the Eastern Sky" and "In the Watches of the Night" with Pat Harrison, soloist; "Earth's Weary Waiting Done", Sarah Daugherty and Lois Watkins, duet, and "Good Tidings" and "Let Us Go Unto Bethlehem", Lois Watkins, soloist. "The Lord Is Born Today" will conclude the musical service.

White candelabra tapers, ferns, cones and fall flowers will provide the setting for the "Student Night at Christmas" program, which will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Baptist church auditorium. Three talks on the topic "Student Opportunities for Christian Living" presented by Betty Speer, Mary Jane Inabnit and Louise Illingworth, will be featured on this program.

This service will follow a medley of Christmas carols played on the organ. The two-fold purpose of this Student Night program, according to Barbara Holt, president of the Baptist Student Union, is to demonstrate to the local church what FSC has been doing in their home churches.

RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES:

TRAIN FOR A CAREER WITH THE

Johnston & Conner Research Foundation

11 E. 62nd St. New York, 21

N. Y. Fellowship Basis, $85.00 a Month

Roberts to Address Next AAUW Meeting

Mr Warren Roberts, editor of the Orlando Sentinel, will speak in the auditorium of the Longmire building at the December meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Association of University Women, Tuesday evening at 8:15. This meeting is open to students.

"Florida's Situation and Needs in Resard to Her Water Supply" is the subject of Mr Roberts' address. The speaker was on former Governor Holland's committee on water control and conservation.

This talk follows the theme for the year, "The Development of Human and Natural Resources of Florida," according to Miss Marjorie B Judy, program chairman.

She's dreaming of something

GLEAMING

She's hoping there'll be an exciting little package under the tree—a package that opens to disclose a piece of jewelry. It could be a gay gold circlet for her throat or hair . . . a pair of earrings or a costume jewel for her dress. Choose it from our gleaming jewelry collection, and it will be a shining success.

P. W. WILSON COMPANY

Tallahassee's Oldest Department Store

The Florida Flambeau

In These Crucial Days Z 106

Published by the Students of Florida State College for Women

Tallahassee, Florida

International Relations

VOL. XXXIII, No. 10 DECEMBER 11, 1940

Woman Leader Of Journalism To Talk Here

"These Crucial Days" Is Dorothy Thompson's Speech Theme

Speech To Be Broadcast Over Station WTAL

Dorothy Thompson, deemed by many the world's leading woman journalist, will speak in the auditorium next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock on "These Crucial Days."

Tickets to the lecture will still be available until 6 p m today in the lobby of the Administration building. Both red and blue tickets for students will be honored and faculty members holding season tickets will be admitted for that night only. Tickets for the general public will go on sale at the box office tomorrow morning at 9 : 30 a m.

Miss Thompson, the only woman ever to address the National Association of Newspaper Executives, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the Federal Council and the Harvard Club of New York, is the author of many books including "I Saw Hitler" and "The New Russia." Dorothy Thompson's Political Action Committee, Anti-Nazi League or Organization." "Let the

Continued on Page Three

AAUW Members Hear Discussion

Library Service in Florida Was Theme of Meeting

Library Service in Florida" is the theme of the program at the Tuesday night meeting of the Tallahassee branch of the American Association of University Women. Miss Dorothy Judy, program chairman, acted as presiding officer.

Miss Sara Krentzman, consultant in school libraries for the State Department of Education, and librarian of the Demonstration School at Florida State College, was chairman of the panel discussion. She also spoke about school libraries in Florida, stating that the need is to extend and improve them.

Rural and regional libraries was the subject of Miss Acree Gregory, instructor in Library Science at FSC. She told of the book-mobile plan of circulating books in rural districts as it is used in Virginia. Miss Gregory was formerly librarian at the Southside Regional Library in Chase City, Virginia.

Miss Ethel Cutler Snider, president of the Florida Library Association and acting associate professor of Library Science, talked on public libraries in Florida. She said although the one in the state are fairly adequate, but that more are needed.

The archivist of the Florida State Library, Dr. Dorothy Dodd, discussed the library.

Miss Louise Richardson, FSC librarian and president of library science, told of her experience with college libraries.

Following this panel discussion was an open forum. This meeting was opened to all who were interested in the library service in the state and their needs, as well as to members of the AAUW.

Pianist Featured On Garnet and Gold

Miss Mary Winslow, assistant professor of piano, acted as music editor and will be featured soloist on the weekly Thursday night program of "Garnet and Gold," FSC radio broadcast.

Miss Winslow played Albeniz's Sonata "Asturias" Griffes' "Poem on Aquapolis," and DeBussy's "The Minstrel."

The program was presented directly from station WTAL instead of the regular method because of necessary repair work on the transmission line between the studio and the radio station.

"Garnet and Gold" was combinedly presented each week during Christmas holidays. On December 20, a special program of Christmas carols by the college glee club under the direction of the School of Music took charge of the broadcast on the following Thursday night. Pawn Trawick and Paula Jeanne Teasardeer acted as music editors. Mary Boone was news editor for the program.

On January 2, Miss Olga Ritter, violinist, was featured on the program, accompanied by Miss Winslow at the piano. Bertha Bloodworth, college publicity director, gave the news summary.

Derthy Thompson, author and lecturer, will speak on "These Crucial Days" in Westcott auditorium Wednesday, January 16 at 8:15 pm.

Registration Figure Drops

Decrease of 193 Shown as 2254 Students Enroll

A slight decrease in enrollment, compared with last quarter, is shown as 2254 students complete registration for the winter quarter, announced Dr M W Carothers, registrar.

The total registration last quarter was 2447. Dr Carothers said, however, that students were still registering and the figures would not be complete for several days.

Dr Doak S Campbell, president of the college, said that this drop in enrollment was normal and was expected. "Students drop out after Christmas for various reasons. Some get married and discouragement, illness in the family, lack of finances, or a change in family plans."

Dr Campbell said that the college was the first quarter was no different from previous years and that the college had not yet felt the effect of the defense industry returning servicemen.

The drop in enrollment has made adequate housing available for all students, according to Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence. She said that all students now living in recreation rooms or smokers would have rooms of their own by the end of the week.

All first term freshmen will liv at Campuside, reported Miss McCollum. There were 84 first students enrolled at registration.

The new registration process was found to be very effective, according to Dr Carothers. "We registered 2100 students in one day," he said, "and it has always before taken us three days to register that many."

National Forensic League Meets Here

The National Forensic League high school speech honorary, held its session of congress in Tallahassee on Monday, December 17, in the Florida State College. The sessions were held in the state chambers of the Senate and House of Representatives at the capitol.

This was a Southern District affair with delegates from at least five southern states, said Miss Louise Bloodworth, publicity director of Florida State College.

FSC provided the first impromptusium for the 20 high school girls and their sponsors. The delegates were housed in the homes of the residents of Tallahassee. Over 100 delegates provided meals for the representatives.

A resolution expressing appreciation to FSC was sent to the school after the Orlando Chapter of the NFL, Orlando, Florida.

Appreciation should also be extended from the Orlando Chapter to Miss Bloodworth, publicity director of Florida State College, and Pat Pritchard who was instrumental in securing accommodations on campus for the delegates.

Meeting Planned

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Florida Conference at the Methodist student house Sunday afternoon at 3:30, according to an announcement made by Martha Jane Brown co-chairman of the organization.

She asked that all the committee chairmen meet with their committees before the meeting on Sunday so that they could be a report of their progress to the chairmen of the conference.

Twenty-seven New Freshmen Are First Students to Begin FSCW at New Year

By ALICIA ARMSTRONG

It was January 2, or thereabouts, when 27 new freshmen slipped quietly through the iron wrought gates of FSC in unconspurious additions to an already over-flowing community.

These first quarter freshmen are the first girls ever to begin their college careers at FSC at the beginning of a new year.

FSC veterans returning from their fun-packed holiday excursions took little notice of the bright new inductees except to give nonchalant replies to the few queries about locations of familiar by-covered buildings.

No orientation classes, no formal welcome was offered these as yet alight-hearted newcomers who were left to find things out for themselves as best they could. "Why, we just happened to hear we were required to take a test in college math with the result I haven't even seen one yet," exclaimed one dismayed looking little freshman who with her hair-cuffs cupped in her hands looking much like "Alice" Mrs Joseph Levy, these girls have a home all their own in the two-story white building on the north campus known as Campuside. Lounging around on chintz-covered davenports and gracious living room, more than a dozen girls, some in house coats and bedroom slippers, at one hour or so before light flash appeared eager to chat about their

Continued on page three

Dr Eyman Addresses PTA of Quincy High

Community Duty Toward Today's Youth Discussed

"In order for a community to develop a successful program of recreation for its youth, consideration must be the basic factor," said Dr R Y Eyman, dean of the School of Education, in a talk given last Tuesday afternoon to the Parent Teachers' Association of Quincy High school.

Speaking on the subject, "Facing Today With Our Children and Youth—The Community's Obligation to Them," Dr Eyman stimulated four possible solutions for the problem of leisure time activities time found among today's young people.

Youth must first state its desires, he said. In order to awaken adults to the existing need for a well-organized recreational program.

Cooperation from the school was also stressed by the speaker. Here through stricter discipline of work and the introduction of new crafts to attract interests, the student will not only be better trained, but will like it more better.

For the older groups, vocational guidance was suggested. Not only would it solve a Com pro mission, but it would provide the necessary training for the acceptance of future jobs.

Again through his policy of cooperation, Dr Eyman stressed the fact that it is the obligation of both school and community to see that all the members have an adequate religious philosophy of life in living.

"None of these solutions will be successful," he concluded, "without organizations such as social service clubs, women's club, and legal boards, cooperating in full with the youths to make a well rounded program."

Recital Postponed

Miss Olga Ritter's violin recital, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed because of illness during the holidays. A further announcement will be made as to the date it will be held.

Classic Play Enacted Here

FSC Students See Tragedy On 1946 Artist Series

"Romeo and Juliet," the first dramatic series presentation of this year, was performed by members of the National Classic Theatre Guild Saturday evening in Westcott auditorium.

The troupe is made up of young actors and actresses from various parts of the country. Originally cast and directed in New York by Mrs Clare Tree Major, their director, the group has been producing the Shakespearean tragedy in a tour since October.

After the Tallahassee performance the players left to continue their tour through Georgia, Carolinas: DeFuniak Springs, Florida; Augusta, Georgia; Richmond, Virginia; and Greenville, South Carolina.

The Romeo of the production, Stewart Lona, was recently discharged from the service and is a new member of the group. He is 21 and prior to his entrance in the army in 1943 he had done modeling and some radio work and was a student at Bucknell College in Pennsylvania. Although he prefers modern plays, Stewart said that he enjoyed the play

Continued on page three

Contest Sponsored For Renaming Spic

Blount Boys Establishment; Remodeling Underway

A campus-wide contest for renaming the "Blount-Spic" will be held from January 10 to January 20 by Mr L G Blount, half-owner of the Sweet Shop, who bought the Spic during Christmas vacation.

There will be a prize of ten dollars in merchandise for the name chosen, according to the new owner of the Spic. All contestants are to mail their entries to Mr Blount, 701 West Capital street, Tallahassee.

Another contest apparent to students when they returned to the campus this quarter was the remodeling of the Spic, now done in the interior of the Sweet Shop. A new ceiling and partitions of white Celotex are being installed, and sixteen 48-inch fluorescent units have been placed in the ceiling right. Mr Blount says that more of these are to be added later. Parts of the interior of the shop have been newly painted green, and the floor has been tiled. It is closed by a counter in order to prevent confusion and possible fire hazard created by crowding, according to Mr Blount.

Radical remodeling of the exSpic is to take place in the near future. No definite date for reopening has been set by Mr Blount, but some new equipment has been procured, tables are being made, and the interior remodelling are being formulated.

1946 Officers To Be Elected By Freshmen

Perry Announced Petitions Of Candidate Due Tuesday Night

Regulations for Location of Posters Is Undecided

Freshman elections officially began at house meetings last Tuesday night when the freshman elections committee, directed by Mary Perry, explained the calendar for the next two weeks of petitions, posters, introduction of nominees, and actual primary and final elections, according to Audrey Perry, the freshman advisor.

The officers to be elected are: class president, vice president, five senators, secretary, treasurer, representative, and athletic manager.

Procedures and Calendar Planned

Freshmen are already signing petitions to nominate prospective candidates before the first light flash, Tuesday, January 15. At that time every freshman interested in running for any of the eleven offices must have turned in to her house president or to a petition for candidacy, signed by 25 members of her group. According to Audrey and to the list of publicity committees, candidacy which appeared on pages 23-26 of the FSC Handbook. No one may sign petitions for more than two petitions for the same office.

Tradition Is Observed

Nominees will be introduced at a class meeting Thursday in Westcott auditorium. The Physical Education building as has been the custom for years, according to Audrey.

The posters, which are the spectacular result of the publicity of freshman election since no other elections on this campus allow similar activity, will end and on top of dormitories, will appear on the campus Immediately

Continued on Page Three

Articles Published By Professor Vance

Subjects Concern Education And Press Criticism

Two articles by Professor Earl Vance of the education department have recently appeared in national publications, one a critique of the college press and the other on education.

The latter, which appeared in the December issue of the Association of American Colleges Bulletin under the title "Administration and Postwar Planning," is a discussion of the role of education in a democratic society and the changes needed if education is to fulfill its function.

Quoting from the report of the commission on Liberal Education of the Association of American Colleges that "we have been before the public for generations of unrelated and isolated courses, by a system of specialization that is hostile to a cultural integration," Mr Vance said that any real and fundamental reforms are in process, I do not know where they are." He added that many of us have seen have concerned almost entirely with curricular reforms, but

Continued on Page Three

Senator Claude Pepper will give an address tonight at 8 o'clock in Westcott auditorium. The Artist Series

FSC Concert To Be Monday

Dance Ensemble, Soprano Will Participate

On Monday evening, January 14, at 8:15 in the Westcott auditorium the college orchestra, assisted by Mrs Patricia Millett, soprano, and a modern dance ensemble, will present a concert. The orchestra will be under the direction of Walter Rud Cowles.

Mrs Millett, instructor in voice at Florida State College, is a sing in the place of Miss Katherine Buckner who was originally scheduled to sing but is unable to be present.

The evening's program will be divided into two sections. The first section will include a overture from The Marriage of Figaro by Mozart, "Prelude in C Major," "Prelude in B Flat Minor," and "Fugue in E Flat Minor" from The Well Tempered Clavichord by Bach.

The second section of the program will include Haydn's Symphony in D Major which includes "Adagio Allegro," "Andante," "Minuetto," and Allegro Spiritoso." Mrs Millett will sing "Apres un Reve" by Faure and "O Don Paiale" from Don Carlos by Verdi. The modern dance group will present "Slavonic Dance in D Major" by Dvorak.

The modern dance ensemble will be under the direction of Miss Calliope Papatzoe with choreography by Miss Marian Streeta. Those in the group are

Continued on Page Three

YWCA Announces Essay Contest

An essay contest sponsored by the Woman's Press Magazine has been announced by the YWCA. The subject of the essay is "Our Responsibility as United States Citizens for the United Nations Organization." The deadline for the contest is January 15.

The contest is limited to undergraduate women students in a college in the United States.

The length should be 1,000 words and 2500 words. the essay should be typed, double-spaced on white bond paper, size 8 1-2 by 11 inches, with the author's full name typed in the upper right hand corner of the first page.

First prize will be $100 second prize $50, and ten honorable mentions will receive a year's subscription to the Woman's Press Magazine, the national magazine of YWCA.

All manuscripts from Florida State College students should be addressed to Betty Lee, box 517, and sent through the campus mail.

Any further information may be found on the YWCA bulletin board in lower Westcott.

Flastacowo to Have Snapshot Contest

A snapshot contest sponsored by the 1945 Flastacowo has begun with the following announcement:

Students are urged to get their cameras out and take some pictures to enter in the contest being held by the Lorelei Editor. Also she wants the girls to look over their pictures taken previously this year and to turn in the good ones. Thanksgiving homecoming activity snaps are especially wanted said Jane. Other pictures should include campus scenes and activities.

Prizes will be given when all the entries have been turned in at the end of January. The snapshots will be used for the Activities section in the Flastacowo.

All entries should be sent to Box 524, Campus Mail.

Claude Pepper Will Lecture 8:00 Tonight

International Relations Is Senator's Topic Of Address

All Artist's Series Tickets Honored at Gate

Senator Claude Peppes, member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, will speak on "Our International Relations," tonight at 8 pm, in Westcott auditorium. Senator Pepper, who has recently returned from an extended tour of the governments of Europe, will be a guest of the Artist Series. All of the Artist Series or any committee or organization.

The address will be broadcast by remote control over radio station WTAL, and a section of 500 seats will be reserved for townspeople, according to Bertha Bloodworth, Publicity director.

Some of the more recent and important Senate committees Mr Pepper has introduced to the Senate were: a resolution to provide federal aid for readjustment of World War II veterans to civil life; a bill to establish unemployment benefits; a bill to promote the progress of science and the useful arts and to secure the national defense, to advance the national health and welfare and for other purposes; a Senate joint resolution on the formation of

Continued on Page Four

Cossacks to Make Return Engagement

Chorus Slated to Appear in Westcott January 26

The original Don Cossack chorus will be presented in a return engagement on January 26 in Westcott auditorium for the students according to Arthur Arties, Artist Series manager.

The group which is known as the chorus and dance as they were seen by Florida State College audience last year wi i Serge Jaroff, their leader, again directing the chorus. The program for the coming performance has not yet been announced, according to Karl O Carstenson, director of the School of Music.

Founded in 1920 near Constantinople by a troop of Russian soldiers, the chorus has been the concept of the group the only short member of the six-foot soldiers. He was able to lead his comrades because of his experience as a choirmaster and has conducted the present trained ensemble.

As the choir of the Orthodox Calthedral of Sofia, Bulgaria singers were heard by one of the worshipers, a concert manager, who started them on their present tour. Now they are widely traveled having sung in Australia, New Zealand, India, Africa, and Europe.

IRC Membership Offered Students

The International Relations Club is holding its quarterly membership drive this week everyone, giving the new freshmen a chance to join and the upperclassmen who did not have the opportunity to become members last quarter, announced Doris Hill, IRC vice-president.

Doris is assuming full responsibilities of IRC president, Frances Hendrix having left Peace McCala, now interning, also announces a new policy to be incorporated in the club. Police is to extend a special invitation to all foreign students on campus, and those foreign students who join will not be required to pay the regular membership fee of 50 cents. All foreign students who are interested are requested to leave their names at the table in lower Westcott today and tomorrow.

Initiation Held

Three new members who were initiated into Phi Upsilon Phi honorary December 13 were Eloise Golding Lorraine Lansing and Faysmith of the School of Education and Margaret Fisher of the School of Home Economics.

Following the initiation which was held at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the club room of the Lonzmire building, members of the honorary were served refreshments.

Phi Kappi Phi is a general honorary which recognizes high scholastic standards from other colleges. The president of the honorary is Miss Daisy Parker, instructor in political science.

Legman Dispels Popular Concept Of Reportorial Research; Laments Sad Fate o Flambeau N ewshound in Getting the News

By JEAN DOUGLAS

It's a thankless job, what it is! By that I mean the rugged round of reportorial research that falls to the lot of the hard newshound." Little does the average reader realize what is behind the bit of paper she takes—or leaves —from its Friday morning tray. As Westcott, what a heap o' livin'" goes into the proficient penspiers, temporary newshounds and other transbasket fodder which is the fate of a Flambeau E to come seems a very short existence.

Contrary to popular belief, the average reporter does not automatically come into being with a nose for news, rather like a bird in radar. At, and the brprring! of an alarm clock as some ungodly hour in the morning, not being her lingering from bed to the teletype (if such there may be in a dormitory room.) No, she's no more eager than any other campus bearer. If the truth may be told she's probably much less so than most "normal" eager beavers.

The average reporter may have got herself into the inner sanctums by tidy wondering what ill was like to see her name in print it's printed, and following up the thought by Joining a class to the profession. Or perhaps more interested may have considered themselves fore-armed by dire forewarnings, but leaped in anyway. At any rate they all succeed up bearing the title "reporter" and wearing the inquisitive but "dumb as a mule" look as to ask dumb questions strictly from humor.

If the fundamentals of newswriting are not known to the beginning reporter, she speedily learns them. Facts concerning the 5-w's-and-the-h, editorial comment, headlines, deadlines, deadlines and deadlines are rapidly poured at her unwilling head and are shoved into her hands, and she is sent out into the world to ask her own dumb questions.

F Club Hellweek is child's play compared to the 30-old Friday-to-a-Friday weeks of the Flambeau staff. The "hell" starts when school it resumes, on Friday morning when assignments are posted by the various editors. Assignments fall into four fields: news, sports, society and feature, and it is the duty of each branch of the editorial staff to anticipate the news stories of the week to list them, and to assign each beat to a reporter. Feature stories may be assigned by the editor, or left to the imagination and discretion of the reporter.

Then the giddy circle begins. Reporters have with them often been termed "legmen," and our own Flambeau is to prove the truth of the epithet. "Round and round and 'round she goes, where she stops, nothing knows." Sources of her sought-for-information are legion, and often to be found. Suspicion, mistrust, and lack of cooperation on the parts of the persons interviewed by reporters to be the main banes of the reporter's existence. Inaccuracy and lack of interest in the handing out of stories can also play hob with a reporter's sanity, and can make old, bent, wild-eyed hags out of perfectly happy students.

Classes and homework are arranged to occupy a rosc part of a student's time, and those who undertake the extra load of Flambeau reporting must be possessed of feel that this is a vital and much needed organ of the student body The lack of cooperation editors may be made infinitely lighter or much more difficult by the cooperation—or lack of it—on the part of those who are the sources of news. Consider the situation. The editors are sunk if they don't get their stories, reporters get bitten if they don't get stories, and reporters get bitten also by the person from whom she must get the news. She has no authority over those on whom she'd prefer to be bitten by. You can't win.

This may merely berins a week. When the material is gathered, the story must be written. It up in newspaper form. The blithe spirits who pass by the Lonzmire building Flambeau's office in search of cokes, cones, or recreation, may well pause in a moment of silent prayer for the twisted forms bent in acute over burning typewriters within the room.

When this labor of love(?) is

Continued on page Three

SPIRIT OF THE WEEK

● THANKSGIVING IN JANUARY

There once was a little girl named Susie who went to Florida State College. She "just loved" the school 'cause it seemed that there were just holidays, holidays, and holidays! There was Thanksgiving, then here for Christmas and the New Year, and as soon as she got back to school there was a celebration similar to that held on Thanksgiving.

No one had been able to tell her the name of this "holiday in January" but judging from the actions of the other students she figured it must be a time of great merriment—sorta like the demonstrations held during Thanksgiving week.

There was a program in the auditorium—like at Thanksgiving. There were characters on the stage with colorful costumes—like in the demonstrations. The lines the characters spoke did not mean as much to her as those in the dems, but after all, the guest entertainers who didn't go to school here could not be expected to know what the students liked!

The holiday spirit was rampant, though, and this little girls and her classmates were determined to enjoy themselves in spite of the performance. They found enjoyment in such things as the sneezes and coughs of members of the audience. The climax of the entertainment as far as Susie and her friends. As for the play itself, the scenes in which the main characters kissed were by far the most appreciated.

Susie and her friends were somewhat disappointed that there were no peanuts sold during the performance but they tried to make up for the pleasant sound of cracking peanut shells by rattling their programs.

But even Susie was somewhat puzzled when the performance was over. She seemed to remember that when the demonstrations were over the main characters received numerous curtain calls and there was a great deal of appreciation shown by loud applause. At this January performance the curtains were hardly together before Susie's classmates started running for the door.

But wait—what was her mother had told her about being especially kind and considerate of visitors? Were these actors her visitors? "Why, of course not, silly," thought Susie to herself. "I just go to school here!"

● "OUTSTANDING STUDENTS"

With the hustling activities of convocation, class meetings, Odd-Even sports, and assembly gatherings; it doesn't take long for a student on this campus to almost completely lose sight of the main purpose of a college.

The state, the parents, and the government all contribute either through taxes or appropriations to make FSCW a seat of learning and higher knowledge. Thousands of dollars each year are spent for teachers of outstanding training, and shelf after shelf of new books and periodicals. Special research and planning have gone into each selection of Artist Series and for special guest speakers that appear on this campus each year.

Yet . . . a freshman entering this month may very soon get the idea that to make good and to get the most out of her college experience she must attend all meetings possible, join numerous clubs, and literally spend hours of her time in extra-curricular activities.

Isn't it quite evident, she reasons, that all the so called "outstanding" students do just that with their time. Don't they usually exhibit various and sorts of pins, letters, and ribbons—all symbols of outside interests on this campus?

Therefore the ambitious new freshman squeezes her schedule with extra-curricular duties—practice periods, initiations teas, executive meetings, and weeks of goating. Her afternoons are filled up to supper time and her evenings are full of requirements to attend meetings, write minutes, and print special invitations.

The thought of study becomes remote and she soon learns the art of cramming two hours of study into one hour, taking so called "snap" courses, and signing up for "easy teachers." Her grades fail gradually but her offices and extra-curricular points mount and higher. She wins an election by a long margin and passes off a C in her major as satisfactory.

By the time she becomes a senior she is well known on the campus and may even be voted one of the 10 outstanding students by her admiring classmates. Her picture is on almost every page of the annual and she inwardly boasts of the long string of activities listed beside her name.

But what did she learn in college—how to get along with people and the special qualities of leadership? That is all well and good, but what about some honest to goodness schooling? Did she learn to appreciate good art, recognize classical music, acquire special knowledge in history, and enjoy reading the higher types of literature?

After all, the main purpose of this college and all colleges is to teach her these things. The state and her parents spent money to allow her the opportunity to be around higher learning and to absorb some of its volumes of knowledge that man through centuries of hard labour has evolved. They paid for it because they knew by experience and observation that only in college can one be subjected to all of this in such quantity. They have learned how hard it is to continue studying while raising a family or holding down a job.

Even though these same experienced donators realize that gentleness, friendliness, learning to entertain, and gain qualities of leadership play a part in living; they at the same time know that these special talents can be obtained all through high school and in later civic life. They know for tiney have even had to choose between tae numerous valuable and valueless organizations that exist in any community. The women's clubs, Red Cross, church groups, literary memberships, and hridge clubs all offer outside interest for the college graduate.

But college is practically the only place a young person can develop her mind methodically. It is definitely the only place she will be exposed to not only the best books of the world but to skilled teachers as well. And finally, the four college years in most cases is the only time a person can completely and wholeheartedly devote herself to the invigoration and development of her mind, without outside complications and responsibilities.

So it seems only right that on this campus and all other college campuses the emphasis should be placed upon the student rather than the extra-curricular fiend. Phi Beta Kappa's should be known and respected as well as F club members, and the outstanding girls should be those who first learn and secondly enter valuable outside activities.

● COMES THE RESOLUTION

The New Year and the new quarter made their appearance almost simultaneously. Students of Florida State College who saw the year born in the midst of revelry and confusion were on their way back to college a day or two later to participate in the somewhat less hilarious confusion of registration for the new quarter.

It is highly probable that most students have, as individuals, made many and varied resolutions for the year ahead. It is even possible that some of these resolutions remain unbroken to date. Many students, having determined to get things accomplished, ably to do so, merely yet be following their study schedules with meritorious devotion to duty, passing up coffee at the Sweet Shop for an extra half hour of study in the library, refraining from humming cigarettes from friends, or sweeping out their rooms more often than once a quarter.

All of this is well and good. Such resloutions, if kept, are conducive to a spirit of self-respect and to the good will of one's friends. Yet would it not be desirable perhaps to add to the list a few other resolutions conducive to developing the broadmindedness and maturity of Judgment? Indeed!

It might be salutary, for instance, if they should realize that they are, after all, a rather large proportion of the persons at FSC, and should determine to take upon themselves the responsibility of learning more about the two worlds in which they live, the world outside the campus and the world within it. The student who might resolve to read a number of authoritative books on various social, economic, and political problems of the day, would almost certainly glean from her reading certain interesting facts and, perhaps, even understanding of the problems presented. She might, in order to test her knowledge of the campus, resolve to attend the various student forums where campus problems are frequently discussed, and to go to Student Senate where these problems are thrashed out and either made into laws and recommendations or dismissed.

These resolutions are not new or revolutionary in any way. They have no doubt been made and broken before. Yet they might, at least, serve in the capacity of reminding students that they are presumably in college to gain an education and the understanding which is an integral part of that education.

From Me To Y'all

SHARPIE

Everybody's wanting advice these days so if we haven't gotten around to your particular problem, don't worry, we will. That's our answer to your year's resolution—not to overlook any bits of advice which we can dole out.

And first of all we have a letter from "Normal" who wants to know if it is proper to buy a hearing device to be used exclusively at Artist Series concerts. Since she didn't state her income or even enclose the address of an eligible male, here's our answer. A prompt reply? It might be a good idea, however, since the Shakespearian actors on the stage made so much noise that I almost missed the point of their speech and their comedy.

A letter from "Uncomfortable" relates a tale of a roommate who has shifty eyes. We think that this problem is under jurisdiction of the college if you'll remember. These should be carefully clipped last year's safety rule. "Report any suspicious looking characters you see on campus."

This next letter is from a girl who can't stand her name. "Insomnia." She thinks that Home Ec majors live above her but is not positive. We can only advise that as twelve every night they retire—preferably without furniture. Our advice is to employ what we call (and seldom use) the diplomatic method. Using this technique "Insomnia" should stop by the room above immediately and complain on the beauty and perfect harmony.

We have a letter from "Indignant" who says that she is frequently accused of being Sharpie. We would advise her to grow a roommate to pull the knives out of her back and the next time this happens, modestly smile and express her thanks. This can be practically a life work and does much to give the bestower of the compliment on both cheeks, or in the case of old jealousy, on all four.

Next week we start our series of copies of the Flambeau for sale.

Now we have a letter from "Indignant" who says that she is frequently accused of being Sharpie. We would advise her to grow a roommate to pull the knives out of her back and the next time this happens, modestly smile and express her thanks. This can be practically a life work and does much to give the bestower of the compliment on both cheeks, or in the case of old jealousy, on all four.

Next week we start our series of copies of the Flambeau for sale.

Now we have a letter from a girl who can't stand her name. "Insomnia." She thinks that Home Ec majors live above her but is not positive. We can only advise that as twelve every night they retire—preferably without furniture. Our advice is to employ what we call (and seldom use) the diplomatic method. Using this technique "Insomnia" should stop by the room above immediately and complain on the beauty and perfect harmony.

We have a letter from "Indignant" who says that she is frequently accused of being Sharpie. We would advise her to grow a roommate to pull the knives out of her back and the next time this happens, modestly smile and express her thanks. This can be practically a life work and does much to give the bestower of the compliment on both cheeks, or in the case of old jealousy, on all four.

Next week we start our series of copies of the Flambeau for sale.

College Comments . . .

By BARBARA BECKMAN

House meetings no longer serve the purpose for which they were set up, many students say. At the present time the weekly gatherings within each dorm slip behind back until there remains only a few relatively unimportant announcements and the singing of the class song. . .

Although there have been a few suggestions, there is no real need to eliminate housemeetings. . . So why not get the house-meeting "back on the beam?" It isn't impossible to have dorm assemblies that can be instructive as well as entertaining. When housemeetings are necessary, why not have them short, to the point, non-repetitious, interesting, and important?

From an editorial in the Lass-o Texas State College for Women.

The sick period is all right, you feel satisfied to just lie there and count the wooden slats in the Venetian blinds. But the recuperation period that causes all the trouble. Twice they caught me with the sheets tied together, halfway out the window. Or, as the poet has said:

At first, you read mags and drink all your liquid
And generally act like a person who's sick wold.
Then you get busy on back editorials
But the nurse is insistant on throat irrigation.
So you wind up in bed and play you're a crane;
Visitors come, and they think you're insane...
You walk down the hall and are greeted by, "Hey,
Get a load of Miss G'dale in white bedclegs!"
You climb back in bed and your fever goes higher
And watch all the students go rushing to class.
That night down below the school has a dance on.
But you never move cause you ain't no pants on.—Anon.

The Brandinq Iron
University of Wyoming

In Dr Carlson's class one girl was asked what heredity was. She replied that "Heredity is when, if your grandfather didn't have any children, and your father didn't have any children, you won't have any children either."

The Carolinian
Woman's College—University of North Carolina

Or Forever Hold Your Peace . . .

Dear Editor,

There is something lamentable in the fact that when one has reached the college age have not learned to react maturely in certain situations. I have reference primarily to the conduct exhibited in Artist Series and Odd-Even pus events. It has occurred to me that Florida State has been engaged for these programs might possibly have gone away with the impression that they have played before an extremely immature audience. If so, I feel that we have an enviable reputation to have acquired.

A person analyzing the situation could hardly fail to see that the lack of maturity is reflected portions in artistic appreciation and in behavior. Such conduct certainly signs all but obscure the first strains of 'Clair de Lune," or in a less romantic vein, "Stardust," the climax of duel is met by violent applause from unmistakably an element of immaturity in the audience. In fact, such a response is characteristic of children's havior.

If we wish to appear as intelligent stable college students we should be able to dispense with childish demonstrations, merely by exercising a little control.

Sincerely,
Bobby Usher.

To the Editors.

Saturday night the students, faculty and townspeople were fortunate in having presented to them Shakespeare's famous tragedy, Romeo and Juliet. It is the merits of performance of the cast

MAGAZINE JOTTINGS

By CATHARINE NOLLMAN

First in War—Last in Peace

In the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly Mr David L Cohn discusses the question, "Are we going to be the worst or best peacemakers in the world?

"We are losing the peace. We are losing the respect of the world," These are the author's opening statements. We entered the war with the world forced into it and at no time have we developed a national conscience concerning the peace. After "creating such miracles of military engineering and production as only other peoples regard us with awe, we have behaved in the realm of the political vacuum." We blame the British and Russians and Chinese for our failures.

Aware of what atomic energy may do we none-the-less court a false security. Mr Cohn quotes Brigadier Gen Leslie R Groves, "The atomic bomb has actually weakened the military position of the United States."

During the war, says Mr Cohn, we vowed to remain the world's arsenal of democracy and we did—mobilizing our armed forces in a way which is little short of hysterical." Our failures as a people are illustrated by our failures in the realm of economics. Mr Cohn makes his statement emphatically: "We have taken over-German soil our yokel naivete, our puppy friendliness, our good-time-Johnnie-ism, our Main Street desire to be popular, our easy-going small-town ways, to deal with a people whose ruthlessness, tenacity, power, and cunning are so great that twice within a generation and at incalculable cost we have had nearly the whole world to defeat them."

Why We Fail

We failed first by being nellwith the above mentioned qualities that the present time the weekly gatherings within each dorm slip behind back until there remains only a few relatively unimportant announcements and the singing of the class song. . .

Although there have been a few suggestions, there is no real need to eliminate housemeetings. . . So why not get the house-meeting "back on the beam?" It isn't impossible to have dorm assemblies that can be instructive as well as entertaining. When housemeetings are necessary, why not have them short, to the point, non-repetitious, interesting, and important?

From an editorial in the Lass-o Texas State College for Women.

Looking through a copy of the Sou-wester of Southwestern in Memphis, we came across a write up of a dance that listed all who attended the functions and their dates. The writer, after listing, they also listed the guts who didn't attend.

The sick period is all right, you feel satisfied to just lie there and count the wooden slats in the Venetian blinds. But the recuperation period that causes all the trouble. Twice they caught me

In This Our Time

The Nation

President Truman in his first public address of the year told the American people that this year "We must lay the foundation of our economic structure which will have to serve for generations." The President's message, delivered as a radio talk in advance of his annual "State of the Union" message to Congress, was a review of the nation's domestic affairs since the surrender of Japan on August 14. The President found much promise for the future in those months, but in taking his troubles to the people right over the heads of Congress, his disappointment of Congressional inaction on the whole program of Government planning-for-prosperity and labor's criticism of the fact-finding, cooling-off proposal which he had hoped would end the reconversion strike wave was evident.

During the time since V-J Day most of the government controls which in the war regulated almost every phase of American life, have been relaxed to the point where they apply only in certain fields of rationing and pricing. Strides have been made toward the return of the economy to a peacetime basis. "About 3,000,000 fighting men have been mustered out of the service and returned to the civilian labor market and several million others have lost wartime jobs, yet unemployment is less than 2% of the labor force estimated for the end of the year."

The bright side of the reconversion picture was given in a partial glimpse of the "State of the Union," and the President devoted his message to the broad phases of the problems ahead.

Foremost among these problems is that of labor-management relations. For failure to solve this issue the President placed the blame on Congress and appealed to the plain people to write or talk to their Congressmen. He also sees demanding legislation to accomplish the Administration program.

Whether Congress was to blame or not, it was clear that labor-management differences were mounting daily.

For instance, after a couple of weeks' investigation and suggestions by President Truman, the fact-finding committee, it would appear that intervention in the General Motors strike and possible Workers strike was of little avail.

General Motor's legal mind, W O Merritt, sent a statement to the fact-finding board saying that "no fact-finding board could do more than guess at the Company's ability to pay wages in the future" and that "ability to pay does not, in the accepted sense, always, since it could only result in forcing some industries or companies to operate at a disadvantage either than its competitors were forced to."

Lawyer Merritt holds that the issue is not primarily one of wages but rather one of the relationship between the union and the public which he made it clear that any plan dealing with almost every sector must receive congressional approval.

Army Changes Plans

In light of recent protest against the Army's demobilization policy, General Dwight D Eisenhower, chief of staff, called reporters to all theater commanders directing them to send home any men not needed, no matter what their point score.

The Florida Flambeau

1945-1946 STAFF
EDITORIAL STAFF

JANET ROGERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
MARY ELLEN DEESE, PEGGY KAY ..... Associate Editors
LOIS BYRD ..... Managing Editor
WILMA ROGERS ..... Business Manager
MAY ALEXANDER, PEGGY LD THOMSON ..... Assistant Business Managers

Columnist ..... Lois Ann
Society Editor ..... Betty Jo Mizell
Assistant Managing Editor ..... Barry Kinard
Feature Editor ..... Betty Kinard
Assistant Feature Editor ..... Betty Gene Bell
Sports Editor ..... Virginia Day
Assistant Sports Editor ..... Jeanne Hall
Society Assistant ..... Catherine Haddon
Typist ..... Dee Dee Hall
Jerry Crumbley, Jean Hall ..... Proof Readers
Picture Editor ..... Jane Hall
Assistant Art Editor ..... Jane Hall

REPORTERS: Alice Armstrong, Alvera Ayer, Eleanor Bayer, Barbara Beckman, Jean Bess, Paulette Blank, Virginia Budd, Laura Lee Burch, Doris Douglas, Martha Du Dougherty, Pooie, Jane Fleming, Jean Hall, Winifred Lane, Barbara Lanford, Jo Mingle, Jacqueline Neiver, Frances Perry, Jan Perry, Peggy Perry, Persis Quinn, Mary Jane Sherman, Evelyn Sims, Peggy Traxler, Kay Van Deen.

BUSINESS STAFF

Merit Tarpon ..... Business Manager
Betty Bell ..... Assistant Business Manager
King Chaires ..... Advertising Manager

Entered as second class mail matter January 31, 1919, at the post office at Tallahassee, Fla. under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Member
Intercollegiate Press

It is the policy of the Flambeau to grant equal space and treatment to anyone wishing to present a contrary opinion whenever opinions or controversial questions are voiced in its columns.

Athletes Feats...

By Evelyn Shea

Well fellows, here we are in a new year and along with comes a brand new sports season. This quarter all volleyball, basketball, and swimming enthusiasts will have an opportunity to demonstrate their skills in Odd-Even competi-

As the pool is not in use at present because of being in air the swimming teams will not be able to practice for several days yet. Carol Claus is the Even swimming leader and B J Singleton and Sis Myers are co-leaders for the

In the Odd cap we find Clarice Trueblood, leader of the girls basketball team. Clarice reports 44 eagers out for their practice of the season. The Odds have six remaining players from last year's team. "These freshmen have really turned out for everything so far this year," Trueblood declared "and from the looks of the freshmen out this quarter basketball we should have a strong team come March 2."

Over in the Even camp Mart Wilson, Even basketball leader declared that over 30 sophomores and seniors turned in response to the first call. The Evens also have six veterans back from last year's team. From the looks of things now, the basketball games this year should prove to be interesting.

Also in the Odd camp we find Marli Richardson, Odd volleyball leader. Marli is building a new team this year with only a few of last year's team members are returning. However, with the 40 or more girls who turned out this week Marli should have no difficulty in producing a crackerjack team.

In the Even camp Sarah Bennett, Even volleyball leader started work with her 37 turnouts. Sarah declared that she has lots of good material but that the girls are in need plenty of polishing. She stated that with six returning members the situation is in better state than last year in this line.

Sorry for Bridge Fiends . . .

Theresa Munroe, intramurals manager, has asked that sports captains in the dormitories and sorority houses see or call her at 671 as soon as possible for the purpose of arranging the names of the two girls from each hall who are participating in the bridge tournament. More information about this tournament which is to be held January 28, on the first floor of the Longmire building, will be announced shortly.

If You Know . . .

That Babe Evans and Jo Guthrie are both interning this quarter, Babe in Gainesville and Jo in Punta Gorda. Barbara Long taking Babe's place this quarter as F club president and Clarice Trueblood is presiding as WAA leader in Jo's place . . .

That Louise Fernandez former intramurals manager and member of F club is back on campus for a visit . . .

That Jimmy McCann recently discharged from the ARS is visiting here now and will return next September as a student, to take up where she left off in her athletic duties.

Athlete of the Week . . .

Miss Caliope Papatsos, Odd basketball coach and intructor in physical education, pulled the best pun this week. So we asked her about the Odds playing she quipped, "They played all over the floor," referring to the newly laid gym floor which is practically impossible to play on. That's all for now, but there's still plenty of time for any of you gals who are interested in playing these sports to get started so come on out at the next practice and have fun.

Woman Leader

Continued from page one

Speak" and "Portrait of Russian" which is the biography of her minister father.

Thompson Visits Europe Recently

Miss Thompson spent fortnightly in the London Times and monthly in Ladies Home Journal. Miss Thompson visited the continent in the fall of 1935 where ah visited governmental agencies and wrote a thrilling article, "The Lesson Of Italy" which appeared in last month's issue of the Journal. Miss Thompson also served as correspondent in Vienna, and three years she was chief of Ohio's European Bureau of the New York Herald Tribune. Her column, "On the Rec-

Informal Teas Fete New Students Here

An informal tea honoring all freshmen and second quarter transfer students will be held Tuesday afternoon, January 15, from 5 to 6 in the main lounge of the Longmire Building.

ord" is now appearing in over 130 newspapers, and according to Who's Who In America, seven and a half million people are readers of Dorothy Thompson.

An informa. reception will be given by Dr. Doak Campbell in the Longmire building immediately after the lecture for all students who wish to meet her.

The Alpha Chi Omega sorority is planning a tea in Miss Thompson's honor as she is an alumna of that organizatsno.

No appointment necessary

Tooley Myron Studios

Artist of Better Photography

Complete Your 1946 Wardrobe

With Chic New Shoes From

BUTLERS, INC.
224 S. MONROE

Life Saving Corps Plans Initiation

17 to Be Admitted at Outing At Wakulla Springs

Plans for the initiation of 17 new members and for an outing to Wakulla springs were made at a meeting of the Life Saving corps yesterday afternoon, according to Anna Horne, acting president of the group this quarter.

Plans are also being made for classes for senior life savers and instructors, which will begin in the near future. Students wishing to participate in these courses are asked to see Margaret Hinn, who will have charge of the senior life saving class. Miss Margaret Stanton, instructor in physical education, will teach the instructors' course.

Anna also stated that all senior life savers and instructors are being requested to turn up on a bulletin board in lower Westcott for swimming classes or plunge periods.

Those who recently passed their senior life saving examinations and will become new members of the Life Saving corps include: Betty Donally, Robin Lawson, Clarice Trueblood, Ruth Kennedy, Anna Horne, Jean Dunlap, Sarah Bennett, Betty Jean Olberson, Mona Ferguson, Jean Donelan, Jo Guthrie, Gloria Leyda, Barbara Chaffee, Elaine Brown, Joanne Schwartz, Zaitha Green, Virginia Goodell and Bunni Pandolfin.

1946 Officers

Continued from page one

ately after the Thursday meeting, according to announcements made in the business meeting. Announcements in Lang Hall stated that "anyone who is not living in the outside, not the inside, of basketers, from any and all moulding, be it the dorms, the halls or the sororities, but not in any parties. Miss Edith Mann, chairman of residence, had not decided on the final boundaries for signs at the present time, but will announce according to Audrey Perry.

Primary elections will be held from 9 a m to 6 p m in the house presidents' rooms a week from Thursday, January 17. Fifty-three percent of the class must vote in the primaries. Elections will be held Wednesday, January 23, from 9 a m to 6 p m in the counselors' rooms. The winning candidate must receive a majority of all the votes cast, the regulations further state.

In charge of the elections is the elections committee composed of Lois Meriweather, Frances Cannon, Audrey Perry and Catherine Barrs, according to Audrey.

Sigman

Continued from page one

finished and the story completed. It is then handed to the writer with a deep sigh of relief. The editors then take over, removing the papers from the hooks and checking the stories for punctuation, grammar, etc. Headlines are also written for each story, and the position and importance of the story is indicated. The pages which all stories are rolled in a bundle and handed to the paper editor of the Tallahassee Democrat.

They are followed on Thursday night by the entire staff of the paper and shy hapless reporters trying to escape from the task at inopportune moment, who descend en masse on the Democrat office there to remain in their respective collective hair over the final proofs, until the last comma, period, stories, rewrites, headlines, and page makeup are done at this office.

In the end they all stagger to the Rose Cafe, completely exhausted from there to bed, the editors to toss in sleepless agony over impending assignment sheet, the reporters to nightmare over the hectic facing them for the next week. As I say, it's a tuff life, and we love it!

FSC Faculty

Continued from page one

America; Coral Gables, Florida; Athens, Georgia; Charleston, South Carolina; Quanstco, Rhode Island; and Dallas, Texas. At Dallas, he trained officers in advanced navigation. Before entering the Navy, Mr. Cason taught in this school from 1939 to 1942. He is a graduate of the University of Florida and received his M A degree at the University of North Carolina.

One of the three instructors who joined the faculty for the first time this quarter is Miss Mary McKinnon, instructor in economics and commerce, who taught at Wes.ryan College in Macon, Georgia before coming to FSC. Miss McKinnon received her A B degree at the University of Illinois and her M A at Northwestern University.

Miss Edna E Van Syoc, cataloger in the college library, came here from Oregon State College in Corvallis, Oregon. Miss Van Syoc graduated from Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa. She received her Library and Science

Tarpon Club Elects Singleton President

Betty Jane Singleton was elected president of Tarpon club at their meeting Monday afternoon. Other officers chosen were Carol Claus, vice-president, and Anna Lou Rivers, secretary. Betty Jane has been acting president of Tarpon club this year, filling out the unexpired term of Mary Louise Perry, who did not return.

Further plans for new suits and emblems for the organization were discussed and it was announced by Betty Jane that sketches of the Tarpon club pin will be submitted next week.

Initiation of Tarpon minnows will take place on January 29, at Wakulla springs.

Chairman Named

The Women's Athletic Association has appointed Shirley Dugan to the office of chairman of the playnight committee in order to fill the place left vacant by Anne Widercuist, who, is interning this quarter.

The first playnight committee meeting of this quarter is being held for the purpose of discussing and formulating detailed plans for playnights of the near future, according to the new chairman.

Twenty-Seven

Continued from page one

minds about their state's educational institution.

"Entering a college which has a new system (quarter, of course) entirely different than that of the old system is pretty difficult," complained one girl. "And mid-term high school grads lose their tempers when they're ordered until the third quarter which begins in April. Since our state college has the quarter system. Florida's high school students should create a similar schedule!" pronounced a ready thinker who had been told by her counselor that she's going to sign up for certain subjects. "Psychology and those subjects you desire are not offered this quarter!"

Switching the conversation from questions about studies to that of romance, the co-eds' tongues soon dropped all her writing paraphernalia when in reply to the question, "How do you like the men here?" these brand new freshmen chorused with only one exception, "Oh! They're cute as can be full" The single exception said that she was of the idea that too many starches are served and that freshman dining hall tables provide only enough room for three girls, while upper-classmen dining halls are given enough room for helpings at each table. "And we don't get enough milk!" cried another healthy looking young lady.

Although perhaps un-familiar with 95 per cent of the college instructions regulating one's conduct on this campus, the group of odd freshmen with raised voices and emphasic gestures began a heated debate. It was a debate but most attacking the RULES governing their new way of life. "Why should a girl be restricted to enter a hotel by the side door?" inquired one. "And why can't we get in too early on week-end nights," said another. "I'm supposed to be the Honor System, but they don't trust you," commented in a pointed tone. "And then there is one rule which is indeed, obnoxious! Why should we have one forbidding freshmen to ride in cars with men at night. Why aren't we old enough to be trusted with in the first place!"

Referring to the town of Tallahassee and capital of Florida as a "big over-grown nothing—a mere spot on the map" the unsophisticated freshman voiced the request of all present by saying that the alleys and more moving picture houses. "We demand entertainment!" a girl with the appearance of a miss waved one small flat in the air and let everybody know that "We don't have anything to do!"

"Shut session—they're the only wonderful things about here!" sighed one sleepy little girl. And the parting remark, "If we didn't have to study, we'd love college" came from the last girl to say goodnight and climb the vacation-aid stairway to the floor above.

Alone, in a room adjoining the parlor, a girl played the familiar melody, "Stormy Weather," and outside the rain fell gently to the rhythm of the lilting piano notes. Another campaign of FSC has begun in the traditional manner.

degree at the University of Illinois.

Mrs Maxine Putnam, a former graduate of FSC and also obtaining her M A degree here, has accepted the position of instructor in English. Mrs Putnam was a teacher for several years in Florida High School.

LUGGAGE - JEWELRY WATCHES
Nationally Famous Brands
HOLLEY JEWELERS
COLLEGE AND ADAMS

Art Exhibit Begins Today

Artist Series to Sponsor Still Life Display

An exhibitdor of Modern Still life paintings, drawings and oils by Museum of Modern Art, New York, will be held January 12 through January, 21 in the auditorium of the Lonmire building. This exhibit is being held under the auspices of the Artist Series.

Discussion talks on the exhibition will be given during the week as follows: January 14, Miss Helen Haughton, assistant professor of art; January 15, Miss Barbara Williams, professor of art; January 16, Miss Reuchion; January 17, Miss Williams; January 18, Mary E Moody, instructor in art; and January 21, Miss Moody.

The 71 picture include work by Bonnard, Demuth, Dickinson, Gris, Hartley, de Kooning, Maclver, Matisse, Maurer, Miro, Pasdorf, Picasso, Roy, Sube, and Weber, as well as nineteen others.

Although centuries ago possessions which Vermeer and others recorded were prized, possessions today have become a kind of treasured value, explained the bulletin from the Museum of Modern Art. Still life is regarded as the inanimate material which the painter utilizes and through which he stipulates or paints with individual character through distortion and particular arrangement. For example, Pierre Roy, in his Country Fair, exaggerated the labelility of his still life by sharp-focus technique and the compression of the subject matter. He succeeded in giving the observer a stereoptican view of these objects and compressed the effect of objects upon the observer with a subjective approach to emotional responses, conditions, relations through impasse and violent color. For Matisse it is less a matter of objects still life than the picture of a table than a linear design and decorative arrangement in color.

Thus the exhibition presents a rich variety of contemporary still life effects and is important in the observation of appreciation of a similar subject, said the Modern Art bulletin.

Bellamy to Speak To Science Acadamy

MR E Bellamy, Jr, son of Dr Ralph E Bellamy, professor of zoology, will address members of the Tallahassee Academy of Science of the new insecticide, DDT, at a meeting to be held on January 12 in the chemistry lecture room at Florida State College.

Mr Bellamy is an ex-service man who has been stationed in Australia, Hardinia, and Naples with the Sanitary Corps. He entered the Army shortly after the war was declared and, as a member of the Sanitary Corps, fought against the disease enemies, malaria and typhus. He also worked with the Pest Insecticide DDT.

The meeting of the Academy of Science has been postponed from January 11 to January 12.

Esteren Celebrates Fifteenth Birthday

Esteren, the honorary society recognizing leadership in the even year classes, tapped nine new gests, an odd number, December 19, at the sidewalk forest Esteren to postpone the celebration of her fifteenth birthday until last Wednesday night, according to Sarah Bennett, president of the organization.

The goats are Frankie Hall, Peggy Lu Thomas, Connie Savage, Babs McCarthy, Betty Kennedy, Dalla Santos, Carol Claus, goat secretary; Catherine Sullivan, goat president, and Amarine Thomson, goat scrap-book chairman. It was the first time that Esteren has tapped th's year.

Several new projects were discussed though no final selection was made by Esteren members in the Longmire building last Sunday night, Sarah reported.

Articles Published

Continued from page one

ed a new unrelated and isolated career; there is no interrelation expects its 'artificial barrier'; and here a new major sequence sets up a barrier of its own, specialization, hostile to a cultural integration."

"All of us, teachers and public, sense that something is wrong—that education has become needlessly impotent or hopelessly remiss as respects the really vital concerns of man," the article continues. "There are signs that even the learned, who specialize and who pervision of R A Gray; and Nancy Lee Wheeler, Jacksonville, in the office of John Kilgore, Information Director in the Industrial Extension.

All four students are senior majoring in political science.

Classic Play

Continued from page one

parts of King Richard III and Dorcas Gray.

Juliet was played by Olga Ballah who is 23 and comes from Jacksonville. She played in Major's school, she has been in "Blithe Spirit" and "Goodnight, Prefering Shakespearan plays. Olga said that she would like to play the Scotch part in Macbeth. She is planning to do summer theatre work when "Romeo and Juliet" closes.

Mercutio, portrayed by Charles Gilbert, was the most experienced actor of the troup. He has had three years of radio experience and has done stock work in Marianna's Vineyard. In addition to his radio and stage work he has done four years of exhibition ballroom dancing and has appeared in "Naughty Marietta" and "Julius Caeser." When questioned Charles said that he had performed Shakespeare and voiced a desire to play Hamlet.

Frederick Ritter, the Friar in the production, was born in Germany and has been in the United States one year. He came from the Viennese theatre.

Another of Mrs Major's pupils, George Allen Smith, played the part of Benvolio. He has recently discharged from the Navy and plans to attend Yale Drama school in the near future. He comes from Massachusetts where he did summer stock work.

Lord Capulet was portrayed by Russell Wernecken. He attended Notre Dame and Rollins College and has had experience on the radio. Recently discharged from the army, Mr Wernekea expressed his interest in television and stage direction as attraction to horror roles which he would like to play.

The newest player in the cast is Robert Field who played Tybalt. Mr Field attended the University of Texas for a year and a half and was graduated from Houston Junior College.

Alarm Clock Tolls Time of Departure

Those who heard the alarm ringing merrily out in the confusion of the Sweet Shop several night ago will believe that this story was received from authoritative sources.

The owner of the alarm clock was among the unfortunates that returned to her dormitory later than the traditional 11 pm one night. Being duly ashamed of her dishonorable action, she determined not to repeat the performance. Thus, on her next date she went fully prepared with an alarm clock set for ringing in time for her to get back "in" on time. So, if in the future you hear a r-r-ring sometime near 10:45 pm, "Do not ask for whom the bell tolls, it tolls for thee!"

Girls Begin Work In State Capitol

Two new interns have been assigned to the capitol summering practical experience with academic supervision in public administration, announced Dr Marion D Irish, professor of political science.

Peggy Kay, Tampa, is working in the office of C H Overman, Director of the Florida Unemployment Commission. Carol Bradford Stevens, of Tallahassee, is assigned to the Personnel Office of the Industrial Commission under Robert J Watkins.

Two interns assigned last quarter who are now employed at the capitol are Virginia Collins, of Umatilla, in the office of Secretary of State, under the supervision of R A Gray; and Nancy Lee Wheeler, Jacksonville, in the office of John Kilgore, Information Director in the Industrial Commission.

All four students are senior majoring in political science.

Repairs Made On Building

Tile Flooring Erupted in Longmire Building

Regular activities were resumed Monday morning in the Longmire building upon the completion of repairs being made on the tile floor in the main hall which had blown up during the holidays.

The tile floor rose and cracked the day after Christmas. The only person present at the time was the janitor who was cleaning in the building. The bulging floor suddenly gave way and sections of tile were strewn from one end of the hall to the other.

The main damage occurred in front of the information desk on the main hall. The floor has seemed to have blown up." said Mr R K Shaw, business manager.

Mr Shaw said that he felt the cracking of the floor was due to the faulty work which was done when the building was constructed by the WPA. He said that the material between the tile and the floor must have been faulty causing the tile to become loose and start buckling.

Mrs Edith Dulick, acting director of the building, suggested that the expansion and the contraction of the tile might have been a cause of the accident.

The tile floor had to be taken up, and a new cement base for the tiles had to be laid. The tiles had to be relaid in the new base. The school employed tile specialists to do the repair work, and the regular employees of the college did the actual replacing of the tiles, after is still being taken off of the walls and the floors on the main hall.

The tile floor has cracked four times before in various parts of the building, in 1942, 1944, when the floor cracked for the fourth time in the center of the playroom, Colonel H D Mendenhall, college architect, predicted that "it will not be the last time unless the entire floor is replaced with new cement." He said that the bulging could be corrected at that time was caused by insufficient cement when the tile was put together. When the tile was heated and expanded, the cement under it was not large tile blocks down as it should, he said." At that time the tile of the type needed was not available so the old tile had to be used again after being taken up and scraped of its cement. A firm cement foundation was put under the floor at this time.

The building was built as a WPA project at a cost of approximately $150,000. It was included in a group of four buildings to go up at the college, the government-sponsored program totaling almost a million dollars. No appropriations had been made for the furniture so it was bought from funds raised by the F club, alumnae members and former classes. The building was completed in September, 1940.

Economists Give Students Lecture

Yesterday afternoon Georgs Watson, tax consultant from the Council of State Governments, and Roy Brown, representing the Sloan Foundation, University of Denver, gave a lecture on political science and economic students. These consultants were called by Governor Caldwell to assist the recently organized Tax Committee.

Dr Marian D Irish, professor of political science at Florida State College and Mr Roland Rustler, professor of economics at the University of Florida, are also serving on this newly organized committee.

Sweet Tooth?
Yum-Yum!
Try Our
ATOMIC BANANA SPLITS
DELICIOUS — YOU'LL LOVE 'EM
THE SWEET SHOP
"The World's Best Coffee"

Don't Feel Like a Fringed Petunia
Invisible film rids you of that frayed look fast. Contains no castor oil or other irritant. Better make this handy, pocket-size tube your constant cold-weather companion.
Only 25¢ WORTH OF TOUCH-UP IS TAX FREE
AVOID SORE CHAPPED LIPS WITH...
LipAde
For over 60 years the ORIGINAL LIP POMADE
ROGER & GALLET

Sorority Chit-Chat . . . .

Never let it be said it takes Tally-lassies long to get back into the swing of things. Back from the holidays little more than a week, the gals have already begun 1946 festivities with a bang.

• • • •

'N THE SOCIAL CALENDAR:

Alpha Delta Pi members have a Sunday night coffee planned, honoring rushees. . . A Rush party at the Alpha Xi Delta house tonight at 8 o'clock will give them a chance to show off their new redecoration job upstairs. . . Chi Omega's will also be rushing tonight, with a coffee planned for 8 o'clock. Laura Platt is in charge of the preparations. . . January 26 should seem too far off to be fourth out in Gamma Woods Fryer's living room and Jean White and Katherin Nolan have been in charge of the arrangements. . . . Jane Hall is making plans for a F. Beta Phi rush party to be held Sunday afternoon. An "open house" has been scheduled by the Phi Mus for Saturday night. Lucille Lanford and Jean Zeanah, Lanier working out the details. . . A dessert will be given after the Zeta Tau Alphas and dates is here, and will be climaxed by a buffet with regala dance in the Longmire Building.

• • • •

P'ST HISTORY.

Alpha Gamma Deltas entertained last night with an informal "pep" party at the home with Mary Cooney and Joy Knipe taking charge of the arrangements. Hot chocolate and cookies were served. At this time, they welcomed back Dorrie Walker, here in 1943, who has returned to school this quarter. . . Mrs. Robert Mizell, province president for the Alpha Xi Deltas, has been visiting the local group's chapter from last Thursday through Monday. . . . Chi Omega officers held a round table discussion Tuesday night with Mrs. George Lewis. Ultimate advisory council coffee was held afterwards. . . An informal coke party was held last Monday night at the Delta Phi Epsilon house for members and guests. Plans are also in the process of being made for the visit next week of Miss Dorothy Madway, the D phi E national president. . . . Theta girls entertained this week with two rush parties. The first, a "blue jean" party, was held Wednesday night. On the program were several humorous readings by Jean O'Steen and piano renditions by Jean Ellar. Betsy Zurbuchen also played the accordion. Salad, weiners, and cokes were served the jean-bedecked guests. Then on Thursday evening, another party was held. Lou Taylor and Carole Nolan shared honors at a birthday party held Wednesday night in their home at the KD house. . . Forty to fifty guests attended the Sigma Kappa "open house" last Tuesday afternoon. Russian tea, hors d'oeuvres, and ice box cakes were served. A large bowl of camellias was the tea table, at which Joyce Ayers presided. Guests enjoyed the songs and piano renditions of Dale Moore. Miss Earl Baker was general chairman. Sigma Kappa Betty may be found out in Gamma Woods Fryer's living room and Jean White and Katherin Nolan have been in charge of the arrangements. . . . Jane Hall is making plans for a F. Beta Phi rush party to be held Sunday afternoon. An "open house" has been scheduled by the Phi Mus for Saturday night. Lucille Lanford and Jean Zeanah, Lanier working out the details. . . A dessert will be given after the Zeta Tau Alphas and dates is here, and will be climaxed by a buffet with regala dance in the Longmire Building.

• • • •

P'ST HISTORY.

Alpha Gamma Deltas entertained last night with an informal "pep" party at the home with Mary Cooney and Joy Knipe taking charge of the arrangements. Hot chocolate and cookies were served. At this time, they welcomed back Dorrie Walker, here in 1943, who has returned to school this quarter. . . Mrs. Robert Mizell, province president for the Alpha Xi Deltas, has been visiting the local group's chapter from last Thursday through Monday. . . . Chi Omega officers held a round table discussion Tuesday night with Mrs. George Lewis. Ultimate advisory council coffee was held afterwards. . . An informal coke party was held last Monday night at the Delta Phi Epsilon house for members and guests. Plans are

Claude Pepper

Continued from page one

an International Health organization.

Mr. Pepper introduced bills to provide equal pay for equal work for women, to authorize the broadcasting of the proceedings of Congress to establish the Office of War Mobilization and Adjustment, to provide for voluntary retirement fo Postal service employees after 30 years service, to assist states in providing for Dental Health programs, to grant certain benefits with respect to accumulated leave to personnel in the land and naval forces, and to provide for Federal aid to states for maternal and child welfare.

Mr. Pepper received the Bachelor of Laws degree from the Harvard Law School, in 1924, after being awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree and Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Alabama. He was an instructor in law at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, from 1924-1925. He entered in active practice of the law, in Perry, Florida, for five years.

His extensive private practice in Tallahassee, 1930, received state wide recognition. He also served as a member of the State Board of Law Examiners, the Florida State Bar Association, the American Bar Association, the Lower House of the Florida Legislature and State Board of Public Welfare.

Senator Pepper played an important part in the founding and installation of the Alpha Chapter of Florida of Phi Beta Kappa at Florida State College for Women.

He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Kappa Alpha social fraternity, the Benevolent and Protective order of Elks, American Legion, "40" and "8", and Kiwanis. He was State Democratic Executive Committeemen, 1928-1930, and Lt. Governor of the Western Division Kiwanis Club, 1929.

A Beautiful Photo
Deserves a Beautiful Frame
SALE—ON ALL KINDS
PIKE'S STUDIO

Phi Mus Elect Cox For Chapter Proxy

Burma Cox was elected president of the Phi Mu at their chapter meeting last Monday night.

Other officers, elected at the same time, include: Betty Anne Sinclair, vice-president; Haley Broward, secretary; Tess Daniels, treasurer; Mary Jane Lassiter, social chairman; Zenae Lanier, assistant social chairman; Yvonne Butterworth, rush chairman; Joan Kinsburry, pledge trainer; Barbara Lanford, assistant pledge trainer; and Frances Myers, Panhellenic representative.

Alumnae News Is Published

FSC Quarterly Bulletin Is Prepared by Gehan

The winter issue of the alumnae edition of the quarterly bulletin of the Florida State College for Women is being mailed to all graduates this week.

This bulletin is prepared by Miss Linda Gehan, who is the executive secretary and editor of the bulletin.

The bulletin is chiefly made up of the "news of the classes," giving information in regard to the activities of FSC in regard to their present address, what they are now doing, their graduation date they have come in contact, and bits of interesting information that has happened to them. The information comes from letters and notes included with membership dues payments.

The first class mentioned is the 1914-1915 class with information in regard to only one graduate. Annie Schwartz (Mrs. K. W. Schwartz) mother of students Joanne and Sue Schwartz, that lives in Tallahassee is continued with mention of all the classes ending with the class of 43.

The rest of the bulletin includes the news of current interest, and general information of interest to the alumnae including Dr. Conrad's Memoirs, the largest active membership in the history of the alumnae association, an excerpt from an interne's letter, a message to the alumnae from President Doak S. Campbell, information "From the Secretary's Desk," news on the alumnae loan fund, timely introduction to the board members, visitors to the alumnae office, notices, a memoriam and a book corner of publications of FSC alumnae.

This winter issue is the fourth edition of the 36th volume.

Committees Named For Sophomore Hop

Georgie Jaeckel, chairman of Sophomore Hop announces that all sophomores who are interested in working on the hop, which will be held February 9, are asked to sign up in lower Westcott by Monday.

At the last sophomore class meeting, the following committees were appointed: Martha Peacock, business manager; Jackie Mason, construction; Joyce Petty, decoration; Irma Lee Shuptrine, tickets; Polly Gage, door checkers; Jean Sharer, programs; Judy Rhodes and Jean Sharer, refreshments; Pep Stanaland and Elain Gavaras, clean-up; Iris Parsons and Connie Savage, invitations; Evelyn Shea, arrangements; Marian McEwen, hostess; Ginger Hatton, orchestra; Marian Floyd, lights; Rose Marcoux, publicity; Betty La Bree, posters; Lucy Priden, press, and Anne Fielding and Catherine Sullivan, "We Never Tell."

Sophomore Council Aids New Freshmen

Bewildered freshmen arriving on campus for the first time January 2, were received by members of Sophomore Council who helped them through the confusion of registration.

After helping them settle in their respective dormitories Council members took the newcomers on a tour of the various buildings on campus and also aided them in registering.

Since there were so few freshmen this quarter in comparison to fall registration, Sophomore Council was able to give the girls more individual instruction.

Jo Long, president of the organization, said Council members plan to repeat this service each quarter.

Dormitory Teas

To allow a larger number of freshmen to attend, the dormitory teas have been changed to Thursday afternoon, starting this week.

• • • •

Shubert's Unfinished Symphony was played during the Jennie Murphree tea. Polly Chanal was in charge as chairman for this week, with Margie Holm helping as dormitory social chairman.

• • • •

Student talent was the source of entertainment at the Thursday afternoon tea in Bryan. Gladys Hayes was program chairman with Geneva Bettie assisting. Those assisting were Sue Head, Anne Turbiville, and Margaret Blocker.

• • • •

In Broward and in Gilchrist, music was furnished by the phonographs. Anita Bibee had charge in Broward, while Marie Donier, Dorothy Turner, and Gretchen Patterson were responsible in Gilchrist.

• • • •

The purpose of the tea in Landis was to honor the new girls in that dormitory. Entertainment was furnished by Linda Hall, which and Marian Booth, who played the piano alternately. Jane Horthen was the chairman for the afternoon with 16 girls assisting as hostesses and helpers in the kitchen, and servers.

• • • •

A musical program was the high-light of the Thursday afternoon tea in Reynolds Hall, which honored the new freshmen. The program included two accordion solos by Barbara Schwartz, a reading by Esther Rasmussen, and solos by Jean McCormick. Marion Trice was the pianist. Lonise Illingsworth was in charge of the affair, while Jeanne Klein was in charge of the entertainment.

Students Learn of Changes at Meeting

Rule and Tea Hour Revised; Bad Conduct Reported

Relaxation of the restrictions concerning trips to Wakulla, and changes in the rushing rules and the manners of Florida State College girls were among the topics discussed at the first monthly house meetings since the holidays which were held last Tuesday night in the several dormitory parlors.

At the time governing Wakulla trips now stand, four students or more are required on a day trip one of whom must be approved as a chaperon by the residence counselor in the evening and adult chaperon approved by the counselor must accompany the group. All students may go along with a date during the day, but juniors and seniors must be accompanied by another couple or approved chaperon in the evening. The rule forbidding freshmen to ride in cars at all has been lifted them from visiting Wakulla with a date after 7 p m.

The week-day tea hour has been changed from 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon to 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

The clipping from the Daily Democrat concerning the display of ill manners at the recent Artist Series, was read and students were asked to show more courtesy, if not for themselves, for the sake of others.

An announcement was made that Senator Pepper would speak at the auditorium on conditions in Europe as seen in his recent tour. About 1000 seats will be saved for students. The rest of the auditorium will be opened to faculty and town people for this lecture.

It was also announced that regular convocation would be held next Tuesday at 7:30 and 8:30 in with the college choir presenting a program of music.

Dormitory Teas

To allow a larger number of freshmen to attend, the dormitory teas have been changed to Thursday afternoon, starting this week.

• • • •

Shubert's Unfinished Symphony was played during the Jennie Murphree tea. Polly Chanal was in charge as chairman for this week, with Margie Holm helping as dormitory social chairman.

• • • •

Student talent was the source of entertainment at the Thursday afternoon tea in Bryan. Gladys Hayes was program chairman with Geneva Bettie assisting. Those assisting were Sue Head, Anne Turbiville, and Margaret Blocker.

• • • •

In Broward and in Gilchrist, music was furnished by the phonographs. Anita Bibee had charge in Broward, while Marie Donier, Dorothy Turner, and Gretchen Patterson were responsible in Gilchrist.

• • • •

The purpose of the tea in Landis was to honor the new girls in that dormitory. Entertainment was furnished by Linda Hall, which and Marian Booth, who played the piano alternately. Jane Horthen was the chairman for the afternoon with 16 girls assisting as hostesses and helpers in the kitchen, and servers.

• • • •

A musical program was the high-light of the Thursday afternoon tea in Reynolds Hall, which honored the new freshmen. The program included two accordion solos by Barbara Schwartz, a reading by Esther Rasmussen, and solos by Jean McCormick. Marion Trice was the pianist. Lonise Illingsworth was in charge of the affair, while Jeanne Klein was in charge of the entertainment.

Students Learn of Changes at Meeting

Rule and Tea Hour Revised; Bad Conduct Reported

Relaxation of the restrictions concerning trips to Wakulla, and changes in the rushing rules and the manners of Florida State College girls were among the topics discussed at the first monthly house meetings since the holidays which were held last Tuesday night in the several dormitory parlors.

At the time governing Wakulla trips now stand, four students or more are required on a day trip one of whom must be approved as a chaperon by the residence counselor in the evening and adult chaperon approved by the counselor must accompany the group. All students may go along with a date during the day, but juniors and seniors must be accompanied by another couple or approved chaperon in the evening. The rule forbidding freshmen to ride in cars at all has been lifted them from visiting Wakulla with a date after 7 p m.

The week-day tea hour has been changed from 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon to 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

The clipping from the Daily Democrat concerning the display of ill manners at the recent Artist Series, was read and students were asked to show more courtesy, if not for themselves, for the sake of others.

An announcement was made that Senator Pepper would speak at the auditorium on conditions in Europe as seen in his recent tour. About 1000 seats will be saved for students. The rest of the auditorium will be opened to faculty and town people for this lecture.

It was also announced that regular convocation would be held next Tuesday at 7:30 and 8:30 in with the college choir presenting a program of music.

Zeta Formal to Be Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the annual Zeta Tau Alpha formal will be held in the auditorium of the Longmire building. Dancing to the music of a six-piece band will continue from 8:30 to 11:30.

According to Callista Hatcher, who is in charge of all the arrangements for the formal, special guests for the dance will be Mrs. Winifred Dozier, Zeta housemother; Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Colterill; and Miss Vyki Cleveland.

Committee chairmen for the dance include: Mary Smith, decorations; Peggy Moss, refreshments; and Betty Lou Brown, invitations. The floor committee consists of Shearer Hines, Sue Walters, Mary Nicholas, and Virginia Summer.

Holiday Activities Prove Interesting

Traveling, hunting, fishing, and becoming engaged were just a few of the activities that took place during the Christmas holidays, as the Florida State College for women students.

Barbara Lindsey spent part of her vacation in Miami where she rode on one of the floats in the Orange Bowl parade on New Year's eve.

Santa Claus was generous with engagement rings this Christmas —through the help of his younger assistants. Rosemary "Rose" Marcoux and Ken Adams became engaged Christmas eve. Gracie Vickers has an engagement announced by Jimmy Dorsey while she, Rudy Mayer, her fiance, and Jean Douglas were "nightclubbing" in New York. The engagement was announced at the KD club, after which the band played "I Surrender, Dear" in honor of the couple. Lynn Starbird and Ann Carolyn Allison also accepted Christmas engagement announcements.

Myra and Morla Long spent four days of their vacation in New Orleans where they visited old high school friends and took in the Sugar Bowl game.

Bessie Odlund, who lives at the mouth of the Swannee river spent much of her vacation during the holidays in hunting turtles and fishing for mullet in the Swannee.

Eleanor Kay took a trip to Miami during her vacation where she saw the Orange Bowl game and parade. She stayed with Marilyn Michael, former FSC student.

Fall Distaff Is Out, Next One in Making

Fall issues of the Distaff have been distributed to all students except sorority house residents, Winifred Meidrim, editor of the Distaff, announced Tuesday. Because of the difficulty of reaching the sorority girls, they are asked to come to the Distaff office in the Longmire building to receive their copies on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Material for the second Distaff has gone to the printer, but there is still time for contributions if they are turned in soon, Miss Meidrim said. The deadline for submitting material for the next issue of the Distaff has been tentatively set for the first week of February. All types of contributions are needed, said the editor.

Recreational Hall Girls to Have Rooms

All students living in recreational halls and in the non-smokers' club room in Landis are expected to be home promptly by the end of this week according to Miss Edith McCollum, director of residence.

There is no waiting list of girls coming to Florida State College. "All have been bedded," Miss McCollum said.

The two off-campus houses, the "Lodge", and the new floor to Reynolds, which were added at the beginning of the fall quarter, plus a drop in enrollment so far in this quarter is believed to have made this possible.

Your Face
Deserves the Best—
DOROTHY PERKINS COSMETICS
We have a complete line of creams, rouge lipstick and toilet waters in the delightful fragrances of MEMOIRS - LILAC - WOODSPICE
MARTIN and DALTON DRUGGIST
"The World's Happiest Drug Store"

WANTED
College Girls for Dining Room Work
At
THE DUTCH KITCHEN
PLEASE APPLY IN PERSON

The Students Speak...

By JERRY CRUME

The Tallahassee Daily Democrat of January 7 has made the following comments on the behavior of the students of Florida State College during the recent performance of "Romeo and Juliet":

"Courtesy of the audience was one of the things lacking at the far from outstanding performance of "Romeo and Juliet" Saturday evening at Florida State College for Women.

"We have come to the conclusion that the two least sympathetic and courteous audiences in the world are composed of college students and GIs.

"Giggles occurred at the most ridiculous times during the presentation of the Shakespearean tragedy and when the curtain failed to close, roars of laughter filled the auditorium.

"A discourteous audience can ruin any presentation, no matter how good it might have been.

"The various student interviewed concerning their opinions regarding the behavior at the performance all seemed to be of one opinion. The students condemned themselves in a manner unbecoming any group of college students.

"I was ashamed to be a part of an audience so rude as the one attending the Artist Series. Such conduct is a reflection on this college."

Jo Anne Savory, Sophomore

"I think the conduct at the recent Artist Series was unbecoming to supposedly-adult college students."

Nell Lester, Junior.

"I think that the FSC girls acted disgustingly at the recent Artist Series. I did think the audience should have been more appreciative."

Anne Lindsey, Sophomore

"The conduct of the audience at the performance Saturday night was not at all fitting for college students. If we cannot conduct ourselves in a better manner maybe it would be best that the Artist Series be discontinued."

Jane Allen, Freshman.

"My motto is 'Leave quietly if you are bored'."

Sheila Smith, Senior.

"Disgustise is the only word to describe such conduct of supposedly intelligent college women."

Marjorie Davis, Sophomore.

"For such a fine play by a distinguished group of artists I think that the students of this college really disgraced themselves by the rudeness exemplified that night."

Dora Sherman, Junior.

"I think that FSC can not waiting for the curtain calls was inexcusable rudeness."

Helene Duoskin, Freshman.

"I was completely disgusted. The least response expected of a college audience would be one of courtesy to the performers, as well as to other members of the audience. Obviously the bookstore could make better use of the shipment of Emily Post's Book of Etiquette."

Joann Gentry, Senior

"I think the students showed lack of consideration for the Artist Series."

Barbara Horne, Freshman.

"Although the performance was not what I expected of an Artist Series, I did think the audience should have been more appreciative."

Ann Martin, Sophomore.

"The conduct of the students at Romeo and Juliet' was comparable to an audience at a melodrama. The students' conduct indicated a lack of appreciation for some of literature's most beautiful lines, a lack of consideration for the players and other members in the audience, and a lack of maturity."

Lucille Luce, Junior.

"The conduct of the audience at the performance Saturday night was not at all fitting for college students. If we cannot conduct ourselves in a better manner maybe it would be best that the Artist Series be discontinued."

Jane Allen, Freshman.

"My motto is 'Leave quietly if you are bored'."

Sheila Smith, Senior.

"Disgustise is the only word to describe such conduct of supposedly intelligent college women."

Marjorie Davis, Sophomore.

"For such a fine play by a distinguished group of artists I think that the students of this college really disgraced themselves by the rudeness exemplified that night."

Dora Sherman, Junior.

"I think that FSC can not waiting for the curtain calls was inexcusable rudeness."

Helene Duoskin, Freshman.

"I was completely disgusted. The least response expected of a college audience would be one of courtesy to the performers, as well as to other members of the audience. Obviously the bookstore could make better use of the shipment of Emily Post's Book of Etiquette."

Joann Gentry, Senior

"I think the students showed lack of consideration for the Artist Series."

Barbara Horne, Freshman.

"Although the performance was not what I expected of an Artist Series, I did think the audience should have been more appreciative."

Anne Lindsey, Sophomore

Baptist Officers To Meet Tomorrow

Every student who holds an office in any phase of the Baptist Student Union is urged to be at the Mid-year Planning Conference for Greater Council Members. The meeting will be held at the student house tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 through supper, which will be served at 6. Tickets for the supper will be 15 cents per person. The afternoon will be devoted to planning the work to be done this quarter by the unit organizations of BSU.

Next week, January 13-20 will be Vocational Emphasis week for Baptist students. In observance of that week, the Morning Watch programs, held Wednesday through Saturday, will deal with the topic of vocations.

Next week is also "pill week" which is the time when every "pill" does something good for another "pill." All those students who signed up to be "pills" are supposed to stop by the lake tower Wednesday between morning and take a "pill" to each "pill" will be the name of a student. Gifts secured in this way will be performed every day next week. The daily deeds are to be done anonymously, and the names are not to be revealed until Friday morning. Sunday morning at 11 when all the "pills" will meet in the student house for breakfast.

The Coast Guard, once known as the Revenue Cutter Service was founded in 1790, while the present Navy was established in 1799.

Since its founding in 1790 the Coast Guard has saved more than 10,000 lives and its high seas aid in one prewar year, 1939, numbered 2,000 rescues.

THE WORLD'S MOST HONORED WATCH
WINNER OF 10 WORLD'S FAIR GRAND PRIZES...26 GOLD MEDALS AND MORE HONORS FOR ACCURACY THAN ANY OTHER TIMEPIECE
THE MOST HONORED WATCH IN THE WORLD
THE CAMPUS
Longines
A ALWAYS MILDER
B BETTER TASTING
C COOLER SMOKING
All the Benefits of Smoking Pleasure
THE RIGHT COMBINATION OF THE WORLD'S BEST TOBACCOS Properly Aged
Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
Copyright 1946, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.